Managua, Nicaragua, May 7.—The Managua, Nicaragua, May 6.—The Nicaraguan government having, through the Salvadorian minister at London, accepted the modified ultimatum of the British government, the dispute between the two countries is practically at an end. As stated exclusively in the associated press dispatches yesterday, orders were cabled from London to Rear Admiral Stephenson, commanding the British squadron at Corinto, directing him to evacuate the port to-day. The warships presented a scene of orderly bustle this morning, giving evidence that something out of the usual course was going on. Boats passed frequently between the shore and vessels, the little mid-shipmen in charge wearing an air of greater importance than usual. They were evidently bearers of communications to Capt. Trench, of the Royal Arthur, who, upon the seizure of Corinto, had been appointed by Admiral Stephenson governor of the port. The force originally landed by the British to hold the place was 400 blue jackets and marines, but on Friday, when it became known that the tension had become relaxed, all of them, with the exception of fifty-eight marines and their officers, were withdrawn.

Shortly after the flag denoting that religious services were in progress on board the warships was hauled down the marines, who had been drawn up in front of the custom house were ordered to return to their ships. A few minutes later the British flag was hauled down from the government building and soon the soil of Nicaragua was rid of the British invaders, and the long strokes of the sailors were sweeping the heavy boats to the warships lying in the harbor.

Hundreds of persons assembled along the shore to see the embarkation of the marines, and a cheer went up as the noses of the boats headed harborward.

The Royal Baking Powder Company controls its own cream of tartar factory and the processes for making the only absolutely pure cream of tartar. It sends its product to millions of homes all over the world, supplies the Army and Navy, the great transatlantic steamers, the finest hotels and restaurants. The "Royal" is recommended by the best chefs and authorities on cuisine in every land. Its sale is larger than that of all other cream of tartar baking powders combined and it has more friends among housekeepers than any other similar article.

Against Alleged Conspirators.

Madison, Wis., May 7.—Judge Bunn, in the United States court, to-day overruled the demurrer of defendants in the case of the government against Hoydlauff, McCord, Osborn et al., charged with conspiracy to defraud the government by a scheme to obtain a title to large tracts of pine lands in the Ashland district at the time Hoydlauff was receiver of the land office at Ashland. The demurrer was based on the ground that the facts alleged did not constitute a cause of action and was strongly contested. The decision means that the cases will be tried, probably in June

Made Her Insane.

San Francisco, May 7.—The horror of the Emanuel Baptist church murders a few weeks ago resulted in the suicide of one morbidly sensitive youth, and now the disappearance of a young girl is ascribed to the same cause. Stella Haughes, daughter of Capt. Haughes of Ookland, is missing. It is supposed that the accounts of the church murders deranged her mind and caused her to leap into the sea.

The statistics show that there is used in the manufacture of the Royal Baking Powder more than half of the cream of tartar consumed in the United States for all purposes. The wonderful sale thus indicated for the Royal Baking Powder—greater than that of all other baking powders combined—is perhaps the highest evidence of the superiority of this article, and of its indispensableness to modern cookery.

New Fish Hatchery.

Bayfield, Wis., May 7.—The location of a new fish hatchery at some point in North Wisconsin is creating a great deal of interest in this section. It is understood that the new board of fish commissioners will meet at Madison some time next week, when the propositions will be opened. In all probability the commission as a whole or by committee will personally inspect the proposed sites.

An Editor Arrested.

Kearney, Neb., May 7—W. R. Reese, editor of the Kearney Journal, is under arrest charged with forgery in connection with county warrants. It is claimed that he raised in many cases the warrants, and that the amount involved is in the thousands.

Deputies After Him.

Denver, May 7.—United States deputy marshals are looking in this state for the assayer who, it is said, escaped from Carson, Nev., with $80,000, stolen from the mint.

General Strike Imminent.

Sharon, Pa., May 7. — A general strike among the blast furnace employes in this section is imminent.

Captured a Fort.

Tampa, Fla., May 7.—Passengers on the steamer Mascotte bring reports that the fort of San Ramon de Las Yaguas, in which are 260 men, and La Colonia military, with the same number of men in Santiago province were both captured last week by 1,750 insurgents, under Maceo.

Chicago Pioneer Dead.

Chicago, May 7.—James Kelly, one of the founders of the Chicago Tribune, and a pioneer of Chicago, died to-day.

BLIXT ESCAPES THE NOOSE.

The Assassin of Miss Ging Sentenced to Prison for Life.

Minneapolis, May 7.—It is all over now so far as the principals in the murder of Catherine M. Ging are concerned. Harry T. Hayward, the man who hired the assassin, has been sentenced to death, and Claus A. Blixt, the one who fired the fatal shot, will spend his days in the penitentiary until the grim reaper calls him away and he is ushered to the bar of the Great Judge. He was sentenced by Judges Smith and Pond. There had been an effort to have the county attorney allow a plea of murder in the second degree, which would make life imprisonment the most that could be inflicted, but to this Mr. Nye would not consent. Finally it was agreed that Blixt should plead guilty to murder in the first degree, and that the court should sentence him under section 156 of the penal code, which allows a court to certify that there are exceptional circumstances which should make life imprisonment a hard enough penalty.

Hayward's brother and cousin called upon Hayward in his cell directly after the sentence and informed him of the result of the case before Judge Pond. He spoke quite freely about the matter afterward, showing that, he claims, justice has played its most gigantic farce.

"You see how this conspiracy has worked," he said. "They put up a nice job and made a jury believe that I hired Blixt to do the killing. Then they began to fall over Blixt, the alleged confessor, and fawn upon him and flatter him, and finally let the red-handed, cheap, unconscionable fiend get practically clear. That was just what he figured on, and he got it. Why, that is no punishment for him. He had rather be in the penitentiary than free, for his lying conscience would make him afraid of his life. If he had his own way he would choose just what he got. Why, at the trial, on the stand, he admitted he would be afraid to walk the streets. So you see he isn't punished at all. Well, you'll all know the truth some time, and then a mob will go over to Stillwater and string this miserable liar to the tallest flag pole. I may not live to see it, for I expect they will hang me, but the rest of the world will see it."

A Posse Hustling for Burglars.

Blooming Prairie, Minn., May 7.—G. Jensen & Co.'s general store was broken into last night. There were evidently two persons, as they changed their clothes and shoes, replacing them with a new outfit from the stock. They also took two macintosh overcoats and some canned goods. In the pockets of the old clothes were found some postage stamps. The clothing is thought to be the same worn by two young men who were seen at Pratt Friday morning. They displayed several sheets of 2-cent stamps, which were evidently stolen from some postoffice. They were seen near here Friday night. A posse is out scouring the country for the thieves. This was the third burglary committed here of late. The people feel indignant and are bound to hunt them down.

There is no baking powder which produces such sweet and tasteful food as the Royal Baking Powder.

Keystone Company Wins.

Madison, Wis., May 7.—Judge Bunn, of the United States court, to-day decided an important land case from the same district—that of the homesteaders on lands near Ashland against the Keystone Lumber company. The settlers claim title under a land grant originally made to the Omaha Railroad company. The Keystone Lumber company is composed of Philadelphia people, the principal stockholders being J. W. Cochran, F. H. Payne and John Dubois. They obtained title from the company in which Col. W. F. Vilas and John H. Knight were the principal stockholders, their title being based on a contract for the pine on the lands. Judge Bunn's decision is a victory for the Keystone Lumber company, its demurrer to the complaint being sustained.

Strike Still On.

Sheboygan, Wis., May 7.—A large meeting of strikers was held to-day and the men were told to become more united in their efforts to secure higher wages. They will endeavor to close other wood work factories here in the morning, but in trying to do this they claim that they will not resort to violence. Some leaders state that the strike will spread to foundries and other establishments. They also say that the Roentz Leather company may start its tannery in the morning, but there will be no men to go to work. There are now $3,500 men out and no settlement of the trouble in sight.

But the Company Is Solvent.

Appleton, Wis., May 7. — Sheriff Baake has attached the plant of the National Wall Paper Company of Kaukauna under a judgment of $7,150. The process is merely a formality of law to hasten payment, as the claim is held by the Badger Paper company, which sold the plant to the trust and has not yet received payment in full. The company is perfectly solvent. The sheriff now holds the property.

"I find the Royal Baking Powder superior to all the others in every respect. It is entirely free from all adulteration and unwholesome impurity, and in baking it gives off a greater volume of leavening gas than any other powder.

Walter S. Haines, M. D."
Chemist to the Chicago Board of Health.

Testing a Game Law.

Hudson, Wis., May 7. — Christian Burkhardt and the Willow River Club of St. Paul have brough suit for trespass against five citizens of St. Joseph and Richmond for fishing for trout upon their premises. This is an action to test the new fish law passed by the last legislature which declared all streams open to the public in which the state had previously planted fry. The matter will be heard before Judge Randall May 13, and will be carried to the supreme court as a last resort. Able counsel has been secured.

A DEADLY CYCLONE

TERRIBLE CYCLONE SWEEPS OVER NORTHWESTERN IOWA.

It Is Thought That Between Two and Three Hundred People Are Killed—Many Towns are in the Path of the Storm, and Frightful Havoc Is Wrought.

Sioux City, Iowa, May 5.—A cyclone passed through Northwestern Iowa last evening, killing two or three hundred people.

Dispatches are received here by the Sioux City & Northern Railroad company from their agent at Sioux Center, forty-five miles north, telling of a terrible cyclone near there in which many people were killed and injured and much property destroyed. The wires where the storm was were blown down and telegraph reports are very meager. The first dispatch received by the Northern road said the cyclone passed three miles northeast of there at 3:30 p. m. A school house near town was destroyed, teachers killed and a number of children killed and injured. Have not yet been able to learn exact number and names. Whole country in the path of the storm is devastated. Sioux City & Northern tracks between Perkins and Doon washed out for several miles. Dispatches from Sioux Center at 8:30 p. m. say three school houses and at least twenty residences and barns

Were Swept Away.

At the school houses two teachers and three pupils were killed and many injured. Two women were found dead about 6 o'clock not far from the point where one of the school buildings stood. One man who arrived in Sioux Center late in the evening reported his house was blown away and his family killed. He himself escaped, and reports that at least two or three hundred people must have been killed. Parties have been sent out from Hull, Sioux Center and Orange City and neighboring towns, but their work is progressing slowly. A number of bodies have already bee recovered, although the exact number cannot be learned. Every one is violently excited and definite accounts cannot be obtained. It is said Perkins, a small town between Sioux Center and Doon, was directly in the path of the storm and was Almost Entirely Wiped Out.

The wires leading to it are all down, the railroad tracks are washed out and the wagon roads cannot safely be traveled over owing to the manner in which they were gullied by the rain.

It is consequently no easy matter to reach it. Physicians have already been sen from Hull, Orange City and Sioux Center, but are finding every conceivable obstacle in their effort to reach the scene of the storm. Help has been refused from here, but if the same character of reports continue to come in a train may be sent out.

No one seems to know exactly what was the track of the storm.

Definite reports are beginning to come in as to the path followed by cyclone. The storm originated about a mile and a half south of Sioux Center. It moved from there in a northeasterly direction and passed directly through Perkins, a small town six miles north of Sioux Center. After passing Perkins nothing was heard of any damage. Later, however, news received from Sibley to the effect that a storm struck there about 6 p. m., destroying the house of John Watterson and injuring Watterson and his son. No names can yet be learned of the people injured about Sioux Center and Perkins. The Sioux City & Northern train which arrived at 10 o'clock last evening brought in several passengers who witnessed the storm. They reported thirteen dead bodies had been brought into Sioux Center at 6 o'clock. They estimated 100 people must have been killed. The Northern train barely escaped a smash-up at Doon, but was stopped by section men before it passed upon the dangerous territory.

At Sioux Falls.

Sioux Falls, S. D., May 5.—The rain fell in torrents in this city. The bridge over the Sioux river just east of the town was blown over. The big mansion of Mme. Doyle was unroofed. Two buildings connecting with the Sioux Falls carriage works were demolished, the roof was taken off the chain mortesing works and oatmeal mill. Many small buildings were blown away entirely, while larger ones were moved from their foundations. There was a regular cloudburst twenty miles north and an immense rise in the river is looked for. The Sioux at Dell Rapids is running over the Milwaukee tracks and Skunk creek is also high and flooding farms in its course.

Many People Killed.

Le Mars, Iowa, May 5.—A cyclone passed through Sioux county. It was seen by passengers from the train between Sheldon and Alton. Near Sioux Senter, twenty-five miles north of Le Mars, several houses and farm buildings were destroyed and a large number of people killed. A school house four miles north of Ireton, in Sioux county, was blown down and the teacher, Nellie Marsden, was killed.

OVER THIRTY KILLED.

Revised List of the Dead by the Iowa Cyclone.

Sioux City, May 7. — eports of the storm in Sioux county still continue to come in. There is little new, however, except that the relief parties have practically completed their work, except for a few bodies which may yet be found in unexpected places. The number of dead is thirty-two. Reports as to the damage to property seem to indicate that the loss will not be as large as was at first expected. Crops were not far enough along to suffer, and only barns and dwelling houses were damaged; $40,000 or $50,000 will probably cover the loss. Several of those on the list of dead were not killed outright, but lingered a number of hours. One or two died to-day, and one or two more can hardly last another day.

BAD FOREST FIRES.

Several Towns in Pennsylvania are Threatened.

Bradford, Pa., May 7.—The most destructive forest fires known in this section for years have raged for the past week. About 3 o'clock this morning a fire started between Glen Hazel and Ketners. Dollivers large saw mill, located between these points was soon destroyed, together with 10,000,000 feet of lumber, an engine house, railroad switch, sixteen cars of lumber and coal, eight dwellings, an oil well and several thousand acres of timber land.

A special train consisting of a steamer and a large force of firemen with hose was sent from here to the scene of the conflagration. The firemen were unable to do anything more than prevent the fire from approaching the town and succeeded in diverting the course of the flames.

Everything in the woods is as dry as tinder and the leaves and underbrush will furnish abundant fuel for the blaze. The flames are going up the hillside at a rapid rate and destroying everything in their path. The city is black with a stifling smoke and the flames shoot up as high as the top of the trees. A man had his shoulder broken and another was injured internally while jumping from one of the buildings. In another house lay a woman who had given birth to a child twenty-four hours previously. She was rescued from the flames with much difficulty, and it is feared will die from fright and exhaustion. Later a second appeal was received from Glen Hazel asking for more help, and thirty-five firemen with hose were sent by special train. It was feared that the fire was about to cross the east branch of the Clarion river and sweep out the town of Glen Hazel. The woods along the Erie railroad between Ketner and Bradford are on fire, and it is feared the loss to oil and lumber property will be great.

Fires are raging between Rixford and Farmers' Valley on valuable timber lands, and large uantities have been destroyed. The Columbia Coal company's property is now threatened. Between Crawford Junction and Riterville a fierce fire is raging on both sides of the Erie railroad tracks. Considerable damage has been done between Gallagher and Hutchins. A fire has been in progress at Chipmuck since Thursday, and several oil well rigs owned by Frachol Brothers of Olean, N. Y., were destroyed. Between Emmettsport and Pew City the woods are on fire in several places, but no damage has been reported.

As a matter of useful information it may be stated that whenever a cooking receipt calls for a baking powder the "Royal" should be used. The receipt will be found to work better and surer, and the bread, biscuit, rolls, cakes, dumplings, crusts, puddings, crullers or whatever made, will be sweeter, lighter, finer-flavored, more dainty, palatable and wholesome.

KEELEY NEEDN'T TELL.

How His Cure of the Lushing Habit Is Made Up.

Milwaukee, May 7.—Judge Seaman, of the United States court, to-day granted a permanent injunction restraining Dr. Leslie E. Keeley from revealing the formula of what is known as the Keeley double chloride of gold remedies. The action was brought by the Wisconsin Keeley Institute company against the Dwight company. The granting of the order will put the Keeley company in a peculiar position, as Dr. Keeley has been ordered by Judge Myers, of the state court of Leavenworth, Kan., to appear and make known the formula.

The A. P. A.

Milwaukee, May 7—Delegates to the national convention of the American Protective association, which will be held in Milwaukee this week, are already beginning to arrive in the city. The delegation from California, consisting of fifteen members, arrived this morning. Most of the supreme officers are here. They are quartered at the Plankinton house, which will be the headquarters during the convention.

Drank Kerosene.

Minneapolis, May 7.—August Mangusson, residing at No. 122 Twenty-second avenue southeast, lost a child two years old yesterday under peculiar circumstances. The little fellow got possession of a cup containing kerosene, and drank the contents. Dr. L. P. Foster was quickly summoned, but could do nothing for the child, who suffered greatly until he died.

The authorities of Canada have been making an elaborate study of the baking powders sold there. The official analyst of Ontario says as the result of his investigation that he "finds the Royal Baking Powder far superior to the others," and goes so far as to recommend its use in preference to any other.

New Grain Destroyer.

Stockton, Cal., May 7.—The farmers of San Joaquin and adjoining counties in the great California wheat belt are complaining about the ravages of a new grain destroyer. It is supposed to be the Aphis, an insect belonging to the hemipyera family. Many hundreds of acres of late sown wheat are effected, and the crop will be greatly shortened.

N. P. Clarke & Co.

St. Paul, May 7.—The Pioneer Press says: N. P. Clark & Co., lumber dealers operating at Minneapolis and St. Cloud, one of the largest lumber firms in the state, is said to be embarrassed so that an assignment may have to be made in the early part of the week.

Five Drowned.

Fort Collins, Colo., May 7.—A party of five fishing on Lewis lake, about six miles from town, were drowned by the capsizing of the boat. The dead are Robert Craig, Gus Carsude and three children.

Killed by Lightning.

Chicago, May 7.—During the heavy rain storm lightning struck a party of field laborers at East Prairie, near Niles Center. Herman Spandikow was instantly killed and his sixteen-year-old son badly hurt.

AN IMPORTANT CASE.

IT COMES UP BEFORE THE UNITED STATES COURT.

A Suit for an Estoppel—The Eureka Chemical Company, of La Crosse Makes the Trouble.

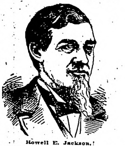
Papers have been filed in the United States court of the western district of Wisconsin by Tarrant & Kronshage, attorneys for the Sterling Remedy company, of Chicago and New York, in a suit for estoppel and damages against an imitation of No-to-bac, the tobacco habit cure. The action is brought against a concern called the Eureka Chemical company, of La Crosse, Wis.

The principles involved in these proceedings are of the utmost importance to the proprietary interests of America in general, and form in many respects, a test case, the outcome of which will be carefully watched by the many other important manufacturing concerns similarly imitated. Not only the question of imitation of name, trade-mark, form of preparation and package, enter into the case, but also the proposition whether the actual advertising literature used in establishing the publicity of a preparation can be stolen with impunity, word for word, by an imitator. The decision in this case will settle one of the vital points in United States trade-mark and copyright law.—Madison (Wis.) Democrat.

THE INCOME TAX.

Reargument Begins in the United States Supreme Court.

Washington, May 7. — The reargument of the income tax began to-day in the United States supreme court before a full bench, Justice Jackson having arrived last night. Whatever the conclusion of Justice Jackson after hearing the arguments, no reversal of the opinion of the court in regard to incomes from rents and public bonds is possible unless at least two of the members of the court who participated in the former decision change their votes. The court stood six to two in pronouncing that part of the law unconstitutional. On the remaining features of the law the court was divided, and if all the members of the court voted this time as they did before, Mr. Jackson's voice will decide the matter.



Howell E. Jackson.

Justice Jackson was born at Paris, Tenn., April 8, 1832, was graduated from the West Tennessee college in 1848, and from the law school of the Cumberland university in 1856. In 1859 he located in Memphis, which city has since been his home. He served in the state legislature and supreme court, and in 1881 was chosen to represent Tennessee in the United States senate. He has been one of the foremost jurists of the country, and was appointed to the supreme court by President Harrison, though he is of a different party faith.

The Royal Baking Powder is the greatest of the modern time helps to perfect cooking and every receipt requiring a raising ingredient should embody it.

ANOTHER TWISTER.

St. Charles, Ill., Is the Town It Strikes Killing Five Persons.

Aurora, Ill., May 7.—The village of St. Charles was visited by a cyclone with fatal results. The old stone postoffice building, occupied by Miss Church as a millinery store, was blown down and Mrs. Church was killed. Two young ladies had apartments in the building, and one of them, who is missing, is supposed to be in the ruins, the other, Miss Augusta Anderson, was killed. The falling walls caught and killed a passing horse, and the driver was seriously injured. Two other men were struck by flying timbers and were quite badly hurt. It is reported that several other persons about town received injuries. Andrew Johnson of Elgin had his back broken. The killed are Mrs. Hattie E. Church, Miss Augusta Anderson, Charles Johnson and Joseph Johnson.

The women who were killed had apartments in the Osgood building. Miss Jordan and a son of Mrs. Church were also in the same building, but managed to escape. The men who were killed had stepped at the side of the Osgood building, and were crouching in a group to escape the fury of the storm, when the wall toppled over upon them. It is thought another man is in the ruins.

The health authorities of a number of States have recently made exhaustive examinations of the baking powders with the uniform result of finding the Royal superior to all others.

Elopers Caught.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 7. — John G. Watkins and Mrs. Julia Hill, an eloping couple from Utica, N. Y., were arrested here to-day and jailed on the charge of adultery. Watkins left his wife and Mrs. Hill her husband in Utica.

Stole the Wedding Ring.

San Jose, Cal., May 7. — Sherman Carter, son of an Ohio banker, was arrested for stealing a diamond ring to give to his bride as her wedding ring.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
ON ALL
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arriv Crookston Daily
St.Paul Minneapol s perior Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.0x a. m.	7.5 am
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg; Brandon and points North	7.25 a. m.	7:10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston ly has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping C s nd Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or gl information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. at Crookston, Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marsha

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for in or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON
R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE

W. A. Sorsoleil

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers' price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

---

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS
COPYRIGHTS.

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free.

Building Edition, monthly, $2.50 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address
MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY.

BREVITIES

Go to Johnson & Marshall's for lime cement, etc.

T. Onstad, of Fisher, visited friends here over Sunday.

Fred Eikhof went down to Crookston last Monday on business.

Chas. Snuster, of Thief River Falls was in town on business today.

Frank Kratka, of Thief River Falls was in town between trains today.

Johnson & Marshall received a car load of doors and window sash today,

Cash paid for hides, tallow, sheep pelts etc. at the St. Hilaire meat market

Do not fail to call and see the new stock of hats at Miss Bye's Millinery Store.

Levi Stranahan came up on today's train and will spend a week here visiting his parents.

Mike Burns, of Thief River Falls, was in town a short time last Monday on business.

John Hogquist has rented Sever Hoff's building and has opened a tailor shop in it.

The weather still continues to be most favorable for crops and farmers are looking happy.

George Ralph returned today from the reservation having completed his surveying contract there.

W. A. Arthur is giving the American hotel building a coat of paint, He has the interior work about finished and will move into it tomorrow.

S. M. Dainard started up his saw mil past Friday and is cutting out dam timber at the rate of 8,000 feet a day,

For Sale.
One light wagon and one set double harness, both nearly new. Inquire at St. Hilaire Meat Market,
J. A. Dainard,

The special election held here yesterday passed off very quietly and resulted almost unanimously in favor of issuing the bonds there being but one vote against it.

Cattle Pastured
I have 300 acres of good pasture and will pasture cattle for $1.50 for the season and horses and colts for ,75 cts per month S. M. Dainard.

W. A. Sorsoleil has a crew of carpenters at work putting up a large dwelling on his farm south of here, He is also making other improvements which when finished will make his place the best improved farm in this vicinity,

BOQUET—ICE CREAM SOCIAL.

The young ladies of the village will give a social at the residence of Mr. E W. Twing next Friday evening. Ice cream and other refreshments will be served and the ladies are preparing a unique and interesting litterary program which will prove a delightful surprise to those who are fortunate enough to attend, For the small sum of fifteen cents a young man can procure a substantial supper, a beautiful boquet and last but not least a charming young lady as a partner for the evening. This is a snap that should not be overlooked by any enterprising young man and all should attend not forgetting to bring their sweetest smile and the necessary change. The entertainment begins at 8 o'clock. Come early and avoid the rush.

It is rumored that an attempt is being made by a number of influential merchants to call a meeting of the retail merchants to meet at Crookston or some other central point in the near future to protest and possibly inaugurate a boycott on the St. Paul and Minneapolis jobbing houses, It seems that the Twin City jobbers are selling goods to the Supply Houses of these cities at prices much lower than they sell to the country merchants. These so called supply houses have but little expense do not carry any stock but buy from the wholesale houses as their orders come in. In other words they are simply the agents of the jobbers who are virtually selling at retail as cheap or cheaper than to the retailers. In this way they are ruining the business of the country merchant and also the smaller towns and are concentrating the business in the cities. If the Twin cities will continue in this work and also continue to advocate the single gold standard and continue to try and do up the country districts they will find that they will be compelled to seek business elsewhere.

County Commissioner Henry Norland was in town yesterday on his way to Crookston to attend a meeting of the board. He informs us that he will do all he can to get the county to aid the building of a county road on the township line between Rocksbury and River Falls from the river east to the reservation line. The scheme is to have both townships and the county unite and build a first class graded road the entire distance. If this is done the village will build a road connecting at the reservation line to the high landing, Navigation below that point is getting very uncertain and by building this road St. Hilaire will be the nearest and most available point to steamboat navigation. It is nearly certain that the county will give good substantial aid and the townships and village should unite in pushing such a good thing along.

The people of this country taken as a whole seem to be the most dissatisfied with their lot of any class of citizens we have ever come in contact with in any portion of the country, Interview a dozen farmers and eleven of them will tell you that they wish to sell out and leave for unknown parts of the country' and no two have any idea of going to the same place. During the past two years the writer has had more or less business transaction with a number of farmers who have since left here, and notwithstanding the fact that they were all at one time residents of the same county here, no two have gone to the same place, and judging from their letters all now wish themselves back, One delegation went to eastern Oregon; another to Southern California; a third to the Northwest territories, and a fourth to Texas Quite a number went to Nebraska where at the present time the principal product is Starvation, There is no healthier climate in the world than we find here, and all kinds of business are conducted upon broad-gauge principles People who have lived in the Red River Valley for a number of years and have taken advantage of the natural resources of the country and have failed to make it a success of life, are little less than poor deluded fools when they pull up stakes and wander off to some distant and to them unknown country for the purpose of making a home.

While we will admit that there are many more desirable places to live than in the Red River Valley, we know of no place where a man can better his condition as quickly as here. Of course, a fellow has to work in this country. The climate is such that he can,t help himself, but the results of his labors are fully compensated for if he be right kind of a man.—If he is not perhaps it is better that he go away and make room for some one more deserving.—East Grand Forks Courier.

Chief Douglass of the government estimating corps now at work estimating pine on the Red Lake reservation was seen yesterday previous to taking the train for Thief River Falls.

Mr. Douglass is a very pleasant gentleman and a very entertaining talker. He is thoroughly posted on reservation matters and has some ideas regarding the opening of the reservation that are worthy of publicity.

In speaking of the work done by his crew he said," We have already estimated between seventy and eighty townships, All of the pine land south of the northern boundry of Polk county is ready for market, besides twenty-two townships north of the reservation then there are twenty-two more northeast of Red Lake upon which the surveys have been made and the timber is now ready for estimate, It is upon this land that we are now about to commence work and there will be between six months and a year,s work yet before it is completed,

In reply to the question as to what proportion of the pine was estimated and ready for market Mr. Douglass said that every foot of the pine that was tributary to this country or that could be brought out by either the Red Lake or Clearwater rivers was now ready for the market,

"It is too bad" said Mr. Douglas that it could not be actually put upon the market so that the people of the Northwest could be given the benefit of it instead of allowing it to be destroyed by fire and wind Millions of feet of this pine are destroyed every year in this way. The Baldwin bill which provided for putting the pine on the market as fast as a certain number of acres were estimated should have passed, Under the Nelson bill as at present construed the pine cannot be sold until the land is all surveyed and the timber estimated, If this construction is carried out the estimates we have made and are now making will be worthless. Every year the wind and fire goes through and reduces the amount of standing pine, so that an estimate made last year might be way off at the present time. This accounts, I believe, for the fact that where we re-estimated some of the work done by the former corps we found such wide discrepancies in the figures.

From this you may easily infer that in a year or two the estimates now being made will not be authoritative or reliable in any way. This is the best argument for the selling of the pine as soon as possible after the estimates are made, My impression is that if the matter was brought before the Interior department in the proper way and the facts presented in their true light they would find means to construe the Nelson law so that parts of the land could be placed on the market without waiting for the completion of the estimates. It is evident that the intention of the law was that this should be done, and from conversation had with Commissioner Lameroux, I believe that he would be inclined to place the most liberal construction upon the law if the exigencies of the case were urged upon him.—Crookston Times.

Special meeting of the village council Saturday, April 27th 1895.

All members present.

Meeting called to order by President Dainard.

On motion of Councilman Berg seconded by Councilman Hoff it was resolved that we the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn do hereby resolve to issue bonds of said village pursuant to the decision of the people at a special election held in said village on the 7th day of May 1895 to the amount of two thousand five hundred ($2,500.) dollars in denominations of five hundred ($500.) dollars each for the purpose of constructing a bridge across the Red Lake River in said village, Said bonds to be issued under the provisions of chapter 200 of the general laws of 1893, and to run for a period of twenty years from the date of issue, payment no optional and to bear interest at the rate of seven per cent. interest payable semi-annually.

On motion of Councilman Hoff seconded by Councilman Berg the village recorder was instructed to advertise for the sale of the bonds by inserting the following notice for bids for bonds in the St. Hilaire weekly Spectator, the Crookston Weekly Times and the St. Paul Daily Globe for three successive weeks, to-wit:

NOTICE FOR BIDS.

Notice is hereby given that sealed bids will be received by the village recorder of the village of St. Hilaire Polk Co Minnesota up to and on the thirty first (31) day of May A. D. 1895 for the sale of Two thousand five hundred ($250.0) dollars in denominations of Five hundred ($500.) dollars each worth of seven [7] per cent non-optional twenty [20] year bonds interest payable semi-annually issued under chapter 200 General Laws of 1893.

Said bids will be opened and considered by the village council on the thirty first [31st] day of May A. D. 1895 at 8 o'clock p. m. at the office of the village recorder of said village. The village council reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Given under our hands this 7th day of May A. D. 1895.

S. M. Dainard
Village President.
J. L. Johnson
Recorder.

On motion meeting adjourned.

Regular meeting of the village council Monday May 6th 1895. All members present

Meeting called to order by President Dainard.

On motion the minutes of last regular meeting was approved. On motion the minutes of last special meeting was read and approved as corrected. On motion the bill of the Pioneer Press Co. for $3.3? was rejected On motion the following bills were allowed

Potter Anderson cleaning well	$0.0?
Christ Hall. one night marshall	2.00

On motion the president was instructed to order the treasurer to pay interest on bonds and taxes on village hall property.

On motion it was resolved that we raise six hundred dollars for current expenses for the ensuing year.

On motion meeting adjourned.

S. M. Dainard President of council
J. L. Johnson
Recorder.

U. S. LAND OFFICE
Crookston, Minn., April 29 1895

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver, U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn on June 18 1895, viz:

Ann McIsaac HD no. 12835 for the SE ¼ NW ¼ and Lots 3, 4 and 5 Sec. 6 Tp. 152 R. 45.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

Axel Crown, Swan J. Naplin, Olaus Sorentryen, August Naplin, all St. Hilaire Polk County Minnesota.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of four hundred and thirty nine dollars, ($439.00) which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by C. L. Lasher and Susan Lasher, his wife, and J. M. Westberg, and Mary Westberg his wife mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N H mortgagee bearing date the 4th day of June 1890 and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 9th day of June 1890, at 8 o'clock a. m., in book 53 of mortgages on pages 301-2 and 3 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz:

Commencing at the north corner of Lot two [2] Block six [6] in the city of East Grand Forks formerly Grand Forks East—thence in a south-westerly direction, along the line between DeMers Avenue and said Lot two [2] forty [40] feet—thence at right angles in a south-easterly direction across Lots two [2] four [4] and six [6] in said Block to the line between said Lot six [6] and Lot eight [8]—thence along said line in a north-easterly direction forty [40] feet to the intersection of said line with the southerly line of the Alley in said Block—thence at right angles along the line of said Alley in a north-westerly direction to point of beginning in Polk county and state of Minnesota with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 11th day of May 1895 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 14th A. D. 1895.

Security Trust Co., of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.
R. J. Montague, attorney. Crookston Minn.

Dr H. GRUNDY

Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis

DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS
AND CIGARS.

Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.

Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY.

The NEW and the RIGHT WAY
EAST and WEST
TO ALL PACIFIC COAST POINTS
AND TRANSPACIFIC PORTS.

TIME CARD.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily.		Daily
NO. 3 North and West		NO 2 South and East
7.45 p m	Depart......St. Paul......Arrives	7.15 am
8.15 pm	" ......Minneapolis......	6.45 am
3.05 a m	......Barnesville......	11.15 am
5.25 am	Ar......Crookston......De	8.35 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH
MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

9.00 am	De......Crookston......Ar	6.00 pm
11.00 am	Ar......St. Hilaire......De	4.0? pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.0? a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1.20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.0? pm

Close connections made at Minneapolis and St. Paul for all points East and South.

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY
G. P. & T. A. St. Paul

H. J. FREEMAN
Agt. St. Hilaire

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of five hundred and eighty-seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary A. Holnvik and Hans M. Holnvik her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee, bearing date the 17th day of December 1890 and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 19th day of December 1890, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in book 50 of mortgages, on page 112 Which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned by said Security Trust Co. of Nashua N. H mortgagee to Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper by written assignment dated on the 7th day of January 1891 and recorded in the office of the Register of deeds on the 24th day of January 189 at 8:40 o'clock a. m., in Book 56 of mortgages, on page 81 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The north west quarter of Section 18 in Township One hundred and Forty-seven of Range Forty-five in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston in said County and State, on the 8th day of June 1895 at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes if any on said premises, and fifty Dollars Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated March 1st A. D. 1895.

Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper.
Assignee of mortgagee.
R. J. Montague, attorney Crookston Minn,

U. S. Land Office.
Crookston Minn. April 24 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn, on June 7 1895, viz:

John Kron, father of Alfred Kron deceased, HD no. 12283 for e½ NE ¼ Sec. 22 Tp 153 R 45.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land viz:

Adolph Nelson, L. O. Dalin, Per Person, Sam Person all of Bray p. o. Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava, Register.

Impetuous People

are sometimes figuratively spoken of as not above setting things on fire just for the fun of

Seeing Them Burn

Close competition breeds impetuosity, and in our earnest pushing for trade it often happens that we mark goods away down just for the fun of

Seeing Them Sell

Somebody has exclaimed: "Oh, the impetuosity of the idiocy of the tumultuous idiot!" This remark will never apply to you if in your rush for bargains you get into the right store, which of course is ours.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!

Great Bargain Sale of
FARM MACHINERY
AT
J. E. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mowe at $10 each and a full line of walking an breaking plow which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise.

PTERODACTYL

We print a likeness of the skeleton of this remarkable paleontological reptile because some of its physical characteristics are synonymous with our business methods. Perhaps the most striking similarity may be found in its

Little Finger and our Big Bargains

its little finger is very large: and so are our bargains. The paradox of a little finger being big may be likened to the paradoxical inducements we offer you.

Profits and Hind Feet Small

Its hind feet are out of all proportion to its fore feet, just as our profit is overshadowed by the buyer's. Its large head represents the size of our stock. The many years that have elapsed since the time when this creature flourished will hint at the wearing quality of our goods.

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. B. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

[illegible] $1.50

[illegible] In Advance. [illegible] Per Year

[illegible] as Second Class Mail Matter.

WEENESDAY May 15 1895

WASHINGTON'S PARENTS.

His Father a Maker of Pig Iron and His Mother a Second Wife.

George Washington was born in Westmoreland county, Va., on Feb. 22, 1732, according to the generally accepted style of reckoning time which has prevailed since 1752, or, according to the old style, on Feb. 11, 1731-32. His mother, Mary Ball, was the second wife of his father, Augustine Washington, concerning both of whom a great deal of false history has been written, while much that might have been truthfully said of Augustine Washington has been left unsaid by Marshall, Sparks, Irving and other biographers of George Washington.

Augustine Washington has been represented as a man of almost royal blood, as the aristocratic descendant of a titled English family. Be this as it may, Augustine Washington at the time he married Mary Ball was engaged in making pig iron at Accokeek furnace in Stafford county, Va., about 15 miles from Fredericksburg, and he was so engaged when his son George was born, although he was then residing at Wakefield, in Westmoreland county. Accokeek furnace had been built by the Principio company, composed of English capitalists, as early as 1726 on land owned by Augustine Washington covering about 1,600 acres and containing iron ore. Augustine Washington, who was known as Captain Washington, becoming the owner of one-sixth of the furnace property in consideration of the transfer of his land to the company. The Principio company had other iron enterprises in Maryland.

Captain Washington visited England in 1729 and 1730, chiefly in relation to the management of Accokeek furnace. Returning to Virginia in May, 1730, he wrote to his English partners on the 10th day of July that on his arrival he found to his great grief that his wife was dead. There is an autograph letter in the custody of the Maryland Historical society written at London on Oct. 2, 1730 by John Wightwick, one of the English stockholders in the Principio company, and addressed to John England, the company's general agent in Maryland and Virginia, which preserves the above facts, and which also severely criticises Captain Washington for neglecting in his letter of July 10 to inform his English associates whether or not he would stick to a certain bargain he had made with them concerning the management of the furnace.

We have been unable to discover whether Captain Washington kept his bargain to manage Accokeek furnace or not, but in Colonel William Byrd's "Progress of the Mines," written in 1732, he mentions "England's iron mines, called so from the chief manager of them, though the land belongs to Mr. Washington." Two miles distant from the mines was the furnace.

Colonel Byrd says: "Mr. Washington raises the ore and carts it thither for 20 shillings the ton of iron that it yields. Besides Mr. Washington and Mr. England there are several other persons in England concerned in these works." Augustine Washington retained his interest in the Principio company to the time of his death in 1743, and this interest he bequeathed to his son Lawrence.

In 1731 Augustine Washington married for his second wife Mary Ball, a daughter of Joseph Ball, who resided in Lancaster county, Va., where Mary Ball was born. Captain Washington did not marry Mary Ball in England, as Benson J. Lossing and numerous other inaccurate writers have stated, but after his visit to that country, during which, as has been shown, his first wife died.—Iron and Steel Bulletin.

Cider In Etymology and Hygiene.

Mr. Labouchere has been advising people to drink cider, or "cyder," apparently under the impression that it is impossible to get drunk on it, which proves that Mr. Labouchere does not know his Normandy. It is not an easy job, we admit, but it is one not infrequently accomplished by Norman peasants. And now Sir George Birdwood makes an almost piteous appeal to us to spell the beverage with a "y." He traced the history of the word from the Hebrew shekar, through Greek and Latin down to the French cirdo. Then came in some oce. ancestors who brought the "y" as dowry. And Philips, the poet, "forever fixed the correct English form for all makers and drinkers of the beverage and for all literary men as cyder." Who are we to gainsay Philips, the poet? So in deference to Philips and to please Sir George Birdwood we will spell it "cyder," but we won't promise to drink it, not even to gratify Mr. Labouchere.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Heredity.

Binks—Speaking of heredity, do you remember Forrester, who bought some wild land and turned it into a farm?

Winks—Yes. He was the inventor of a very effective stump puller.

Binks—Just so. Well, his son is a very successful dentist.—Oakland (Cal.) Times.

U. S. LAND OFFICE

Crookston Minn. March 21 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver U. S. Land office at Crookston Minn. on May 3 1895, viz:

Petter W. Patterson H D no. 1584 for the N W ¼ Sec. 17 Twp. 152 R. 42 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

Erick Anderson Julius Nelson, Hans R. Kolseth, Jim Evenson all of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

U. S Land Office

Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U. S Land Office at Crookston Minn on June 6 1895 viz:

Simon E. Ahlberg of St. Hilaire Minn. Hd no. 1269 for the S½ NE ¼ and Lots 1 and 2 Sec. 1 Twp 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land, viz:

Carl Sundal, Anton Sundal Gilbert Anderson, Tollef Erickson, all of St. Hilaire Polk county Minn.

T. A. Dunlava, Register

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred and fifty-[illegible] dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Arthur Perras and Antoinette Perras, his wife mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 18th day of March 189[illegible], and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 7th day of April 189[illegible] at 8 o'clock a. m., in book 53 of mortgages, on page 11, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz:

The South east quarter of the South east quarter of Section Ten and the East half of the North east quarter and the North east quarter of the South east quarter of Section Fifteen in Township one hundred and fifty of Range forty-two, in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the [illegible] day of June 1895 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 7th A. D. 1895.

Security Trust Co. of Nashua N. H. mortgagee.

R. J. Montague, Crookston Minn attorney.

Terms of Affection.

"Mamma, dear," is a more loving phrase to a mother's ear than "honored madam," though it would have astonished our great-grandmothers, and the spontaneous caresses of a child are very sweet. Yet it is possible so to err on the side of familiarity, both with the young and with subordinates, that the sense of reverence for elders and superiors is undermined.

But human nature is slow to adopt the happy medium in any of its ways, and elderly people declare that manners are daily deteriorating. Only the very old can fully realize the order of things which prevailed up to the early years of the present century, but it has left a leaven behind it which we recognize among the thoroughly well bred members of society.—Chambers' Journal.

Bread Upon the Waters.

When Victor Hugo was in exile in Brussels, he asked Rochefort to stand godfather to his son Charles. Rochefort accepted, and in looking for a suitable present saw in a curiosity shop window a silver table ornament which attracted him and which he bought, though the price was 35,000 francs. When after 1870 Rochefort was sent to New Caledonia and his property confiscated, Victor Hugo sold the ornament for the benefit of Rochefort's family. It turned out that it was the work of Benvenuto Cellini, and it brought in 200,000 francs.—New York Herald.

The poet Rogers had a voice so small and weak that, as he had said himself, he was forced to say caustic and ill natured things in order to make people hear him.

The garter was first worn by men. During the sixteenth century it reached the dimensions of a large scarf round the leg.

One horsepower converted into gas equals 12 candle power; into electricity, equals 1,600 candle power.

Among the bills of Marie Antoinette is one of $300 for a pair of garters.

Thoughtful, Very.

Siegfried Reibeles, the head bookkeeper, had become engaged to the daughter of his rich but very stingy principal, who was away from home at the time. He addressed the following telegram with reply prepaid to his future father-in-law:

"Just become engaged to Betty. Mamma agreeable. Request your consent also. Consent prepaid. Betty and Siegfried."—Tagliche Rundschau.

Cannot Serve Two Masters.

Society must let go of any man who has to work more than six hours a day, or his employer will.—Atchison Globe.

Incredible.

"There are certain tribes," remarked Professor Potterby in the course of his lecture, "that have not yet learned the use of fire."

"I don't believe that," whispered Freshleigh. "How in thunder could they light their cigarettes?"—Cincinnati Tribune.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred and ten dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Peter A. Ekstrom and Mary C. Ekstrom his wife mortgagors to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee bearing date the 21st day of November A. D. 1889 and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 9th day of December A. D. 1889 at 1:30 o'clock p. m. in book 43 of mortgages, on page 161 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south half of the north east quarter and the south east quarter of the north west quarter and the north east quarter of the south west quarter of Section 6 in Township one hundred and fifty-two of Range forty-four in Polk county and state of Minnesota with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 11th day of May A. D 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 1st A. D. 1895.

Security Trust Co. of Nashua N. H. mortgagee

R. J. Montague, attorney, Crookston Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of four hundred and sixty-six dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Oskar Svenson, and Annie his wife, mortgagors to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee, bearing date the 29th day of October 1889 and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 19th day of November 1889 at 5 o'clock p. m. in book 53 of mortgages on page 80, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The North west quarter of section fifteen in Township one hundred and fifty three of Range forty-four, in Polk county and state of Minnesota with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 27th day of April 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest and the taxes, if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated January 30th A. D 1895.

Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee.

R. J. Montague attorney, Crookston Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.

Crookston Minn. April 1 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on May 21 1895 viz:

Alexander Samuelson H. D no. 1335 for the S E ¼ N W ¼ and N E ¼ S W ¼ Sec. 21 Twp 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

John Hedlund, James A. Ortenquist, H. A. Johnson, John Albin all of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava, Register.

U. S. Land Office

Crookston Minn. April 4 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn, on May 21 1895 viz:

James A. Ortenquist H.D. no. 1291 for the S E ¼ Sec. 20 Twp 151 R 42.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

John Hedlund, Alexander Samuelson, H. A. Johnson John Albin all of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava, Register.

MORTGAGE SALE

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of nine hundred and thirty-two dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Ole P. Stokke and [illegible] Stokke his wife mortgagors, to Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 3rd day of August 1889, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 7th day of August 1889, at 2:30 o'clock p. m, in Book 43 of mortgages on page 54 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty in Township one hundred and forty-nine of Range forty-seven in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 8th day of June 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated April 5th A. D 1895.

Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee

R. J. Montague, attorney. Crookston Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Eight hundred and sixty four dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Andrew J. Adams and Elsie his wife, mortgagors, to the Dakota Investment Company mortgagee, bearing date the 19th day of August 1889 and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 21st day of August 1889 at 3:25 o'clock p. m., in book 43 of mortgages on page 70 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty-two in township one hundred and fifty-one of range forty-seven in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 16th day of February 1895 at 10 o'clock a m of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated December 1st A. D. 1894.

Dakota Investment Company mortgagee.

R. J. Montague, attorney, Crookston Minn

SPAFFORD [illegible]

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

DEALERS IN

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath, Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE HIGHEST MARKET PRICES FOR

All kinds of

CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD, Manager.

Reserved For

THE

ST. HILAIRE

TOWNSITE

COMPANY

W. A. ARTHUR.

DEALER IN

FRUITS, CONFECTIONARY

TOBACCO AND CIGARS.

STATIONARY OF ALL KINDS

Lunch Counter

Warm meals at all hours.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

Barbershop in connection

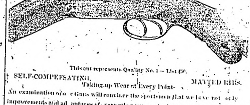
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200

BARRELS,5 0.



This cut represents Quality No. 1 — List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING. Taking-up Wear at Every Point. MATTED RIBS.

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsman that we have not only improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money but THE BEST G[illegible]

[illegible]

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers — ITHACA, N.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

Heavy and Shelf

HARDWARE

HEADQUARTERS FOR

HUNTER'S SUPPLIES

MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS

BINDING TWINE

P[illegible] 9 cents a pound.

NEW GOODS [illegible] PRICES

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

THE

SPECTATOR

UNTIL JANUARY 1st FOR ONLY

25 CENTS.

THIS OFFER HOLDS GOOD FOR THIRTY DAYS.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.

DR.
PRICE'S
CREAM
BAKING
POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Repose of Manner.

A foreign nobleman for whose opinion on etiquette and the higher amenities of fashionable life the modish folk of New York feel a profound respect, has been heard to remark that, though fascinating in many ways, our pretty American women which marks the caste to which all rich pretty and smart women strive to belong, the thoroughly aristocratic.

"American women," says the eminent censor of high breeding, "gesticulate too much, they laugh too much, are too restless when seated, too uneasy when standing, and altogether, when animated, are calculated to throw a sensitive person into a hard attack of sympathetic fidgets." So much of this is true, and so deep an impression has the frank criticism made on the women of New York at least, that few of them one meets but are vigorously studying what the nobleman calls "repose."

"To seem at rest," says one of the best exponents of this new doctrine of social conduct, "seat yourself carefully and at ease. Smile a good deal if you wish and are amused; but laugh rarely, and then in a modulated tone. Try to move your head about with graceful poising, but for the most part let your hands lie easily in your lap, and try to make it a rule to do everything slowly. American women are nervous instead of graceful, jerk from one thing to another, and so mar the good effects of good gowns and fair faces." Under this imported regulation one finds hostesses pouring tea with a deliberation that is positively restful to a weary soul; dancing no longer is a fast and furious rush of feet; and the last nights at the opera the pretty women in their boxes did not appear to be conversing so much in a wild sign language with gymnastic arm and head movements as in the low, sweet voices with which nature has so kindly blessed the majority.—Society Fads, in Demorest's Magazine.

"Trifles Light as Air."

Whiffers—Been having a domestic jar, eh? Well, such clouds will come, you know.

Blillers (whose wife found a strange hair on his coat)—Yes, they are caused by trifles light as hair.—New York Weekly.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

★ ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR ★ IMPERIAL GRANUM
IT IS
★ THE BEST ★
FOOD
FOR NURSING MOTHERS, INFANTS, AND
CHILDREN
★ JOHN CARLE & SONS, New York. ★

The Poor Man's Chance

HOMES 100,000 ACRES CHOICE Hardwood Farming lands situated along the line of a new railroad now being constructed in central Wisconsin, and near a through trunk line already constructed, for sale cheap to single purchasers or colonies. Special inducements given to colonies. Long time and low interest. Send for full particulars to NORTHWESTERN LUMBER CO., EAU CLAIRE, WISCONSIN.

PARKER'S
HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c, and $1.00 at Druggists

Agents Wanted On uncovered ground. Outfit free. One of ours earned $420, many over $1000, in '94. P. O. Box 1371, New York

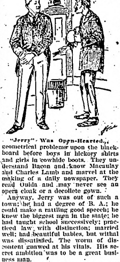
25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

"JERRY" VS JEREMIAH

The Story of a Man Whose Business Principle Didn't Work Out.

Jerry Jotkins was the product of a country town. He had grown up in touch with the simple life of a farming community and at the same time sat at the same board with senators and congressmen, judges and professors. The town in which centers a rich agricultural community is one of the wonders of America. It is primative and fin de siecle at once. The farmer from Pumpkin township stops and talks familiarly with Judge Spoutoe and calls him John. The judge goes to the metropolis the next week and hob-nobs with the notables of the country.

In the little red school house men of letters serve an apprenticeship with well thumbed text books. They chalk geometrical problems upon the blackboard before boys in hickory shirts and girls in cowhide boots. They understand Bacon and know Macaulay and Charles Lamb and marvel at the making of a daily newspaper. They read Ouida and may never see an opera cloak or a decollete gown.



"Jerry" Was Open-Hearted.

Anyway, Jerry was out of such a town; he had a degree of B. A.; he could make a rattling good speech; he knew the biggest men in the state; he had taught school successively; practiced law with distinction; married well; had beautiful babies, but withal was dissatisfied. The worm of discontent gnawed at his vitals. His secret ambition was to be a great business man.

Kept away from the mysteries of commerce and "deals" and finance and stocks he languished. When his townsmen applauded his political speeches he felt wan and hopeless; when he won a decision at court it made him tired. He kept his secret well for years until the chance came. Then he astonished every one by moving to Boomopolis and becoming manager of a jobbing house.

Jerry was a big, blonde, cheery-voiced, open handed, warm hearted man. Every one liked him. His clerks swore by him. His "drummers" sounded paeans of praise to his name all over the state. His customers said it was a pleasure to trade with him.

The clerk who wanted a day "off" always got it. The drummer who appealed for an advance of money never appealed vainly. The hard-up customer who came for an extension of time met with kindness and graciousness. The poor and needy were never turned from Jerry's door.

His business grew apace. But when the first year's balance was struck off he saw with dismay that, while the profits were large, many, many assets were on paper, merely, and could never be collected. When profit and loss was made up Jerry found himself at the little end of the horn. It worried him. He sat meditating in his office over it for hours at a time. Finally he struck it.

"How did Jay Gould make his pile?" he demanded of himself. "By being close," he answered himself.

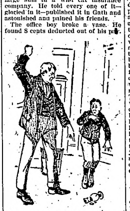
"How did Russell Sage make his pile?" he went on. "By squeezing people" was his mental reply.

Thus he ran over the list of multimillionaires and millionaires and demi-millionaires and the like, and each time he decided that graspiness and skinflintism and smallness and hard-heartedness was the proper way to procure, hold and maintain riches.

"I will no longer be Jerry Jotkins!" he determined. "I will hereafter be Jeremiah Jotkins and God help the man or woman who gets into my clutches!"

The first move Jeremiah made was to insure his old father's life for a large sum in a wild cat insurance company. He told every one of it—gloried in it—published it in Gath and astonished and pained his friends.

The office boy broke a vase. He found 8 cents deducted out of his pay.



Jeremiah Docked the Office Boy.

Christmas came and no gifts went the round of employees. Billy Bluff, the crack drummer, who had overdrawn his account, was bluntly refused a remittance. His monthly salary was applied to the debt. He could not go on. He pawned his watch, left his samples and came in to see what was up. There was a row. Jeremiah had Billy arrested for getting money under false pretenses. Billy was acquitted and went his way cursing.

Sops & Sops, the manufacturers at Sopville Conn., received a curt note from Jeremiah, stating that their goods were not up to contract, and therefore 10 per cent would be deducted. They objected and there was the deuce to pay with suits and lawyers and briefs. Jeremiah won, but it cost him twice the 10 per cent.

Then Tufts & Tufts were mulcted $42 because a shipment failed to check up. They sent on a man who proved that Jimmy Rush, the shipping clerk, had failed to check the goods properly. Jeremiah had to acknowledge that he received the goods, but he confiscated Jimmy's salary because of his error.

As a matter of fact, Jeremiah was raising hob. He sued people right and left; docked his clerks for lost time; refused to give one cent to charity, and when poor old Toby, the porter, was sick with pneumonia he stopped his pay, and when he returned to work reduced his wages until he would become as strong as before.

"Ah, as a skinflint, I am a glittering success!" cried Jeremiah.

Instead of his former promptness in settling accounts he never paid—he would stand suit first. All his talent as a lawyer was used to evade payment. When his old friends down in the country came in to buy he charged them outrageous prices for poor goods and they quit him in sorrow and astonishment.

Jerry used to wear fine linen and rich raiment; Jeremiah wore frayed summer suits in winter and dirty winter clothes in summer. He quit buying hats. He smoked three for a dime stogies and smelled like a swamp Indian. His shoes were broken; he flouted laundry bills and bought 37 cent bargain counter shirts. He sent his wife and babies to live at the expense of her father.

He worked like a mule all the time. One beautiful idea buoyed him up. He was a prophet of a principle. He would give half of his ill-gotten gains at the end of the year for the establishment of a home for broken down business men and confound the whole world.

The eventful end of the year came and the second balance was struck off. Horrors! the end of the horn was smaller than before. Ruin stared him in the face. But he went ahead. Finally a note came due and the bank foreclosed. The papers said that the creditors would get about forty cents on the dollar.

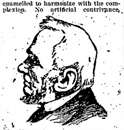
Then Jeremiah was transformed into Jerry again. He had his few thousands laid by to fall back on. He brought them forth and paid every cent and the people marveled. Just then his old father died and he received $5,000 insurance money. He gave every cent of it to the state home for orphans and went back to teaching school. He is teaching school now and his wife is very happy.

WEARS AN ALUMINUM EAR.

What Science Has Done for an Aged Englishman Whose Ear Was Diseased.

We have had people with glass eyes, porcelain teeth and artificial whiskers and now along comes a man with an aluminum ear. He is sixty-three years of age, and was admitted into the Queen's Hospital at Birmingham, England, in April 1893, with an epithelioma of the left auricle.

The greater part of the diseased ear was cut off by the attending surgeon, and a plaster of paris cast was taken of the left side of his head. Then an artificial ear was built up in wax to match the healthy one on the opposite side. The bogus ear was then made in vulcanite and aluminum tinted and enamelled to harmonize with the complexion. No artificial contrivance, such as a spectacle frame, was made use of to support the aluminum ear, and adhesion to the head was affected by means of a saturated solution of mastic in absolute alcohol.



The Man With the Aluminum Ear.

The man now can hear as well as ever, but he takes care to sleep on his right side at night so as not to break off his new ear. At the same time he has no fear of it being frost-bitten, and he is probably the only man alive who could even partly comply with the request of Marc Antony: "Lend me your ears."

BESTOWED HIS KICKS UNTIMELY.

How a North-Side Drug Clerk Nearly Lost His Job.

A drug store on the north side came near having a vacancy for a clerk the other day. The clerks had been awakened several times during the night, after dressing three pair of black eyes—by the way, Friday and Saturday nights are for some reason the popular nights for darkened optics—attending several calls for doctors and answering three calls from an inebriated individual who demanded a dose of poison. The clerk whose duty it was to tend the night bell was not in a very good humor. He had just settled himself for a good sleep when the bell rang a hearty peal. Mad as a bull and thinking he recognized the form of his intoxicated friend, the clerk opened the door and gave his visitor a healthy kick that landed the stranger on all fours on the sidewalk. The clerk was about to close the door when to his horror he recognized his employer's voice uttering anything but blessings on his devoted head. It seems the proprietor had forgotten his keys, and on his way home passing the store thought he would get them. Explanations followed, and as the proprietor himself is fond of a joke, the clerk was forgiven; but to save his life and position the clerk cannot help smiling when he sees his employer limping round the store.

Painted on a Grain of Corn.

It is said that the smallest piece of of painting in the world has recently been executed by a Flemish artist. It is painted on the smooth side of a grain of common white corn, and pictures a mill and a miller mounting a stairs with a sack of grain on his back. The mill is represented as standing on a terrace and near it is a horse and cart, while a group of several peasants are shown in the road near by. The picture is beautifully distinct, every object being finished with microscopic fidelity, yet by careful measurement it is shown that the whole painting does not cover a surface of half an inch square.

A Saddening Sight.

First Tramp—Lookee here, Jim. Here's a man been killed on the railroad; all cut to bits.

Second Tramp (sadly)—Too bad! too bad! Thim clothes would 'a' just about fit me, and they's all spoiled.—New York Weekly.

Where He Had Been.

Trivvet—I hear that you have been spending some time at a health resort.

Dicer—Well, I'm just out of the hospital.

Boone and the Indians.

Boone frequently took to the field on set expeditions against the savages. Once when he and a party of other men were making salt at a lick, they were surprised and carried off by the Indians. The old hunter was a prisoner with them for some months, but finally made his escape and came home through the trackless woods as straight as the wild pigeon flies. He was ever on the watch to ward off the Indian inroads, and to rescue the prisoners.

Once his own daughter and two other girls who were with her were carried off by a band of Indians. Boone collected some friends and followed them steadily for two days and a night; then they came to where the Indians had killed a buffalo calf, and were camped. Firing from a little distance, they shot two Indians, and, rushing in, rescued the girls.

On another occasion when Boone had gone to visit a salt-lick with his brother, the Indians ambushed them and shot the latter. Boone himself escaped, but the Indians followed him for three miles by the aid of a tracking dog, until Boone turned, shot the dog, and then eluded the pursuers. In company with Simon Kenton and many of the noted hunters and wilderness warriors, he once and again took part in perilous expeditions into the Indian country. Twice bands of Indians accompanied by French, Tory, and British partisans from Detroit, bearing the flag of Great Britain, attacked Boonesborough. In each case Boone and his fellow-settlers beat them off with loss.

At the fatal battle of the Blue Licks, in which two hundred of the best riflemen of Kentucky were beaten with terrible slaughter by a great force of Indians from the lakes, Boone commanded the left wing. Leading his men, rifle in hand, he pushed back and overthrew the force against him; but meanwhile the Indians destroyed the right wing and center, and got in the rear, so that there was nothing for Boone's men except to flee with all speed.—Theodore Roosevelt in May St. Nicholas.

To manufacturers like the Royal Baking Powder Company, the public is under a large debt of gratitude for the increased purity of articles of food sold at the present day. The reports of the official Government investigations of baking powders show the Royal to be stronger and purer than any other. It is quite evident that neither ingenuity, science nor expense can in any way improve upon the Royal Baking Powder as now before the public.

A Penurious Maestro.

Some years ago a well-known and celebrated composer resided in Paris. Hearing that a great prince intended visiting the city, he gathered around him a number of musical lights in order to give a grand concert in honor of the prince. Knowing of the prince's liberality, he banished his beautiful concert piano to another apartment substituting in its place an antique one with strings that would just respond to the touch of the keys.

The evening of the concert arrived, and with it the prince, who expressed himself charmed and delighted with the lovely music, but curious about the piano.

"My dear Maestro," he said, "you doubtless venerate this ancient piano."

"Your highness," replied the Maestro, "it is more a matter of necessity than veneration." And here he looked sad.

The prince's heart was touched, and he asked the Maestro in an ill-disguised, off-hand manner what style of piano he thought the best. The Maestro liked to play on the X——, its tone was so beautiful and it responded so quick to the touch.

The next day the prince visited the manufacturers of the X—— piano and purchased one of the finest of their make, ordering it sent to the Maestro.

Shortly after the Maestro called on the manufacturers of the X—— piano, and asked: "Did Prince—— order one of your pianos sent to my apartments?" The answer being in the affirmative, he politely requested his commission stating that it had been his pleasure to recommend their pianos.—Harper's Young People.

Solid Yet Elastic.

In its present elaborate form the hoof of a horse is the most perfect instrument of support which has been devised in the animal kingdom to uphold a large and swiftly moving animal in its passage over the ground. The original toe-nail, and the neighboring soft parts connected with it, have been modified into a structure which in an ordinary manner combines solidity with elasticity, so that it may strike violent blows upon the hard surface of the earth without harm. The result is that the horse can carry a greater weight at a swifter speed than any other animal approaching it in size.—Prof. N. S. Shaler in Scribner's.

Royal Baking Powder is the purest and highest in strength of any of the baking powders, and hence makes more, finer and better food. These are the official facts as set forth by the U. S. Government and the various State Chemists' reports. Of course great efforts will be made by those interested in the sale of the cheaper made, alum powders, to continue their sale where consumers have made up their minds to have the Royal and call for it at their grocers. The Royal Powder is so much superior to all the other preparations for quick raising, that it will amply repay housekeepers to use the necessary persistency to procure it in spite of all objections.

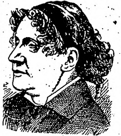
Aluminum Successfully Hardened

It is stated that the successful tempering of aluminum, so as to give it the consistency of iron, is a discovery of F. Allard of Quebec, whose rediscovery of the lost Egyptian art of hardening copper startled the mechanical world three or four years ago. He has made and hardened a cannon, which has just been tested in the presence of Colonel Spence, the American consul, and a number of others, with success. This cannon is 28 inches long and 5 inches in diameter, the metal of the gun outside of the bore being only one-quarter of an inch thick. A charge consisting of a pound of powder was fired out of this without any appreciable effect upon it. A new and scientific trial of the cannon has been ordered by the Canadian military authorities and the United States consul. Allard has been asked to manufacture as soon as possible a cannon 12 feet long for direct shipment to Washington.

HARRIET BEECHER STOWE.

The Author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Is Seriously Ill.

Almost eighty-three years of age and quite ill, it is not probable that the author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will long survive. In fact her death is constantly expected. Her father was Lyman Beecher, for years president of Lane Theological Seminary, situated at Walnut Hills, Cincinnati, and it was there she spent several years of her girlhood and part of her married life, and collected the material of her great story. After her marriage her husband, Prof. Calvin E. Stowe, became president of Bowdoin college and then they removed to Maine. Her sympathy for the slave mothers of the south was kindled by her own bereavement in the death of her child, and it was then the aspiration came to her to do something to aid them and the plans for her book began shaping themselves in her mind. Her mental as well as her physical strength is failing, and many pathetic stories are told of the childlike life she leads at Hartford, her present home.

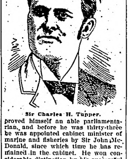


Harriet Beecher Stowe.

THE SCHOOL QUESTION

The Canadian Cabinet Wrought Up Over the Matter.

Trouble between Sir Charles Tupper, Canadian minister of justice, and his colleagues over the former's resignation is for the present averted by his consent to withdraw the same on certain conditions. Charles Hibbert Tupper is the son of Sir Charles Tupper, now high commissioner for Canada in England. He was born in Nova Scotia in 1855. He was given a liberal education, his chosen profession being the law. Soon after being admitted to the bar he was elected to the Dominion house of commons. He soon proved himself an able parliamentarian, and before he was thirty-three he was appointed cabinet minister of marine and fisheries by Sir John McDonald, since which time he has remained in the cabinet. He won considerable distinction by his successful presentation of the British case before the Behring sea court of arbitration. The school question is the occasion of the present dissension in the cabinet.

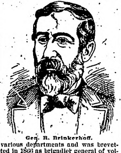


Sir Charles H. Tupper.

THE PRISON CONGRESS.

Something About One of the Prominent Delegates.

Gen. Roeliff Brinkerhoff, one of the recently appointed delegates to the international prison congress at Paris, was born in Cayuga county, N. Y., in 1828. In youth he was a tutor in the family of Andrew Jackson Jr., at the Hermitage. In 1850 he went to Mansfield, Ohio, studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1852. In 1855-9 he was one of the editors of the Mansfield Herald. He entered the military service in September 1861, serving in various departments and was brevetted in 1866 as brigadier general of volunteers. He engaged in the newspaper business and founded the Ohio Liberal, but for twenty years past has been in the banking business. He has been identified for many years with the charitable and correctional institutions of the state. He has been a member and president of the national conference of charities. For ten years he was vice president of the prison congress and has been its president for the past two years.



Gen. R. Brinkerhoff.

An Unhappy Interruption.

"You must have been very much upset by the fire in your house last night, Jennie."

"Upset is no name for it. It was perfectly dreadful. Mr. Wilkins had just got to a point I've been trying to lead him up to for two years. He was saying: 'Miss Hawkins, Jennie, I—,' when ma shrieks out, 'Fire! fire!' If she'd only known, she might have waited five minutes."—Harper's Bazar.

The Rule of Three.

Mrs. Fussy—John, how did you happen to buy a new umbrella to-day?

Fussy—You told me always to leave one at home and one in the office; so, in order to keep off the rain, I had to buy a third.—Harper's Bazar.

Both Loud, Too.

Teazer—An onion is like a church bell.

Weazer—How so?

Teazer—Got a-peel on peel.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

That Tired Feeling

It is remarkable how many people there are who have That Tired Feeling and seem to think it is of no importance or that nothing need be done for it. They would not be so careless if they realized how really serious the malady is. But they think or say, "It will go off after a while."

We do not mean the legitimate weariness which all experience after a hard day's work, but that all-gone, worn-out feeling which is especially overpowering in the morning, when the body should be refreshed and ready for work. It is often only the forerunner of nervous prostration, with all the horrible suffering that term implies. That Tired Feeling and nervousness are sure indications of an impure and impoverished condition of the blood. The craving of the system for help can only be met by purifying the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the one great blood purifier. It expels all impurities, gives vitality and strength, regulates the digestion and makes the weak strong.

"In the spring I felt very much run down—no strength or appetite. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and my appetite improved and I did not have that tired feeling." H. R. SQUIRES, East Leverett, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Makes Pure Blood.

Little Slaves in England.

"Does slavery survive in England?" asks the London "Christian World," and this is the answer: "After reading Saturday's 'special' number of the 'Schoolmaster' on the subject of 'Half-timers,' we find it difficult to answer in the negative. An inspector writes: "I examined a child who rose at 5:30 worked at a mill, and then walked a couple of miles to examination. Another girl of 11 rose soon after 5 a. m., and walked through the frost and snow nearly two miles to the mill. Work commenced at 6 and continued till 8:30, when there was an interval for breakfast—the child not leaving the mill. At 9 work again till 12:30'—six hours in all—'and then dinner at the mill. At 1:30 the child trudged off to school.' How many British children are liable to this sort of experience? Not less than 170,000! Shame on us!" Such facts are a shame indeed, to any civilized not to say Christian community.

Don't Tobacco Spit or Smoke Your Life Away
Is the truthful, startling title of a book about No-To-Bac, the harmless, guaranteed tobacco habit cure that braces up nicotinized nerves, eliminates the nicotine poison, makes weak men gain strength, vigor, and manhood. You run no physical or financial risk, as No-To-Bac is sold by Druggists everywhere, under a guarantee to cure or money refunded. Book free. Ad. Sterling Remedy Co., New York or Chicago.

Electricity in the Kitchen.

Electricity, though it seems to come into house-furnishing slowly, except for lighting, is, evidently, to be the hope and dependence of the coming housekeeper. Some sanguine ones promise in five years small elevators for private houses that will run by a button, and in the kitchen domain the magic electrical spark is to be a veritable fairy godmother. One on duty in a California restaurant is already removing the odor of cooking food. The proprietor introduced an electric exhaust fan with the happiest results. The fan, which is operated by a small motor, draws up the heated air and smells of the kitchen, and drives them up a shaft, whence they escape into the outer air.

A Poisonous Mist.
This fitly describes miasma, a vaporous poison which breeds chills and fever, bilious remittent, dumb ague, ague cake, and in the tropics deadly typhoid forms of fever. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, prevents and cures these complaints. Biliousness, constipation, dyspepsia, nervous and kidney trouble, rheumatism, neuralgia and impaired vitality are also remedied by the great restorative.

A Sure Sign.

On the Japanese Warship—First Officer—There's a cruiser reported a little ahead.

Second Officer—Chinese?

First Officer—No, sir. She's headed this way.—Sing Sing Courier.

Flagellated.

"What's the matter?" asked the Door Mat.

"That broom struck me," returned the Carpet, petulantly, "and beat me out of a lot of dust."

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Tender or Sore Feet, Chilblains, Piles, &c. C. G. Clark Co., New Haven, Ct.

English As She Is Spoke.

"Who was that member of parliament who said that all men who differed from him were dead wrong, and who refused to give anything to the shipwrecked sailors?"

"A liberal, I believe."—Tit Bits.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth
Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

For Appearance.

Mother—How is it that you get so many bad marks at school?

Little Johnny—Well, the teacher has got to mark somebody or else folks will think she ain't attending to her business.—Tit Bits.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."
Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

In South America.

Donna Inez—What is that rumbling noise in the street? It makes me nervous.

Don Manuel—Don't be frightened, dear. It's only a revolution; or, perhaps an earthquake.—Puck.

I am entirely cured of hemorrhage of the lungs by Piso's Cure for Consumption.—Louisa Lindaman, Bethany, Mo., Jan. 8, '94.

Uncomfortable Meals.

Mrs. Muggs—So you are not going to Mrs. Lugg's party?

Mrs. Puggs—No, I'm not. When supper comes, she always tells about a lot of nice things she intended to get, but couldn't.—New York Weekly.

Mothers appreciate the good work of Parker's Ginger Tonic, with its reviving qualities—a boon to the pain-stricken, sleepless and nervous.

It is a mistake that nothing is lost by politeness. Anybody who has given up his seat in a street car knows that.

When you come to realise that your corns are gone, and no more pain, how grateful you feel. All the work of Hindercorns. 15c

Where Will It Stop.

"And now they are actually calling a new butter after Du Maurier's heroine!"

"No—impossible!"

"Yes. Tompkins calls his new goat Trilby.—Detroit Free Press.

As Hot as Sahara.

The great Sahara Desert of Africa is regarded as the hottest region in the world. The vast plain which extends 2,000 miles from east to west, and 1,000 miles from north to south, has a temperature of 150 degrees Fahrenheit in the hottest days of summer. This is about the temperature of the hot room in the Turkish bath. It is said that the caravans which usually consist of from 500 to 2,000 camels, with their assistants, experience great suffering through the intense heat and the deprivation of water, as the distance between wells very often exceed ten days. There are numerous instances on record where whole tribes have perished from thirst, as the wells and springs to which they had journeyed had been dried up by the heat. It would be impossible for any but the acclimatized Moors, Berbers and Arabs to live, even for a day, in the heart of the rainless Sahara. In spite of the fact that the days are extremely hot the nights are nearly always uncomfortably cold, and the travelers are obliged to burden themselves with blankets in order to endure the change.—Brooklyn Eagle.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O., Props. of Hall's Catarrh Cure, offer $100 reward for any case of catarrh that can not be cured by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for testimonials, free. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Easily Explained.

Trivet—Hiss Flop claims to have made one thousand refusals of marriage.

Dicer—That's easily explained. When young Callow asked her to marry him she replied: "No, a thousand times no."

Lives in Hopes.

Fashionable Philanthropy—Englishman—Why is it you Hamericans copy the Hinglish?

American—We are in hopes you Englishmen will see how it looks and get disgusted with yourselves.—Atlanta Constitution.

Dr. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION
FOR WEAK WOMEN.

On first introducing this world-famed medicine to the afflicted, and for many years thereafter, it was sold under a Positive Guarantee of giving entire satisfaction in every case for which it is recommended. So uniformly successful did it prove in curing the diseases, derangements and weaknesses of women that claims for the return of money paid for it were exceedingly rare. Since its manufacturers can now point to thousands of noted cures effected by it in every part of the land, they believe its past record a sufficient guarantee of its great value as a curative agent, therefore, they now rest its claims to the confidence of the afflicted solely upon that record. By all medicine dealers.

The Saint Paul and Duluth Railroad Company owns over 1,000,000 acres of
CHOICE FARMING LANDS
And Lands suitable for Market Gardening, Dairying, Stock Raising, &c. The Saint Paul and Duluth country and its lands are described and illustrated in maps and pamphlets that are
GIVEN AWAY
To every applicant who will send his name and address to the undersigned. These lands are located in Northeastern Minnesota, and are all accessible to St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Superior and West Superior, the best markets in the Northwest. The Company offers these lands
TO ACTUAL SETTLERS
At low prices, on long time and on easy terms. Over 5,000 acres of land sold along the road this month.
FREE Maps and descriptive circulars will be mailed to anyone applying for same to
HOPEWELL CLARKE,
Land Commissioner, St. P. & D. R. R.
St. Paul, Minn.

DIRECTIONS for using CREAM BALM.—Apply a particle of the Balm well up into the nostrils. After a moment draw a strong breath through the nose. Use three times a day, after meals preferred, and before retiring.
CATARRH
ELY'S CREAM BALM opens and cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Heals the Sores, protects the Membrane from Colds, Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. The Balm is quickly absorbed and gives relief at once.
A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable. Price 50 cents at Druggists or by mail.
ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York.

ALLEN'S IRON TONIC BITTERS
The most elegant Blood Purifier, Liver Invigorator, Tonic and Appetizer known. It builds up and fortifies the whole system, invigorates the liver, aids digestion and cures dyspepsia. The first Iron Tonic Bitters ever advertised in America. Get the genuine.
J. P. ALLEN, Druggist and Chemist,
ST. PAUL, MINN.

DAVIS HAND OR POWER CREAM SEPARATOR
One-third more butter and of higher quality than by other known systems.
SAVES MONEY AND LABOR
Sizes from 1 to 1,000 Cows. Pamphlet Mailed Free. Agents Wanted
DAVIS & RANKIN BLDG. AND MFG. CO., Sole Manufacturers, Chicago, Ill.

If you have Rheumatism
Or any other pain, you don't take chances with St. Jacobs Oil, for twenty years ago it began to kill pain, and it's been pain-killing ever since.

Minn Hist. Soc.
MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XIV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 15, 1895. NUMBER 41.

PITH OF THE NEWS

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

The Latest and Most Important News of the World, Culled From the Telegraph Reports of the Press Associations.

Washington.

President Cleveland is writing a book on economic science.

A board has been detailed from the surgeon general' department to meet at Denver to examine Capt. Louis W. Crampton for promotion.

The surgeon general of the marine hospital service has been advised of the appearance of cholera among the Mohammedan pilgrims to Mecca.

The reclassification of the employes of the customs service has been completed and the rules for carrying into effect all the changes made will be promulgated at once.

Gen. Stanton, paymaster general of the army, has received from Fort Wasnakie, Wyo., a magnificent war bonnet, made by the Shoshone Indians.

Personal Mention.

Florence Nightingale was seventy-five years old on May 15.

Miss Rockefeller, daughter of John D. Rockefeller, plays both the violin and the 'cello with great skill.

Sig. Crispo, it is said, wears a shirt of chain mail, made by a Milanese armorer, when he goes out of doors.

Joseph Traut, a well known business man of Dubuque, Iowa, died at the age of seventy-two.

George Powell, a resident of Rockford, Ill., since 1838, died at his home. He was seventy-one years of age.

M. E. Carter, aged fifty, collector of internal revenue for the Fifth North Carolina district, died at Asheville.

W. Bourke Cockran, the orator and politician of New York, is said to have an ambition to represent an Irish district in the British parliament.

Rear Admiral Almy, U. S. N., retired, is very ill, and in view of his advanced age his family and friends are seriously alarmed over his condition.

Monsignor Capel, once such a prominent figure as a Roman Catholic ecclesiastic, is now a ranchman in California, and is said to be fast becoming very wealthy.

Miss Caroline Everett, for fifteen years professor of languages at the Princeton, Ill., high school, is dead. She was well known in educational circles throughout the Northwest.

Count de Castellane, who married Anna Gould, has bought a site on the Avenue du Bois de Bologne and the bride will carry out her dream of making an exact reproduction of the grand trianon at Versailles.

John Whisler, vice president of the First National bank of Wabash, Ind., and one of the wealthiest men in the county, died of apoplexy. He was seventy-seven years of age and one of the earliest settlers of Northern Indiana.

Albert George Sandeman has been elected to the responsible position of governor of the Bank of England. He had previously been a director of the bank for many years, and also a director in many financial institutions and insurance companies.

Pope Leo XIII.'s hands are nearly useless and cause him much suffering. When he writes he must hold his right wrist with his left hand, and what he writes is almost illegible. This is not due to age, but to an attack of ague twenty-five years ago, when he was bishop of Perugia.

Unfortunate Events.

Fire did $15,000 damage to the factory of the Imperial Varnish company at Jersey City, N. J.

An emery wheel burst at the Pittsburg locomotive works in Pittsburg, Pa., killing Thomas F. McCrea, aged forty-eight, a bookkeeper.

Luther Smith, aged twenty-one, in attempting to steal a ride on the cowcatcher of an engine at Logansport, Ind., was killed.

Willie Thomas of Knightsville, Ind., the nine-year-old son of James Thomas, was horribly mutilated by a large dog. The child is fatally injured.

By the explosion of twenty dynamite cartridges in a store at San Carlos, Mex., three families were orphaned.

Joseph Bowden, aged sixteen, a telegraph student at Goose Lake, Iowa, was killed by the accidental discharge of a gun.

Mrs. William Bussey at Jefferson, Ind., left her medicine chest open and her four-year-old daughter took some poison and died.

Five persons were drowned at Carsrude lake, near Fort Collins, Col. They were Ray Badger, Robert Craig and a son and two daughters of H. Carsrude.

Ben Benson of Joliet, Ill., was almost instantly killed at Romeo, Ill., by being struck by a rock which fell from the hooks of a derrick used for hoisting the stones in place on a wall of the drainage canal.

The remains of a man found lying on the Illinois Central tracks at Minonk, Ill., have been identified as those of Charles Hooker of Greenview, Ill. It is probable that he was killed in attempting to board a freight train.

Fire at Kokomo, Ind., did $10,000 damage to the property owned by F. C. Bryant, jeweler; K. E. Meck, druggist; W. H. Davis, clothier; Mrs. Simpson, milliner, and W. H. Martin, physician.

Walter Armstrong was probably fatally injured at the Arcade file works in Anderson, Ind., by a grindstone going to pieces while running at full speed. He received dangerous wounds on the head.

The throttle of a freight engine flew open at Clarkville, Ark., during the momentary absence of the engineer, and the train crashed into an incoming passenger train. Thirteen persons were seriously injured.

Criminal Doings.

Negroes at St. Joseph, Mo., threaten vengeance if Joe Burles is hanged. The jail is guarded.

The New Orleans, La., grand jury returned fourteen indictments of keepers of concert halls and dives.

Frank Clark of Dundee, Ill., attempted suicide at South Elgin by swallowing morphine and strychnine.

Capt. Howgate, charged with embezzlement from the government, has been released on $15,000 bail.

Charles H. Nelson, a well-known horseman, is under arrest at Waterville, Mo., charged with having attempted to kill Dr. Bunker.

Dick Green was arrested by United States officers near Hennessy, O. T., on a charge of participating in the Dover train robbery.

Mrs. Mann, a widow living at Prescott, Ia., committed suicide by hanging. Despondency was the cause. She leaves several children.

William Weakley of Clay Center, Kan., a shoe salesman, was found sandbagged in St. Joseph, Mo. He cannot live.

Yost Dippel, a farmer, 94 years old, living near Muncie, Ind., committed suicide by cutting his throat. He came to America from Germany fifty-nine years ago.

The grand jury at Charlotte, Mich., has returned indictments against thirty-six men of the county for violating the local option law and keeping gambling houses.

Jacob Brueck confessed at Springfield, Ill., that he robbed J. A. McGraw in 1894 of $2,500. He implicated Frank Gray and George Groves and the former was arrested.

United States deputy marshals are looking in Colorado for the assayer who, it is said, escaped from Carson, Nev., with $89,000, stolen from the mint. He is thought to have been at Kokomo, Col., about five weeks ago.

George Haase of Hennepin, Ill., recently arrested for wantonly cutting a horse with a knife to such an extent that the authorities were obliged to kill it, was fined $125 and costs. His defense was that the horse provoked him.

Ohio state prison managers have paroled Ralph K. Page, the cashier of the Painesville O., National bank, who was convicted of altering forged promissory notes, and was sentenced to serve ten years. His brother, ex-Congressman D. R. Page, is still a fugitive.

Wagoners have brought the news to Sergeant, Ky., that the Gilley boys and Joe and Will Day met near their homes on Indian Creek, nine miles from Norton, Va., and engaged in a deadly battle, which resulted in the death of the three Gilley boys and the fatal wounding of Joe Day.

Foreign.

Ratifications of the Japanese-Chinese treaty are exchanged.

The foreign members of the Armenian commission have left Moosh on a visit to the villages of the Sassoun district.

A banquet was given in London for George W. Smalley, who retires from the post of correspondent of the New York Tribune.

A dispatch received in Berlin from Che Foo states that the ratifications of the treaty of peace between China and Japan were exchanged there.

Advices received from the Pescadore islands show that 1,300 persons died there from cholera during one month. The epidemic is now subsiding.

Nicaragua has accepted England's modified ultimatum, according to which Nicaragua will pay the indemnity and the other matters will be settled by arbitration.

As a result of the Chinese war and Russian aggression, Japan may fight Russia, and the belief is that China's conquerer would win in such a conflict.

Efforts are being made to restore Chief Clarence in the Mosquito territory, which will probably give England another chance to pounce upon Nicaragua.

Sir Joseph Adam Hay is dead. He was the eldest son of Sir Robert Hay, the eighth baronet whose mother was Sally, daughter Alexander Duncan of Providence, R. I.

President Diaz has appointed a commissioner to collect, transport and install a display of the resources and products of Mexico at the Cotton States and International exposition at Atlanta, Ga.

Gladstone, in a letter to Francis Seymour Stevenson, chairman of the Anglo-American association, says that the conduct of the sultan and the Turkish government in the Armenian question has been worse than their conduct regarding Bulgaria in 1876.

General.

At Washington, Mgr. Satolli christened the child of M. Patenotre, the French ambassador.

Some New York society women are going to pose as living pictures at an entertainment for charity.

The Moline (Ill.) board of education has decided to expel pupils addicted to using tobacco on the school premises.

The census of Des Moines, Ia., shows a population of 70,000, an increase of 20,000 since 1890.

Chief of Police Blodgett of Saratoga, N. Y., says he will not permit gambling there this summer.

Mayor Strong approves of the bill as at present drawn, for the reorganization of the New York police force.

Notwithstanding the vote against saloon licenses in Marshall, Ill., the old council granted them and the good people are angry.

Charles Brown and D. Clem Deaver, Democrat and Populist respectively, were appointed members of the Omaha fire and police commission by Gov. Holcomb, ending a hot fight.

Theatre-goers at Boston have organized the Theater Mutual Fire Insurance company. The company will write policies on theaters throughout the United States.

A doctor at Valparaiso, Ind., said Baby Bullock had smallpox, and people began to leave town. It was found to be chickenpox and they began to come back.

The international convention of machinists in session at Cincinnati discussed the report on referenda. A majority opposed the plan of 100 delegates being supreme, and the states rights plan of the lodges was retained as heretofore.

BLOOD WILL FLOW.

THERE WILL BE TROUBLE ON THE MINNESOTA IRON RANGE.

Strikers at the Franklin Mine Become Riotous, but Troops Will Not Be Ordered Out Until the Sheriff Takes Vigorous Action.

St. Paul, May 14.—Gov. Clough last night received a telegram from Sheriff Butchard of St. Louis county stating that the miners at the Franklin mine at Virginia City are in possession of the mine and the civil authorities are unable to cope with them. He accordingly asked that permission be given him to call out the militia. Adjt. Gen. Muehlberg at once left for Duluth to make an investigation.

Duluth, Minn., May 14. — After a long conference between Adjt. Gen. Muehlberg, Sheriff Butchart, Col. Shandrew, of the Third regiment at Fort Snelling; Capt. Bodwell, Capt. Braden and other local officers of the militia, it was decided to send no troops to the iron range at present. The adjutant general said: "The state has no right to interfere between the men and the company until the county authorities have exhausted their power. Besides the men have not, to my knowledge, damaged any property. The sheriff has simply not done his duty wholly yet, and I shall not interfere. I return to St. Paul to-night."

Sheriff Butchart said: "If I have to take a lot of deputies up there and kill a few men I'll just have to do it; that's all. Troops are needed. They can perhaps stop the trouble without bloodshed, but those fellows don't fear deputies so much. My plans have been entirely changed by the general's refusal, and I will have to get together at least forty or fifty deputies immediately. We cannot get away to-night but will leave to-morrow. We must get good deputies."

The sheriff seems uneasy in mind over the situation, and evidently feels he has a terrible task on his hands. He had everything in readiness to move the troops to-night, and the troops were all ready for the word, and he feels downcast over the general's dogged opposition to the scheme. Deputies are being sworn in as fast as suitable men offer themselves.

The Royal Baking Powder, as every cook knows, is always to be relied upon. It is one of the greatest aids she has. She is always able with the least trouble to make the very finest biscuits, cakes, muffins, and crusts. Many a cook's reputation has been made by the delicious things she has been able to make with it.

SILVER CONVENTION.

Iowa Democrats Will Hold One at Des Moines.

Des Moines, May 14.—A call for a silver conference in this city June 6 has been issued by about forty well known Democrats, headed by ex-Lieut. Gov. Bestow. The call says:

"It can no longer be doubted that a concerted effort is being put forth by a minority, but a powerful minority, within both the Republican and Democratic parties to foist upon the country the class doctrine of gold monometallism, as distinguished from the genuine bimetallism contemplated by the constitution and advocated by the Democracy since the birth of the party. This movement is backed primarily by the money lenders of Europe and secondarily by the class interests in this country that have grown up under vicious legislation. Their forces, comparatively few in number, but working in perfect harmony for a central purpose, have perfected their plans to control the temporary and permanent organization of the state convention to be held in Marshalltown Aug. 7. If the plans of the single gold standard forces are not bravely met and defeated the party in Iowa will certainly be enrolled under the banner of the European financiers and the Wall street bankers. Let us face the issue like true Democrats and acquit ourselves like men, giving our adversaries no cause for just complaint, but let it be a fight to a finish. This is no time for shrinking, no time for silly or disgraceful compromises on vital issue—the welfare of the party for years to come is at stake."

A FORMAL DEMAND.

Chippewa Indians Claim the Site of Rainy Lake City.

Towner, Minn., May 14. — Wau-be-ske-wa, chief of the Chippewa band of Indians at Kaptogama lake, arrived at government headquarters and made a formal demand on the government farmer for the site of Rainy Lake City, or enough money to satisfy his estimate on the same, on the ground that he did not indorse the treaty of '79, to which he was not invited by the "Great Father" at Washington. Before the discovery of gold in that locality he did not care for the land, but he has since changed his mind.

The grocer sends the new brand of baking powder simply because it costs him so much less and he can make more profit by selling it than he can on the Royal. The Royal is made from the very finest materials and costs much more than any other brand, which accounts for its superiority, although it is sold to consumers at the same price.

Across the British Channel.

Paris, May 14.—An American named John C. Rucka arrived at Calais today, having crossed the British channel in a cycle boat twenty-four feet long. He started from Woolwich on May 6.

Gail Hamilton Ill.

Washington, May 14. — Miss Mary Abbey Dodge, a cousin of Mrs. James G. Blaine, and widely known as a writer under the nom de plume of "Gail Hamilton," is seriously ill at the residence of Mrs. Blaine in this city. Last Friday morning while in her room she was suddenly overcome by a fainting spell in which she sank to the floor and presumably remained for some time unconscious before being found by members of the household. She has since rallied, and her condition is more reassuring.

HONORS WON AT COLLEGE.

Standing of the Senior Class Fixed by University Faculty.

Minneapolis, May 14.—At a meeting of the general faculty of the university, commencement honors were voted upon members of the senior class of the academic department. These honors are awarded wholly upon class rank for the work of the course, and are divided into three classes—special honors, philosophical orations, orations. Under the first class are included the two having the highest general average for the four years, won this year by Julius J. Borans, with a rank of 95.33, and Charles B. Miller ranking 94.43 per cent. Under the second group come all those having an average above 93 per cent, who in the order named, are as follows: Francis Ramaley, Soren P. Rees, John T. Peterson, Rose W. Eaton, Maud M. Case, W. A. Godward, W. C. Lyon. The third class includes all above 90 per cent, who are, in the order named: B. S. Wells, Clarence Ellithrope, Olaf Stageberg, W. F. Twing, Mary T. Brewer, Carl Huhn, Lillian R. Moore, Josephine Tilden, A. M. Murlin, Minnie Stone, Susie Folch, Alexander Caldwell, Rose Peterson, E. A. Peterson, Anna Holbrook, McLaughlin White. On a basis of ten terms' work Isabelle Wells ranked 91.62, and on a basis of eight terms' work Carl Fowler ranked 90.97 per cent. Thus from a class of ninety-three young ladies and gentlemen twenty-eight have a final average above 90 per cent, and receive merited honors. This is the highest percentage of honor students that any recent class has received, and it marks the class of '95 as one of the brightest that has ever gone from the institution.

It does not appear that any baking powder, when presented in competition with the Royal, either at the Government tests or before World's Fair juries, has ever received favor or reward over the Royal or made an equal showing in purity, strength or wholesomeness.

AGAIN IN SLAVERY.

Negroes Are Kidnaped by Farmers Who Need Laborers.

Little Rock, Ark., May 14.—Reports have reached here from Ouachita county of the wholesale kidnaping of negroes by white men of Louisiana, by farmers living adjacent to the Arkansas line who needed farm laborers. When laborers were needed they crossed into Arkansas, selected the negroes they wanted and took them to Louisiana by force. Similar reports have reached here from Union and other counties on the Louisiana border. A dispatch from Eldorado says Judge Smith of Ouachita county convened a special grand jury to investigate the recent outrages of this character. In some cases the kidnapers have been seen driving before them like so many sheep a bunch of negroes with their arms pinioned and tied together.

New Wisconsin Road.

Milwaukee, May 14—The Milwaukee & Waukesha Railway company, with a capital of $1,000,000, was organized to-day. Articles of Incorporation will be filed by Wednesday of next week. By this time the consent of the stockholders of the Wauwatosa motor line will probably be secured to the plan of having the new company take the place of the old one. The new company will manage the entire line. Almost the entire right of way has been secured, and Secretary A. B. Myers of the Wauwatosa line, who is also actively interested in getting up the new company, is authority for the statement that the line will be completed in two months.

The Royal Baking Powder is the purest and strongest baking powder made, and has received the highest award at all the great International and State fairs wherever exhibited in competition with others.

Murdered an Abbe.

Paris, May 14—The Abbe de Broglie, a brother of the Duc de Broglie, was murdered by a woman named Amelot. The abbe, it appears, has been the confessor of the woman and she seems to have labored under the delusion that he had calumniated her. She called upon him and demanded a written statement of retraction of the alleged calumnies. When the abbe declined to grant her request she drew a revolver and fired four times at the priest and killed him. She then went to a priest at the Eglise des Carmes, confessed her crime and begged for absolution. Afterward the woman went to a police officer, confessed the murder and was arrested.

Miners Will Meet.

Denver, May 14.— The annual convention of the Federation of Western Metalliferous Miners will begin in this city at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning. The federation represents a membership of about 4,000 miners, and it is thought there will be 150 delegates present at the sessions this week. The delegates will come principally from Colorado, Idaho, Montana, and South Dakota. Probably the most important subject that will come before the convention will be that of affiliating with the American Federation of Labor and with the coal miners.

Junior A. P. A.

Milwaukee, May 14.—Before the supreme council of the A. P. A. closed its session in this city the Junior A. P. A. was organized, which will be under the jurisdiction of the supreme council of the United States, and will reach into Canada and England. Boys and girls aged from fourteen to eighteen will be eligible to membership. It is proposed to teach the children patriotism, and it is understood that the society will not be of the iron-clad oath-bound order.

Accept the Raise.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 14. — The employes of the Riverside iron works at Benwood, W. Va., held a meeting Saturday night and decided to accept the 10 per cent raise granted by the company last week and the men will not go out.

A Prince "In Our Midst."

San Francisco, May 14. — Prince Francis Joseph of Battenburg started East to-day over the Central and Union Pacific. He goes direct to Chicago and from there to Niagara.

DEATH IN A WRECK.

FATAL AND COSTLY DISASTER ON A NEW YORK ROAD.

A Fast Freight Conveying Race Horses to Eastern Tracks Is Wrecked and Three of the Grooms and Ten Horses Are Killed.

Hornellsville, N. Y., May 14.—One of the worst wrecks that was ever known here took place on the Western division of the Erie, three miles west at an early hour this morning. Fast freight No. 92 was thrown in the ditch by a broken wheel and ten cars were piled up in a confused heap. One of the cars that was in the wreck was from Mercer, Pa., and contained horses that were being taken East to enter the races. There were eighteen horses in this car that were attended by their grooms. Three men were killed in the wreck and all of them were grooms. Their names are unknown. Foster, one of the managers of the car of horses, had several ribs, both arms and a leg broken. It is thought that besides this he has sustained internal injuries. The physicians say that he cannot live. Two other men whose names are unknown were severely injured. Patrick Shannelly, a brakeman, was thrown into the air when the accident occurred. An ankle was broken and his head was badly cut. Ten of the horses were killed. The debris is piled on the track so as to block all trains from Corning to Buffalo.

An Old Settler Dies.

St. Paul, May 14.—Michael Hogan of 69 Front street, died quite suddenly late Saturday night. He has been in poor health for the past eighteen months, but the end was not expected. Mr. Hogan came to St. Paul in 1850, when he was thirty-one years old, and has resided here continuously since. In the early days he bought quite a large tract of land near the corner of Front and Lawson streets, and its increase in value placed him in very comfortable circumstances. He has a large number of friends among the old settlers, who admired him for his qualities of heart and brain. In 1865 Mr. Hogan married Mrs. Ed Murphy, mother of Ald. Murphy, who survives him.

Prof. Floyd Davis, Chemist to the State Board of Health of Iowa, says: "The Royal has the highest leavening power of any baking powder examined, and is composed of pure and wholesome ingredients, well mixed, and of a character perfectly proper for use. No other powder gives results so satisfactory."

Elevator Burned.

Port Huron, Mich., May 14—The McMorfan grain elevator, with its contents, was entirely destroyed by fire this morning and the roller and flouring mill adjoining badly damaged. The fire started from an oil tank. It was apparently put out but broke out again later. The firemen were handicapped by a lack of water pressure. The mill and contents were damaged about $20,000 by fire and water; covered by insurance. The elevator was valued at $60,000 with an insurance of $12,000. It contained 150,000 bushels of grain, principally wheat and oats, including 15,000 bushels of peas. This was valued at $75,000. Covered by insurance.

Again Love Finds a Way.

Decatur, Ill., May 14.—Donald McNulta, son of Gen. John C. McNulta of Chicago, and Miss Henriette L. Scott, daughter of ex-Congressman Owen Scott of Bloomington, were married in Decatur Thursday evening by Rev. John Jordan, pastor of the Baptist church. It was a runaway match, the clergyman being pledged to secrecy by the groom, but the facts concerning the affair leaked out to-day. Gen. McNulta was bitterly opposed to the wedding. Donald McNulta has been a student at the Illinois Wesleyan university at Bloomington, and for a year has been devoted to the young lady.

Trying to Get Benedict Off.

Pierre, S. D., May 14.—In the Benedict case the attorney for the defense cross-examined Attorney General Crawford in regard to the offer of property in settlement with the state which Benedict transferred. Then opened argument for the dismissal of the case and release of the prisoner. Attorney General Crawford presented an argument on behalf of the state. The hearing was then continued until Monday on account of the illness of the justice.

The easy, safe and certain protection of our bread, biscuit and cake from all danger of unwholesomeness is in the use of the Royal Baking Powder only. This powder is mentioned because of the innumerable reports in its favor by high medical authorities, by the U. S. Government, and by the official chemists and Boards of Health, which leave no doubt as to its entire freedom from alum, lime and ammonia, its absolute purity and wholesomeness. While its use is thus a safeguard against the poisonous alum powders, it is satisfactory at the same time to know that owing to its greater strength it is more economical.

Greene Arraigned.

Eau Claire, Wis., May 14.—Ex-County Treasurer C. H. Greene appeared in the municipal court for preliminary examination on the charge of embezzlement of city funds to the amount of $30,000. He pleaded not guilty, waived examination and was bound over to the September term of circuit court, giving $5,000 bonds.

Moral and Sober.

San Francisco, May 14. — Joaquin Miller, the poet of the Sierras, who was accused of betraying and deserting a young girl in Honolulu, has written a letter to the Chronicle in which he says: "If ever I lived a moral, sober life I lived it last winter in Honolulu. You see I went there and lived there and left there rather a sick man and had to. As to what I wanted to do, good or bad, read it in the release of prisoners and the more liberal action of the government all along the line."

AGED MURDERER.

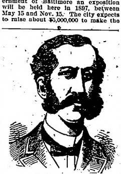
Bloody Work of a Man Seventy-Six Years Old.

Findlay, Ohio, May 14.—A horrible murder occurred last night at the county infirmary in this city. Abe Wise, a semi-paralyzed inmate aged forty years being the victim, and J. G. Karg, another inmate aged seventy-six years being the murderer. The two men quarreled over a trivial matter and Wise threatened to kill Karg, striking him over the head with a cane. Karg went to his room and procured a butcher knife. Returning, he secured Wise's cane and then made a rush at him with the knife. Wise was almost helpless, being paralyzed in one side, and was therefore at Karg's mercy. The knife was as sharp as a razor, and with it Karg slashed Wise across the neck and head. Wise attempted to get down stairs, and as he was groping along the hallway in the dark Karg made another dash at him. Drawing the knife across the back of his neck, he nearly severed the head from his body. With the blood streaming from his wounds, Wise managed to get down stairs; but he died soon afterward. After the murder Karg washed himself, went to his room, and pretended to be asleep when the superintendent knocked at his door. He was placed under arrest. His clothing was found saturated with the blood of his victim. In Karg's room were found two other knives besides the one with which he killed Wise.

Many receipts as published still call for cream-of-tartar and soda, the old-fashioned way of raising. Modern cooking and expert cooks do not sanction this old way. In all such receipts the Royal Baking Powder should be substituted without fail.

BALTIMORE'S EXPOSITION.

Work Begun on Some of the Buildings.



Fred Brackett.

Baltimore, May 14.—In commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of the establishment of the city government of Baltimore an exposition will be held here in 1897, between May 15 and Nov. 15. The city expects to raise about $5,000,000 to make the project a success. Work was begun today on some of the buildings. The general manager of the exposition is Maj. Fred Brackett, who was chief clerk of the treasury department during the Harrison administration, and was prominently connected with the Chicago world's fair. Baltimore received its first settlers in 1662 and was first called Baltimore in honor of Lord Baltimore in 1730. In 1752 the town had twenty-five houses and 200 inhabitants, and in 1797 the population had grown to 20,000 and in that year it became a city.

Prof. C. W. Drew, Chemist to the Minnesota State Food and Dairy Commission, says that the "Royal" being of greater strength than any other, and possessing better keeping qualities, it is the natural conclusion that it is the best baking powder made.

Killed His Brother.

Plainfield, Ind., May 14. — Palmer Carter, aged nineteen, was leaving the family residence, carrying a rifle and followed by a younger brother, aged thirteen. The gun was accidentally discharged, the ball entering the brother's forehead just over the left eye, plowing its way through the skull and out at the back of the head, tearing out a piece of the skull. The poor boy gasped once or twice and was dead.

Five Men Injured.

Chicago, May 14.—By the collapse of a brick building in process of being torn down at 53 Market street today five men were injured while nearly a dozen others had narrow escapes. The injured were buried under a mass of bricks and mortar. The firemen who responded to the call soon dug them out and they were sent to the hospital. Although the men are badly injured it is not thought any of them will die.

Four Men Drowned.

Portsmouth, Ohio, May 14.—William Elliott Davis Weaver of this city and Dick and Henry Rainey of Kentucky were drowned in the Ohio at this place last night. They attempted to cross in a small boat with two boys and a heavy wind capsized the boat. The boys clung to the boat and were saved, but the four men all went under.

Fire Chief Injured.

West Superior, Wis., May 14.—A fire broke out in the residence of Charles Meisner, near the steel plant, and the place was completely destroyed. During the progress of the flames Chief Kellogg was badly burned about the face and hands and was almost smothered by smoke.

Insanity Plea Doesn't Count.

Union, Mo., May 14.—The jury in the circuit court hearing the insanity case of Dr. Arthur Duestrow, the St. Louis millionaire who, in February, 1894, shot and killed his wife and child in cold blood, found him sane. This is the second time the case has been tried, the first trial resulting in a disagreement. Duestrow, who pleaded insanity to escape the consequences of his crime, will be tried on the charge of murder as soon as his counsel and the state's attorney shall decide.

RACE TRACK RAIDED.

BOOKMAKERS AT HAWTHORNE ARE ROUNDED UP.

One Hundred and Fifty Deputies Visit the Track and Arrest Ed. Corrigan, His Business Partner and a Number of Bookies.

Hawthorne, Ill., May 13.—It was a cold day for the sports at the race track. Chicago and Cook county have for some time been struggling with a hot wave, but the owners and patrons of Hawthorne track found it cool enough for them when 150 big deputy sheriffs marched into the track and declared that Hawthorne was running a game prejudicial to good morals, the laws, and the peace of the community. Having declared themselves the deputies proceeded to gather in Edward Corrigan, the master of Hawthorne; John Brennock, his business partner; Joseph F. Ullman, the proprietor of the foreign book and twenty-six smaller fry. The prisoners were hurried off to the city and brought before Judge Ewing, of the superior court, who, after a short discussion with the attorneys for the prisoners and for the civic federation which planned the raid, admitted the prisoners to bail in the sum of $300 each.

The officers of the civic federation have determined that there shall be no racing contrary to law in Cook county this year, and they declare they will repeat the raids as often as the management of Hawthorne cares to open up.

Rumors of the intended raid had got abroad, however, and when the army of law approached the track there was great confusion and excitement at the track. The bookmakers were promptly given the alarm and at once began to hustle their blackboards out of sight. When the deputies marched in not a blackboard was to be seen and the bookmakers were standing around trying to look innocent.

There was no confusion at the foreign book, however. Joe Ullman controls it, and he had been arrested in a raid last year. He had an idea that lightning never struck twice in the same place, and besides he was making bets on nice good races at other tracks. Therefore, Ullman, wrapped in his innocence, confident of his ability to locate the spot where the bolt would strike, made no effort to hide his blackboard—or what would have served him better, his person—and he was badly fooled. The lightning hit him fair and square. A deputy who had an idea that Hawthorne races were no more immoral than those on other tracks promptly rounded Mr. Ullman up, much to that gentleman's disgust and wrath for his book was $2,000 behind on the day and he wanted to make it up. Other men connected with the foreign book seeing the miserable failure of Ullman's lightning rod, made a wild break for liberty, but the officers secured as many of them as they cared for. The formal hearing of the prisoners will be next Tuesday.

WIPED OUT.

An Opinion Respecting the Fish and Game Commission.

St. Paul, May 12.—There is no fish and game commission in Minnesota according to an opinion rendered by Attorney General Childs this morning. He holds that under the wording of the first section of the new law passed last winter a new board of fish and game commissioners is created, and hence the terms of the present commissioners expired with the passage of that act, and the old board was completely abolished. The words which do the business are:

"There shall be a board of five commissioners, who shall be appointed by the governor, and shall constitute the first board under the provisions of this act."

The opinion was handed to the governor this morning, and under it there will undoubtedly be a new commission, or at least two new members to take the place of Timberlake and Ferris. The fact that Mr. Fullerton was appointed by the governor only last winter probably insures his retention of his office. Besides, he has made a very effective agent, as the poachers know to their sorrow.

Came From Bavaria.

Edgemont, S. D., May 12.—A large colony of Bavarian stone workers arrived here to-day to reside permanently. They will be employed in manufacturing grindstones from the local quarries. The difference of 10 per cent tariff in favor of the domestic stone, which is similar to the Bavarian article, has driven many who were formerly employed in manufacturing that stone to the United States. The revenue derived from imported Bavarian stone in way of duty has decreased largely this year. Forty families are included in the first contingent, which will be followed by others.

Convict Postmasters Released.

Huron, S. D., May 12.—Two United States prisoners were released from jail here this morning. One was John M. Moriarity of Warner and the other was Charles H. Tyler of Hufftou. They were convicted of embezzling government funds while serving as postmasters. The sentence of each was six months in jail and $500, fine. Both men served the jail sentence and thirty days of the fine, and were released under the provisions of what is known as the "poor convict law."

Officially Confirmed.

Madrid, May 12.—The defeat of the Cuban insurgents under Matagas has been officially confirmed.

ELEVATOR FELL.

At Sheldon, Iowa, and Several Men Are Badly Injured.

Sheldon, Iowa, May 12.—The elevator in Corwin's big implement house fell this morning, precipitating five men to the lower floor. Harry Cook and Dan Matthews, traveling men from Sioux City, are badly hurt, being injured internally. H. R. Mitchell is injured in both arms and both legs, and his face is horribly cut up. Corwin and Rodgers escaped unhurt. A defective rod caused the fall.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN
SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT
DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arriv Crookston Daily
St. Paul Minneapolis Superior Duluth Chicago and points East and South-west and Pacific Coast	7.0a. m.	7:35 am
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	7.25 a m.	7:10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston daily has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, Maps, Time Tables or [illegible] information apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. of Crookston [illegible]

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marsha

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for in or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON R. R. TRACT ST. HILAIRE

W. A. Sorsoleil

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers' price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS
COPYRIGHTS.

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free.

Building Edition, monthly, $2.50 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY

BREVITIES.

Go to Johnson & Marshall's for lime cement, etc.

Rev. Herman P. Fisher, of Crookston was a caller at this office today,

August Peterson was at Thief River Falls yesterday on business.

Sash and doors cheap for cash at Johnson & Marshall's.

Mr. Filitea, of Duluth, was taking orders for hardware in town today.

K. Jorstad of Thief River Falls, was seen on our streets last Monday.

C. J. Knox of Thief River Falls, was in town a short time yesterday.

Erick K'ing, of Red Lake Falls, was in town on business last Saturday.

K. O. Gigstad made a short business trip to Crookston the first of the week,

Cash paid for hides, tallow, sheep pelts etc. at the St. Hilaire meat market

Do not fail to call and see the new stock of hats at Miss Bye's Millinery

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Adams visited friends at Thief River Falls last Monday.

Rev. Kenneston was at Crookston several days the latter part of last week,

Collector Marian of Crookston is doing business in this vicinity this week.

Dr. Merrill, of Thief River Falls, was in town last Monday on professional business,

Miss Minnie Olson visited friends at Thief River Falls the latter part of last week,

Frank Gravel, the popular Crookston traveling man, was doing business in town last Monday.

Peter Paradis and Chas. Brink spent Friday and Saturday with friends at Thief River Falls.

Rev. and Mrs. Kenneston, of Thief River Falls, are visiting friends in the village this week.

Mrs A. G. Abrahamson left on to days train for Ada to visit with her daughter Mrs. L. T. Bergh.

Leonard Holmes is passing around the cigars over the arrival of a 10 pound boy at his place last Monday. Mother and child are doing well.

We have been having some frosty weather but little damage was done except to gardens, further south it is fully as severe and fruit was badly damaged.

Walter I. Fisher, secretary of the Minnesota and Dakota Fire Underwriters of Minneapolis, was in town the first of the week in the interest of that company,

Carl Johnson came down the river with the first drive of logs of the season yesterday. It was of native timber which he will have cut at the saw mill for a new dwelling.

The social given by [illegible] at the residence of E. W. Twing was a success in every sense of the word. A large number of our citizens were present and all went home well pleased with their evenings entertainment.

Good News to farmers.

W. A. Sorsoleil will give you 50 pounds of good flour for a bushel of wheat, at Johnson & Marshall's ware house,

Work was commenced on the race for the dam last Monday morning and the work is being pushed as rapidly as possible. It will take about two weeks to finish when work will be commenced on the dam.

L. P. Tyren, a farmer living east of the river had the misfortune to lose his house and household goods by fire yesterday, Mr. Tyren estimates his loss at about $300. There was no insurance either on house or contents,

County Auditor Gleason has received a letter from the state auditor which announces that owing to some friction caused by recent legislation there will be no sale of school lands in this county this fall, as has been usual in the past. There are quite a number of people now looking with covetous eyes upon valuable tracts who will be disapointed at this news.—Crookston Times.

East Grand Forks, with a population of 2000 inhabitants, and a revenue of about $14,000 per year from saloons, finds it necessary to issue $15,000 worth of bonds to fund the floating indebtedness of the city,—Crookston Tribune,

The town of Louisville will not have a new bridge. At the last session of the board of commissioners, bids were received for the bridge with the understanding that the bridge was to be built if the state made an appropriation for that purpose. This was not done, and a resolution was passed by the board yesterday declaring the contract null and void on that account. Louisville will thus be without a bridge for some time.—Crookston Tribune.

The Times is reliably informed that Senator Cronkhite, of Argyle, has concluded to change his base of political operations and contemplates a flying leap which will land him in the republican camp. In return for this Mr. Cronkhite has been given the appointment of the census enumerators in his judicial district with the understanding that he is to use the patronage at his disposal to strengthen the republican cause in these northern counties—Crookston Times.

County Attorney Gossman has applied to the county board for the appointment of an assistant to aid him in the prosecution of the 60 odd indictments which were returned by the last grand jury, The board recognized the immense amount of work which would have to be done in this connection, and appointed Martin O'Brien to aid Mr. Gossman. The work will occupy the entire time of both from now until the term opens on June 24th, to prepare. The remuneration will be $10 per day for time actually spent in court,—Crookston Times.

Col. Liggett, Ex-Gov. Barto and W. W. Prendergast, who were here yesterday looking up a location for an experimental station, returned to St. Paul last night. Prof. W. M. Hayes remained over today to visit friends. Several sites were viewed, the last one being section 19 owned by the Great Northern. President Hill has offered to donate three quarters of the section to the state for the farm, The quarter he retains being occupied by the stock yard. This offer seems liberal, and will probably be accepted.—Crookston Tribune.

Alexandria Republican: The St. Paul Dispatch of Thursday contains a cartoon which will be better appreciated when it is generally known that one of the new laws which succeeded in getting through the legislature is one authorizing the county commissioners to loan inebriates not to exceed $100 for the purpose of taking the Keely cure. The county lends the money, receiving a promissory note, payable at any time within five years without interest, without indorsement and no penalty for its non-payment, The hard drinker is not the worst neglected fellow in the world.

County Commissioner Henry Norland came back from Crookston last Saturday considerably elated over the appropriations he received from the county for roads in this district. The high landing road between River Falls and Rocksbury gets the largest amount $305. This with good substantial help from each of these towns will build a first class graded road from the river to the reservation line and the village should then build to the high landing. $150 was also secured for Rocksbury $100 for Sanders and $10 for Poplar River, making a total of $655 for this district While of course this is not all we need it is a good big start and reflects credit on commissioner Norland. The people of this section are to be congratulated not only on the new road but on their choice of a commissioner

A few weeks ago two negro women were sold at public auction at Georgetown, Ky., under a law of that state which provides that persons convicted of vagrancy shall be sold into slavery for six months, This is a direct violation of the sixteenth amendment of the constitution of the United States, and yet such things are approved or allowed by people who go into flabbergastics at the mere mention of anarchism. Our old constitution has been stretched, wrenched, twisted and distorted by laws in favor of the classes, and by the courts to make it fit the plutocratic rule of this country, until it is about worn out, If all the men and women in this country who could be classed as vagrants—wanderers, without habitation or visible means of support, were so adjudged, the slave power that was in vogue in anti bellum days could re-establish itself with more slaves—both black and white, than Abraham Lincoln's emancipation proclamation set free in 1863, - Ex,

Cattle Pastured

I have 300 acres of good pasture and will pasture cattle for $1.50 for the season and horses and colts for ,75 cts per month S. M, Dainard.

NOTICE FOR BIDS.

Notice is hereby given that sealed bids will be received by the village recorder of the village of St. Hilaire Polk Co Minnesota up to and on the thirty first (31) day of May A. D. 1895 for the sale of Two thousand five hundred ($2500) dollars in denominations of Five hundred ($500,) dollars each worth of seven [7 per cent non-optional twenty [20] year bonds interest payable semi-annually issued under chapter [illegible] General Laws of 1893.

Said bids will be opened and considered by the village council on the thirty first [31st] day of May A. D. 1895 at 8 o'clock p. m. at the office of the village recorder of said village. The village council reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Given under our hands this 7th day of May A. D. 1895.

S. M. Dainard
Village President.
J. L. Johnson
Recorder.

U. S. LAND OFFICE
Crookston, Minn., April 29 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver, U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn on June 18 1895. viz:

Ann M. Isaac HD no. 13865 for the SE ¼ NW ¼ and Lots 3, 4 and 5 Sec. 6 Tp. 152, R. 45,

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

Axel Crown, Swan J. Naplin, Olans Sorentryon, August Naplin, all St. Hilaire Polk County Minnesota.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of four hundred and thirty nine dollars, ($439.00) which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by C. L. Lasher and Susa Lasher, his wife, and J. M. Westberg, and Mary Westberg his wife mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N H mortgagee bearing date the 7th day of June 1890 and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 9th day of June 1890, at 8 o'clock a. m., in book 38 of mortgages on pages 391-2 and 3 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz: Commencing at the north corner of Lot two [2] Block six [6] in the city of East Grand Forks formerly Grand Forks East—thence in a south-westerly direction, along the line between DeMers Avenue and said Lot two [2] forty [40] feet—thence at right angles in a south-easterly direction across Lots two [2] four [4] and six [6] in said Block to the line between said Lot six [6] and Lot eight [8]—thence along said line in a north-easterly direction forty [40] feet to the intersection of said line with the southerly line of the Alley in said Block—thence at right angles along the line of said Alley in a north-westerly direction to point of beginning In Polk county and state of Minnesota with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 11th day of May 1895 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 14th A. D. 1895.

Security Trust Co., of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.
R. J. Montague, attorney. Crookston Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred and fifty-eight dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Arthur Perras and Antoinette Perras, his wife mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 18th day of March 1890, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 7th day of April 1890 at 8 o'clock a. m., in book 50 of mortgages, on page 11, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz:

The South east quarter of the South east quarter of Section Ten and the East half of the North east quarter and the North east quarter of the South east quarter of Section Fifteen in Township one hundred and Fifty of Range forty-two. In Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 8th day of June 1895 at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law

Dated February 7th A. D. 1895.

Security Trust Co., of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.
R. J. Montague, Crookston Minn attorney.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of ten hundred and fifty-four dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by James A. Adam, mortgagor to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 22nd day of December 1892 and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 4th day of January 1893 at 4:30 o'clock p. m., in book 50 of mortgages on page 268, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz:

The south west quarter of section ten in township one hundred and fifty-two of Range forty-nine, in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 27th day of April 1895 at 10 o'clock a. m of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest and taxes, if any on said premises and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 12th A. D. 1895.

Security Trust Co., of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.
R. J. Montague, attorney. Crookston Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE
Crookston Minn. March 23 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the register or receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on May 30 1895. viz:

Petter W. Petterson H. D. no. 13083 for the N W ¼ Sec. 17 Twp. 152 R. 42 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz;

Erick Anderson Julius Nelson, Hans R. Kolseth, Jim Evenson all of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

Dr. H. GRUNDY
Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis

DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS AND CIGARS.

Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.

Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY.

The NEW and the RIGHT WAY
EAST and WEST
TO ALL PACIFIC COAST POINTS AND TRANSPACIFIC PORTS.

TIME CARD.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily.		Daily.
NO. 3 North and West		NO 2 South and East
7 45 p m Depart	St. Paul	Arrives 7 05 am
8 15 pm	Minneapolis	6 45 am
3 45 a m	Barnesville	11 15 am
5 35 am Ar	Crookston	De 5 35 pm.

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH

MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

9 00 am De	Crookston	Ar 6 00 pm
11 30 am Ar	St. Hilaire	De 4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.05 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.35 pm. Leaves St Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1 20 p.m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.01 pm

Close connections made at Minneapolis and St. Paul for all points East and South.

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY G. P. & T. A. St. Paul
H. J. FREEMAN Agt. St. Hilaire

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of five hundred and eighty-seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary A. Holnvik and Hans M. Holnvik her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee, bearing date the 17th day of December 1890 and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 19th day of December 1890, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in book 50 of mortgages, on page 112 Which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned by said Security Trust Co. of Nashua N. H mortgagee to Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper by written assignment dated on the 7th day of January 1891 and recorded in the office of the Register of deeds on the 24th day of January 1891, at 8:40 o'clock a. m., in Book 56 of mortgages, on page 81 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part there of.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The north west quarter of Section 18 in Township One hundred and Forty-seven of Range Forty-five in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances: which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston in said County and state on the 8th day of June 1895 at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and the taxes if any on said premises, and fifty dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated March 1st A. D. 1895.

Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper.
Assignee of mortgagee.
R. J. Montague, attorney Crookston Minn.

U. S. Land Office
Crookston Minn. April 24 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on June 7 1895., viz:

John Kron, father of Alfred Kron deceased, HD no. 12881 for the NE ¼ Sec. 32 Tp 151 R 45.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land viz:

Adolph Nelsen, L. G. Dalin, Per Person, Sam Person all of Bray p. o. Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava, Register.

Impetuous People

are sometimes figuratively spoken of as not above setting things on fire just for the fun of

Seeing Them Burn

Close competition breeds impetuosity, and in our earnest pushing for trade it often happens that we mark goods away down just for the fun of

Seeing Them Sell

Somebody has exclaimed: "Oh, the impetuosity of the idiocy of the tumultuous idiot!" This remark will never apply to you if in your rush for bargains you get into the right store, which of course is ours.

E. M. HOFF
DEALER IN
General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!

Great Bargain Sale of
FARM MACHINERY
AT
J. E. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mowers at $10 each and a full line of walking and breaking plows which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise.

PTERODACTYL

We print a likeness of the skeleton of this remarkable paleontological reptile because some of its physical characteristics are synonymous with our business methods. Perhaps the most striking similarity may be found in its

Little Finger and our Big Bargains

Its little finger is very large: and so are our bargains. The paradox of a little finger being big may be likened to the paradoxical inducements we offer you.

Profits and Hind Feet Small

Its hind feet are out of all proportion to its fore feet, just as our profit is overshadowed by the buyer's. Its large head represents the size of our stock. The many years that have elapsed since the time when this creature flourished will hint at the wearing quality of our goods.

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.
EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING
[illegible], Propr.
SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:
Advance, $1.00
If not in Advance, $1.50 Per Year
Entered [illegible] as Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY May 15 1895

HOW CABLES ARE SENT.

The Two Systems of Submarine and Overland Telegraphy Are Very Different.

The manner in which messages are sent and received over the transatlantic cables between this country and Europe is very different from that in which telegrams are transmitted.

The two systems of submarine and overland telegraphy, although but two departments of the one science and in many ways closely connected, are yet entirely different one from the other.

The apparatus, the methods of signaling and even the telegraphic characters that form the alphabet are altogether dissimilar, and the most expert land line operator would be as much at a loss in an attempt to send a message over the cable as would a locomotive engineer.

Instead of the loud clatter and din and the incessant clicking of brass sounders so familiar to every one as the distinctive characteristic of a telegraph office, there is in the cable office an [illegible] silence so far as the [illegible] of the instruments is concerned.

Instead of the messages being rattled off by the tongue of a brass sounder into the ear of the operator they are silently written by a slender mysterious finger on a ribbon of white paper, which passes quickly before his eyes. The paper ribbon, which is about half an inch wide, is unwound from a roll and drawn by noiseless clockwork over a [illegible] desk in front of the operator.

A delicate glass tube no thicker than an ordinary needle and crooked like a bent forefinger, which is suspended between the poles of a large upright magnet, moves nervously to the right and left on the ribbon being drawn beneath it and traces in a thin line of blue ink characters that look something like the markings on a barometer chart or the quotation board of a stockbroker.

If the comparatively clumsy instruments used for land telegraphy were used on the Atlantic cables, scarcely one word a minute could be transmitted, while with the recorder a speed of from 15 to 25 words a minute is regularly maintained.

The mirror, which is still used on some cables, is the most delicate and perfect telegraphic instrument ever invented. It is simply a small needle suspended in a magnetic coil delicate and fragile as a feather caught in a spider's web.

The needle is a piece of watch spring three-eighths of an inch long suspended by a short thread of cocoon silk and having a small piece of silvered glass affixed to it with shellac. The whole thing weighs but 1 1-2 grains.

The instrument is placed in a dark room, and a ray of light from a lamp is focused through a lens on the mirror and reflected back onto a graduated scale. The currents of electricity sent through the cable enter the magnetic coil and cause the needle to be deflected from side to side, the motions being made to form telegraphic characters.

These minute vibrations are read off by an operator, who calls out each word as he receives it to a copyist, usually in an adjoining room.—New York Dispatch.

Catching the Chairman.

Very frequently it occurs that an overzealous director of a railway company will make a point when traveling over his line of railway of [illegible] little traps for the lowly [illegible] and afterward soundly [illegible] who fall into them.

[illegible] one of these individuals [illegible] at a wayside station [illegible] porter carried his [illegible] onto the platform. [illegible] train arrived put [illegible] carriage. De[illegible] the gentleman handed [illegible] shilling piece. The [illegible] touched his cap and said:

"Thank'ee, sir."

Then the great director frowned.

"Do you know that by accepting that fee you are rendering yourself liable to instant dismissal? Weren't you told on entering this company's service that under no circumstances were you permitted to receive gratuities from the general public?"

The poor man quailed and shuffled nervously, for he saw that he had been caught. He had never met this pompous person before, but he guessed that he had some connection with the company. So, brightening up, he said: "That's right enough, sir. But you aren't one of the general public. You're the chairman of the company [illegible] two 2 shillings.—London Tit-Bits.

A Motto by Francis Joseph.

A German authoress who is collecting autographs for an album for girls and has valuable contributions by the Emperor William I and Frederick has obtained the following motto from the Emperor Francis Joseph, who is not known to have given [illegible] autographs before. It is written in a [illegible] bold hand and runs thus: "Judge your duties severely, [illegible] the sins of others, but be lenient toward the failings of your neighbors.—Franz Josef."—London News.

U. S. Land Office

Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn on June 6 1895, viz:

Simon E. Ahlberg of St. Hilaire Minn. Hd no. 5269 for the S½ NE¼ and Lots 1 and 2 Sec. 1 Twp 152 R. 41.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land, viz:

Carl Sondal, Anton Sondal, Albert A. Jnson, Tollef Erickson, all of St. Hilaire Polk county Minn.

T. A. Dunlava, Register

HE COMMANDED THE EMPRESS.

Worth's Word Regarding Her Costumes Was Final—One Exception.

Worth was admitted to the Tuileries whenever he had something fresh to show her majesty. He would arrive there early in the morning and lay out the new toilets and stuffs he brought with him in a small room near her bedchamber. He would then withdraw, leaving his assistant behind him to give all the explanations that might be demanded. On other occasions the empress, who possessed a great deal of taste, would send for him to discuss the various fashions which he had laid before her. But he would rarely change his mind, and it was almost impossible to obtain from him the slightest modification in his dresses.

As a rule, it was the sovereign who had to submit to the will of the man dressmaker. When the trying on came, he was ushered into the presence of her majesty as soon as she had put on the dress. At a glance he detected the slightest imperfection and instructed his assistant how to remedy it. He would never allow the empress to wear a costume the effect of which was not what he expected.

A curious anecdote on this point is related by The Gaulois. The Comtesse de Montijo, mother of the empress, was always a strict observer of court ceremony, and it was Worth who had the making of her dresses. She ordered them "decollete," and being afraid of catching cold she wore a kind of transparent "maillot" to protect her arms and shoulders. The empress had often begged her not to wear low dresses, pointing out that at her age she might well wear high ones; but the countess would not give way. Thereon her majesty sent for Worth and warned him that if he made any more low dresses for her mother she would withdraw her custom from him. The countess protested, but in vain, and Worth for once obeyed orders.

He employed over 800 hands. His stock comprised the richest and most variegated collection of silks, satins and stuffs to be found anywhere. One of the Lyons silk factories worked solely for him. He had a certain talent for designing and drew a sketch in colors of the toilets he invented. Later on he employed an artist to paint his dresses in an album, which will remain in his family as a precious relic. The fall of the second empire affected him deeply, for he was a stanch imperialist. Every year he sent to the empress in exile a nosegay of violets tied up with a ribbon bearing her name in golden letters. He had his own peculiar way of dressing his customers, and his tastes were absolutely original. He was a great lover of jewelry, and his fingers were always covered with diamond rings. He had visited all the capitals of Europe, and there was hardly a personage of mark whom he had not come across. His memory was prodigious and only equaled by his discretion.

He was as generous as he was rich, and there was not a philanthropic institution to which he did not subscribe. During the siege he turned his apartment in the Champs Elysees into an ambulance, where he supported 25 soldiers, sick or wounded. Numbers of persons who had seen better days were relieved by him in the most delicate manner. Charity never appealed to him in vain. His good deeds made him popular, and his name will be found in most of the memoirs of the period. The Goncourts allude to him several times in their "Journal," and Mme. Octave Feuillet, widow of the romanceist, gives an amusing account in her "Souvenirs" of how, when she wanted a dress for a court ball at once, he improvised one for her in a couple of hours. The rapidity with which he could turn out a costume at a moment's notice was one of his many talents which his rivals tried in vain to imitate with success. He left behind him two sons, who appear to have inherited their father's capacities.—London Globe.

Awkwardness and Spurs.

It is pitiful to see a man who cannot ride and whose feats are necessarily confined to a beaten track appear in spurs. If he were going for a walk, it would not matter, for then he would only cut his boots. But it is to be dreaded that before his return he will have lacerated his horse, and if he should chance to tumble off scored his brand new saddle.

It may be doubted how far it is advisable, even for first rate riders, to arm their heels as a mere point of dress on all occasions. A good horse will do his best without having his sides wounded. When he flinches, either he is not properly asked or he distrusts himself. Nevertheless the spur has many uses, of which he who understands them certainly ought to avail himself.—"The Arabian Horse," Major General Tweedie.

Farinelli was so idolized by his admirers that it was of him an English lady once exclaimed: "One God! One Farinelli!"

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred and ten dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Peter A Ekstrom and Mary C. Ekstrom his wife mortgagors to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee, bearing date the 29th day of November A. D. 1889 and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the [illegible] day of December A. D. 1889 at 1:30 o'clock p. m. in book 43 of mortgages, on Page 161 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south half of the north east quarter and the south east quarter of the north west quarter and the north east quarter of the south west quarter of Section [illegible] in Township one hundred and fifty-two of Range forty-four in Polk county and state of Minnesota with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 11th day of May A. D. 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 1st A. D. 1895.

Security Trust Co. of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.
R. J. Montague, attorney, Crookston Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of four hundred and sixty-six dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Oskar Svenson, and Anole his wife, mortgagors to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee, bearing date the 20th day of October 1890 and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the Register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 10th day of November 1890 at 5 o'clock p. m. in book 50 of mortgages on page 82 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The North west quarter of section fifteen in Township one hundred and fifty-three of Range forty-four, in Polk county and state of Minnesota with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 27th day of April 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest and the taxes, if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated January 30th A. D. 1895.

Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.
R. J. Montague attorney, Crookston Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.

Crookston Minn. April 1 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on May 21 1895 viz: Alexander Samuelson H. D. no. 1565 for the S E¼, N W¼, and N E¼ S W¼, Sec. 21 Twp [illegible] R. [illegible]

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

John Hedland, James A. Ortenquist, H. A. Johnson, John Aulnall of St. Hilaire Polk Co., Minn.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

U. S. Land Office

Crookston Minn. April 4 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before [illegible] U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. [illegible] viz: [illegible] H. D. no. 1321 for the [illegible]

[illegible] witnesses to prove [illegible] residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

[illegible] Alexander Samuelson, H. [illegible] John Aulnall of St. Hilaire [illegible] Minn.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of [illegible] one hundred and thirty-two dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Ole P. Stokke and Tellue Stokke his wife mortgagors to Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 3rd day of August 1889, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 7th day of August 1889, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in Book 73 of mortgages on page 34 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty in Township one hundred and forty-nine of Range forty-seven in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 8th day of June 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated April 5th A. D. 1895.

Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee.
R. J. Montague, attorney, Crookston Minn

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default has been made in the payment of the sum of Eight hundred and sixty four dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Andrew J. Adams and [illegible] his wife, mortgagors, to the Dakota Investment Company mortgagee, bearing date the 15th day of August 1891 and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 21st day of August 1891 at 3:25 o'clock p. m. in book [illegible] of mortgages on page 70 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty-[illegible] in township one hundred and fifty-one of range forty-seven in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 16th day of February 1895 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated December 1st A. D. 1894.

Dakota Investment Company mortgagee.
R. J. Montague, attorney, Crookston Minn

E. T. SPAFFORD   S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

—o—DEALERS IN—o—

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath, Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always on hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY   ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumery and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

Barbershop in connection

BROADWAY   ST. HILAIRE

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE

HIGHEST MARKET PRICES

FOR

All kinds of

CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

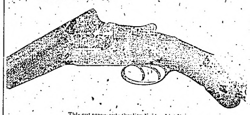
S. M. DAINARD.

Manager.

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST BARRELS, 5 0.   DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200



This cut represents Quality No 1 — List $50

SELF-COMPENSATING,   MATTED RIBS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point.

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsman that we have not only the improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the [illegible] but THE [illegible]

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers, — — ITHACA, N.

Reserved For THE ST. HILAIRE TOWNSITE COMPANY

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

Heavy and Shelf HARDWARE

HEADQUARTERS FOR

HUNTER'S SUPPLIES

MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS

BINDING TWINE

P[illegible] a[illegible] 9 cents a pound.

NEW GOODS [illegible] PRICES

BROADWAY   ST. HILAIRE.

THE SPECTATOR

UNTIL JANUARY 1st FOR ONLY

25 CENTS.

THIS OFFER HOLDS GOOD FOR THIRTY DAYS.

W. A. ARTHUR.

DEALER IN

FRUITS, CONFECTIONARY TOBACCO AND CIGARS.

STATIONARY OF ALL KINDS

Lunch Counter

Warm meals at all hours.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.
DR.
PRICE'S
CREAM
BAKING
POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Bloomers and Bicycles.

The bloomer is evidently here to stay, or be improved upon, so far as the wheeling is concerned. Of the 200 feminine devotees of the bike, who were counted passing a given point on the boulevard to-day, 150 wore the baggy costume, made up without exception from brown and blue materials. Thirty wore knickerbockers with a large skirt to the knee, and leggins to match the skirt in color. The other riders wore their ordinary street costumes.—New York correspondence of the Pittsburg Dispatch.

On Principle.

First M. P.'s Daughter—Are you going to have a new dress this spring?

Second M. P.'s Daughter—I don't know yet. Mamma has passed the appropriation, but I'm very much afraid that pa'll veto it. He's opposed to every bill we send in.—Judy.

Hold the Fort

Against a bilious attack by calling to your aid that puissant ally, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The foe will then be driven back utterly defeated. Dyspepsia, sick headache, malarial, kidney, nervous and rheumatic trouble and constipation yield to the action of this most beneficent of remedies. Take it regularly and you will soon experience its good effects.

His Wheeling.

Jonski—Were you out wheeling yesterday, Smithoff?

Smithoff—Yes, I went scorching up the avenue with a baby carriage.—Minneapolis Journal.

Coe's Cough Balsam
Is the oldest and best. It will break up a Cold quicker than anything else. It is always reliable. Try it.

Between Laughter and Tears.

In a Company of Artists—What is there between laughter and tears?

"The nose," dryly observed Vivier.—Le Figaro.

World's Columbian Exposition

Will be of value to the world by illustrating the improvements in the mechanical arts, and eminent physicians will tell you that the progress in medicinal agents has been of equal importance, and as a strengthening laxative Syrup of Figs is far in advance of all others.

Still a Bachelor.

"How is it that you are still a bachelor?" inquired Cags.

"I don't know," said Tags, "unless it's because I never married.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

We expect other people to change their opinions, while we tenaciously cling to our own.

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR
IMPERIAL GRANUM
IT IS
THE BEST
FOOD
FOR
Dyspeptic, Delicate, Infirm and
AGED PERSONS
JOHN CARLE & SONS, New York.

Metal Wheels for your Wagons

Any size you want, 20 to 56 inches high. Tires 1 to 8 inches wide—hubs to fit any axle. Saves Cost many times in a season to have set of low wheels to fit your wagon for hauling grain, fodder, manure, hogs, &c. No resetting of tires. Catl'g free. Address Empire Mfg. Co., P. O. Box 23, Quincy Ill.

TRADE MARK
LINENE
REVERSIBLE
Raphael, Angelo, Rubens, Tasso

The "LINENE" are the Best and Most Economical Collars and Cuffs worn; they are made of fine cloth, both sides finished alike, and, being reversible, one collar is equal to two of any other kind.

They fit well, wear well and look well. A box of Ten Collars or Five Pairs of Cuffs for Twenty-Five Cents.

A Sample Collar and Pair of Cuffs by mail for Six Cents. Name style and size. Address
REVERSIBLE COLLAR COMPANY,
77 Franklin St., New York. 27 Kilby St., Boston.

LEWIS' 98 % LYE
POWDERED AND PERFUMED
(PATENTED)
The strongest and purest Lye made. Unlike other Lye, it being a fine powder and packed in a can with removable lid, the contents are always ready for use. Will make the best perfumed Hard Soap in 20 minutes without boiling. It is the best for cleansing waste pipes, disinfecting sinks, closets, washing bottles, paints, trees, etc.
PENNA. SALT M'F'G CO.
Gen. Agents, Phila., Pa.

PARKER'S
HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair.
Promotes a luxuriant growth.
Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color.
Cures scalp diseases & hair falling.
50c, and $1.00 at Druggists

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D.C.
Successfully Prosecutes Claims.
Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau.
3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

PATENTS Thomas P. Simpson, Washington, D.C. No atty's fee until Patent obtained. Write for Inventor's Guide.

Agents Wanted On uncovered ground. Outfit free. One of ours earned $4200, many over $1000, in '94. P. O. Box 1371, New York

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR 25 CTS.
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

A PECULIAR CASE.

PHYSICIANS PUZZLED BY THE EXPERIENCE OF MRS. BOWEN.

The Episcopal Hospital Said She Had Consumption.

(From the Record, Philadelphia, Pa.)

Last July the Episcopal hospital admitted a woman whose pale and emaciated face and racking cough proclaimed her the victim of consumption. She gave her name as Mrs. Wm. G. Bowen, residence, 1849 Meighan St., Philadelphia. The case was diagnosed and she was told plainly that she was in an advanced stage of consumption. The examining physician even showed her the sunken place in her breast where the cavity in her lung was supposed to exist. She went home to her family, a broken, disheartened woman with death staring her in the face. That was the beginning of the story, the end as told by Mrs. Bowen, who no longer expects to die, to a reporter follows:

"The first symptoms of consumption came in the form of terrible sweats, night and day. From April until September I was constantly cold and kept wrapped up in blankets through the hotest weather. A terrible cough took possession of me, my breast was sore to the slightest touch, and my limbs were like cold clay. The hardest rubbing with the coarsest towel would not create the slightest flush, and the least exertion would exhaust me.

"I went to the hospital in July and they diagnosed my case as above stated. It was when the clouds were the darkest that the first glint of sunshine came. Mr. Shelmerdine, a friend, who lives around 1844 Clementine St., said, to me one day, 'Mrs. Bowen, did you ever try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People?' I had never heard of the medicine, but in my condition could not turn a deaf ear to anything that offered relief. It was after considerable thought and investigation that I concluded to discontinue all other medicine, including cod liver oil, and depend entirely upon Pink Pills. I began to take the pills, at first with but little encouragement. The first sign of improvement was a warmth and tingling sensation in my limbs. Finally the cough disappeared, my chest lost its soreness and I began to gain flesh until I was fifteen pounds heavier. All this I owe to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I cannot praise them too highly."

Mrs. Bowen is a kindly faced lady of middle age, a church member, well known and highly esteemed. She looks to-day well and strong and it seems almost impossible that she was ever given up by eminent physicians as an incurable consumptive. Yet, such is the case beyond all dispute.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are for sale by all druggists, or may be had by mail from Dr. Williams' Med. Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

Miss Nightingal's Advice.

The "Young Woman" publishes the following autograph message to the girls of Great Britain from Miss Nightingale: "My 'message' to girls would be: (1) Train yourselves to your work, to your life. The last twenty-five or thirty years has recognized beyond everything this necessity of training. (2) Have a higher object than the mere undertaking in all you undertake. When we fail or are disappointed, we lose heart and perhaps 'strike work.' But if we have recognized ourselves as (I will not say only) a wheel or a tool in the hands of that Almighty highest and truest and best, we have that blessing of being a part of the whole, and, whatever our failure, are never cast down. (3) As one of the best women workers of our day says, 'the talk now is of rights, not right.' Let that not be our case. I am myself always a prisoner from illness and overwork, but all the more I wish you God speed.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth
Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

Wholesale.

Applicant—How much for a marriage license?

Clerk—One dollar for a single license $5 for a commutation license.—Detroit Tribune.

M. L. THOMPSON & CO., Druggists, Coudersport, Pa., say Hall's Catarrh Cure is the best and only sure cure for catarrh they ever sold. Druggists sell it, 75c.

The smallest watch in the world has been made, after two years' labor, by a Geneva artisan. The dial is one-sixteenth of an inch in diameter, and the watch adorns the head of a pencil.

Health once impared is not easily regained, yet Parker's Ginger Tonic has attained these results in many cases. Good for every weakness and distress

When a man's mind is unsettled it frequently happens that his bil sare in the same condition.

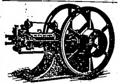
It is more than wonderful how patiently people suffer with corns. Get peace and comfort by removing them with Hindercorns

One Way to Felicity.

Parrott—Are Jangle and his wife living happily?

Wiggins—I shouldn't wonder—they are separated.

THAT LUMP in a man's stomach which makes him irritable and miserable and unfit for business or pleasure is caused by indigestion. Indigestion, like charity, covers a multitude of sins. The trouble may be in stomach, liver, bowels. Wherever it is, it is caused by the presence of poisonous, refuse matter which Nature has been unable to rid herself of, unaided. In such cases, wise people send down a little health officer, personified by one of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, to search out the trouble and remove its cause.



THE OTTO GASOLINE
Has Pump and gravity feed Tube and electric igniters. Address
OTTO GAS ENGINE WORKS,
215 Nicollet Ave., Minneapolis.

THE OWL AND JAY.

One a Devil by Night and the Other a Veritable Scoundrel in Feathers.

Mr. Frank Bolles, who was a friend to the birds and a close student of their ways, has left us in his sketches a legacy of value and profit in his close observation of his feathered friends. He has given us many an estimate of their qualities, and, viewed with his eyes, they more or less resemble humans. He made an especial study of the owl and he depicts the bird in his Bird Traits in none too glowing colors.

"The owl reminds me," says Mr. Bolles, "of some men whom I have had the misfortune to know—silent and sinister by day or when exposed to the scrutiny of their fellows; taking without reply or blow the taunts and abuse of those whom they have wronged; but by night devils in thought, purpose and action. To the owl everything which posesses the power of motion is, presumably, fit to be devoured; quadruped, bird, fish, reptile, insect, mollusk, any or all, unless specially protected, invited to murder; so with men nothing is too pure, too beautiful, too defenseless to be sacrificed to their selfishness. One owl is enough for many miles of forest. Fortunately for society, owlish men are similarly scarce."

Continuing the discussion of the birds of less attractive character, Mr. Bolles thus speaks of the jay:

"There are some birds of deservedly bad repute who wear an attractive exterior and maintain jaunty manners. The blue jay for instance, though somewhat flashy in his dress and proud in his voice, passes with the unsuspecting as a bird worthy of confidence, if not of admiration. Yet, if there ever was a scoundrel in feathers, he is one. He is my ideal pickpocket, shoplifter, smuggler, and confidence man. Most people think his cousin, the crow, an undoubted villain; yet he is considerably better off in morals than his gayly dressed relative. This is not saying that the crow is not a blackleg."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

PLEASED THE OLD MAN'S EYE.

True Story of the Rise of a Young Man to a High Position.

A man who returned from New York the other day brings back with him a story which sounds as if it might have been taken bodily from one of those books which parents love to see in the hands of their children.

A young man who was working as clerk in an importing house had occasion frequently in the course of business to call at a certain large manufacturing establishment. The head of the concern took a fancy to him. One day he asked the young man what salary he was getting, what his chances of promotion were and so on. He was told, and then said to the young man that he thought there was a better opportunity for him in his office than in the house where he was then employed. The young man replied that he should of course like to better himself, but that his engagement would not permit him to leave for some time to come. The head of the house said he thought he might induce his employer to let him go. He accordingly wrote a note to the senior partner of the importing house, with whom he was on intimate terms, saying that he had formed a liking for the young man, that he believed there was a better opening for him in his office, and asking that he be released. The next day the young man came back with a letter in which his employer, while expressing regret at losing his services, said that he recognized the larger opportunity offered him, and, as he didn't want to stand in his way, released him. The clerk went to work in his new position and so confirmed his employer's good impressions that his promotion was rapid. He went from one responsible position to another, until he was next to the manager of the house. A short time ago the manager died and our "hero," now no longer a young man, of course, but still in the prime of life, took his place at a salary very nearly, if not quite as large, as President Cleveland's.—Chicago Times-Herald.

LIGHTING A PIPE IN A WIND.

A Sportsman's Device When Matches Failed to Do Their Work.

"Paddling up Sebec Lake last summer in a birch canoe," said a New York sportsman, "the breeze blew so hard and constantly that, try as I might, I could not keep a match ablaze long enough to light my pipe. After a half dozen matches had flared out in the lighting of them, I made some forcible remarks apropos of my failure.

"Let me show you how to do it," said my companion, an old Californian, who was handling the bow paddle. 'Hand me a bit of that newspaper sticking out of your pocket.'

"He took the piece of paper and crumpled it up into a wad, which he retained in the palm of his hand. Then striking a match he closed both hands about it to shield it from the wind, after the traditional manner of the railroad navvy in lighting his pipe. The flame instantly set the paper smoldering on top without its breaking into a blaze. He passed the burning wad to me and it served as a pipe lighter equal to a live coal, the high breeze fanning instead of extinguishing it. It was the simple invention of a practical mind, which served my turn then and sportsmen needing tinder for a pipe light or to start a camp fire."

What Senator Is This?

An elderly gentleman whose duties required his presence in Washington during the session of congress, had taken quite a fatherly interest—as elderly gentlemen will—in a young woman who boards in the northwestern part of the town.

He has sent her books and flowers and has called on her until really if he were not an elderly gentleman people might make remarks.

Not long ago he appeared in the boarding house parlor and asked for the young woman. She came in. Her face was a little flushed, and in one hand she carried an open note. She walked up to the elderly gentleman.

"Mr. So and So," she said, distinctly, "you said you would do anything for me. Do you mean it?"

He looked somewhat surprised, but he stood on his colors.

"Certainly," he said. "What is it you want?"

The young woman looked him straight in the face, and then, as she turned to leave the room, she said—and everybody heard her:

"I want you to bring your wife to call on me."—Washington Post.

Brain Surgery for Idiots.

An operation has been performed in New York by means of an electrical saw, which seems to indicate a distinct advance in brain surgery. It is well known that idiocy is often caused by the premature closing of certain soft bones in the heads of children, whereby the growth of the brain is obstructed. The usual treatment is to take a piece of the skull bone from the top of the head, and thus afford the cramped brain an opportunity to expand. Heretofore, the bone has been cut out with a punch somewhat resembling a conductor's punch, but this method was so jarring to the brain that the resultant shock nearly always killed the patient. The new method which has been sucessfully practiced by Dr. S. B. Powell, in nineteen cases out of twenty, is, to make the usual four trephine openings into the skull, and to insert a broad strip of silver gently into one of the openings and work it along between the brain and the skull until it protrudes from the next hole, thus forming a shield between the brain and the skull which obviates all danger of accident from the slipping of the instrument by which the portion of the skull is to be excised. A minute circular saw, operated by electricity is then brought into use. A cut is then made from one trephined hole to the other, and a second cut is made about one-eighth of an inch from the first. The intervening bone is removed and the brain is exposed. Two more cuts are made between the other trephined holes, the bone removed the silver strips withdrawn, the flaps of scalp drawn back and stitched, and the requisite bandages applied. Ordinarily, the operation lasts about twenty-five minutes. The great success which has attended these operations is attributed by Dr. Powell almost entirely to the great delicacy of treatment rendered possible by the electric saw. He thinks the operation has come to stay. It is not claimed that it will change idiots into persons of much mental capacity but beyond question they can be improved so much in mind and brain that they will not be burdens to their friends and relatives; as idiots but too often are. The electric saw used weighs less than an ounce, and it can be operated as delicately as a scalpel.

The cook should examine carefully the label of the baking powder and see that she is not imposed upon. If the grocer sends anything but the Royal, send it back, as one cook did five times until she got the Royal. The only safe way is for the cook to have the finest things to work with, and the Royal is not only the finest but the most economical to use because it goes much further.

Strange Violin Playing.

A correspondent of the Scientific American writes to that journal the following letter which may be of interest to musicians: "I have a violin which has very loose strings when tuned to concert pitch. By a peculiar manipulation of the bow I am able to produce in a clear tone the second D below the treble staff, which is a full fifth lower than the natural open tone of the string, and by fingering play the scale from that point up. It is done by a heavy slow bow about three-fourths inch from the bridge, and can be done on any good slack-stringed instrument, but not on one on which the strings are very tight to procure the pitch. Can you give me an explanation of the character of vibrations brought into play in this case? I understand the philosophy of what is termed harmonics, but they are always of a higher pitch than the natural tones. The tone is not a squeak nor a grating noise, but a good tone nearly as pure as can be made on any other part of the instrument, and the instrument is a good one."

Carriage Headlights.

Electric harness lights for carriage use were probably first employed in connection with one of the carriages of the German emperor and were designed for the convenience of the coachman in driving along dark thoroughfares. How quickly their advantages were realized is partly shown by the fact that a Berlin firm is now making a specialty of this particular application of electricity, and headlights promise soon to become everyday affairs. The electric wires, which are arranged along the harness are contained in India rubber tubes which are sewn into the leather, so as to be protected from rain and damage, and the current is supplied from a storage battery of from four to six cells, arranged in a box, weighing from about forty to fifty-five pounds. The cells are ebonite boxes filled with a gelatinous mass, no acid fluid being used. The battery measures only about 8x10 inches and can be easily stowed away under the coachman's seat.

For thirty years the Royal has been the standard for purity and strength in baking powders, and has been placed at the head of every board of official examiners, whether State or, National.

Edible and Poisonous Mushrooms.

It is not generally known that there are some seventy or eighty common species of mushrooms which may be eaten with safety. Dr. M. C. Cooke states that the chief features exhibited by poisonous mushrooms are disagreeable odor, change of color, especially to a dark blue, when cut or bruised; distinctly unpleasant taste when a fragment is eaten raw, and fungi containing a milky juice.

True Position of the Pole.

Camille Flammarion claims that it is possible to determine the true position of the pole by photography. He suggests that a camera be exposed to the night sky, so that the circumpolar stars can describe their movements on the fixed plate. At the pole the stars will describe circles around the celestial pole or imaginary prolongation of the earth's axis to the zenith.

According to a recent lecture of Professor Schuster of London the safest course for a human being in a thunder storm is to get thoroughly wet. Benjamin Franklin remarked that he could kill a rat when dry by means of an electric discharge, but never when it was wet.

Steel, when exposed to the action of sea water and the weather, corrodes at the rate of an inch in 82 years; an inch of iron, under the same conditions, corrodes in 190 years. When exposed to fresh water and the weather, the periods are 170 years for steel and 630 years for iron.

BISMARCK'S ORIGINALITY.

When Young He Bewildered Older Diplomats by His New Ideas.

Perhaps the chief trait of his genius is to be found in his entire freedom from the preconceived notions, and in the limpidness of his mind, which refused to submit to accepted fallacies. This tendency in early age earned for him, of the dull pedantry and prim Philistines around him, the sobriquet of "Tolle Bismarck"—the mad Bismarck; but later on it resulted in the complete demolition of the old system of diplomacy. For equivocation and downright falsehood his powerful intellect substituted a kind of outrageous frankness, which bewildered and outwitted his adversaries. Nothing, however, marks his strong personality more vividly than the intense hatreds, and blind devotions with which he has surrounded himself, the power to rely upon himself and to look at things in the face, while his keen sense of humor enabled him to see clearly the vast array of sham and pompous pretenses of public and private life. Never had madness more method than is shown by the originality of this strange being, half Mephistopheles, half dragon, who, before subduing to his iron will the whole of European diplomacy, shocked and horrified the fogies of the old school with the innuendoes and insinuations, the sarcasms and stories, the gibes and jokes which he flung at their heads mercilessly and continually. The wigged and powdered pomp which covered diplomatic pretense and mendacity was torn aside the instant that Prince Bismarck got a grip of political realities, and his first appearance among the dignified excellencies of the German Diet constituted a veritable revolution.

The incidents of his early relations with these empty-headed "importants sans importance" offer perhaps the most racy of the many anecdotes related—in Prince Bismarck's own words in many cases—by his Boswell, his faithful secretary, Dr. Moritz Busch. His first encounter, at Frankfort was with his hostler, who, like all the good burghers of the Free City at that time, was intensely anti-Prussian. The old hotel where he put up as Prussian delegate to the Diet, was not provided with a complete system of bells, and Bismarck asked for a hand bell, at least, wherewith to communicate with his valet. But he was gruffly told there was none to spare and that he must shift for himself. Early next morning the loud report of a pistol set all the guests in a panic with the exception of Bismarck's servant, who explained that, as no bell was forthcoming his master had summoned him by pistol shot. Five minutes later the desired bell was placed within Bismarck's reach.—New York Post.

SANITARY FURNITURE.

A German Scientists Rules for Walls and Woodwork.

Though so much has been written concerning domestic hygiene, no general principle has yet been promulgated to govern the construction of furniture. Dr. Gustav Jaeger, however, seeks to supply the want. Admitting the soundness of the theory on which he founds his sanitary clothing reform, Dr. Jaeger further urges that deadwood as well as cotton, linen and other vegetable matter, retains its powers of absorbing noxious animal exhalations. These the living plants digests, but the dead fiber or wood only harbors such poisonous gases for a time and then throws them off again when there is a change of temperature. For instance, if a room is closed for some days an unpleasant odor will be noticed on re-entering.

Sanitary furniture, must therefore, be rendered non-absorbent by carefully polishing or painting all the woodwork, both inside and outside; and the same rule applies to the flooring wainscoting, etc., of all habitations. From a sanitary point of view, the inside, the unseen, the back parts of the furniture, equally require to be treated with varnish, paint or other substance, to render the wood nonporous. In practical Germany, sanitary furniture has become an article of commerce, and in England also we have recently inspected some such furniture. To carry out the above principles, the wood employed was prepared beforehand and rendered nonporous. This process, when applied to furniture made exclusively of wood, such as warbrobes chests of drawers, side-boards, etc., involves an extra cost of not more than 5 per cent.

The polished wooden seats of our ancestors are preferable, unless the chairs and couches are stuffed and covered with materials of pure animal fiber, dyed with fast wholesome dyes; and this, it is calculated, would necessitate an extra cost of about 10 per cent. All textile materials not of animal fiber, such as the stout webbing required underneath upholstered seats, is soaked in a solution which forms an impervious coating and prevents absorption. Carpets and curtains made are adulterated with vegetable fiber are obviously incompatible with the definition of sanitary furniture. White window curtains, we are assured, will if examined closely, emit a sour odor when they have been in use for a little time. A woolen curtain would give rise to no such unpleasantness, even when exposed in an inhabitated room for a much longer period. Thus, to sum up, Dr. Jaeger maintains that all woodwork should be rendered non-porous, the walls should be painted or the paper varnished, and the upholstery, bedding, carpets, mats and curtains should consist of animal fiber, sanitary dyed.—English Mechanic.

Some Big Sailing Ships.

The biggest sailing vessel ever seen in the port of New York was the Great Republic, a colossus built by Donald McKay in the '50s. Next to her is the Liverpool an iron British four-master which is now in port from Calcutta. The Liverpool is somewhat bigger than the Roanoke, the largest wooden clipper in the world. She is 333.2 feet long, 47.8 feet beam, 26.5 feet deep, and measures 3,330 tons. The Roanoke measures 3,258 tons. The Great Republic, which had double top-sails like the finest modern clippers, was 334 1-2 feet beam, and 38 feet deep. She registered 4,555 tons, which is about 900 tons more than the largest sailing craft now afloat the France, a five-masted leviathan built at Glasgow for a French firm in 1890.

Eclipsed.

"Why has your ladyship done away with your splendid saddle-horse?"

"Because its beauty was so much admired that I was quite thrown into the shade."—Fliegende Blatter.

Spring Makes Me Tired

To many people Spring and its duties mean an aching head, tired limbs, and throbbing nerves. Just as the milder weather comes, the strength begins to wane, and "that tired feeling" is the complaint of all.

The reason for this condition is found in the deficient quality of the blood. During the winter, owing to various causes, the blood becomes loaded with impurities and loses its richness and vitality. Consequently, as soon as the bracing effect of cold air is lost, there is langour and lack of energy. The cure will be found in purifying and enriching the blood.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the greatest and best spring medicine, because it is the greatest and best blood purifier. It overcomes that tired feeling because it makes pure, rich blood. It gives strength to nerves and muscles because it endows the blood with new powers of nourishment. It creates an appetite, tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, and thus builds up the whole system and prepares it to meet the change to warmer weather.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is a medicine upon which you may depend. It is the only true blood purifier prominently before the public eye today. It has a record of cures unequalled in the history of medicine. It is the medicine of which so many people write, "Hood's Sarsaparilla does all that it is claimed to do." You can take Hood's Sarsaparilla with the confident expectation that it will give you pure blood and renewed health. Take it now.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Is the Only
True Blood Purifier
Prominently in the Public Eye Today.

Woman's Work in Music.

At the Cotton States' and International Exhibition to be opened at Atlanta, Georgia, on September 1, prominence is to be given to women's work in the musical field. A women's building of beautiful design to be erected. One of the rooms, spacious and and appropriately decorated, is to be devoted exclusively to music. It is intended to display in it as many photographs as can be obtained of women composers, singers and instrumentalists. Musical literature will be provided for the perusal of visitors. Compositions by women will be made a special feature.

A Mystery Explained.

"Do hypnotizin' people make 'em slapy?" asked Mrs. Dolan.

"Av coorse," replied her husband.

"Oi see thot the criminal classes do's be practicin' hypnotism in their nefarious schames."

"They do thot same."

"Well, thot ixplains phwy Patsy Donegan and Dinny Casey losht their places on the foorce. The police do be the victim av a conspiracy."—Washington Star.

You Don't Have to Swear Off,

Says the St. Louis Journal of Agriculture in an editorial about No-To-Bac, the famous tobacco habit cure. "We know of many cases cured by No-To-Bac: one, a prominent St. Louis architect, smoked and chewed for twenty years; two boxes cured him so that even the smell of tobacco makes him sick." No-To-Bac sold and guaranteed by Druggists everywhere. No cure no pay. Book free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., New York or Chicago.

Concerning the Baby.

Keep your baby clean. Give him pure air at all times. Let him have a few spoonfuls of water several times a day. Do not let every one kiss him. Do not let any one jostle and shake and tickle him. Do not keep him so warm that he can not sleep. Babies as a rule, are bundled up too much. Do not neglect him, and then, when he cries for some needed attention say that he is a "cross bad-tempered little nuisance." A healthy baby seldom cries when his wants are properly filled.—New York Telegram.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."
Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

In Boston.

The Elephant—I always get nervous when the show strikes this town.

The Bengal Tiger—Why?

The Elephant—I can't help feeling that even the little children who come to look at us know a great deal more about us than we do ourselves.—Boston Herald.

Shortest time to the Pacific.

St. Paul, May 3.—On May 5th the Great Northern put into effect a new time card which gives it the shortest run by four hours to and from the Coast. The dining car service will also be changed to the a la carte system, passengers paying for what they order.

When Extremes Meet.

Guzzleton (parting with friend at 4 a. m.)—Good night, old man.

His Milkman (one minute later)—Good mornin' sir!

Piso's Cure for Consumption has saved me many a doctor's bill.—S. F. Hardy, Hopkins Place, Baltimore, Md., Dec. 2, '94.

He Discriminated.

Upson Downes—Say, old man, I need $10 badly.

Wither Tymes (handing him bill)—Here you are.

Upson Downes—I said I needed ten, old man.

Wither Tymes—I heard you.

Upson Downes—But you've only given me five.

Wither Tymes—Well, you see, I only believe half I hear.

American Women.

The Marquis de Castellane's article, "Fifteen days in the United States," occupies twenty-four pages of the "Revue de Paris." Here is an extract:

"This concentration of the American brain on two ideas—the wish to be free and the seeking of fortune by work—has not failed to impress upon the race certain physical characteristics. Without being of exceptional beauty, the race is vigorous. One feels that it is young. The men walk boldly and briskly, without nonchalance. They are supple, fond of open-air sports horseback riding, swimming and yachting.

"The women are neither painted nor covered with rice powder, nor are they anaemic. All, or almost all, of them have superb complexions; they are tall, and very few appear in ill-health. But in vain one seeks upon their faces the expression of their sensations or sentiments. Certainly, and perhaps happily for them, they have been initiated into the refinement of sensibility, into artistic enthusiasms. Their souls too have only gravitated since their childhood around the two ideas that have animated their fathers and which animate their husbands—the passion of independence and the passion of work. The characteristics of American beauty are pride and curiosity, as those of the French beauty are grace and submission."

No Matter.

It was very unpoetic language that the poet's wife heard coming from the little study.

"What is the trouble, dear?" she asked.

"Why, I have two poems here, one of which goes to the soapmakers and the other to the magazine. I neglected to finish either one, and now I can't tell which is which."—Cincinnati Tribune.

Ely's Cream Balm
WILL CURE
CATARRH
Price 50 Cents.
Apply Balm into each nostril.
ELY BROS., 56 Warren St. N.Y.

ELY'S CREAM BALM
CATARRH
ELY BROS

WALTER BAKER & CO.
The Largest Manufacturers of
PURE, HIGH GRADE
COCOAS AND CHOCOLATES
On this Continent, have received
HIGHEST AWARDS
from the great
Industrial and Food
EXPOSITIONS
In Europe and America.
Unlike the Dutch Process, no Alkalies or other Chemicals or Dyes are used in any of their preparations.
Their delicious BREAKFAST COCOA is absolutely pure and soluble, and costs less than one cent a cup.
SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE.
WALTER BAKER & CO. DORCHESTER, MASS.

RHEUMATIC PEOPLE USE "Nehrage's $1,000,000 Rheumatic Cure." Guaranteed the best on earth for all Gout and Neuralgia. Cured F. Bucknell [70 yrs. old] 2929 5th av. s., and Capt. John I. Black of Geo. R. Newell & Co., both of Minneapolis, of Rheumatism (15 yrs. standing). Never fails. A discovery. PURE. SURE. Big thing for good agents. Secret cost $1,000,000. Highest references. 15,000 people cured. Write today.
Swanson Company, 167 Dearborn St., Chicago

PAY FOR PLEASANT WORK easily secured through an early application for Local Agency to sell the
DAVIS CREAM SEPARATORS
to Farmers and Dairymen. One style was shown in last number of this journal. Another will soon be pictured out. Meanwhile, write for Handsome Illustrated Book Free. DAVIS & RANKIN BLDG. AND MFG. CO., Sole Manufacturers, 240 W. Lake St., Chicago

Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Backache.
ST. JACOBS OIL
SAFE, SURE, PROMPT.

Scott's Emulsion
is not a secret remedy. It is simply the purest Norway Cod-liver Oil, the finest Hypophosphites, and chemically pure Glycerine, all combined into a perfect Emulsion so that it will never change or lose its integrity. This is the secret of Scott's Emulsion's great success. It is a most happy combination of flesh-giving, strengthening and healing agents, their perfect union giving them remarkable value in all WASTING DISEASES.
Hence its great value in Consumption, wherein it arrests the wasting by supplying the most concentrated nourishment, and in Anæmia and Scrofula it enriches and vitalizes the blood. In fact, in every phase of wasting it is most effective. Your doctor will confirm all we say about it. Don't be persuaded to accept a substitute!
Scott & Bowne, New York. All Druggists. 50c. and $1.

Minn. Hist. Society

MINNESOTA
HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

St. Hilaire THE Spectator.

VOLUME XIV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 22, 1895. NUMBER 42.

PITH OF THE NEWS

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

The Latest and Most Important News of the World; Culled From the Telegraph Reports of the Press Associations.

Washington.

A dairy division of the agricultural department has been created.

The latest guess is that the national supreme court will uphold the income tax law.

Maj. Frederick Crandall of the Third infantry has retired, having reached the age limit.

Seneca Hazelton, United States minister to Venezuela, has been recalled because of drunkenness and neglect of duty.

Reports to the agricultural department from its European agents indicate that the area of winter wheat in France is considerably smaller than last year.

Assistant Secretary McAdoo, of the navy, is giving his personal attention to the duty of getting the United States fleet in readiness for the Kiel celebration.

Personal Mention.

Wallace Francis, a banker at Independence, Ia., is dead.

M. Joubert, a well-known Parisian banker, is dead.

Dr. Henry Slade, the spirit medium of New York, suffered a slight stroke of paralysis recently.

The Lows, of whom Sir Robert Low, the Chitral commander, is one, are cousins of Thackeray through the Shakespeare family.

John R. Rogers, the theatrical manager, obtained a decree of divorce in London against his wife, Minnie Palmer, the actress.

Keir Hardie has come to the belief that the days of trades-unions are past, and that the time is ripe for the establishment of an industrial commonwealth.

Dr. Paul Jaenicke, doctor of philosophy of Heidelberg university, Germany, and head of the Jaenicke-Uhlman ink factory of Newark, N. J. was found dead in his room.

At the annual banquet of the Mississippi State Bankers' association in Jackson, Congressman Catchings delivered an address in which he sustained the sound-money policy of the president.

Chief Whirlwind, the noted Cheyenne warrior, died at his home near Fort Reno, O. T. The old chief was one of the most noted fighters of all the Indian bands until after the final treaty at Medicine Lodge.

Eugene d'Albert, the pianist, has been appointed court kapellmeister at Weimar, the position once held by Liszt. He is the first musician of British birth to hold such an appointment in Germany.

Rev. Charles P. Strong of Savannah, one of the most prominent Episcopal clergymen in Georgia, has followed the example of the Rev. Dr. Herbert Newton and repudiated the doctrine of the physical resurrection of Christ.

Dr. Joshua F. Cook, the venerable president of La Grange college, was quietly married to Miss Drucilla M. Hearon, teacher of elocution at the college. It is the groom's third marriage. The bride is a young woman just out of her teens.

Engelbert Humperdinck, who is hailed in Germany as the new Wagner, because of the eminent success of his opera, "Haensel and Gretel," is forty-one years old, and for the past five years he has been a teacher in Hoch's conservatory at Frankfort-on-the-Main.

Unfortunate Events.

John Mahoney was killed by a fall from a window at Elkhart, Ind.

George S. McDonald, a well known business man, was trapped in a folding bed at Detroit and may die.

Brakeman Bartholemy was killed in a freight train wreck near Newark, N. J.

The factory of the Blair House Collar company burned at Blair, Neb. Loss, $30,000, covered by insurance.

Henry Eberhart of Willow Creek, Ind., while hunting, got his shotgun tangled in a fence and was killed by its discharge.

Fire at Pratt, a mining town near Birmingham, Ala., destroyed the town hall, public school, hotel, church and several dwellings.

George Lewis, a wealthy citizen and a well known lumberman of Peru, Ind., was killed by being struck by a flying board in his mill.

Conrad Schneidman of Tuscola, Ill., took two ounces of carbolic acid by mistake and died a half hour after. He was sixty-five years of age.

At Red Oak, Ind., 360,000 feet of lumber belonging to the T. M. Richardson Lumber company was burned. There was no insurance.

Passenger Train No. 44 on the Wabash railroad struck and instantly killed Philip Holdernitter, an old resident of Edwardsville, Ill.

While blowing up stumps Albert Sackett and Frank Jones, living south of Lebanon, Ind., were blown to atoms by the premature explosion of a stick of dynamite.

John Long, brakeman, and Peter Kimmer, fireman, were very seriously scalded by the blowing out of the crown sheet of an engine on the Panhandle road near Winamac, Ind.

The St. Joseph, Mo., pump works and the St. Joseph excelsior works and a two-story hotel adjacent in the suburb of St. George were destroyed by fire. The loss is placed at $60,000.

The residence of Thaddius Brown, a farmer residing half a mile from the village of Bryan, Ohio, was destroyed by fire. His wife perished in the flames and his five-year-old son is fatally burned.

Criminal Doings.

J. R. Lawler is held for trial at Vandalia, Ill., on a charge of cruelly beating his three-year-old child.

Eli Williams of Philadelphia tried to kill his wife and then committed suicide.

W. H. Thompson, alias "Kid," was sentenced at Los Angeles to be hanged for the Roscoe train robbery.

Near Paul's Valley, O. T., Mrs. August Schmitz has been arrested charged with fatally shooting her husband.

Hawthorne was raided again and Corrigan may turn the tables by having the board of trade men raided as common gamblers.

John Hines of Columbus, Ind., who was married last week, shot himself or was shot at Shelbyville, Ind., the authorities cannot tell which. He is alive.

A man named Kyle, living near Pleasant Plain, Iowa, committed suicide by drowning himself in the river near Brighton, Iowa. He was temporarily insane, it is thought.

Mrs. Jessie Davis secured a divorce from her husband at Rockville, Ind., last winter. Sunday he met her on the way to church and without warning he shot and killed her. He then shot himself, but will recover.

F. M. Bredell and Charles F. Bryden have been arrested at Toledo on a charge of stealing bicycles. It is said they have operated on an extensive scale in Chicago, Detroit and other cities.

William H. Smith, one of the leaders in the strike on the Grand Trunk last summer, was arrested at Holly, Mich., charged with causing the fatal wreck on that road at Battle Creek in July last.

The coroner's jury at Cripple Creek, Colo., has returned a verdict that the killing of Jack Smith, the leader of the Bull Hill miners during the strike last summer, by Marshal Kelly at Altman was justifiable homicide.

Three men arrested at Taylorsville, Ill., answer in many respects the description of the three safe blowers who robbed the State Bank of Orion of about $5,000 on the night of the 4th inst.

At Cleveland, Ohio, George Floyd, a detective employed by the Valley railroad, was shot and probably mortally wounded by his wife early this morning. The shooting resulted from a quarrel between the couple.

William Sourwine, the striker convicted of wrecking the Big Four train at Fontanet, Ind., during last year's strike, was sentenced to three years in prison. The engineer and fireman of the train were killed.

A man who gave his name as George Nage of Albany, Ill., has been arrested at Clinton, Iowa, on a charge of forgery. Police claim to recognize him as George Daniels, who has done time in Anamosa prison.

Foreign.

London Truth sarcastically refers to the delay in the world's fair awards.

A great demonstration was held in Phoenix Park, Dublin, in favor of amnesty of Irish prisoners.

Advocates of confederation of Newfoundland with Canada are sanguine of carrying their point.

One hundred Algerian tribesmen were killed in a pitched battle near the village of Oued.

Reports of outbreaks of cholera at Mecca is confirmed from official sources.

Col. Arizan, with a force of seventy cavalry, has defeated a band of Cuban insurgents numbering 200 men.

The Spanish forces, a dispatch from Havana announces, have defeated the combined insurgent forces under Maceo.

The bodies of three men were found floating in the River St. Lawrence near Sorel yesterday. None of them have been identified as yet.

Sig. Solimbergo, formerly a member of the Milan chamber of deputies, has been appointed to the new post of Italian consul general at Montreal, Que.

The recent attack and capture of the town of Banes by the Cuban revolutionists was confirmed by one of the passengers of the little fruit steamer Brixham, which arrived at New York to-day from Gibara.

Canadians fear that the Chicago drainage canal will lower the water in the great lakes so much as to interfere with commerce. A resolution looking toward an investigation has been introduced in the Dominion parliament.

General.

The Illinois Steel company strike in Chicago is practically over.

The fruit crop in Colorado will be practically uninjured by the cold snap.

The much-talked-of railroad from Butte to Reno, via Boise, Idaho, will soon be built.

A mad dog got in a flock of sheep at Tiffin, Ohio, and the owner killed the 150 he left alive; also two cows.

Miners at Laurelton and Dillonvale, in Ohio, near the river are stopping trains suspected of carrying coal.

Over 400 men at the blast furnace of the Bellaire (Ohio) Nail works, have accepted an advance of 15 per cent in wages and will resume work.

Lieut. Gov. Milnes of Michigan sent his resignation to Gov. Rich. Milnes has succeeded Julius Caesar Burrows as congressman.

The business house of P. I. Brown, who runs two of the largest stores at Ponca City, Okla., were closed to-day by officers on attachments.

Frank M. Byrnes, Imperial Bicycle Club of San Francisco, has broken the world's record for five miles, making it in 12:12 3-5.

Arthur W. Dowe is engaged in missionary work in San Francisco for the purpose of re-establishing a colony of Shakers on the Pacific coast.

The Illinois state camp, Sons of Veterans, adopted resolutions 51 to 54, denouncing the proposed dedication of the confederate monument in Chicago on Decoration day.

In Kansas City, Kas., John Gabriel, a religious crank, dressed in white trousers and white jacket, aroused a crowd of spectators almost to the lynching point by declaring himself a second Jesus Christ.

The police of New York and Baltimore and federal authorities, as represented by the postoffice inspectors, are trying to ferret out the perpetrators of a series of gigantic swindles. The firm name of Howell & Co. was used. It is supposed the gang had a hand in negotiating the $300,000 bogus note purporting to have been drawn by Senator Fair

A HORRIBLE DEATH

THREE NEGRO RAPISTS MEET A TERRIBLE RETRIBUTION.

An Estimable White Girl in Florida Is Kept a Prisoner for Twenty-Four Hours, Repeatedly Outraged and Then Brutally Murdered.

Ellaville, Fla., May 21.—Three negroes were lynched Saturday night in a dense swamp on the Suanee river, by white men, for assaulting a white girl. It is reported that they were flayed alive and then burned after being subjected to frightful tortures. The crime for which the negroes were so horribly punished was one of the most terrible in the history of this section of Florida. The scene of the crime and retribution was in Lafayette, the adjoining county to Madison on the south. Miss Mamie Armstrong, the beautiful daughter of a prominent Lafayette county farmer, left her home five days ago to spend the night with a neighbor who lived two miles distant. The next day Miss Armstrong's father went to the house to bring her home and was alarmed to hear that nothing had been seen of her. Mr. Armstrong aroused the neighborhood and a search was made. The woods were scoured and the Suwanee river dragged. Finally about noon, between the home of Mr. Armstrong and the neighbor's house, the handkerchief of the girl was found clinging to a bush and all around was evidences of a desperate struggle.

The searchers followed the trail thus indicated, finding all along that the girl had been dragged into the woods. After proceeding for a mile the corpse of Miss Armstrong was found in a thick clump of bushes. The body of the girl was in a horrible condition. Every shred of clothing had been torn from it and she had been assaulted. The lower limbs had been torn apart, her head crushed and her throat cut. It was evident that the girl had made a desperate fight, for under her nails were found black pieces of cuticle which she had torn from her assailants.

Sam Echols was suspected and threatened with instant death unless he confessed. He did so and implicated Sam Crowley and Jim Brooks. Echols said that they kept the girl for twenty-four hours before killing her, forcing her in the meanwhile to repeatedly submit to the most horrible indignities. For the greater part of the time, the negro said, Miss Armstrong was unconscious. Having secured the negroes implicated by Echols, the white men proceeded with the three fiends to a dense swamp on the Suwanee river, where they were made to suffer torture similar to that they had inflicted on the girl. The white people are terribly aroused, and swear that they will exterminate the negroes if these outrages are continued.

The United States Government Chemist, after an examination for the Indian Department, made the emphatic statement that "The Royal Baking Powder is the purest in quality and highest in strength of any baking powder of which I have knowledge."

BIMETALLIC UNIONS.

Instructions Regarding the Formation of Local Unions.

Salt Lake, May 21.—Thomas G. Morrill, Edward B. Light and Gov. Prince, the committee appointed by the executive committee of the National Bimetallic union to prepare instructions for the organization of state, district, city and town unions throughout the country issued an address on the subject. The address says:

"The object of these unions is for thorough organization in the interest of education of the voters of the land upon the financial questions, which is the burning question before the American people. The only hope for the success of this struggle for the full restoration of silver to its place as money at a ratio of 16 to 1 by the United States is in such an education of the people as will cause a majority of the voters of the country in November, 1896, to vote for independent bimetallism regardless of party lines. The formation of these unions may be entered upon immediately, and we suggest that those clubs adopt the name of the district, town or state in which they are organized, and that the secretary of each union address a letter to E. B. Light, secretary National Bimetallic association, Denver, who will forward a form of constitution and by-laws recommended by the national organization.

SPANIARDS DEFEATED.

Their Losses in Killed and Wounded Reach Three Hundred.

Key West, Fla., May 21.—Late advices from Cuba state that Maximo Gomez is on the outskirts of Puerto Principe with a large force and receiving recruits from the surrounding country. An engagement between the Spanish troops commanded by Salcedo and the Cubans commanded by Maceo at Guantanamo Thursday is reported, in which the Spaniards were defeated, losing 300 killed and wounded.

The unequalled strength of the Royal, as certified by the highest baking powder authorities, makes it the cheapest to use, even at a higher price than others.

Mayor Huert Acquitted.

Casper, Wyo., May 21. — Joel J. Huert, mayor of this city, and ex-state senator, who shot and killed his wife's paramour, William Milne, on April 3 last, has been acquitted on the charge of murder.

Trolley Collision.

Brooklyn, May 21. — A serious collision between trolley cars occurred to-day by which several passengers were seriously, if not fatally, hurt. The employes have been placed under arrest. Among those most seriously injured are Adolph Fluger, Joseph Williamson, William Messerschmidt, Robert B. Furman, James Beneman. Of the hundred or more passengers on the two cars the great majority received bruises of a more or less painful nature and a veritable panic ensued.

MAD DOG VICTIMS.

Epidemic of Rabies in St. Paul and St. Joseph.

St. Paul, May 21. — John Barrison, twenty-six years of age and single, lies dying of hydrophobia at the Grand hotel in South Park. He has reached the paralytic stage and is in a comatose condition. His death is a matter of a few hours only. On the same day that Barrison was bitten Gustave Stapf, ex-city treasurer of South St. Paul, was also bitten by the same dog. He went at once to Dr. H. P. Johnson and had the wound cauterized. Barrison neglected to do this. Stapf has developed none of the symptoms of hydrophobia, but will leave to-night to be treated in the Pasteur institute, Chicago. As nearly as the two men can remember, they were bitten the latter part of February. This is doubtless a correct estimate of the time, as the average period of incubation is eighty-one days.

Little Georgie Blom, nine years of age, the son of Ole Blom, a laborer living in the rear of 220 Chestnut street, was bitten by a mad dog last evening while playing in the neighborhood of his home. The dog, which was owned by Charles Stang, was killed by its owner.

St. Joseph, May 21. — A mad dog scare is terrorizing the people of this city. A rabid dog ran amuck in the east part of the city a few days ago and before being killed had bitten a number of dogs which have been going mad since and biting other dogs. This forenoon there were four rabid animals loose in Wyatt Park at one time and people did not dare venture from their homes. James Harper was bitten by a rabid animal and was taken to Savannah for treatment. John Quinlaven, a boy, was bitten yesterday afternoon and taken to a madstone which adhered for six hours. The police have killed fourteen mad dogs to-day. People who live in Wyatt Park dare not venture out of doors after dark.

It is a remarkable fact that the Ohio State Food Commissioner, in his official examination of baking powders, after excepting the Royal, found no other to contain less than ten per cent. of impurities. The Royal was found practically pure.

ADVANCE IN RATES.

Result of the G. N. and N. P. Consolidation.

New York, May 21.—President J. J. Hill, of the Great Northern railway, who arrived from Europe yesterday, conferred with the Northern Pacific reorganization committee, and then started for Chicago. Previous to his departure Mr. Hill said in an interview that Collis P. Huntington did not put the 10 per cent estimate on increase in business a bit too high, as a result of the deal between these two companies. Rates will be put up slightly all along the line and many expenses cut off. Moreover, it means that the Canadian Pacific will be given a lively race in the building up and development of the Northwest.

Couldn't Live Apart.

Sioux Falls, S. D., May 21. — Wed twice to the same woman is the record made by W. B. Beals of Armour. About a year ago Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Beals lived in Chamberlain. They had lived together for seventeen years but for some reason they had trouble and a divorce was granted to the wife, there being a friendly appearance made by the husband. The latter did the magnanimous act and gave his divorced wife a deed to nearly all his property. He then moved to Armour, while she went to her parents' home in Omaha. Mrs. Beals soon began to long for her old-time partner, and last week set out for Armour. She hunted up Mr. Beals, and within three hours after the arrival of Mrs. Beals, divorced, she became Mrs. Beals, married.

The Coming Whist Meet.

Minneapolis, May 21.—A great deal of interest is being manifested in cities in all parts of the United States in regard to the coming annual contest of the American Whist league, which is to be held in this city next month under the auspices of the Minneapolis Whist league. Nearly all of the important cities of the East will be represented by teams which will come here to compete for the trophies and the championship. Heretofore few cities west of Minneapolis have been in competition, and the Pacific slope has never been represented in the meetings of the league. At this meeting a team will come from Tacoma, and the competition will represent the entire country.

There is certainly no baking powder so well known and generally used as the Royal. Its perfect purity, as well as its superiority in leavening power, are matters of fact no longer disputed by honest dealers or makers of other brands. Its virtues are so well known to every housekeeper that the slanders of the dishonest makers of the cheaper goods fail to touch it.

Minnesota Is Second.

Washington, May 21.—John Berkenbine, the iron ore expert of Philadelphia, has prepared for the division of mineral resources of the United States geological survey an exhaustive report of the iron ore resources. Twenty-four states produced iron ore in 1894, ranging in amounts from 4,119,074 tons in Michigan to 7,915 tons from Maryland. Most of the increase noted above in production was in the Lake Superior region, Minnesota, showing the greatest increase, from 1,499,927 tons in 1893 to 2,968,462 tons in 1894, ranking second among the iron producing states, while in 1893, she was about third. Michigan continues to be the largest producer, holding this rank for six years.

Brewery Burned.

Menasha, Wis., May 21.—A fire today destroyed the brewery of Fred Winz in this city. The fire is thought to be of incendiary origin as there was no fire in the brewery at the time. Loss about $20,000; partially insured.

Wrecked on the Red Sea.

Juddah, May 21.—A Turkish pilgrimage steamer carrying pilgrims going to Mecca was wrecked on the Red sea. There were 700 people on board, all of whom were saved.

A MEXICAN REVOLT

SMALL WAR IN A SETTLEMENT IN THE STATE OF CHIHUAHUA.

Natives in the District Attack a Party of Surveyors Under Capt. Morrison, an American Engineer, and Kill Twenty of Them.

El Paso, Tex., May 21.—Information has been received here of a bloody local revolt which broke out in a settlement between the towns of Guadaloupe Calve and Varvaguma, in the State of Chihuahua, Mex., a few days ago. The trouble began when the natives living in the district attacked a surveying party under Capt. Morrison, an American, and killed twenty of the party. The affair was reported to the commander of Mexican troops at Parral, who immediately started a detachment of 100 men to the scene. Last Wednesday the troops were assaulted by the natives and the troops retreated, leaving half of their number dead and wounded on the battle ground. The appointment of the American, Morrison, to survey the government land which is now occupied by native farmers, caused the trouble. Morrison was to receive a certain portion of the lands for his work. The natives number about 2,000 men living in the district which is surrounded by mountains. Troops have been ordered from Chihuahua to quell the revolt. Morrison escaped.

SILVER.

Address Issued by the Conference at Salt Lake.

Salt Lake, May 21.—The silver conference just before adjourning, unanimously adopted the following report of the committee of resolutions and address to the people of the United States:

"We desire to say that the people we represent are not an aggregation of thieves seeking to swindle honest creditors with fifty-cent dollars. There are no more patriotic citizens of the American public than those active, earnest, energetic men and women who have left the comforts of their Eastern homes to build the highways of national progress in the far West. If they believe that the complete restoration of silver would operate as an injury to the country as a whole, or an injustice to any class, regardless of its local effect in this Western region, they would at once and forever abandon the demand. The greatest good to the greatest number, is their motto, and it is in this spirit that, irrespective of party affiliations, they present themselves almost as a unit demanding the free coinage of silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1, with full legal tender functions according to each and no discrimination against the other. It is not as silver miners, but citizens of a republic, mindful of its every interest, that we take this position. The representatives from California, Oregon and Wyoming, which produce little or no silver, feel that their people have been as deeply injured by the demonetization of that metal as those living in any state or territory in which silver mining is a leading industry."

Prof. Haines, Chemist to the Chicago Board of Health, says he has found the Royal Baking Powder the purest and strongest, and superior to all others in every respect.

Luxumburger Meet.

Dubuque, Iowa, May 21.—The third annual convention of the Luxumburger Central Society of the United States commenced here to-day. The programme included a parade of several thousand members of Catholic societies. High mass by Bishop Schebach of La Crosse, and a sermon by Rev. H. Williams of Milwaukee. In the afternoon a statue will be dedicated with addresses.

His Neck Will Stretch.

Santa Fe, N. Mex., May 21.—Patrick Carmody, under indictment for murder and sentenced to be hanged in Sorocco county in 1888, has been captured at Salomon Valley, Ariz., and brought to Sirocco by Sheriff Bursul. In 1882 Carmody and two others killed a Sorocco citizen by hanging him. In 1888 while the case was pending on appeal in the supreme court the accused man escaped from jail.

Deliberate Suicide.

Stillwater, May 21.—A deliberate suicide occurred at Four lakes, near North St. Paul, yesterday. Harry Patchen, a young man well known here and in the Twin Cities, tied a rope around his legs and dived into the water. His identity was not known until Coroner Freligh saw him. The suicide was about thirty years of age, and some time ago was high in Stillwater circles.

Plenty of Claims.

Sioux City, Iowa, May 21.—The report of the special commissioner on the Union Stock Yards company receivership case has been filed in the federal court here. The amount of claims shown against the company is $1,151,762. This is in addition to the bonded indebtedness and to $1,000,000 of claims which have recently been withdrawn.

A Nice Present.

Athens, Ga., May 21. — Secretary Smith reached Athens to-day and met a new baby girl.

The United States Government Report on baking powders shows Royal superior to all others. It is pure, made from wholesome ingredients, and greatest in leavening strength. It is the only baking powder for those desiring the finest, most wholesome food.

Grandin Elevator Burns.

Hillsboro, N. D., May 21. — The Grandin elevator at Alton, near here, and two freight cars were burned. The elevator contained 10,000 bushels of wheat, and the building was valued at $12,000.

Religious Riot.

Antwerp, May 21. — A collision of some Catholic societies with the liberal associationists occurred yesterday afternoon, and the police were obliged to charge the mob. Many arrests were made.

PANIC IN COURT.

A Witness Draws a Knife on the Defendant and an Attorney.

Cincinnati, May 21. — There was a panic in the criminal court at Covington, Ky., to-day. The case of Emma Slaughter for $25,000 damages from Dr. Jarvis McCollum for seduction was being heard. While Emma was testifying her father, Henry Slaughter, was seen drawing a large dirk. The Sheriff and jailer grabbed him before he could reach McCollum. This caused great excitement in the court room. Afterward Henry Slaughter was on the stand, and the attorney for the defense asked the witness, whether he had ever been in the penitentiary. Without answering, Slaughter ripped out another dirk and plunged for the attorney. He was again held back, but several were hurt in the panic which followed, none seriously. It was necessary to adjourn the court in order to get rid of the crowd. In the afternoon none but attorneys and witnesses will be admitted.

Food raised by the Royal Baking Powder may be eaten hot, even by dyspeptics, with immunity. Hot bread, biscuits, hot cakes, muffins, crusts, puddings, etc., are made by its use perfectly wholesome

SCARCITY OF LAND.

More Applicants Under the Pingree Plan Are Disappointed.

Minneapolis, May 21.—The Pingree plan of city farming has not met with much encouragement in Minneapolis, but there have been many difficulties in the way of its progress. No sooner has one cloud passed from its horizon than another has been found in its place. At first the matter of finance was the apparent difficulty, and land was plenty; then came the desired funds, and now the commission is looking very anxiously for the land. Yesterday there were sixty callers upon Secretary Hove who asked for land, the majority of whom got none. It is estimated that 200 applicants, under the present conditions, will be unable to be supplied with the land either in large or small amounts.

"DEGENERATION."

A Dinner Given the Author of a Sensational Book.

Paris, May 21.—A dinner was given last night by authors and artists in honor of Max Simon Nordau, the famous German philosopher, who endeavors in his late work, "Degeneration," to prove that the most typical forms of modern art and literature are products of insanity. Herr Nordau was born at Budapest on July 29, 1849. He studied medicine there and traveled extensively after taking his degree in 1873. He began in 1880 the practice of medicine in Paris, where he still lives. He is a correspondent for important German and Austrian newspapers, and has written for several French newspapers. He has published many books, most of them of an original and sensational character. In his works Dr. Nordau combines scientific knowledge, strong literary power and remarkable originality of thought.

Max Simon Nordau

It will be gratifying to consumers to note that the quality of the baking powder most generally in use in their kitchens, the Royal, is confirmed by the highest official authorities as altogether the best of any in the market.

University Work Closes.

Minneapolis, May 21.—The academic seniors of the university closed the regular work of their course at the institution Saturday and will devote the time of the coming two weeks in preparation for the exercises of commencement. The members of the class are looking forward to their closing exercises with great anxiety, and it is needless to say that their aim is to excel the efforts of all preceding classes. The class play is the matter which just now troubles them, for it is understood that they are somewhat backward in their preparation, considering the small amount of time left to get ready. The play will be given afternoon and evening, and special features will be the costuming and the general scenic effect.

She Took Poison.

St. Paul, May 21.—There is crape on the hall door at 346 South Robert street. Within is the dead body of Nettie Ordemann, who took poison with suicidal intent at 11 o'clock Saturday night and died at 5 o'clock yesterday morning. The girl is twenty years old and the only daughter of Fred Ordemann, who has a paint shop at the above number. She had left home and thought herself deserted by her lover, a young man named Alexander Walter, who is head clerk of the shoe department at Schuneman & Evans.

Alleged Train Robbers.

Cripple Creek, Colo., May 21.—Sherman Crunley, Kid Wallace and Sam Wilder have been arrested on warrants charging them with participating in the Florence and Cripple Creek train robbery last March.

Present Formosa to Japan.

London, May 21.—The Times publishes a dispatch from Tien Tsin which says that Li Ching Fang, son of Li Hung Chang, has been appointed commissioner to had over the island of Formosa to Japan.

STREETCAR WRECK

TROLLY SMASH-UP ON UNIVERSITY AVENUE, ST. PAUL.

One Car Loaded With People Returning from a Base Ball Game Crushed Into Another Similarly Loaded—A Dozen People Injured.

St. Paul, May 19.—Arthur Strauss was seriously injured and nine others were more or less bruised and hurt in a trolley car collission on University avenue last evening. The cars were crowded with men and women from the ball park, and had the cars been running at a higher rate of speed the accident would surely have been much more serious. The injured are:

Arthur Strauss, a clerk employed at Foot, Schulze & Co.'s shoe store; injured internally.

Matt Jensen, a clerk in the state treasurer's office; cut across temple, right shoulder bruised.

Louis Smith, right wrist bruised.

Fred Eastman, printer on the Pioneer Press; face and head cut.

Henry Martin, insurance man; legs bruised under a broken seat.

Wilbur Tibbils, cigar dealer; right hand cut and little finger crushed.

J. H. Whitaker, agent Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad; back injured.

August Koerner, state treasurer; right knee bruised and right hand cut.

H. J. Lehr, salesman Finch, Van Slyck, Young & Co.; back injured.

John Lynch, head cut.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Kent street with University avenue, on a down grade. There were a dozen ball trains, consisting of open motors with trailers attached, in a line going east from the ball grounds on Dale street to the city on University avenue. There were three cars ahead of the two in collision. The cars were all crowded to the steps. Arthur Strauss, who was the most seriously injured, was standing on the platform at the head end of the motor car in collision. The cars were running about four miles an hour, and at Kent street the leading train stopped to let on a passenger. The two next cars stopped, Car No. 236, Motorman G. Enquist, being west of the crossing. Car No. 591 was following a car length away. Motorman Schrin applied the breaks, but the track had just been wet by the street sprinkler and the brakes did not seem to work, and, without a moment's warning, the car crashed into the rear of Car No. 236 ahead. The collision came so suddenly and unexpectedly that every one, even the motorman, seemed taken unawares. There was a sharp crash, and then a lunging forward of everybody in the colliding car. Seats were broken and the occupants of the car were piled in an indiscriminate mass in the middle of the car.

State Treasurer Koerner was in the middle of the car. He was caught under one of the broken seats and his right knee was bruised painfully. The cars were delayed about twenty minutes by the accident. There were several ladies on the cars, and their screams nearly caused a panic. As far as could be learned none of the women were injured, beyond receiving a shaking up.

CULLOM WOULD ACCEPT.

He Opens the Way Freely for Presidential Lightning.

Seattle, Wash., May 19. — United States Senator Cullom of Illinois, in an interview to-day, said he was in no sense a candidate for the presidency, but admitted that he would accept it if it was offered him. He expressed himself as believing that the tariff question and not the money question would be the leading issue of the national election.

Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire, who arrived here last night, was interviewed on presidential possibilities. He favors Reed, but thinks McKinley or Allison will be nominated. If the Allison and McKinley forces are so evenly divided as to prevent the nomination of either, a dark horse, possibly Senator Cullom, will be nominated. Senator Gallinger says that he considers Harrison out of the race. Senator Gallinger is on the coast for pleasure and will visit Alaska before returning.

NORWAY'S DAY.

Celebration of the Anniversary of the Declaration of Independence.

Chicago, May 19. —The Norwegian residents of Chicago celebrated the anniversary of the declaration of their independence from Denmark, which occurred May 17, 1814. The northwestern part of the city was gayly decorated with flags, wreaths and bunting. Almost every building in that section of the city flew the standards of the Fatherland of the Norseman and that of their adopted country. The celebrations of the day were in the form of processions, patriotic speeches, dancing and feasts.

Took Poison.

Reedsburg, Wis., May 19. — John Snyder was found dead in his rooms at R. D. Russell's house in this city this morning. At an inquest held the jury decided that he came to his death by taking arsenic and strychnine, of which a large quantity was found in his pockets. He had two brothers in Indiana and in his trunk was found over $250 and valuables.

Brooke in Command.

St. Paul, May 19.—Brig. Gen. John R. Brooke arrived in the city this morning and assumed command of the department. Maj. Gen. Wesley Merritt relinquished command of the department to enter upon the discharge of his duties at Chicago.

CAUGHT BY A DECOY.

Wronged Wife Has Her Husband and a Girl Arrested.

Eau Claire, Wis., May 19.—B. W. Binder, a railroad man formerly of Winona, and Eva Otis, a girl whose home is at Neillsville, were arrested here last night on complaint of Binder's wife. The Otis girl, who is well connected was decoyed to Eau Claire by a bogus telegram sent by Mrs. Binder's lawyer who signed Binder's name to the message. The prisoners were taken to-day to Stanley where the complaint was made.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
ON ALL
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arriv Crookston Daily
St. Paul Minneapolis Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.0x a. m.	7.G am
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg; Brandon and points North	7.25 a. m.	7:10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston daily has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, Maps, Time Tables or [illegible] information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. at Crookston Minn., or

Chas. S. Fee,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marsha

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for in or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON R. R. TRACT ST. HILAIRE

W. A. Sorsoleil

Roading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers' price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

---

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS
COPYRIGHTS.

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free.

Building Edition, monthly, $2.50 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY.

BREVITIES.

Go to Johnson & Marshall's for lime cement, etc.

C. G. Rapp went to Crookston last Monday on business.

George Ossm [illegible] is in town this week buying hides and furs.

Emil Brink drove down to Red Lake Falls today on business.

Sash and doors cheap for cash at Johnson & Marshall's.

J. E. Morrissey, of Crookston, was in town between trains today.

Rev. Moody spent several days at Crookston the first of the week.

W. A. Sorsoleil was at Thief River Falls last Monday on business.

E. M Hoff made a short business trip to Crookston first of the week.

Mr. Grant, of Minneapolis was selling drygoods in town yesterday.

J. D. Marshall of Red Lake Falls was in town last Saturday on business.

Philip Zeh of Thief River Falls was in town a short time last Monday.

Cash paid for hides, tallow, sheep pelts etc. at the St. Hilaire meat market.

Leonard Holmes is giving the elevator building a coat of paint this week.

Do not fail to call and see the new stock of hats at Mrs Bye's Millinery

Chas. and Emil Brink drove up to Thief River Falls yesterday on business,

Christ Bjerk of Marshall Co. spent several days in the village the first of the week on business.

Harry Murphy, representing Gordon Fergusen & Co. of St. Paul, was doing business in town yesterday.

Supt. Jinks of the Great Northern Railway passed over this line last Monday on a tour of inspection.

L. D. Marshall, auditor of the St. Anthony & Dakota Elevator Co., was in town on business last Monday.

A heavy frost did considerable damage to gardens in this vicinity but farmers report that the grain suffered very little.

If St. Hilaire is going to celebrate the 4th of July this year, it is about time the matter was being agitated and a meeting called.

The train crew are now taking their dinner here instead of at Thief River Falls, as heretofore. This speaks well for the present management of our hotel,

Good News to farmers.

W. A. Sorsoleil will give you 50 pounds of good flour for a bushel of wheat, at Johnson & Marshall's ware house,

The Ladies of the M. E. Church will give a strawberry and ice cream social next Friday evening at the American Hotel, All are cordially invited to attend.

Messrs, Maybee, Rhinehart and Davis of Minneapolis and P. Meehan were in town last Sunday on their way to Thief River Falls to take testimony in the Jones—Meehan case,

S. M. Dainard has a crew of men at work this week on his new steamboat. The boat will be used to haul dirt and stone for the dam and afterwards he intends to make regular trips to Red Lake.

A large number of our citizens drove up to Thief River Falls last Sunday to view the match game of ball between the Thief River Falls, and Red Lake Falls, nines. They report the Thief River nine easy winners,

The gun club held their regular shoot last evening. The following is the number of birds broken out of a possible 24 by each of the contestants:

H. E. Ives, 16; M. E. Bjerk 6; O. F. Post, 18; W. Stranahan, 15; H. Murfy, 9; H. J. Freeman, 11.

A large number of friends of Mr. W. A. Arthur gave him a pleasant surprise last Monday evening that being the anniversary of his birthday, refreshments were served and dancing and other amusements were indulged in. All report having thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

Morris, the little son of M. P. Dargan who resides near Red Lake Falls, while playing the other day picked up a solid chunk of copper in the crude state weighing about half a pound. It is soft and can be easily cut with a knife. The indications are that there is a solid body of copper somewhere in the vicinity.—Crookston Tribune,

Cattle Pastured

I have 300 acres of good pasture and will pasture cattle for $1 50 for the season and horses and colts for ,75 cts per month S. M. Dainard.

One of the laws passed by the legislature makes it unlawful to blow the whistle of a traction engine while on the public highway and the engine must stop when within 100 feet of a team until said team passes. Any bridge broken by an engine must be repaired at an expense to the engine owners of one half the costs of such repairs.—Norman County Index.

The work on the wing dam below the race was commenced today and is progressing rapidly. The excavation for the race will be completed tomorrow and work will be commenced on the dam proper next Monday. County Commissioner Henry Norland will superintend the work. A large force of men will be put on and the work will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

A painful accident happened Mrs. Michael Jeffers last week when she fell down cellar and broke her right arm. A couple of months ago Ed Jeffers, a son of Mr and Mrs. M. Jeffers, broke his leg; shortly after M. Jeffers had his shoulder dislocated; now comes this distressing accident. The many friends of the family will trust for a speedy convalescence all around.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

Washington May 20—The United States Supreme Court today handed down a decision in the income tax case declaring the law unconstitutional by a vote of 5 to 4, Those voting for the law were; Harlan, Brown White Jackson Those voting against it were: Fuller Field Gray Brewer Shiras If was practically settled last Saturday that the law would be declared unconstitutional and some correspondents even went so far as to tell just how each justice would vote.—Crookston Tribune.

The Pohl case at Grand Forks is a sad one. Mr. and Mrs. Pohl were poor people and Mr. Pohl left on Monday last to go to work on a farm the location of which is not known. Mrs Pohl on Tuesday went out into the yard to care for the stock when she was attacked by a vicious bull which gored and trampled her to death. The authorities killed the animal before they dared to enter the enclosure to care for the remains. She was prepared for burial and kept as long as possible in the hope that Mr. Pohl might hear of the occurrence and return, Yesterday she was buried, and the officers of the law are still watching the house and caring for the stock, waiting for Mr. Pohl's return. A mental picture of the husband's return to learn of his bereavement is one of the saddest the mind can conjure up.—Crookston Times.

The following figures are from the official report of the treasury department.

For the five months ending Jan. 31, 1895, we exported 4,776,000 bales of cotton for which we received $138,930,000.

For the corresponding months in 1894 we exported 3,621,000 bales for which we received $143,559 000.

In other words though we shipped 1,155 000 bales more during the last five months we got $5,220,000 less for it.

In January 1894, 44,104,000 pounds of exported lard was worth $4,043,000, while in January 1895 though we exported 5,728,000 pounds more than in 1894, we only got $3,893,000.

In January 1894 1,841,000 barrels of wheat flour brought $5,537,000; in January 1895 1,207,000 barrels brought only $3,859,000.

Remember that these figures are official they are absolutely indisputable.

How few understand what they mean And yet the explanation is very simple.

Cotton has not changed in price and value, It takes as much labor to produce the same number of pounds of cotton in 1895 as in 1894, They make the same number of yards of goods and the goods clothe the same number of people.

It requires as much labor to produce wheat now as a year ago. The wheat feeds as many people now as a year ago

But it takes more wheat, more cotton, more lard, more everything else to buy the same amount of money.

What has changed?

Money of course. Having been made scarcer and dearer, money buys more of the necessaries of life than ever before. For whose benefit? The possessor of money of course.

But the necessaries of life produced by labor do not buy as much money as before.

Study these facts and figures and then work for your interest and that of the rest of the people against the plutocrats,—Milwaukee Advance,

NOTICE FOR BIDS.

Notice is hereby given that sealed bids will be received by the village recorder of the village of St. Hilaire Polk Co Minnesota up to and on the thirty first (31) day of May A. D. 1895 for the sale of Two thousand five hundred ($2500) dollars in denominations of Five hundred ($500) dollars each worth of seven (7 per cent non-optional twenty (20) year bonds interest payable semi-annually issued under chapter [illegible] General Laws of 1893.

Said bids will be opened and considered by the village council on the thirty first (31st) day of May A. D. 1895 at 8 o'clock p. m. at the office of the village recorder of said village. The village council reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Given under our hands this 7th day of May A. D. 1895.

S. M. Dainard
Village President.
J. L. Johnson
Recorder.

U. S. LAND OFFICE

Crookston, Minn., April 29 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver, U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn on June 13 1895 viz:

Ann McIs[illegible] HD no. 1245 for the SE ¼ NW ¼ and Lots 3, 4 and [illegible] sec. 3 Tp. 1[illegible], R. 45.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

Axel Crown, Swan J. Naplin, Olaus Sorantyen, August Naplin, all St. Hilaire Polk County Minnesota.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of four hundred and thirty nine dollars, ($439.00) which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by C. L. Lasher and Susan Lasher, his wife, and J. M. Westberg and Mary Westberg his wife mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N H mortgagee bearing date the 7th day of June 1891 and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 9th day of June 1891, at 8 o'clock a. m., in book 23 of mortgages on pages 301-2 and 3 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz: Commencing at the north corner of Lot two [2] Block six [6] in the city of East Grand Forks formerly Grand Forks East—thence in a south-westerly direction, along the line between DeMers Avenue and said Lot two [2] forty [40] feet—thence at right angles in a south-easterly direction across Lots two [2] four [4] and six [6] in said Block to the line between said Lot six [6] and Lot eight [8]—thence along said line in a north-easterly direction forty [40] feet to the intersection of said line with the southerly line of the Alley in said Block—thence at right angles along the line of said Alley in a north-westerly direction to point of beginning in Polk county and state of Minnesota with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 11th day of May 1895 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 14th A. D. 1895.

Security Trust Co., of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.
R. J. Montague, attorney. Crookston Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred and fifty-eight dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Arthur Perras and Antoinette Perras, his wife mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 18th day of March 1891, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 7th day of April 1891 at 8 o'clock a. m., in book 50 of mortgages, on page 11, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz:

The South east quarter of the South east quarter of Section Ten and the East half of the North east quarter and the North east quarter of the South east quarter of Section Fifteen in Township one hundred and fifty of Range forty-two, In Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 8th day of June 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law

Dated February 7th A. D 1895.

Security Trust Co., of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.
R. J. Montague, Crookston Minn attorney.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of ten hundred and fifty-four dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by James Adam, mortgagor to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 22nd day of December 1892 and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 4th day of January 1893 at 4:30 o'clock p. m., in book 50 of mortgages on page 298, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz:

The south west quarter of section ten in township one hundred and fifty-two of Range forty-nine, In Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 27th day of April 1895 at 10 o'clock a. m of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest and taxes, if any on said premises and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 12th A. D. 1895.

Security Trust Co., of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.
R. J. Montague, attorney. Crookston Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE

Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the register or receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on July 2 1895, viz:

Carl Wik of St. Hilaire Minn. H D no. 1334 for the SE ¼ Sec 35 Twp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

Hakon Johnson, Frank Setterberg, Jonas Fongstrom, Peter Anderson all of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

Dr. H. GRUNDY

Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis

DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS AND CIGARS.

Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.

Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY.

The NEW and the RIGHT WAY

EAST and WEST

TO ALL PACIFIC COAST POINTS. AND TRANSPACIFIC PORTS.

TIME CARD.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily. NO. 2 North and West		Daily NO 2 South and East
7 45 p m	Depart......St. Paul......Arrives	7 15 am
8 15 p m	" ......Minneapolis...... "	6 15 am
3 15 a m	" ......Barnesville...... "	11 15 am
5 25 am	Ar ......Crookston......De	8 .5 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH

MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

9 00 am	De......Crookston......Ar	6 00 pm
11 00 am	Ar......St. Hilaire......De	4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.0 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1 20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm Close connections made at Minneapolis and St. Paul for all points East and South.

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY, G. P. & T. A. St. Paul
H. J. FREEMAN, Agt. St. Hilaire.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of five hundred and eighty-seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary A. Holnvik and Hans M. Holnvik her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee, bearing date the 17th day of December 1890 and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 19th day of December 1890, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in book 50 of mortgages, on page 112 Which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned by said Security Trust Co. of Nashua N. H mortgagee to Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper by written assignment dated on the 7th day of January 1891 and recorded in the office of the Register of deeds on the 24th day of January 1891 at 8:40 o'clock a. m., in Book 56 of mortgages, on page 53 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part there of

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The north west quarter of Section 15 in Township One hundred and Forty-seven of Range Forty-five in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston in said County and State, on the 8th day of June 1895 at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and the taxes if any on said premises, and fifty Dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law,

Dated March 1st A. D. 1895.

Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper.
Assignee of mortgagee.
R. J. Montague, attorney Crookston Minn.

U. S. Land Office.

Crookston Minn. April 24 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn., on June 7 1895. viz:

John Kron, father of Alfred Kron deceased, HD no. 1226 for the NE ¼ Sec. 32 Tp 15[illegible] R 45.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land viz:

Adolph Nelsen, L. G. Dalin, Per Person Sam Person all of Bray p. o. Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava, Register,

Impetuous People

are sometimes figuratively spoken of as not above setting things on fire just for the fun of

Seeing Them Burn

Close competition breeds impetuosity, and in our earnest pushing for trade it often happens that we mark goods away down just for the fun of

Seeing Them Sell

Somebody has exclaimed: "Oh, the impetuosity of the idiocy of the tumultuous idiot!" This remark will never apply to you if in your rush for bargains you get into the right store, which of course is ours.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!

Great Bargain Sale of FARM MACHINERY

AT

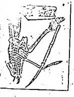
J. E. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mowers at $10 each and a full line of walking and breaking plows which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise.



PTERODACTYL

We print a likeness of the skeleton of this remarkable paleontological reptile because some of its physical characteristics are synonymous with our business methods. Perhaps the most striking similarity may be found in its

Little Finger and our Big Bargains

Its little finger is very large: and so are our bargains. The paradox of a little finger being big may be likened to the paradoxical inducements we offer you.

Profits and Hind Feet Small

Its hind feet are out of all proportion to its fore feet, just as our profit is overshadowed by the buyer's. Its large head represents the size of our stock. The many years that have elapsed since the time when this creature flourished will hint at the wearing quality of our goods.

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. M. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE

In Advance, $1.50

Not in Advance, $2.00 Per Year

Entered at the [illegible] as Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY May 22 1895

"THINK OF ME."

Think of me, dear!
When soft skies are beaming
Perfect and clear
[illegible] love's tender dreaming.

Think of me now,
When gloomy [illegible] hover
Gr[illegible] brow
[illegible] loved [illegible] ever.

But [illegible] the truth [illegible]
In glory [illegible]
If worst comes to worst,
I can live without you.
—Cleveland Plain Dealer

The Beginning of Tammany.

Tammany was the heir of the spirit of the Sons of Liberty of the Revolutionary war. It was kin in some of its purposes at least to those who were then beginning the revolution in France. It was enthusiastic in its support and approval of that revolution. Indeed a misty legend has been handed down from generation to generation in the Hall that the suggestion came from Jefferson himself, who, called from France to Washington's cabinet, was pained to see that aristocracy, English in its impulse and fostered by the Society of the Cincinnati, was rooting itself so early in our national life. To crush that impulse, at least to fetter it, Jefferson gave the hint, and Tammany with its tomahawk stood facing the Cincinnati and its sword.

William Mooney, an upholsterer, but, like many of the mechanics of that day, keenly interested in politics, suggested that there be brought together in an association those who dreaded the aristocracy, and who suspected that the purpose of Hamilton was to force the government into something like a limited monarchy. Mooney found a good many mechanics and merchants who thought as he did, and so a common purpose of the groping impulse rather than any cunning planning of one man for personal advancement, brought some of the ablest political and personal foes of Hamilton and Jay together; and with some mystery of oaths and ritual, the pipe of peace, the feathered headdress, even the painted face and leathern costume, with wampum for its ornament, these men were bound in one association—the Tammany society, or Columbian order.—E. J. Edwards in McClure's Magazine.

An Ingenious Watch Thief.

A rather ingenious theft of which a Parisian watchmaker has been the victim is worth describing in order that English watchmakers may be put on their guard against similar attempts. The watchmaker in question has a shop in the Rue de la Rochefoucauld, near the Eglise de la Trinite. While he was out on business a stranger came in. The watchmaker's wife was behind the counter. The stranger pretended to be very angry and told her that her husband had promised to repair his watch and let him have it back by a certain date, but had failed to do so. "There it is," said the man, pointing to a handsome gold chronometer. "I shall not leave it here any longer, but shall take it somewhere else." With this he took the watch and hurried out of the shop. When the watchmaker returned, his wife upbraided him for having kept the gentleman's watch so long. An explanation followed, however, and it became clear that the irate customer was simply a clever thief.—London News.

Negro Burial Societies.

The burial societies are numerous. It is the ambition of every colored man and woman to have a ceremonious funeral, and this is got by pooling their interests. The dues of the burial societies are much larger than those of the matrimonial associations, being usually $1, and when a member dies there is a fund of $50 or $100 to buy his casket and furnish flowers and carriages and pay the expenses of a band. It is usual to hold all funerals on Sunday, too, so as to secure a larger attendance.—Savannah Letter in Chicago Record.

Only an Emperor.

William II is not the only German emperor who has dabbled in music. The Emperor Charles VI was congratulated on his skill by the composer Fuchs, who said to him, "What a pity, sire, you are not a conductor!" To this Charles VI replied: "Well, it can't be helped. I am only an emperor and must make the best of it."

Frederick Barbarossa had, according to a contemporary historian, a beard that reached down to his knees. "A story longer than the king's beard" was a proverb of his time.

Russia was the "land of Russ," a Tartar tribe that established a footing in the northern part of Europe soon after the beginning of the Christian era.

The soldiers in the Assyrian army wore a sort of breeches reaching down to the knee.

In Corinth about the time of Christ 20 figs brought 2 cents.

Picot of Mirandola spoke well 22 different languages.

U. S. Land Office.

Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver, U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on June 8 1895 viz:

Simon E. Ahlberg of St. Hilaire Minn. Hd. no. 1269 for the S ½ NE ¼ and Lots 1 and 2 Sec. 1 Twp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of, said land, viz:

Carl Sundal, Anton Sandell, Albert Anderson, Tollef Ericksson, all of St. Hilaire Polk county Minn.

T. A. Dunlava, Register

HER AWFUL EXPERIENCE.

A Fair and Frigid Boston Creature Narrowly Escaped a Thaw.

"I had a dreadful experience at Music hall at the Stavenhagen matinee," said the serious young woman. "I don't know how to relate it."

"Try," said her aunt. And she went on in words something like these:

"Well, I was late at the Music hall. The first piece was half done, and I was hurrying in when a woman I didn't know and never saw stopped up to me and said, 'I beg your pardon.'"

"You don't mean to say she spoke to you without an introduction?"

"Yes," said the other woman, "just as if Boston Music hall was an Italian railway station or a Spanish picture gallery. Wasn't it shocking? Of course I paid no attention to her. Then the pushing thing said 'I beg your pardon' again more feebly and stood there grinning at me in a sort of would be amiable way. The thought flashed over me that perhaps she wanted me to buy a ticket for her. She had on a hat that looked as if it might be in its second winter at least."

"I should think you would have been afraid she was that burglar in disguise. I mean that Back Bay highwayman," interrupted the aunt.

"Boston is not 'Cranford.' Imaginary highwaymen in disguise are not a part of our literary traditions, dear aunt," returned the other woman firmly. "However, I turned to the box office after looking at her in a haughty Vere de Vere way that I thought would make her go instantly. But, no. When I bought my ticket, there she stood, with that feeble smile still wandering over her face. 'I beg your pardon,' she began for the third time."

"I should think you would have called for help," exclaimed her aunt. "The idea of one woman speaking to another woman like that in Boston! Why, anybody would think this was Paris, and we on the eve of the French revolution. What did you do?"

"Looked at her. But she did not know who I am, so she never quailed. She only said: 'I beg your pardon. I was going to offer you one of the best seats in the house free, as I have an extra one and the lady who was coming to join me at the door has evidently been kept at home by the weather.' Aunt, I came very near smiling! But I hope I kept my self control. As I passed on, though, I knew, by the way that woman was laughing to herself that she felt that I came very near—oh, shockingly near!—speaking to her and saying thank you without an introduction. But, thank heaven, I resisted the temptation."—Boston Transcript.

Famous Sapphires and Turquoises

The empress of Russia leads the world in sapphires, writes Alethe Lowber Craig in a most fascinating article on "Peerless Laces and Precious Gems" in The Ladies' Home Journal. The sapphire is one of the most interesting of gems and is excelled in value only by the diamond and ruby. The dark hued indigo stones are called "male sapphires," and the pale blue, approaching white, are called "female sapphires," but the most esteemed shade is the tint of the cornflower. The empress of Russia also possesses a famous collection of turquoises, although that of the Baroness Burdett-Coutts is reputed to be the finest in the world.

Turquoises of great beauty are becoming rarer and rarer. The affectionate nature of this stone adds to its interest. It is believed to change color and turn pale if the owner falls ill, and it loses its splendor altogether if worn by a lady with a cloudy complexion. However, these very sensitive turquoises may come from the Arabian mines, whose stones have not a good name among jewelers on account of their liability to fade.

Gem Bearing Plants.

The assistant director of Kew gardens, lecturing recently at the London institute on some curiosities of tropical plant life, said that among these were the pearls found occasionally in the cocoanut palm of the Philippine islands—pearls which, like those of the ocean, are composed of carbonate of lime. The bamboo, too, yields another precious product in the shape of true opals, which are found in its joints. In each case this mineral matter is of course obtained from the soil. The natives of the Celebes use these vegetable opals as amulets and charms against disease.

Cologne In Cookery.

The best eau de cologne is a great boon to the cook who knows how to use it. This perfumery contains a goodly amount of essence of thyme. It is an excellent addition to all salads and gives to any dish piquancy if care is taken that only a few drops are used.—New York World.

Incorrigible.

Little John, aged 4 1-2 years, had been naughty and told to pray that God might make him a good boy. "I do pray that every night, but it seems he can't do it."—Exchange.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred and ten dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Peter A. Ekstrom and Mary O. Ekstrom his wife mortgagors to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee bearing date the 20th day of November A. D. 1889, and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the [illegible] day of December A. D. 1889 at 1:30 o'clock [illegible] in book 43 of mortgages on Page 191 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south half of the north east quarter and the south east quarter of the north west quarter and the north east quarter of the south west quarter of Section 6 in Township one hundred and fifty-two of Range forty-four in Polk county and state of Minnesota with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 11th day of May A. D. 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 1st A. D. 1895.

Security Trust Co. of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.

R. J. Montague, attorney, Crookston Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of four hundred and sixty-six dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Oskar Svenson and Annie his wife, mortgagors to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee, bearing date the 29th day of October 1890 and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 10th day of November 1890 at 5 o'clock p. m. in book [illegible] of mortgages on page 89 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law, or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The North west quarter of section fifteen in Township one hundred and fifty three of Range forty-four, in Polk county and state of Minnesota with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 27th day of April 1895 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest and the taxes, if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated January 30th A. D. 1895.

Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.

R. J. Montague attorney Crookston Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.

Crookston Minn. April 4 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on May 21 1895 viz:

Alexander Samuelson H. D. no. 1281 for the S E ¼ N W ¼ and N E ¼ S W ¼, Sec. 21 Twp 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

John Hedlund, James A. Ortenquist, H. A. Johnson, John Albin all of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

U. S. Land Office

Crookston Minn. April 4 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on May 21 1895 viz:

James A. Ortenquist H. D. no. 1221 for the S E ¼ Sec. 35 Twp. 153 R. 42.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

John Hedlund, Alexander Samuelson, H. A. Johnson John Albin all of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

MORTGAGE SALE

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of nine hundred and thirty-two dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Ole P. Stokke and Tobine Stokke his wife mortgagors, to Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 3rd day of August 1889, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 7th day of August 1889, at 2:35 o'clock p. m. in Book 43 of mortgages on page 54 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty in Township one hundred and forty-nine of Range forty-seven in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 8th day of June 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated April 5th A. D 1895.

Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee

R. J. Montague, attorney. Crookston Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Eight hundred and sixty four dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Andrew J. Adams and Elsie his wife, mortgagors, to the Dakota Investment Company mortgagee, bearing date the 19th day of August 1883 and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 21st day of August 1883 at 3:25 o'clock p. m., in book [illegible] of mortgages on page 79 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty-two in township one hundred and fifty-one of range forty-seven in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 15th day of February 1895 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated December 1st A. D. 1894.

Dakota Investment Company mortgagee.

R. J. Montague, attorney. Crookston Minn

SPAFFORD S. M. BRAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO,

DEALERS IN

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath. Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always on hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

E. T. SPAFFORd & CO,

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE

HIGHEST MARKET PRICES

FOR

All Kinds of

CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. BRAINARD.

Manager.

Reserved For

THE

ST. HILAIRE

TOWNSITE

COMPANY

W. A. ARTHUR.

DEALER IN

FRUITS, CONFECTIONARY

TOBACCO AND CIGARS.

STATIONARY OF ALL KINDS

Lunch Counter

Warm meals at all hours.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

Barbershop in connection

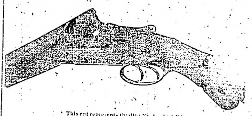
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun.

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200

BARRELS, $50.



This cut represents Quality No. 1 — list $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING. MATCHLESS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point.

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsman that we have not only the improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not, and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money but THE BEST G[illegible] SHOOTING GUNS.

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers, ITHACA, N. Y.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

Heavy and Shelf

HARDWARE

HEADQUARTERS FOR

HUNTER'S SUPPLIES

MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS

BINDING TWINE

Price [illegible] cents a pound.

NEW GOODS PRICES

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

THE

SPECTATOR

UNTIL JANUARY 1st FOR ONLY

25 CENTS.

THIS OFFER HOLDS GOOD FOR THIRTY DAYS.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.
·DR·
PRICE'S
CREAM
BAKING
POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Napoleon's Attention to Details.

In these times of a Napoleonic craze, when memoirs, books and articles abound in regard to the Imperial epoch, and bric-a-brac of those days are so much "a la mode," it is curious to have an evidence that Napoleon busied himself with small details of administration, even when he was in the midst of one of his greatest campaigns. M. Leblanc, an old French resident of New York, has in his possession a family relic bearing the signature of Napoleon, and dated from the Imperial headquarters at Dresden, June 14, 1813, some time before the famous "Battle of the Nations," at Leipsic. It is a passport granted to M. Leblanc's father, a publisher, and permitting him to embark in any "licensed" vessel staring from Morlaix, Caen or Havre. The signature consists of the single letters "Napl," written in a vertical rather than a horizontal line; as it is well known that at that epoch Napoleon had reached the third of the different ways he had successively adopted to sign his name. His signature was rather plain at first, then more confused, and finally quite hieroglyphic.—New York Tribune.

Those Congratulatory Letters.

Some one with a taste for figures has calculated that it would take Prince Bismarck, working eight hours a day with unflinching regularity, about eight months to read all the letters, postal cards and telegrams of birthday congratulations that have reached Friedrichsruh. If he tried to answer them all he would have to spend another year and a half over the job. Fortunately, he is an old man of too much common sense to attempt either to read or to answer one-thousandth part of the messages that have been sent him. The very great majority of the senders have the satisfaction of reflecting that their good wishes will serve to light a fire at Friedrichsruh any time during the next twelve months, but that is about all. If they think that the prince will ever even see their letters or telegrams they are making a great mistake. Thus does the fussiness of sentimental busybodies succeed only in defeating its own object.

Result of the Oil Trust.

"Maria," said Mr. Billus, as he put on his hat preparatory to starting down town, "I wish you would see that the kitchen girl does not use kerosene for making fires any more. We could replace the girl easily enough, but kerosene costs money now."—Chicago Tribune.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers, and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

"THE DAVIS"
DAVIS CREAM SEPARATORS
A Peerless Leader.
Successful. Meritorious
Pamphlet Mailed Free
AGENTS WANTED.
DAVIS & RANKIN BLDG. & MFG. CO.
Sole Manufacturers,
240-254 W. Lake St
Chicago, Ill.

The Poor Man's Chance
HOMES 100,000 ACRES CHOICE Hardwood farming lands situated along the line of a new railroad now being constructed in central Wisconsin, and near a through trunk line already constructed, for sale cheap to single purchasers or colonies. Special Inducements given to colonies. Long time and low interest. Send for full particulars to NORTHWESTERN LUMBER CO., EAU CLAIRE, WISCONSIN.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair.
Promotes a luxuriant growth.
Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color.
Cures scalp diseases & hair falling.
50c, and $1.00 at Druggists

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY.
Salary and expenses paid, or commission if preferred. Salesmen wanted everywhere. No experience needed. Address, stating age, W. L. McKAY & CO., Box 10, Geneva, N. Y.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR 25 CTS.
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

Renewing Their Youth.

A STRANGE STORY FROM A NEBRASKA VILLAGE.

The Villagers Excited Over the Increased Health and Vigor of the Older Inhabitants—The Experience of Two "Vets."

(From the World-Herald, Omaha, Neb.)

A World-Herald reporter was attracted by the evidence of renewed activity of some of the older inhabitants of the village of Florence, a suburb of Omaha, Neb., and inquired the cause. Mr. Andrew Finkenkeler, who was a member of Company B of the First Iowa Volunteers during the war, made the following explanation so far as he himself is concerned:

"In July, 1866, while my company was on the march through to Austin, Texas, I was attacked with rheumatism of the worst kind in one leg at Alexander, La. Being weak, I was sunstruck and remained unconscious for several hours. Every summer since I have been unable to stand the heat of the sun, and have been compelled to give up my work. There was in my head a bearing down feeling which increased until it seemed my head would burst, and it caused a ringing in my ears, and palpitation of the heart set in, so that the slightest noise would set my heart thumping. Several times it has rendered me unconscious for from seven to ten hours at a time. In addition to this the rheumatism extended up my entire side until it drew my head down on my shoulder. I lost my strength and flesh and was totally unfit for work.

"For twenty-eight years I have consulted physicians and taken their prescriptions without deriving any material benefit. My ailments increased in intensity until I was assured that there was no hope for me. During last year I went into the butcher business, but the dampness from the ice used increased my rheumatic pains to such an extent that I was not only compelled to quit the business, but was confined to my house and bed for nearly six months.

"I had given up all faith of being a well man again, when in November last I read in the World-Herald a case of a man who had been entirely cured from the ailments from which I was suffering, by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. On November 28, I purchased a box. In a week I was astonished to know that I felt better than I had for six months past, and before I had used half a box I was sure that I had found a cure for my ailments. The ringing in my ears began to lessen in volume, and finally left me. That was the first effect I experienced aside from an increased appetite. The pain from the rheumatism gradually left me, so that within one week from the time I took my first pill I was able to sit up in bed. On January 1st, I was able to go out and walk around a little. The palpitations of my heart entirely ceased. On February 9, I was so thoroughly cured that I accepted a position as night watchman in the Forest Lawn Cemetery, remaining out of doors from 6 p. m. until 6 a. m. I have gained in weight from 144 pounds, which I weighed in November last, to 172 pounds, which I weigh now."

Mr. R. W. Cowan, keeper of a general store at Florence, was also seen by the reporter. Mr. Cowan is also an old soldier, having been a member of the 144th Infantry, Company C, and later of Company M of the First Minnesota Cavalry. Mr. Cowan stated that he contracted chronic diarrhoea while he was in the army and has never until within the past few months, received any relief. He stated that he had taken the wonderful Pink Pills and was now almost thoroughly cured, so much so in fact that he has discontinued their use.

He was also paralyzed in the left side of his face, the mouth being drawn up at the left corner, and he was entirely unable to move the muscles of his forehead or to close his left eye. He states that he believes it is owing to the use of the Pink Pills that he has recovered the use of his left eyelid, which, prior to his taking the pills, had been fastened down by a physician so that the sight would not be destroyed from the eye filling with dust, and ascribes the recovery to the Pink Pills. He has gained fifteen pounds in weight since last October, and feels healthier and stronger than at any time since the war. He intends to recommence using the pills with the expectation of a complete recovery from the paralysis.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, all forms of weakness, chronic constipation, bearing down pains, etc., and in the case of men will give speedy relief and effect a permanent cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork, or excesses of whatever nature. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, (50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50—they are never sold in bulk or by the 100) by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

COMPASSES OLD AND NEW.

The Way of Making a Good One at a Very Trifling Expense.

The motion of a small craft in rough water causes the common compass card to jump about so much as to be perfectly useless to steer by, while a fluid compass remains steady and reliable under all circumstances and conditions.

There are several fluid compasses in the market at reasonable prices, which can be depended upon in an emergency. The fluid on which the needle floats is generally alcohol, to guard against freezing, and is simply a development of a primitive compass used by the daring seamen of the twelfth century. The old-fashioned instrument, says a writer in Outing, consisted of an iron needle, one end of which was stuck into a piece of cork. The other end was well rubbed with a load-stone, and when the cork floated in an earthen bowl of water, the end so treated pointed to the magnetic north. In spite of the meager knowledge of those early navigators concerning variation and deviation, they generally managed to make a sufficiently good land-fall. It may not be generally known that sewing needle rubbed on a magnet and carefully dropped into a vessel of water will float to the north.

Paid Him to Marry.

"A new light came into my life when I married you," remarked Higgins, who had quit using oil after his marriage to the daughter of the president of the gas works.—Yonkers Statesman.

WE GIVE AWAY
Absolutely free of cost, for a LIMITED TIME ONLY.

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, By R. V. Pierce, M. D., Chief Consulting Physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, a book of over 1,000 large pages and 300 colored and other illustrations, in strong paper covers to any one sending 21 cents in one-cent stamps for packing and postage only. Over 680,000 copies of this complete Family Doctor Book already sold in cloth binding at regular price of $1.50. Address: (with stamps and this Coupon) WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.
COUPON No. 111.

HE HAD OTHER CIGARS.

But the Car Driver Failed to Connect with Them.

A very prosperous looking business man, boarded the front platform of a cross-town car and drawing from his pocket, a well-filled cigar case, selected a choice looking Havana. The driver "sized up" the man and the cigar case, and his mouth began to water. The smoker, after biting off the end of the cigar, began fumbling for a match. Failing to find one he turned to the driver and asked him if he had a match.

"Yes, sir," responded the driver with alacrity; "here you are, sir."

"Thank you," said the business man, lighting his cigar and sending the fragrant smoke wafting across the driver's face.

"Very convenient to have matches around, sir. I allers make a point of carryin' 'em."

"Indeed?"

"Yes; so many gentlemen pull out a cigar, and then find they ain't got a match."

Puff, puff, and silence.

"I am quite a smoker myself. 'Course I can't smoke on the car, but then I enjoy it all the more when I get off."

"I suppose so," said the smoker, absent-mindedly.

"Many gentlemen makes a point of giving me a cigar, especially when they rides regular. I ain't had my after-dinner smoke yet."

"Oh," said the business-man in a preoccupied manner.

"Yes, sir; I allers carry matches; as I said before, 'cause when a gentleman has a cigar and no light, he allus seems so thankful for it. Generally gives me a cigar, too. Seems kinder fair to exchange a cigar for a match, for the weed ain't no good without a light."

"Ah," said the smoker, evidently busy in his mind with something connected with business.

The driver looked despairingly at him, and after clearing his throat, said:

"You don't happen to have another cigar in your pocket, do you, sir?"

"Certainly I have—two or three," said the business man testily. "But what has that to do with what you have been talking about?"

The rest of the journey was made in silence.—New York Tribune.

WOMEN AND WATERLOO!

What One Woman Remembered of the World Famous Battle.

"In my early days I knew a lady who happened to be in Brussels that memorable June," says Mrs. Newton Crossland. "She was then newly married, and only 23 years of age. So little certain of victory did the English on the spot feel, that her husband insisted on her dressing like a Normandy peasant, thinking such a costume would be a protection.

"Vividly have I heard her describe the partings she witnessed at the door of the hotel where she was staying, and the despair of wives who were left behind—wives soon to be widows.

"Very graphically, too, did she describe the next day's events, when women—many of whom, too agitated to change their attire, were still elegantly dressed—made their way somehow to the field of battle, returning in the army wagons, supporting the heads of the wounded on their knees, bathing their brows and binding up their wounds, while a steady rain poured down on the faces begrimmed by powder, which yet allowed their pallor to be seen.

"I once met at a dinner party the widow of an officer—I forget the name—who fought at Waterloo, and the lady narrated her experience of the 'after-battle' scene. For some reason she had to cross the field of Waterloo, which was still strewn with the dead, and for this purpose she was blindfolded and placed on horseback, the steed being led by a trooper.

"She held a handkerchief to her nose—steeped, I think she said, with vinegar—and not until she had reached an acclivity nearly a mile from the scene of carnage was the bandage removed from her eyes. Then she looked back. The field of Waterloo appeared like a field of tombstones, for the bodies were all stripped of clothing, and shone white in the sunshine like stones. The camp-following ghouls had done their work effectually."

Smart Women Not Pretty.

It was asserted the other day by a literary man that all clever women, at least women who have distinguished themselves above the common herd of their sisters, were plain-figured, unattractive, if not positively ugly. 'Tis true, and pity 'tis 'tis true, that almost all the great women of letters—Mme. De Stael, Mme. Sand, George Eliot, Charlotte Bronte, Mrs. Browning, and Miss Austin—were plain women.

Perfectly Satisfied.

Crack Boat Builder—Ah! How de do, Mr Richman? How did that row-boat I made you last summer suit? Mr. Richman—Perfectly. Crack Boat Builder—Ah! I'm glad to hear it. I always like to give satisfaction. Suited perfectly, eh? Mr. Richman—Yes. I left it in front of my boat-house all summer, and every scalawag who tried to steal it got upset or drowned.

A Paying Talent.

Mrs. Literati—My little son has the most remarkable powers of imagination I ever knew in one so young. He will surely be a writer, and a successful one. Western Guest—Successful? He kin jist roll in wealth. Quick es he's old enough, you take him out west and start him in real estate.

Too Bad.

Mr. De Style—Don't you think bamboo easels pretty? Mrs. De Style—Yes, they are so light and airy, and delicate, and so suggestive of nature in its pristine purity. I think they are lovely—but they're disgustingly cheap.—New York Weekly.

Lowest at Pike's Peak.

Sergt. O'Keefe, who spent five years in the observatory on Pike's peak, says that the lowest temperature observed was 50 degrees below zero; the highest 62 degrees above.

No part of the Atlantic Ocean between Europe and Newfoundland exceeds 2,460 fathoms.

IMMORATALITY OF JOKES.

Mark Twain Thinks Humor Is the Great Thing.

Well, humor is the great thing, the saving thing, after all. The moment it crops up all our hardnesses yield, all our irritations and resentments flit away, and a sunny spirit takes their place. I remember exploding its American counter mine once under that grand hero Napoleon. He was only first consul then and I was consul-general—for the United States, of course; but we were very intimate, notwithstanding the difference in rank, for I waived that. One day something offered the opening, and he said:

"Well, general, I suppose life can never get entirely dull to an American, because whenever he can't strike up any other way to put in his time, he can always get away with a few years trying to find out who his grandfather was!"

I fairly shouted, for I had never heard it sound better, and then I was back at him quick as a flash.

"Right, your excellency! But I reckon a Frenchman's got his little stand-by for a dull time, too; because when all other interests fail he can turn in and see if he can't find out who his father was!"

Well, you should have heard him just whoop and cackle and carry on! He reached up and hit me on the shoulder and says:

"Land, but its good! It's immensely good! I'George, I never heard it said so good in my life before! Say it again!"

So I said it again, and he said his again, and I said mine again, and he did, and then I did, and then he did, and we kept on doing it, and doing it, and I never had such a good time, and he said the same. In my opinion there isn't anything that is as killing as one of those dear, old ripe pensioners if you know how to snatch it out in a kind of a fresh sort of original way.—North American Review.

An Independent Barber.

Here is an entertaining story about a Frenchman who was too proud to do things which were against his principles. The story is vouched for as an actual fact by the man to whom the incident happened. While traveling in Europe he stopped over night at Caen, and noting that his hair was unduly long he went to have it cut by the local barber. He told the barber to take off very little, but before the scissors had been at work many seconds he noticed a favorite lock fall on to the calico jacket in which he had been arrayed. Whereupon he reproved the barber for not following his instructions, upon which the man observed, in mingled tones of reproach and ismay:

"Monsieur must permit me to do my work in the way which seems best to me; and what is more, I shall take off some more."

"Not at all," said the traveler; "I tell you I want very little taken off, and must insist upon your doing as I direct you."

The barber, however, was not to be put down in this way, and said:

"Monsieur, it is possible that this is how things may be done in England, but here in France we are not slaves. I shall cut off as much as I please."—Harper's Round Table.

The official food analyses, by the United States Government show the Royal to be a pure cream-of-tartar baking powder, the highest in strength, evolving 160.6 cubic inches of leavening gas per single ounce of powder. There were eight other brands of cream-of-tartar powders tested, and their average strength was less than 111 cubic inches of gas per ounce of powder.

The Largest Spider.

Ceylon is the home of the largest species of spider that has yet been made the subject of entomological investigation. This web-spinning monster lives in the most mountainous districts of that rugged island, and places his trap—not a gossamer snare of airy lightness, but a huge net of yellow silk from five to ten feet in diameter—across the chasms and fissures in the rocks. The supporting guys of this gigantic net, which is almost strong enough for a hammock, are from five to twenty feet in length, as conditions may require, and made of a series of twisted webs, the whole being of the diameter of a lead pencil. The gigantic silken trap is not set for mosquitoes, flies and pestiferous gnats, but for birds, gaudy moths and elegantly painted butterflies, some of the latter, having a spread of wing equal to that of a robin or blue jay. Some extra fine skeletons of small birds, lizards and snakes have been found in these webs. The spider's body is four and a half inches in width and six in length.—Orphan's Bouquet.

The Dog Helped.

A well known artist who lives up town tells the following story of a dog and a cat who are members of his household.

The two grew up together and have always been the greatest chums.

A short time ago the cat presented the family with a number of kittens and the dog evinced the liveliest interest in the new arrivals.

Several days ago, after the manner peculiar to cats, the mother took it into her head to move her family.

One by one she tenderly carried the kittens to their new home, the dog trotting by her side, his eyes wide open with wonder.

Finally the last kitten was reached. Mrs. Pussy took it in her mouth and was about to start off with it when Mr. Dog was suddenly seized with the idea that he was lacking in gallantry.

Carefully noting the manner in which the cat carried her offspring, he seized the mother by the back of the neck in the same manner, and the strange-looking trio made the trip to the new quarters in safety.—Philadelphia Record.

In baking powders it is safer to use the Royal only, an article that many years' experience has proved most efficient, and which has been officially demonstrated pure and wholesome.

To Smoking Boys.

A genial professor once remarked to his students: "Smoke away, gentlemen; it does not annoy me in the least. I look on tobacco in the same light as on hay. I don't eat it myself, but I like to see others enjoy it." There is a neatly-veiled hint behind the professor's seemingly affable observation that in his opinion the youths were merely making beasts of themselves by indulging in this seductive habit.—Chamber's Journal.

OLDEST MAN IN THE WORLD.

Noah Raby Believed to Be One Hundred and Twenty-three Years Old.

Is Noah Raby of the Piscataway Poor Farm, New Jersey, the oldest man in the world? If the story of his life which he tells be true he has passed his 123d birthday. It was about eighty-three years ago, according to his recollection, that Noah Raby, ordinary seaman, received his discharge papers from the stanch frigate Brandywine, which had just finished a cruise of inspection of the various ports of the United States, and was then docked at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. The day after he left the naval service he betook himself to New Jersey, where he joined himself to a farmer and for money agreed to serve as a hired man. Since that time he has never stepped outside the boundaries of New Jersey. For more than half a century with more or less steadiness, he followed the occupation he had chosen, and then, twenty-eight years ago, being full of years and decidedly averse to earning his own living any longer, he settled down at the poor farm in the township of Piscataway, not far from New Brunswick, and there he has since remained. To-day he is totally blind, but his eyes, though sunken, have the sparkle of one who can see perfectly. His body is bent and his shoulders are contracted, but the muscles of his arms and legs are firmer than those of many a man not yet thirty. His jaws are toothless, and his words are uttered with a whistling accompaniment but his voice is strong and full, and his laugh is as hearty as it was a century and more ago. His long hair is white, but thick and luxuriant; his whiskers are iron gray, his heavy bushy eyebrows are still almost jet black, and he can dispose of a solid drink of good rye whisky with a sort of smack that betokens the heartiest relish. Though he believes his father to have been an Indian, his skin is white and his features are of a pronounced Caucasian type.—New York Herald.

Noah Raby.

ARM-PROPELLER BICYCLES.

Philadelphia's Novel Contrivance—No Pedals Used on the Machine.

Harry A. Given, a Western Union telegraph operator, has drafted and built a hand-power tricycle that he uses daily in going and returning from his daily duties. The machine is really not a decided novelty, but is here illustrated, for the purpose of setting forth the mechanical qualities embodied in its construction. It is 36 inches in width, weighs fifty-two pounds, 48-inch wheel base. The wheels are 5 inches in diameter and are fitted with cushion tires. Propulsion and steering are entirely effected by the arms of the rider. The driving power is supplied through the medium of a chain running from a sprocket attached to the steering head to another sprocket wheel located on the front wheel axle. The head sprocket has a pair of cranks with handles attached thereto, which are manipulated by the rider's arms, the peculiar feature being that the steering is not in any way interfered with during the process of propulsion.

A Simple and Convenient Copying Press.

Even people who are strangers to the world of business occasionally have need to keep an authentic copy of a certain letter; but the ordinary copying press, with a screw, is an elaborate installation—a commercial device before which the most determined people recoil. There is a new, very portable press, made simply from two metallic plate, thin and flexible. One inserts between them the letter to be copied and a damp sheet of copying paper, and bends them so as to give them a semi-cylindrical form, by resting one of their edges on a table. The pressure of the flexure is sufficient to make the impressions, and when it is relaxed the two plates become flat again, and are ready to serve for a new operation.

Canine Labor in Belgium.

In this country the dog is really, in nine cases out of ten, the master of the man. In Belgium, however, his status is very different. One of the first things that impresses the stranger in Brussels is the immense number of dogs employed in drawing barrows and small carts about the streets. In the capital alone over 10,000 dogs are so engaged, and the number of draught dogs in the whole country is probably not less than 50,000. Generations of servitude have made the Belgium dog a race apart. For his size he is said to possess the greatest pulling power of any animal, four times his own weight being considered a load well within his power. Taking his average weight as half a hundred weight, this means that something like 5,000 tons are daily dragged about by canine labor in Belgium.

Often the Case.

Customer—Catchem & Cheatem are announcing another big drop in prices.

Merchant—Well, there is plenty of room for their prices to drop.—New York Weekly.

Women Only Know

How much they suffer when nervous, weak and tired.

Nervous prostration is a lingering, racking, living death to those afflicted, though wholly incomprehensible to others. The cause of this condition is impure and insufficient Blood.

Make the blood pure, give it vitality and it will properly feed the nerves and make them strong. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures nervousness because it acts directly upon the blood, making it rich and pure and endowing it with vitality and strength-giving power. No other medicine has such a record of cures. Thousands write that they suffered intensely with nervousness and were cured by this great medicine. The building-up powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla are wonderful. Even a few doses are sufficient to create an appetite, and from that time on its healing, purifying, strengthening effects are plainly felt. The nerves become stronger, the sleep becomes natural and refreshing, the hands and limbs become steady, and soon "life seems to go on without effort," and perfect health is restored. Such is the work which Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing for hundreds of women today.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Makes Pure Blood.

KING LOBENGULA'S HOUSE.

Old Home of the Matabele Chief Now a Deserted Ruin.

Of Lobengula's house nothing but a low heap of bricks remains. It is very pathetic to see the great deserted kraal, once so popular and now tenanted only by a few screaming plovers flying round and round over it. One or two miserable-looking blacks were squatted among the ashes grubbing for a few glass beads. Far away—the only thing that breaks the monotony of the horizon—you see Thabas Induna, the hill where Lobengula won his first victory. In spite of all his cruelties one cannot help being rather sorry for the old king. I think that feeling is held by most of the people engaged in the war.

The Matabili seem absolutely quiet, and have no sense of the ignominy of defeat. But their insolence before the war is almost beyond belief, says the National Review. They would enter an Englishman's wagon unbidden, pull the book he was reading out of his hand and throw it on the floor again and again, spit into his water bottle, snatch off his hat, and if he tried to recover it chuck a knobkerrie (club or knotted stick) under his chin so as almost shatter his teeth. These insults had to be borne in silence, as resistance would only have ended in murder by overwhelming numbers. But the forbearance and self-restraint of the white men when their turn came seems to have been marvelous after such provocation.

Milestones on the Road

That lead to health are marked in the memory of those who, at regular stages and persistently, have been conveyed thither by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a potent auxiliary of nature in her efforts to throw off the yoke of disease. Malarial, kidney, rheumatic and bilious trouble, constipation and nervousness take their departure when this benignant medicine is resorted to for their eradication.

Time and Space.

Hurrying Stranger (in Squeehawket)—Is there time to catch the train?

Languid Native. Waal, stranger, ye've got time enough, I reckon, but I'm dead sure ye tain't got the speed!—Harper's Bazar.

HALL'S CATARRH CURE is a liquid and is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Write for testimonials, free. Manufactured by F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Rough on Himself.

Invalid—Doctor, I should not fear death, but I am so afraid of being buried alive.

Physician—You need have no fear of that, with me attending you.—New York Weekly.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. The original and only genuine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Cold Sores, &c. C. G. Clark Co., N. Haven, Ct.

Never Know When We Are Safe.

Stills—What was Bixby arrested for?

Allison—Bigamy. Married the two-faced woman in a freak show.

Stills—Waow! Guess I'll skip the country. My wife has been two-faced for over twenty years, and I never knew I stood in danger.—New York Herald.

Hard Pressed.

Husband—These millinery and mantua maker bills are outrageous! Are you trying to outdress Mrs. Astorbilt?

Wife—No, my dear; I am simply endeavoring to be a little better dressed than my servants.—New York Weekly.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth
Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

A New Sort.

Chicago Man (at New York hotel)—Waiter, what's this?

Waiter—That's watah, sah.

Chicago Man—Huh! Funny looking water! Where are the microbes?—New York Weekly.

After physicians had given me up, I was saved by Piso's Cure.—Ralph Erieg, Williamsport, Pa., Nov. 22, 1893.

Variety.

Philadelphia Man (with affected dis- Miss Caustic—I must be deply in you?

Brooklyn Man—Only in winter. In summer I go to my country house in Philadelphia.—New York Weekly.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."
Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

A Great Lawyer's Carelessness.

Great Criminal Lawyer—I worked very hard to get you off, but I failed.

Convicted Murderer (hotly)—You might 'a' known you would. Three of them men you let on that jury was respectable.—New York Weekly.

Mothers who have used Parker's Ginger tonic for years insist that it benefits more than other medicines; every form of distress and weakness yield to it

The sting of a bee, when compared with the point of a fine needle, under a powerful microscope, is hardly discernible. The point of the needle appears to be about an inch in diameter.

Hindercorns is a simple remedy, but it takes out the corns, and what a consolation it is! Makes walking a pleasure. 15c at druggists.

She Would.

Prospective Pere—What have you to recommend you as a son-in-law?

Young Man—Well, your daughter, for one thing.

Comely Middle-Age.

A friend whose years are verging on the half century says that never in her remembrance have middle-aged women, as a rule, looked so well got up and altogether comely as they do now. Either from a more rational method of treating the hair or because the present ways of dressing it are favorable to its growth, the abundance of gray and white locks is remarkable; and, although the masses of coils and curly fringes may sometimes owe a little to art, in numbers of cases the thickness of the unmistakably natural growth amply justifies the harmless addition. Then, too, the increasing independence of feminine life and the interest felt by most women in sensible occupations and subjects, have swept away forever that absurd appearance of age, without self-reliance or freedom which used to distinguish the elderly spinster, entirely nullifying such attractions as she might still possess.

Tobacco Destroys Vitality.
Nervous system paralyzed by nicotine means lost manhood, weak eyes, and a general all-gone look and feeling that robs life of its pleasure. Tobacco is the root of many an impotent symptom, and No-To-Bac a guaranteed cure that will make you strong, vigorous and happy in more ways than one. No-To-Bac guaranteed and sold by Druggists everywhere. Book, titled "Don't Tobacco Spit or Smoke Your Life Away." Address Sterling Remedy Co., New York or Chicago.

At the towel counters in the large shops are now sold scrub cloths of loosely-woven hemp, excellent for mattings and oilcloths. Cotton dust cloths of yellow cotton flannel are also purchasable nowadays. These are better even than the much-valued chamois skin, which they considerably resemble. An admirable dust cloth is one of the large gray squares of bandanna cloth, which a few of the largest shops keep for occasional purchase by a dusky "aunty" or "marm" who still uses the plantation headdress.

An excellent soup may be made with the bones of a roast by adding a cup of boiled rice and plenty of seasoning.

If a last spring hat saw a little wear and can be made into a smart shape (which is easy to do, considering how every low-crowned shape is worn), then fix it over. Wipe the straw off thoroughly with a damp cloth dipped in kerosene, noticing carefully that each particle of dust is removed. Place another damp cloth over it and press it lightly with a hot iron.

★ HIGHEST AWARD ★
WORLD'S FAIR.
IMPERIAL GRANUM
IS
★ THE BEST ★ PREPARED
FOOD
SOLD EVERYWHERE.
JOHN CARLE & SONS, New York.

The Saint Paul and Duluth Railroad Company owns over 1,000,000 acres of
CHOICE FARMING LANDS
And Lands suitable for Market Gardening, Dairying, Stock Raising, &c. The Saint Paul and Duluth country and its lands are described and illustrated in maps and pamphlets that are
GIVEN AWAY
To every applicant who will send his name and address to the undersigned. These lands are located in Northeastern Minnesota, and are all accessible to St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Superior and West Superior, the best markets in the Northwest. The Company offers these lands
TO ACTUAL SETTLERS
At low prices, on long time and on easy terms. Over 5,000 acres of land sold along the road this month.
FREE Maps and descriptive circulars will be mailed to anyone applying for same to
HOPEWELL CLARKE,
Land Commissioner, St. P. & D. R. R.
St. Paul, Minn.

Catarrh caused hoarseness and difficulty in speaking. I also to a great extent lost hearing. By the use of Ely's Cream Balm dropping of mucus has ceased, voice and hearing have greatly improved.—J. W. Davidson, Att'y at Law, Monmouth Ill.
CATARRH
ELY'S CREAM BALM opens and cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Heals the Sores, protects the Membrane from Colds, Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. The Balm is quickly absorbed and gives relief at once.
A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable. Price 50 cents at Druggists or by mail.
ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York.

Wire Nails. $1.00 Per Keg
Cement Coated.
Jack Screws. Used on one Job.
W. K. MORISON & CO., Hardware.
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

	Rates. Reg. Pr.	Snap Pr.
1x12	$2.00	$1.00
2½x12	$3.00	$1.20

For Sprains and Bruises and all Painful Accidents,
St. Jacobs Oil in ALL KINDS OF SPORTS
Is the professional's first choice of a remedy always.

Minn Hist Soc

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

St. Hilaire THE Spectator.

VOLUME XIV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 29, 1895. NUMBER 43.

AROUND THE GLOBE

DIGEST OF THE NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

All Important Occurrences of the Past Week, Boiled Down and Arranged for Rapid Reading, From Home and Abroad.

From the Nation's Capital.

President Cleveland reprimands Admiral Meade and retires him.

Justice Jackson will probably soon retire from the bench of the national supreme court.

The state department is officially informed of the withdrawal of Minister Thurston.

The Yorktown and Concord have sailed from Che Foo, China, to Nagasaki, Japan.

President Cleveland is said to have given it out that there will be neither another bond issue nor an extra session.

Civil service examinations for clerks, storekeepers and gaugers will be held in sixty-three of the principal cities and towns the latter part of June.

Lieut. Col. John J. Rogers, Second artillery, has been ordered from the department of California to the department of the East. Maj. J. M. J. Sanno has been assigned to the department of Dakota.

Clerks in the engineering bureau of the war department at Washington left their desks to watch a circus parade. They were greatly astonished to learn next day that the time they were idle had been deducted from their two weeks' leave of absence.

Personal Mention.

Thomas Peeler died at Anna, Ill. He was prominent in railway circles.

John Wilmeroth, one of the early settlers of La Salle county, and one of the founders of Mendota, Ill., is dead.

Ex-Sheriff John L. Gorman of New York, who was stricken with paralysis, is dead at the age of sixty-seven years.

A Detroit millionaire has declined to serve on Mayor Pingree's agricultural commission, saying "unostentatious seclusion and obscurity has been his heaven and earth."

The nephews and nieces of Mrs. Emily House, who recently died in Kalamazoo, Mich., leaving $10,000 to charitable institutions, have objected to the probation of the will.

John Chitterdon and two sisters of Strawn, Ill., have been notified that they are sole heirs to an estate of $150,000 left by Mrs. Anderson, an aunt in New York city.

Dr. Rush was the only physician who signed the declaration of independence. Eleven yars ago a fund to erect a monument to his memory was started in Washington.

Jay Smith, one of the most prominent citizens of Saginaw, Mich., and head of the drug house of Jay Smith & Son, dropped dead on his farm of heart disease. He was seventy-three years old.

Henry A. Dupont, the new United States senator from Delaware, will, if he gets his seat, add one more to the number of millionaires in that body, and will be the first really rich man to sit for Delaware.

George Latimer, whose rescue from slavery in 1842 created considerable excitement, is now very old and in destitute circumstances at Lynn, Mass., and the people of Boston are raising a fund for his relief.

M. Eugene de Robespierre, grand nephew of the famous revolutionist, was summoned before a Paris tribunal a few days ago, charged with selling coal under weight, de Robespierre being a coal merchant. He was acquitted.

Mrs. Lucy Evans of Independence, Mo., is 112 years of age, and no affidavits are necessary to prove it. Her father was a captain in the American army under Gen. Washington, her husband fought the British in the War of 1812, and her grandson fought in the contests between the states in the 60s.

Unfortunate Events.

The town of Augelyen, N. Y., was partially destroyed by fire.

Two men were killed in a mine at Butte.

In a game of ball at English, Ind., Harry Weil was struck on the head with the ball, crushing his skull.

James Smithson and two unknown men lost their lives in a boarding house fire at Gate City, Ala.

Boos' meat block factory at Effingham, Ill, was destroyed. Loss, $10,000.

Paul Smith, a contractor, was burned to death trying to manage a brush fire at Decatur, Ill.

At Detroit, Mich., the Imperial Tea company building and contents were destroyed by fire. Loss, $18,000; insurance, $9,000.

A cyclone struck near Luling, Tex., unroofing several houses and killing a small negro boy. Crops in the track of the storm were blown out of the ground.

Charles, Andrew and Robert Smith, brothers at work in a coal mine in Winfield, W. Va., were caught under a fall of slate. Charles and Andrew were instantly killed and Robert died a short time afterward.

Criminal Doings.

Jealous ruffians killed Moses Latta at his sweetheart's gate in Vincennes, Ind.

Charles Litterell committed suicide by shooting at Mexico, Mo. He left a note saying he was tired of life.

Amos Poole, a wealthy fruit grower of Cobden, Ill., killed himself while in a despondent mood.

Nellie Pope is on trial at Detroit, charged with the murder of her husband.

James McDonough killed one man and wounded three in an Aspen (Col.) saloon.

J. P. Foley, a traveling salesman, was found dead in bed, a revolver in his hand and a bullet in his brain, in a Cincinnati hotel.

Engineer Wasson of a north-bound Illinois Central freight train picked up a young girl baby from the track near Dixon, Ill. The mother of the abandoned baby is supposed to be Laura Stonler. She will be arrested.

Dr. R. W. Stout, a prominent physician at Veedersburg, Ind., was accused of intimacy with the wife of Charles Williams. The men met and both began shooting. Stout will die, but Williams may recover.

Mrs. Emaline Casterline of Hartford City, Ind., wife of the ex-county surveyor, threw herself in an ice pond while temporarily insane. She was discovered by a farmer and resuscitated, but will probably die.

Timothy McCarthy, aged 22 years, of Logansport, Ind., committed suicide. He attended a game of base ball in the afternoon and seemed in good spirits. His mind was deranged by a sunstroke four years ago and he was confined at Long Cliff insane hospital for a time.

Two murders were the result of a theft at Menard, Ill. City Marshal Ragsdale attempted to arrest a man named Lancaster for stealing a skiff, and was killed. A posse, composed mainly of ignorant negroes, set out in pursuit, and succeeded in killing Mrs. Lancaster. The boat thief was captured later many miles down the river.

Against the advice of her brothers Sallie Dains of Middleboro, Ky., eloped with Henry Cooley. Marshall Cooley, a brother of the groom, met them and warned them that the Dains were in pursuit. While they were conferring the Dains rode up and there was a pitched battle, in which Marshall Cooley and George Dains were killed.

Foreign.

Rumor is hard at work getting Premier Rosebery out of office.

China can only boast a national debt of $50,000,000.

One hundred and sixty-eight people were drowned by the sinking of the Spanish steamer Gravina recently.

Joseph Marti, who was proclaimed president of the Cuban revolutionists, is killed in battle.

In Coatepre Castles, state of Guerrero, Mex., fire destroyed sixty-two houses.

The lieutenant governor and six officials were killed at Kuchen, Turkey, during disturbances because of premature collection of taxes.

F. C. Burnard's "Happy Thoughts" has been translated into French. The best the translator could do with the title was "Ingenieuses Pensees."

China's emperor gets up at 4 o'clock to study English and Manchu before breakfast, which is at 5. He makes up for it by going to bed at sundown.

Minister Mariscal of Mexico will appoint an arbitrator to represent Mexico in the Mexico-Guatemala settlement.

It is said that the names of the five Kurds who murdered Frank G. Lenz, the Pittsburg bicyclist, in Armenia, are known.

The Spanish newspapers attach considerable importance to the fact that the insurgent leader, Jose Marti, who is described as the life and soul of the rebellion, is dead.

On board the Atlas line steamer Ailsa, which arrived in New York this morning from Port Limon, was Gen. De Vasquez, ex-president of the republic of Honduras.

Capt. Trench of the warship Royal Arthur, who was made military governor of Corinto when the British seized that port, succumbed to an attack of gastric fever, shortly after the ship started on the homeward voyage and was buried at sea.

Otherwise.

Two big claims against the Stanford estate have been compromised.

The American Cigarette company is negotiating to secure control of the Canadian market.

Stevens & Co., large cotton dealers, assigned at New York. Liabilities estimated at $125,000.

State University Regent Rogers of Kansas has been found guilty of drunkenness and has been dismissed.

T. J. Colver died at Richmond, Va. An operation was being performed and a relative says an artery was cut, but this the physician denies.

A Paris firm has commenced suit against the Carnegie company at Pittsburg, claiming an infringement of patent.

The Michigan house passed by a vote of 75 to 17 and gave immediate effect to the Waite "anti-treating" bill.

It has been definitely decided to extend the Mexican Central railroad from Guadalajara westward to the Pacific coast.

An organization embracing skilled employes of the large steel plants in the Pittsburg district is said to have secretly formed within the past few weeks to secure an advanced and uniform rate of wages.

The body of Con Foley, a Bald Mountain (Black Hills) prospector, who has been missing for ten days, was found last night a mile from his cabin. He was an old-timer, about fifty years of age, and much addicted to intoxicants.

A scene, believed to be without a parallel, was enacted at Anderson, Ind. A judge of the circuit court, attended by a court stenographer, took down the statements of a dying woman who had been placed under the influence of hypnotism.

At Galesburg, Ill., the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen listened to speeches from Grand Master Sargent and Grand Secretary F. W. Arnold of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, urging a federation of railroad labor organizations.

Della Harding, aged eighteen, was brought home to Elgin, Ill., from the Evanston school for girls early in April. Since then she has passed much of her time asleep, and it is with difficulty she can be roused. Her father ascribes her condition to the cold baths given at the institution.

Capt. Pope, commandant of the military prison at Leavenworth, Kan., has been offered the wardenship of the institution when it is turned into a penitentiary, but has declined in favor of Maj. McClaughry, ex-warden of Joliet prison and ex-chief of police of Chicago.

SHOT HIS SISTERS.

SINGULAR AND FATAL ACCIDENT IN TENNESSEE.

A Young Man Accidentally Dis- Had Been Killed Are Boiled in a Kettle and Their Friends Are Compelled to Eat the Meat.

Nashville, Tenn., May 28.—News has reached this city of a frightful tragedy which occurred near Chestnut Mount as a result of which two young daughters of Sam McKinney are dead, while his baby is slightly wounded. Mr. McKinney had been out on his farm with a Winchester rifle, and, approaching the house, handed the gun to his twenty-three-year-old son Henry, requesting him to take it into the house. Approaching the front door, Henry decided to unload the gun, and thinking he had removed all the loads he let the hammer fall, only to hear a report and feel the gun recoil. Through the door the bullet sped and through the bodies of the two sisters who were close together just inside the door. The elder was eight years old and the other a few years younger. Both were instantly killed, while a nine months'-old infant was slightly wounded.

Chicago, May 28.—A South Chicago electric car, drawing a trailer, crashed into a wagon containing five persons last night. The wagon was demolished, one woman was killed, another woman probably fatally wounded and a third slightly injured; and two young men also hurt. The killed and injured are Franceska Ruzewicki, aged 58, widow, instantly killed; Marina Wiska, 59, widow, hurt internally, may die; Agnes Ruzewicki, 25, not serious; Thomas Ruzewicki, body bruises; Stanislaus Posneziuski, slightly bruised.

Onsted, Mich., May 28. — William Doolittle, a married man, and Bert Salsbury and Mina Patterson, both single, while fishing yesterday afternoon on Maharre's lake, fell overboard and were drowned. No one else was present to tell how the accident occurred. The bodies were found in twenty feet of water near where the boat was anchored.

PARK COMMISSIONER.

A. A. Whitney Is Appointed Superintendent of Itasca Park.

St. Paul, May 28.—Gov. Clough has appointed A. A. Whitney of Sauk Center as commissioner of the Itasca state park. The Itasca state park and the office of commissioner of the park was created by the last legislature. The park comprises the greater portion of Itasca county, including the source of the Mississippi river, Lake Itasca. Mr. Whitney is an old soldier who fought through the civil war. He is a real estate dealer and lived in Melrose prior to removing to Sauk Center. He was highly recommended for the position by the leading Republicans of the district.

Pure baking powders are one of the chief aids to the cook in preparing perfect and wholesome food. While those are to be obtained of well-established reputation, like the Royal, of whose purity there has never been a question, it is proper to avoid all others.

MONEY IN NEW YORK BANKS.

It Increases Faster Than It Can Be Loaned.

New York, May 28.—The Financier says: It is evident that the banks of New York are accumulating money faster than they can loan it out. The bank statement for the week ending May 25 shows a further increase of $2,378,250 in the reserve, which is now nearly $40,000,000. The increase of $4,795,600 in loans is a favorable indication of increasing business, but the rate for funds is so low that it is possible that New York is doing a large share of business usually transacted at other places. Loans have expanded since April 1 $18,000,000, but deposits in the same time have increased $57,500,000, and the excess reserve is $27,000,000 larger.

Grand Forks Selected.

St. Paul, May 28.—The commercial travelers selected Grand Forks as the next meeting place, and the date May 23 and 24. The closing business was the election of the officers of the grand council of Minnesota and Dakota, and the slate as made went through without opposition. The officers elected are as follows: C. W. Rice, past grand counselor; James F. Jordan, Minneapolis, grand counselor; Jerry Palmer, Grand Forks, grand junior counselor; Lew W. Irvine, St. Paul, grand secretary; H. G. Mooney, Duluth, grand treasurer; P. C. Crenshaw, Fargo, grand conductor; C. H. Dixon, Minneapolis, grand page; Mr. Miller, Winona, grand sentinel; H. D. Morton and C. W. Rice, on the executive committee.

An Imposter Dead.

Cincinnati, May 28.—Mrs. Hannah Martin, the divorced wife of J. B. Martin, was buried so quietly to-day that the knowledge of the fact was only obtained from the health office. Several years ago she got a national reputation by announcing that she was Jesus Christ. She had quite a following who clung to her till the last. Her death, which occurred last Thursday, was kept secret, and very few knew where she was buried.

Armour Improving.

New York, May 28.—Charles W. Armour, nephew of P. D. Armour of Chicago, who is lying seriously ill at the Windsor hotel, is said to be improving.

Prof. Chamberlain Dead.

Belfast, May 28.—Prof. Chamberlain, for thirty years chariman of theology of the reformed Presbyterian synod, is dead.

Tristate Fair.

Sioux City, Iowa, May 28.—The Tristate Fair association here has resolved to hold a fair from Sept. 23 to Oct. 5, 1895, and to give a race meeting on the grounds the last week in June. Only running races will be held.

Died of Apoplexy.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 28.—J. E. Lavaya, one of the old settlers of this county and father of Mrs. J. G. Hamilton of this city, died suddenly of apoplexy. He was seventy-five years of age.

AGAINST M'KINLEY.

A Little Fight Develops Among Ohio Republicans.

Zanesville, Ohio, May 28.—The state Republican convention which meets here this week is preceded by the candidates and workers, who are here to-day. Ex-Secretary Charles F. Foster was among the hustlers to-day. Senator Sherman will be here to-night. There are a dozen candidates for governor, the favorites being Gen. Asa A. Bushnell, Judge Nash and James H. Hoyt. The delegation from Cincinnati had Bushnell for governor, the one from Cleveland had Hoyt for governor. All were alike in hoisting McKinley's banner for president and Foraker for senator. The Toledo delegation had their cars decorated with the inscription "McKinley for president, Foraker for senator and Guy Major for governor."

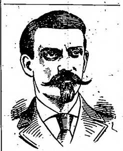
To-day factional feeling was intensified among the advance guard here by hearing that McKinley's name had been torn from the banners on the special cars at Toledo, on the order of Mayor Guy Major. The friends of Major here say that Gov. McKinley's friends got up a delegation to contest the seats of the Major delegation and that McKinley's name was torn down because of this action. They announced that they will begin the fight at this convention against McKinley for president by opposing a resolution indorsing the governor for president, and starting a movement to get anti-McKinley delegates.

The State Chemist of Wisconsin, Prof. Geo. S. Cox, says the Royal is the superior baking powder in regard to purity, leavening power and keeping qualities.

DUPONT IS CONFIDENT.

He Thinks That He Will Be Seated as United States Senator.

Dover, Del., May 28.—Henry A. Dupont of Delaware, who, after a most exciting contest has been elected to the United States senate by the Republicans, in an interview to-day, said that he as confident that he would be seated. Mr. Dupont is fifty-nine years of age. He attended the University of Pennsylvania, and was subsequently appointed to the United States military academy at West Point, graduating in 1861. He entered the Fifth United States artillery and served through the war. In 1874 he was married to Miss Pauline Foster of New York city. He is president of the Wilmington & Northern Railroad company. Col. Dupont was a candidate for presidential elector in 1892. He has never held office, and is an exemplary private citizen.



Henry A. Dupont.

GOVERNOR IN TROUBLE.

Charges of Malfeasance Against Arizona's Chief Executive.

Phoenix, Ariz., May 28—It developed to-day that Judge Joel T. Olive and C. A. Duncan, agents of the interior department, are here, to investigate charges made against Gov. Hughes some time ago by the legislative committee of the territorial Democratic central committee. Mr. B. A. Fickas, chairman of the central committee, appeared before the department agents and Gov. Hughes and made a sworn statement reiterating the charges of malfeasance, nonfeasance and disloyalty to the Democratic party made by the executive committee. Mr. Fickas' arraignment of the governor is said to have been calm and dispassionate, yet terrific. Gov. Hughes was given an opportunity to make a statement in his own behalf. The matter was postponed for further hearing.

OSCAR WILDE FOUND GUILTY.

Two Years' Imprisonment at Hard Labor.

London, May 28—Oscar Wilde's trial having reached its final stage, the Old Bailey court room was filled with interested spectators almost as soon as the doors were opened to-day. Sir Frank Lockwood, the solicitor general resumed his address to the jury. The prisoner's intimacy with Lord Alfred Douglas and the exhibition of the younger man by the older one at hotels and public places in and about London were severely commented upon by counsel. Justice Wills began summing up, and the general tenor of his address to the jury was favorable to Wilde. The jury, after being absent two hours, returned a verdict of guilty against the defendant. Wilde was sentenced to two years' imprisonment at hard labor. Alfred Taylor was also sentenced to two years' imprisonment at hard labor.

War Advocated.

London, May 28.—Rev. Joseph D. Parker, D. D., in a sermon preached in the temple yesterday, advocated a war for the redress of Armenian wrongs if necessary.

Central American Union.

Washington, May 28.—New treaties of far-reaching importance have recently been made between Nicaragua and Honduras, and official copies have just been received at Washington. The treaties have been under negotiation for some time and were finally put into effect by proclamation on the 15th of last month. They are the first practical step toward the formation of a Central American nation out of the several small republics, Nicaragua, Honduras, Guatemala, Salvador and Costa Rica.

FED HUMAN FLESH.

AN AWFUL STORY OF TURKISH CRUELTY IN ARMENIA.

The Bodies of Several People Who charges a Rifle and the Bullet Strikes His Two Sisters, Killing Them Instantly, and Wounding a Baby.

(Copyrighted, 1895, by the Associated Press. From the special correspondent of the Associated Press in Armenia.)

Kars, Russia, April 20.—During the past three weeks I have had unusual opportunity for obtaining additional confirmation of the facts contained in my announcement of the impending uprising of the Armenians in Turkey next month. I have traveled many miles up and down and across the border in search of certain facts, and as a result, I have had the satisfaction of actually seeing and handling some of the rifles now being smuggled across the Turkish frontier by the agents of the revolutionary party. Moreover, the plans of the party have been fully explained to me by some of the most active and intelligent of the leaders of the Eastern wing of the movement, and I am now entirely satisfied that, unless unforseen and uncontrollable circumstances appear, the uprising will take place as announced.

The report of Mr. Paton, an official of the British consulate at Tebraiz, Persia, says that in several cases the Turkish officials in the devastated district of Armenia tried hard to save the Armenians from death and their property from destruction, but when they protested against the murderous raids of the troops the officers read to them the orders of the sultan, and so nothing could be done. Mr. Paton has lately returned to Tebriz from an investigating tour among the Armenian refugees along the border between Persia and Turkey. He found plenty of refugees from the Lake Van and Moosh districts, but not one from Sassoun. There are no Sassoun survivors in Ouramia, Salmas, Dilliman, Knol, Tebriz or any other place in Persia, and so very few in Russia that they are most difficult to find. This absence of Sassoun people among so many refugees from other districts of Eastern Armenia suggests the dreadful possibility that few of those people escaped the massacre.

The investigation of Mr. Paton along the Persian border has confirmed, in a general way, the facts which I have incidentally obtained during the past eight weeks. The events of the massacre were so horrible that even the chronic exaggeration of the Armenian mind fails to add anything to them. Mr. Paton was accompanied on this tour of investigation by Dr. Wright, an American missionary stationed at Salmas. These gentlemen took the testimony to the effect that when the Turkish soldiers and Kurds appeared at a certain village they killed some of the villagers who dared to protest against their outrages, and many of the dead men were cut up and thrown into a kettle and boiled like so much beef. The boiled pieces were then given to the villagers for food. The wretched villagers were compelled to eat their friends to the lest mouthful. In another village a party of Kurds found a child asleep in a cradle. They overturned the cradle and smothered the shild. Then they dissected the body and roasted pieces of it before the fire. As a climax they compelled the members of the family, including the child's mother, to eat the roasted pieces.

The only baking powder yet found by chemical analysis to be entirely free from lime and absolutely pure is the "Royal." This perfect purity results from the exclusive use of cream of tartar specially refined and prepared by patent processes which totally remove the tartrate of lime and other impurities.

THE SHERIFF SOCIABLE.

Rev. E. S. Darling Enjoys Sunshine Once More.

St. Paul, May 28.—The attorneys engaged by Rev. E. S. Darling, who was arrested in this city on a charge of rape said to have been committed in Miller, S. D., have sued for a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of their client. Judge Otis granted the writ. In the meantime Rev. Darling is no longer suffering the solitude of a cell in the county jail. He was permitted to go out into the bright sunshine, but in the company of Deputy Edward J. Horst, who has strict instructions never to lose sight of the young minister for a minute. The following telegram was received yesterday from Miller:

"Sheriff Struif made another start for St. Paul to-day with requisition papers for Rev. E. S. Darling, who is still held under arrest there, charged with rape upon Miss India Failing of this place. Public sentiment is crystallizing against Darling, and unless he marries the girl when he is brought back it may go hard with him. The girl now says he accomplished his purpose by persuasion."

Poison in the Coffee.

Viroqua, Wis., May 28. — Andrew Engebretson, an old farmer living in Coon valley, was to-day placed in jail here on the charge of attempting to murder his two sons, one of his sons' wife, and Claus Nelson by poisoning them with arsenic. The poison was placed in the coffee, and after breakfast all were taken sick. Medical aid was summoned and the poisoned persons were saved. Engebretson, who is sixty years of age, is accused of frequently making threats against the family. He is not living with his sons, and it is charged that he entered the house during the night and placed the poison in the coffee pot.

Counterfeiters Caught.

Duluth, Minn., May 28.—A man calling himself John Lawrence, and whose companions were arrested at Eveleth yesterday, was arrested here to-day on a charge of being the leader of a dangerous gang of counterfeiters and bill-raisers who have been operating in the mining districts of Michigan and Minnesota. He had in his possession a large amount of raised bills and tools for doing the work. He was apprehended on a telegram from Eveleth, where two other men are now in jail on a similar charge.

MEETING CALLED.

Bimetallist League Issues an Address to the People.

Memphis, May 28.—The following address to the public is issued by the Central Bimetallic League of Memphis and explains itself:

To the Public of the United States: The arch enemies of the agricultural and producing classes of our country, moved by greed and encouraged by avarice, have conspired to transfer the essentially governmental function of issuing and controlling the money volume of the nation to a system of banking corporations full of the vice of class legislation and void of any virtue which commends it to the consideration of a patriotic citizen.

Undaunted by the failure to secure the sanction of the American congress the promoters of this nefarious scheme have boldly taken the initiatory step to attain the object of the conspiracy. Backed by the great power of exhaustless wealth and the influence of high official position they have publicly convened in this city of Memphis and openly declared their purpose. They demand that the constitutional and inherently sovereign right to issue money to be delivered into their hands. They hesitate at no deception; they scruple at no fraud. Knowing the innate integrity of our people they prate of "unhonest money." Appreciating our aversion to paternalism they say the "government must go out of the banking business." They hope we will not stop to consider to exact a dollar which by vicious legislation, they have made to cost the debtor twice as much labor and double the amount of produce as the one promises, is "not honest."

They expect the American people to accept as true the statement that money of the constitution established by their fathers is dishonest for no other reason save the dicta of their illustrious accomplices and tools. They hope that the people will ignorantly confound the sovereign prerogative and the duty of the government to coin money and establish a system of uniform weights and measures which the business of loans and discounts inherently appropriate to the occupation of private citizens. They think that we will forget that the true question is not "whether the government will go out of the banking business," but whether the banks shall go out of the governing business. Thus they design by the aid of public apathy to rivet the chains which will make free men slaves.

To the end that their hopes may meet with disappointment and their conspiracy with failure, that the toiling masses of our people may be saved from an industrial serfdom more cruel and degrading than chattel slavery, something must be done to meet their cunningly directed and insidious assaults. Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. Our foe is unscrupulous; his greatest victory was achieved by stealthy and corrupt legislative work, disgraceful to the men who planned it and discreditable to the people's representatives who failed to detect it. The crime of 1873 cannot be explained upon any other hypothesis.

That the people may come together ing masses of our people may be and take counsel of each other it has been deemed expedient to call together a convention to assemble at Memphis on the 12th and 13th of June, 1895. Every community, every city, and every town and every state in the Union are earnestly requested and cordially invited to send delegates to that convention. Every vicinity is urged to organize bimetallic clubs and every club should be represented. It is proposed that this convention shall voice the sentiments of the people. The country needs their best thought their most careful deliberation and energetic action. They have no money to employ hirelings and emissaries to drum up delegates from cotton exchanges and boards of trade. Their own intelligent patriotism is the only fund to which they can appeal.

The object of this convention is to formulate some definite plan for future action to give direction to the overwhelming volume of public sentiment favoring a return to our own, and establish our independence of alien financial institutions to devise means for such a campaign of education that hereafter will be possible to elect only such men to the legislative and executive offices of the nation as are unawed by power and unbought by spoils.

—W. N. Brown, President,
—D. H. Archibald, Secretary,
Central Bimetallic League of Shelby County.

Possibly a Murder.

Milwaukee, May 28.—The body of unknown man whose pockets were weighted down with stones, and to whose waist a stone weighing 100 pounds was tied with wire, was taken from a pond in Wauwatosa today. The man was well dressed. Murder is suspected. He is about thirty-five years of age.

Prof. Chas. H. Drew, as Chemist to the Minnesota State Dairy and Food Department, has officially examined every baking powder sold in the State. He gives the preference to the Royal over all others. He says it is an absolutely pure cream of tartar powder and of the very highest leavening power.

Affairs in Bad Shape.

Kasson, Minn., May 28.—V. C. Colby of this place, engaged in the restaurant and bakery business, has made a general assignment for the benefit of his creditors. It is reported his affairs are in bad shape. He apparently did a good business.

Wire Nail Trust.

Pittsburg, May 28.—The Dispatch announces that a wire nail trust is in process of formation. Only a few details remain to be arranged.

Reforms in Armenia.

Paris, May 28.—A conference of delegates of the Armenian associations throughout Europe was held in Paris yesterday. It was resolved that the scheme of reforms in Armenia suggested by the powers lacks necessary guarantees and that no further promises by the porte should be accepted.

Dixon Whips Gardner.

Kansas City, May 28.—Oscar Gardner, the "Omaha Kid," was whipped by Tommy Dixon of Rochester in thirty-six rounds.

HE HAD NO WORK.

THE CAUSE OF ANOTHER DOUBLE TRAGEDY IN CHICAGO.

A Bohemian Who Could Not Find Employment Kills His Three-Year-Old Child and Then Ends His Own Life.

Chicago, May 26.—Louis Kraeman, a Bohemian, despondent over the loss of work and unable to properly provide for his three-year-old daughter, shot and killed the child at his home to-day and then put a bullet through his brain. Mrs. Kraeman was at work but returned home at an early hour expecting to find her husband and little daughter awaiting her. She tried the door but found it locked and vainly endeavored to effect an entrance. Some neighbors assisted her in forcing the door. The dead bodies of Kraeman and the little girl were found lying on the floor. He left a note to his wife saying that he had killed the girl and was going to kill himself because he could find no work and would not leave the little one to be a burden on his wife.

Louisville, Ky., May 26.—The grand jury to-day dismissed the cases against Fulton Gordon of the killing of his wife and Archie Deacon Brown, son of Gov. Brown, in this city several weeks ago. The day had been set apart specially to inquire into the case, and nearly all of the witnesses examined at the preliminary trial were present to-day, but only a few of them were examined. The prosecution will take no further action in the matter and Gordon is now a free man. Members of the grand jury declined to state whether the action in dismissing the proposed indictment was unanimous or not. The action of the grand jury was favorably received by nearly everybody.

INTERSTATE DEBATE.

University Men Decide How Federal Senators Should Be Elected.

Minneapolis, May 26.—The second annual debate between the universities of Wisconsin and Minnesota was held in the new library building upon the university campus last evening, with an audience of 300 people, mostly students. Dr. W. W. Folwell, of the department of political science at the local institution, presided, and the judges were Senator Neal Brown of Wisconsin, Judge John B. Sanborn of St. Paul, and Judge A. D. Thomas of North Dakota.

The question was: "Resolved, That United States Senators Should be Elected by Direct Vote of the People." Wisconsin had the affirmative of the question, and was represented by Edwin K. Cassels, Guy S. Ford and Charles B. Rogers. For Minnesota, F. L. Anderson, Elizabeth Beach and Burt L. Newkirk were the disputants. After a creditable contest, in which neither side had at any time a sure victory, a decision was rendered in favor of Minnesota.

ROYAL BIRTHDAY.

Her Majesty of England Now Seventy-Six Years of Age.

London, May 26.—The seventy-sixth birthday of Queen Victoria was observed to-day at all the naval and military stations with the exception of the city, by the usual display of flags, trooping of the colors, etc. In London the celebration will be observed tomorrow with the trooping of the colors at Whitehall, ministerial dinners, etc. Lord Rosebery, the earl of Kimberly, secretary of state for foreign affairs; the marquis of Ripon, secretary for the colonies; Hon. Henry Fowler, secretary of state for India, are to give full dress dinners to-morrow at their respective offices. Mr. Fowler, upon that occasion, will entertain Nasrulla Khan, the second son of the ameer of Afghanistan, who has just arrived in England. Later on Mr. Fowler will conduct Nasrulla Khan to the first grand reception at the foreign office, which takes place the same evening.

Confederate Venterans.

Houston, Tex., May 26—The fifth annual convention of the United Confederate Veterans' association closed to-day. Gen. John B. Gordon of Georgia was re-elected commander-in-chief. A resolution was adopted that June 3 shall be set apart for the observance of memorial services in honor of the Confederate dead, so that there may be one day for that sacred duty throughout the South, which shall be known as Confederate Memorial day.

Mrs. Machen's Death.

Clinton, Ky., May 26. — Victoria Machen, widow of the late United States Senator Willis B. Machen, committed suicide at the home of her sister in this city to-day by shooting herself through the head. She was discovered at an early hour by her aged mother in an outhouse, and it is thought the deed was committed about daylight. Suffering had unbalanced her mind.

Annual Sessions.

Pittsburg, May 26. —At the session of the Presbyterian assembly to-day a quietus was given to the movement to secure biennial or triennial sessions of the assembly in place of the present annual meeting.

Besant Knighted.

London, May 26.—Among the birthday honors, made public to-day, it is announced that Walter Besant, the author, first chairman of the executive committee of the society of authors has been knighted.

Declines in Prices.

Chicago, May 26. — The edge was taken off the bull movement on the board of trade and everything closed lower. In comparison with the previous day's final figures wheat finished 1 3-4c off; corn, 1 1-4c; oats, 1-2c; pork, 30c, and lard and ribs, 2 1-2c each. The weakness in grain was owing to heavy realizing sales made in the face of the most gloomy crop prospects yet received, and that in provisions was the result of the heavy receipts of hogs and the weakness in corn.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS,
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND
PULLMAN
SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE.

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arrive Crookston Daily
St. Paul Minneapolis, Superior Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.10 a. m.	7.25 am
For Grand Forks Grafton, Winnipeg Brandon and points South	7.25 a. m.	7.10 p. m.

Trains leaving Crookston daily has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, Maps, Time Tables or special information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. at Crookston Minn., or

Chas. S. Fee,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marsha

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for in or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON
R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE

W. A. Sorsoleil

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home: Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers' price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS
COPYRIGHTS.

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free.

Building Edition, monthly, $2.50 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY.

BREVITIES.

C. G. Rapp and Carl Johnson drove up to Thief River Falls today on business.

Dr. Merrill, of Thief River Falls, was in town on professional business last Monday.

Mr Lee, of the Thief River Falls News, made this office a pleasant call last Monday.

C. G. Rapp returned last Monday from Cannon Falls where he had spent a week visiting friends.

A large crowd attended the social at the American hotel and an enjoyable time was reported by all.

Misses Felton, Kyle and Bye, and Mr. W. C. Stranahan visited friends at Thief River Falls last Sunday.

D. Collens and L W. Kinder, of Crookston, spent several days here last week visiting Mr. J. H. Fenno.

Mrs. Carl Johnson returned last Monday from Elmore Minn., where she has been visiting relatives the past month.

Frank Gravel, the popular Crookston traveling man, was taking orders for groceries of our merchants last Monday.

S. M. Dainard has the machinery about all put in his steamboat and will be ready to make the trial trip tomorrow.

August Peterson captured a litter of young wolves while out driving last Sunday. They will net him a nice sum of bounty money.

Mrs. A. G. Abrahamson returned today from Ada where she has been visiting her daughter Mrs. L. T. Bergh the past two weeks.

Tomorrow is Decoration day and it will be celebrated here by the school children who have been working hard the past month preparing an elaborate program. All should attend.

Rev. Kenniston is busy this week building a large flat-boat in which he and and a number of others of this place intend to float down the river to Winnipeg. They expect to be ready to start in about two weeks.

The Great Northern Railway Line will make a rate of $1 15 from St. Hilaire to Crookston and return for the Firemen's Tournament June 15th to 17th. Dates of sale, June 14th to 17th with return limit June 18th.

E-TRAY

Came to the premises of the undersigned about May 15th a bay mare lame in hip with halter, about six years old. Owner can have same by proving property and paying charges.

James Madden,
Sec. 31 Tp. 152 R 41.

A number of our citizens went to Red Lake Falls last Sunday to take in the ball game between the Thief River and Red Lake Falls nines. The game resulted in a victory for the Thief River boys by one tally. The two nines will meet here sometime during the latter part of this week.

The gun club held their weekly shoot last evening and succeeded in making some very fair scores. The following is the number broken by each member out of a possible 20:

H. E. Ives 11; M. E. Bjerk, 15; O. F. Post, 16; H. J. Freeman, 9; Carl Johnson. 11; C. G. Rapp 11; F. Eikhoff 7; W. Stranahan 16; J. L. Johnson 11.

The price of wheat is still climbing upward and no 1 hard is now worth 70 cents in this market. The present rise is due to the destruction of the winter wheat crop by frost. Reliable authorities claim that the crop in this section has been benefitted rather than hurt by the frost as the weeds are kept down and the wheat will stool out better and come up more evenly.

The last report of the county superintendent of this county contained the following item: "Not entitled to apportionment 2011." This is at least 1000 greater than it should have been making a clear loss to the county of over $4,000. People of Polk county, are we to sit idly by and see our pride "the free public school system," suffer from the negligence of parents who are too careless of the welfare of their own children to require them to attend school 40 days in each year. What mother does not wish her sons and daughters to read, write and speak English and to cipher in arithmetic. It is to be hoped that the 2011 above spoken of will within the coming twelve months fall off to less than 1011.—Northwest Teacher.

C. H. Jenks' special car was attached to the Great Northern train Monday. While here Supt. Jenks ordered a four foot ditch to be conducted along the east side of the grade from Bottineau ave. to the Clearwater river. He also expressed himself as in favor of the extension of this branch to Mentor, to give us railroad access to Maple Lake. The patronage from Thief River Falls, St. Hilaire and this point would be a considerable item. He will probably recommend this extension.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

Among the laws passed by the late republican legislature of Minnesota for the benefit of the populist farmers of Polk county is one authorizing the county commissioners to expend as much as $300 on any one township road, the money to be paid over to the town and expended under its direction. Heretofore only $300 could be voted by the commissioners to any one town, but it could all be put into one bridge or one quagmire. Now only $300 can be expended "on any one road or bridge in any one township in any year,"—a material improvement over the old law. The special law for Polk county was repealed.—Thirteen Towns.

Notwithstanding the fact that every dollar of gold money that comes from Europe to this country for investment will carry back again, by force of its mortgages upon our people and government, not less than four cents each year, the gold standard and international bi-metalists insist that it is better to draw money out of Europe than out of the deeps of the Rocky Mountains. Home production of a medium of exchange is of no importance to them and Cleveland's sale of 5 per cent gold-bearing bonds is looked upon by them as a magestic and royal stroke of financial philandering with the fortunes of Germany and Great Britain.—Thirteen Towns.

Washington May 28. Walter Q Gresham, secretary of state, died at his residence in this city at an early hour this morning. Mr. Gresham had been ill about four weeks with pleurisy and after a two week's illness had recovered so rapidly that it was thought he would recover. He suffered a relapse on last Saturday and sank rapidly until his death. The funeral arrangements are not yet completed but it will occur in Chicago probably next Sunday.

Walter Q. Gresham was postmaster general under President Hayes and was by him appointed as circuit judge in the Seventh Illinoise district. He was always prominent in political circles and up to the campaign of 1892 was a staunch republican, at that time he changed to the democratic side of the house, and since then he has been an ardent democrat. In 1893 President Cleveland appointed him secretary of state—making the second time he had been a member of the Cabinet.

A Chance For A Fine Trip.

The annual meeting of the National Educational Association occurs July 9th to 12th, 1895, at Denver Colo. A fine trip has been provided by the Great Northern Railway for persons who wish to attend it. The route is from St. Paul and Minneapolis through the Minnesota Park Region and Red River Valley, by Devil's Lake, Great Falls, with its wonderful water power, industries and scenery, Helena, capital of Montana, with its hot springs, Butte, America's famous mining city and then by way of Ogden and Salt Lake to Denver and return via Omaha or Sioux City. Tickets on sale June 10th 17th, and 24th good 30 days with stop off privileges going. Tickets are sold July 4th 5th and 6th direct to Denver via Sioux City and return by Salt Lake Ogden, Butte, Helena and Great Falls. Regular summer Montana and Pacific Coast Excursion rates are now in effect and round trip tickets can be bought any day. For further information see H. J. Freeman, agent or address F. I. Whitney, G. P. & T. A. St. Paul Minn.

The number of patients sent from Polk county to the insane hospital is something fearful to contemplate. Within the past 36 hours four patients have been before the probate court for examination as to their sanity. Three of these have gone to the asylum, and one a boy of ten years was judged epileptic. Three of the four were scandinavians the other being french canadian. None were violent all being afflicted with a mild type of dementia. Of course this a much greater number than are usually examined in the same length of time, yet there is certainly not a week passes but there is at least one patient before the commission of inquiry. The causes which lead to this are problematical. A competent authority claims that one of the most common and direct is an insufficient quantity and quality of food the principal change suggested being in the way of variety. Whatever may be the cause the fact of the alarming frequency of insanity is one which is being studied closely by scientists both as to its causes and the methods of healing with patients from economic as well as therapeutic standpoints.—Crookston Times.

Go to Johnson & Marshall's for lime cement, etc.

NOTICE FOR BIDS.

Notice is hereby given that sealed bids will be received by the village recorder of the village of St. Hilaire Polk Co Minnesota up to and on the thirty first (31) day of May A. D. 1895 for the sale of Two thousand five hundred ($2500) dollars in denominations of Five hundred ($500) dollars each worth of seven (7) per cent non-optional twenty [20] year bonds interest payable semi-annually issued under chapter 200 General Laws of 1893.

Said bids will be opened and considered by the village council on the thirty first [31st] day of May A. D. 1895 at 8 o'clock p. m. at the office of the village recorder of said village. The village council reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Given under our hands this 7th day of May A. D. 1895.

S. M. Dainard
Village President.
J. L. Johnson
Recorder.

U. S. LAND OFFICE
Crookston Minn., April 29 1895

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver, U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn on June 18 1895 viz:

Ani Melsaae HD no. 13855 for the SE ¼ NW ¼ and Lots 3, 4 and 5 Sec. 6 Tp. 152 R. 45.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

Axel Crown, Swan J. Naplin, Olaus Sorentryen, August Naplin, all St. Hilaire Polk County Minnesota.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of four hundred and fifty-nine dollars, ($459.00) which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by C. L. Lasher and Susan Lasher, his wife, and J. M. Westberg, and Mary Westberg his wife mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N H mortgagee bearing date the 7th day of June 1891 and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 9th day of June 1891, at 8 o'clock a. m., in book 30 of mortgages on pages [illegible] and [illegible] no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz:

Commencing at the north corner of Lot two [2] Block six [6] in the city of East Grand Forks formerly Grand Forks East—thence in a south-westerly direction, along the line between DeMers Avenue and said Lot two [2] forty [40] feet—thence at right angles in a south-easterly direction across Lots two [2] four [4] and six [6] in said Block to the line between said Lot six [6] and Lot eight [8]—thence along said line in a north-easterly direction forty [40] feet to the intersection of said line with the southerly line of the Alley in said Block—thence at right angles along the line of said Alley in a north-westerly direction to point of beginning in Polk county and state of Minnesota with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 11th day of May 1895 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 14th A. D. 1895.

Security Trust Co., of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.

R. J. Montague, attorney. Crookston Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred and fifty-eight dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Arthur Perras and Antoinette Perras, his wife mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 28th day of March 1891, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 7th day of April 1891 at 8 o'clock a. m. in book 30 of mortgages, on page [illegible], and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz:

The South east quarter of the South east quarter of Section Ten and the East half of the North east quarter and the North east quarter of the South east quarter of Section Fifteen in Township one hundred and fifty of Range forty-two, in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 8th day of June 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 7th A. D 1895.

Security Trust Co., of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.

R J. Montague, Crookston Minn attorney.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of ten hundred and fifty-four dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by James Adam, mortgagor to Security Trust Company of Nashua, N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 22nd day of December 1892, and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 4th day of January 1893 at 4:30 o'clock p. m. in book 50 of mortgages on page 266 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz:

The south west quarter of section ten in township one hundred and fifty-two of Range forty-nine, in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 27th day of April 1895 at 10 o'clock a. m of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest and taxes, if any on said premises and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 12th A. D. 1895.

Security Trust Co., of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.

R. J. Montague, attorney, Crookston Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE
Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the register or receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on July 2 1895, viz:

Carl Wik of St. Hilaire Minn. H D no. 13311 for the SE ¼ Sec 35 Twp. 153 R. 45.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

Hakon Johnson, Frank Satterberg, Jonas Fonstrom, Peter Anderson all of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

Dr H. GRUNDY
Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis

DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS
AND CIGARS.

Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.

Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY.

The NEW and the RIGHT WAY
EAST and WEST
TO ALL PACIFIC COAST POINTS
AND TRANSPACIFIC PORTS.

TIME CARD.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily.		Daily
NO. 3 North and West		NO 2 South and East
7 45 p m Depart	St. Paul	Arrives 7 15 am
8 15 p m "	Minneapolis	6 45 am
1 45 a m	Barnesville	1 25 am
5 05 am Ar	Crookston	Do 8 35 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH
MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

9 00 am De	Crookston	Ar 6 00 pm
11 00 am Ar	St. Hilaire	De 4 00 pm

Leaves St Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.50 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1.20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm Close connections made at Minneapolis and St. Paul for all points East and South.

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY, G. P. & T. A. St. Paul
H. J. FREEMAN, Agt. St. Hilaire.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of five hundred and eighty-seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary A. Holavik and Hans M. Holavik her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee, bearing date the 17th day of December 1890 and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 19th day of December 1890, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in book 50 of mortgages, on page 112. Which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned by said Security Trust Co. of Nashua N. H. mortgagee to Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper by written assignment dated on the 7th day of January 1891 and recorded in the office of the Register of deeds on the 24th day of January 1891, at 8:20 o clock a. m., in Book 55 of mortgages, on page 81 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The north west quarter of Section 15 in Township One hundred and Forty-seven of Range Forty-five in Polk County and State of Minnesota with the hereditaments and appurtenances: which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston in said County and state, on the 8th day of June 1895 at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes if any on said premises, and fifty Dollars Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated March 1st A. D. 1895.

Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper.
Assignee of mortgagee.

R. J. Montague, attorney Crookston Minn.

U. S. Land Office
Crookston Minn. April 24 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on June 7 1895, viz:

John Kron, father of Alfred Kron deceased, HD no. 12,8[illegible] for the NE ¼ sec. 22 Tp 153 R 45.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

Adolph Nelsen, L. G. Dalin, Ber Person, Sam Person all of Bray p. o. Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava, Register.

Impetuous People

are sometimes figuratively spoken of as not above setting things on fire just for the fun of

Seeing Them Burn

Close competition breeds impetuosity, and in our earnest pushing for trade it often happens that we mark goods away down just for the fun of

Seeing Them Sell

Somebody has exclaimed: "Oh, the impetuosity of the idiocy of the tumultuous idiot!" This remark will never apply to you if in your rush for bargains you get into the right store, which of course is ours.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!

Great Bargain Sale of
FARM MACHINERY
AT
J. E. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mowers at $10 each and a full line of walking and breaking plow which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise.

PTERODACTYL

We print a likeness of the skeleton of this remarkable paleontological reptile because some of its physical characteristics are synonymous with our business methods. Perhaps the most striking similarity may be found in its

Little Finger and our

Big Bargains

Its little finger is very large: and so are our bargains. The paradox of a little finger being big may be likened to the paradoxical inducements we offer you.

Profits and Hind Feet Small

Its hind feet are out of all proportion to its fore feet, just as our profit is overshadowed by the buyer's. Its large head represents the size of our stock. The many years that have elapsed since the time when this creature flourished will hint at the wearing quality of our goods.

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. P. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

Advance, $1.00
Not in Advance, $2.00 Per Year

[illegible] as
Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY May 29 1895

WHITE HOUSE FLOWERPOTS.

Where They Come From and How They Are Made.

"From 8,000 to 10,000 new pots are required every year for use in the White House conservatories," said Head Gardener Pfister. "This represents the annual loss by decay and breakage. The average flowerpot lasts three or four years. Of the number I have mentioned about one-third are little 'thumb pots' two inches in diameter. They are used for newly propagated plants of all sorts. In spring we require from [illegible] to [illegible] of these babypots to hold the plants which we have freshly reared for the beds in the grounds of the executive mansion.

"Flowerpots are made everywhere, you might say. Perhaps the greatest quantities of them are now manufactured in Boston and Philadelphia, from which cities immense numbers of them are shipped to other points. Flowerpots are of two kinds—machine made and hand made. The latter, turned out by the potter's wheel, are the most durable and most expensive. Until recently there were no standard sizes in pots, but about four years ago the Society of American Florists adopted regulations on the subject, so that potmakers are now obliged to conform to those rules, and a pot made in Boston of a given size is precisely like a pot of the same size made in any other city. Formerly every potter had his own standards of size, and a 3 1-2 inch pot of one manufacturer might be equal in capacity to a 4 inch pot of another make.

"The new standards require that a 2 inch pot shall be exactly two inches deep and two inches wide at the top. In all sizes of flowerpots the depth and diameter at the top must be equal. The regulations cover even the thickness of the rims. Florists demand that their pots shall have rims in order that they may be lifted and moved about more easily. Pots without rims are much more apt to slip from the hand, and thus the important item of breakage is increased. Another point worth mentioning is that pots of the same size may be arranged with greater regularity and accordingly with more convenience on the benches. They look better so too.

"The small pots, made in molds, from two to four inches, cost from $2 to $3.50 per 1,000. Hand made pots of larger sizes, from five to sixteen inches, cost all the way from $13 per 1,000 to $55 per 100. The big 16 inch pots, which cost 55 cents apiece, are for large palms and other big plants. Some very fine pots are made in the neighborhood of Washington. At Terra Cotta are great beds of beautiful clay, which furnish material not only for pots, but also for first rate sewer pipes."—Washington Star.

Imaginative Autobiographies.

Upon a time Mr. Joaquin Miller, having for the moment nothing to occupy him, wrote out a full and entirely new account of his life. Autobiographies were a favorite pastime with him, and once in so often a new one regularly appeared, differing materially from its predecessor and introducing fresh and vividly imaginative matter. This particular life was in his best vein and was profusely illustrated. A copy was given to one of his daughters, with the suggestion that her father's life should be studied and known, and that her father was a man to be loved and revered. The child looked at the volume.

She turned the pages until she reached one especially fine picture. Seated on a horse careering wildly across a desolate plain was Joaquin, clad in a pseudo Indian costume, with a broad sombrero on his head and very long hair floating far behind him in the wind. The child looked long and intently at the picture, examined it critically, then with a reverence and adoration altogether undreamed of labeled it, "Joaquin Miller when he was a girl."—Chap Book.

A Painful Thought.

In view of the fact that Egypt was once the center of civilization and learning, whence science radiated to every corner of the globe, vestiges of Egyptian lore being found even in this hemisphere, it is somewhat painful to think that the only item which the land of the pharaohs now contributes to the world is onions, which are being shipped in huge quantities to the United States. And to make matters worse we are informed that the popular "baeli," as the Egyptian onion is called, owes its fine flavor, as well as its size, to the fact that the fields in which it is grown are fertilized with the powdered mummies of the sages who flourished on the banks of the Nile 3,000 and 4,000 years ago.—New York Tribune.

Surprising Ship News.

One of our shipowners the other day saw his vessel reported. She was bound on a long voyage to the other side of the world. Taking the reported [illegible] and longitude he found, [illegible] surprise, that she was [illegible] the desert of Sahara.—Eastern Argus.

U. S. Land office

Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver U. S. land Office at Crookston Minn on June 8 1895 viz:

Simon E. Ahlberg of St Hilaire Minn. Hd no. 1959 for the S ½ NE ¼ and Lots 1 and 2 Sec. 1 Twp 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land, viz:

Carl Sundal, Anton Sundal Gilbert Audinson, Tollef Erickson, all of St. Hilaire Polk county Minn.

T. A. Dunlavy, Register

PEACH TREE DISEASES.

A Simple Expedient Which Is Claimed to Be Wholly Effective.

Some years ago a gentleman residing near Cincinnati created a sensation by what he regarded a new method of keeping peach trees healthy. All that he did was to pile up earth about the trees, the mound reaching up to the branches. It took several cartloads of earth to make these mounds, and the little orchard had the appearance of bushes growing out of the top of the cone of earth. Every one used to look on and laugh at the thought of burying up the trunk of a tree in order to make it healthy, but there were the trees and undoubtedly models of health. Those who saw simply stated their belief that it was only a coincidence, and that the trees would probably have been as healthy without the mound of earth as with it.

Since it has come to be well recognized that many of the diseases of plants, not merely of the peach trees, but of other trees, are caused by the mycelium of a minute fungus attacking the roots it is not at all unlikely that this mound of earth operated beneficially by preventing the growth of the fungus which preys on the roots of trees. It is now well understood that all plants of a lower order of vegetation which we know as fungi will only grow under a peculiar combination of circumstances. Among other things they must be very near the surface of the earth, and if buried to the depth they would be under a mound it is unlikely that fungi would find a satisfactory home.

Some will say right here that they thought burying up the trunks of trees and covering the surface roots with earth was destructive to health, but the burying by itself is not the reason trees die when earth is piled over them to a considerable depth, but from the fact that the young growing roots do not get air. These young growing roots are almost all at the extremities, and the mound of earth around the trunk would not in the slightest degree injure these outer roots. When ever a valued tree is somewhat buried, it is customary to leave a space around the trunk, perhaps building a dry wall, to keep the earth from getting near the trunk, but this is not that the earth is injurious, but to give a chance for water to flow freely down into the soil, and the flow of water always leads to a flow of air following the water.

These remarks are suggested by an article in an agricultural paper stating that the apple borer and peach borer have been kept out of the trunks of trees by making a mound of earth around the trunks. —Meehan's Monthly.

Common Errors In Speech.

The verb to get is one of our much misused words. It means to acquire, win, obtain, and primarily it signifies the putting forth of effort to attain something. Consequently it is not only superfluous, but incorrect, to speak of a man as "getting drowned" or "getting sick," and you may, unfortunately, "have a cold," but it is impossible that you "have got a cold." At this moment no exceptions occur to the writer to the rule that got should never be used in connection with have, which alone sufficiently expresses possession. Say "I have the picture," not "I have got the picture;" "The dog has a broken leg," not "The dog has got a broken leg." The irregular verbs lay and lie are frequently confounded. Lay is an active or transitive verb, and lie is passive or intransitive. We lay things down or have laid them down, but we and things lie at rest. You lie down, have lain down, will lie down or are lying down; she lay down yesterday and is going to lie down this afternoon. A frequent error is to confound the past tenses of these verbs. One should say, "Mary laid the book on the table and lay down herself," but the book lies on the table.—Demorest's Magazine.

Unsatisfactory.

A certain English commodore who had the misfortune to lose a leg in a shark encounter was beset wherever he went with questioners eager to know how, when and where he had met his loss. He finally invented an expedient for suppressing his tormentors. He would promise to answer them one question, but only one, on the subject. The question invariably was, "How did you lose your leg?" and the invariable answer, "It was bit off," which of course left his hearers more curious than ever.

Hard Lines.

Tommy (studying his lesson)—I say, pa, where does the Merrimac rise and into what sea does it empty?

Pa—I don't know, my son.

Tommy—You don't know, eh? And tomorrow the teacher will lick me on account of your ignorance.—Columbus (O.) City and Country.

"Norway" is more properly Norea, meaning "north isle." It is called by the natives "the North Kingdom."

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred and ten dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Peter A. Ekstrom and Mary C. Ekstrom his wife mortgagors to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee bearing date the 29th day of November A. D. 1893 and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 9th day of December A. D. 1893 at 1:50 o'clock [illegible] in book 63 of mortgages, on Page 161 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south half of the north east quarter and the south east quarter of the north west quarter and the north east quarter of the south west quarter of Section [illegible] in Township one hundred and fifty-two of Range forty-four in Polk county and state of Minnesota with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 11th day of May A. D. 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 1st A. D. 1895.

Security Trust Co. of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee

R. J. Montague, attorney, Crookston Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of four hundred and sixty-six dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Oskar Svenson and Annie his wife, mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee, bearing date the 29th day of October 1890 and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the Register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota on the 19th day of November 1890 at 5 o'clock p. m. in book 50 of mortgages on page 89 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz:

The North west quarter of section fifteen in Township one hundred and fifty three of Range forty-four, in Polk county and state of Minnesota with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 27th day of April 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest and the taxes, if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated January 30th A. D. 1895.

Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.

R. J. Montague attorney, Crookston Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.

Crookston Minn. April 4 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on May 21 1895 viz:

Alexander Samuelson H. D. no. 1255 for the S E ¼ N W ¼ and N E ¼ S W ¼ Sec. 21 Twp 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

John Hedlund, James A. Ortenquist, H. A. Johnson, John Albin all of St. Hilaire, Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlavy Register.

U. S. Land Office

Crookston Minn. April 4 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on May 21 1895 viz:

James A. Ortenquist H. D. no. 1221 for the S E ¼ Sec. 20 Twp 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

J. Hedlund, Alexander Samuelson, H. A. Johnson John Albin all of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlavy Register.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of nine hundred and thirty-two dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Ole P. Stokke and Tehie Stokke his wife mortgagors, to Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 3rd day of August 1889, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 7th day of August 1889, at 2:36 o'clock p. m. in Book 43 of mortgages on page 54 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale, contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty in Township one hundred and forty-nine of Range forty-seven in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door, of the court house, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 8th day of June 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in, and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption, at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated April 5th A. D 1895.

Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee

R. J. Montague, attorney. Crookston Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Eight hundred and sixty four dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Andrew J. Adams and Elsie his wife, mortgagors, to the Dakota Investment Company mortgagee, bearing date the 19th day of August 1883, and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 21st day of August 1883 at 3:25 o'clock p. m. in book 3 of mortgages on page 70 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty-two in township one hundred and fifty-one of range forty-seven in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 16th day of February 1895 at 10 o'clock a m of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated December 1st A. D. 1894.

Dakota Investment Company mortgagee.

R. J. Montague, attorney, Crookston Minn.

SPAFFORD S. M. [illegible]

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

—DEALERS IN—

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath. Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY. ST. HILAIRE, MINN

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE HIGHEST MARKET PRICES FOR All kinds of CATTLE.

C rd wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD.
Manager.

eserved For THE ST. HILAIRE TOWNSITE COMPANY

W. A. ARTHUR.

DEALER IN

FRUITS, CONFECTIONARY TOBACCO AND CIGARS.

STATIONARY OF ALL KINDS

Lunch Counter

Warm meals at all hours.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationary, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

Barbershop in connection

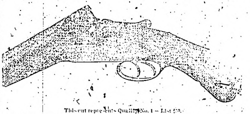
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200

BARRELS,5 0.



This cut represents Quality No. 1 – List $[illegible].

SELF-COMPENSATING, MATTED RIBS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point.

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsmen that we have not only improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money but THE BEST G[illegible]

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers' — — ITHACA, N.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

Heavy and Shelf HARDWARE

HEADQUARTERS FOR HUNTER'S SUPPLIES

MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS

BINDING TWINE

P[illegible] a[illegible] 9 cents a pound.

NEW GOODS — PRICES

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

THE SPECTATOR

UNTIL JANUARY 1st FOR ONLY

25 CENTS.

THIS OFFER HOLDS GOOD FOR THIRTY DAYS.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.
·DR·
PRICE'S
CREAM
BAKING
POWDER
·MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

New Species of Ape.

The zoological gardens at Berlin have just received from the Dutch East Indies an ape utterly unlike anything of the kind ever seen before in Europe. It is of the orang-outang species, and of a bright, flaring red, with bare neck and a remarkable hooked nose. The inhabitants of Sumatra are said to regard it with superstitious reverence. It is alleged that these apes can swell their larynxes to an enormous extent, uttering loud sounds which cannot be described in words.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success.

The successes achieved by men and things are not always based upon merit. But a success well merited and unprecedented in the annals of proprietary medicine, should these ever come to be written, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a botanic medicine, discovered nearly half a century ago, and the leading remedy for and preventive of malarial, rheumatic and kidney complaints, dyspepsia, constipation and biliousness.

A Slight Mistake.

"They've raked in a pretty rough looking lot this morning, haven't they?" observed the stranger who had dropped in at the police station.

"You are looking at the wrong gang," said the reporter to whom he had spoken. "Those are not the prisoners, they are the police court lawyers."—Pearson's Weekly.

Absent-Minded.

Customer (with chapped hands)—Have you anything that will drive away chaps?

Druggist (man of family)—Y-e-s, I keep a dog.—New York Weekly.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."
Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

Well Up in Requirements.

An Irishman recently applied for enlistment in a United States army recruiting office.

"Dou you know anything about drilling?" asked the officer.

"I do," answered Pat. "It's 12 1-2 cents a yard at any of the dry goods stores."—London Globe.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine.
Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Tender or Sore Feet, Chilblains, Piles, &c. C. G. Clark Co., New Haven, Ct.

A Common Way.

Woods—How do you dig your bait when you go fishing?

Cods—With a corkscrew.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Dying by Poison
Uric acid in the blood is a slow and deadly poison.
"Schrage's $1,000,000 Rheumatic Cure"
Is guaranteed absolutely the best remedy in the world for all Gout, Rheumatism and Neuralgia. Henry Frater, Rhinelander, Wis., had inflammatory rheumatism so badly that the flesh of his left leg cracked open in three places. "Schrage's" cured him. Refer to Captain John I. Black of George R. Newell & Co., Minneapolis. PURE. SURE. 15,000 people cured. Write to-day.
SWANSON R. C. CO.,
167 Dearborn Street, Chicago.

Binder Twine
Direct from Manufacturer to Consumer.
LOWEST MANUFACTURERS' PRICES.
Freight Prepaid to Your Station. You Need Not Pay a Cent in Advance.
Terms Cash or TIME. Samples Free. Write for prices and full information to JOHN M. F. ERWIN,
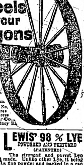
Manufacturers' Representative,
85 Dearborn St., Chicago.
Reference by permission: American Trust and Savings Bank. Capital $1,000,000.
Cut this out. It will not appear again.



Metal Wheels for your Wagons
Any size you want, 20 to 56 inches high. Tires 1 to 8 inches wide—hubs to fit any axle. Saves Cost many times in a season to have set of low wheels to fit your wagon for hauling grain, fodder, manure, hogs, &c. No resetting of tires. Cat'g free. Address Empire Mfg. Co., P. O. Box 53, Quincy, Ill.

LEWIS' 98 % LYE
POWDERED AND PERFUMED
(PATENTED)
The strongest and purest Lye made. Unlike other Lye, it being a fine powder and packed in a can with removable lid, the contents are always ready for use. Will make the best perfumed Hard Soap in 20 minutes without boiling. It is the best for cleansing waste pipes, disinfecting sinks, closets, washing bottles, paints, trees, etc.
PENNA. SALT M'F'G CO.
Gen. Agents, Phila., Pa.

ALLEN'S IRON TONIC BITTERS.
The most elegant Blood Purifier, Liver Invigorator, Tonic and Appetizer known. It builds up and fortifies the whole system, invigorates the liver, aids digestion and cures dyspepsia. The first Iron Tonic Bitters ever advertised in America. Get the genuine.
J. P. ALLEN, Druggist and Chemist,
ST. PAUL, MINN.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR 25 CTS.
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

AFTER THIRTY YEARS.

THE BUCKEYE STATE CONTRIBUTES THIS STORY.

How Fred Taylor, of the Gallant 189th N. Y. V. I., Finally Found What He Sought.

(From the Ashtabula, Ohio, Beacon.)

Mr. Fred Taylor was born and brought up near Elmira, N. Y., and from there enlisted in the 189th regiment, N. Y. V. I., with which he went through the war, and saw much hard service. Owing to exposure and hardships during the service, Mr. Taylor contracted chronic diarrhoea from which he has suffered now over 30 years, with absolutely no help from physicians. By nature he was a wonderfully vigorous man. Had he not been his disease and the experiments of the doctors had killed him long ago. Laudanum was the only thing which afforded him relief. He had terrible headaches, his nerves were shattered, he could not sleep an hour a day on an average, and he was reduced to a skeleton. A year ago, he and his wife sought relief in a change of climate and removed to Geneva, Ohio; but the change in health came not. Finally on the recommendation of F. J. Hoffner, the leading druggist of Geneva, who was cognizant of similar cases which Pink Pills had cured, Mr. Taylor was persuaded to try a box. "As a drowning man grasps a straw so I took the pills," says Mr. Taylor, "but with no more hope of rescue. But after thirty years of suffering and fruitless search for relief I at last found it in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The day after I took the first pills I commenced to feel better and when I had taken the first box I was in fact a new man." That was two months ago. Mr. Taylor has since taken more of the pills and his progress is steady and he has the utmost confidence in them. He has regained full control of his nerves and sleeps as well as in his youth. Color is coming back to his parched veins and he is gaining flesh and strength rapidly. He is now able to do considerable outdoor work.

As he concluded narrating his sufferings, experience and cure to a Beacon reporter Mrs. Taylor said she wished to add her testimony in favor of Pink Pills. "To the pills alone is due the credit of raising Mr. Taylor from a helpless invalid to the man he is to-day," said Mrs. Taylor. Both Mr. and Mrs. Taylor can not find words to express the gratitude they feel or recommend too highly Pink Pills to suffering humanity. Any inquiries addressed to them at Geneva, Ohio, regarding Mr. Taylor's case they will cheerfully answer as they are anxious that the whole world shall know what Pink Pills have done for them.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood, and restore shattered nerves. They are for sale by all druggists, or may be had by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine company, Schenectady, N. Y., for 50 cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

Rules for Pedestrians.

Figaro of Paris proposes the following code of rules for wheelmen and pedestrians: "Every pedestrian is to be supplied with a bell and a signal horn, which he shall sound on crossing a street whenever he espies a cycle on the horizon. At night the foot passenger shall carry on his breast a lantern containing a lighted candle. France shall be entirely leveled in order to save cyclists the annoyance of hill climbing. The tax on cyclists shall be abolished and a tax on pedestrians shall be substituted. Any foot passenger who, by his awkwardness and want of attention, shall occasion the fall of a cyclist by allowing himself to be run over shall be liable to a fine of 100 francs, and for a repetition of the offense shall be transported to a mountainous region."

Educated Soldiers.

It speaks well for the German army that of the 250,000 recruits who joined the colors in 1894 there were only 617 who could not read or write. According to the official reports issued at Paris no less than 22,000 were ignorant of these elements of education among the 310,000 conscripts who joined the French army during the same period. At Lisbon, admittedly the most highly educated town or city in Portugal, more than half of the population can neither read nor write.

Horrid.

Reggy—Did a disgraceful thing the other day.

Cholly—What was it?

Reggy—Walked all the way up Fulton street in the wain with only one of me twousers turned up!—Brooklyn Eagle.

Is Your Blood Pure
If it is, you will be strong, vigorous, full of life and ambition; you will have a good appetite and good digestion; strong nerves, sweet sleep.
But how few can say that their blood is pure! How many people are suffering daily from the consequences of impure blood, scrofula, salt rheum, rheumatism, catarrh, nervousness, sleeplessness, and
That Tired Feeling.
Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies, vitalizes, and enriches the blood. Therefore, it is the medicine for you.
It will give you pure, rich, red blood and strong nerves.
It will overcome that tired feeling, create an appetite, give refreshing sleep and make you strong.
Hood's Sarsaparilla
Is the Only
True Blood Purifier
Prominently in the public eye today.
Hood's Pills the after-dinner pill and family cathartic. 25c.

LINENE REVERSIBLE
Raphael, Angelo, Rubens, Tasso
The "LINENE" are the Best and Most Economical Collars and Cuffs worn: they are made of fine cloth, both sides finished alike, and, being reversible, one collar is equal to two of any other kind.
They fit well, wear well and look well. A box of Ten Collars or Five Pairs of Cuffs for Twenty-Five Cents.
A Sample Collar and Pair of Cuffs by mail for Six Cents. Name style and size. Address
REVERSIBLE COLLAR COMPANY,
77 Franklin St., New York. 27 Kilby St., Boston.

IF YOU are going to use WALL PAPER in any quantity it will pay you to send 6 cents in stamps for a full line of samples per mail. We RETAIL AT WHOLESALE PRICES. Wall Paper from 4 cents per single roll up. State what rooms you want it for and mention this paper.
KAYSER & CO.,
611 Nicollet Avenue,
Minneapolis, Minn.

LOOK for our announcement in NEXT issue of this paper. It will show a cut of 1 style of
DAVIS CREAM SEPARATORS
It would take several pages to give details about these peerless machines. Handsome Illustrated Pamphlet Mailed Free. AGENTS WANTED.
DAVIS & RANKIN BLDG. AND MFG. CO.
Sole Manufacturers, Chicago.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c, and $1.00 at Druggists

PATENTS Thomas P. Simpson, Washington, D. C. No att'y's fee until Patent obtained. Write for Inventor's Guide.

AN INJURED PROPRIETOR.

Why There Are No More Tips for Taking Trunks Up Stairs.

This is the narrative of Potter Palmer and his chief porter, as told in a Chicago paper:

Mr. Palmer has what he considers an educated taste for horseflesh. He thinks he knows a trotter when he sees him, and has little doubt of his ability to judge of the aforesaid trotter when he sits behind him with ribbons in his hands.

Mr. Palmer some time ago bought a horse with an alleged ability to do a mile in 2:50, that struck him as being extremely desirable. He paid a good deal of money for the animal, and he was filled with delight when he thought of the easy and brash manner in which he would pass the various turnouts on the Lake Shore Drive.

He asked Mrs. Palmer to come out with him to try the new horse; and, having nothing better to do, Mrs. Palmer consented. The wagon was yoked up and the driver attached.

One by one the speedy horses of the neighboring Armours and Trees and Healys were passed, and Mr. Palmer was just beginning to rejoice in his purchase when there came the rattle of a badly constructed village cart.

"We will have to have one more run, my dear," said Potter Palmer.

"Just this once, love," said Mrs. Potter Palmer.

The clattering came nearer, and nearer and then presenter and presenter, and at last passinger and passinger, until it faded away in the distance far beyond anything Potter Palmer and his new horse could do, but as the vehicle went by Mr. Palmer recognized the driver.

It was his own head porter! The man who had brought him to open shame was the person who told the slaveys how to pile trunks around in the Palmer House.

He said nothing just then, but, like the parrot in the story, he thought a heap. Mrs. Palmer made such conversation as there was held in the rest of the trip, and Mr. Palmer got back to the hotel as soon as possible.

"How much does that head porter get a month?" he demanded.

"Fifty dollars," replied the manager.

"How can he buy trotting stock on $50 a month?" demanded Mr. Palmer.

"Oh, you forget his fees."

"What fees?"

"Why, the tips—the money people give the head porter when their luggage is brought to them."

"Hereafter," said Mr. Palmer, "no porter is to be permitted to collect fees. You see that he does what he is paid to do for what he is paid for it. And, by the way, find out what he will take for that horse he had out to-day."

American Women.

Society in Boston is more intellectual, more serious. Baltimore, Charleston and Richmond are more aristocratic. Philadelphia is a happy medium, more fastidious, more reserved. There is more gayety in New Orleans, more "go-as-you-please" freedom in Chicago, and more wit and taste in Washington when congress holds its winter session, and draws together the cosmopolitan world of the legations, of the senate and the house of representatives; but in none of these cities does the social life reach the same degree of intensity that it does in New York, the paradise of the young American girl.

Here, better and to a greater degree than anywhere else, she can give fair play to her taste for spending money, to her toilet, to receptions and balls, to flirtations and pleasure. The social life of which she is the soul is made for her, and American custom gives her the entire liberty that she longs for. The extent of this liberty has at times been exaggerated, and some have adduced a general rule from a few loud and noisy exceptions, and have attributed to the young New York girl a too bold manner. The truth, as it is, is enough, and presents a sufficiently disconcerting contrast to our French customs to need further accentuation. Fearless Amazons, the New York girls walk in groups, or are attended by an escort, to whom they allow for the moment the honor of attending them in Central Park, or drive there in a light buggy, drawn by a swift trotter. We meet them in the huge shops and in the fashionable restaurants without other escort than a friend. The evenings are spent at some theater or ball. The summer they pass at Newport, Saratoga, Long Branch or Bar Harbor, where they display themselves at the casino in such gorgeous toilets as well might put to flight any prospective husband. In the autumn they go to Paris, London, Florence, Rome, Naples, or Lucerne. Our European hotels are filled with their exuberant gayety and extraordinary whims. One meets them everywhere. They are indefatigable travelers, visiting everywhere, exploring everything, and everywhere they are at home, heedless of the wonder they arouse or the comments they excite.—New Volume Published in Paris by C. A. Varigny.

Thoroughness.

There is one point that should be strongly emphasized at this time and that is thoroughness in every detail of farm work. A lack of thoroughness in preparing the soil, in cultivating the crops, or in harvesting will materially affect the growth and yield of the crops.

With nearly all the crops the next two months work will practically determine the growth and yield. In the cultivation it is often the last one or two workings that pays the best profit; with this as with much other farm work no set rules can be followed every year and the best results follow. The season and the condition of the soil, as well as the growth of the plants, must be considered in determining how the cultivation should begin and how many times it should be repeated in order to be thorough. But thorough cultivation os one of the essentials necessary to the securing of a good crop.

So far as possible the work should be planned ahead so that everything can be done in good season. A few days delay in cultivating a crop when it needs to be done, or to harvest the crops at the right stage will affect the yield and the quality of the crops. It is fully as important to harvest the crops in a good condition as it is to grow them well.

Not only in the growing and harvesting of the crops, but in the feeding and management of the stock is thorough work necessary. Every detail in the management must be looked after, the stock must be cared for in a way that will make the most out of them, and this implies thorough work in the breeding, feeding and care. Generally the better the treatment the better the profits.—N. J. Shepherd in Farm, Field and Fireside.

Bicycles and Street Railroads.

The bicycle epidemic is sweeping over the whole country. It is estimated that during the coming summer the votaries of the wheel in New York city alone will number over 200,000. In many cities the bicycle has inaugurated a serious rivalry with the street car, and in Denver the effect has been so unmistakable that the local street railway company has had to cut the wages of its employes in order to meet the great reduction in its income. The daily receipts of the car lines have never been so low, and that the drop is caused entirely by the introduction of bicycles is beyond a doubt. On wet days, when the wheels cannot be ridden, the receipts per car invariably run up to over $30 per day. As soon as the streets dry off the receipts drop down fully one-half. Formerly the large crowd of invalids and pleasure seekers, which is constantly pouring into Denver, would take the cars out to the suburbs for their daily outing; now the wheel is used instead. It is estimated that during the past year 4,000 wheels have been sold in the city by the local dealers, besides the large number shipped in by individuals. The estimate of 10,000 wheels in use is probably extremely low. Each of these wheels will take out of the pocket of the street railway company some 20 or 30 cents a day. Taking the lowest estimate of 20 cents a day for the 10,000 wheels, the amount would reach $2,000 a day, or $730,000 a year. The contingency which has presented itself in such definite shape in Denver will have to be met by the street car companies in many other cities, and instead of abating this source of deprivation of revenue is likely to become more formidable, especially during the summer months. The use of the bicycle has apparently but just begun to fairly take hold on the popular fancy, and it is prophesied that before long the majority of people will just as soon think of doing without their bicycles as their watches.

In every receipt calling for baking powder better results and more wholesome food will be obtained by the use of Royal than any other, because of its greater leavening strength and absolute purity.

Measuring Mental Time.

Prof. E. W. Scripture of Yale University, whose psychological subjects are now given special attention, has been doing some valuable work with the new apparatus called the pendulum chronoscope, or the pendulum timer, designed for recording the time occupied by the various operations of the mind. Some of the tests of this instrument, made at a recent demonstration by Prof. Scripture, were interesting. Skilled piano-forte players know that one of the main essentials to a smooth and artistic performance is the ability to press any required number of keys exactly at the same instant. This is much more difficult than is generally believed, but the timer will bring the musician nearer to it than any instrument yet devised. A well-known pianist was asked by Prof. Scripture to preside at the piano. He was told to move both hands at the same time in pressing the keys. He was quite sure that he had done so until the reading of the timer was taken. This showed that his left hand was fifteen-thousandths of a second behind the right. To obtain this record a telegraph key was put under each of the performer's hands. Connected to these was an apparatus, including a large spark coil and two metal recording points which rested on a revolving drum. The drum was covered with smoked paper. The moment each key was pressed a spark was made from its pointer, and the distance between the sparks was told off in thousandths of a second by a tuning-fork adjustment. In a similar manner the psychologist can ascertain the time occupied by any given effort throughout the whole domain of mental life. The operation of the pendulum timer is not confined to sound, and a very elaborate series of tests is being made by Prof. Scripture for the purpose of determining many hitherto unknown pheonomena connected with sight, touch, etc. The pendulum timer was made under the supervision of Prof. Scripture for Prof. C. B. Bliss, who proposes to publish the results of a large number of measurements on mental time he is now taking.

Variation in the Growth of Trees

The popular idea that trees keep on steadily adding to their growth year in and year out has been falsified by the observations of M. Mer, a French forester. M. Mer states that the weather affects the growth of trees, as it does that of vegetables. In the dry summer of 1893 the firs of the Vosges grew less than usual, both in height and diameter. A similar effect was produced by the exceptionally cold, wet summer of 1888. The dry spring of 1892 only diminished the growth in length, and the dry autumn of 1887 only checked the growth in thickness. In short, there are good, bad and middling years of growth, and M. Mer considers that foresters will do well to give the matter a great deal more study than has ever been devoted to it.

It Didn't Work.

It isn't always safe for a small boy to take his father's jokes and games too seriously. This was shown very plainly at one time by the experience of an Englishman and his son upon a railway journey which they took together. While the little fellow was gazing out of the open window his father slipped the hat off the boy's head in such a way as to make his son believe that it had fallen out of the window. The boy was very much upset by his supposed loss, when the father consoled him by saying that he would "whistle it back." A little later he whistled and the hat reappeared. Not long after the little fellow seized upon his father's hat, and flinging it out of the window, shouted, "Now, papa, whistle your hat back again."—Harper's Round Table.

A Speculative Show.

Assistant—I think we could use that play. There is a horse race on the stage in the last act"——

Manager—That isn't new."

Assistant—No; but the playwright suggested that we change the winning horse every night and sell pools on the result.—Indianapolis Journal.

A Qualified Answer.

Dukane—What is the Order of Cincinnati, Gaswell?

Gaswell—I was never in the town more than twice or three times, but then I gathered the impression that the usual order was "beer and bologna."—Pittsburg Chronicle.

A HARD YEAR FOR BIRDS.

The Cold Waves in the South Destroyed a Great Number.

People who live on the city pavements do not know the pathetic loss which the New England and Middle States—and probably the Western States—are just now suffering from the absent notes of the early spring birds. When that February cold wave went South and sent the thermometer in Georgia to 10 degrees below freezing—the lowest record for cold that state has any account of—the birds, southern and northern, were found dead in the various door-yards and fields there in large numbers. One gentleman from Georgia informs us that he discovered a great many dead mocking birds near his house, and also many dead orioles. The loss of the Florida orange orchards, with the oranges ready for market, though it amounts to many millions of dollars, can sometime be repaired. But the loss of the birds will be felt through the whole northern country, and it is one that it will take many years, perhaps, to make good.

Up the Hudson the bluebird's note is in many places silent or infrequent; and the song sparrow and the phoebe, so far as we have noticed, are in many places, and in more than one county, rarely to be heard—so that March and April saw the orchard and field and door-yard voiceless to an unwonted degree.

Just as we felt well assured of this unusual fact, an intelligent gentleman of Springfield, Mass., who is himself a well-known writer on the phases of nature, informs us that he has missed the bluebirds and many other of the feathered early comers in that neighborhood. Now, it is well known that the Connecticut river valley is a favorite haunt of all our common birds, and around Springfield not less than from twelve to twenty species of birds that are far northern or far southern can sometimes be found.

To suffer from a depopulation of these feathered tribes is not only serious and sad, but it is very uncommon indeed. What may happen when the May contingent is looked for, which includes the swallows, orioles, humming birds, the various warblers and many others, it is too early, as we write, to determine. Let us hope that the tragedy of Killingworth, which gave Longfellow the theme of one of his most touching and beautiful poems, may not be further repeated. But there is some reason to fear that it may be, as these later migrants are birds of very tender habits. If the bobolink, with his breezy fountain of song, should also be missed, the clover-fields and meadows of June would indeed suffer from the dumb transformation.—Frank Leslie's Weekly.

THE CHAMPION SWEARER.

He Was Cured of the Habit by a Simple Stratagem.

Among the outre characters of Ayr more than 100 years ago there was none so remarkable as a little oldish man who was ordinarily called the "Devil Almighty." He had acquired this terrific sobriquet from an inveterate habit of swearing, or, rather from that phrase being his favorite oath. He was no ordinary swearer, no mincer of dreadful words, no clipper of the king's curses. Being a man of violent passions, he had a habit when provoked of shutting his eyes and launching headlong into a torrent of blasphemy, such as might, if properly divided, have set up a whole troop of modern swearers.

The custom of shutting his eyes seemed to be adopted by him as a sort of salve to his conscience. He seemed to think that provided he did not "sin with his eyes open" he did not sin at all; or it was perhaps nothing but a habit. Whatever might be the cause or purpose of the habit, it was once made the means of playing off upon him a most admirable hoax. Being one evening in a tavern along with two neighboring country gentlemen, he was, according to a concerted plan, played upon and irritated. Of course, he soon shut his eyes and commenced his usual tirade of execration and blasphemy. As soon as he was fairly afloat and his eyes were observed to be hard shut, his companions put out the candles so as to involve the room in utter darkness.

In the course of a quarter of an hour, which was the common duration of his paroxysms, he ceased to speak and opened his eyes, when what was his amazement to find himself in the dark. "How, now? Am I blind?" "Blind," exclaimed one of the company, "what should make you blind?" "Why, I can see nothing," answered the sinner. "That is your own fault," coolly observed his friend, "for my part I can see well enough," and he drank a toast as if nothing had happened. This convinced the blasphemer that he had lost his sight, and to add to his horror it struck him that Providence had inflicted the blow as a punishment for his intolerable wickedness. Under this impression he began to rave and cry, and he finally fell into praying, uttering such expressions as made his two companions ready to burst with restrained laughter.

When they thought they had punished him sufficiently and began to fear that his mind might be affected if they continued the joke any longer, one of them went to the door and admitted the light. The old blasphemer was overwhelmed with shame at the exhibition he had been compelled to make, which had such an effect that from that time forward he entirely abandoned his abominable habit.—Kilmarnock Standard.

All About Buttons.

Buttons are of more importance in the history of to-day than most people think. If workmen came across the bones of a dead soldier on the battlefield of Gettysburg it is the buttons they find which show whether the soldier was a Union man or a Confederate.

In England if a family employs a boy with bright brass buttons on his jacket to answer their door bell, they must pay a tax to the state for those buttons. They are emblems of distinction to the family.

Buttons are symbols of law on a policeman's coat. They are an indication of a nation's art on a fine lady's gown, and in general they are a condensed history of a country's mechanical ingenuity.—Young People's Magazine.

In Doubt.

Politician—Are you going to vote for the Hon. Mr. Greathead for governor?

Farmer Hayfork—Wall; I dunno yit. He'll be at our county fair next week, an' I'll wait an' see if he admires my hogs.—New York Weekly.

For certain uses soft Scotch cheviots are very popular this season, being used alike by tailors and modistes for utility costumes. There are also very English-looking bourettes and similar soft-surfaced materials that appear among the rather mannish-looking gowns, to which are added all the masculine accessories that many fashionable women still appropriate.

A Florida City of Negroes.

The city of Eatonville, in Florida, is composed of only 400 or 500 people, but it is growing. Its peculiarity is that only negroes live there, while a near-by settlement called Maitland is composed exclusively of whites. This arrangement seems to be mutually satisfactory. Eatonville is the labor emporium for all the surrounding region. When not employed by others, the Eatonville negroes work for themselves. Each house has a lot of one-half acre, which, after the house is built, is planted with orange trees or with garden vegetables. No police are needed there, and the people all seem to be making money. Their vegetables meet a ready sale all through the sections where there is a large negro population. The negroes all know Eatonville as a place where the colored people own everything, and they give its products their preference. A large school for colored children at Jacksonville has recently been removed to Eatonville. As this school educates 300 children, it will double the population of the city and will add greatly to its prosperity. An Eatonville art school was established this winter, at which sixty colored students took lessons in drawing and painting.—Manufacturers' Gazette.

Why She Smiles Sweetly.
Sparkling eyes, quick beating heart, and the rosy blush of pleasure on the cheeks makes the strong man happy when he meets his lady love. That's the kind of a man whose very touch thrills because it is full of energy, vigorous nerve power and vitality. Tobacco makes strong men impotent, weak, and skinny. No-To-Bac sold by Druggists everywhere. Guaranteed to cure. Book, titled "Don't Tobacco Spit or Smoke Your Life Away," free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., New York or Chicago.

Educated for the Business.

Nearly all the croupiers employed at the Monte Carlo public gambling establishment come from Alsace, and there is in the capital of the principality of Monaco a regular school, maintained by the reigning prince and his partners in the Casino company, where they are taught the ins and outs of the games, the various tricks of players, as well as the means of defeating them, and manual dexterity in clearing the boards, paying the stakes, dealing and shuffling the cards, etc.

Binder Twine.

Mr. John M. F. Erwin's binder twine advertisement in this issue is worthy of your attention. Mr. Erwin is honest and reliable in every way. For several years past he has sold twine direct from factory to consumer, saving "middlemen's profits."

Write him for prices and full particulars.

A Re-Filed Saw.

Petted Son—Father, I hate to confess it, but the fact is, my allowance is all gone.

Indulgent Father—Well, I'll advance you some more. Have a good time while you're young, for when you get married you can't.—New York Weekly.

Occidental Sarcasm.

Alkali Ike—So you are from England, eh?

Briton (touring in Oklahoma)—Yahs, me deah fellah, I'm ham.

Alkali Ike—H'm! What did you do in England that you had to leave thar?—New York World.

J. C. SIMPSON, Marquess, W. Va., says: "Hall's Catarrh Cure cured me of a very bad case of catarrh." Druggists sell it, 75c.

Preparing for the Worst.

Customer—Bring me some lobster salad and some cucumbers.

Waiter (bringing pen, ink and paper)—Please write your name and address before you tackle the order.—National Hotel Reporter.

Many influences combine to reduce health to the danger-limit. The reviving properties of Parker's Ginger Tonic best overcome these ills.

The dust bath, the gravel box, the water trough, these three should be well supplied during May.

Everyone knows how it is to suffer with corns, and they are not conducive to graceful walking. Remove them with Hindercorns.

Fooling Them.

Fiji Girl—Hello! What are you doing out here with only your waist on? Relapsed?

Another Fiji Girl—No; I noticed it was real muddy, and I thought I'd just fool those horrid men over there on the corner.—Puck.

The Ladies.

The pleasant effect and perfect safety with which ladies may use the California liquid laxative, Syrup of Figs, under all conditions, makes it their favorite remedy. To get the true and genuine article, look for the name of the California Fig Syrup Co., printed near the bottom of the package.

Rollicking Western Humor.

Tourist—You seem to be proud of your family title?

The New York millionaire abroad (proudly)—Of course I am. I paid for it in good hard dollars.—Chicago Record.

A Trifling Gift.

Grace—Cholly Saphead was presented to me last night.

Ethel—Was he? Why, I shouldn't accept a gift like him.—Syracuse Post.

Trilby has arrived at the paper doll stage of her fame. By such imperceptible gradations do the greatest names fade away into oblivion.

LOOK OUT FOR BREAKERS AHEAD
when pimples, eruptions, boils, and like manifestations of impure blood appear. They wouldn't appear if your blood were pure and your system in the right condition. They show you what you need—a good blood-purifier; that's what you get when you take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.
It carries health with it. All Blood, Skin and Scalp Diseases, from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula, are cured by it. It invigorates the liver and rouses every organ into healthful action. In the most stubborn forms of Skin Diseases, such as Salt-rheum, Eczema, Tetter, Erysipelas, Boils and kindred ailments, and Scrofula, it is an unequaled remedy.

The Psychic Fad.

Now that hypnotism is in the air, our conversation books will have to be remodeled, as thus:

Good morning. Have you hibernated well?

Yes, I have had a most successful trance this winter. Have you laid up at all?

Only a few days at Christmas, just to escape the bills.

Well, you take my advice, old man, and rent a private catacomb on the three years' system. It comes much cheaper in the end, and you save all your coal and gas, to say nothing of clothes.

We've started a Nirvana club in our neighborhood on the tontine principle. The last person who wakes gets the prize, unless the first who comes to makes off with it.

It is capital, anyway, when you are taking a tour. Saves all the trouble of sight-seeing. You are just packed up and forwarded from place to place, with an automatic kodak, which records everything you visited. Try it!

Will, some day. By Jove, I must be off! I've got to attend an anaesthetic concert, absolutely painless.

And I've got a mesmeric dinner party on to-night. All the bores will be put in glass cases and fed mechanically.

Good-by, then. Sleep well!—Punch.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth
Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

Two Years Behind.

First Philadelphian—What are you going to do this summer?

Second Philadelphian—Well, I don't know for sure, but I've been thinking that I might take a little trip out to Chicago to see the world's exposition.

Partial Intimacy.

Caller—Are you intimate with Mrs. Firstfloor?

Mrs. Thirdfloor—Well—er—our servant girls hang our clothes on the same roof.—New York Weekly.

Piso's Cure cured me of Throat and Lung trouble of three years' standing.—E. Cady, Huntington, Ind., Nov. 12, 1894.

Wholly Cut Out.

"I think it is tough," said Willie. "These twins come along and ruin me."

"Ruin you?"

"Yes! If they'd been one baby it would been all right; but with two of 'em, and both new, pop hasn't got a knee left for me."—Harper's Bazar.

★ ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR ★
IMPERIAL GRANUM
IT IS
★ THE BEST ★
FOOD
FOR INVALIDS
JOHN CARLE & SONS, New York.

WALTER BAKER & CO.
The Largest Manufacturers of
PURE, HIGH GRADE
COCOAS AND CHOCOLATES
On this Continent, have received
HIGHEST AWARDS
from the great
Industrial and Food
EXPOSITIONS
In Europe and America.
Unlike the Dutch Process, no Alkalies or other Chemicals or Dyes are used in any of their preparations. Their delicious BREAKFAST COCOA is absolutely pure and soluble, and costs less than one cent a cup.
SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE.
WALTER BAKER & CO. DORCHESTER, MASS.

Ely's Cream Balm
Cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. Heals the Sores.
Apply Balm into each nostril.
ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N. Y.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.
Successfully Prosecutes Claims.
Late Principal Examiner U. S. Pension Bureau.
3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

For Cure of Sprains, Bruises, ST. JACOBS OIL on the
.. BASE BALL ..
Field is just what all players call it, "THE BEST."

CONSUMPTION
can, without doubt, be cured in its early stages. It is a battle from the start, but with the right kind of weapons properly used it can be overcome and the insidious foe vanquished. Hope, courage, proper exercise, will-power, and the regular and continuous use of the best nourishing food-medicine in existence—
Scott's Emulsion
—the wasting can be arrested, the lungs healed, the cough cured, bodily energies renewed and the physical powers made to assert themselves and kill the germs that are beginning to find lodgment in the lungs. This renowned preparation, that has no doubt cured hundreds of thousands of incipient cases of Consumption, is simply Cod-liver Oil emulsified and made palatable and easy of assimilation, combined with the Hypophosphites, the great bone, brain and nerve tonic.
Scott & Bowne, New York. All Druggists. 50c. and $1.

Minn Hist Soc
MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XIV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 5, 1895. NUMBER 44.

PITH OF THE NEWS

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

The Latest and Most Important News of the World, Culled From the Telegraph Reports of the Press Associations.

Washington.

The Bennington has been ordered to Honolulu to relieve the Philadelphia.

The order for troops to assist the Winnebago Indian agent has been revoked, there being no need for their aid.

The national supreme court unanimously refuses to grant Debs and his A. R. U. associates a writ of habeas corpus.

The president has amended the civil service rules taking all chiefs of divisions in the department of agriculture, of whom there are eighteen, out of the excepted class.

Assistant Secretary of the Interior Reynolds has decided that the pension claims of a mother at the date of her soldier son's death cannot be rejected solely on the ground that he did not contribute to her maintainance.

The senate committee on rules has been called to meet next Saturday for the purpose of considering various questions affecting the senate, the most important of which are the proper ventilation of the senate chamber and the lighting of the senate wing of the capitol.

Personal Mention.

Ruth Cleveland is the youngest bicyclist of her sex.

Eli M. Brown, editor of the Frankfort (Ind.) Crescent, prominent in politics, is dead.

Mrs. Sarah B. Cooper has been elected president of the California Suffrage Amendment association.

Aquilla Roberts, ninety-one years old, died at Deputy, Ind. He was the oldest member of the Methodist church in the state.

Jesse Johnson died at Valparaiso, Ind., aged eighty-eight years. He has resided there sixty-one years, serving as judge from 1836 to 1840.

Henry L. Fry, a wood carver whose work is to be seen in Westminster abbey, died at Pleasant Ridge, Ohio, aged eighty-eight.

Dr. Edward Eggleston, the well known author and lecturer, and Mrs. Eggleston had a narrow escape from drowning in Lake George, N. Y.

Miss Della Dunlevy at Jeffersonville, Ind., has been informed she is heiress to $100,000 left by her uncle, James Foster of Meadville, Pa.

Mrs. Hannah Martin, who got a national reputation a few years ago by announcing that she was the Messiah, died at Cincinnati.

Mrs. Catherine Adney, who has resided near Lebanon, Ind., for the past sixty-five years, died at her home in that city. She was ninety-seven years old.

Cardinal Gibbons is quoted as stating that he will remain a month in Rome, and on his return will deliver a public lecture in Paris on the questions between capital and labor.

Andrew Jackson Martin, a grandson of Andrew Jackson, died in Memphis, Tenn. He formerly practiced law at Kansas City. He was sixty-four years old.

Senor Ferrando, or as he was formerly known, Father Endards de Pego, is in New York, having fled South America because he had renounced allegiance to Rome and feared vengeance from his former Catholic parishioners.

Unfortunate Events.

Four persons met their deaths by drowning near Ozeona, Tex.

James Shears, a wealthy farmer near Oxford, Ohio, choked to death while eating dinner.

Henry McKinney, near Nashville, Tenn., accidentally killed two sisters. A rifle discharged prematurely.

Freddie Nicolay, aged six, of Jackson, Mich., choked on a piece of meat and died before a doctor arrived.

Frank Jones of Chili, Ind., is in a dying condition from lockjaw caused by shooting himself in the hand.

The overland limited killed two young men named Hodges and Batchelor at Dixon, Ill.

Albert Hagg, aged twenty, living near Pierceton, Ind., was drowned in Barbee's lake.

The Waverly hotel at Hot Springs, Ark., was burned. William Barton, the night porter, lost his life.

Guy Mingles, a well known young man of Keithsburg, Ill., was drowned in the Mississippi river while in bathing.

A Baltimore & Ohio passenger train instantly killed William Smith and Charles Eastman, coal miners, of Bellaire, Ohio, while they were walking along the tracks near Glendale coal works, cutting off their heads. Smith leaves a large family.

The family of James Jeffreys at Jeffersonville, Ind., consisting of twelve members, are the victims of ptomaine from eating meat which was not in good condition. Two little girls are in a dangerous condition. It is thought the others will recover.

Criminal Doings.

Two criminals cleverly break jail at Glasgow, Mont.

Kelly Blackburn, a well-known farmer of Chili, Ind., shot himself in the head and may die.

A gambling resort was raided in the outskirts of Elwood, Ind., and twenty men were arrested and fined.

In a quarrel over a game of pool at Evansville, Ind., John Horner struck John Smith on the head with a cue, causing his death a few hours later.

Vene Badgleytook all his money, $1,400, placed it on a table in his house at Fort Austin, Mich., and then jumped into a well and was drowned.

Disappointed in her love affairs by the interference of her parents, Minnie Tower hanged herself at Oakland City, Ind.

Thomas McGuire and his brother, Erie county, Pa., farmers, were held up and robbed of $1,000 by masked men.

Fred K. Evans, advance agent of Punch Robertson's New York Athenaeum company, committed suicide at Peoria, Ill.

An unknown man, whose home is supposed to be at Tecumseh, Neb., killed himself on a Burlington & Missouri train near St. Joseph, Mo.

At Moorehead, Ky., Marshal Moorehead and two deputies in a fight while attempting to arrest William Sturgill, a noted desperado, riddled him with bullets.

Nelson Featheroff of Adelphi, Ohio, a well-to-do farmer, fifty-five years old, assaulted Dora Whistler, nine years of age, the stepdaughter of John Karshner, Jr. Lynching is feared.

The citizens of Topeka, Kan., have discovered that they have been mulcted to the amount of $105,000. They paid that sum to a water works company instead of to its trustee.

M. D. C. Borden has authorized the chief of police of New York to offer a reward of $10,000 for the arrest of the murderers of Ferdinand Harris at the residence of Mr. Borden.

Fields N. Nash, former president of the Merchants' Exchange bank of Bristol, Tenn., is under arrest at Morristown, Tenn., charged with the murder of a barber for $18.

Sam Holliday, an employe, was arrested at St. Joseph, Mo., for robbing the mails. He confessed his guilt, and said he took the money as his salary was not sufficient to support himself and his wife.

George B. Montgomery shot and killed his brother-in-law, Archibald Riley, on the church steps at Versailles, Ky. Riley betrayed Montgomery's sister and at the point of a revolver had been compelled to marry the girl, but had since been cruel in his treatment of her.

Foreign.

Cholera has broken out at Tarsus, Turkey.

Mount Vesuvius is in an unusual state of eruption.

Cardinal Gibbons has arrived in Paris on his way to Rome.

Oscar Wilde is convicted and sentenced to two years at hard labor.

Hostilities begin in Formosa, the Japanese bombarding a town.

A dispatch from Constantinople says that cholera has broken out in Tarsus.

The Franfurter Zeitung says that France, Germany and Russia will jointly take up the Chinese war loan.

It is now freely predicted that there will be a general election in Great Britain in July.

The Guatemalan government has made reparation for its treatment of Argle, the American whom it ill-treated in prison.

During the massacres in Armenia the Turks cooked the bodies of victims and compelled prisoners to eat them.

J. de Burlet will be the new premier of Belgium, M. Schollaert minister of the interior and of public instruction and M. Nyssens will be given a new portfolio, that of minister of labor.

The passengers on the Spanish steamer Ciudad de Santander, which was wrecked near Isla de Flores while bound from Barcelona for Buenos Ayres, have been landed. Efforts are being made to save the cargo.

The Allegemaine Zeitung asserts that the German markets must remain closed unless the German financial syndicate is placed on the same footing as those of the other countries.

General.

The interstate miners' convention at Columbus, Ohio, adjourned without doing anything.

The national convention of charities and corrections has opened at New Haven.

The late trolley strike cost District Assembly No. 75, Knights of Labor of New York, $13,739.

The tobacco growing industry of California is about to undergo a wave of prosperity, it is believed.

The report of Grand Master Wilkinson of the Brotherhood of Railway trainmen shows that Debs' strike cost the brotherhood 5,000 members.

At New York Mrs. Bertha Leonard horsewhipped A. H. Moore, a "sporty" son of a Philadelphia millionaire because he had kept her diamonds.

Cubans in New York at a mass meeting agreed to contribute one-tenth of their weekly wages to aid the insurgents now fighting the Spaniards.

The United States court has restrained the Choctaw nation from selling several thousands of dollars' worth of land.

The Penwell and Springside collieries at Pana, Ill., employing hundreds of miners, shut down owing to having no orders for coal.

Federal troops will probably be employed to quell the trouble on the Winnebago Indian reservation in Nebraska.

A woman minister baptized thirty-nine converts in the Okaw river near Arcola, Ill., in the presence of an audience of 3,000.

George B. Gallon, the vituperative Englishman who at Topeka, Kas., called the American flag a "dirty rag," has made an abject apology.

Owing to the death of one of her crew from yellow fever the Mexican Prince has been detained at quarantine in New York.

A chinch bug station has been established at Kansas state university with a view of ultimately exterminating the pest.

Seventeen passenger conductors on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad lines, west of the Ohio river, were discharged. Spotters are said to have been working on the road recently.

H. M. Benedict, identified with W. W. Taylor, the South Dakota defaulter, has gone into court and surrendered himself. The move is taken to get a hearing on the habeas corpus proceedings before the United States court.

Freight cars with every modern improvement and capable of carrying sixty tons can now be bought for 20 per cent less than the prices of 1892. Prices vary because of the standards of different roads and the necessities of the manufacturers. The average for the best cars in round lots is under $500.

NEGRO STRUNG UP.

BUT THE ENTREATIES OF A WOMAN SAVES HIS NECK.

A Negro Tramp Enters a House in St. Paul and Attempts to Assault a Young Lady—He Is Captured After a Long Chase.

St. Paul, June 4.—Houston Osborne, a negro tramp now locked up at the Rondo street police station, knows how it feels to be half-hanged. Early yesterday morning a half-dozen excited men strung him up to a tree at the corner of Iglehart street and Lexington avenue, and would have left him there to perish had it not been for the prayers of a woman. Just as the negro was losing consciousness the rope was slackened and his life preserved. His crime was an attempted criminal assault upon Miss Freda Ketchell, an eighteen-year-old girl who lives with her two sisters at 1097 Iglehart street.

Osborne is twenty-eight years old and bears the stamp of the tramp desperado. He is of good size, strong and active According to his statement, made to Capt. Lowell, of the Rondo street station, he spent the most of Saturday night in a vacant house in the Midway district. Before daybreak he started to walk into the city. It was 4:30 o'clock and quite light when he reached the corner of Lexington avenue and Iglehart street. A little back from the street stands the one story frame house in which the three sisters were sleeping. About fifty feet distant on Iglehart street is the two story frame residence of D. W. Horst, the brother of Charles Horst, ex-city treasurer. One of the upper rooms of the house is occupied by young Anton Ketchell, the brother of the girls.

The negro could not have selected a more favorable spot for his dastardly attempt. It is wholly outside of police patrol. Osborne, in his survey of the little house, discovered a window on the west side pushed partly up and held in place with a flower pot. He stealthily raised the sash and entered the room where the girls were sleeping. Maggie Ketchell, aged twenty-one, and Katherine, aged fifteen, were sleeping in a bed, while Freda occupied a lounge on the other side of the room. He attempted to assault Freda, when she awoke and screamed. The negro then jumped out of the window and fled, followed by Anton Ketchell, who had been awakened by the noise. Ketchell was soon followed by D. W. Horst, M. Thompson, a neighbor, and four men who were milking cows a short distance away. The negro was captured after a run of a mile and a half.

Stretched Up.

The walk back did not consume much time. It was after 5 o'clock when the men arrived at the house with their prisoner. The girls had dressed and were out in the yard with their sister, Mrs. Horst, when the tramp was brought up. At Mr. Thompson's request a rope was fetched from the house and Osborne's hands securely bound behind him. In the meantime the three girls were telling the story of what happened in the house. The men looked at each other for a moment, and then one of them said: "Better get a rope."

Anton Ketchell disappeared and a moment later returned with a stout clothesline about thirty feet long. The negro began crying for mercy as soon as he saw the punishment that was being prepared for him.

"My God," he exclaimed in agonized tones, "take me into the city; give me up to the police; do what you will with me, only don't lynch me."

His appeals were of no avail. The men proceeded with their work without a word. Not one of them flinched. When the noose was ready it was put around the man's neck and drawn tight. Osborne's knees began to give way. His whole body shook with fear and his eyes fairly bulged from their sockets. Still the men worked. When everything was in readiness Osborne was taken to the rear of the house where the girl had been sleeping. The loose end of the rope was passed over the limb of a large cottonwood tree. Tighter and tighter it was drawn until the man's feet left the ground. As he swung clear his body turned half-way around.

Perhaps the spectacle was more horrible than the men anticipated. Mrs. Horst had, from the start, begged the men to spare the negroe's life, and when she saw him hanging from the tree she redoubled her prayers in his behalf. The men relented and slowly loosened their grip, allowing Osborne's feet to once more touch the ground. He could hardly stand, but was so thankful for his escape that he made no complaint. The rope was pulled back over the bough and used as a halter with which to lead him away. The line of march was again taken up, and in half an hour the men reached the Rondo street police station. There Osborne was placed in a cell, after the cords were taken from his wrists.

As a matter of useful information it may be stated that whenever a cooking receipt calls for a baking powder the "Royal" should be used. The receipt will be found to work better and surer, and the bread, biscuit, rolls, cakes, dumplings, crusts, puddings, crullers or whatever made, will be sweeter, lighter, finer-flavored, more dainty, palatable and wholesome.

Played With Matches.

Beaver Falls, Pa., June 4. — Some boys playing with matches in a stable here to-day started a fire that did damage to the amount of $60,000.

Battle in a Court Room.

Houston, Tex., June 4.—At Snyder, sixteen miles from here, Justice Eubank's court developed into a pistol war in which a man named Chapman and Tom Dean were the participants. Dean was witness in a suit of Bert Cartland against Dickson, which caused the trouble. Dickson was killed and one of his sons badly injured, as was also Chapman and Dean It is said that Chapman was shot by accident. He is father-in-law of Dixon. It is thought that Chapman and Dixon will both die.

LOSS OF THE COLIMA.

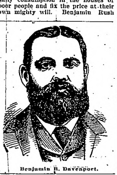
Survivors Give Details of the Horrible Disaster.

Mazatlan, June 4.—The Juan has arrived here with twenty-one passengers picked up on Tuesday from the wreck of the Colima. The dreadful disaster, they say, happened on Monday at noon when the Colima was about twenty-eight miles out of Manzanillo and ten miles from shore. All the rescued are badly bruised. They were all picked up from pieces of wreckage and rafts, with the exception of A. J. Sutherland, who had clung to a boat after it had capsized five times and drowned all the other occupants. All were afloat, lashed by the fiercest gale of years and buffeted by seas for about thirty-three hours. The survivors say that the officers of the steamer were brave and active. Capt. Taylor stood upon the bridge, his first officer, D. E. Griffiths, with him. At an order Griffiths rushed aft to superintend the launching of lifeboat No. 6. Second Officer Langhorn was at lifeboat No. 3, and succeeded in getting it launched and filled with passengers. Then down went the ship and Langhorn's boat was capsized. All in the boats were supposed to have been drowned. Capt. Taylor went down with the ship, sticking to his post. As the ship pitched downward he blew three blasts on the whistle, supposedly as a signal of good by. Then he disappeared beneath the waves. Down went the engineers and firemen at their posts.

AFTER MONOPOLIES.

Benjamin R. Davenport, of the Anti-Trust League.

Newark, N. J., June 4.—Benjamin R. Davenport is the originator and promoter of the Anti-Trust League, recently formed for the purpose of wiping out of existence six great monopolies that control six articles of daily consumption in the houses of poor people and fix the price at their own mighty will. Benjamin Rush Davenport is a resident of this city, a descendent of the well known Cobb family of Georgia, and a first cousin by marriage of Hoke Smith, secretary of the interior of the United States. Mr. Davenport was a reporter for some years in St. Louis, studied law and practiced his profession for a time, then returned to journalism, editing a magazine called the Blue and the Gray. He has also published several books that have attracted considerable attention, and the doctrines exploited in his last book have led to the formation of the Anti-Trust League.



Benjamin R. Davenport.

To manufacturers like the Royal Baking Powder Company, the public is under a large debt of gratitude for the increased purity of articles of food sold at the present day. The reports of the official Government investigations of baking powders show the Royal to be stronger and purer than any other. It is quite evident that neither ingenuity, science nor expense can in any way improve upon the Royal Baking Powder as now before the public.

FOUNDERS OF THE STATE.

Thirty-Eighth Reunion of Minnesota Old Settlers.

St. Paul, June 4.—The thirty-eighth reunion of the Minnesota old settlers of 1839 and 1840 occurred in this city. At the business meeting of the Old Settlers' Association of Minnesota in the rooms of the State Historical society at the capitol forty-two members were present. Their business was soon disposed of, and they then repaired to the Merchants, where, according to their time-honored custom, they ate and drank and made merry, and in an old fashioned interchange of greetings and reminiscences became again the hardy, spirited youths they were "way back in the 'forties."

J. C. Terry of St. Paul was elected president, succeeding William Williams of Stillwater, who died during the year. The other officers elected were P. K. Johnson of Brainerd, vice president; H. N. Setzer of Stillwater, second vice president; A. L. Larpenteur, secretary; Capt. Russell Blakeley, treasurer. Capt. Blakeley presided over the business meeting. J. B. Chaney was elected an honorary member and corresponding secretary, succeeding J. Fletcher Williams, deceased.

Yellow Fever on Board.

New York, June 4.—The Prince line steamship Grecian Prince arrived at Quarantine to-day from Santos and Rio Janeiro with a full cargo of coffee. Capt. Miller reported that he left Santos May 2 and Rio Janeiro on the 11th. At the latter port two of the crew were taken with yellow fever and sent to the hospital on shore.

Have It in for McMasters.

Madison, June 4. — It has been decided to rearrest Harry McMaster, the Eau Claire bank cashier, who proved to be a defaulter and who is now serving two years in Waupun. A bench warrant has been issued and given to the warden of the penitentiary, who will serve it on McMaster when his term is up. It is the United States authorities who are proceeding now, the supreme court having held that the federal courts have jurisdiction. McMaster pleaded guilty in a state court.

ALL SWEPT AWAY.

DISASTROUS FLOOD IN THE MEDICINE VALLEY IN NEBRASKA.

Curtis Lake Breaks Its Banks and a Wall of Water Sweeps Down the Valley, Destroying Everything in Its Path.

Curtis, Neb., June 4.—Curtis lake here has burst its banks, carrying great destruction through the whole Medicine valley; a $20,000 roller mill is ruined and freight cars and railroad yards carried away. The bursting of the lake has seriously menaced property and possibly life in the Medicine valley. The grade is torn up, freight cars are strewn along the Medicine bottom, and the fine roller mills are ruined; Curtis lake is nearly empty and a flood of water is running down the Medicine valley, carrying destruction in its mad rush. Four or the five yard tracks, besides the main line, are torn up and gone, while a train of freight cars reach over the bank and are swinging in the flood. Twenty thousand dollars damage has been done here and all other points to hear from. The fine alfalfa meadows just below the city are ruined and homes all along the valley are destroyed.

Royal Baking Powder is the purest and highest in strength of any of the baking powders, and hence makes more, finer and better food. These are the official facts as set forth by the U. S. Government and the various State Chemists' reports. Of course great efforts will be made by those interested in the sale of the cheaper made, alum powders, to continue their sale where consumers have made up their minds to have the Royal and call for it at their grocers. The Royal Powder is so much superior to all the other preparations for quick raising, that it will amply repay housekeepers to use the necessary persistency to procure it in spite of all objections.

McCook, Neb., June 4.—As a result of yesterday afternoon's heavy rain Curtis lake burst its banks about 6 oclock this morning at the place where the Burlington railroad tracks cross the embankment of the lake, and a heavy body of water is now rushing down the Medicine valley toward Republican river. A number of freight cars on the track were precipitated into the Medicine valley below, and the fine Curtis roller mill is destroyed. The Burlington's loss alone will reach $3,000. The loss to stock above and below the dam is large. It has been raining all day, and the water has been rising in the lake, so much apprehension is still felt, not only for the mill, but for other property. With the continued rain and the immense volume of water now rushing down the Medicine valley the dam and the Burlington bridge at Cambridge are sure to go out in a few hours.

Medicine valley is thickly settled, and fears are felt for the safety of the people.

A work train which left this morning to clear up the Burlington road east of here is reported to have run into a wash-out between Oxford and Edson. It is rumored that several men are injured. A wrecking train has been made up and sent to their assistance.

FEMALE DETECTIVE.

She Is the Means of the Arrest of a Sioux City Doctor.

Sioux City, June 3.—Dr. H. C. Munter, a well known physician, was arrested here to-day charged with illegal use of the mails. Recently one of his circulars fell into the postmaster's hands in which the doctor advertises a lying-in hospital, intimates that he will perform abortions and offers liberal commissions for patients. The matter was placed in an inspector's hands, and a female detective employed who arranged with the doctor to perform a criminal operation upon her. She went to his office to-day and as the doctor took out his instruments the inspector walked in and took him. He was bound over to the federal grand jury in $2,000 bonds.

Japs Want Hawaii.

Omaha, June 4. — Maj. Mortimer Higley of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, is en route from Hawaii. Higley is an intimate friend of President Dole, and has been in the republic some time, and asserts that the life of the present administration is very limited unless some of the powers come to its rescue. He says: "The sentiment in favor of annexation is strong. The most kindly feelings are cherished toward the United States among the natives as well as the rest of the population. I predict that if the United States does not annex the islands Japan will."

Ruffian Killed.

St. Louis, June 4.—A gang of ruffians who had been ejected from the Missouri Pacific railroad yards to-day turned on Private Watchman Joe Ketchum and stoned him. Ketchum, who was badly injured, shot into the crowd several times, two of the shots taking effect. Edwin Lorenz, a former employe of the road, was instantly killed. Lorenz's body was taken to the morgue and Ketchum was arrested.

Thirty Lives Probably Lost.

Philadelphia, June 4. — News has reached this city of the stranding and possible loss in the Straits of Magellan of the huge American steamship Washtenaw, Capt. Holmes, which sailed from this port on April 10 for San Francisco with a cargo of coal and general merchandise. The crew numbered about thirty persons.

South Dakota Doctors.

Huron, S. D., June 4. — The fourteenth annual meeting of the South Dakota State Medical society will be held in Park on June 11 and 12. The annual address will be delivered by R. T. Doty, president.

Bland Is a Delegate.

Jefferson City, Mo., June 4. — Gov. Stone has appointed fifty-four delegates to attend the Memphis silver convention to be held June 12 and 13. Among those named is Congressman Bland.

BOTH DEAD WHEN FOUND.

Mrs. Elias and Her Daughter Murdered While Asleep.

Minneapolis, June 4.—Mrs. Martha M. Elias and her daughter, Annie M. Elias, were found dead in bed by a police officer, both women bleeding profusely from gunshot wounds in the head. The noise of the shooting attracted the neighbors and the policeman. At first it was supposed that the woman had killed the daughter and then herself in a fit of mental aberration, but after the bodies had been removed to the county morgue and washed, Coroner Kistler discovered cuts on Mrs. Elias' face which throws suspicion on the case, and would make it seem that a third party was implicated in the terrible deed. The tragedy occurred at 1227 Nicollet avenue, in the two-story frame building on the corner of Thirteenth street. Both bodies were found lying in bed, side by side. Mrs. Elias was about fifty-five years old, and her daughter twenty-six. They lived alone, and so far as is known are the only members of the family. Mrs. Elias had a son killed at Rochester a few years ago in a railway accident, and another son, Loren, who was released from an insane asylum April 30.

L. D. Elias, the son, was taken in custody shortly before 7 o'clock last evening. He had returned to the scene of the tragedy, and was intercepted by C. A. Maule, night apothecary for the Hart pharmacy, and C. F. Littlefield, who had been placed in charge of the premises by the coroner. The police were telephoned for, and the captive was taken to the central station. He denies having committed the murder, although admits having slept at the house the night of the tragedy

IT IS WARM.

The Thermometer from 95 to 100 in the Shade.

Philadelphia, June 4.—The hot spell in this city and vicinity continued to-day without perceptible abatement. At 9 o'clock this morning the temperature was 86 degrees, and it rose steadily until a maximum of 95 was reached. On the surface nearly all day it was in the neighborhood of 100. There were many prostrated and several deaths.

New York, June 4—It was the warmest day of this date since the weather bureau was started in this city. The thermometer went up to 94 degrees. Local Forecaster Dunn says it will be cooler to-morrow. There were few persons overcome by heat to-day. The police reported only ten cases.

The Royal Baking Powder is the greatest of the modern time helps to perfect cooking and every receipt requiring a raising ingredient should embody it.

Bloomington, Ill., June 4.—Specials to the Pantagraph report a very heavy rain last night at Lasalle, Wenona and Minonk, thoroughly breaking the drouth. The heat was terrific to-day, touching 100 degrees.

Quincy, Ill., June 4.—The mercury reached 98 in the shade to-day, the hottest ever known for the same day, and several people were prostrated.

Assaulted and Murdered.

San Francisco, June 4.—Another diabolical crime bearing some resemblance to the terrible tragedies of Emanuel church was unearthed this morning by the discovery that Miss Nellie Harrington, aged thirty-five, who occupied an upper flat at 1017 Ellis street, had been outraged and murdered in her bedroom, the door locked and her clothing and the furniture of the apartment set on fire. The room had been sacked and her jewelry and purse stolen. The theory of the police is that while a thief was in the room Miss Harrington entered; he assaulted and murdered her, set fire to the bedding to hide his work, and after looting the room escaped.

Burned Herself to Death.

Ellsworth, Kan., June 4.—Mrs. William Irvin of Freeport, Ill., who for several months has been living here with her father, a prominent citizen named Leavitt, committed suicide last night in a shocking manner. She was insane and had been carefully watched, but during the evening she eluded vigilance and stole into the cellar. There she saturated her clothing with gasoline and applied a match. When found she was enveloped in flames and died a few minutes later in intense agony. Mrs. Irvin was a sister of County Treasurer Irvin.

Schrage's $1,000,000 Rheumatic Cure is a liquid internal medicine made expressly to cure permanently all kinds of Gout, Rheumatism and Neuralgia. Not a "cure all." Pleasant, harmless, certain. Will not cure in 2 or 3 days. If you are a sensible person you know it takes time to cure a deep seated disorder like rheumatism. A remedy for sensible people who don't expect a miracle for 25c. Prompt relief always. "Square dealing and satisfaction" our motto.

Perhaps you don't fancy our style. If not, don't write to us. 60,000 bottles sold this year and 25,000 people cured. Ten thousand true testimonials. Cost $1.50 per bottle, enough for 18 days. Highest references in every county in the United States. Advice free. A few good agencies left.

SWANSON RHEUMATIC CURE CO., (owners) 167 Dearborn St., Chicago.

Foolhardy Act.

Glenwood Springs, Colo., June 3.—While William Simpson, head laundryman at the Hotel Colorado, was in swimming with a number of men they undertook to outdo each other in foolhardy acts. Finally Simpson undertook to sit on the nozzle from which the water shoots with a velocity of 128 pounds to the inch, with the result that the water practically burst him open. He will die.

Brave Boy.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, June 4.—G. J. Stephens went home drunk and attempted to kill his wife and set fire to the house. His stepson, fifteen years old, fired two shots, both taking effect. Stephens may die.

Lived Nearly a Century.

London, June 4. — Rt. Hon. Sir James Bacon, P. C., is dead. Sir James was born in 1798, and was the eldest son of the late Mr. James Bacon, barrister-at-law of the middle temple.

DEATH FROM HEAT.

WARM WAVE SWEEPS OVER THE SOUTH AND EAST.

At Bloomington, Ill., the Thermometer Registeres the Highest Ever Known at This Season of the Year the Crops Are Being Baked.

Bloomington, Ill., June 2.—The thermometer to-day registered 95 1-2. The highest previously touched this year was 97 on Wednesday. This beats the record for this region for this season of the year. To-day was the fourth of the continuous gale of hot south wind. Pastures and meadows are getting gray. Corn that is high enough has been badly beaten down by the wind and wilted.

New York, June 2.—To-day was the hottest day of the season so far. At 8 o'clock in the morning the thermometer of the weather bureau on top of the Manhattan Life Insurance building recorded a temperature of 82 degrees. By ten o'clock the official temperature was 87. Later it reached 95 degrees. Many prostrations and two deaths are reported.

Indianapolis, June 2.—The hot wave has made the crop condition more alarming. So long as it was cool the growing vegetation held its color, but under the influence of the sun and wind of this week vegetation of all kinds is withering. Many of the meadows are already in August brown. The blue grass pasture will not much longer afford grazing for cattle the farmers say, and the wheat and corn are both in danger of being destroyed. There does not seem to be any moisture in the earth. In some localities live stock is driven long distances to water.

Chicago, June 2.—Mrs. Mary Arndt, forty years of age, was prostrated by the heat to-day and died within an hour. Many other prostrations are reported.

Detroit, Mich., June 2. — Charles Gariere, an Italian laborer, was prostrated by the heat to-day and died.

TURKS OFFENSIVE.

British Vice Consul Killed—French and Russians Insulted.

Constantinople, June 2.—Advices received here from Moosh state that the residence occupied by the French, British and Russian envoys has been forcibly entered by the Turkish gendarmes, who attempted to arrest a servant of the envoys. They used abusive language and were expelled with difficulty. This news, coupled with the news from Jeddah that the British consul and vice consul, the Russian acting consul and the French consular secretary were attacked and shot at outside of the town has caused considerable excitement in diplomatic circles. The British vice consul was slightly wounded. The other consular officers were seriously wounded. The shooting is attributed to Bedouins. Three British warships have been ordered to Jeddah with instructions to protect the lives of foreigners and to investigate the killing of the British vice consul and the wounding of the other consular officers.

FRAUD ALL AROUND.

Chicago Road Race May Be Run a Second Time.

Chicago, June 2. — There is a lively possibility that it may be necessary to run the Chicago road race over again. The winner of the second prize for the fastest time, Fred Rau, of the Morgan & Wright club, was disqualified to-day. He was questioned to-day by Mr. Morgan, and finally admitted that he did not ride over the whole course. A thorough investigation of all the leading men in this race will now be made. Decardy and Bainbridge make affidavits that they saw Emerson, the time winner, sitting down near the sidewalk in Evanston, and that he declared that he was out of the race. They also declare that some sixty riders who finished ahead of them were passed in Evanston.

The Mulct Law.

Des Moines, June 2.—The supreme court to-day decided the mulct saloon law case of the state vs. the Ashert and Savery Hotel company, throwing the burden of proof of sufficiency of petitions under the law upon the saloon men. The petition was filed with the county auditors and accepted by him, which was held to be evidence of its sufficiency. It is now decided otherwise. Saloons here may have to close unless they get a petition.

Bikes Stolen.

Kansas City, June 2.—Otto Balthoff of St. Louis, one of the entries in yesterday's road race, is under arrest here charged with stealing three bicycles from a St. Louis firm for whom he had worked. He maintains that the firm owed him considerable money and that he had the right to take the property. The bicycles were sold to a local firm for $30.

Livery Barn Burns.

St. Paul, June 2.—One of the finest livery stables in the city, that of Edward W. Shirk, at Ninth and Rosabel streets, was almost wholly destroyed by fire at 1:30 this morning. The loss on building and contents was between $6,000 and $8,000, partly covered by insurance. No one seems to know how the fire originated.

Inventors Are Busy.

Washington, June 2.—Nine hundred and eighty-seven patents were issued this week. This is the largest number, with two exceptions, issued in any week since 1891.

Novel Obstruction.

New Paynesville, Minn., June 2. — The Soo west-bound freight train ran into a traveling army of caterpillars east of here yesterday and were delayed three hours. They were several rods wide and were traveling northwest, and made sand on the track useless for the engine.

Burglary at Emmons.

Alden, Minn., June 2.—A store at Emmons was burglarized last evening. Chief Ransom of Albert Lea was here to-day in pursuit of the burglars.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arriv Crookston Daily
St.Paul Minneapolis Superior Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.0 a. m.	7:35 am
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	7.25 a. m.	7:10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston daily has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or special information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. R. at Crookston, Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent,
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marsha

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for in or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON
R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE
W. A. Sorsoleil

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS
COPYRIGHTS.

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free.

Building Edition, monthly, $2.50 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY.

Sash and doors cheap for cash at Johnson & Marshall's.

Fred Eikhoff made a short trip to Red Lake Falls to-day

Bert McDougle, of Thief River Falls visited in the village last Sunday,

Cash paid for hides, tallow, sheep pelts etc. at the St. Hilaire meat market

Deputy Sheriff Johnson of Crookston was in town last Friday on business'

We were favored with another good soaking rain last Monday and Tuesday

Jim and Charlie Meade of Red Lake Falls was in the village a short time today,

Herman Hoff, of Park River N. D is visiting relatives in this vicinity this week-

L T Bergh was looking after McCormick Collections in this vicinity this week

O. H Peters commenced the erection of a dwelling on his lot on Broadway to-day

Christ Bjerk of Marshall Co; is renewing acquaintances with old friends in town this week,

John Dainard came over from N, D, last Monday and will spend a month here working for his cousin S M Dainard

Magic Corn Cure is warranted to cure corns bunions, etc. or money refunded, For sale at St. Hilaire meat market,

T, W. Tillish, representing the Security Trust Co; of Grand Forks is in town this week in the interest of that company.

C, G Rapp who has been appointed census enumerator is hard at work this week rounding up the population of St, Hilaire.

Wm Eikhof is feeling happy over the arrival of a bouncing boy at his place last Wednesday. Mother and child are doing well

Dr Williams Pink Pills for pale people, the great blood purifier and Nerve Tonic' For sale at the St, Hilaire meat market.

Work on the new dam at St. Hilaire is progressing finely, it is quite an undertaking but will furnish an excellent water power, —Thief River Falls Press.

Sam Hill, J. J. Hill's son-in-law, has material interest in the St. Hilaire Boomage and Improvement Company, This is good for St. Hilaire. —Red Lake Falls Gazette

John and Sever Hoff of Grand Meadow Mower Co; came up on last Friday to take charge of the remains of their sister Mrs. O J Johnson which was shipped to that place for interment last Monday-

The Great Northern Railway Line will make a rate of $1 15 from St, Hilaire to Crookston and return for the Firemen's Tournament June 15th to 17th. Dates of sale, June 14th to 17th with return limit June 18th.

Mrs Johnson wife of Ole J. Johnson of Wyandotte died last Wednesday after an illness of two days with inflammation of the bowels. She leaves a husband and six small children to mourn her loss, The sympathy of all is extended to the bereaved family.

The boys held their regular weekly shoot last evening, They shot at 20 blue rocks unknown angles, with a high wind with the following results:

H E Ives 14; M E Bjerk 7; W Stranahan 13; O F Post 12; F Eikhoff 15; C Johnson 9.

When our forefathers were agitating for independence from the mother country they were cranks, fools and lunatics to those who insisted that this country should not be seperated from England, should not be independent of England because England did not want to lose this country, did not want us to be independent. Those of our present citizens who are agitating for independence of Englands monetary system are cranks, fools and lunatics to those who do not desire that kind of independence because England does not want us to enjoy it! Verily, humanity does not change, and history is ever repeating itself! —Farm Stock and Home,

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that a meeting of the Polk County Farmers Alliance will be held at the Court House in the City of Crookston, Minn, on Friday the 28th day of June, 1895, at 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of electing, for the ensuing year a president, one vice president from each of the Commissioner's Districts of Polk County, secretary, a County Lecturer and a Treasurer, and for the transaction of any other business for the good of the order.

Each local Sub-Alliance is entitled to send three delegates to the County Alliance meeting, and the Secretaries of such Sub-Alliance should see that they are fully represented by immediately calling a meeting of their respective Sub-Alliances, and elect such delegates

Dated this first day of June 1895,

E. E. Lommen, President
Samuel Gilean, Secretary,

A Chance For A Fine Trip.

The annual meeting of the National Educational Association occurs July 9th to 12th, 1895, at Denver Colo. A fine trip has been provided by the Great Northern Railway for persons who wish to attend it. The route is from St. Paul and Minneapolis through the Minnesota Park Region and Red River Valley, by Devils Lake, Great Falls, with its wonderful water power, industries and scenery, Helena, capital of Montana, with its hot springs, Butte America's famous mining city, and then by way of Ogden and Salt Lake to Denver, and return via Omaha or Sioux City. Tickets on sale June 10th 17th and 24th good 30 days with stop off privileges going. Tickets are sold July 4th 5th and 6th direct to Denver via Sioux City and return by Salt Lake Ogden, Butte, Helena and Great Falls. Regular summer Montana and Pacific Coast Excursion rates are now in effect and round trip tickets can be bought any day. For further information see H. J. Freeman, agent or address F. I. Whitney, G, P, & T, A, St. Paul Minn.

The United States has about $9 00 per capita of silver, in coin and bullion France has $18.00 per capita Both countries are "preserving the parity, between gold and silver; the United States by borrowing gold, $165'000,000 of it within a little more than a year:

France by using silver, by paying out both gold and silver in about the proportion of her holdings of those metals, The United States treasury officals say they dare not pay out silver, for if they do it will" drive gold out of the country, and put a premium upon it, France's treasury officals do pay out silver, notwithstanding the relatively larger amount of it held there, and it does not drive gold out of France, nor put a premium upon it, but on the contrary the store of gold there is constantly increasing. A recent report of the Bank of France, really the French treasury, shows that during the year ,94 the increase in the gold reserve was $71'606,000 and for the first three months of '95 the increase was $16,000,000 or nearly $88,000,000 in fifteen months, while in about fourteen months the United States borrowed $165,000,000 to keep up her legal reserve and maintain the parity. Notes of the Bank of France are payable in coin, usually about half and half gold and silver. Why is that not the rule here? Probably because the French Republic is ruled by the people, While this one is ruled by Wall street, At all events this is the only explanation now in sight.—Farm Stock & Home,

The Poineer Press sent out inquiries as to the view of the different members of the Minnesota delegation to the Republic league convention at Cleveland upon the financial question, Most of the answers received are comforting to the gold monometalists but congressman elect Towne, of Duluth, rather startled the Republicans by his expressions. He states that he believes in bimetallism and refers to the platforms of the Republican party of 1892 and 1894, as evidence that he is in accord with his party on that point (This sounds like sarcasm) He believes that bimetallism must be accomplished through: (a) The concert of all leading commercial nations: (b) the United States and several leading nations; (c) the United States and the silver using countries of the Orient and South America; (d) the independent action of the United States. These methods he prefers in the order given. In conclusion he says: I freely concede that short of a general agreement, free coinage is more or less an experiment, not to be undertaken except upon urgent considerations. In my opinion formed upon some study and reflection, such considerations exist. The appreciation of gold is a fact, If it is not a fact, then upon what grounds can even universal international bimetallism be urged, All history testifies to the hardship of an appreciation money standard, and not the least instructive chapter is that one which embraces the last quarter of a century, By her double-edged policy of free trade and gold monometallism England seeks to cut away every prop of American industrial independence. I am against a longer subserveney to her if we can honorably escape it —Norman County Herald,

ORDINANCE NO. X1.

Concerning Dogs.

The Village Council of the Village of St. Hilaire do ordain as follows:

Sec. I. That any dog bitch or slut or any animal of the dog kind owned or being in the possession of any resident of or any person in the village of St. Hilaire shall be registered by such person or resident with the village recorder on the 1st day of July of each year and shall at the same time pay to said recorder for the use of said village a tax of Two [$2.00] Dollars for each dog and Five [$5.00] Dollars for each bitch or slut so owned and possessed by such resident or person. Every owner or possessor of any dog bitch or slut or any animal of the dog kind shall procure from the village recorder a certificate which shall state plainly therein the number and date of such license, the name of such owner or possessor, and the name of such dog, bitch or slut so licensed, and shall pay the village recorder for the use of said village the sum of ten cents for each certificate. The village recorder shall at the commencement of each municipal year provide a tag for every dog, bitch or slut licensed during his term of office said tag to have a distinguishable difference from those used in previous years.

Sec. 2. No person shall suffer his or her dog, bitch, slut or whelp to run at large within the limits of said village unless such animal wears a collar with the tag number and name destinctly engraved stamped or written thereon.

Sec. 3. It shall be lawful for the village dog inspector to kill or destroy any dog, whelp, bitch or slut found running at large within the limits of this village contrary to the provisions of this ordinance.

Sec. 4. No person shall suffer to be allowed to run at large in said village or streets thereof any dog bitch slut or whelp of a ferocious character, habit or disposition nor in the habit of barking at or in any manner annoying any person passing along or using the street or streets of said village and the village dog inspector is hereby empowered to kill or cause to be killed any such animal if found on the street or at large in said village.

Sec. 5. The dog inspector shall proceed under instructions from the president to capture and slaughter all dogs not properly licensed and collared and all dogs so slaughtered he shall bury or cause to be buried for which service he shall receive one ($1.00) dollar for each dog so slaughtered and buried upon presentation of his bill to the village council for approval, the sum to be paid out of the general village fund. The dog inspector shall receive no payment for services or expenses other than herein provided.

Sec. 6 Any person violating any of the provisions of the foregoing sections of this ordinance on conviction thereof before the justice of the peace in and for the village of St. Hilaire Minn, shall be fined in a sum not less than fifteen [$15.00] dollars and cost of prosecution and may be imprisoned not exceeding twenty [20] days in the county jail until such fine is paid.

Sec. 7. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Passed by the Village Council of the Village of St. Hilaire Minn, this 3rd day of June A. D 1895.

S. M. Dainard
Pres. of Vill. Council.

Attest
J. L. Johnson
Village Recorder.

Regular meeting of the village council Monday, May 3rd 1895.

All members present.

Meeting called to order by President Dainard.

The following bills were allowed.

O. H. Peters 1 day Judge of election. $2.00,

S. Harris street work as pr bill $3.60

Walter S Booth & Son blank books etc $3.65,

Lars Bakke services rendered as pr bill $2.00.

Fred Eikhoff mdse as pr bill $3.40.

On motion it was resolved to pass an ordinance in regard to dogs and to have the same published in the St. Hilaire Spectator for 3 successive weeks,

On motion it was resolved to pass an ordinance in regard to dray men and to have the same published in the St. Hilaire Spectator for 3 successive weeks.

On motion it was resolved to fix the dray licence at $10.00 for the ensuing

On motion S. Harris was appointed pound master for the ensuing year.

On motion S. Harris was appointed Dgo Inspector for the ensuing year,

On motion meeting adjourned,

S. M. Dainard, president.
J. L. Johnson, Recorder.

Special meeting of the village council Friday May 31st A.D.1892.

All members present

Meeting called to order by President Dainard

Minutes of last meeting read and approved.,

The following sealed bids for bonds ware received as follows to wit:

S. A. Kean, of Chicago, Ill. offers to buy the $ 2,500. 7 per cent non optional 20 year bonds at par.

H. E Ives offers to buy the $2,500 7 percent non-optional 20 year bonds at par.

Emil J, Helmes of Cannon Falls Minn' offers to buy the $2,500' 7 per cent non optional, 20 year bonds for $25.00 above par providing that the interest is payable semi-annual in gold with exchange to N. Y. and that the same are legally issued.

On motion of councilman Patterson seconded by councilman Hoff it was resolved that we accept the bid of E' J, Holmes of $25. above par for the $2.500 village bond, and that the same be issued on June 1st 1895 and in case said E. J. Holmes shall refuse to make his bid good then the bid of H. F, Ives at par shall be accepted,

On motion it was resolved by the village council that the president and recorder are hereby authorized to sign the $25,00, bonds and coupon attached thereto when the same shall be ready for their signature without any further negotiations with said council

Go to Johnson & Marshall's for lime cement, etc.

ESTRAY

Came to the premises of the undersigned about May 15th a bay mare lame in hip with halter, about six years old. Owner can have same by proving property and paying charges,

James Madden,
Sec: 31 Tp. 152 R 41,

Dr H. GRUNDY

Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis

DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS
AND CIGARS.

Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.

Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY.

The NEW and the RIGHT WAY
EAST and WEST
TO ALL PACIFIC COAST POINTS
AND TRANSPACIFIC PORTS.

TIME CARD.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily. NO. 3 North and West		Daily NO 2 South and East
7 45 p m Depart	St. Paul	Arrives 7 45 am
8 45 p m "	Minneapolis	6 45 am
3 05 a m	Barnesville	11 45 am
5.35 am Ar	Crookston	De 8 35 pm.

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH
MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

9.00 am De	Crookston	Ar. 6.00 pm
11.00 am Ar	St. Hilaire	De 4.00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.0 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1.0 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm Close connections made at Minneapolis and St. Paul for all points East and South.

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining, and sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena. Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY
G. P. & T. A. St. Paul

H. J. FRESMAN
Agt. St. Hilaire.

LANDS

Fertile, sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from

$2.00 to $6.00
PER ACRE.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	7.01
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 31	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
5 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
" 15	5.50 to 6.0
SW NE of 22	5.0
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.5
4 forties in 21 at from	1.00 to 6.0
10 " 25	1.00 to 6.0
5 " 26	5.0
9 " 27	5.0
NE SE of 28	6.0
2 forties in 33	5.0
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.0
5 " 35	5.0
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	2.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE OE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 31 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	[illegible] to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 4.70
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.0 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.00 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.0
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.0
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	8.00 to 6.00

I will sell the hay on the above described lands for the season of 1895 at reasonable prices. All persons are hereby warned not to cut hay on any of these lands without first making contract for same. For further information apply to

H. F. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

Impetuous People

are sometimes figuratively spoken of as not above setting things on fire just for the fun of

Seeing Them Burn

Close competition breeds impetuosity, and in our earnest pushing for trade it often happens that we mark goods away down just for the fun of

Seeing Them Sell

Somebody has exclaimed: "Oh, the impetuosity of the idiocy of the tumultuous idiot!" This remark will never apply to you if in your rush for bargains you get into the right store, which of course is ours.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!

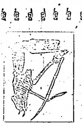
Great Bargain Sale of
FARM MACHINERY
AT
J. E. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mowers at $10 each and a full line of walking and breaking plows which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise.



PTERODACTYL

We print a likeness of the skeleton of this remarkable paleontological reptile because some of its physical characteristics are synonymous with our business methods. Perhaps the most striking similarity may be found in its

Little Finger and our Big Bargains

Its little finger is very large: and so are our bargains. The paradox of a little finger being big may be likened to the paradoxical inducements we offer you.

Profits and Hind Feet Small

Its hind feet are out of all proportion to its fore feet, just as our profit is overshadowed by the buyer's. Its large head represents the size of our stock. The many years that have elapsed since the time when this creature flourished will hint at the wearing quality of our goods.

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. E. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

Advance $1.50

Not in Advance. $2.00 Per Year

Entered at the post office at St. Hilaire as Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY June 5 1895

TIT FOR TAT.

"Hullo, little girl! Will you tell me the news?
For I haven't had time to examine the papers,
And I'm anxious to know how a tiny mite views
The ubiquitous plot of political capers.

"Has anything happened that's funny or queer?
Do you favor the party they claim is elected?
Are the words of the editor, think you, sincere?
Has the weather come around as the bureau expected?

"Is it true Lobengula the king's really dead?
Have the rogues of the 'Lib.' turned at last in contrition?
And do you not fear you must stand on your head
To read with your paper in that strange position?"

"Oh, yes, I will tell you the news," she exclaimed,
And thus from the paper inverted she read:
"The wicked old sparrow,
Wif his bow an his arrow,
Has shooted that poor little Cock Robin dead.

"An' en," she continued, "the awfulest fing
Has happened. You never could guess it you'd try.
Poor little Jack Horner,
He sat in a corner
An there wasn't a plum to be foun' in the pie.

"An dis is the reason poor doggie got none:
'Old Towser,' she read, "was the victim of theft,
'Cause old Mother Hubbard
She went to the cupboard,
An she eated and eated till nuffin was left.

"An Little Boy Blue went wif Little Bo-peep
To see the old lady that lived in a shoe.
Wif Little Miss Nettie-cot
In her white petticoat,
An the longer she stood, why, the shorter she grew.

"An Yankee Doodle-dandy has come into town,
An Tom, Tom, wif piggy is off on a run.
An I'll tell on a story
About Jack and Mary,
An now I 'clare, mister, my story is done."
—Lippincott's.

The Largest Derrick.

In the Tarrytown granite quarry at Barre, Vt., is what is said to be the largest derrick in the world. The dimensions given show a mast of 93 feet height, held by ten guys, each running out about 260 feet to heavy anchorages, and the boom can swing around a circle 142 feet in diameter, being built, like the mast, of phenix columns, such as are used in structural iron work in buildings. The loads are hoisted by means of a steel wire rope 1 1-4 inches in diameter, the boom itself being handled with a similar rope of three-quarters of an inch diameter.

Over a mile of steel rope is said to have been used in rigging the derrick, its weight, exclusive of the rope, reaching about 50,000 pounds. It is operated by means of a hoisting engine, and so skillfully are all the parts designed and adjusted that a pull of 350,000 pounds at the end of the boom will revolve the whole appliance when the boom is horizontal and loaded with 37 1-2 tons. The derrick is said to have been tested with a load of 57 1-2 tons, although designed for the carrying of only 40, and in case of the ropes being heavy enough the remainder of the apparatus has sufficient strength, it is claimed, to carry loads of 80 tons.—New York Sun.

The Scotch Golf Caddie.

With the development of golf comes the development of the caddie, who is one of its principal adjuncts. In America he is still the small boy with no special peculiarities to distinguish him from others. In Scotland he is as much of an institution as the player himself. He has grown up on the links and is the guide, counselor and friend of the player whose clubs he carries. One of his principal qualifications there is that he should be able to conceal his contempt for your game. He is ready with advice, reproof, criticism and sympathy, always interested, ready at critical times with the appropriate club, and if need be with the appropriate comment. He is as anxious for the success of his side as if he were one of the players. His caustic remarks are borne with equanimity and his contemptuous criticisms with the submission they deserve.—Henry E. Howland in Scribner's.

The Origin of a Familiar Saying.

When Aurelius Paulus, the Roman consul, desired a divorce from his wife, some friends reasoning with him asked: "Is she not beautiful and virtuous and of noble family and great wealth? What fault, then, can you find with her?"

And the consul stooped down, unfastened his shoe, and showing it to them answered: "Is it not of fine material? Is it not well made? Does it not appear to fit excellently? Yet none of you knows where it pinches me."

The chamomile plant is indigenous to most parts of Europe. It is extensively cultivated in France, Italy, Germany and some other countries for use in medicine, and a large revenue is derived from its constant employment.

The expression to "rain cats and dogs," indicating a severe shower, is found in Dean Swift. It is supposed to be of proverbial origin and much older than his time.

Wordsworth had what would be called a negative face. It was as colorless as much of his poetry.

Joseph's coat of many colors, probably an embroidered tunic, was made B. C. 1729.

In 1312 English linen was worth 15 cents a yard.

U. S. Land office

Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn on June 8 1895 viz:

Simon E. Ahlberg of St Hilaire Minn. Hd no. 7269 for the S ½ NE ¼ and Lots 1 and 2 Sec. 1 Twp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land, viz:

Carl Sundal, Anton Sundal Gilbert Aufinson, Tollef Erickson, all of St. Hilaire Polk county Minn.

T. A. Dunlava, Register

HOW THEY GOT THEIR KINDLING.

Uncle Josh Recalls a Remarkable Storm of the Year 1850.

"There's been a scarcity of kindling wood round here ever since the woods took fire last fall," remarked the grocer.

"What's the matter with the new growth?" asked Jackson Sommers. "There's plenty of it, isn't there?"

"Yes, but 'tain't the right sort. Now, back in 18"—

"Eh? What's that? Back in 1850," broke in Uncle Josh, suddenly waking up. "Why, I can remember it jest ez though it wuz yesterday. An speakin of storms reminds me"—

"Nobody said anything about storms, Uncle Josh," said Jackson hastily.

Uncle Josh gave him a look that silenced him.

"Ez I wuz sayin, speakin of storms reminds me of a nor'easter ez happened round here back in 1850. 'Twuz in November, an Zeke an me wuz goin ter North woods fer a wagon load of kindlin's. He hitched up the nag an started. But, b'gosh, we hain't been gone an hour afore the dubnest storm I ever see come up, an there wuz Zeke an me right in the middle of the woods, with the lightnin strikin an smashin things all round us. We wuz gettin wet, too, an Zeke says to me, sez he, 'Josh, ef we stay here we'll be struck, sure ez shootin.' So we gathered up our fixin's an started on a run fer our wagon. The poor hoss was a-standin there shakin like he had the ague. We jumped up on the seat, an away we went, lickity split, fer hum, an all the time the thunder wuz boomin louder'n Captain Cowfodder's mility company on the Fourth o' July. We went whoopin along old North pike, mud a-flyin, an 'bout every two seconds we'd hear a boom-er-r-r-boom, crash an a blindin glare of light, an down goes a tree in splinters.

"Waal, it were a miracle ez how we wuzn't killed. But we wuzn't. An when we got back to hum the hull family wuz a-waitin fer us an thankin their stars we'd got back safe. In the barnyard father hollers so ez to be heard above the storm, 'Well, Josh, I see yer got yer kindlin wood.' I thought he wuz plumb crazy till I looked at the wagon, and, b'gosh, it wuz chuck full. Waal, the only way we could account fer that wood bein there wuz this way: In drivin 'long the turnpike the lightnin struck a couple o' hundred of trees, an every time a tree was struck a bushel of kindlin's fell inter the wagon.

"Waal, that wuz the last time we got our winter's wood by 'lectricity. We've had some big storms since then, but never any as 'ould come up to that one, never."—New York Tribune.

A Fable of the Springtime.

Once upon a time the sun and the wind disputed as to which was the stronger.

Presently a wayfarer approached, and to settle their differences they agreed that superiority should be conceded to that one who could produce the most marked effect upon the man.

"Oh, I won't do a thing to him," remarked the wind and blew violently.

But the wayfarer drew his coat more closely about him and tossed a ball or two of Medford.

"Now watch me," said the sun and shone fervidly, whereat the wayfarer thought it was spring and changed his flannels.

Whenever thereafter the wind became boastful, the sun had but to point to a little mound in the churchyard.—Detroit Tribune.

Natural History Logic.

A celebrated trainer says, "Animals are never forced to execute at the command and will of the trainer any movements which are not natural to them in the free state." Monkeys love to swing in the tropical creepers; therefore they are placed on a trapeze. Goats seek pointed rocks; hence they are natural equilibrists. Dogs instinctively rise on their hind legs, so they are taught to maintain themselves in that position. A trainer is guided by the forces of fear, devotion, hunger and habit. There is one fact which no one would suspect—that it is easier to train an adult lion taken in a snare than an animal born in a menagerie. The civilized lion would soon be spoiled for work, and the inherent deviltry would break forth with awful disaster.

Any One Can Spell Shakespeare.

One is not in danger of misspelling the word Shakespeare. Some one has discovered 4,000 ways, of which the following, as they actually appear in old documents, are examples: Shakspere, Shaxpere, Shakspire, Schaxper, Shakespere, Shagpere, Schakspeye, Shakespere, Shaxpur, Shaxper, Shakspér, Schackspeare, Saxpere, Shackespire, Shakespige, Shackespeare, Shakaspear, Shakspear, Shaxpeare, Shakspeere, Shaxpure, Shackspayr, Shakspear, Schakesper, etc. If the chirography of Shakespeare himself is any authority, 22 of these ways are correct.—Tit-Bits.

MORTGAGE SALE

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of nine hundred and forty-two dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Ole P. Stokke and Tehne Stokke his wife mortgagors, to Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 2d day of August 1889, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the 7th day of August 1889, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in Book 43 of mortgages on page 45, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty in Township one hundred and forty-nine of Range forty-seven in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 20th day of June 1895 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated April 5th A. D 1895.

Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee.

R. J. Montague, attorney. Crookston Minn

U. S. Land Office

Crookston Minn. April 24 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn., on June 7 1895, viz:

John Kron, father of Alfred Kron deceased, HD no. 12285 for the NE ¼ Sec. 32 Tp 152 R 45.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land viz:

Adolph Nelsen, L. G. Dahn, Per Person, Sam Person all of Bray p. o. Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava, Register.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of five hundred and eighty-seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary A. Holnvik and Hans M. Holnvik her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee, bearing date the 15th day of December 1890 and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 19th day of December 1890, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in book 53 of mortgages on page 112. Which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned by said Security Trust Co. of Nashua N. H. mortgagee to Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper by written assignment dated on the 7th day of January 1895 and recorded in the office of the Register of deeds on the 24th day of January 1895, at 8:00 o'clock a. m., in Book 56 of mortgages, on page 81 and no act on or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The west ½ of quarter of Section 15 in Township One hundred and Forty-seven in Range Forty-five in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston in said County and state, on the 8th day of June 1895 at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of fore losure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 1st A. D. 1895.

Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper

Assignee of mortgagee.

R. J. Montague, attorney, Crookston Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,

Crookston, Minn., April 29 1895

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver, U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn on June 18 1895. viz:

Ann McIsaac HD no. 13585 for the SE ¼ NW ¼ and Lots 3, 4 and 5 Sec. 6 Tp. 152, R. 45.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

Axel Crown, Swan J. Naplin, Olaus Sorentryen, August Naplin, all St. Hilaire Polk County Minnesota.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred and fifty-eight dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Arthur Perras and Antoinette Perras, his wife mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 18th day of March 1890, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 7th day of April 1890 at 8 o'clock a. m., in book 53 of mortgages, on page 11, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz:

The South east quarter of the South east quarter of Section Ten and the East half of the North east quarter and the North east quarter of the South east quarter of Section Fifteen in Township one hundred and fifty of Range forty-two, in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the courthouse in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 8th day of June 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law

Dated February 7th A. D 1895.

Security Trust Co., of Nashua N. H.

mortgagee.

R. J. Montague, Crookston Minn attorney.

U. S. LAND OFFICE

Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the register or receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on July 2 1895. viz:

Carl Wik of St. Hilaire Minn. H D no 13341 for the SE ¼ Sec. 35 Twp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

Hakon Johnson, Frank Satterberg, Jonas Fongstrom, Peter Anderson all of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

—o—DEALERS IN—o—

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath. Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always on hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE HIGHEST MARKET PRICES FOR

All kinds of CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD. Manager.

THE ST. HILAIRE TOWNSITE COMPANY

Will sell for the next 60 days

DESIRABLE RESIDENCE LOTS

From $25 to $100.

ALSO FIRST CLASS BUSINESS PROPERTY AT HARD PAN PRICES.

Apply to H. E. IVES Agt.

ST. HILAIRE MINN.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

Barbershop in connection

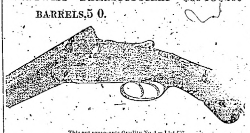
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200

BARRELS, 5 0.



This cut represents Quality No. 1 — List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING, MATTED RIBS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point.

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsman that we have not only improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money but THE BEST

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers ITHACA, N.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

Heavy and Shelf HARDWARE

HEADQUARTERS FOR HUNTER' SUPPLIES

MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS

BINDING TWINE

P a 9 cents a pound.

NEW GOODS PRICES

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

AMERICAN HOTEL

W. A. ARTHUR Proprietor.

NEWLY FURNISHED

STRICTLY FIRST CLASS

Special attention given to traveling men, Hunting, Fishing and Excursion parties.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.
·DR·
PRICE'S
CREAM
BAKING
POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

That's Different.

Professor—When we want to say something that we don't dare to say in English we use the French.

Pupil—And when the French want to say something they don't dare to say in French——

Professor—Ah, you would make your fortune in Paris if you could only discover that something.—Truth.

He Lacked the Nerve.

Upon receipt of your address we will mail free a package of beautiful illustrated transparent cards, picturing and explaining just how and why men frequently suffer from nervous troubles that prevent their doing the RIGHT THING at the RIGHT TIME. Edition limited. Address, mentioning this paper, Sterling Remedy Co., New York City or Chicago.

After the Wreck.

Maude (anxiously)—Tom, I refused Charlie Wallister when he proposed to me this afternoon, and he said that I had wrecked his life. You don't think that he'll go and commit suicide, do you?

Tom—Oh, no, I don't think there's any danger that he will. He and I have just been playing pool together all the evening at the club.—Somerville (Mass.) Journal.

Cor's Cough Balsam
Is the oldest and best. It will break up a Cold quicker than anything else. It is always reliable. Try it.

Very Unfortunate.

Mr. Kansas—Yes, sir; a whole passenger train was held up while crossing the Missouri river the other day.

Lord Blazonberrie—Ah, by the bridge, I presume? Such a structure must be a most remarkable?—Brooklyn Life.

August Post, Moulton, Iowa, the Iowa Alliance agent, is in the field with binding twine. He is an old reliable, and it would be well to write him for terms. He does lots of business for farmers and he makes no mistakes.—Grange News.

Better Pickings There.

"Hullo, Dennis, what are yer hanging around Fifth avenue fur? Ain' Broadway good enough any more?"

"Or, yes, Broadway is good, but Fifth avenue cigars are better.—Life.

We will give $100 reward for any case of catarrh that can not be cured with Hall's Catarrh Cure. Taken internally.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.

Margaret, the queen and patron saint of Scotland, had a gipsy style of countenance. She was a Hungarian by birth, though of Norman-Saxon origin.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."
Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

Would Be Convenient.

"What a great pity," said the sportsman, who wanted to take his catch home, "that our fish aren't more like our office boys."

"I don't quite see the connection," replied his friend.

"Then the longer you kept them the fresher they'd get."—Washington Star.

PROSPECTIVE MOTHERS

and those soon to become mothers, should know that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription robs childbirth of its tortures and terrors, as well as of its dangers to both mother and child, by aiding nature in preparing the system for parturition. Thereby "labor" and the period of confinement are greatly shortened. It also promotes the secretion of an abundance of nourishment for the child.

Mrs. DORA A. GUTHRIE, of Oakley, Overton Co., Tenn., writes: "When I began taking Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, I was not able to stand on my feet without suffering almost death. Now I do all my housework, washing, cooking, sewing and everything for my family of eight. I am stouter now than I have been in six years. Your 'Favorite Prescription' is the best to take before confinement, or at least it proved so with me. I never suffered so little with any of my children as I did with my last."

★ ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR ★ IMPERIAL GRANUM
IT IS
★ THE BEST ★
FOOD
FOR NURSING MOTHERS, INFANTS AND
CHILDREN
★ JOHN CARLE & SONS, New York. ★

The Saint Paul and Duluth Railroad Company owns over 1,000,000 acres of
CHOICE FARMING LANDS
And Lands suitable for Market Gardening, Dairying, Stock Raising, &c. The Saint Paul and Duluth country and its lands are described and illustrated in maps and pamphlets that are
GIVEN AWAY
To every applicant who will send his name and address to the undersigned. These lands are located in Northeastern Minnesota, and are all accessible to St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Superior and West Superior, the best markets in the Northwest. The Company offers these lands
TO ACTUAL SETTLERS
At low prices, on long time and on easy terms. Over 5,000 acres of land sold along the road this month.
FREE Maps and descriptive circulars will be mailed to anyone applying for same to
HOPEWELL CLARKE,
Land Commissioner, St. P. & D. R. R.,
St. Paul, Minn.

25 CTS PISO'S CURE FOR 25 CTS
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

W. N. U. No. 23—1895.

THE ERROR OF A MAN

Laburnums! golden, tassled, feathery; tender-leaved and amply blossomed; arching over and gently shading the long, grassy pathway from the home to the outer world. The trunks are old and warped and twisted, but ever juvenescent as the spring returns; claiming youth by reason of the tender green of their branches and the drooping blossoms which hang as golden stalactites from the roof of this shaded alley.

Midway between home and the world stands a wooden seat, where sits a grave-faced nurse plying her needle as she guards the babies which tumble on the grass beside her. Two of them are plump and happy, and they sit in the flickering shadows and pick the daisies which look up at them, grasping the flower-heads with all five slow fingers, then cooing when the treasures lie limp within their palms. A man-baby and a girl-baby, and the man-baby wears a black sash and ribbons to his white frock, for he is an orphan. The girl-baby is the daughter of the house, and she is also motherless, but she wears no trappings of woe.

By and by a breeze comes and bends the supple branches of the laburnums and shakes the golden petals on to the green path; and the babies look gravely at them as they fall, and the girl-baby grasps them in her dimpled hands. Then, crawling close to the man-baby, she opens her fingers and showers her golden treasures, all crushed, into his tumbled pinafore; for some minutes the man-baby sits staring at them, still, then at length he smiles a lovely smile, and, leaning his curly head close to the head of the girl-baby, he rubs her plump cheek with his own.

* * *

Laburnums blossom every spring, despite caprice of climate; and ten years later the grassy pathway looks unchanged, except that the grave-faced nurse is graver, and the man-baby and girl-baby have grown. The white frocks, too, have given place to tumbled holland, and the chubby faces have become more shapely. The girl-child is dark-haired, dark-eyed and impulsive; the man-child's head is covered with short brown curls, and his eyes are soft and dreamy. They both lie flat, their chins propped on their palms, and they kick their heels as they turn the pages of a book.

"Oh!" cries the man-child, suddenly and with disgust, "some one has scribbled in my book! What a shame!" and his handsome face flushes with the strength of his objection.

Then does the girl-child spring from the brush also; but the man-child does not look at her; he is looking at the writing.

"It's a verse," he says slowly. Then, after a pause, "I think I don't mind it so much after all."

Then does the girl-child spring from the ground, and, crossing to the old laburnum tree by the wooden seat, begin to tear its bark with a rusty iron nail. The man-child rises also and slowly follows her, looking absently at her handiwork as he thinks of other things. Then, turning to him with a smile lurking in her eyes, the girl-child points to the tree, and the man-child, rousing himself, reads in rugged, misshapen letters the words, "Angela did it."

"You did it? You wrote a verse?" exclaims the man-child.

"Yes," replies the girl-child, with a pout of deprecation.

"I am not angry," he replies earnestly; "I'm glad now. But you must be very clever."

The man-child grows thoughtful, and, taking a knife from his pocket, cuts the lightly scratched letters deeper into the tree; and the girl-child watches him in silence.

"Angela is clever, sir," remarks the man-child gravely to the gray-haired man who sits by the open window of the study as they go into tea. "She has written poetry."

* * *

Laburnums come and go, defying time; and again, ten years later, they are just as young and tender; just as green-leaved and blossomy as when they gently waved their shadows on the babies at their play.

But the babies have grown yet more; they are man and woman now. The grave-faced nurse has gone and the wooden seat is vacant, save for a loose-leaved book and a broad-brimmed hat with dangling ribbons. The man is tall and languorous and gentle; but save that the brown curls lie longer on his collar, and the thoughtful expression has deepened in his eyes; his face is much the same as the boyish face which bent over the book ten years ago. The woman is still dark-haired, dark-eyed and impulsive, and her figure is still slight and straight in her flowered dimity gown; but something has stamped her with a sweet restraint which checks the impulsive tongue and softens the bright eyes, and the power which has done this is love. For the woman loves the man.

To the man this love, or, indeed, the love of any woman, is a thing unknown as it is unheeded. He tells her of his dreams, of his impatience of the life of commonplace work, which he has decided to discard, of his hopes of the ideal life he intends to live beneath the inspiring skies of Italy—land of Dante, of Botticelli, of Michael Angelo; of art, of light of song. How can he fail to give voice to the poetry which lies within his soul—the words of rapturous melody which are to bring him fame?

And the woman, listening and questioning, feels the love well up in her heart aye, even shine forth from her eyes; and she knows she need not check it, she knows that the man will never notice it. To please her taste she would have back the short curls of his boyhood; she would fill his eyes with the fire of life, and his heart with a strong enthusiasm, but she sees that the man must go his way, and dream his dream yet awhile.

And the woman smiles cheerfully into the man's face as they say good-by, and she watches him go down the green alley checkered by light and shade—out into the world beyond. Then she rests on the old seat with clinched hands and contracted lips that the moan which rises in her heart may not escape into sound. And later on the woman takes the tattered book and writes in it until the light is dim, and the slow tears fall on to her hands unheeded, for she has forgotten to check them.

A year later the man comes again up the grassy pathway from the outer world and halts before the old seat. The woman rises with a flush upon her cheeks, and looks at him in wonder, for the man's brown curls are crisp and short, and his eyes are filled with eagerness.

"What is it?" she asks faintly.

"I have done with dreams," he answered her.

"Tell me," she pleads.

There is silence, and the face of the man becomes grave. Motionless they stand facing one another, while many moments pass. Then he lays his hand gently on her arms and draws her away down the grassy pathway. The whole length of the alley they pace, her heart throbbing wildly; then as they turn again he breaks the silence.

"Far away in Italy, as I lay dreaming of the words which I would write some day, there came to me the words written, the song of some unknown singer." The voice of the man is strangely restrained; the eyes of the woman are soft with tears. "I have come back to my work in the fever of the city," he continues, "the poetry which is swelling in my soul will be none the sicklier for being brought forth under gloomy skies."

The gray-haired man in his study bids the younger man "God speed," and the woman's heart is full of gladness; yet she knows that though she has gained her desire, though there is fire of life in the eyes of the man and enthusiasm in his heart, he is as far from her as in the old days of his dreams.

So the man leaves the woman again and passes through the golden-dropping laburnums to his work in the outer world.

* * *

Laburnum time has come and gone again and yet again. Messages have gone out from the house to the world, and whispers and echoes of the rush and turmoil have fluttered back through the golden pathway. And the woman still lives and hopes.

Then to her one day came weary footsteps, but the soft turf muffles their sound and she does not hear them. Then a voice says quietly, "Angela," and a little cry of yearning is surprised from her. It is the man, strong and brave, but weary, who stands there smiling back at her wonderment.

"I have come back to rest awhile," he says.

And the woman gives him welcome.

"There is no such place in the whole world," he sighs contentedly.

"Is it well with your work?" the woman queries.

"My work is pleasant to me," the man returns. "I have grown to care for it."

"And your poetry—your dreams of fame?" she asks.

"They are dead," replies the man.

The woman shivers with her sympathy.

"Do not pity me," says the man. "That unknown singer who sent her song to me in Italy has won the fame. She has sent her messages to me again, and there is nothing more for me to write. I only want to see her."

Over the woman's face spreads a wonderful blush, but the man is looking upward at the golden blossoms.

"You know the singer is a woman?"

"I always think of her as such," laughs the man.

"Why do you not go to her?" asks the woman, passionately.

"She shrouds her name in mystery," replies the man.

"What were those—words—which first roused you—to your work?" falters the woman. "I may have read them."

"The song which came to me in Italy, and stirred me from my silly dreams, was 'From a Golden Pathway;' since then have come many noble words and tender consolations, until I feel that I know the writer. If I could but meet that woman! Angela, my dear—tears! Do you know the poem? Have you read it?"

Without a word the woman rises from the seat, and taking the hand of the man, she leads him to the old laburnum. On the dark trunk the childish letters are still to be seen, "Angela did it," all warped and rugged with time, and the woman lays her finger on the words.

Then through the heart of the man trembles a great shock of awakening, and a wondrous tenderness steals into his eyes. "Angela did it," he murmurs; then there is silence.

"I have had my fond conceits," says the man, at length, "but I knew I should love the singer when I found her." Then he takes the white hand from the tree, and, stooping, kisses the woman's lips.

* * *

Laburnums in the moonlight are very fair to see, and the grassy pathway is as a floor of white, quivering mosaic as the man and woman pass downward to the home.

"But your poems," pleads the woman; you will write them some day?"

"You have written all that I would say," answers the man. "I made an error. I am no poet—I am but an appreciator."

And on the face of the man and on that of the woman, there lie joy and a great content."—Black and White.

The Cycle as an Ambulance.

A new ambulance carriage has been invented by Dr. Honig of Berlin. It is not drawn by horses or men in the ordinary way, but is propelled by cyclists, and consists of a kind of litter resting on a frame with five wheels, three in front in the form of an ordinary tricycle, and two at the back. The drivers accordingly sit one at each end of the litter, which is covered by a removable roof with little windows and a pneumatic bell, so that the patient can communicate with the drivers. Beneath the litter are boxes for dressing material, instruments, for first aid, etc. Dr. Honig suggests that his invention would be useful in small towns for which a horse ambulance is too expensive. It brings the surgeon and assistant surgeon very quickly to the scene of an accident, and enables them to remove the patient to the hospital without loss of time. The general opinion here is that the new system will require a greater proficiency in the art of cycling than the majority of medical men possess. The carriage was shown in the drill ground of the fire brigade to surgeons attached to hospitals and the police, as well as to officers of police and fire brigades, and to other gentlemen connected with the ambulance service.—London Lancet.

Sea Gardens.

A sea glass or water glass is simply a sort of rough wooden box, without a cover, perhaps a foot to twenty inches square, the bottom consisting of a piece of clear glass. It is grasped firmly by the edge and held so that the bottom is just below the surface of the water. By its use the rippling movement of the water is overcome and one is enabled to look steadily downward, apparently to the sea floor itself, and to see every smallest object quite as plainly as we see the things about us in the upper air. Our first glimpse gave us the impression that the glass was possessed of magical power and we gazed spellbound into the new world of grace and beauty revealed to us by its small transparent square. Scarce a tree or shrub or flower that our land gardens boast but is here reproduced in colors varied and beautiful forms of airiest grace.—Chautauquan.

BRIDAL STRATEGY.

A Bride and Groom Who Escaped the Pelting With Rice.

An Ansonia, Conn., bridal couple determined to outwit the rice and shoe throwing friends who were lying in wait for them at the front door of the parental mansion on the night of the wedding, and escaped from an upper window to their coach by means of a long ladder, surreptitiously provided for that purpose. When their escape was discovered there was some indignation among the guests, who felt that they had been cheated out of their natural and legitimate fun of starting the young couple off on their matrimonial venture with a shower of undesirable missiles. The identity of the projector of the scheme to escape running the gauntlet of good-natured bombardment is not known, but which ever of the couple conceived the project deserves the thanks of a long-suffering community and should be immortalized by all the bridal couples who may follow them along the path of nuptial happiness. There is a limit at which superstition should stop, and if there is an occasion in the life of a man or woman when superstition and foolish credulity should be put aside it is when man and woman are wedded.

The idea of casting good luck after the newly married people in the form of shoes and rice has largely died out, and the practice has merely become a senseless custom, the meaning of which is seldom apparent to any of those participating. The occasion is seized by those with rompish tendencies as a good opportunity for a frolic. The disadvantages of rice promiscuously thrown into the hair, ears and clothing of departing bridal couples frequently become painfully apparent on various occasions during the succeeding tour, when their identity as freshly married folks has been thereby disclosed to fellow travelers and the wicked hotel clerks. The best thing in the world for a married couple to start off with is a good temper, and there is no doubt that many a man has begun his marital experiences with blood boiling at the indignities that are being heaped upon his defenseless head. It is reasonable to suppose that the Ansonia young man and young woman will succeed as husband and wife. Their plucky evasion of the silly old custom shows that they have good sense, enterprise and courage. Those qualities will stand them in far better stead than all the fictitious good fortune that could ever have been thrown at them in the form of rice and discarded foot-gear.—Washington Star.

The Wisconsin State Board of Health, in its latest annual report, officially recommends the Royal Baking Powder as a pure cream of tartar powder, containing neither alum nor ammonia. This is a hight compliment for no other powder was so honored by special mention.

A Child's Party.

When directing invitations to a children's party, instead of sealing the small envelopes I cut two tiny slits in the flap of each with a sharp knife. Through these I passed white baby ribbon, brought it around and tied it in a bow in front over the name. As I could not send them through the mail I arranged them in a fancy basket, and the little maiden for whom the party was given was very happy in being allowed to deliver, under the care of a servant, these dainty missives to her little friends.

When the party was nearly over I placed a basket of cut flowers and a silver tray of pins on a table near the door, and as each little guest bade the hostess good-by, she pinned on his or her breast a lovely blossom. It was a very prety sight. The room had been darkened and the lamps lighted whilst the little ones were taking their simple refreshments, one lamp with its lovely pink shade being placed just back of where the little hostess stood, dressed as a fairy, giving to the other little ones, also in fancy costume, her lovely flowers and her sweetest good bys.—Home Queen.

A Curiosity of Time.

Two persons were born at the same place at the same moment of time. After an age of fifty years they both died, also at the same place and at the same instant—yet one had lived 100 days more than the other. How was this possible? The solution turns out on a very curious, but, with a little reflection, a very obvious point in circumnavigation.

A person going around the world toward the west loses a day, and toward the east he gains one. Supposing then, two persons are born together at the Cape of Good Hope, whence a around the world may be performed in a year; if one performs this constantly toward the west, in fifty years he will be fifty days behind the stationary inhabitants; and if the other sails equally toward the east, he will be fifty days in advance of them.

One, therefore, will have seen 100 days more than the other, though they were born at the same place and at the same moment, and even lived continually in the same latitude, and reckoned time by the same calendar.—London Tid-Bits.

Electric Heat Alarms.

On May 7 a very disastrous fire occurred in the village of Moretown, Vt., in which considerable property was destroyed and the surrounding forests were set burning. The cause of the fire was an over-heated journal box in a large mill. It soon spread to other buildings with the result stated. Had the bearings in the mill been provided with some reliable sort of electric heat alarm no serious damage could have occurred. It would seem to be a good thing for the factory mutual insurance companies to insist upon an electric alarm being used on all bearings in mills and shops where there is danger of fire. A slight reduction in the premium as an incentive would undoubtedly result in decreased losses to the insurance companies and at the same time make it easy for the policy-holder to adopt the alarms.

A Parisian Jest.

There are some funny fellows in Paris, and many of them like nothing better than to play their jokes on entire strangers. One of these walking along one of the largest business streets one day saw before a clothing shop a great placard stating that the concern had 100,000 overcoats for sale.

Entering the shop the joker asked the man in charge if he were very busy.

"No," replied the salesman. "What can I do for you?"

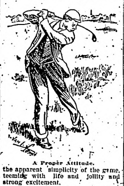
"I see," said the jester, "that you have 100,000 overcoats for sale, and I thought I'd like to try them on."—Harper's Young People.

HOW GOLF IS PLAYED

THE GAME HAS BECOME A FAD IN THIS COUNTRY.

All Over America People Have Taken Kindly to This Ancient Scottish Sport—Some Difficulties in the Way of the Beginner.

To the uninitiated there isn't much to the old Scotch game of golf, says the Milwaukee Wisconsin. But as one begins to play unending difficulties are encountered and it requires no end of practice and hard work to fully master the sport. None but the strong and able-bodied, the lithe and supple, the quick and agile, may play golf as it should be played. The game consists in driving a small rubber or gutta-percha ball over a course provided with a number of holes, usually eighteen all the way from 100 yards to 500 yards apart, by means of clubs of various shapes. Notwithstanding the apparent simplicity of the game, teeming with life and jollity and strong excitement.



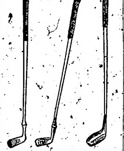
A Proper Attitude.

Any number of players may play golf, though it is usually by two and threes. When two are playing the ball is started off, the players striking alternately, each having a ball, until one man secures a lead over the other. Then he considerately waits until his companion moves up to him. The object of the game is to get your ball into the little holes before the other fellow and in the last number of strikes. To add to the difficulties of the game it must be played on rough ground, where there are all sorts of obstacles, bushes, brambles hills, stones, "bunkers" and in fact everything to make the course uneven.

The balls used in ancient days were made of leather and stuffed with feathers until they were as hard as stone; but the golfing ball in use to-day is of gutta percha, painted white so that it may be seen easily, with a corrugated surface, and its weight varies from one and three-fourths to two ounces.

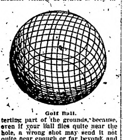
At the bidding of the golfer, this little ball, sometimes called the "gutty," flies over bridges and streams and sandhills, through thickets, and, alas, sometimes into sandpits, or even amid bushes, from which it is recovered with great difficulty, for the rules are inexorable, and a ball must be hit exactly where it lies. When a hole is "made," however, and the ball has settled into the goal of the player's ambition, it is, of course, impossible to play it for the next hole until it has been removed. A tiny pile of sand or earth, called a tee, is then made for it, just outside the hole, and within certain fixed limits called the teeing ground, and the little ball is then ready to set off on its next long journey. The player or side that wins the greatest number of holes in the entire round has the game; or, in medal play the victor is the side or player making the round in the least number of strokes; and as certain conditions cause the loss of a stroke, one needs to be very careful how he strikes.

Iron Club. Ordinary Driver.



Iron Putter.

Where a circular course is used, that is where the start and finish is at the same spot, the holes on the outward journey are usually designated by white flags, and those coming in with red flags. The space is the immediate vicinity of a hole is very interesting part of the grounds, because, even if your ball flies quite near the hole, a wrong shot may send it not quite near enough or far beyond, and so give that hole to your opponent. This space is called the putting-green and the process of holing the ball from here is called putting.



Golf Ball.

There are two styles of club, the wood and the iron clubs. Both have handles or shafts usually made of hickory, which is considered the best wood for that purpose. The head of the wood club is made of beech, apple or hornbeam. The first named is most generally preferred. Wood clubs, shod or soled with brass are termed brassies. The iron club, which as the name indicates, is made entirely of iron. Clubs of Scotch make are generally considered the best and most reliable, and their use recommended. There are eleven wood clubs and seven iron clubs. The variety of clubs used in the game at first will confuse the novice, but after awhile he can pick out his favorites and thereafter will have little trouble. Three clubs, of course are essential to beginners, two wood clubs the driver and putter, and one iron club, called the lifter, for heavy work.

It may seem an easy matter to strike the ball, but some beginners will readily testify that on many occasions it is uncommonly hard, and then they will tell you of golf players who have mastered the art to such a nicety that they lay their watches on the ground and strike the ball off from them without hitting the watches.

In playing the game it is necessary to have a number of clubs differently shaped, designed to get the ball out of difficult places. A boy is generally employed to carry these clubs for the players. Golf is a fashionable game. It costs a lot of money to secure a nice outfit, so that it is likely to be confined to the well-to-do young men. Golf has been the national summer sport of Scotland for centuries and interest in golfing in that land equals that of baseball in America. Golfing is just beginning to be a fad in this country and therefore, to be in the swim you must play good.

TO PREVENT COLLISIONS AT SEA

Electricians Claim to Have Invented a Magnet Which Will Do This.

A New York electrician has invented a compass, which, if it will do all he claims for it, will, as the New York World says, be of value to the mariners of inland waters as well as those who sail the trackless salt waters. It will, he says, avert all dangers of collision between ships, and he is trying to interest the navy department in his device. Being an instrument for the good of mankind the inventor will no doubt release all pecuniary claim to it and make it free to the world.

The compass is about two and one-half inches in diameter and three inches high. Underneath the needle is a strip of metal. Underneath the face of the compass is a saucer in which a chemical is placed. The whole is connected electrically with an enlarged horseshoe magnet ten feet long, made of soft iron bars. The poles of the magnet are connected by wire with the ship's dynamo, thus giving the electrical power. The moment a ship enters the magnetic field of the vessel which carries this compass, which the inventor says he calculates at six miles, the needle of the compass is directed in the direction of the ship. In turning it passes over the metal plate on the face, and as it does so, it closes an electric circuit which sets alarm bells ringing, telling of the approach of the other vessel.

"I was on the steamer La Gascogne six years ago," said he, "looking at the compass. Suddenly I noticed the needle shake and turn half way round. The captain pointed to a steamer four miles off. 'That steamer,' said he, 'is loaded with steel rails or canned goods. It has deflected our needle by magnetic attraction.' That set me to thinking, and my magnet is the result. I experimented in the bay two weeks ago with the magnet and it worked perfectly. I shall soon experiment on some craft furnished by the navy department."

COUNTRY WITHOUT A NAVY.

Kingdom of Belgium Has a Water Front, but No Ships of War.

No invitation has been extended to the naval authorities of one neighboring country to participate in the festivities at the opening of the ship canal between the North sea and the Baltic, which are to attract the armed ships of various European and American governments. That country, says the New York Sun, is Belgium, and it is peculiar among European countries having a water front from the fact that it has no navy.

This is the more remarkable when it is considered, that Belgium includes within its borders one of the oldest harbors in Europe — Antwerp—which, at the zenith of its commercial success, had as many as 2,000 ships. The commerce of Antwerp is still considerable, and a fair share of it is done with the United States.

When the war of 1830 culminated in the independence of Belgium from the rule of the Netherlands, the two countries were so divided that Holland had the larger share of the seacoast line, and Belgium had a larger measure of the inland country. Holland retained all the colonial possessions of the two countries, and, in order to keep up connection with them and protect them from hostile assaults, the navy was maintained by Holland.

Belgium, having no foreign colonies to protect, was under no obligations to maintain a navy. Holland has now a considerable navy, having 100 ships and 7,500 sailors, but Belgium is able to get along without any navy at all, though the Belgian army, on a peace footing, is 2,000 men stronger than the Dutch army, and, on a war footing, has 100,000 men more.

The Passion for Old Books.

A copy of Poe's "Tamerlane" was recently sold at auction for $1,450. This rare value is due to the fact that it was the first book Poe issued, and also that there is but another copy in existence. The book was a failure, and no doubt the publisher sent the greater part of the edition to the paper mill, and as the two copies are the only survivors they reach a value greater than Poe probably received for all his books. How strange a contrast is found between his poverty and general misery and the astonishing price of a single copy of his poorest poem. Among other book rarities may be mentioned a copy of Izaak Walton's "Complete Angler," dated 1653, which was also sold at auction for $1,325. The high price was due to the fact that it was the first edition, as a copy of the third edition, dated only eight years later, did not bring one-eighth as much. As Pope says: "Authors, like coins, grow rare as they grow old; it is the rust we value, not the gold."

The highest bidder at such sales is usually Dodd, Mead & Co., who made the above purchases. It is generally understood that they represent Cornelius Vanderbilt, who is the most liberal bibliomaniac since the death of James Lenox. His collection is already estimated at $50,000, and he is increasing it on every good opportunity.

Too Bad.

Mrs. Prim—I think it is too terrible for anything the way these preachers go in for sensations.

Old Prim—Well, what now?

Mrs. Prim—Here is one who actually preaches on the subject of the bicycle.

Old Prim—Are you sure?

Mrs. Prim—Well, it sounds like it. He calls it a sermon on the mount.

The Cures

By Hood's Sarsaparilla are wonderful, but the explanation is simple. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies, vitalizes and enriches the blood, and disease cannot resist its powerful curative powers. Read this: "My girl had hip disease when five years old. She was confined to her bed and for six or seven weeks the doctor applied weights to the affected limb. When she got up she was unable to walk, had lost all her strength and day by day she became thinner. I read of a cure of a similar case by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and decided to give it to Lillian. When she had taken one bottle it had effected so much good that I kept on giving it to her until she had taken three bottles. Her appetite was then excellent and she was well and strong. She has not used crutches for eight months and walks to school every day. I cannot say too much for

Hood's Sarsaparilla

It is a splendid medicine and I would recommend it to any one." Miss G. A. LaRose, Oroville, California.

Hood's Pills are tasteless, mild, effective. All druggists. 25c.

Two Individuals.

Child—Who is that sad-eyed man, mother?

Mother—He's a poor pensioner, my child.

Child—And who is that jolly man, mother?

Mother—He is a rich pension agent, my child.—New York Weekly.

Conservative Little Bodies

Are these diminutive organs, the kidneys, which, in spite of their small size, perform in health a most important part in the mechanism of the system. Out of order they breed dangerous trouble. Renew their activity with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which prevents the serious and often fatal diseases resulting from their inaction. This sterling medicine, moreover, remedies malarial, rheumatic and dyspeptic complaints, and invigorates the whole system.

Likely to Escape Notice.

Miss Million (of uncertain age)—The only thing that worries me is the wedding tour. It will be perfectly horrible to have people know—

Miss Rosebud (viciously)—Oh, don't worry. They'll think you're his mother.—New York Weekly.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth
Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for Children Teething.

There are said to be more than 3,000,000 deities in the Hindoo mythology.

I use Piso's Cure for Consumption both in my family and practice.—Dr. G. W. Patterson, Inkster, Mich., Nov. 5, 1894.

Use soapy water when making starch. The clothes will have a glossier appearance and the irons be less likely to stick.

Experience leads many mothers to say "Dr. Parker's Ginger Tonic," because it is especially good for colds, pain and almost every weakness.

The skin of the Indian is thinner than that of either the white or the negro, and more easily torn.

Those distressing Corns!
Bad as they are, Hindercorns will remove them, and then you can walk and run and jump as you like.

Greece has 430,000 women over twenty years of age.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

A friend advised me to try Ely's Cream Balm, and after using it six weeks I believe myself cured of catarrh. It is a most valuable remedy.
—Joseph Stewart, 624 Grand Avenue, Brooklyn, New York.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CATARRH HAYFEVER
CATARRH
ELY'S CREAM BALM opens and cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Heals the Sores, protects the Membrane from Colds, Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. The Balm is quickly absorbed and gives relief at once.
A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable. Price 50 cents at Druggists or by mail.
ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York.

The Poor Man's Chance
HOMES 100,000 ACRES CHOICE Hardwood Farming lands situated along the line of a new railroad now being constructed in central Wisconsin, and near a through trunk line already constructed, for sale cheap to single purchasers or colonies. Special inducements given to colonies. Long time and low interest. Send for full particulars to NORTHWESTERN LUMBER CO., Eau Claire, Wisconsin.

VITAL ISSUES
in perfection of machines for farmers' use
POINT ONE
Simplicity of Construction
POINT TWO Working Qualities
POINT THREE
Thoroughness of Workmanship
These will be found united in the new
DAVIS CREAM SEPARATORS
Illustrated Pamphlet Mailed Free.
Davis & Rankin Bldg. & Mfg. Co., Chicago

PARKER'S
HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c, and $1.00 at Druggists

BINDER TWINE.
Lowest Prices Ever Made. Full line of grades. Guaranteed manufactured in 1895. Write for FREE Samples and Prices.
AUGUST POST, Moulton, Iowa.

Minn Hist
MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

The St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XIV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 12, 1895. NUMBER 45.

AROUND THE GLOBE.

DIGEST OF THE NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

All Important Occurrences of the Past Week, Boiled Down and Arranged for Rapid Reading, From Home and Abroad.

From the Nation's Capital.

Spain sends the United States a disavowel for firing upon the Allianca.

The Japanese legation at Washington has received no official advices on the collapse of the Formosa republic.

A. B. Morton of Maine, auditor of the treasury for the navy department, has been removed from office.

Consul General Karal at St. Petersburg reports that cholera still continues in Russia.

The federal government is said to have decided to make a thorough investigation of the Colima disaster.

The Mexican boundary commission has completed the work for the season and has submitted a partial report to the state department.

Personal Mention.

Representative Hitt continues to improve slowly.

Howard Gould, it is rumored, will marry Miss Katherine Clemmens, who was a member of Buffalo Bill's Wild West show.

C. P. Huntington fears the good times will bring on a railroad boom, which he says it would be as disastrous as a panic.

Capt. W. A. Reid, who served with Gen. Merritt as a master of transportation in Wyoming and Colorado, died at Medora.

Dr. Martin V. Stevens, seventy years old, is a law student in the Kansas state university, where he expects to be graduated this month.

Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox has a white Persian cat for which she paid $400. She considers it worth several times as much as it cost her.

Provost Charles Harrison has given $500,000 to the University of Pennsylvania as a memorial in honor of his father, Charles Harrison.

The mother of Robert Louis Stevenson is saying good-by to Samoa. Without her son the place is not endurable to the aged Scottish lady, who, after a short stay in London, will return to her kith and kin in Edinburgh.

Dr. Stephen Wright Truesdell, a pioneer resident of Kokomo, Ind., is dead. For many ears he has been the oldest living graduate of Union college, Schenectady. Twelve years ago his mind failed him. He was eighty-seven years of age.

Ex-President Harrison has a double in one of his personal friends, Gen. A. H. Beech of Wheeling, W. Va. His figure and features, even to his eyes and the color of his hair, makes him almost the counterpart of Mr. Harrison.

Unfortunate Events.

Little Annie Long of Jeffersonville, Ind., was seriously gored by a cow.

George L. Knox, an inmate of the Iowa industrial school, was drowned while bathing.

Mrs. John Formberg was injured fatally by an explosion of gasoline at Jeffersonville, Ind.

Jessie Norman, aged five, was bitten by a dog at Jeffersonville, Ind., and so badly injured she will die.

Glen French was drowned while swimming in a creek near Croswell, Mich.

George Behm was drowned while swimming in Long lake at Imlay City, Mich.

Miss Minnie Blado, aged sixteen, fell into Salt creek at Lincoln, Neb., and was drowned.

Fire destroyed the plant of the Collins cart works at Jackson, Mich. The loss will reach $75,000 and 300 men are out of work.

Six persons were blown to atoms today by an explosion which occurred at Mayer & Roth's gunpowder factory at Felixdorf, Austria.

A skiff load of nitroglycerine being taken up the river near Parkersville, W. Va., exploded, killing one man and doing $75,000 damage to property.

Mrs. Bert Elder and baby and Mrs. Powell and baby were drowned in Douglas, Wyo. Their wagon tipped over in a creek.

State Senator Buck of California, who met a serious accident before he could testify in the mystery of Miss Harrington's murder, is now likely to recover.

Fire destroyed an entire block of buildings at Shenandoah, Pa. The loss is estimated at $80,000 on property and $65,000 on stock. The total insurance is only $4,500.

William Cowart's team took fright at a dog fight while returning from church near Moulton, Ala., and ran away. Cowart and his two children were killed.

G. E. Bruner, cashier of the Citizens' National bank at Kokomo, Ind., lost an eye from peculiar poisoning, and there is little hope of saving the other. It is thought that the poison came from the coin or paper money handled.

Elwood Moyer, engineer; Elias Botts, conductor, and William Klease, fireman, part of the crew of freight train No. 86 of the Philadelphia & Reading railroad, were instantly killed this morning by a wreck near Locustdale, Pa.

Criminal Doings.

Louisa Jordan was sentenced at Vincennes, Ind., to two years in prison for arson.

George Derthick was arrested at Waterloo, Ind., for horsewhipping his wife.

Godfrey Bartels, aged 80, committed suicide by hanging at Murphysboro, Ill.

New Orleans councilmen, Dudoussat and Desforgus, lost their case in the supreme court and must do three and five years respectively.

Henry Doyle, fourteen years old, of Clifton Heights, Pa., hanged himself in a stable rather than go to school, as had been ordered by his father.

H. Galles, ex-president of the First National bank at Little Rock, Ark., has been taken to Brooklyn, N. Y., to serve out his five-year term.

At Kokomo, Ind., William McDonald, a tailor, discouraged because out of work, committed suicide with laudanum. He came from Erie, Pa., and leaves a wife and two children.

Rhodes J. Taylor was taken from the custody of the sheriff of Burt county, Neb., and tarred and feathered and ordered to leave the county. He had been arrested on the charge of assault.

Henry P. Schwartz, a merchant and a member of the firm of Charles W. Schwartz & Co., carpet manufacturers, Philadelphia, Pa., committed suicide. Continued illness was the cause.

The body of James McPherson, residing eight miles east of Lebanon, Ind., was found partially concealed in a hollow log with his throat cut from ear to ear. He had not been seen since a week ago.

The man Zerby, who criminally assaulted his seven-year-old niece a few nights ago a few miles from Elkhart, Ind., and his wife were stripped, tied to a tree and whipped by a mob and ordered to leave the neighborhood. Both left. The child will recover.

Fred Smock, a young farm hand of Linton township, Ind., was shot by an assassin. Smock called at the house of a neighbor named Pennington and spent the evening with the latter's daughter. When within 100 yards of his employer's residence he was fatally shot.

James Howard, a Wells-Fargo company employee, rushed into a police station at San Francisco covered with blood. His skull had been fractured, and he was only able to mutter a few words about having been beaten and robbed. He was removed to the receiving hospital and died in about two hours.

Foreign.

Trouble is brewing between Chile and Argentina.

The Japanese have captured Kee Tung, on the island of Formosa; and three hundred Chinese were killed.

The Japanese are rapidly evacuating the Lio Tung peninsula. The movement will be completed in ten days.

Sir Charles Augustus Murray died at Paris. His first wife was an American, the daughter of the late James Wadsworth.

It is reported that Prince Alfred Windischgraetz, president and premier of the ministry of Austria, has resigned.

The government has refused a new trial for Hendershott and Welter, sen- Ont., for the murd:r of young u.;yTd Ont., June 18, for the murder of young Hendershott.

The dowager empress of Russia has summoned Prof. Leyden, the eminent specialist on pulmonary complaints, to examine her son, the Grand Duke George, the czarowitz.

The London Standard to-day contains an intimation to the effect that when the insurrection in Cuba is ended Spain will request the United States to pay her part of the costs of suppressing it.

The Spanish cabinet at a meeting to-day discussed the situation of affairs in Cuba, and decided to await the decision of the captain general, Marshal Martinez de Campos, before sending any further reinforcements.

Very favorable advices have been received at St. Petersburg regarding the prospects of a definite settlement of the questions remaining in dispute consisting of 17 vessels, has arrived between the powers and Japan.

A tidal wave has occurred on the northern coast of Peru, and the cable between Calao and Arica is broken. Much damage has occurred at Mollendo, which is also a cable station and which is the terminus of a railway to Arequipa and Puno, and has an elegant railway station.

Otherwise.

Crop reports from all parts of the Northwest are very encouraging.

Pittsburg is crowding shaky building and loan associations to the wall.

The streets of Cripple Creek, Col., are covered with snow.

The Chicago Lake street elevated road has decided to discard steam and adopt electricity.

The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen shows that it is desirous of avoiding strikes.

The Missouri Democratic state committee has decided against calling a state convention to consider the silver question.

A number of farmers in the vicinity of North Loup, Neb., are reporting that portions of their corn fields are being ravaged by cut worms.

The programme of the Indian teachers' convention to be held at Sioux City on July 1 and 6 has been completed.

The American Plate Glass company is investigating the merits of South Dakota grinding stone to be used instead of the Scotch stone.

Three car loads of horses have arrived at Pierre, S. D., from the ranges for shipment to Southern markets, where they average about $60 a head.

The deposits of Atchison securities with the Union Trust company under the reorganization agreement exceed $80,000,000.

The Standard Oil company and the Scotch Oil company have concluded an agreement which is to last three years for an advance in the price of candles.

The Indiana block coal operators today notified the miners' committee that a cut of 5 cents in the mining scale would go into effect at once. A strike is expected.

At a meeting of the Butte chamber of commerce it was decided to have Senators Tom Carter and Lee Mantle and Congressman Hartman represent Montana in the Memphis silver conference.

The Burnett house, Cincinnati, O., the headquarters of leading generals at times during the civil war and where the plan was laid to defeat Blaine at the Republican National convention of 1876, has been closed.

Dr. D. K Pearsons, of Chicago, has offered Mount Holyoke college at South Hadley $50,000 to endow professorships, provided the college will raise $150,000 more in one and one-half years. The college authorities are confident they can raise the necessary money

MASSACRE IN CHINA.

MISSIONS AT CHENGTU ARE ATTACKED BY CHINESE.

It Is Almost Certain That a Massacre of All Persons Connected With the English, French and American Missions Has Occurred.

London, June 11.—A special dispatch from Shanghai says that it is almost certain that a massacre of all the persons connected with the English, French and American missions at Cheng Tu has occurred. Neither men, women nor children have been spared, according to the report. It is admitted that telegrams have been intercepted by the government, the object being to conceal the news of the massacre. A French gunboat is en route to Wuen Chang to investigate the report.

Berlin, June 11.—In reference to a sensation caused by the revelation regarding the barbarous treatment of lunatic inmates of the monastery of Mariarborg, made during the trial of a suit for slander brought against Herren Mellage, an innkeeper of Scharre; and Warnatzsae, a newspaper man who published a brochure exposing the methods of the monks whose actions became known on the escape of the Scotch priest, Father Forbes, it is announced that Prince Hohenlohe has ordered a searching inquiry to be made. It has been charged by witnesses during the trial that the monks inflicted cruel personal punishment upon the inmates of the asylum. The entire press, Catholic organs included, condemn the authorities of the asylum, and it is probable that the trial will lead to a revision of the laws regulating private institutions of this character.

OVERCOME BY GAS.

Four Miners Are Suffocated in a Colorado Mine.

Pitkin, Colo., June 11.—News has reached here that four men were suffocated in the Alpine tunnel yesterday afternoon. An engine had run into the tunnel, which is 1,776 feet long, with a crew of several men to siphon out an accumulation of water held in by a dirt cave. The ventilation of the tunnel is poor and the smoke of gas from the engine made the air so stifling that the men soon prepared to leave. As the engine was backing out a man was discovered lying across the track, and the engineer reversed, and, running further into the tunnel, where all the men were quickly overcome by suffocation. Strenuous efforts were made to rescue the men but it was impossible, as the air within had become impregnated with gas and smoke, and for several hours no one could enter. Those suffocated were W. M. Flavin, superintendent, married; N. Martinez, engineer, married; Michael Burns, fireman, married; Oscar Camman, miner, single.

NATIONAL BANKS.

Favorable Showing of Their Condition the 7th Inst.

Washington, June 11.—The reports made by the controller of the currency showing the condition of all the national banks in the United States on May 7, show the total resources to be $3,410,002,491, an increase of $31,499,952 since March 5, when the last call was made. The amount of loans and discounts increased from $1,951,846,832 to $1,976,604,445. The lawful reserve was $364,105,757 (decrease, $1,763,000), of which $177,000,000 was gold coin and gold certificates, $41,000,000 silver and silver certificates and $145,000,000 legal tenders. The amount of individual deposits had increased from $1,667,845,286 to $1,690,961,299. The showing is considered good. The loans and discounts increased about $25,000,000, and deposits about $21,000,000. The gold holdings are practically unchanged.

Colorado's Cattle War.

Wolcott, Colo., June 11.—News was received here to-day of an encounter between fifty cattlemen and nine Mexican sheep herders near Elk Head, about 125 miles north of here yesterday. The affray was bloodless except that Jose Anueros received a slight wound in his left arm from a cowboy's rifle.

Nice Wedding Present.

Walla Walla, Wash., June 11.—Three masked men heavily armed took Joseph Fossatti and Robbie Allen, a colored woman who runs a house of ill repute, and applied to them a coat of tar and feathers early this morning. Fossatti, who comes of a good family, married the woman Friday.

Their Yacht Capsized.

Bay City Mich., June 11.—A telegram was received to-day by Mail Carrier Stephens from Oswego, informing him that his stepfather, Capt. John Blackburn, had been drowned with two other men by the capsizing of a steam yacht on Lake Ontario this morning.

Rumors of Another Massacre.

Constantinople, June 11. — Reports have been received to the effect that serious trouble has occurred in Mossoul. Rumors that many persons have been killed have been freely circulated, but it is impossible to verify these statements.

"I find the Royal Baking Powder superior to all the others in every respect. It is entirely free from all adulteration and unwholesome impurity, and in baking it gives off a greater volume of leavening gas than any other powder.

Walter S. Haines, M. D."
Chemist to the Chicago Board of Health.

Sale of Iowa Horses.

London, June 11.—A heavy consignment of American horses was sold here to-day. Nineteen American horses, exported by W. H. Forrester of Iowa, brought an average of 28 guineas each.

Lovejoy Day.

Alton, Ill., June 11. — Lovejoy day was duly celebrated to-day by various clubs bearing his name. Lovejoy was the first martyr to the cause of freeing slaves, and was murdered here Nov. 7 1837.

MANY MONIED MEN.

Eastern Capitalists Visiting Minnesota Iron Mines.

Duluth, June 11.—The steamer North West, with officials and stockholders of the Minnesota Iron company and their invited guests arrived here an hour ahead of the scheduled time. Despite the rainy weather the Northern Steamship company's pier and the neighboring piers were crowded with people to welcome the big white boat back to Duluth and to see the distinguished visitors. Never has Duluth been visited at one time by so many prominent and wealthy men. There are about 175 people in the party, including business men of Chicago, New York, Brooklyn, Cleveland, Pittsburg, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Detroit and St. Paul.

After taking dinner on the boat the party came ashore and many made brief trips around the city. It was after 8 o'clock before all were on board the special train in waiting to convey them up the Duluth & Iron Range road to Two Harbors and Ely. The train was composed of about twenty Pullman sleepers, and two dining cars, which arrived in the morning from Chicago in charge of President Greatsinger, of the Iron Range road. Some of the leading stockholders of the iron company did not leave on the special train, but remained here to attend the annual meeting of the company.

P. H. Kelly, George R. Finch, A. H. Lindeke and George C. Stone of St. Paul met the party here and will accompany them over the two iron ranges. After the stockholders' meeting they will take a special train and join the rest of the party at Tower. After inspecting the Minnesota company's mine, railroad and docks, the party will return to Chicago by train. There is some talk of holding a reception of some sort to the party in Duluth on their return from the range. The North West made a remarkably fast trip from Chicago, being ahead of her schedule time all the way. The party were delighted with the trip up the lakes, and spoke in the most flattering terms of the finest steamer that floats on fresh water.

The Royal Baking Powder Company controls its own cream of tartar factory and the processes for making the only absolutely pure cream of tartar. It sends its product to millions of homes all over the world, supplies the Army and Navy, the great transatlantic steamers, the finest hotels and restaurants. The "Royal" is recommended by the best chefs and authorities on cuisine in every land. Its sale is larger than that of all other cream of tartar baking powders combined and it has more friends among housekeepers than any other similar article.

ARRESTS BY WHOLESALE.

Sheriff Gathers in Fifteen Men at Richmond, Wis.

Hudson, Wis., June 11. — On complaint of Peter Dunbar of New Richmond, Judge Randall issued a warrant for eleven persons charged with burglarizing the home of Dunbar and tarring his wife on the night of May 15. The writ placed in the hands of Sheriff Wheeler are for W. H. Link, Otto Engstrom, Michael Carroll, Ed Taft, Charles Jennings, A. H. Lynch, John Lynch, Eddie Lynch, William Morrison, William Fitzgerald and Col. Fowler, all of New Richmond. Officer Wheeler went north to make the arrests. County Attorney E. W. Helms will appear for the state and John W. Bashford for the defendants.

Mrs. Dunbar is the woman sixty-three years of age who was so grossly assaulted by being tarred and rolled in sawdust by a posse of neighbors who regarded her as a common scold. The matter has created intense indignation throughout the county, and great efforts have been made to buy off the old woman and hush the affair up. It is thought there are still a dozen more in the scrape.

Murdered by Burglars.

Oconto, Wis., June 11. — Michael Baumgardner, a saloonkeeper near Pensaukee, was murdered by burglars at midnight. Mrs. Baumgardner was aroused by her husband's cries, and saw him grappling with two strangers who afterward escaped in a carriage which was standing at the door. Baumgardner was formerly a large mill owner, and had resided in the county for thirty-five years. The burglars secured about $90. Two men claiming to be from Kansas City, who refused to give their names, were arrested at Green Bay this morning on suspicion of the murder. They answer the description of the murderers, and tell conflicting stories.

TOWN DESTROYED.

Cameron, W. Va., Is Nearly Wiped Out by Fire.

Wheeling, W. Va., June 11. — The town of Cameron, W. Va., a place of 1,500 people on the Baltimore & Ohio road, twenty-eight miles east of here, was almost entirely destroyed by fire and the homeless people are camping on the hills that surround the ruins. The loss will reach $100,000.

Wheeling, W. Va., June 11.—It has just been learned that a special train which left Wheeling with a fire engine for the Cameron fire was wrecked ten miles this side of Cameron, and that the engineer and fireman were killed.

Boys Drowned.

Cleveland, June 11. — Three boys, Emmett Sweeney, Patrick Morris and Michael Sheridan, aged 11, 12 and 11 years respectively, went bathing in Lake Erie to-day. They were only a short distance from the shore and the water was not very deep. Young Morris was seized with cramps and his two companions went to his rescue, when all three were drowned.

An Idea of the Sultan's.

London, June 11.—The Turkish government is said to be very firm, and intends to remain so, because the sultan believes that the whole Armenian question is merely a huge insurrection supported and encouraged by the non-conformist ministers of Great Britain and America.

Superintendent From Faribault.

Devils Lake, N. D., June 11.—The trustees of the state school for the deaf to-day appointed D. F. Bangs of Faribault, Minn., superintendent.

SHOOTS HIS WIFE.

J. H. EMMETT, JR., ALMOST BECOMES A MURDERER.

He Arrives Home in an Intoxicated Condition, Shoots His Wife and Then Beats Her Until Some of the Neighbors Interfears.

San Francisco, June 11.—J. K. Emmett, Jr., the German dialect comedian, attempted to murder his wife last night and was only prevented from executing his design by the forcible interference of neighbors. Emmett had been about town all day, and in the evening returned home in a drunken condition. He and his wife had an altercation and the woman fled from the house. Emmett pursued her into the street and fired a pistol at her at close range. Then he caught the unfortunate woman and beat her about the face with the butt end of the gun. Two young men pulled the maddened actor from his victim and turned him over to the police. Mrs. Emmett was taken to the receiving hospital, where she refused to allow her wounds to be examined. She had a violent attack of hysteria and the surgeons could do nothing with her. She insisted she had not been shot, and said her husband was too big a coward to shoot her. There was a slight wound in her temple and the police surgeon said that the bullet glanced from the bone and lodged under the scalp. Baby Sinnot, a precocious child who plays with the Emmetts, made a heroic attempt to save Mrs. Emmett from her husband's wrath, but was thrown aside by the drink-crazed man. Emmett and his wife recently concluded an engagement at a local theater where they presented a play called "Fritz in a Mad House."

Mrs. Emmett is a California girl, and is known on the stage as Emily Litton. She married Emmett about three years ago. After refusing to be examined at the hospital she was allowed to leave and is now stopping with friends at a hotel. Emmett is in jail.

PYTHIAN TRIENNIAL.

St. Paul Knights Will Co-Operate With Minneapolis Brethren.

Minneapolis, June 11. — Secretary Fred Wheaton, of the executive committee organized to make arrangements for the holding of the triennial convention of Knights of Pythias and the encampment of the Uniformed Rank of the order in this city in 1896, yesterday received a letter from a prominent Pythian in St. Paul informing him that the eight lodges of the order in the Saintly City had formed a joint committee to co-operate with the Minneapolis executive committee, and that they would gladly come to Minneapolis at an appointed time to confer with the latter body, whom they purpose to aid in every way possible in preparing for the grand encampment. This action on the part of the St. Paul Pythians was spontaneous, having been uninvited by the Minneapolis committee, and is therefore greeted with the greatest pleasure by members of the local committee. A joint meeting of the two bodies will be called in the near future.

The health authorities of a number of States have recently made exhaustive examinations of the baking powders with the uniform result of finding the Royal superior to all others.

Found Dead.

Eau Claire, Wis., June 11.—The dead body of Roderick C. Chappell of this city was found in the woods near Mellen, twenty miles south of Ashland, to-day. He was sixty-six years old, and had resided in Eau Claire ten years. He was a prominent real estate man and had three brothers here, a son in Minneapolis and a daughter in Dresden, Germany. He had gone to Mellen to look after his lands in that section. It cannot be learned here what was the cause of his death.

Settlers Lose Their Lands.

Omaha, June 11.—A special to the Bee from Butte, Neb., says: From fifty to sixty settlers on the government land in Gregory county, S. D., have been dispossessed of their claims by the recent survey between the Indian reservation and Gregory county. Many of the farmers have been living on their claims for more than three years, and in some cases have improvements valued at $4,000.

Started by Tramps.

Kalamazoo, Mich., June 11.—Fire today, which is thought to have been started by tramps, destroyed Dewing & Sons' extensive planing mill, sash, door and blind works and lumber yards, and seven brick and frame stores. Dewing's loss will reach $150,000; insurance, $100,000. The total loss is about $200,000; insurance, $115,000.

Dams Carried Away.

Harvard, Wis., June 11. — A steady downpour of rain for twelve hours has swollen the streams and carried out some lumbermen's dams. Lightning struck the McCormick high school and demolished the steeple, heater and plastering, severely shocking Professors Adams and Wood, who were in the building.

To Invite the President.

Washington, June 11.—A delegation of ten well known persons from Atlanta arrived here to-day and are registered at the Arlington hotel. They compose the exposition managers who come here to formally invite the president and the members of his cabinet to visit the exposition some time during its continuance.

Curtis Knocked Out.

Milwaukee, June 11.—Henry Baker of this city knocked out George Curtis of West Superior in four rounds. A fight had been arranged between Baker and Lem McGregor, better known as the St. Joe Kid, but the latter refused to fight because the gate receipts were too small.

Almost at the $100,000,000 Mark.

Washington, June 11. — To-day's statement of the condition of the treasury shows: Available cash balances, $183,497,491; gold reserve, $99,391,305.

BROWN WANTED TO DIE.

He Takes Laudanum, but He Is Kept Awake by Walking.

St. Paul, June 11—Sleep meant death to William Brown of Winnebago City yesterday. He had taken an ounce of laudanum with suicidal intent, and was waiting for the fatal lethargy to come upon him when he was discovered by the police. Under instructions from Desk Sergeant Horn, Officer Newcome marched the man up and down Third street at a brisk pace until Doctors Hanley and Brimhall, the city physicians, arrived. Brown was then given powerful emetics and the walk continued. In two hours he was out of danger, and will live.

Brown chose Irvine Park as the place where he would escape the mortal coil. It could not have been far from 8 o'clock when he reached the place and sat down on one of the benches. In one of his vest pockets was a bottle which had contained an ounce of laudanum. In another was a note bearing the following message in very bad chirography:

"My name is William Brown. I live at Winnebago City. I was on the drive on Kettle river for Dennis Boyle. Please telegraph my mother, who lives at 441 Chippewa street, Eau Claire. Her name is Mrs. E. Cornish. Good by."

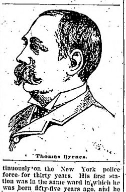
Female Bandits Caught.

Guthrie, Okla., June 11. — Deputy United States Marshals Rynnells and McCraft came in from Woods county to-day and lodged in the federal jail Belle Black and Jennie Freeman, members of the Zip-Wyatt gang. The marshals on Tuesday had a battle with the members and drove them into a cave in the Glass mountains at the extreme western end of the Cherokee strip, where they still have them besieged. The two women tried to escape by a secret entrance to the cave and were captured after a long chase. They had in their possession considerable money, and were going after supplies and reinforcements.

THOMAS BYRNES.

The Famous New York Police Chief Forced to Retire.

New York, June 12.—The warfare in New York police circles has been directed against Chief Thomas Byrnes, and he made application to the board of police commissioners for retirement. Chief Byrnes has stood pre-eminent among the detectives and police managers of the world. He has served continuously on the New York police force for thirty years. His first station was in the same ward in which he was born fifty-five years ago, and he was a policeman five years, a roundsman one year, a sergeant ten years, and then he became a captain. He made a study of criminals, and as a sergeant, knew, as he does to-day, almost every crook in New York. In appearance Byrnes is a tall, well made man of athletic build. His face is a striking one, the features being clear cut and regular.



Thomas Byrnes.

Razzer and Gun.

Chicago, June 11.—A fight occurred between Harry Shepard and William Simpson, both colored, in which Shepard was shot and killed and Simpson fearfully cut up with a razor. The fight was started by Shepard, who tried to assault Mattie Sabor with a razor for not having supper ready ahead of time. Simpson hearing the disturbance, came to the rescue with a revolver. It is not thought Simpson's wounds will prove fatal unless blood poison should set in.

The statistics show that there is used in the manufacture of the Royal Baking Powder more than half of the cream of tartar consumed in the United States for all purposes. The wonderful sale thus indicated for the Royal Baking Powder—greater than that of all other baking powders combined—is perhaps the highest evidence of the superiority of this article, and of its indispensableness to modern cookery.

Another Massacre Feared.

Constantinople, June 11. — Advices from Moosh are to the effect that the Moosh commission has practically dissolved. The English consul just appointed at Bitlis has been instructed to go to Moosh before the commission leaves, as the Armenians fear a resumption of the attacks if there is no person at Moosh to represent the powers there.

New Form of Income Tax.

New York, June 11.—Rev. Dr. John Hall has contributed the $1,000 that his income tax might have been to the fund for home missions asked for by the general assembly. It is said that many persons of wealth have thought of giving an amount of money equal to that saved by the death of the tax to charitable institutions.

The Benedict Habeas Corpus.

Pierre, S. D., June 11.—H. M. Benedict, Taylor's brother-in-law, held on the charge of conspiracy in connection with the Taylor case, will be taken to Sioux Falls for a hearing in the habeas corpus case before Judge Edgerton in the United States court. Attorney General Crawford feels sure of winning the case for the state.

Silk Mills Burned.

Northampton, Mass., June 11.—The Warren silk mills were burned last evening. Loss, $150,000.

NEW APPOINTMENTS.

CHANGES IN PRESIDENT CLEVELAND'S OFFICIAL FAMILY.

Attorney General Olney Is Appointed Secretary of State and Judson Harmon Is Named as Mr. Olney's Successor.

Washington, June 9. — President Cleveland to-day appointed Attorney General Richard J. Olney secretary of state and Judson Harmon of Cincinnati attorney general.

Judge Harmon has long been recognized as one of the foremost lawyers and jurists of Ohio, and as one of its most popular citizens. He was born near Cincinnati forty-nine years ago, has always lived there, and is known by all. His father, Rev. B. F. Harmon, was a Baptist minister, well known throughout the Ohio valley. Judge Harmon graduated at Dennison university, a Baptist institution at Granville, Ohio, in 1865, and began the practice of law in Cincinnati in 1869. He was a Republican until 1872, when he Greeleyized. He was elected superior judge in 1878, re-elected in 1883, and when ex-Gov. George Hoadley went to New York in 1887 Judge Harmon resigned from the bench to become the head of the firm of Harmon, Colston, Goldsmith & Hoadley, which represents several railways and other large corporations, and with which firm he will continue his connection. When Judge Harmon resigned in 1887 Gov. Foraker appointed Judge William Taft, now United States circuit judge and formerly solicitor-general, to the place. Mrs. Harmon is an accomplished lady, the daughter of the late Dr. Scobey of Hamilton. They have three daughters, Mrs. Edam Bright, Jr., of Philadelphia; Miss Elizabeth, a recognized society leader, and Marjori, the youngest of the family. She is fourteen years old.

COMMANDER DRAKE.

The South Dakota G. A. R. and W. R. C. Elect Officers.

Pierre, June 9.—The G. A. R. elected as department commander S. R. Drake of Plankinton; senior vice, W. L. Palmer, Carthage; junior vice, S. R. Baker, Hermosa; medical director, E. W. Foster, Armour; chaplain, Rev. Springer. It was decided to hold the next encampment at Watertown. The following council of administration was chosen: I. D. Lyon, Watertown; Paul Krohm, Chamberlain; E. G. Sheldon, St. Lawrence; R. P. Hall, Mitchell; C. S. Blodgett, Kimball; national delegate, Capt. A. S. Hall, Pierre; delegates at large, Warren Osborne, Yankton; C. R. Blodgett, Kimball; W. V. Norton, Brookings.

The W. R. C. selected as department president Miss Epple McMillin; senior vice, Mrs. Adelia H. Conner, Hot Springs; junior vice, Mrs. Jennie Russell, Alexandria; treasurer, Mrs. Phoebe A. Rose, Pierre; chaplain, Mrs. Alice Pickler, Faulkton. The executive board is composed of Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Jennings and Miss Hayes, Pierre; Mrs. Aultman, Milbank, and Mrs. Kimmel, Onelda.

The Sons of Veterans this morning selected S. C. Green of White, commander; W. D. Nelson, Pierre, senior vice; G. R. Cooper, Huron, junior vice; delegates to national convention, W. W. Wheeler, Iroquois; Charles A. Wheeler, Pierre.

CYCLONE AT SUMMIT.

Roberts County, South Dakota, Is Visited by a Twister.

Summit, S. D., June 9.—A cyclone passed about six miles west of Summit last night about 7:30 o'clock, doing much damage. Houses and barns were demolished over quite a stretch of country, but no loss of life has been reported as yet.

In Blooming Valley township the storm was less severe, but many buildings were wrecked. Those who sustained loss, so far as heard from, are Henry Scharf, Charles Scharf, Tom Stevens, Ole Bronson and Hans Blasterwold. In Ortley township the storm developed more of a cyclonic tendency and did much damage. Peter Hondertz's house was picked up and smashed against his barn, completely wrecking both buildings. Luckily the family was away from home. A man named Somers, who was in the house, was carried through the air some distance and quite badly injured. Robert Whitefoot's buildings were scattered all over his farm and he was injured by flying boards. Luff, Jorgenson, Sunstrom and others sustained losses. Boards were driven into the ground and telegraph poles blown down.

THE ROAD WINS.

The Northwestern vs. the Wisconsin Fire Sufferers.

Green Bay, Wis., June 9.—In the case of Lambert vs. the Chicago & Northwestern railway Judge Hastings to-day instructed the jury to return a verdict for the defendant. The suit was one of twenty for damages for destruction of property by fire, which it was alleged was started from sparks from a locomotive of the defendant company. The damages asked in the suits aggregate many thousands of dollars. A verdict for the defendant was ordered on the ground that the plaintiff failed to show the fires originated as alleged. The Lambert case was the first taken up and was a test suit.

Whitney a Candidate.

Washington, June 9.—Senator Smith of New Jersey, who is in the city, thinks that ex-Secretary Whitney is a candidate for the presidency. "He is certainly after the nomination," he said, "if all the talk I have heard in New York amounts to anything."

Ready for Clients.

St. Paul, June 9.—The graduates of the university law school, eighty-four strong, appeared before the state supreme court at 9:30 this morning and were formally admitted to practice before the state courts of Minnesota.

Three Years Enough.

Wheeling, W. Va., June 9. — The Kanawha county circuit court granted a divorce to-day to Mrs. Carney Toney, aged seventy-two, from her husband, aged ninety. They had only been married three years.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO

ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE.

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arriv Crookston Daily
St. Paul Minneapol s perior Duluth Chicago a d points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.40a. m.	7:05 am
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	7.25 a m.	7:10 p. m

Trains leaving Crooksto ly has Pullan Vestibuled Sleeping Cars d Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or cial information, apply to Agent Northern P cific R. at Crooksto Inn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen, Pass. Agent
St, Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marsha

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for in or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON R. R. TRACT ST. HILAIRE

W. A. Sorsoleil

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

---

PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS
COPYRIGHTS.

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free.

Building Edition, monthly, $2.50 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY.

BREVITIES.

Rev, Moody went down to Crookston today.

Sash and doors cheap for cash at Johnson & Marshall's.

School closed for the summer holidays last Friday.

Cash paid for hides, tallow, sheep pelts etc. at the St. Hilaire meat market

Mr. Davidson, of Wadena, was selling cigars to our dealers last Monday.

Go to Johnson & Marshall's for lime cement, etc.

Mrs. Al Sargent visited friends at Crookston the latter part of last week,

Dr, Merrill, of Thief River Falls, was in town on professional business today.

Collector Scotland was doing business in this vicinity the first of the week,

George Ossman, the well known hide and fur buyer, is in town on business today.

C. A. Robbecke, of Thief River Falls, was in town a short time last Friday.

Miss Nylius, of Thief River Falls, visited friends here the latter part or last week.

Presiding Elder McKaig of Minneapolis, preached at the M. E. Church last Monday evening.

H. O. Hanson, a prominent merchant of Thief River Falls, was in town between trains last Monday.

Dr, Watson and Prof Casey, of Red Lake Falls was in the village a short time last Friday.

W, E, Kelsey, the Crookston Collector was doing business in this vicinity the latter part of, last week,

Magic Corn Cure is warranted to cure corns bunions, etc. or money refunded, For sale at St. Hilaire meat market,

Mrs. S, M. Hoff returned home last Wednesday from an extended visit to relatives in Grand Meadow Mower Co; Minn.

M, R. Brown and Frank Montague of Crookston were in town today selling the hay on school lands in this vicinity,

Dr Williams Pink Pills for pale people, the great blood purifier and Nerve Tonic' For sale at the St, Hilaire meat market.

L. D, Marshall, representing the St. Anthony & Dakota Elevator Co; was looking over that company,s property here today.

The school nine from here met the Black River nine on their diamond last Sunday, The boys from here won by eight tallies,

Last Monday's train could not reach Red Lake Falls owing to a land slide in the big cuts near the mill, Roadmaster Connelly is at the scene and thinks a work train will have to be put on to remove the superflous dirt,

Last Sunday was Childrens day at the M. E. Church. In the evening a concert entitled "Golden Gate" was given by the members of the Sunday School to an interested audiance. The Church was tastefully decorated and the program well rendered and all report having passed a pleasant and profitable evening.

Rev. and Mrs. Kenniston, Mr. and Mrs Gistie and Misses Kyle and Felton started on their trip to Winnipeg today They will make the trip in a large flat boat roofed over and comfortably fitted up and will float down the Red Lake and Red River of the North. They intend to hunt and fish and have a good time generally and expect to arrive at their destination in about a week.

Geo. A. Purvis, the immigration agent for the Great Northern, passed through today on a return trip from St, Paul, Mr, Purvis has been doing good work for the company this spring and as a result the prairie schooners are to be seen traversing the country roads each day, Hundreds of them are going into the Roseau country and many are settling on lands in the older farming communities, Not in eight years has there been such a rush for land as this year has seen and will continue to see during the remaining months,—Crookston Times,

A grand concert will be given at the Norwegian Lutheran Church on Saturday June 22nd at 7:30 p. m. by a troupe from Hope Academy, Moorhead Minn An excellent program will be rendered consisting of vocal and instrumental solos, duets, selections by a double quartet etc. and lovers of good music should not fail to attend. Admission 25 cents, children 10 cents.

Yes, says an exchange, these are hard times. We let our timber rot and buy fencing, We throw away our ashes and grease and buy soap. We raise dogs and buy hogs. We let our manure go to waste, We grow weeds and buy vegetables and brooms. We catch five cent fish with a $4 rod. We build school houses and send our children off to be educated. And lastly we send our boys out with a $40 gun and a $10 dog to hunt 10 cent birds,

The Swedish Lutheran congregation will give a picnic June 24th on the Bramsness farm just across the bridge The Hope Academy Concert troupe will furnish music for the occasion and speeches in the Scandinavian and English languages by Prof. Swenson, of Moorhead, Rev. Moody of this place Rev. Bradeson of Thief River Falls and others. Dinner will be served on the grounds for the small sum of 15 cents The program will commense at 11 o'clock a. m. All are cordially invited to attend.

A Chance For A Fine Trip.

The annual meeting of the Nationa Educational Association occurs July 9th to 12th, 1895, at Denver Colo. A fine trip has been provided by the Great Northern Railway for persons who wish to attend it. The route is from St. Paul and Minneapolis through the Minnesota Park Region and Red River Valley, by Devils Lake, Great Falls, with its wonderful water power, industries and scenery, Helena, capital of Montana, with its hot springs, Butte America's famous mining city, and then by way of Ogden and Salt Lake to Denver, and return via Omaha or Sioux City. Tickets on sale June 10th 17th. and 24th good 30 days with stop off privileges going. Tickets are sold July 4th 5th and 6th direct to Denver via Sioux City and return by Salt Lake Ogden, Butte, Helena and Great Falls. Regular summer Montana and Pacific Coast Excursion rates are now in effect and round trip tickets can be bought any day. For further information see H. J. Freeman, agent or address F. I, Whitney, G, P, & T, A, St. Paul Minn.

The Great Northern Railway Line will make a rate of $1 15 from St, Hilaire to Crookston and return for the Firemen's Tournament June 15th to 17th. Dates of sale, June 14th to 17th with return limit June 18th.

ESTRAY

Came to the premises of the undersigned about May 15th a bay mare ame in hip with halter, about six year old. Owner can have same by proving property and paying charges,

James Madden.
Sec. 31 Tp. 152 R 41,

OFFICIAL APPLICATION FOR LICENSE TO SELL INTOXICATING LIQUO S.

To the common council of the village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned M. E. Bjerk hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the 1st day of July 1895.

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows: On the ground floor of the two story building situate on Lot eleven (11) of Block forty. [40] of the original townsite of St. Hilaire Polk county Minnesota. said building having two outside entrances one in front and one in rear.

Said applicant prays that such license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinances of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of said state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire this 11th day of June 1895.

M, E. Bjerk,

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk County Minnesota will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Saturday the 29th day of June 1895 at 8 o'clock p. m. at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

Witness my hand and the seal of said village this 11th day of June 1895.

(Seal) J. L. Johnson
Village Recorder.

OFFICIAL APPLICATION FOR LICENSE TO SELL INTOXICATING LIQUORS.

To the Common Council of the village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned P. G. Paradis hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the 1st day of July 1895.

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows: On the ground floor of the two story building situate on Lot ten [10] of Block forty [40] of the original townsite of St. Hilaire Polk County Minnesota, said building having two outside entrances one in front and one on side.

Said applicant prays that said license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinances of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of the state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire this 11th day of June 1895.

P. G. Paradis.

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk county Minnesota will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Saturday the 29th day of June 1895 at 8 o'clock p. m. at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

Witness my hand and the seal of said village this 11th day of June 1895.

[Seal] J. L. Johnson
Village Recorder.

ORDINANCE NO. XII.
Concerning Dogs.

The Village Council of the Village of St. Hilaire do ordain as follows:

Sec. I. That any dog bitch or slut or any animal of the dog kind owned or being in the possession of any resident of or any person in the village of St. Hilaire shall be registered by such person or resident with the village recorder on the 1st day of July of each year and shall at the same time pay to said recorder for the use of said village a tax of Two [$2.00] Dollars for each dog and Five [$5.00] Dollars for each bitch or slut so owned and possessed by such resident or person. Every owner or possessor of any dog bitch or slut or any animal of the dog kind shall procure from the village recorder a certificate which shall state plainly therein the number and date of such license, the name of such owner or possessor, and the name of such dog, bitch or slut so licensed, and shall pay the village recorder for the use of said village the sum of ten cents for each certificate. The village recorder shall at the commencement of each municipal year provide a tag for every dog, bitch or slut licensed during his term of office said tag to have a distinguishable difference from those used in previous years,

Sec. 2. No person shall suffer his or her dog, bitch, slut or whelp to run at large within the limits of said village unless such animal wears a collar with the tag number and name distinctly engraved stamped or written thereon.

Sec. 3. It shall be lawful for the village dog inspector to kill or destroy any dog, whelp, bitch or slut found running at large within the limits of this village contrary to the provisions of this ordinance.

Sec. 4. No person shall suffer to be allowed to run at large in said village or streets thereof any dog bitch slut or whelp of a ferocious character, habit or disposition nor in the habit of barking at or in any manner annoying any person passing along or using the street or streets of said village and the village dog inspector is hereby empowered to kill or cause to be killed any such animal if found on the street or at large in said village.

Sec. 5. The dog inspector shall proceed under instructions from the president to capture and slaughter all dogs not properly licensed and collared and all dogs so slaughtered he shall bury or cause to be buried for which service he shall receive one ($1.00) dollar for each dog so slaughtered and buried upon presentation of his bill to the village council for approval, the sum to be paid out of the general village fund. The dog inspector shall receive no payment for services or expenses other than herein provided.

Sec. 6. Any person violating any of the provisions of the foregoing sections of this ordinance on conviction thereof before the justice of the peace in and for the village of St. Hilaire Minn., shall be fined in a sum not less than fifteen [$15.00] dollars and cost of prosecution and may be imprisoned not exceeding twenty (20) days in the county jail until such fine is paid.

Sec. 7. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Passed by the Village Council of the Village of St. Hilaire Minn. this 3rd day of June A. D 1895.

S. M. Dainard
Pres. of Vill. Council.
Attest
J. L. Johnson
Village Recorder.

Special meeting of the village council Friday May 31st A. D. 1892.

All members present

Meeting called to order by President Dainard

Minutes of last meeting read and approved.,

The following sealed bids for bonds were received as follows to wit:

S. A. Kean, of Chicago, Ill. offers to buy the $2.500. 7 per cent non optional 20 year bonds at par,

H. E. Ives offers to buy the $2,500 7 percent non-optional 20 year bonds at par.

Emil J, Holmes of Cannon Falls Minn' offers to buy the $2,500 7 per cent non optional 20 year bonds for $25.00 above par providing that the interest is payable semi-annual in gold with exchange to N. Y, and that the same are legally issued.

On motion of councilman Patterson seconded by councilman Hoff it was resolved that we accept the bid of E' J, Holmes of $25. above par for the $2.500 village bonds and that the same be issued on June 1st 1895 and in case said E. J, Holmes shall refuse to make his bid good then the bid of H. E, Ives at par shall be accepted,

On motion it was resolved by the village council that the president and recorder are hereby authorized to sign the $25,00, bonds and coupon attached thereto when the same shall be ready for their signature without any further negotations with said council

On motion meeting adjourned,

S. M. Dainard. J. L. Johnson.
president. Recorde.

ORDINANCE NO. XIII.
Draymen and Cartmen;

An ordinance to provide for the issuing of license to draymen and cartmen and to regulate the price of drayage and cartage.

The village council of the village of St Hilaire do ordain as follows:

Sec. 1. Draymen and Cartmen to be Licensed.

That no person shall carry on the business of drayman or car man within the limits of the village of St. Hilaire without having first obtained from the village council of said village a license for each dray, cart or wagon used by him when in said business.

Sec 2. License how to be granted

Such license may be granted upon an application in writing to said council signed by the applicant upon the following conditions viz; First—that said applicant shall pay to the treasurer of said village of St. Hilaire Minn. such sum of money as said council may fix by resolution as the price of such license.

Second—that said applicant shall not ask or demand for hauling, carting or transporting any goods wares or merchandise within the limits of the village of St. Hilaire more than twenty-five cents per load of three hundred pounds or under and fifty cents per load for all loads over three hundred pounds and not exceeding three thousand pounds provided that said applicant may demand and receive a greater sum for hauling carting and transporting goods, wares and merchandise if agreed to by parties employing said applicant

Sec. 3 Forfeiture.

All persons violating any of the conditions upon which licenses have been granted by virtue of this ordinance shall be deemed to have forfeited the same.

Sec. 4. Penalty.

Any person or persons who shall carry on the business of drayman or cartman., who shall haul, cart or transport goods, wares or merchandise about said village and within its limits for hire without first having obtained a license as provided by this ordinance shall upon conviction thereof pay a fine of not less than Five ($5.00) dollars nor more than Ten ($10.00) dollars besides the cost of prosecution and stand committed to the jail of Polk Co. Minnesota until said fine and costs are paid.

Sec. 5. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force on and after the first day of July A. D. 1895.

Dated and passed at St. Hilaire Minnesota this 3rd day of June A. D. 1895.

S, M, Dainard
Village President.
Attest J, L, Johnson
Recorder.

Special Hour Sales

At the New York Store, Crookston Minn., each day during the Firemen's Tournament. Watch daily papers for announcements,

A. Chabot, propr,

Dr H. GRUNDY
Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis

DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS
AND CIGARS.
Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.

Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY.

The NEW and the RIGHT WAY
EAST and WEST
TO ALL PACIFIC COAST POINTS
AND TRANSPACIFIC PORTS.

TIME CARD.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily.		Daily
NO. 3 North and West		NO. 2 South and East
7 45 p m Depart	St. Paul	Arrives 7 15 am
8 15 p m "	Minneapolis	" 6 15 am
3 15 a m	Barnesville	3 15 am
5 35 am Ar	Crookston	De 8 35 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH.
MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

9 10 am De	Crookston	Ar 6 00 pm
11 00 am Ar	St. Hilaire	De 4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.00 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1 20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm Close connections made at Minneapolis and St. Paul for all points East and South.

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY H. J. FREEMAN
G. P. & T. A. St. Paul Agt. St. Hilaire.

LANDS

Fertile, sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from

$2.00 to $6.00

PER ACRE.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP,
Lot 3 of 10	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	6.00
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 28	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties' in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	6.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.00
NE SE of 29	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE OF SE of 31	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 3	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 4.75
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4 50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
5 " 23	3.00 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.00 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.00
BLACK RIVER, TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.00
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
3 " 22	6.00
4 " 23	5.00 to 6.00

I will sell the hay on the above described lands for the season of 1895 at reasonable prices. All persons are hereby warned not to cut hay on any of these lands without first making contract for same, For further information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

Impetuous People

are sometimes figuratively spoken of as not above setting things on fire just for the fun of

Seeing Them Burn

Close competition breeds impetuosity, and in our earnest pushing for trade it often happens that we mark goods away down just for the fun of

Seeing Them Sell

Somebody has exclaimed: "Oh, the impetuosity of the idiocy of the tumultuous idiot!" This remark will never apply to you if in your rush for bargains you get into the right store, which of course is ours.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!

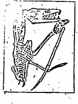
Great Bargain Sale of
FARM MACHINERY
AT
J. E. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mowe at $10 each and a full line of walking an breaking plow which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise.



PTERODACTYL

We print a likeness of the skeleton of this remarkable paleontological reptile because some of its physical characteristics are synonymous with our business methods. Perhaps the most striking similarity may be found in its

Little Finger and our Big Bargains

Its little finger is very large: and so are our bargains. The paradox of a little finger being big may be likened to the paradoxical inducements we offer you.

Profits and Hind Feet Small

Its hind feet are out of all proportion to its fore feet, just as our profit is overshadowed by the buyer's. Its large head represents the size of our stock. The many years that have elapsed since the time when this creature flourished will hint at the wearing quality of our goods.

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. D. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

Advance, $1.50.
Not in Advance, $2.00 Per Year

Entered at the St. Hilaire as Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY June 12 1895

OVER THE DEAD CENTER.

A New York Incident of the Financial Squeeze of 1893.

Right in the midst of the panic of 1893 a financier and a great power in the world of trade whose name is known all over this country and Europe went to a friend and said, "I am so near ruin as this—that while I have millions in securities I have scarcely $1,000 in cash and must have $25,000 today, or I am done for."

He had thrown himself languidly into a chair as though almost ready to give up the battle. He knew well enough what the announcement of his failure meant for the commercial world. It probably would have pulled down a score or more of important institutions and very likely would have precipitated general disaster. He had been everywhere with securities in his pocket valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars pronounced good then, but he was told in every place, "Your securities are good, but we cannot lend money now." His position was like that of the castaway upon the ocean with 'water, water everywhere, nor any drop to drink." His securities at their normal value were probably worth as much as $10,000,000, perhaps more, but it was impossible for him to borrow $10 upon them.

The friend to whom he went knew as well as he what his failure involved; knew that he was worth at least $10,000,000 in securities, although he could not command the $25,000 which stood between him and the protesting of his paper.

The friend said: "Well, I'll try to help you. What collateral have you got?" He took from his pocket securities which before the panic would have commanded easily $50,000 and said, "I can offer these."

"They are good," said the friend, "nothing better. Let me see what I can do."

He went out to a financial institution of which he had long been a customer, and he said to the officers: "I want to borrow $25,000 on this collateral, which is worth $50,000; I will guarantee the paper, provided I have recourse to the collateral in case it is not paid."

"But," said the bank officers, "we can't lend that! The collateral is good enough, but we can't even lend on government bonds. Nobody is lending. Everybody is trying to borrow."

"Well," said the friend, "then I will submit a proposition to you. If you will lend the money on this collateral, it will earn 6 per cent for you. If you will not lend it, then I will draw my own check upon this concern for $25,000, and I will keep the collateral myself. Now, it is for you to say whether for the $25,000 that you've got to part with you will take security and 6 per cent interest, or whether you will pay it out and get nothing for it, as you must do if I check it out."

Of course the officers, confronted with such an alternative, could only decide to loan the money, and it was the biggest loan that was made that day or perhaps for several days before or afterward—at least the biggest new loan.

The friend went back to the capitalist and said, "The $25,000 is at your command." When the capitalist heard this, he became a new man. All the energy characteristic of him returned. Said he, "That will carry me over the dead center, for I am satisfied that before any of my other obligations mature it will be possible to borrow money on such securities as I possess," and that proved to be the case.

The capitalist is now esteemed to be worth not far from $20,000,000, and he can borrow upon his securities millions of money with perfect ease. He does not like to think of the day in 1893 when $25,000 stood between him and ruin.—Holland in Philadelphia Press.

He Could Wait.

"Just a year ago today," he said to the man beside him on the rear platform of a Michigan avenue car, "you and I were riding down the avenue the same as now."

"Yes?" was the neutral reply.

"On that occasion I asked you a question. I asked you if you chewed tobacco."

"I think you did."

"But you did not answer me."

"No. I always wait exactly a year before answering such a question. The year is up. I will now answer that I do chew tobacco. Have a chew with me?"

"No, sir."

"Quit using the weed?"

"No, but when I meet such a man as you, I always wait two years before taking a chew of his tobacco. Thanks. See you later, just one year later."—Detroit Free Press.

Gold Remains Quiet.

Cumso—I suppose the adage which says money talks applies only to silver and paper money.

Fangle—What makes you suppose that?

Cumso—Because we know that silence is golden, and then we hear a good deal about the gold reserve.—Harlem Life.

U. S. Land office

Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U. S Land Office at Crookston Minn. on June 8 1895 viz:

Simon E. Ahlberg of St. Hilaire Minn. Hd no. 12979 for the S ½ NE ¼ and Lots 1 and 2 Sec. 1 Twp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land, viz:

Carl Sundal, Anton Sundal Gilbert Anfinson, Tollef Erickson, all of St. Hilaire Polk county Minn.

T. A. Dunlava, Register

MR. ALCOTT'S SQUASH BUG CURE.

A Philosopher's Solution of a Problem Both Moral and Agricultural.

Concord, Mass., is a restful, pastoral town where such a thing as a modern, up to date joke might do serious injury. Years ago, when Bronson Alcott was alive and the dingy old school of philosophy held men who thought profoundly, a joke was perpetrated on a Mr. Bull, the originator of the Concord grape. The joke seemed so funny that nothing but death can ever efface it from the memories of the older Concordians, and they never lose an opportunity to spring it on visitors who come to see Sleepy Hollow, the Paul Revere lantern, the powder horn of Louisburg and the rude chamber furniture used by Thoreau.

One day recently a Princeton professor, returning from a drive to Malden, where Thoreau spent a year or more as a recluse among the birds and flowers, accosted a wrinkled old man in front of the school of philosophy, and the two began to talk about the Concord of 40 or 50 years ago. The professor was an opponent of the Alcott philosophy, but as the townsman didn't believe in philosophy at all the subject was changed. The two walked the sidewalk together till they came to the old Alcott residence, when the townsman told this story:

"Years ago," he began, "Mr. Alcott was very much interested in garden truck and was noted for being very successful in raising squashes. His next door neighbor was Mr. Bull of Concord grape fame. One day when Mr. Bull was busy in his garden gathering bugs which threatened to destroy his crop of squashes Mr. Alcott happened along. He seemed a little surprised to see Mr. Bull place each bug in a tin milk can and finally said as he stopped and leaned over the fence:

"'What are you going to do with 'em, Brother Bull?'

"'Goin' t' pour bilin water on 'em,' was the reply.

"'Boiling water on 'em?' said Mr. Alcott, with well feigned surprise. 'Why, that will kill 'em.'

"'Kinder expect it will,' said Mr. Bull, gathering in three or four from a vine and never once looking up at his interrogator.

"'I'm amazed, Brother Bull,' said Mr. Alcott severely.

"'Can't help it, neighbor,' said Mr. Bull. 'Death's the only exterminator, and I've either got to kill 'em, or they'll have all my squashes down their gullets.'

"'You have no moral right to take the lives of any of God's creatures,' said Mr. Alcott. 'Now, look at my squashes. They're the finest in town, and I never kill a bug—no, sir, never.'

"With this shot Mr. Alcott took his departure, leaving Mr. Bull to wonder what in the world the philosopher did to protect his garden from the bug. All that night he thought of it and all the next. He didn't like the idea of sprinkling poisons, so he decided to see Mr. Alcott in due time and inquire into his method of protecting his squashes.

"Getting up soon after the sun one morning, he happened to glance over to the Alcott garden, where he saw the professor in wide straw hat busily picking bugs and depositing them in a tin pan. Thinking he would learn the secret on the quiet, he watched. Mr. Alcott continued gathering in the troublesome insects for upward of three-quarters of an hour. Arising at last to an erect position, he glanced cautiously around. Seeing no sign of any one moving about on the Bull premises, he walked stealthily to the wall and emptied a quarter panful of squash bugs over into Mr. Bull's garden. The watcher had learned the secret, but he was so shocked by the discovery that he could hardly believe his own eyes. He never said a word. His trick was worth two of the one he had just discovered, and while the squashes lasted he paid the small boys of the town so much a dozen for active bugs."—New York Sun.

A Feminine Answer.

"Honor bright now, Nellie, why did you marry Mr. Jones?"

"Well, he's a good fellow. I rather liked him, and he has plenty of money, and—and, dear, the way that Simpson girl let everybody see she was just dying to have him was just shameful. Now, I couldn't let her have him, could I?"—Philadelphia Press.

Unutterable.

"Do you not sometimes have soulful yearnings which you long to convey in words, but cannot?" asked the sentimental girl.

"Yes, indeed," replied the young man. "I was once dreadfully anxious to send home for money, and I didn't have the price of a telegram."—Washington Star.

Acquired Dumbness.

Jaggs—Is Blobbs dumb in his own house?

Laggs—Practically so.

Jaggs—What's the matter?

Laggs—He promised his wife he would always listen when she talked.—Detroit Free Press.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of nine hundred and thirty-two dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Ole P. Stokke and Tehne Stokke his wife mortgagors, to Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 3rd day of August 1889, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 7th day of August 1889, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in Book 43 of mortgages on page 54 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty in Township one hundred and forty-nine of Range forty-seven in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 8th day of June 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated April 5th A. D. 1895.

Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee.

J. Montague, attorney, Crookston Minn

U. S. Land Office

Crookston Minn. April 24 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on June 7 1895. viz:

John Kron, father of Alfred Kron deceased, HD no. 12986 for the NE ¼ sec. 32 Tp 153 R 45.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land viz:

Adolph Nelsen, L. G. Dalin, Per Person, Sam Person all of Bray p. o. Polk Co. Minn

T. A. Dunlava, Register,

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of five hundred and eighty-seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary A. Holovik and, Hans M. Holovik her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee, bearing date the 17th day of December 1890 and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 19th day of December 1890, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in book 50 of mortgages, on page 112 Which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned by said Security Trust Co. of Nashua N. H mortgagee to Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper by written assignment dated on the 7th day of January 1891 and recorded in the office of the Register of deeds on the 24th day of January 1891 at 8:45 o'clock a. m., in Book 56 of mortgages, on page 81 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part there of.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in, and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The north west quarter of Section 18 in Township One hundred and Forty-seven in Range Forty-five, in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston in said County and State, on the 8th day of June 1895 at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars, attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 1st A. D. 1895.

Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper
Assignee of mortgagee.

R. J. Montague, attorney, Crookston Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE

Crookston, Minn., April 29 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver, U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn on June 13 1895. viz:

Ann McIsaac HD no. 13855 for the SE ¼ NW ¼ and Lots 3, 4 and 5 Sec. 6 Tp. 152, R, 45.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

Axel Crown, Swan J, Naplin, Olaus Sorentryeh, August Naplin, all St. Hilaire Polk County Minnesota.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred and fifty-eight dollars, which is claimed to be due, and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Arthur Perras and Antoinette Perras, his wife mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 18th day of March 1890, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 7th day of April 1890 at 8 o'clock a. m., in book 50 of mortgages, on page 11, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz:

The South east quarter of the South east quarter of Section Ten and the East half of the North east quarter and the North east quarter of the South east quarter of Section Fifteen in Township one hundred and fifty of Range forty-two, in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 8th day of June 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law

Dated February 7th A. D 1895.

Security Trust Co., of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.

R. J. Montague, Crookston Minn attorney.

U. S. LAND OFFICE

Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the register or receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on July 2 1895. viz:

Carl Wik of St. Hilaire Minn. H D no 13344 for the SE ¼ Sec. 35 Twp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz;

Hakon Johnson, Frank Satterberg, Jonas Fougstrom, Peter Anderson all of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

DEALERS IN

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath. Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE

HIGHEST MARKET PRICES

FOR

All kinds of

CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for sale

S. M. DAINARD.
Manager.

THE ST. HILAIRE TOWNSITE COMPANY

Will sell for the next

60 days

DESIRABLE RESIDENCE

LOTS

From $25 to $100.

ALSO FIRST CLASS BUSINESS PROPERTY AT HARD PAN PRICES.

Apply to

H. E. IVES Agt.

ST. HILAIRE MINN.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

Barbershop in connection

BROADWAY, ST. HILAIRE

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200

BARRELS,5 0.

This cut represents Quality No. 1 — List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING: MATTED RIBS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point-

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsman that we have not only improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money but THE BEST

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers' ITHACA, N.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

Heavy and Shelf

HARDWARE

HEADQUARTERS FOR

HUNTER' SUPPLIES

MACHINE OIL AND XTRAS

BINDING TWINE

P a 9 cents a pound.

NEW GOODS PRICES

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

AMERICAN HOTEL.

W. A. ARTHUR Proprietor.

NEWLY FURNISHED

STRICTLY FIRST CLASS

Special attention given to traveling men, Hunting, Fishing and Excursion parties.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.
DR.
PRICE'S
CREAM
BAKING
POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

What a Collector May Do.

A collecting animal! What a delight it is to be able to fulfill in one's own person this definition; to have the knowledge and to have the money. If careful search were made by some favorable inquirer, it might perhaps be found that to be a collector, to collect, calls into play some of the highest and noblest feelings of which man is capable. It certainly calls into play some of the worst. We must draw, of course, a clear and broad line between calling into play an unworthy feeling and inducing the man to give way to it. Many a collector has been tempted by the opportunity of acquiring a treasure from some ignorant person, at a twentieth part of its value, to the great loss of the owner; and some have overcome the temptation. Some have not. Many a collector has been tempted to delay the return of a specimen or a book or a photograph, in the idea, carefully concealed from himself, that the owner and he will forget all about it, or one of them will die, or in some other way it will become a part of his own collection. The knowledge of most of us is adverse to the view that collectors always—or shall we say generally?—overcome this curious temptation. Many a collector has been tempted to dig up by the roots and carry away the only specimen he can find of some rare plant. Let botanists and tourists look into their hearts and their other receptacles and blush.—The Cornhill Magazine.

It Sticketh Closer than a Brother.
Does the rheumatism. Cut off all relationship with it by the aid of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which severs the bond without loss of time, if you use it promptly and persistently. No testimony is more positive and concurrent than that which establishes its efficacy in this obstinate disease. Use it with assurance of good results for malarial, dyspeptic and nervous trouble, constipation and biliousness.

Green-Room Thrift.

Manager—What's that row about up there?

Super—Coryphee kicked over something.

Manager—Go and see what. If it is over six feet I will raise her salary.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth
Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

And Several Others.

Whizly—One swallow does not make a summer.

Sizly—No, but one grasshopper can make a spring.—Philadelphia Enquirer.

A. M. PRIEST, Druggist, Shelbyville, Ind., says: "Hall's Catarrh Cure gives the best of satisfaction. Can get plenty of testimonials, as it cures every one who takes it." Druggists sell it, 75c.

Consoling.

Prohib—Sixty thousand drunkards die every year.

Soaque—But see how many people get the same dose who never have any fun at all.

The Natchez tribes are said to have been the only North American Indians who had a temple of worship.

It is said that a house well built of first-class brick will outlast one constructed of granite.

Metal Wheels
for your Wagons
Any size you want, 20 to 56 inches high. Tires 1 to 8 inches wide—hubs to fit any axle. Saves Cost many times in a season to have set of low wheels to fit your wagon for hauling grain, fodder, manure, hogs, &c. No resetting of tires. Cat'l'g free. Address Empire Mfg. Co., P. O. Box 53, Quincy Ill.

LEWIS' 98 % LYE
POWDERED AND PERFUMED
(PATENTED)
The strongest and purest Lye made. Unlike other Lye, it being a fine powder and packed in a can with removable lid, the contents are always ready for use. Will make the best perfumed Hard Soap in 20 minutes without boiling. It is the best for cleansing waste pipes, disinfecting sinks, closets, washing bottles, paints, trees, etc.
PENNA. SALT M'F'G CO.
Gen. Agents, Phila., Pa.

ALLEN'S IRON TONIC BITTERS
The most elegant Blood Purifier, Liver Invigorator, Tonic and Appetizer known. It builds up and fortifies the whole system, invigorates the liver, aids digestion and cures dyspepsia. The first Iron Tonic Bitters ever advertised in America. Get the genuine.
J. P. ALLEN, Druggist and Chemist,
ST. PAUL, MINN.

LINENE REVERSIBLE
Raphael, Angelo, Rubens, Tasso
The "LINENE" are the Best and Most Economical Collars and Cuffs worn; they are made of fine cloth, both sides finished alike, and, being reversible, one collar is equal to two of any other kind. They fit well, wear well and look well. A box of Ten Collars or Five Pairs of Cuffs for Twenty-Five Cents.
A Sample Collar and Pair of Cuffs by mail for Six Cents. Name style and size. Address
REVERSIBLE COLLAR COMPANY,
77 Franklin St., New York. 27 Kilby St., Boston.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c, and $1.00 at Druggists

BINDER TWINE.
Lowest Prices Ever Made. Full line of grades. Guaranteed manufactured in 1895. Write for FREE Samples and Prices.
AUGUST POST, Moulton, Iowa.

PENSIONS JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.
Successfully Prosecutes Claims.
Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau.
3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

Taking a Bath in Japan.

We made our host understand what we wanted and soon all hands were busy bringing wooden pails of water into the yard. We noticed that with each pail arrived half a dozen inquisitive-looking natives, who had evidently scented some novelty in the air. At last the water was ready and we were told that we could have our bath. "But what about all these people?" we asked, pointing to the crowd of women and children assembled in the yard. "Oh, they've come to see," was the reply. Now, Englishmen, as a rule, are modest beings, and I fancy that most men would feel a certain amount of bashfulness if called upon to stand up and bathe in the presence of fifty women and children; so M. whispered to me: "I'm going to bed dirty tonight, unless those people clear out." I told him he must not think of such base conduct, and I reminded him of the story in the "Pink Wedding," of the gentleman who refused his bath in the presence of the moozmi attendant; how she went out and told her friends that the poor man was possessed of a caudal appendage, and how he had to flee the village to prevent maltreatment as an agent of the devil. My friend was persuaded, and we "stripped to the buff." As each garment came off the crowd closed in, and the women strove among themselves for the pleasure of pouring the water down our backs.—The Gentleman's Magazine.

Tobacco-User's Sore Throat.
It's so common that every tobacco user has an irritated throat that gradually develops into a serious condition, frequently consumption, and it's the kind of a sore throat that never gets well as long as you use tobacco. The tobacco habit, sore throat, and lost manhood cured by No-To-Bac. Sold and guaranteed to cure by Druggists everywhere. Book, titled "Don't Tobacco Spit or Smoke Your Life Away," free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., New York City or Chicago.

Mummy Two Thousand Years Old.

A Baltimore clergyman has just brought two mummies from Egypt which are to be given to the Woman's college of that city. They are about 2,000 years old, and are thought to be the bodies of princesses. It is strange, by the way, how inconsistent people are in their way of looking at things. If some one were to bribe the curator of a modern cemetery to let him have two dead bodies, and were then to place those bodies in a public museum, there would be a howl all over the country, and the perpetrator of the deed would be called a ghoul. But as these princesses lived a long time ago, in a distant land, and were only heathens, anyway, no one objects to their being taken from their resting place. Besides, how could we study archaeology if we didn't rifle the graves of the venerable dead?—New York Tribune.

The reviving powers of Parker's Ginger Tonic render it indispensable in every home. Stomach troubles, colds and every form of distress yield to it.

There are said to be forty-two grammars of the ancient Mexican language, and twenty-three dictionaries.

Get Hindercorns and use it
If you want to realize the comfort of being without corns. It takes them out perfectly. 15c at druggists

A Protest.

Bobby had been served with a very small share of pastry and he was doing his best to smother his resentment at the discrimination.

"I am very much afraid," his mother said, that this pie needs more shortening."

"Mamma," said the boy, in an audible undertone, "that isn't what my piece needs

"No'm. My piece needs lengthening."—Washington Star.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."
Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

By Way of Preparation.

She—I see the income tax is declared void—

He—Yes, we've been 'blanking' it for some time.—Cleveland Plaindealer.

The Time, but Not the Gait.

Languid Stranger—Have I got time to catch the train?

Smart Policeman—You may have the time, but you don't seem to have the speed.—Philadelphia Enquirer.

The Ladies.
The pleasant effect and perfect safety with which ladies may use the California liquid laxative, Syrup of Figs, under all conditions, makes it their favorite remedy. To get the true and genuine article, look for the name of the California Fig Syrup Co., printed near the bottom of the package.

The Reason He Had.

One—You haven't a single reason why you won't join our club.

Tother—Perhaps not; but I have a married reason.—Detroit Free Press.

For Whooping Cough, Piso's Cure is a successful remedy.—M. P. Dieter, 67 Throop Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 14, '94.

Fine Work.

Customer—This corn-beef sandwich needs repairing.

Jeweler—Yes. The beef is a trifle loose in the setting.—Detroit Tribune.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine.
The original and only genuine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Cold Sores, &c. C. G. Clark Co., N. Haven, Ct.

Justified.

Hill—You have a black eye this morning.

Mill—Yes. A man hit me for a dollar.

Hill—Did you hit back?

Mill—No. He was in the right. It was his dollar, you see.

Dr. PIERCE'S PLEASANT PELLETS CURE SICK HEADACHE, BILIOUSNESS,
CONSTIPATION, INDIGESTION,
DYSPEPSIA,
POOR APPETITE,
and all derangements of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.
Of all druggists.
ONCE USED
ALWAYS IN FAVOR.

PAY FOR PLEASANT WORK easily secured through an early application for Local Agency to sell the
DAVIS CREAM SEPARATORS
to Farmers and Dairymen. One style was shown in last number of this journal. Another will soon be pictured out. Meanwhile, write for Handsome Illustrated Book Free. DAVIS & RANKIN BLDG. AND MFG. CO., Sole Manufacturers, 240 W. Lake St., Chicago

HELEN AND DOC.

An O'er True Tale.

Tales and tales of heroism have been told and retold. But the following story, so graphically written, is without parallel in recent years, possessing as it does all the earmarks of truth and elements of romance. It is told in a simple narrative style that is pleasing, though the illustrations are by an apprentice. It is a tale of

The Old Telegraph Trail.

"The old telegraph trail between Fort Sheridan and Fort Robinson was the trail on which the government mail was carried," said Doc Middleton the other day to the writer, "and many a man has given up his dear old scalp to the Indians, and then been roasted alive.

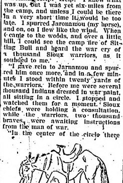
"I remember," said Doc, "about twenty years ago when I was working on the Half Diamond E ranch in the White river valley. About five miles below the ranch was the camp of old Sitting Bull, the famous Sioux warrior, who was killed in the Wounded Knee battle in 1890. His camp was in the brush about two yards from the trail, and the weary traveler could not see it until he stood before it.

"I Grasped Her by the Arm and Raised her to the Saddle."

"It was in June, and the night was dark and cloudy. I was on my way home from the round-up, and as I was riding slowly through the woods I heard a peculiar cry that came in the direction of Sitting Bull's camp. I stopped and listened for a moment, and then I plainly heard the voice of a woman, 'Help! Help!' I knew what was up, but I was yet six miles from the camp, and unless I could be there in a very short time it would be too late. I spurred Jaronamou (my horse), and on, on I flew like the wind. When I came to the woods, and over a little hill, I could see the camp fire of Sitting Bull and heard the war cry of a thousand Sioux warriors, as it sounded to me.

"I gave rein to Jaronamou and spurred him once more, and in a few minutes I stood within twenty yards of the warriors. Before me were several thousand Indians dressed in war paint, all sitting in a circle. I stopped and watched them for a moment. Sioux chiefs were holding a consultation, while the warriors, two thousand braves, were awaiting instructions from the man of war.

"In the center of the circle there was a large bonfire, and beside the bonfire sat a beautiful young damsel. She had perhaps seen eighteen summers. I had stood there but a few minutes when she saw me. I gave her a signal that I would save her. Just then Sitting Bull arose and said to his fellow warriors: 'Oh, ye warriors brave, the Messiah has sent word to you and I to roast this pale-faced devil before the dawn of day.'

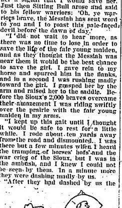


"Doc, Are We Safe."

"I did not wait to hear more, as there was no time to lose in order to save the life of the fair young maiden, and as they thought the Messiah was near them it would be the best chance to save the girl. I gave rein to my horse and spurred him in the flanks, and in a second I was rushing madly toward the girl. I grasped her by the arm and raised her to the saddle. Before the Sioux's 2,000 braves overcame their amazement I was riding swiftly over the prairie with the fair young maiden in my arms.

"I kept up this gait until I thought it would be safe to rest for a little while. I rode about ten yards away from the road and dismounted. I was there but a few minutes when I heard the tramping of horses' hoofs and the war cries of the Sioux, but I was in the ambush, and I knew I could not be seen by them. In a minute more they were dashing madly by us.

"After they had dashed by us the young maiden said, in a voice so meek and mild, 'Doc, are we safe?'



"My Raymond Handed Me a Roll of Bills."

"'Yes, darling, we are safe,' said I, 'but how came you to know my name?'

"'Well, Doc, don't you remember the time when we used to play in papa's yard under the large shade trees down in Missouri?'

"'Why, Helen Raymond; is it you?'

"'Yes, Doc, it is me, and when I saw you I knew I was saved, for this is the third time that you have risked your own life to save mine.'

"'Now, Helen, tell me quick how did these cruel Indians get you away down in Missouri?'

"'Well, to make a long story short, Doc, about three weeks ago one evening I was standing on the veranda of my father's house when Buffalo Bill and about twenty scouts rode by. One of the men turned and came in the yard. He asked me for a drink. I went into the house and got him a glass of water. When I handed it to him he pointed a six-shooter at me and said: 'If you utter a word you are dead.' He grabbed me and swung me on the saddle and rode away on a breakneck speed. After riding a few hours we came to a camp. Here the man took a camping outfit and drove for three weeks; when we arrived at the Niobrara river. It was about sundown when we got there. We were there but a few minutes when we saw a band of Indians riding toward us. He knew if he would stay that he would be killed, so he mounted his best horse and rode in the opposite direction from the way the Indians were coming. The Indians took me and told me that they were going to take me before the man of war, and that I would soon be killed. It was two days' riding. When we arrived at White river, or the Man of War's camp, it was about half an hour before you came.'

"'Do you know the name of the man that stole you away from home?' I asked.

"'Yes. He told me his name was Dave Tutt.'

"'Oh, yes, I know him well; but when we meet it will either be Dave Tutt or Doc Middleton. But we must lose no more time here, as it is yet twenty miles to Fort Sheridan, and we must be there by dawn.'

"I mounted Jaronamou and took the girl in my arms, and we arrived at Fort Sheridan at 5 o'clock. Here we were met by Helen's father, Mr. Raymond. The meeting was indeed a happy one. Mr. Raymond had tracked Dave Tutt to the Niobrara river. There he lost the trail and accidentally came to Fort Sheridan.

"Mr. Raymond handed me a roll of bills, but I told him I did not care for the money, as such things as that often happened in the West. A few days ago when I was in St. Louis I met Miss Raymond and she is now the wife of a wealthy banker at St. Louis.

"Sitting Bull was the Man of War of the great Sioux tribe ever since he was eighteen years of age, and his daily prayer to the Messiah was to meet his companions in the happy hunting grounds, and since his death in the Wounded Knee battle the great Sioux tribe have been unable to find a man as brave as Sitting Bull, and they meet every full moon and pray to the Messiah for his return."—Chicago Tribune.

FIRST NIGHT IN A SLEEPER.

Adventures of a Rural Couple Bound for Niagara Falls.

During last August when cheap excursion trains were being run to Niagara Falls from nearly every section of the country, as is the custom every year, I was given charge of a tea car train of Pullman sleepers delivered to the Erie by a connecting line running into "Darkest Indiana."

The passengers on this train were of the raw blue jean type, many of them were crossing the border of their state for the first time, and a big majority of them were getting their first taste of Pullman luxuries. As the shades of night began to fall the thoughts of the passengers turned to sleep. In the rear of a Pullman was an elderly farmer and his wife hailing from one of the interior counties of the state. They were the first people in the car to ask the porter to fix their bed, so they could "turn in." Their tickets called for one of the upper berths, which the porter immediately made up for them. After the porter had brought them the ladder his attention was called to the other end of the car, when to the amazement of the other passengers in the car the old lady quickly mounted the ladder with the alertness of a gymnast, climbing over the curtain pole, and dropped into the berth. When the porter came along the old gentleman was in the act of going through the same performance. The porter intercepted him before he had completed his giant swing and gracefully parting the curtains he showed the mystified tiller of the soil that there was an easier way of getting into an upper berth than by way of the roof, at which the old man smiled and said he wondered why Maria had not thought of splitting the curtains.

The train, which was running special and making few stops, had not run very far after this little incident when I felt the train give a slight lurch as if the air brake had been suddenly applied. I gave little attention to this, but had hardly dismissed it from my mind when the train lurched again. I was then convinced that somebody was meddling with the air brake cord which runs along the roof of the car. Two officials of the passenger department of the road who were in the rear sleeper felt the jerking of the train, and climbing stepladders at either end of the car began to look for the cause of the trouble. The officials at the forward end of the car quickly discovered the leak. The old couple who had scaled the curtain pole to get into their berths had mistaken the air brake cord for a clothes line and had hung all of their wearing apparel, including boots and shoes, on it. The weight of the clothing had stretched the cord so as to set the air brakes. Just as the plot had been discovered the old lady threw her "shaps" over the line. This broke the camel's back. The air hissed, the brake was set like a vise, and the train brought to a dead standstill. After the cord was unloaded the old couple were told of their mistake, and the train piloted through the dark night without any further accidents.—Chicago Daily Inter-Ocean.

Mazzini's Kindness.

Mazzini's greeting was invariably warm and cheerful, his manner that of an effectionate friend, whether in general company, in his own chamber or in my house among my children. Of children he was fond. Well I recollect leaving with him his Italian school at Greville street, Hatton Garden, when he lifted in his arms the tired child of an Italian workman, and carried the boy as he would a friend's son. Not merely a leader, even of a great cause of Italian freedom, his heart was tender toward all sufferers, his disposition compassionate, the disposition of a man who loved. He came to me once, with tears in his eyes, telling me of his friend Stolzman, whom he had found starving, because the old soldier would not, even of him, ask help, knowing the many claims upon him of his Italians. He was a man who had not only the faculty of loving, but also the faculty of inspiring love.—Memoirs, W. L. Linton.

Chaining a Beauty.

Jinks—Everybody predicted that Hardhead would have trouble after he married that vain beauty; but she never leaves her home unless he is with her. How does he manage?

Winks—He filled the house with mirrors.—New York Weekly.

Electric Launch Ferry Service.

An application has been made in Norway of the electric launch that is sure to be widely followed. The city of Bergen, which is the center of the Norwegian land and sea commerce, ranges on two sides of a narrow harbor, forming an inlet and surrounded by rapidly rising ground. Rapid transit from one side of the harbor to the other became imperative, and a line of electric ferry boats has been established. As the harbor is very narrow, only about 330 yards, it was found desirable to construct the boats so that they could operate without turning about to go from one station to another. They were consequently made double-edged, with two screws, one at each end, both connected directly to the motor shaft. The motor weighs 360 pounds and is of three horse-power capacity. Thirty-two cells of storage battery, weighing 5,280 pounds, are placed in each boat. The speed of the boats is seven feet six inches per second, quite enough for threading safely the crowded shipping of the harbor. Each boat covers thirty-seven miles daily and the average number of passengers carried since the boats have been in service has been 1,800 per day. The cost of the fleet of eight boats was $15,000 and of the charging station, $12,800.

Adopt a Signature.

A young girl went to a bank not long ago and tried to draw out money she had deposited. She wrote her name, but was astonished to have the signature disputed. Her indignant protest was met by the statement that the name she had ujst signed bore no resemblance to that written when the money was brought to the bank. Fortunately, she was able to prove her identity, but the person who testified in her favor said frankly that he would have refused payment on such contradictory signatures. "Let me give you a piece of advice," said he, "alter your writing if you choose, but adopt a signature which can always be recognized. It is often of the greatest importance to a man or woman."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Tips in Germany.

Everybody who has ever traveled in Germany or the rest of Europe denounces the "trinkgeld" or "pourboire" nuisance. Many people in Germany denounce it, too, but the habit is deeply rooted. Yesterday the association of German hotel-kepers, about 1,000 strong, were in convention here and discussed this very question, many desiring the organization to put its foot down on it. But the merry waiter and his "trinkgeld" proved too strong. The association decided not to meddle with the time-honored custom. Thus when next you go to Germany you'll find the waiter in his swallowtail as usual, smiling and with an itching palm.—New York Advertiser.

A Life-Saving Line.

A merchant captain claims to have invented the ideal life-saving line, which gives an independent means of getting from ship to shore. This device, which is intended to be available when guns and lifeboats are useless, consists of an air-bag or car made of canvas, rendered water-proof by oil; and is built in two sizes. One of these will carry a life-line of 1,000 to 1,500 fathoms, and the other will sustain twenty-five people with a draught of only 2 feet 6 inches of water. Both styles of cars have sails that spread themselves automatically, and that materially assist in driving them on a lee shore. The apparatus can be placed in a box on deck. It is floated by filling the air chambers which are emptied when not in use.

Saved His Master.

"The most remarkable anecdote of this nature," said Uncle Joshua, "is that regarding a Swiss chamois hunter's dog. This animal, being on the glaciers with an English gentleman and his master, observed the former approaching one of those awful crevices in the ice to look down into it. He began to slide toward the edge. His guide, with a view to save him, caught his coat, and both slid onward, till the dog seized his master's clothes and arrested them in their course to an inevitable death. Both were saved by the timely aid of the dog and the gentleman showed his gratitude for the act by leaving the dog a pension for life."

The authorities of Canada have been making an elaborate study of the baking powders sold there. The official analyst of Ontario says, as the result of his investigation that he "finds the Royal Baking Powder far superior to the others," and goes so far as to recommend its use in preference to any other.

A Magnifying Store Window.

There is a suggestion for the American fruit merchant, which possibly may be turned to account in the story of the device for attracting custom resorted to by a fruiterer in a midland town in England. Instead of an ordinary plate glass a large number of magnifying lenses formed the window. Seen through one of these an orange looked as large as a modest pumpkin, and cherries were as large as apples. The only drawback to this novel plan was that at the distance of a few yards from the window it was impossible to see into the store. Everybody knows that to see anything through a magnifying glass you must hold it close to the eyes. Nevertheless the English countryfolk enjoyed the sight of "Californian" fruit and the enterprising proprietor did a roaring business.

Closing Air-Tight Compartments.

It will be remembered that the cause of the disaster to the British battleship Victoria was the failure to secure a speedy closing of the air-tight compartments from which the flood of water should have been excluded. The sad lesson has not been lost, and the naval authorities at Washington are now testing a device, to be worked by electricity, by which the officer of the deck or the man in the conning tower of a vessel can close every door instantaneously by pulling a lever in case of an impending ramming or collision. The sounding of a whistle or a bell for a specific number of seconds warns the men below to escape to the deck or get out of the way of the doors.

A collection of 80,000 stuffed birds will be one of the attractions of a museum now in course of erection at Leyden, Holland. The building will in size outrank anything of the kind in the world except the British museum.

A CITY'S CRIME CENTER.

The Tenderloin District in New York and Its Recent Changes.

The original Tenderloin precinct in the annals of the police department of New York was the eighth, the station house of which was in Prince street and is now in Macdougal street. Its boundaries are Canal street, Houston street, Broadway and the North river. It was a great resort for thieves, crooks and disorderly persons, and nished the largest amount of police business. In 1870, when the eighth precinct was at the height of its deplorable prominence, the arrests were 5,500 in a year, against 2,500 in the twenty-ninth precinct, the present Tenderloin. The captain best known in connection with the eighth was Charles McDonald, better known as "Lightning Charley." He was appointed in 1870, and gained his title from service in the Thirty-fifth-street station.

With the growth of the city further up town, the moving away of the big hotels, and the encroachments of stores and warehouses in the eighth precinct, the fifteenth, or Mercer-street precinct, became the Tenderloin. Its reign was brief. The twenty-ninth (now the nineteenth) precinct, the present Tenderloin, extends from Fourteenth to Forty-second street, and the western boundary is Seventh avenue. It takes in both sides of Broadway and has a larger number of hotels than any other precinct in this city. The part that gave it its unsavory reputation lies between Sixth and Seventh avenues and Twenty-third and Thirty-fourth streets. At one time both sides of Sixth avenue were largely taken up with concert saloons, and among these in the Tenderloin were the Buckingham, the Star and Garter, the Cremorne, the Empire, the Sans Souci, the Argyle, and the Haymarket. Sixth avenue, between Twenty-third and Thirty-fourth streets, at that time, was as much crowded by night as Broadway is now by day. Arrests were many, and strangers visiting New York came to this neighborhood as one of the sights of the town.

At present the Tenderloin is a name chiefly. Most of the establishments which gave it a national, if not international, ill-repute, have either moved away or have been closed for good. The side streets between Sixth and Seventh avenues and Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth streets are mostly occupied by members of the French colony. It is in the heart of the region of the tables d'hote. Twenty-seventh street, notorious in old Tenderloin days, is now occupied chiefly by colored residents; Thirty-first and Thirty-second streets are given over to business uses. Thirty-first street is mostly occupied by German tenants. A new church has been built there within two years. Sixth avenue is now as quiet at midnight as any other New York thoroughfare up town—decidedly more so than Third or Eighth avenue. The number of arrests in the nineteenth precinct last year was 4,253, while in the fifteenth (Mercer street) the arrests were 4,940. The eighth precinct, the Tenderloin of other days, had a total of 1,900 prisoners, of whom 1,620 were men, mostly for minor offenses.—New York Sun.

STORY OF A DIAMOND.

The Story of the Famous Hope Blue Diamond as It Was and Is.

One of the earliest doubts harbored by the youthful intelligence of the wisdom of its instructors is when it learns that neither black swans nor black pearls are especially rare. Had proverbial philosophy given its mind to blue diamonds it would have alighted on something really rich and rare; since, although diamonds find their way into market, diamonds of an unmistakable blue are exceedingly scarce. The "Hope blue diamond," of which London has heard so much recently in the course of the action brought by young Mr. Tasker against a firm of Bond-street jewelers, is probably the finest gem of its kind known to exist. Its blue is so deep as to be almost indigo—a tint unapproached even by the sapphire. The history of the stone is curious. It appears, indeed, to be only a portion of a larger stone with a pedigree which goes back some 250 years. Tavernier, the famous French traveler, who has left such entertaining memoirs of his journeys to the east in search of precious stones, bought it in India in 1641. In the rough it weighed 112¼ carats; and in 1668 it was sold to Louise Quartorze, who appears to have had it cut. When, in 1715, the then almost moribund Roi Soleil received the Persian ambassador, he wore his diamond upon a ribbon around his neck. From this date until the revolution nothing more is heard of the gem. Then, among the French regalia deposited in the Garde Meuble, there was found a blue diamond weighing 67⅛ carats, which, it is believed, would be a likely weight for Tavernier's stone after cutting. In September, 1792, the diamond was stolen, and was for some years lost sight of. In 1830, however, a similar stone, differently cut, turned up. There is a good deal of mystery about its pedigree; but the experts seem to be satisfied that it was either a portion of the Tavernier diamond, or the identical stone reduced to 44½ carats by recutting. From the hands of the dealer who possessed it some years ago it passed to the late Mr. Hope, from whom it obtained its present name. He gave £18,000 for it, which was considered rather a low price. Now it appears to be "in chancery," and possibly before long it may have a new possessor.—Philadelphia Record.

Scotch Humor.

An artist is busy at his easel by the wayside. A rustic is looking over his shoulder in the free manner of the independent Scot. A brother rustic is in a field near by with his hands in his pockets. He is uncertain whether it is worth while to take the trouble to mount the dike for the uncertain pleasure of looking at the picture. "What is he doing, Jock?" asks he in the field of his better situated mate. "Drawin' wi' pent!" returns Jock, over his shoulder. "Is 't bonny?" again asks the son of toil in the field. "Ocht but bonny!" comes back the prompt and decided answer of the critic. Of considerations for the artist's feelings there is not a trace. Yet both of these rustics will appreciatively relate the incident on coming in from the field and washing themselves, with this ridér: "An' he didna look ower weel pleased, I can tell ye! Did he, Jock?"—The Contemporary Review.

The Modus Operandi.

"Has the king of Umsquog ever insulted us?" asked Great Britain.

"Never," replied the warrior.

"Well, go out and irritate him a bit. He's got some ground that I'd like to own."—Washington Star.

A LIVING SHADOW.

REMARKABLE TRANSFORMATION OF A NORTH CAROLINA MAN.

Strange, but True Story from the Lumber Regions of a Southern State.

(From the Greenville, N. C., Reflector.)

The following interview has just been given our reporter by Mr. G. A. Baker, the overseer at the farm of Col. Isaac A. Sugg of Greenville, N. C. It will interest any one who has ever had typhoid fever. Mr. Baker said in part:

"I was living in Beaufort county, and on the 2d day of October, 1893, I was stricken down with typhoid fever. I had the best physicians to attend me and on the 18th day of January, 1894, I was allowed to get up. I was emaciated, weak and had no appetite. I could only drag along for a short distance and would be compelled to sit down and rest. This continued for some time and I began to give up hope of ever getting well. I lost my position in Beaufort county and having secured one in Pitt county, clerking in a store, I undertook it, but was so weak I could not do the work and had to give it up. The disease settled in my knees, legs and feet. I was taking first one kind of medicine and then another, but nothing did me any good. I was mighty low-spirited. I moved out to Col. Sugg's about four or five months ago and commenced taking Dr. Williams' Pills. I took three a day for about three months. I began to regain my appetite in a week's time, and then my weakness began to disappear, and hope sprung up with a blessedness that is beyond all telling. At the expiration of three months I was entirely cured and could take my ax and go in the woods and do as good a day's work as any man. I was troubled with dyspepsia and that has disappeared. It is also a splendid tonic for weak people. I say, Mr. Editor, God bless Dr. Williams may he live for a long time. I know he will go up yonder to reap his reward. Tell everybody that asks you about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People that if they will come to me I can certainly satisfy them as to their merits. I always carry a box of pills with me and when ever I feel bad I take one."

We were forcibly struck with the earnestness of Mr. Baker and his statements may be relied on.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female, and all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, (50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50) by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Housekeeping at Samoa.

Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson says that housekeeping in Samoa was not so idyllic as it might seem. Her supplies came from New Zealand or Australia once a month. So that if she wanted a bottle of bluing or a bag of flour, for instance, she had to send half across the Pacific to get it. The native diet was all well enough for a few weeks, but as it consisted almost solely of fruit and fish it began to pall on European palates. Housekeeping in this South sea paradise of romancers had other drawbacks, particularly in the matter of expense, which was fully six or seven times as great, Mrs. Stevenson says, as living on a corresponding scale in San Francisco. As for society, "there's more of it to the square inch in Samoa than in any other place I know," says Mrs. Stevenson; but it appears to be largely of the living picture kind.

New Cuffs and Collars.

Collars and collarettes are a special feature of the new waists and supply all the trimming for many of the prettiest. They are made of both cotton and linen batiste, very sheer, trimmed with Valenciennes lace and cut in various shapes to form a yoke effect, sometimes pointing down to the belt front and back.

Sets of cuffs and collars, with pointed or square tabs to fall over the neck band in front or turn down all around, come in great variety to wear with different gowns, as was the fashion years ago.

If You are Tired
All the time, without special exertion, as tired in the morning as when you retire at night, you may depend upon it, your blood is impure and is lacking in vitality. That is why it does not supply strength to nerves and muscles. You need to purify and enrich your blood. A few bottles of this great medicine will give you strength and vitality because it will make pure blood. Get Hood's.
Hood's Sarsaparilla
Hood's Pills cure habitual constipation. Price 25 cents.

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR IMPERIAL GRANUM
IT IS
THE BEST
FOOD
FOR
Dyspeptic, Delicate, Infirm and
AGED PERSONS
JOHN CARLE & SONS, New York.

$1.00 WHEAT
Wheat Is Advancing From Day to Day, and Now Is the Time to Buy.
The Chinch Bug, Hessian Fly, Drouth, Hot Wind, Heavy Frosts and Light supplies make Wheat cheap at $1.00. There is money to be made by standing by and backing at this great cereal from 1 to 5 cents higher each day and not have a trade on the market.
We strongly advise the purchase of wheat at the present price, on a margin of not less than 5 cents double your purchases as your profits will be a safe margin, and the chances are that large profits will certainly be taken on the investment.
We had many customers who made from $1.00 to $3,000 in this way on investments of from $150 to $200 during last ten days.
There is no money to be made watching this market advance from day to day. Buy wheat at once. Send your orders in by wire, have your bank wire us the amount of money deposited to our credit, and we will at once place the order on receipt of your telegram, wiring you at what price the same was purchased.
For further information write us for Daily Market Bulletin, which suggests what and when to buy, and also our Manual on Dealing in Grain, Provisions and Stocks. Both Free. C. W. STANSELL & CO., Room M, Traders' Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

Ely's Cream Balm
QUICKLY CURES
COLD IN HEAD
Price 50 Cents.
Apply Balm into each nostril. ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N.Y.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

THE

St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XIV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19, 1895. NUMBER 46.

BRYAN AT MEMPHIS

HE HAULS MR. CARLISLE OVER THE COALS.

They Are Both Good Democrats and Helped Elect Mr. Cleveland for the Party's Sake, You Know—What Will Bryan Do?

The next day after Mr. Carlisle made a speech at Memphis the free-silver democrats held a meeting which was addressed by Congressman Bryan, of Nebraska. Among other things Mr. Bryan said:

"I have read the speech delivered by Mr. Carlisle in this city on yesterday; also that delivered by him at Covington, Ky., last Monday evening, and I have compared them with the speech delivered by him on the 21st of February, 1878, in the house of representatives, and I am reminded of the language used by David in lamenting the death of Saul: 'How are the mighty fallen!'

"In 1878 Mr. Carlisle was hurling the pebbles of truth at the giant of the Philistines—John Sherman. Today, as a Goliath, he daily issues challenges to his former friends. His speech of 1878 was made when he was 43 years old, in the full possession of his physical strength and mental vigor. He had then been a practicing lawyer for 20 years, a member of the state legislature of Kentucky and lieutenant governor of that state, and was then a member of congress. Mr. Carlisle did not refer at Memphis to his speech of 1878, but he did refer to it at Covington, and said:

"'Some of the opinions then expressed have been modified, and some of them have been changed altogether by subsequent events and by a more thorough investigation of the subjects to which they related, but on the question of free coinage my convictions have never been shaken for a moment.'

"But he did not state, even at Covington, what parts of his former speech he repudiated and what parts he modified. He served in the house and senate for about fifteen years after the making of that speech, and never upon a single occasion did he attempt to withdraw the utterances of 1878 or to modify the emphasis with which he then spoke. He explained that he voted for free coinage in 1878 in the hope that it would be amended in the senate, but he never voted against free coinage until after the nomination of Mr. Clevland in 1892. It is true that in 1878 Mr. Carlisle did say that he opposed the free coinage of silver, but he ought, in all fairness, to have stated that he was at that time opposed to the free coinage of gold also. He said in his speech of 1878:

Compromise Measures.

"'I am opposed to free coinage of either gold or silver, but in favor of the unlimited coinage of both metals upon terms of exact equality.'

"Not only is his present language contradicted by his former speech, but a letter written in 1890 by him says that he was at that time in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver.

"Mr. Carlisle, in 1878, said: 'The struggle now going on cannot cease, and ought not to cease, until all the industrial interests of the country are fully and finally emancipated from the heartless domination of syndicates, stock exchanges, and other great combinations of money grabbers in this country and Europe.' Now Mr. Carlisle is the honored guest at the convention attended by bankers and financiers who are opposed to the use of silver as standard money.

"Mr. Carlisle asks why the advocates of bimetallism are not in favor of the restoration of silver gradually. What mockery this is! Did not we secure the passage of the seigniorage bill just after repeal of the Sherman law, and did not Mr. Carlisle's chief, Mr. Cleveland, veto this bill, notwithstanding the fact that it was voted for by more than two-thirds of the democrats of both houses? Did not the advocates of bimetallism in the senate offer to support a bill providing for the unlimited coinage of silver, without the provocation that the government should charge a seigniorage equal to the difference between the bullion and coinage values? Did not the opponents of silver oppose this measure as violently as they did the free coinage of silver?

"In 1878, when Mr. Carlisle was in sympathy with the masses of the people, he said: 'Let us, if we can do no better, pass bill after bill, embodying in each some one substantial provision for relief, and send them to the executive for his approval. If he withholds his signature and we are unable to secure the necessary vote here or elsewhere to enact them into laws, notwithstanding his veto, let us, as a last resort, suspend the rules and put them into general appropriation bills, with the distinct understanding that if the people can get no relief the government can get no money.'

An Argument Answered.

"These are the words of the same distinguished statesman who, at Memphis and Covington, assures the people that there is now no need of relief and that we have only to enjoy the prosperity guaranteed by a gold standard.

"Mr. Carlisle, in discussing the legal ratio, assumes that the United States can accomplish no more by free coinage than our little neighbor, Mexico, and overlooks entirely the effect which will be produced upon the value of silver bullion by the unlimited use if it in the United States. In other words, he does not take into consideration the fact that the United States is, in commercial standing, more than ten times as great as Mexico, and he does not take into consideration the fact that an increased demand, such as would be furnished by the United States, will affect the price of that portion of silver which falls upon the market.

"In estimating the amount of gold available for coinage annually, he fails to consider the great increase in the consumption of gold in the arts and the increase in commerce in the last hundred years. Mr. Carlisle holds out no hope of international bimetallism, but insists that it is the duty of this government to maintain a gold standard, and trys to show that it will cause no appreciation in the value of the dollar.

"At the Memphis convention Mr. Catchings insisted that the opponents of silver were expecting international bimetallism. This seeming conflict between Mr. Carlisle and Mr. Catchings can be easily explained. Mr. Carlisle believed that the government should buy whatever silver it needs, and therefore might be called a 'buy-metallist.' Mr. Catchings is in favor of the restoration of silver after awhile, if other nations will help us, and, therefore, may be called a 'by-and-by-metallist.'

Must Act Alone.

"What need is there for bimetallism if the gold standard will furnish a sufficient amount of money? The confession that bimetallism is desirable destroys all arguments advanced in behalf of gold monometallism, and, when one has admitted the desirability of bimetallism he must either favor the restoration of it by the United States alone or submit the destinies of this people to foreign nations. It has been well said that it is more dangerous to put an English banker at the head of our financial system than to put an English admiral at the head of our navy or an English general at the head of our army."

Mr. Bryan discussed various phases of the money question. He closed by saying that Secretary Carlisle had deserted the "struggling masses," for whom he formerly spoke, but that even without his leadership they would be able to cast their ballots for the restoration of the gold and silver coinage of the constitution, and that the present efforts of Secretary Carlisle, instead of retarding the movement, would make his former speech familiar to the American people and show them the danger of entrusting their financial policy to the "idle holders of idle capital, or to their representatives."

ALL OUR WAY.

Even the Atlanta Constitution Is for Free-Silver Coinage.

The following editorial paragraphs from the recent issue of the Atlanta Constitution seem to indicate a full conversion to the Populist system of finance. At any rate the "calamity howler" who can get ahead of them ought to have a premium:

Scratch a goldbug and you'll find a full-fledged tory.

An American currency system is what the people of this country want.

We want to get hold of a goldbug editor who will tell the truth and stick to facts.

There are plenty of tories in this country who are anxious to see the U. S. abandon the Monroe doctrine.

The British bankers are already in complete control of our treasury. How long before the British politicians will have control of our legislative machinery? ffl ffl.

Gov. McKinley is more in favor of protection now than ever. He wants to be protected against the silver element in the Republican party.

The cuckoos in the south will have to get John Sherman to carry on their gold campaign. John was a goldbug before Mr. Cleveland was heard of.

It is to be observed that some of the cuckoo organs in Georgia have thrown off all disguise. They are no longer "bimetallists." They are in favor of the British gold standard, and they solemnly reproduce the fallacious arguments that are invented by the organs of Wall street.

Disappointed.

We are very much disappointed in the apparent flat failure of the new Silver party to materialize. While we have stood by the People's party and the Omaha platform and opposed the one-plank proposition, we were hopeful that the Silver party would draw largely from the old parties, and that eventually the Silver party would come to us. But so far as we can observe there has been practically no favorable response to the address issued by Gen. Warner of Ohio, and others, for the organization of the Silver or Bimetallic party. Here was a platform without the government ownership of railroads, etc., and without the subtreasury or land-loan planks, which were alleged by the silver men to be the barriers which have kept millions of men out of the People's party. The failure of the Silver party proves that dropping these planks would not strengthen the People's party, but would weaken it. Government loans and government railroads are propositions that draw to the support of money reform thousands and thousands of voters.—Missouri World.

Notwithstanding the persistence with which the goldbugs urge the importance of the metal in a dollar being intrinsically worth 100 cents, or its legal face value, every noted political economist that is worth being quoted as authority, from Aristotle to John Sherman, has laid it down as a principle of finance that it is the volume of money in circulation, and not the material of which it is composed that fixes its value. The goldbugs have chosen gold, not because of its intrinsic value, but because of its scarcity and the ease with which they can manipulate the currency when based upon gold. Even now they propose to base most of the currency which shall be put in circulation on bonds which are really based upon the credit of the people.

BUT ONE DOG LEFT.

AND HE WILL SOON BE PUT OUT OF THE WAY.

Two Men and a Large Number of Cattle in Adams County, Neb., Are bitten by Mad Dogs and the Cattle Are Shot.

Grand Island, Neb., June 18.—In the northwestern part of Adams county, in the vicinity of the farm of Fred Ernest, hydrophobia in animals has caused a great loss of cattle, injury to man and much anxiety. Two men have been bitten and compelled to go to Wymour, where a madstone was applied, and over forty cattle belonging to Ernest have been shot after showing symptoms of hydrophobia.

In January a cow was bitten by a mad dog. It died and was not buried, but hauled to some out-of-the-way place. A dog of the neighborhood consumed some of the carcas. About May 1 it was noticed the other cattle showed symptoms of hydrophobia. Then it was that Ernest's first bovine showed the disease and was shot. Forty head more have since been lost in the same manner.

A war was commenced on the dogs in the district. Only one dog is left and he will soon join his comrades. Three hogs belonging to Ernest were also bitten. One of these had extensive tusks, and Frank Ernest, a son about twenty-four years of age, was scratched by one of the tusks. As a consequence he was compelled to go to Waymour, where the poison was extracted. Then a neighbor, while burying a cow which had been shot, allowed some of the animal's saliva to touch a scratch on his hand, and, he, too, went to Waymour. He remained there until he was thought to be safe and returned home. He has since shown signs of hydrophobia and serious consequences are feared. Desperate efforts have been made to clear the neighborhood of all animals affected.

Theater Burned.

New York, June 18.—Jacobs' theater, on Third avenue, was almost completely destroyed by fire this morning at 12:14 from some unknown origin. Immediately adjoining the building on the Northwest, a five-story tenement house, in the basement of which is Grundy's saloon. Several families live on the upper floors. All the people in the house were asleep at the time the fire started, and policemen and citizens broke into the building and drove them out almost by main force. No one was injured.

To Fight for Ireland.

Indianapolis, June 18. — The Irish-American club of this city, composed of 300 of the most influential Irishmen in the city, last night approved the movement which is secretly under way throughout the United States, looking to the emancipation of Ireland by a resort to arms. The club has raised several thousand dollars for the emancipation fund, and one of the members is authority for the announcement that nearly $2,000,000 has already been raised in the United States.

The cook should examine carefully the label of the baking powder and see that she is not imposed upon. If the grocer sends anything but the Royal, send it back, as one cook did five times until she got the Royal. The only safe way is for the cook to have the finest things to work with, and the Royal is not only the finest but the most economical to use because it goes much further.

Four Tramps Killed.

Charleston, S. C., June 18.—A head-end collision occurred this morning between two passenger trains on the Charleston & Savannah railroad at Yemasse. The engines were telescoped and were completely wrecked, engineer William Black breaking his leg. Four unknown colored tramps who were stealing a ride on the front trucks were ground and cut to pieces. The passengers were terribly shaken up and thrown about, but escaped serious harm.

Probably Massacred.

Brighton, Colo., June 18.—The skeletons of seven persons, four adults and three children, have been exhumed in a field a mile and a half from here, near an old trail where it crossed the Platte river. The character of the skulls indicate they were white people, and it is believed they are the remains of a murdered party of emigrants, probably a family massacred by Indians and buried by subsequent emigrants.

Monster Meteor.

Port Townsend, Wash., June 18.—Last night at 8 o'clock Chickaum, a small farming center forty miles from here, experienced a terrible explosion and jar as the result of the falling of a 5,000-pound meteor, which burst with a loud noise at the heighth of a hundred yards, and after causing a small cyclone of several minutes' duration, buried itself deep in the muddy water of a neighboring lagoon.

Murder in a Church.

Huntington, W. Va., June 18.—At a country church festival last night there was a fight. C. Reed Harvey, a well known citizen, was shot through the heart, dying instantly. Mrs. Amy Tansford was seriously injured by being struck on the head with a stone. Jack Ward and Rhoda Perdue, the murderers, leaped through the window and escaped to the woods.

Lightning Killed Him.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 18.—Sy Basgard, living five miles east of the city, was killed by lightning.

Veteran Editor Dead.

Erie, Pa., June 18.—Hon. I. B. Gara, for more than half a century the leading editor of Western Pennsylvania, died here to-day, aged seventy-eight. He had held many positions of trust, being at one time secretary of state of the commonwealth. He was a cousin of Robert G. Ingersoll.

Lazzarone Won.

Sheepshead Bay, June 18—Lazzarone won the Suburban by one length; Sir Walter second, Song and Dance third. Time, 2:07 4-5.

BOOMING DAVIS.

R. G. Evans Is Working for the Minnesota Senator.

Cleveland, June 18. — Delegates to the national Republican convention are beginning to arrive in the city, and by to-morrow it is expected that there will be quite an influx of strangers. Among those who arrived to-day was R. G. Evans, Republican national committeeman from Minnesota, and delegate-at-large to the convention from that state. Mr. Evans says he thinks the convention will be the largest and most enthusiastic that has yet been held, and he scouts the idea that there will be a fight over free silver coinage. Mr. Evans has just returned from the East. Being asked what he thought of the Republican presidential question, he said Minnesota had a candidate in the person of Senator Cushman K. Davis, and while he was not a leader in the race, Minnesota Republicans hope that matters will so shape themselves before next year as to make his nomination possible.

The Unwelcome Hopper.

Peshtigo, Wis., June 18.—Grasshoppers have begun their destructive work upon farms near the village. They have already attained half an inch in length and now promise to be the deadliest enemy to crops in Marinette county. In previous years they did not appear till the latter part of July, when grass and grain were beyond their reach. Fields of oats are already showing their depredations.

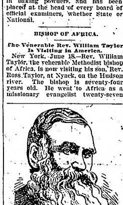
Appleton, Wis., June 18.—A plague of grasshoppers is reported in the northern part of Outagamie county, near Seymour. They are doing the greatest damage to pastures but have not yet molested growing crops. In some regions cut worms are doing considerable damage to corn.

For thirty years the Royal has been the standard for purity and strength in baking powders, and has been placed at the head of every board of official examiners, whether State or National.

BISHOP OF AFRICA.

The Venerable Rev. William Taylor Is Visiting in America.

New York, June 18.—Rev. William Taylor, the venerable Methodist bishop of Africa, is now visiting his son, Rev. Ross Taylor, at Nyack, on the Hudson river. The bishop is seventy-four years old. He went to Africa as a missionary evangelist twenty-seven years ago. At the general conference of the Methodist church eleven years ago he was made bishop of Africa, and since then has been at the head of that denomination's efforts in the Dark Continent. In appearance the bishop is a tall man, with a heavy beard which time has bleached to a snowy whiteness. His face is strong, his brows prominent, his deep set eyes, very blue and keen. He has been most successful in his chosen field.



Rev. William Taylor.

Saengerfest Split.

Appleton, Wis., June 18.—The Eastern Wisconsin Saengerfest closed here to-day with a parade and picnic. Fully 11,000 people attended the picnic. At the business meeting this morning the Eastern Wisconsin Saengerbund was divided into two organizations, called the Eastern and Northern Wisconsin divisions and the old organization abandoned. The Eastern division includes the seven cities on the lake shore, and the Northern the other ten. The next saengerfest of the two districts will be held in 1897 at Manitowoc and Wausau, respectively.

No Pay for Lawmakers.

Nashville, June 18. — At 12 o'clock last night the twenty days for which members of the legislature can draw pay during an extra session expired, but give Gov. Turney time to examine the three important measures passed just before adjournment. Both houses adjourned until noon to-morrow. They can continue in session longer but can draw no pay. The penitentiary bill passed provides for the temporary leasing of a large number of convicts.

Shot on Suspicion.

Louisville, June 18.—Arthur Gourdin, a shoemaker living at Rowlington, a suburb of Peewee Valley, eighteen miles from this city on the Louisville & Nashville road, shot and probably fatally wounded Thomas Murphy and then stabbed his wife to death last night. Gourdin suspected Murphy of being intimate with his wife, and had evidently been waiting for an opportunity to present itself so he could get even with him.

Killed by Head Hunters.

Sydney, N. S. W., June 18. — The natives of the Solomon islands have murdered two traders. Head hunting is rampant in the island. The British admiral there has been ordered to repress the excesses.

Accidentally Shot.

Indianapolis, June 18. — The nine-year-old son of Hugo Miller, secretary of the International Typographical union, was shot and killed to-day by a party of picnickers shooting at a target. The shooting was purely accidental.

Milwaukeean Dead.

Milwaukee, June 18. — Dr. George Barber Miner died here to-day at the age of seventy-seven years of Bright's disease. He was a wealthy and old resident of this city.

GOING TO PIERRE.

EX-TREASURER TAYLOR IS ON HIS RETURN HOME.

He Arrives in Chicago, and After a Consultation With Interested Parties Regarding Terms of Surrender, Starts for South Dakota.

Chicago, June 18. — W. W. Taylor, the ex-state treasurer of South Dakota, arrived here yesterday, and left last night on the Northwestern train for Pierre, S. D., where he will give himself up. It was a little over four months ago that Taylor passed through Chicago on his way to the tropics, where he has successfully evaded a cohort of detectives which never quit his trail from the day that he left South Dakota. He is sunburned and careworn from his travels and troubles, and expressed himself to friends as very glad that he was returning home to settle up the matter at the cost of liberty. Later it was learned that Taylor did take quarters at the Palmer house, but under an assumed name to avoid annoyance. The ex-state treasurer denied interviews to all outsiders, and would not give the slightest information about his travels.

During the day he was in consultation with Attorney General Crawford and his attorney, D. K. Tenny, about the details of the terms upon which he has returned. It is said that Taylor will turn over all the money he has on hand, amounting to $45,000, and his property, and that the remainder of the defalcation, amounting to about $375,000 will be paid by his bondsmen. The committee of adjustment will comprise Gov. Sheldon, Attorney General Crawford and Land Commissioner Lockhart. By the understanding Taylor will then plead guilty, and take a two years' sentence with the assurance of a pardon before the expiration of his term of imprisonment in order to save his citizenship.

CLUMSILY DONE.

A Bogus Check for $2,700 Is Presented at the Germania Bank.

Minneapolis, June 18—The Germania bank of this city escaped a loss of $2,700 by not paying a bogus check of that amount, indorsed with a forged certification purporting to be that of President Naegele. The check was drawn on the Germania bank and signed with the name of L. L. Becker, secretary of the L. L. Becker company, which concern was formerly one of the depositors of the bank. Across the face of the check was a certification put on with a rubber stamp, such as is usually employed for this purpose, and signed "O. E. Naegle, cashier." It will be noticed that the name of Mr. Naegele was misspelled, and he was called cashier instead of president, as is really the case. The check was negotiated at a Cleveland bank, and from there sent to Chicago for collection. It finally reached the Germania bank through the clearing house, but its worthless character was recognized as soon as it was presented, and it was refused.

Blood in the Treasurer's Eye.

Madison, June 18.—State Treasurer Peterson is on the trail of foreign building and loan associations doing business in Wisconsin. He says that when the annual examination of their bonds now filed with the state treasurer takes place nearly all the associations will be compelled to put up better security or quit doing business in the state. Under the present law every foreign building and loan association doing business in Wisconsin is compelled to deposit with the state treasurer $100,000 in first mortgages on real estate to secure Wisconsin members of the association. These mortgages are filed, but there are no abstracts of official appraisements of the lands to assure the treasurer that the mortgages have any value.

The Royal Baking Powder, as every cook knows, is always to be relied upon. It is one of the greatest aids she has. She is always able with the least trouble to make the very finest biscuits, cakes, muffins, and crusts. Many a cook's reputation has been made by the delicious things she has been able to make with it.

Deserts His Wife.

St. Paul, June 18.—George L. Montserrat, who for a very short time was connected with a local theater company, may not be well known to the reading public of St. Paul, but the story of his strange career in this city cannot fail to arouse interest. Those who saw him cast as Jim Dalsey in "The Jilt," which ran at the Grand opera house during the week of April 7, will doubtless have more than ordinary relish for the tale. That he should desert a beautiful wife and elope with a nineteen-year-old girl from the Bohemian flats well exemplifies the trite adage that truth is stranger than fiction.

Intentions Reputed Bad.

Milwaukee, June 18. — Samuel M. Alton, alias Adler, about sixty years of age, was arrested here to-day on suspicion of being a crook. He was trying to get a copy of the seal of the State of Alabama made, evidently for counterfeiting purposes, as a large number of miscellaneous legal documents and blank certificates were found in his room.

Murdered for His Money.

Erie, Kan., June 18.—The body of Farmer Peterson, a bachelor about sixty years of age, who lived alone, was found by neighbors, hidden in the manger of his barn. The body was covered with hay and old horse blankets were thrown over the hay as if to cover up all traces of the crime He was murdered for his money.

Bridge Building Interrupted.

Sioux City, Iowa, June 18.—Piledriving on the Short Line bridge was stopped to-day by high water on the Missouri river. Some of the false work may be carried out if the river continues to rise.

Chicago Downs California.

Chicago, June 18.—Defeat fell upon the blue fold of California at the Athletic Association Park, the Chicago Athletic association winning from the University of California by a score of 55 to 38.

THE MARKETS.

Latest Quotations From Grain and Live Stock Centers.

Chicago, June 18. — Wheat — No. 2 spring, 75a78c; No. 2 red, 74a75c; Corn —No. 2, 48 3-8c; No. 3 yellow, 48c. Oats —No. 2, 28 3-4c; No. 2 white, 31a32 1-4c; No. 3 white, 31a32c. Rye — No. 2, 62 1-2c. Barley—No. 2, 53c; No. 3, 51c. Pork—Mess, $12.35a12.40. Lard—Per cwt., $6.52 1-2a6.55.

Milwaukee, June 18.—Flour steady. Wheat lower; No. 2 spring, 76c; July, 77c; No. 1 Northern, 82c. Corn lower and dull; No. 3, 48c. Oats dull and lower; No. 2 white, 31 1-2c; No. 2 white nominal. Barley steady; No. 2, 50c; sample, 51a51 3-4c. Rye lower; No. 1, 65c. Provisions steady.

Chicago, June 18.—Hogs — Market fairly active and firm; light, $4.30a4.60; mixed, $4.40a4.70; heavy, $4.65a4.75; rough, $4.35a4.50. Cattle—Steers, $3.60a6; cows and bulls, $1.70a4.25; Texans, $2.10a4.60.

St. Paul, June 18.—Hogs active and strong to 5c higher; quality fair to good; sales at $4.30a4.35. Cattle steady but, quiet; fair demand for butcher stuff; good demand for stockers and feeders.

HARD LINES FOR MERRITT.

American Steel Barge Company Takes a Hand in the Litigation.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 18. — The American Steel Barge company has taken a hand in the litigation between Alfred Merritt and John D. Rickefeller. The company has obtained a writ of garnishment preventing Mr. Rockefeller from paying to Merritt $940,000, the amount of the judgment obtained against Mr. Rockefeller in Minnesota Thursday. The barge company claims to hold notes of Merritt for more than the amount of the judgment. Mr. Rockefeller is heavily interested in the barge company. He is stopping at Forest Hill, his summer home near this city.

MUST ASSIGN.

No Other Course for the Exposition Company.

Minneapolis, June 18.—The directors of the exposition held a meeting and decided that an assignment should be made, as all plans for saving the property were futile. It was decided that the Minneapolis Trust company be appointed, providing that company would put a proposition in writing, said proposition to be acceptable to the following committee, which the president named: Regan, Barton and Janney.

There is no baking powder which produces such sweet and tasteful food as the Royal Baking Powder.

A Kansas Tragedy.

St. Francis, Kan., June 18.—A horrible tragedy was enacted about nine miles northeast of St. Francis this morning. Frank Williams, a farmer, while in a fit of jealous rage, attempted to murder his wife, also Miss Alice Smith and William Smith. He then beat the brains out of his two children, a little girl aged about five and a boy about nine years of age, with a hatchet, after which he blew his own brains out with a revolver.

Railroad Cashier Missing.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 18.—Daniel Stewart, cashier at the freight office of the Great Northern, is missing, and it is alleged that funds belonging to the railroad company have gone with him, though Stewart has always borne an excellent reputation, and was one of the Great Northern's most popular officials. He has been able to control much freight business for his company. He was last seen purchasing a bank draft for $300 on Chicago.

Dakota University Commencement.

Mitchell, S. D., June 17.—Commencement week of Dakota university has closed. Charles B. Brown, Miss Jane Connor, Miss May Farrell and Miss Bertha Locke graduated from the normal department; Miss May Presba and Miss Alice Doty from the musical department, and Walter Grieve from the commercial department. The board of directors elected the entire present faculty for the ensuing year, with two additions.

Big Telephone Order.

Madison, Wis., June 18.—The Standard Telephone and Electric company of this city have closed a contract with the Western Electric Telephone company at Britt, Iowa, which has been operating Bell instruments, under a lease, for 10,000 telephones with the Milde non-infringing transmitter. This is said to be the largest order ever placed for telephones in the United States.

Schrage's $1,000,000 Rheumatic Cure never fails because it is not a "cure all." Made to cure Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia. Nothing else. Costs more to make one bottle of this than a barrel of ordinary medicine! A remedy for sensible people, who don't expect gold dollars for 1c. "SCHRAGE'S" cures every time. Most powerful blood purifier known. Acts on the stomach, liver and kidneys.

W. H. Winscott, bank cashier of Sturgeon, Mo., tells every one in that town that he personally will guarantee a cure if they take "SCHRAGE'S" according to directions. How it that? He has no interest in this company and we never saw him. Good medicine! Your druggist will sell you what pays him best. Don't let him.

SWANSON RHEUMATIC CURE CO.,
167 Dearborn St., Chicago.

Less Serious.

Washington, June 18.—The state department has received a cablegram from Minister Denby saying that in the recent Chinese riots at Cheng Tung the American mission property was not much damaged and that no Americans were hurt.

Dervishes Defeated.

Brussels, June 18.—The Congo State forces have inflicted a severe defeat upon the Dervishes, capturing their stronghold at Egarau, between the Nile and the upper Ouelle. The Belgian captain, Christians, was killed. The Mahdists have fled from the Equatorical province.

Admiring the Marblehead.

Hamburg, June 18. — The United States cruiser Marblehead is the great attraction in the harbor here, and is visited and admired by thousands.

THE GRIP BROKE.

BAD ACCIDENT ON A CABLE CAR IN CHICAGO.

Some of the Passengers Are Thrown into the Street and Others Are Piled in a heap in the Car—Over a Dozen Persons Are Injured.

Chicago, June 15.—By the breaking of a grip on a Milwaukee avenue cable car over a dozen persons were injured, three of them seriously. Those most badly hurt were Thomas N. McKibbon, police officer; Mrs. George Weiant and child.

The car had stopped to receive some passengers, and when the grip man tried to start it the lever refused to work. He tried again, and the lever worked too well, for the front end of the car rose up in the air, throwing some of the passengers into the street and piling those on the inside in a confused heap. Nearly all the people on the car were hurt in some manner, but only the three named are in any danger of death.

San Francisco, June 15.—At the federal investigation to-day into the foundering of the steamer Colima near Manzanillo on May 27, Gustave Rowan, one of the surviving passengers, was the principal witness. He told the story of the storm and wreck. Just before the wreck, he said, he realized the danger and tried to distribute life-preservers, but the steward forced him to desist, saying it would be too much trouble to replace the preservers after the storm was over. Rowan states that during all the fury of the storm not one of the officers warned the passengers of their danger, which few appreciated. No attempt was made to lower the boats, according to Rowan. In his opinion, the Colima was overloaded, top heavy, and her deck load of freight poorly placed.

HATCHES COVERED.

How the Deck Load of the Colima Cut Off the Passenger Escape.

San Francisco, June 15.—Mr. Robert Gonzales, a mess boy of the lost Colima, who arrived here this morning on the Celon, in company with Frederick Johnson, a sailor, gives a vivid description of the fight made by the helpless women and children when the ship went down. When the ship began to rock and roll the passengers in the steerage did not seem to think that much was the matter. The rolling of the ship became more violent, and after a while the boatswain came to the companionway and and told them to get out. Even then the passengers did not appear to understand that anything was serious, and went out slowly. "I saw two or three of them go to the companionway and come back," he said, "but I did not know why at the time. As the ship continued to roll and the water began pouring in, I ran to the ladder leading to the deck and started to go up. Before I had reached the middle of the ladder I saw why the others had come back. They could not get out. The lumber and other stuff on the deck had shifted to such an extent that the companionway hatches were covered up. They were like rats in a barrel. They could not get out, and had to wait until the water came in on them."

VERDICT FOR MERRITT.

John D. Rockefeller Must Pay Nearly a Million Dollars.

Duluth, Minn., June 15.—A verdict was returned this afternoon by the jury in the case of Alfred Merritt vs. John D. Rockefeller for $940,000. The action was brought in the United States court to recover $1,250,000 as damages caused to plaintiff by reason of alleged fraudulent representations made by Rockefeller and his agents at the time when the Merritt properties on the Mesaba range were included in the Lake Superior Consolidated mines, now controlled by Rockefeller. It was alleged that Rockefeller promised the stock issued to the Merritts for their property would be worth par, and the action was to recover the difference between the value and an actual market price of $10 per share on the stockholdings of Alfred Merritt. The jury was out four hours.

Indemnity for Spain.

Washington, June 15.—The Steamer George Childs, carrying the filibustering expedition from Key West, has landed at Jamaica. Definite information to this effect has been received here. It was due in a large measure to the sailing of this expedition last week that the administration determined upon energetic steps to prevent a violation of the neutrality law and caused President Cleveland to issue his proclamation last night. On the statement of facts as reported to our officials the case bears a strong resemblance to the celebrated Alabama affair, which cost the British government many millions of dollars to settle, and Spain may demand an indemnity from the United States.

Minneapolis, June 15.—At this morning's session of the Universalist convention Rev. S. W. Sample, clerk, read his report. At the afternoon session officers were elected as follow: President, C. Van Campen, Rochester; vice president, James E. Woodford, Minneapolis; standing clerk, Jay W. Crane, Minneapolis; treasurer, Capt. Russell Blakely, St. Paul.

Chicago, June 15.—Elmer Crawford, formerly a salesman for Boydel Bros., white lead manufacturers of Detroit, Mich., committed suicide to-day by throwing himself under a train.

St. Louis Wants Both.

St. Louis, June 15.—The Business Men's League of this city has unanimously resolved to make an effort to obtain for St. Louis the national conventions of both the Democratic and Republican parties in 1896.

Goes to West Point.

Washington, June 15.—A West Point cadet appointment has been issued to Herman W. Scholl of Watertown, S. D., with Alonzo B. Sessions of Aberdeen, S. D., as alternate.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN
SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT
DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE;

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arrive Crookston Daily
St. Paul Minneapolis perlor Duluth Chicago and points East and South: west and Pacific Coast	7.40 a. m.	7.05 am
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	7.25 a. m.	7.10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston daily has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or full information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. R. at Crookston Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marsha

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for in or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON R. R. TRACT ST. HILAIRE

W. A. Sorsoleil

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers' price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS
COPYRIGHTS.

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free.

Building Edition, monthly, $2.50 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address
MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY.

BREVITIES.

Go to Johnson & Marshall's for lime cement, etc.

Ole Loberg went down to Crookston on business today.

Swan Anderson, of Wylie was in the village on business to-day.

Sash and doors cheap for cash at Johnson & Marshall's.

L. T. Bergh is doing business in this vicinity again this week,

A. C. Schmidt of Crookston was in town on business last Monday.

Dan Patterson drove down to Crookston on business last Thursday,

Isaac Halverson was at Crookston the first of the week on business.

Deputy Sheriff Johnson was in town a short time last Friday on busines.

Cash paid for hides, tallow, sheep pelts etc. at the St. Hilaire meat market

Albert Gunnis of Mallory is the guest of Mr. and Mrs R. H. Aimer this week

Fred Collins of Crookston, visited J. H. Penno last Saturday and Sunday,

O. F. Post is at Crookston this week taking in the Firemen's Tournament.

Miss Corcoran of Crookston is visiting friedds in the village this week,

Judge Ives of Crookston was looking over the improvments here Friday,

The heavy rains of the past week have left the country roads in bad condition.

Halvor Holvorson and Gust Petterson drove to Crookston yesteday on business.

Commissioner Norland is at Crookston this week attending a meeting of the county board,

Hans Langseth of Thief River Falls, drove through town last Friday on his way to Red Lake Falls.

Attorney Richardson of Thief River Falls was in town a short time last Friday on his way home from St. Cloud,

J. E. V. Wyatt was in town last Friday advertising the Firemens Tournament to be held at Crookston this week

Stone Wanted

$4.00 per cord paid for stone delivered at the St. Hilaire dam,

Messrs. Fuller, Anderson and Gibbs of Thief River Falls, were in town a short time to-day on their way to Crookston to take in the Firemen's Tournament.

Fred Eikhoff is giving his building a coat of paint this week. The interior is also being decorated and re-papered and when finished it will be one of the neatest business places in town,

Anent the possibility of the removal of the walker mill from Grand Forks to St. Hilaire. The news papers are agitating the question whether or not the bonus paid Mr. Walker will revert to the city.—Crookston Times,

Our National Holiday,

On July 3rd and 4th the Great Northern Railway will sell round trip tickets at reduced rates to any point within 300 miles of the station where ticket is bought good to return on the 5th For further information see company's agent,

Work on the dam is progressing rapidly The water is already raised about three feet and will be running through the race by to-morrow evening The wing dam is completed all but the dirt filling which will be finished next week,

Fourth of July Excursions.

To accomodate those who wish to enjoy a trip on our National Holiday the Great Northern Railway will sell round trip tickets at reduced rates to any point within 300 miles of station where ticket is bought, Tickets sold on July 3rd and 4th, good to return on the 5th.

A picked nine from the surrounding country played the kid nine on the home diamond last Sunday the game resulting in a victory for the kids by a score of 16 to 17. The boys did some very good playing and having beaten every thing in the neighborhood are now looking for new worlds to conquer

A grand concert will be given at the Norwegian Lutheran Church on Saturday June 22nd at 7:30 p. m. by a troupe from Hope Academy, Moorhead Minn An excellent program will be rendered consisting of vocal and instrumental solos, duets, selections by a double quartet etc, and lovers of good music should not fail to attend. Admission 25 cents, children 10 cents.

A Chance For A Fine Trip.

The annual meeting of the National Educational Association occurs July 9th to 12th, 1895, at Denver Colo. A fine trip has been provided by the Great Northern Railway for persons who wish to attend it. The route is from St. Paul and Minneapolis through the Minnesota Park Region and Red River Valley, by Devils Lake, Great Falls, with its wonderful water power, industries and scenery, Helena, capital of Montana, with its hot springs, Butte America's famous mining city, and then by way of Ogden and Salt Lake to Denver and return via Omaha or Sioux City. Tickets on sale June 10th 17th. and 24th good 30 days with stop off privileges going. Tickets are sold July 4th 5th and 6th direct to Denver via Sioux City and return by Salt Lake Ogden, Butte, Helena and Great Falls. Regular summer Montana and Pacific Coast Excursion rates are now in effect and round trip tickets can be bought any day. For further information see H. J. Freeman, agent or address F. I. Whitney, G. P. & T. A. St. Paul Minn.

The London (England) Financial News says,

"There can be no doubt about it, that if the United States were to adopt a silver basis tomorrow, British trade would be ruined before the year is out. Every American industry would be protected, not only at home but in every other market. Of course the states would suffer to a certain extent through having to pay their obligations abroad in gold, but the loss in exchange under this head would be a mere drop into the bucket compared with the profits to be reaped from the markets of South America and Asia, to say nothing of Europe. The marvel is that the United States has not long ago seized the opportunity: but for the necessity in the way of commercial success and prosperity undoubtedly it would have been done long ago,"

Our government as at present administered is catering to the interests of England in every possible way, and so sure are they that this policy will be continued that they do not hesitate to tell the truth about what would happen if we should return to the full and unrestricted use of silver as a money of ultimate redemption, It is a disgrace to us as a nation that we have not the courage to do that which would bring the greatest benefit to our people. This delicate consideration for welfare of a foreign nation is carrying the matter entirely too far, and the people are beginning to waken to the fact that their greatest enemies are the bond-holders of London. Already it is freely predicted that they are planning another raid on the treasury to be made as soon as by the terms of secret contract they can do so, This will come in October and then we may look for another call for gold from the treasury kept up till more bonds must be issued,—Fisher Bulletin.

The Steenerson grain rate case has come up for trial at last, and when a decision is reached by the courts it will establish an important principal, viz; has the railroad commission the power to reduce or alter railroad rates? They are supposed to have this power delegated to them by the legislature and the courts will determine whether the legislature can delegate such power. The railroad commissioner—after hearing this now famous case—issued an order reducing freight rates on wheat from the Red River Valley to St. Paul. The railroad appealed to the courts, and the northern Pacific tried to get into the case as an intervenor, After a hearing on this point, and considerable delay, the N. P was knocked out. The case now comes up in the courts for trial on its merits, After running the gauntlet of all the people will know where they are at on the question of reducing railroad rates —Crookston Tribune

OFFICIAL APPLICATION FOR LICENSE TO SELL INTOXICATING LIQUORS.

To the Common Council of the village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned P. G. Paradis hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the 1st day of July 1895.

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows: On the ground floor of the two story building situate on Lot ten [10] of Block forty [40] of the original townsite of St. Hilaire Polk County Minnesota, said building having two outside entrances one in front and one on side

Said applicant prays that said license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinances of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of the state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire this 11th day of June 1895,

P. G. Paradis.

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk county Minnesota will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Saturday the 29th day of June 1895 at 8 o'clock p. m. at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

Witness my hand and the seal of said village this 11th day of June 1895.

[Seal] J. L. Johnson
Village Recorder.

ORDINANCE NO. XII.

Concerning Dogs.

The Village Council of the Village of St. Hilaire do ordain as follows:

Sec. I. That any dog bitch or slut or any animal of the dog kind owned or being in the possession of any resident of or any person in the village of St. Hilaire shall be registered by such person or resident with the village recorder on the 1st day of July of each year and shall at the same time pay to said recorder for the use of said village a tax of Two [$2.00] Dollars for each dog and Five [$5.00] Dollars for each bitch or slut so owned and possessed by such resident or person. Every owner or possessor of any dog bitch or slut or any animal of the dog kind shall procure from the village recorder a certificate which shall state plainly therein the number and date of such license, the name of such owner or possessor, and the name of such dog, bitch or slut so licensed, and shall pay the village recorder for the use of said village the sum of ten cents for each certificate. The village recorder shall at the commencement of each municipal year provide a tag for every dog, bitch or slut licensed during his term of office said tag to have a distinguishable difference from those used in previous years.

Sec. 2. No person shall suffer his or her dog, bitch, slut or whelp to run at large within the limits of said village unless such animal wears a collar with the tag number and name destinctly engraved stamped or written thereon.

Sec. 3. It shall be lawful for the village dog inspector to kill or destroy any dog, whelp, bitch or slut found running at large within the limits of this village contrary to the provisions of this ordinance.

Sec. 4. No person shall suffer to be allowed to run at large in said village or streets thereof any dog bitch slut or whelp of a ferocious character, habit or disposition nor in the habit of barking at or in any manner annoying any person passing along or using the street or streets of said village and the village dog inspector is hereby empowered to kill or cause to be killed any such animal if found on the street or at large in said village.

Sec. 5. The dog inspector shall proceed under instructions from the president to capture and slaughter all dogs not properly licensed and collared and all dogs so slaughtered he shall bury or cause to be buried for which service he shall receive one ($1.00) dollar for each dog so slaughtered and buried upon presentation of his bill to the village council for approval, the sum to be paid out of the general village fund. The dog inspector shall receive no payment for services or expenses other than herein provided.

Sec. 6 Any person violating any of the provisions of the foregoing sections of this ordinance on conviction thereof before the justice of the peace in and for the village of St. Hilaire Minn. shall be fined in a sum not less than fifteen [$15.00] dollars and cost of prosecution and may be imprisoned not exceeding twenty [20] days in the county jail until such fine is paid.

Sec. 7. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Passed by the Village Council of the Village of St. Hilaire Minn. this 3rd day of June A. D 1895.

S. M. Dainard
Pres. of Vill. Council.

Attest
J. L. Johnson
Village Recorder.

OFFICIAL APPLICATION FOR LICENSE TO SELL INTOXICATING LIQUORS.

To the common council of the village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned M. E. Bjerk hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the 1st day of July 1895.

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows: On the ground floor of the two story building situate on Lot eleven (11) of Block forty [40] of the original townsite of St. Hilaire Polk county Minnesota, said building having two outside entrances one in front and one in rear,

Said applicant prays that such license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinances of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of said state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire this 11th day of June 1895.

M. E. Bjerk,

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire, Polk County Minnesota will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Saturday the 29th day of June 1895 at 8 o'clock p. m. at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

Witness my hand and the seal of said village this 11th day of June 1895.

[Seal] J. L. Johnson
Village Recorder.

ORDINANCE NO. XIII.

Draymen and Cartmen;

An ordinance to provide for the issuing of license to draymen and cartmen and to regulate the price of drayage and cartage.

The village council of the village of St Hilaire do ordain as follows:—

Sec. 1. Draymen and Cartmen to be Licensed.

That no person shall carry on the business of drayman or car man within the limits of the village of St. Hilaire without having first obtained from the village council of said village a license for each dray, cart or wagon used by him when in said business.

Sec 2. Licenses how to be granted

Such license may be granted upon an application in writing to said council signed by the applicant upon the following conditions viz; First—that said applicant shall pay to the treasurer of said village of St. Hilaire Minn. such sum of money as said council may fix by resolution as the price of such license.

Second—that said applicant shall not ask or demand for hauling, carting or transporting any goods wares or merchandise within the limits of the village of St. Hilaire more than twenty-five cents per load of three hundred pounds or under and fifty cents per load for all loads over three hundred pounds and not exceeding three thousand pounds provided that said applicant may demand and receive a greater sum for hauling carting and transporting goods, wares and merchandise if agreed to by parties employing said applicant

Sec. 3 Forfeiture.

All persons violating any of the conditions upon which licenses have been granted by virtue of this ordinance shall be deemed to have forfeited the same.

Sec. 4. Penalty.

Any person or persons who shall carry on the business of drayman or cartman, who shall haul, cart or transport goods, wares or merchandise about said village and within its limits for hire without first having obtained a license as provided by this ordinance shall upon conviction thereof pay a fine of not less than Five ($5.00) dollars nor more than Ten ($10.00) dollars besides the cost of prosecution and stand committed to the jail of Polk Co. Minnesota until said fine and costs are paid.

Sec. 5. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force on and after the first day of July A. D. 1895.

Dated and passed at St. Hilaire Minnesota this 3rd day of June A. D. 1895.

S. M. Dainard
Village President.

Attest J. L. Johnson
Recorder.

The Swedish Lutheran congregation will give a picnic June 24th on the Bramsness farm just across the bridge The Hope Academy Concert troupe will furnish music for the occasion and speeches in the Scandinavian and English languages by Prof. Swenson, of Moorhead, Rev. Moody of this place Rev. Bradeson of Thief River Falls and others. Dinner will be served on the grounds for the small sum of 15 cents The program will commense at 11 o'clock a. m. All are cordially invited to attend.

Special Hour Sales

At the New York Store, Crookston Minn,, each day during the Firemen's Tournament, Watch daily papers for announcements,

A. Chabot, propr,

Dr H. GRUNDY
Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis
DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS
AND CIGARS.
Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.
Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line
AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates,

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY.
The NEW and the RIGHT WAY
EAST and WEST
TO ALL PACIFIC COAST POINTS
AND TRANSPACIFIC PORTS.

TIME CARD.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

NO. 3 North and West Daily		NO 2 South and East Daily
7 45 p m Depart	St. Paul	Arrives 7 15 am
8 15 pm	Minneapolis	6 15 am.
3 05 a m	Barnesville	11 15 am
5 35 am Ar	Crookston	Do 8 35 pm.

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH

MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

9 00 am De	Crookston	Ar 6 00 pm
11 00 am Ar	St. Hilaire	De 4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.00 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1.20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm. Close connections made at Minneapolis and St. Paul for all points East and South.

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY H. J. FREEMAN
G. P. & T. A. St. Paul Agt. St. Hilaire

LANDS

Fertile, sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from

$2.00 to $6:00

PER ACRE.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP,
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SE SE of 21	4.00
NE NE of 26	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
0 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at 4	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
9 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.00
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	4.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	6.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE OF of 23	4.00
8 forties in 31 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 4.70
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	2.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.00 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.00 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.00
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
3 " 22	6.00
4 " 23	3.00 to 5.00

I will sell the hay on the above described lands for the season of 1895 at reasonable prices. All persons are hereby warned not to cut hay on any of these lands without first making contract for same, For further information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

Impetuous People

are sometimes figuratively spoken of as not above setting things on fire just for the fun of

Seeing Them Burn

Close competition breeds impetuosity, and in our earnest pushing for trade it often happens that we mark goods away down just for the fun of

Seeing Them Sell

Somebody has exclaimed: "Oh, the impetuosity of the idiocy of the tumultuous idiot!" This remark will never apply to you if in your rush for bargains you get into the right store, which of course is ours.

E. M. HOFF
DEALER IN
General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!
Great Bargain Sale of
FARM MACHINERY
AT
J. E. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mowers at $10 each and a full line of walking and breaking plow which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise.

PTERODACTYL

We print a likeness of the skeleton of this remarkable paleontological reptile because some of its physical characteristics are synonymous with our business methods. Perhaps the most striking similarity may be found in its

Little Finger and our Big Bargains

Its little finger is very large: and so are our bargains. The paradox of a little finger being big may be likened to the paradoxical inducements we offer you.

Profits and Hind Feet Small

Its hind feet are out of all proportion to its fore feet, just as our profit is overshadowed by the buyer's. Its large head represents the size of our stock. The many years that have elapsed since the time when this creature flourished will hint at the wearing quality of our goods.

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. E. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

Advance, $1.50.

not in Advance, $2.00 Per Year

Entered at the [illegible] St Hilaire, as Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY June 19 1895

THE WHISTLING PILLOW.

It Filled the House With Horrors and Made Night Hideous.

Mr. John G. Rumble was a man after his own name. You could always tell when John G. was about because he was always "kicking" about something. He had dyspepsia and was troubled with insomnia. He had tried all the well known cures and yet only averaged about three hours' sleep a night. He was a queer looking character, was John G.—he was so awfully bald, with a pink, shining dome surrounded with a rim of stubby hair. He looked sallow and discontented and lean and altogether disgusted with life.

His wife was very fond of him and petted him as much as he would allow.

One day some one suggested that he get a rubber pillow. It was argued that the pillow would keep his head cool and allow him to go to sleep.

He was willing to try anything, so he bought the pillow. That night he inflated it, and as he placed his head on it he said to his wife:

"Ah, this is the thing. I'll be able to sleep with this, sure." And he actually dropped off to sleep without delay.

His wife was delighted.

An hour or two later she awoke with a thrill of horror. She felt something on her feet. She was sure it was the hand of the midnight assassin. As soon as she could get her voice she gave vent to a shriek that brought John G. on the floor with a bound.

"Murder!" she yelled. "Somebody's got me by the feet."

John G. struck a light and investigated. It was the rubber pillow.

John G. put the pillow in place and went to sleep once more.

Mrs. Rumble was just dozing off—she was still very nervous—when she heard a low, continuous whistle. She sat up and listened. She was sure it was a signal from a burglar under the bed to an accomplice down stairs. Her heart seemed to stop beating for awhile, and then she shook her husband awake and into a sitting posture. Then the whistling ceased.

"John," she whispered, "I heard a whistle in this very room. Some one is under the bed."

"I can't hear any whistle," said John, crossly and sleepily and straightway dropped off to sleep again. The whistle sounded again, and she shook John once more. John got up and lit the gas and looked around the room. Then he noticed his pillow was very flat, and the whistling robber mystery was solved. The cap on the tube of the pillow had worked loose in its journey around the bed, and John's head had been pressing the wind out of it. When he arose and took away the pressure, the whistling ceased.

Mrs. Rumble's nerves had had all the rubber pillow they could stand, and John will have to go back to counting sheep if he wants to sleep, for his rubber pillow is up in the attic behind an old trunk.—Kansas City Star.

The Cows of Delhi.

The crowded streets of Indian cities present manifold attractions, but the study of native life and manners in Delhi is frequently interrupted by the gray herds of Brahmani cows which roam about at their will, with the evident conviction invariably entertained by these pampered animals that their own importance far exceeds that of the community which they inconvenience by their presence.

An overturned stall witnesses to the self assertion of the sacred kine, and as our carriage disperses a blockade of sleek backs and interlacing horns an indignant member of the scattered conclave wreaks vengeance on the battered chariot by pushing it along with these natural weapons to the end of the street. The raison d'etre of the assembled cows is found in the presence of a great Hindoo temple, where a glimpse of glittering images in fretted shrines is unwillingly granted to the unbelievers, whose feet are forbidden to tread the sacred courts of the Brahman sanctuary.—All the Year Round.

Starboard and Port.

Why do the sailors call the right hand side of the ship "starboard" and the left hand "port?" For the answer it is necessary to go back to the days of the Norsemen and Saxons. In the viking ships the warriors hung the "bords," or shields, on the side of the ship above the places for their oars. The viking himself held the steer oar, which was fastened to the right hand side of the stern. Thus the right hand side of the ship became known as the steer side, and as the bords of the warriors were hung there it was called the "steerbord," or starboard side, while the lower or lurking side became the larboard. Bord eventually became corrupted into port.

Indisputable.

Mabel—But, papa, I know that he must have money. He doesn't attempt to conceal it.

Papa—That settles it. He hasn't any.—Boston Transcript.

U. S Land office

Crookston Minn. April 27 1895

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U. S Land Office at Crookston Minn on June 6 1895 viz:

Simon E. Ahlberg of St Hilaire Minn. H D no. 1279 for the S ½ NE ¼ and Lots 1 and 2 Sec. 1 Twp. 152 R. 45.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land, viz:

Carl Sundal, Anton Sundal Gilbert Anfinson, Tollef Erickson, all of St. Hilaire Polk county Minn.

T. A. Dunlava, Register

TURKISH RAILROADS.

Severe Discipline Maintained For Both the Employees and the Passengers.

The discipline on the Turkish roads is very severe. Negligence is punished with heavy penalties, and if a collision occurs all employees who share in the responsibility are likely to be sent to prison, and if any one is killed or injured under sentences for long terms. Employees of the roads who are injured in service receive pensions, and if the injuries prove fatal their families are provided for. The law requires railroad companies to provide for the families of persons who are killed on their lines by accident, and those who are injured receive compensation to cover their board, medical attendance and loss of wages as long as they are unable to pursue their accustomed avocations. At the same time there is a penalty of $1 for walking upon a railroad track in Turkey for every offense. Cattle and other animals found on the right of way of railroads can be confiscated by the company, although the owner may redeem them by paying 25 cents each for sheep, dogs, goats, hogs and other small animals. It costs $2.50 to get a cow or horse out of a railway pound. Animals that are not ransomed within a given time are sold at auction for the benefit of the railway company, which, however, must return to the owner any sum in excess of the fine imposed by law and the cost of keeping the animal while in charge of the company. All articles left by travelers in the cars or in the station houses are also subject to similar rules. They can be redeemed upon the payment of a fee, and at the end of a certain period all articles not redeemed are sold for the benefit of the company.

Every passenger must be in his seat when the last gong sounds a few moments before the departure of a train. Travelers buying tickets must present the exact amount of money to the ticket agent; otherwise he is authorized to charge a commission of 4 per cent for making change, which goes into his own pocket. Local tickets are good only for the train for which they are sold and will not be redeemed, but through tickets will be accepted on all trains within the limit of time indicated upon them. Children under 3 years of age travel free and between 3 and 7 are carried at half rates. All gendarmes, prisoners of state, policemen and other officials are carried at half fare upon the presentation of a certificate of identity called an "ilmihaber." Army officers and soldiers are carried for one-third fare upon the presentation of an ilmihaber. Soldiers traveling on duty for the government are carried free upon the presentation of a "pestle" certificate. Passengers found upon trains without tickets are required to pay three times the full fare between the place where they started and the first station reached after they are discovered, when they are allowed to buy a ticket for the rest of their journey at the regular rate.

One hundred pounds of baggage are allowed for every ticket, but the traveler has to pay 3 cents for having his trunk checked. The Oriental express and trains from Constantinople to Vienna (44 hours) and to Paris (72 hours) run twice a week and carry first class parlor and sleeping cars. Similar trains run between Smyrna and Aden.—Chicago Record.

Borrowed Justice.

A country justice of the peace called upon a retired attorney some time ago, and after presenting a statement of facts asked as a matter of friendship for a legal opinion upon them. This the attorney gave. When the attorney had finished, the "squire" rose and said:

"Well, those are just the facts in a case I am a-going to try next Saturday in my court, and I knowed you would give me the right kind of an opinion, so I come to you. The costs in that case will be just $7.50, and I am willing to divide with you. When I was a candidate, some of the folks in my county 'lowed I didn't know enough to run this office, and I intend to show them that I do. The next case I have I will come to you again, and we will run that court right or bust a hamstring a-trying."

With that the justice of the peace dropped $3.75 on his astonished friend's desk and took his departure.—San Francisco Argonaut.

A Phrase That Is Malapropos.

The common phrase "lazy as the devil" contains as gross a blunder as ever was made by Mrs. Malaprop. Satan is always represented in the Scriptures as the busiest of all created beings. He goeth about as a roaring lion, seeking whom he may devour. He lays snares to capture souls. His wiles and ways are unnumbered. He is the ever active adversary of mankind. He came down to the earth in wrath, knowing that his time was short. As soon as the devils entered into the swine the herd ran violently down a steep place.

The supernatural activity of the old enemy gives a complete contradiction to the error that he is ever lazy.—New York Sun.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of nine hundred and thirty-two dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Ole P. Stukke and Tubne Stakke his wife mortgagors, to Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 3rd day of August 1889, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 7th day of August 1889, at 2 35 o'clock p. m, in Book 43 of mortgages on page 54 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premise described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty in Township one hundred and forty-nine of Range forty-seven in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 8th day of June 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes if any on said premises and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated April 5th A. D 1895.

Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee

J. Montague, attorney. Crookston Minn

U. S. Land Office

Crookston Minn. April 24 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver of the U S. Land Office at Crookston Minn, on June 7 1895, viz:

John Kron, father of Alfred Kron deceased, HD no. 12883 for sw¼ NE ¼ Sec. 32 Tp 153 R 45.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land viz:

Adolph Nelson, L. G. Dalin, Per Person, Sam Person all of Bray p. o. Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava, Register.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of five hundred and eighty-seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary A. Holnvik and Hans M. Holnvik her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee, bearing date the 17th day of December 1890 and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 19th day of December 1890, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in book 50 of mortgages, on page 112 Which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned by said Security Trust Co. of Nashua N. H. mortgagee to Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper by written assignment dated on the 7th day of January 1891 and recorded in the office of the Register of deeds on the 24th day of January 1891 at 8:40 o'clock a. m. in Book 56 of mortgages, on page 81 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt, secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The north west quarter of Section 18 in Township One hundred and Forty-seven in Range Forty-five in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston in said County and State, on the 8th day of June 1895 at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 1st A. D. 1895.

Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper

Assignee of mortgagee.

R. J. Montague, attorney, Crookston Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE

Crookston, Minn. April 29 1895

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver, U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn on June 18 1895. viz:

Ann McIsaac HD no, 13555 for the SE ¼ NW ¼ and Lots 3. 4 and 5 Sec. 6 Tp. 152, R, 45.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

Axel Crown, Swan J; Naplin, Olaus Sorentryen, August Naplin, all St. Hilaire Polk County Minnesota.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred and fifty-eight dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Arthur Perras and Antoinette Perras, his wife mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 18th day of March 1890, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 7th day of April 1890 at 8 o'clock a. m., in book 50 of mortgages, on page 11, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz:

The South east quarter of the South east quarter of Section Ten and the East half of the North east quarter and the North east quarter of the South east quarter of Section Fifteen in Township one hundred and fifty of Range forty-two, in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 8th day of June 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law

Dated February 7th A. D 1895,

Security Trust Co., of Nashua N. H. mortgagee.

R J. Montague, Crookston Minn attorney.

U. S. LAND OFFICE

Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the register or receiver U, S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on July 2 1895, viz:

Carl Wik of St. Hilaire Minn. H D no 13344 for the SE ¼ Sec. 35 Twp. 152 R. 43.,

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

Hakon Johnson, Frank Satterberg, Jonas Fongstrom. Peter Anderson all of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn.

T, A. Dunlava Register.

S. AFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

DEALERS IN

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath. Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN

E. T. SPAFFORd & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE

HIGHEST MARKET PRICES

FOR

All kinds of

CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD. Manager.

THE ST. HILAIRE TOWNSITE COMPANY

Will sell for the next

60 days

DESIRABLE RESIDENCE

LOTS

From $25 to $100.

ALSO FIRST CLASS BUSINESS PROPERTY AT HARD PAN PRICES.

Apply to

H. E. IVES Agt.

ST. HILAIRE MINN.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

Barbershop in connection

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200,

BARRELS,5 0.

This cut represents Quality No. 1 — List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING, MATTED RIBS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point-

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsmen that we have not only improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have [illegible] and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the [illegible] but THE [illegible] G[illegible] [illegible] GUNS,

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers' — — ITHACA, N.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

Heavy and Shelf

HARDWARE

HEADQUARTERS FOR

HUNTER' SUPPLIES

MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS

BINDING TWINE

P[illegible] a[illegible] 9 cents a pound.

NEW GOODS PRICES

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

AMERICAN HOTEL.

W. A. ARTHUR. Proprietor.

NEWLY FURNISHED

STRICTLY FIRST CLASS

Special attention given to traveling men, Hunting, Fishing and Excursion parties.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

NO STORY TO TELL.

A Beggar Is of but Little Account to an Interviewer.

I must say that his statement of his own case is usually incoherent; and sometimes even a little fabulous. The poor fellows have very little imagination or invention; they might almost as well be realistic novelists. I find that those who strike me for a night's lodging, when they stop me in the street at night, come as a rule from Pittsburg, and are ironworkers of some sort; the last one said he was a puddler. "A skilled mechanic," he explained—"what is called a skilled mechanic"; and, of course he was only watching for some chance to get back to Pittsburg, though there was no chance of work, from what he told me, after he got there. On the other hand, I find that most of those who ask by day for money to get a dinner are from Philadelphia, or rural parts of Eastern Pennsylvania, though within six months I have extended hospitality (I think is the right phrase) to two architectural draughtsmen from Boston. They were both entirely decent-looking, sober-looking young men, who spoke like men of education, and they each gratefully accepted a quarter from me. I do not attempt to account for them, for they made no attempt to account for themselves; and I think the effect was more artistic so.

I am rarely approached by any professed New Yorker, which is perhaps a proof of the superior industry or prosperity of our city; but now and then a fellow-citizen who has fallen asks me for money in the street and perhaps goes straight and spends it for drink. Drink, however, is as necessary in some forms as food itself, and a rich, generous port wine is often prescribed for invalids. These men, without exception, look like invalids, and I have no doubt that they prefer to buy a rich, generous port wine if I gave them money enough. I never do that, though I have a means of making my alms seem greater, to myself at least, by practicing a little cordiality with the poor fellows. I do not give grudgingly or silently, but I say, if I give at all, when they ask me, "Why, of course!" or "Yes, certainly;" and sometimes I have to invite them to use their feeble powers of invention in my behalf, and tell how they wish me to think that they have come to the sad pass of beggary. This seems to flatter them, and it makes me feel much better, which is really my motive for doing it.

Now and then they will offer me some apology for begging, in a tone that says, "I know how it is myself;" and once there was one who began by saying, "I know it's a shame for a strong man like me to be begging, but—" They seldom have any devices for working me, beyond the simple statement of their destitution; though there was a case in which I helped a poor fellow raise a quarter upon a postal order, which he then kept as a pledge of my good faith. Their main reliance seems to be lead pencils, which they have in all inferior variety. I find that they can take it kindly if you do not want any change back when you have given them a coin worth more than they asked for the pencil, and that they will even let you off without taking the pencil, after you have bought it. In the end you have to use some means to save yourself from the accumulation of pencils, unless you are willing to burn them for kindling wood, and I find the simplest way is not to take them after you have paid for them. It is amusing how quickly you can establish a comity with these pencil people; they will not only let you leave your pencils with them, but they will sometimes excuse you from buying, if you remind them that you have bought of them lately. Then, if they do not remember you, they at least smile politely and pretend to do so.—W. D. Howells, in the June Century.

The grocer sends the new brand of baking powder simply because it costs him so much less and he can make more profit by selling it than he can on the Royal. The Royal is made from the very finest materials and costs much more than any other brand, which accounts for its superiority, although it is sold to consumers at the same price.

How to Wash Flannels.

Three things are enemies of flannels; hot irons, hot water, and the rubbing on of soap when wet; these things it is that shrink, full and discolor flannels. Look the garments over and rub soap on soiled spots before wetting. Make a warm suds, and add a tablespoonful of ammonia to a gallon of water. Squeeze the garments with the hands, but never rub them, least of all upon the board—put that out of temptation's way. Rinse in water of the same temperature as the first, till clean. If colored, add white vinegar to the last water, to set the color. After wringing shake well and draw into shape; dry quickly, pulling them into shape as they dry. The wristlets of vests and anklets of tights should be stretched as narrow as possible, to restore them to their natural close fit, and the bag at the knees and bulge at the elbows can be pulled out. Take the garments down while still damp, and press with a warm iron—never hot—till perfectly dry. In this way old flannels will be as soft and comfortable to wear as new ones.—Demorest's Magazine.

Taking No Chances.

Mr. Delawanna—What are you doing on that high step ladder? Can't you let the girl hang those curtains?

Mrs. Delawanna—Why, she might fall and break her neck! You don't get a girl like Ellen every day!—Puck.

Temptation Removed.

Customer—What makes you think shoplifters are mostly persons of unsound mind?

Dry Goods Clerk—Our ridiculously low prices, madam.—Puck.

How is Your Blood?

If it is poor and thin and lacking in the number and quality of those red corpuscles, you are in danger of sickness from disease germs and the enervating effect of warm weather. Purify your blood with

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The great blood purifier which has proved its merit by a record of cures unequalled in medical history. With pure, rich blood you will be well and strong. Do not neglect this important matter, but take Hood's Sarsaparilla now.

Hood's Pills are tasteless, mild, effective. All druggists. 25c.

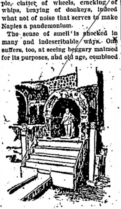
DIGGING AT POMPEII.

TOILING FOR TREASURES BURIED IN A NIGHT.

Frescoes Come Bright From Ashes—Tourists' Chatter Wakes the Echoes in the Classic Gray City of the Dead.

After a few days on the quays of Naples one wishes it were possible to pad his senses, not to say bones and muscles, thus deadening somewhat impressions and sensations. For the eye becomes tired of the intense glare of the white houses and streets and the ear weary of the screaming of people, clatter of wheels, cracking of whips, braying of donkeys, indeed what not of noise that serves to make Naples a pandemonium.

The sense of smell is shocked in many and indescribable ways. One suffers, too, at seeing beggary maimed for its purposes, and old age, combined with disease and poverty. And one suffers from constantly seeing cruelty to animals. Bones and muscles ache from the drubbings they get through driving at break-neck speed over the rough-paving stones of Naples. Not even the Neapolitan gayety, sunshine, fruits and flowers soften the impression made by so much poverty and filth. One longs to be well wadded with stupidity in order that sense and sensibility may find repose.



Fountain in the Garden of Marcus Lucretius.

It is in this state of mind and body that we turn to Pompeii, says a correspondent of the New York World. Not, however, via the tourist offices, which means to take a certain train from Naples, arrive at a hotel at the town entrance in time for luncheon, rush through the streets of Pompeii with the typical guide who tells everything one does not care to know and nothing one longs to hear; after an hour of this, to be whisked back to Naples in time to "do" Virgil's tomb, etc., and catch an evening train for Rome.

In Touch With Antiquity.

There is a shabby little hotel just outside the walls of Pompeii. And a certain chamber, one window of which looks out upon the tall pines, another discloses a lovely country road leading to Sorrento, while a broad door opens upon a terrace from which one may touch the very walls of Pompeii. On the terrace are table and seats and flowers and shade trees from overhanging tree tops.

Here we may gather roses ad libitum. Here we may have our coffee of a morning. From our height we may see Pompeii as a whole in all its gray, its ruin, its desolation. At night we bar our door with the many medaeval bolts and turn a medaeval key which measure just fourteen inches in length and weighs in proportion, and feel secure even from any stray Roman ghost that might be flitting about the Dead City or scaling the wall with intent to alight upon our terrace. For sitting late thereon, after the familiar sounds of the hostelry have ceased and we hear only the sound of the wind among the pine branches, and seeing the May moon playing tricks with the shadows of the pale columns and arches and ruined walls, we come to turn our key and draw the bolts with a degree of satisfaction.

The one luxury of the hotel lies in this lodging. If it were not that the coffee, tea, bread, butter, sops, meats and other things were absolutely bad, we should be tempted into words of praise of our hotel. But one can't have everything, and as our waiter shines resplendent in black broadcloth and white necktie, and the salads and fruits are delicious, we let pass the failures. At this hotel the successes and failures collectively cost only five francs the day.

And lies not Pompeii just over the wall, close to our terrace? And this to be all our own for three precious days, and no extras for the blue sky, the pine trees, the country road, the terrace and the roses!

We have the coffee brought early. We must make sure of the long morning, for by 1 o'clock the tourist agents let loose their crowds and the Dead City is full of chatter.

We find our way inside the gates in proper fashion, although a much simpler way would be to scale the wall from our terrace. And we go through Pompeii as chance leads, since it pleases better so.

Reflections From Stone.

Here are the same stepping-stones—three in a row—across the street, as of old. And here the larger stones blocking the way instead of a placard, "no chariots allowed on this street." Here and there a fountain where three streets meet, no two alike in the sculptured designs which ornament and distinguish them.

We come to the ruins of a temple. Archeologists have their uses. They tell us that this is what remains of a temple of Venus, that of Mercury and another of Jupiter. The forum proclaims itself without aid of the savant.

Imagination peoples for us this spacious and imposing spot to which streets from all the gates lead. Along these colonnades, among the statues which surely crowned these pedestals still intact, along the marble pavement, walked the Roman in his day. Here the patrician swept through the crowds or stood to talk to his clients. What can offer more against which to pose a Roman in the graceful toga than one of these Doric columns? Within these walls gathered alike the busy and the idle, pleblan and patrician, bustling and animated or grave and stately. To-day the green lizard is the sole occupant of the place. From under the columns and deserted fountains he glides out into the sunshine which floods the area.

It needed the archeologist to tell us that at a certain corner stood a temple of Isis. A black cat with a countenance full of mystery sat on the threshold of the temple. A subterranean way leading from a side passage behind the sacred shrine accounts for much that was impressive in the oracles and divinations of this cult, at one time followed by many Pompeiians.

We recognize the theater when we come to it. And the baths explain themselves. We realize what the life of the aristocratic Pompeiian was—the forum, the bath, the amphitheater, the dinner, the theater.

Shades of Classic Homes.

We like best the houses of Glaucus and of Sallust, and of Pausa the edile. And passing outside on of the old gates and along the Street of Tombs—the Appian Way of Pompeii—we climb the short, steep hill to the villa of Cicero. We approve of his taste in choosing so lovely a spot for his country life, and forgive him certain hard lines written centuries ago, over which school girls must needs puzzle themselves in the nineteenth century. The guardian of the villa is reading. We note the little volume. It is a copy of Virgil's "Eneid."

"One must do something to pass the time," he explains simply. And it seems quite the proper finishing touch to the place that the guardian should thus amuse himself. Why must everybody read Trilby?

At the end of the Street of the Tombs we come to Diomed's house.

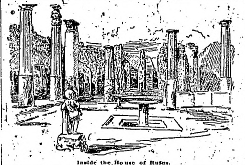
We retrace our steps as far as the fountain, where we have rendezvous with the small boy who is to bring luncheon at noon. And we sit in the shadow of a ruin and eat the salad and fruit, bestowing the remaining and unpalatable viands upon the small boy, who seemingly finds them excellent. After the remains have disappeared inside the small boy, and he has betaken himself to the hotel, we take a long siesta.

By this time the people begin to flock inside the walls and we cross the beautiful field outside the gates which leads to the amphitheater. By 4 o'clock the crowds go back to Naples, and we have another ramble in and out, up and down the deserted streets of the town.

The deep ruts in the pavement made by the chariot wheels suggest many things that went on in the old days. Certain pictures in certain houses tell of a side of Roman life but too pointedly. On the other hand, the frescoes on the walls of private houses, softened into loveliness by time; the niches for the household gods, the graceful columns of the peristyle, the marble basin in which the fountain played, the mosaic floors, with here and there a statue or sculptured table or pedestal remaining; picture to us the graceful interior where went on the Roman family life.

We often find the private baths, proving that the pater-familias did not monopolize this luxury, but provided as well for the Roman matron and the daughters.

Many and many a wine shop we find—the vessels still remaining intact, some half buried in the soil. And here and there an oil shop, the vessels being broader in form than those used for wine.



Inside the House of Rufus.

And when the afternoon shadows are lengthening we chance upon Pausa's garden, bright with green grass, studded with the yellow, white and red of the buttercups, daisies and poppies that grow there, giving quite an effect of mosaic. And upon another garden quite in contrast—that of Marcus Lucretius, rich in its fountain and statues.

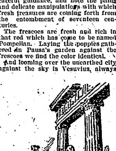
And through the gratings of a prison door we see a skeleton lying in a corner. In the excavations it was unearthed. In the mad struggle for escape on that last day of Pompeii there was no one to unlock the prison door for him, and here he met his doom.

New Excavations.

We come across the busy group of men making new excavations under careful guidance, and note the pains and delicate manipulations with which fresh treasures are coming forth from the entombment of seventeen centuries.

The frescoes are fresh and rich in that red which has come to be named Pompeiian. Laying the poppies gathered in Pausa's garden against the frescoes we find the color identical.

And looming over the unearthed city, against the sky is Vesuvius, always overshadowing the place as it did in its gay, luxurious, bustling days of long ago. In the afternoon sun it takes on a velvety purple. It becomes a thing of beauty instead of a danger. It is hard to point out that mass of soft color as the author of the gray ruins and desolation surrounding us. Only the softly curling pinkish waves that ascend from the apex suggest such possibilities.



Temple of Apollo.

Not until the hour for closing the gates of Pompeii arrives do we return to our terrace and to our dinner that is too bad to be eaten. And as one day goes, so go the three, and then we turn our faces towards Naples, and then Parisward.

A Change of Style.

"Woman is still far from her ideals."

"Oh, I don't know. We don't wear them as loose as we did."—Detroit Tribune.

A SCARCITY IN CAMPHOR.

Moths May Benefit by the Chinese War if This Drug Disappears.

One hitherto unappreciated effect of the war between China and Japan is that there is bound to be a dearth of camphor in the world for some months or perhaps even years to come. In England the imports of that odorous drug have fallen off to less than five thousand packages for the first four months of this year, as against 18,000 packages received from Jan. 1 to April 30, 1894. From Japan and China a goodly proportion of the camphor used by the medical world and in domestic economy comes, though the camphor tree, or camphor laurel, is cultivated to some extent in Formosa, Java and the West Indies.

The dearth of this popular drug means considerable, as its uses are far-reaching and its importance is great. That skilful chemist of France, Raspil, recommended camphor as one of the chief specifics for the cure of many ailments. For fainting fits, gout and rheumatism, sprains, bruises and chilblains, and as a cure for hysteria and a remedy against epilepsy, hardly anything else can be found as useful.

Of all the community, moths will be found the most benefited. A witty Englishman recently said that these pestiferous insects much prefer costly foreign feathers as a regular article of diet. Without camphor the housewife is likely to have an exceedingly hard time. A substitute for it in moth matters it would be difficult to find. Tar paper has never been especially effective and has never reached a high point of popularity. Two good substances which can take the place of camphor on a pinch it is a good plan to mention, as it is quite likely that later on they will be of value to the housewife. Bitter apples, dried and broken up into small pieces, are even more efficacious than camphor, and they cost less in the long run. Black pepper well sprinkled over the articles that are to be put away, will render them practically moth proof, provided they are well shaken out first.

However, even if camphor does become a rare drug within the next few months, there is no need to despair, for the chemists have discovered a way of manufacturing artificial camphor by the union of hydrochloride acid gas and oil of turpentine. This substance is soluble in alcohol and possesses a camphor-like odor.—New York World.

The Miniature Railway Fad.

There is one form of pastime which I believe is the monopoly of the English aristocracy—namely, that of railroading. Quite a number of British peers have set up miniature railroads on their estates, the cars being big enough to convey a dozen or more passengers, while the noble lord himself invariably acts as his own engine driver. Prominent among them are the Marquis of Downshire, Lord Tredegar and the Duke of Portland, while now the Duke of Westminster, in spite of his being a grandfather, has joined the crowd and set up a light railroad on his Eton hall estate at a cost of $7,000 a mile. Curiously, though, his taste seems to run in the family, for his eldest son, the late Earl of Grosvenor, contracted the lung trouble from which he died while driving the locomotive of the Irish mail through a blinding snowstorm in midwinter, and the duke's brother-in-law, the late Duke of Sutherland, was as passionately fond of driving an engine as he was of acting as an amateur fireman, and I can remember having as a child ridden over the old Mont Cenis railroad with the duke at the lever of the engine. The Archduke Franz Ferdinand of Austria is also a very clever engine driver, and if he can only manage the machinery of the Austro-Hungarian government with half as much skill as he does that of the locomotive of an express train, he will, on succeeding to the throne, develop into a very successful emperor.—Philadelphia Press.

Razor-Back Hogs Trained to Dig.

K. C. Mason, a prosperous farmer living down in the piny woods country below Sparta, La., has for the past few years has been turning his attention almost exclusively to the cultivation of sweet potatoes, growing the largest and finest tubers to be found in the whole section. As labor down in Mason's neighborhood is scarce, for some time he had considerable difficulty in getting his crop gathered, having frequently to lose a good part of it each season. Nowadays all that is changed, however, thanks to Mason's ingenuity and patience and the kindly assistance of a herd of razor-back hogs. These hogs, about twenty in number, have been trained to gather the potatoes, rooting them up and collecting them in piles more carefully than would be possible by human agency. In fact, scarce a single root escapes their keen scent and persistent snout, and Mason declares the animals are worth a small fortune to him. At first he had some difficulty to keep them from eating the potatoes as they gathered them but in a short while he made them understand that it would be better for them to wait for the reward of their diligent labors in the shape of a generous supply of potatoes for each meal and now they work faithfully and well resting from their exertions only when the entire crop is gathered.—Philadelphia Times.

Beauty of Moderate Drinking.

In a certain little Scottish town some time ago they held a temperance meeting. During the proceedings an old man who was not exactly noted for sobriety got up to address the audience. He said, after a few remarks upon the beauty and advantage of moderation: "My friends, there's just two occasions when I tak' whisky—" Undismayed by the "h'ms!" and "hahs!" which ensued, he continued: "Ay, I just tak' whisky when I ha' haggis for dinner; an' I tak' whisky when I nae ha' haggis." The rest of the speech was lost in the storm of applause that broke forth.—Boston Globe.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Love in England and China.

A conspicuous difference between the English and Chinese dramas is explained by the fact that, whereas in the former love holds a leading part in the latter it is relegated to a secondary place. In England it is a passion; in China, a sentiment only; hence the thousand intrigues love gives rise to are, in the latter country, either thrown into the shade or tabooed entirely. Without their ardent passions, many of our theatrical productions would lose their interest and most of their merit. An English, or, to use a wider term, a European playgoer requires a due quantum of love.

In China, on the other hand, this demand finds little echo, since love there is not the chief theme of bard and painter. Convention and the strength of parental authority have crushed, in a great measure those amorous longings which exist in the human heart; and as love, courtship and matrimony are even more prosaic in the Far East, than in our part of the world, the first of these feelings, if handled as a passion, cannot powerfully arrest the attention of the multitude.—Nineteenth Century.

Nicotinized Nerves.

Men old at thirty. Chew and smoke, eat little, drink, or want to, all the time. Nerves tingle, never satisfied, nothing's beautiful, happiness gone, a tobacco-saturated system tells the story. There's an easy way out. No-To-Bac will kill the nerve-craving effects for tobacco and make you strong, vigorous, and manly. Sold and guaranteed to cure by Druggists everywhere. Book, titled "Don't Tobacco Spit or Smoke Your Life Away," free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., New York City or Chicago.

Cleaning Mattresses.

The thrifty German woman, who never considers any kind of housework too laborious to be undertaken by herself or daughters, empties the mattresses to be cleaned, sees that every particle of the hair filling is picked apart and shaken free of dust. Then, after washing in strong soap suds and rinsing in lukewarm water, the filling is squeezed as dry as possible and hung up to dry in the sun and air in large bags made of mosquito netting. In the meanwhile the ticking has been washed or a new one substituted, and she is ready with her long, strong needle and twine to sew it together again as well as any upholsterer.—Philadelphia Press.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Tender or Sore Feet, Chilblains, Piles, &c. C. G. Clark Co., New Haven, Ct.

Them That Has, Gits.

They were two women and they sat opposite. Said the fat woman in the green gown:

"Did you hear about the money Mrs. Smith's uncle left her?"

"Why, has she had more money left her?" asked the woman in the black bonnet in a discontented way. "That is the third time since I have known her."

"Yes," assented the green gown, with a sigh, "it's just the Scriptural saying, 'Them that has, gits.'"—Washington Post.

Where He Won It.

"Was Col. Blood's title won on the field?"

"Yaas, on the cotton field. Shot three niggers in the legs and knocked a mule down with his fist."—Indianapolis Journal.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

Killed Every Day.

"A cat," said Tommy, "has to be killed nine times before it's dead."

"That's nothing," said the neighbor's boy, whose father is on the board of trade, "you just ought to hear about the wheat crop."—Chicago Record.

J. S. PARKER, Fredonia, N. Y., says: "Shall not call on you for the $100 reward, for I believe Hall's Catarrh Cure will cure any case of catarrh. Was very bad." Write him for particulars. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Sometimes, Not Always.

Maude—I suspect they are engaged. I saw them kissing the other evening.

Harry—That is no indication. Kissing does not count any more in love than in billiards.—Boston Transcript.

I cannot speak too highly of Piso's Cure for Consumption.—Mrs. Frank Mobbs, 215 W. 22d St., New York, Oct. 29, 1894.

A Matter of Law, Now.

First Lady—I am going down town to consult about a new hat.

Second Lady—Milliner?

First Lady—No; lawyer.—Detroit Tribune.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve." Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

Didn't Care About the Shape.

Butcher—Will you have a round steak Miss?

Young Housekeeper—Oh, I don't care what shape it is so it's tender.—Detroit Free Press.

Take Parker's Ginger Tonic with you. You will find it to exceed your expectations in abating colds, and many ills, aches and weaknesses.

The Empress Anna of Russia was very portly, and the fleshiness of her face greatly detracted from its good looks.

Pain is not conducive to pleasure, especially when occasioned by corns. Hindercorns will please you, for it removes them perfectly.

Matter-of-Factness.

Mr. Kansas—Yes, sir; a whole passenger train was held up while crossing the Missouri river the other day.

Lord Blazonberry—Ah, by the bridge I suppose? Was that considered remarkable?—Brooklyn Life.

WANTED TO BE A MOSQUITO.

A New York Man's Singular Wish for Transformation to an Insect of Worry.

Mrs. Mary C. Baker and John and Frank Baker, widow and sons of the late Edwin Baker, the well known real estate dealer of Brooklyn, who died on June 18, 1894, leaving an estate valued at more than a million dollars, began a contest of the will yesterday before Judge Rumsey. Under the will they were practically disinherited, the bulk of the estate going to Constance Ellen A. Cookson, Susan Murrell, Joseph Calvin and the Brooklyn library. The contestants claim that Baker was incompetent to make a will and produced witnesses yesterday to prove that he was insane. William Schwartz testified that on one occasion the testator said to him: "I would sooner be roasting for twenty years in purgatory than breathe the same air with my wife for five minutes." At another time he said: "I wish that after my death I'd be transformed into a mosquito. Then the old woman wouldn't have a quiet hour during her life." Mrs. Baker sent her husband a pudding on his birthday, but he refused to eat it until he satisfied himself by giving some of it to his dog that it did not contain poison. Schwartz told also how Baker was in the habit of drinking whisky in beer schooners, and in this he was backed up by George J. Hamlett, who said he was often sent out by Baker to purchase liquor, and that Baker's weekly average of whisky was about two gallons.—New York Advertiser.

Bridesmaids' Dresses.

Unrelieved white toilets have been very frequently worn by English bridesmaids this season, and Americans are very much given to copying English modes in dress, but it is advisable for the best effect, notwithstanding English precedence, to select delicate tints that contrast charmingly with the bride's snowy white gown, and when there are from six to twelve bridesmaids the lack of color is apt to prove monotonous. Certainly the feminine "wedding guest" is seldom seen without the wonted "wedding garment" which is generally of some prominent hue that fashion affects, and the custom of carrying bouquets and tiny baskets of flowers sprays tied with broad satin ribbon is a most agreeable relief to the coldness imparted by a group of girls dressed compactly in white, be they ever so pretty. Bridesmaids' costumes of rich white lace are always becoming, and exquisitely dainty and white lace hats are worn with these gowns. White corded silk with white moire sleeve-puffs and Louis Quinze sashes is another choice. Pink flowered satin, and palest willow-green satin with Marie Antoinette berthas of lace and rose-crowned Leghorn hats partly describe some charming bridesmaids' costumes just sent home to the prospective wearers.

A Word About Mothers.

A father, talking to his careless daughter, said: "I want to speak to you of your mother. It may be that you noticed a careworn look upon her face. Of course it has not been brought there by any act of yours; still it is your duty to chase it away. I want you to get up to-morrow morning and get breakfast. When your mother comes and begins to express her surprise, go right up to and kiss her on the mouth. You can't imagine how it will brighten her dear face.

"Besides, you owe her a kiss or two. Away back, when you were a little girl, she kissed you when no one else was tempted by your fever-tainted breath and swollen face. You were not as attractive then as you are now. Through years of childish sunshine and shadows she was always ready to cure, by the magic of a mother's kiss, the little, dirty, chubby hands whenever they were injured in those first skirmishes with the rough old world."—San Francisco Occident.

The Strongest Men Grow Weak Sometimes. The short cut to renewed vigor is taken by those sensible enough to use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters systematically. It re-establishes impaired indigestion, enables the system to assimilate food, and combines the qualities of a fine medicinal stimulant with those of a sovereign preventive remedy. Malaria, dyspepsia, constipation, rheumatic, nervous and kidney complaints are cured and averted by it.

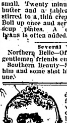
A Virginia Stew.

"There is a delicious stew which I have eaten in Virginia, but the name of which I do not know," writes a correspondent. "It seems to be made of many things, for I remember chicken and another meat, and corn and young vegetables. Do you know anything about it?" Decidedly. It is one of the characteristic and delicious Southern dishes, and the old rule for it reads as follows: Two chickens dressed and cut in small pieces as for a fricasee or three fine squirrels jointed. Half a pound of salt pork, a sliced onion, a dozen ears of green corn cut from the cob, six large tomatoes, three sprigs of minced parsley, two tablespoonfuls of butter. Put on the pork and squirrel cut in bits, the onion and parsley with a teaspoonful of salt, half a one of pepper, and enough water to just cover the whole and boil for ten minutes. Add the corn and stew for an hour, or till the squirrels are tender. Add the tomatoes cut up small. Twenty minutes later add the butter and a tablespoonful of flour stirred to a thin cream in cold water. Boil up once and serve all together in scup plates. A cupful of young beans is often added.

Several Ways.

Northern Belle—Of course, all your gentlemen friends cut him after that?

Southern Beauty—Some of them cut him and some shot him.—Detroit Tribune.



Foul breath is a discourager of affection. It is always an indication of poor health—bad digestion. To bad digestion is traceable almost all human ills. It is the starting point of many very serious maladies. Upon the healthy action of the digestive organs, the blood depends for its richness and purity. If digestion stops, poisonous matter accumulates and is forced into the blood—there is no place else for it to go.

The bad breath is a danger signal. Look out for it! If you have it, or any other symptom of indigestion, take a bottle or two of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It will straighten out the trouble, make your blood pure and healthy and full of nutriment for the tissues.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

Women in France.

Women are the stronger as well as the better half in France. They do everything but build houses. The best inspector in the French custom house is a woman. She is in the Havre office and she has a nose that can detect dutiable goods without opening a lock. She is naturally amiable and slow to anger, but woe to the foreigner or countryman who provokes her ire. There is no sadder spectacle in the Republic of France than the women shoe polishers, who doze under the sheds of the markets and quay, one eye shut and the other fixed on the bootbox over the way, patiently waiting for trade. They ask 5 cents and accept 2 cents for their unwomanly work. At Thiers, the blackest town in France, the women sit outside of the grimy little machine shops mating scissor blades and polishing knives and scissor-handles. The stream that turns the 10,000 little mill wheels is blacker than the Chicago river, and, as the furnaces never burn without belching, the toilers and their devoted lifelong apprentices are sometimes Malay and sometimes Mongolian, but seldom Caucasian in color. Not long ago a college woman went down to Thiers to teach school for the winter. The promise of eighty pupils was a temptation, but on reaching the colony of soot-begrimed and smoke-stained smithies she found that the position paid $5 a month and the teacher was expected to furnish the fuel for the winter.

★ HIGHEST AWARD ★
WORLD'S FAIR.
IMPERIAL GRANUM
IS
★ THE BEST ★ PREPARED
FOOD
SOLD EVERYWHERE.
★ JOHN CARLE & SONS, New York. ★

The Saint Paul and Duluth Railroad Company owns over 1,000,000 acres of

CHOICE FARMING LANDS

And Lands suitable for Market Gardening, Dairying, Stock Raising, &c. The Saint Paul and Duluth country and its lands are described and illustrated in maps and pamphlets that are

GIVEN AWAY

To every applicant, who will send his name and address to the undersigned. These lands are located in Northeastern Minnesota, and are all accessible to St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Superior and West Superior, the best markets in the Northwest. The Company offers these lands

TO ACTUAL SETTLERS

At low prices, on long time and on easy terms. Over 5,000 acres of land sold along the road this month.

FREE Maps and descriptive circulars will be mailed to anyone applying for same to;

HOPEWELL CLARKE,
Land Commissioner, St. P. & D. R. R.,
St. Paul, Minn.

DAVIS CREAM SEPARATORS

Combined Separator, Feed Cooker, and Churn Power

Simple, Practical, Effective, Durable, Cheap and Good. Complete Dairy in itself. Saves Time, Labor and Money. Book Mailed Free, write for it. AGENTS WANTED. DAVIS & RANKIN BLDG. & MFG. CO., Chicago, Ill.

The Poor Man's Chance HOMES 100,000 ACRES CHOICE Hardwood farming lands situated along the line of a new railroad now being constructed in central Wisconsin, and near a through trunk line already constructed. For sale cheap to single purchasers or colonies. Special inducements given to colonies. Long time and low interest. Send for full particulars to NORTHWESTERN LUMBER CO., Eau Claire, Wisconsin.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c, and $1.00 at Druggists

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

N. W. N. U. No. 25—1895.

PARIS GREEN Less than wholesale prices. BARB WIRE Painted, $1.70 per 100 lbs. Galvanized, $1.97 a 100 lbs. BINDING TWINE 4½c. lb. Will sell you any quantity. We carry over 700 tons. Samples free. SEND NOW The names and P. O. address of 17 farmers and receive our 24-page Grocery and Special Price List every three weeks; or send 15 cts. and our No. 167 540-page Catalogue will be sent, express paid.

T. M. ROBERTS' SUPPLY HOUSE, 808-810-717-719-721 Nicollet Av., Minneapolis, Minn.

Minn Hist Society

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

THE

St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XIV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 26, 1895. NUMBER 47.

AROUND THE GLOBE.

DIGEST OF THE NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

All Important Occurrences of the Past Week, Boiled Down and Arranged for Rapid Reading, From Home and Abroad.

From the Nation's Capital.

The president has appointed George B. Comly and William Tidbell cadets at large to West Point.

The court of appeal has allowed an appeal to the United States Supreme court of the pension case of Judge Charles D. Long of Michigan.

First Lieut. William F. Blauvelt, Fifteenth infantry, has been directed to go to St. Louis, Mo., as purchasing commissary of subsistence during the absence of Capt. Henry G. Sharp.

The forthcoming annual report of the United States civil service commission will show that the whole number of persons regularly employed in the civil service of this country is about 200,000.

Secretary Herbert has decided to give the attorney of Medical Inspector Kerschner, found guilty by a court martial on charges preferred by Admiral Meade, an opportunity to make an argument before him in behalf of the surgeon.

Commander George Ide of the Alert, now at Panama, has been relieved of his command by a cable order. The reason for this summary action is found in charges preferred by Rear Admiral Meade that the commander had treated him with disrespect at Panama this spring.

Personal Mention.

Joseph McDonough millionaire and pioneer of San Francisco, is dead.

Secretary of War Daniel Lamont and party, occupying two Pullmans, have reached St. Louis en route west.

King Humbert of Italy spends more in charity than any other European monarch.

It is reported in Vienna that Richard Genee, the German composer and poet is dead.

The czar and czarina have abandoned their projected visit to the Finnish archipelago owing to the fact that the czarina is nearing accouchment.

Mrs. Babcock a blood niece of the multi-millionaire, Hettie Green of New York, is very ill at her home in Forth Worth.

G. W. McGreath manager of the Union Pacific law department has resigned in order to give his attention to his large interests.

Ex-Congressman Richard P. Bland of Missouri has returned to Denver from his lecturing tour through that state and is ill at the Brown Palace hotel.

Lecky Harper died at Mt. Vernon, Ohio, aged 80 years. He was editor of the Mount Vernon Democratic Banner many years. He was the oldest editor in Ohio in point of continued service.

Miss Maria M. Love, of the Buffalo W. C. T. U., told the local conference of charities and corrections, a few days ago, that if girls would learn to cook, sew and keep house tidy, there would be less drinking by men.

Charles E. Hooker of Jackson, Miss., who for many years represented the Seventh district in congress has authorized this announcement that he is a candidate for United States senator to succeed Senator George.

The name of Cyrus Gale, who died fifteen years ago in Northboro, Mass., will be reverently spoken in that town for ever more. A public library building that cost $30,000 was a gift to the corporation under his will, has just been dedicated.

By command of the emperor of Russia, three enormous volumes, bound in black seal with purple silk linings, and another in red seal with white linings, all with massive clasps in gold and silver, have been filled with cuttings from the entire American press referring to the illness and death of the czar.

Unfortunate Events.

A destructive forest fire has been raging at Forest Lick, Pa.

Edmund Griffith and Thomas Davis were killed by a premature explosion near Massillon, Ohio.

The schooner Kate Hinchman sprang a leak when off Green Island and drifted onto Popple Point.

Engineer Carman of Union City, Tenn., was torn to pieces by the explosion of a boiler.

Mrs. James Drennen was burned to death at Birmingham, Ala., by ignited kerosene. Her husband was killed recently by a horse.

The barn of A. Searles of Huntington, Ind., with horses and contents, was burned. Loss, $6,000; insurance, $1,500.

A portion of Grayson county, Tex., was devastated by a severe windstorm. Thousands of acres of crops were destroyed and many houses blown down.

John R. Philbin, a prominent business man of Rat Portage and brother of D. M. Philbin of Duluth, general manager of the Duluth, Mesaba & Northern road, was killed by an electric wire.

Curtis Downs, a horse dealer of Wauseon, Ohio, was killed by the cars near Toledo. He was on his way east with a carload of horses, and in some unknown manner was thrown from the train.

W. J. White's fine steam yacht, Say When, struck a log while entering the harbor at Cleveland and stove a hole in her bottom. She was at once beached and the party which consisted of Mrs. White, her four children, and several ladies and their children, were easily taken off. The damage amounts to $5,000.

Criminal Doings.

Mrs. Jennie Todd of Hannibal, Mo., killed her daughter aged 16 years, of whom she was jealous.

Marion Pickering, aged forty-one, a "lifer" at Jeffersonville, Ind., was found dead in his cell.

John K. Wells was hanged at Charleston, Miss., in the presence of 2,000 people, for the murder of a woman at Castella, Miss., a year ago.

The grand jury of Charleston, S. C., has refused to indict in six of the cases laid before it for violations of the dispensary law.

B. L. Hastings of St. Louis, aged 23, shot and killed "Trixie" St. Clair at Sandusky, Ohio, for jealousy and then shot himself. He still lives.

R. B. Spencer was arrested at Cincinnati charged with selling lottery tickets and with defrauding Ferdinand Heintz out of $1,050 prize money.

An unknown negro was lynched at Abbeyville, Miss., for an attempted criminal assault on the wife of a section foreman.

J. H. Davis of Rochester, N. Y., was arrested in San Francisco for passing bogus checks. He is a son-in-law of H. W. Craig, the Rochester lumberman

Mrs. J. K. Emmett, recently shot at San Francisco, Cal., by her husband, an actor, refused to prosecute, and the case was dismissed. She said she had become reconciled to her husband.

O. W. Winthrop was held in San Francisco to answer for the murder of Mrs. Jennie Matthews, Judge Murphy dismissed the writ of habeas corpus to secure his release.

W. H. Caldwell shot and instantly killed Dillon Jones this morning at Aberdeen, Ky. The trouble came up over a chicken that was recently killed by one of them.

At Violera, Colo., Christian Pells, son of the manager of the famous Maxwell land grant, shot and killed himself in the Victor mine. He had committed a forgery.

Sheriff Sullivan has returned to Victoria, Tex., after his chase after the Dalton gang. William Johnson was captured and the evidence against him is complete.

Judge Barrett in the court of oyer and terminer, in New York, sentenced Inspector William W. McLaughlin, convicted of extortion, to two years and six months in the state prison.

O. Dunbar, editor of the Phoenix (Ariz.) Gazette, has been found guilty of criminal libel. The plaintiffs were Gov. Hughes and C. M. Bruce, secretary of Arizona.

Bert Rochett and Albert Benson quarreled at Bessemer, Ala., about wages alleged to be due the former and emptied their revolvers at each other. Rockett was shot through the heart. Benson is in jail.

The skeletons of seven persons four adults and three children were exhumed in a field a mile and a half from Brighton, Col., near an old trail, where it crossed the Platte river. It is believed they are the remains of a murdered party of emigrants.

Abbott & Katz's brewery at Brooklyn was seized by internal revenue officers. It is alleged that revenue stamps were used a second time upon beer kegs. The brewery is valued at $600,000 and before the proprietors can regain possession they will have to put up a bond of $100,000.

Foreign.

The Spitzer collection sale of arms and armor at Paris has ended. It netted $318,982.

Cardinal Gibbons has left Rome for Perugia, where he will be the guest of Archbishop Foschi.

Central American republics may form a league to prevent political revolutions.

Maximo Gomez has attacked Alta Gracia and has burned the railroad station and many other houses.

The Corean goernment has made an allowance of 8,000 yen (about $7,000) to sustain the Corean legation at Washington.

Mexico and Guatemala have extended until May 1, 1896, the time within which the boundary line, as agreed on by recent treaty, shall be put into effect.

Viscount Hampden has been appointed governor of New South Wales. Viscount Hampden has been a member of parliament at different times since 1868, his last appearance in parliament being in 1885-6.

Gen. Pendro Mullo, civil governor of the Province of Puerto Principe, and 900 cavalry have arrived at Puerto Principe, the capital of the province. All the troops are prepared to take the field against the insurgents.

In the Dominion parliament a motion that the manufacture, importation and sale of intoxicating liquors in Canada—except for sacramental, scientific, manufacturing and medicinal purposes—should be prohibited by law was defeated by a vote of 57 to 68.

Otherwise.

Lieut. Million, now stationed at Presidio, Cal., seeks to obtain a divorce from his wife, Blanche Bates, the actress.

Grasshoppers have appeared in such quantities at McCook, Neb., as to cover the Burlington railroad track and cause much trouble.

Speyer & Co., of New York and London have purchased $2,748,000 city of Chicago 4 per cent gold refunding bonds.

The Webster County Coal and Land company is preparing to open its new mine at Lehigh, Iowa, with negro miners, the other men having been on a strike.

The Peoria Manufacturing company made an assignment this morning to George K. Beasley. Bills payable are $91,472 and bills receivable are $11,800.

Miss May Belle Critchfield, the young heiress of St. Louis who so mysteriously disappeared a few days ago was found in the convent of Good Shepherd.

Forty thousand dollars worth of securities purporting to be backed by the credit of Los Angeles, that are being peddled among some of the leading financial houses of the east, are pronounced to be forgeries.

In the supreme court of Missouri to-day Justice Sherwood filed an opinion declaring unconstitutional the law forbidding the discharge by corporations of all employes who refuse to sever their connection with labor organizations.

ROSEBERY IS OUT.

ENGLAND'S LIBERAL GOVERNMENT GIVES UP THE FIGHT.

The Premier, as a Result of the Adverse Vote in the House of Commons Last Week, Tenders His Resignation to the Queen.

London, June 25.—The outcome of the deliberations of the cabinet in consequence of the adverse vote in the house of commons last week is that Lord Rosebery, the prime minister, has tendered his resignation to the queen. Her majesty has therefore summoned Lord Salisbury, the leader of the Conservative party, to Windsor in connection with the formation of a Conservative ministry.

The leading Conservatives declare that the marquis of Salisbury will not formally take office until parliament is dissolved. He will insist that the government, before yielding the seats, shall pass a vote of an amount necessary for the expenditures for two months to enable a general election to be held. The Conservatives will thus be in a position of attack instead of defense.

Throughout the day the situation was the absorbing topic at the chief political clubs. Several members of the cabinet called in Downing street in the expectation of seeing Lord Rosebery, who later returned from Windsor and drove to Downing street, where an informal cabinet meeting lasting twenty-five minutes immediately followed.

It is understood that the marquis of Salisbury only agrees to form a cabinet on condition that parliament is dissolved. Nothing is known regarding the personnel of the new ministry, but complete harmony exists between the Liberal Unionists and the Conservatives.

The Irish members are exceedingly uneasy and dissatisfied. They state that after acting for three years as the strongest arm of the government they are deeply concerned at the sudden end of the government without passing any of the principal Irish measures. Not only has home rule not progressed, but the measure concerning the Christian brothers, the county council bill, which reached a second reading, and the grand jury bill, and the proposal to extend the power of guardians regarding laborers' cottages were all lost. The only Irish measure now likely to be passed is Mr. Healy's municipal franchise bill, which has gone to the house of lords. The Liberal Scotch members are also sore, their expectations having been disappointed.

TURNERS OF MINNESOTA.

They Hold a Two-Day Session in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, June 25.—A convention of the turners of Minnesota was in session in the West side turner hall, and closed with a social gathering last evening. Delegates were present representing the Germania and West St. Paul turnvereins of St. Paul; the West Minneapolis and St. Anthony turnvereins of Minneapolis; also Winona, Duluth, Osseo and Wahpeton, N. D. At the business meeting Turner F. Pfaender of New Ulm presided, and Henry J. Hadlich of West St. Paul was secretary. The constitution of the society was modified so that hereafter credit will be given to all-around athletes, instead of greater proficiency in any one line of sport. Exercising upon all apparatus of the gymnasium; jumping, running, climbing and fencing are practiced. Winona was selected as the place of the next state meeting of the society, which will be held in June, 1896. The New Ulm society was made the controlling one for the ensuing year.

The Royal Baking Powder is the purest and strongest baking powder made, and has received the highest award at all the great International and State fairs wherever exhibited in competition with others.

PINE CITY'S GAS WELL.

Its Farmer Owner May Become a Rockefeller.

Pine City, Minn., June 25. — Pine county has a natural curiosity in the form of a gas well. It was struck two weeks ago on the farm of Frank Cort, about four miles from this village, since which time there has been a steady and uninterrupted flow of gas. This was struck at a depth of eighty-two feet. The shaft pierced a stratum of peculiar clay the entire distance. The gas appears to be carbonic acid in its nature, as it is destructive to animal life and is much heavier than air. The odor is of a peculiar kind, not unlike that of asphalt, and the heavy pressure shows that somewhere in the subterranean regions there is a great quantity of the same material.

The well is a local seven days' wonder, and is attracting no little attention from the outside, and if, as some suppose, it turns out to be oil, Mr. Cort will become a Rockefeller or a Rockefeller competitor, and Pine county will see what she just now earnestly desires—more and cheaper light.

Found Drowned.

Winona, June 25. — The remains of Martin Tomasek were found floating in the river near Homer. He was last seen at his home here Tuesday, when he presumably left for the country. He was fifty years old and had been separated from his wife. The cause of drowning is not known.

For an Alibi.

Butte, Neb., June 25. — To-morrow the alleged lynchers of Barrett Scott will be placed on the stand to testify in their own behalf. They are expected to assist in establishing an alibi by declaring that they were hunting stock in the sand hills at the time of the lynching.

Severe Storm.

St. Johns, N. F., June 25.—A serious storm occurred at Loxy bay, near here to-day. Several fishing craft were sunk with all their equipment and fishing premises near Waterside were swept away.

Greece as a Quaker.

Athens, June 25. — Several earthquake shocks were felt this morning in the district of Naupactus, more generally known as Lepanto. The telegraph office and other buildings were damaged.

CITY FUNDS SPENT.

South St. Paul's City Treasurer Is in Trouble.

St. Paul, June 25. — Gustav Stapf, city treasurer of South St. Paul, is alleged to be short in his accounts some $7,000. Rev. L. S. Stapf of Brainerd, a brother of the South St. Paul man, was seen to-day by a reporter. He said:

"It is a very unfortunate affair. The people of South St. Paul do not accuse my brother of any intentional dishonesty. It is true that he used money that did not belong to him, but it was done with the intention of replacing it, and it would have been replaced had not his investments proved very unfortunate. The people of the city will not lose a cent, however, as my brother has considerable property, and stands ready to make it all over to the city officials. If there is not enough of it to cover the amount of the shortage the bondsmen will, of course, make up the balance. The amount of the shortage cannot be determined until the accountants, who are examining the books, have made their report, which will not be until to-morrow or next day. My brother is not locked up, and so far as I know, is not even arrested."

The story of the case is: Mr. Stapf first entered upon the duties of the office of city treasurer of South St. Paul on July 1, 1889, and has held the position ever since. He has engaged in a number of outside ventures during the time and they have proved uniformly disastrous. He has been in the grocery business, was a member of a firm engaged in making filling for mattresses, and his last plan for making money was dealing in live stock. Every one of these schemes went wrong. Thinking, however, that this could not go on forever, he continued to form new plans, and it is alleged that he used the missing money in trying to recover what he had lost.

Mayor Fitch signed a warrant for Mr. Stapf's arrest early on Saturday morning, but it was not served, the mayor simply informing the treasurer of his action and telling him that he was to consider himself in custody. He was not placed in jail, and it is not probable that he will be, as the officials and many people of the town place every confidence in him, and there is no possibility of his attempting to escape. He will have no trouble in furnishing bail to whatever amount may be demanded.

MINNESOTAS ARE WINNERS.

They Beat the Badgers by Three-Quarters of a Length.

Minnetonka Beach, June 25. — The Minnesota crew won the eight-oared race from the Wisconsin university crew by three-quarters of a boat length, in the splendid time of 10:22. The race was one of the prettiest and most exciting that has been rowed in recent years at that popular summer resort.

The two crews lined up at the quay that marks the beginning of the two-mile course at 6:35. Two minutes later "Pudge" Heffelfinger, who acted as starter, fired the pistol shot from the prow of the Saucy Kate, the boat occupied by the judges, and before the echo of the shot had been returned from the low-lying hills the blades of the sixteen athletes had cut the water, seemingly almost in unison, and the race was on. The Wisconsin crew had the outside, and, as had been predicted, the eight started with a spurt, hitting up the stroke for the first twenty strokes at forty, dropping then to thirty-six. The Minnesotas followed the instructions of Coach Kennedy to the letter, starting with a thirty-nine stroke, which was maintained steadily to the finish, when the crew made the spurt that won the race. Both crews showed the benefit of the excellent training they have had.

JUMPED THE TRACK.

Thirty People Injured in an Electric Car Accident.

New Bedford, Mass., June 25.—An electric car containing sixty passengers, on the Warmouth Western railroad, jumped the track two miles from this city to-day, rolling over and injuring thirty persons. The car was going down Smith's Mill hill, one of the steepest in the city, on its way toward Fall River, when one of the trucks broke and the car was thrown from the rails. It plowed its way across the road, tearing up the stones and dirt in its flight, and finally crashing into a stout wood fence, which was demolished. The passengers were thrown in every direction. The shock overturned the trucks and under-gearing and several persons were pinned to the earth. A score or more persons lay in the road, in the ditch, and at the side of the road, covered with blood and dust. The fatally injured are John Ryan, New Bedford, Mass., and Delia Renivellard, Woonsocket, R. I.

Secretary Lamont at Deadwood.

Deadwood, S. D., June 25. — Secretary of War Lamont and party arrived here this morning, took a special train to Bald Mountain, and on their return visited the different smelters and reduction works at Deadwood. From here they went to Lead City to visit the great Homestake mine. Then they left for Fort Meade, and from there they will go to Hot Springs. Secretary Lamont is accompanied by his wife, daughter, Gen. Batchelder, Maj. Davis, wife and Mrs. Bryant and daughter. He will visit Fort Meade, Fort Robinson, and from there go to Fort Custer and Yellowstone Park.

It does not appear that any baking powder, when presented in competition with the Royal, either at the Government tests or before World's Fair juries, has ever received favor or reward over the Royal or made an equal showing in purity, strength or wholesomeness.

Whist Champions.

Minneapolis, June 25—The Hamilton trophy, the principal prize contested for in the whist congress, was won by the Hyde Park club. The final play was between Hyde Park and Minneapolis clubs, and the former won by a score of 637 to 600, being a net gain of 13 points.

Assistant Attorney General.

Madison, Wis., June 25.—J. J. Erdall of this city has been appointed assistant attorney general to succeed L. K. Luce, resigned.

PANIC ON A BOAT.

FATAL ACCIDENT ON THE WHALEBACK CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS.

A Steam Valve Explodes While the Steamer Is Racing With Another Vessel—Two Men Killed and Thirteen Others Injured.

Chicago, June 25.—By the explosion of a steam valve in the whaleback steamer Christopher Columbus, off Waukegan, two men were killed and thirteen, all boatmen, were dangerously or painfully injured.

The dead are Frank Wilson, coal man, and E. J. Sfelt, fireman.

It was the homeward run of the whaleback in its opening summer excursion to Milwaukee. About 350 souls were aboard. Flying flags, with music and dancing was the order of the evening. Half a mile in the boat's wake plowed the rival excursion steamer Virginia, which cleared the harbor some fifteen minutes after, and had on every pound of steam possible to overtake her competitor. On the outward trip the Virginia had not only held the advantage, but doubled it, and the crew of the whaleback were determined that they should not be passed. And the Virginia was gaining. As the sun went down the boats pushed ahead neck and neck not more than 300 yards apart. The decks and promenades of both steamers were blackened with passengers. Shouts and waving garments told the same interest in the outcome that attended the race course. The Virginia forged ahead.

Word was passed from the engine room that the Christopher Columbus was resolved on a little more speed. Scores went below to watch the machinery. The vibrations of the craft from stem to stern and the unusual plowing of water told that the Columbus was under a gigantic strain and would win if it was in her. Some grew anxious. Judge Grosscup and his party, who were sitting aft, deserted their seats and stood fore under the bridge. Those watching the gauge said the pressure was exceeding the limit to which the boilers were adjusted. From 132 pounds of steam the pressure had run up to 177 and was still rising. Suddenly there was a shock of explosion. The steam valve in a six-inch connecting pipe over the starboard battery of three boilers had blown out. Down in the hold six firemen and a waterman found themselves in a scalding mist so thick one could not see his hand. When they tried to make the ladder they jammed against heated oven doors in their frenzy, and fell over one another and delayed embracing the slight chance of escape offered. The blinding vapor made help impossible. The steam was instantly in every compartment of the vessel. In the main saloon 150 passengers seated about or reclining were suddenly seized with panic. It was increased by all lights going out. The passengers rushed from the saloon to the decks. Several women fainted. The men did all in their power to quiet the frightened. Many believed the ship was sinking. Then the steam reached the passengers. A score or more of women who had inhaled steam swooned, and in the excitement their friends feared they had been overcome by breathing the deadly vapor. And yet with the suspense of not knowing what was going to happen there were numbers of women who kept composed and stood ready to take the life boats if necessary.

For three hours the whaleback lay getting up steam for resuming the journey. It was found that one battery of three boilers had been made useless, but the other was cut off from it, and at 11 o'clock there was enough pressure to start the engines. The boat finally reached her dock in Chicago at 3:15 a. m., with a pretty badly pealed lot of passengers, and all had a story to tell of the scenes on board.

Many receipts as published still call for cream-of-tartar and soda, the old-fashioned way of raising. Modern cooking and expert cooks do not sanction this old way. In all such receipts the Royal Baking Powder should be substituted without fail.

CONTRIBUTIONS REQUESTED.

To Endow the Proposed Diocese of Northern Minnesota.

St. Paul, June 25.—The committee having in charge the division of the diocese of Minnesota has issued a circular asking for contributions in order to raise $30,000 to be invested and the interest used in paying the salary of the bishop for the newly created diocese. The dividing line is to be the southern boundary of Big Stone, Stevens, Pope, Stearns, Benton, Mille Lacs, Kanabec and Pine counties. The new jurisdiction would be known as the jurisdiction of Northern Minnesota or Duluth. It will contain about 5,700 square miles of territory, with a population of about 300,000, 7,000 church members, church property to the extent of $170,000, forty-six parishes and missions. The members of the committee are T. H. M. V. Appleby, Rev. Albert V. Ryan, Rev. C. C. Rollit, Archdeacon J. A. Gilfillan and William C. Sargent.

Shipping Live Stock.

Fessenden, N. D., June 25.—The Soo road has begun preparations for the shipment of live stock to the East from North Dakota and Northwest territory points. Full trains of empty cattle cars are being sent north daily. At Kenmare, N. D., thirty miles south of the Canadian line, there are over 3,000 head already in sight for immediate shipment, and over 10,000 reported coming in from the back country.

Favor Bimetallism.

London, June 25.—A bimetallic memorial has been signed by numbers of leading bankers, merchants and manufacturers doing business in the East end. It first refers to the recent anti-bimetallic memorial, in which it says bimetallism is justly desirable as a growing agitation.

Eugene V. Debs having been sentenced to six months' imprisonment in each of two cases, his attorneys are trying to have the sentences made concurrent instead of cumulative.

FATHER HAAS DEAD.

He Introduced the Capuchin Order Into This Country.

Milwaukee, June 25.—The Rt. Rev. Francis Haas, who introduced the Capuchin order into the United States, died at St. Agnes convent, Fond du Lac, Wis. Father Haas was born at Metzerien, Switzerland, Nov. 25, 1820. He came to the United States Sept. 2, 1850, and arrived ten days later in Milwaukee, where he was kindly received by Archbishop Henni and given charge of St. Nicholas, now known as Mount Calvary, twelve miles east of Fond du Lac, to start a monastery for the Capuchin order. Father Haas had always been the head of the order in this country until it was canonically raised to the dignity of an independent province Aug. 7, 1882, he having been successively guardian, commissary, custos and provincial. He was founder of St. Lawrence college at Mount Calvary, twelve miles east of St. Francis church and convent in Milwaukee and a house at Appleton. In 1878 he was appointed definator general by Pope Leo XIII. This necessitated his residence at Rome, Italy. About two years ago he returned to this country on a visit, was taken sick and has been ailing ever since. He remained at St. Agnes convent as spiritual director of this community.

TWO HUNDRED SHY.

Eau Claire's City Clerk Gives an Explanation as to How It Is.

Eau Claire, June 25.—At a special session of the city council for the purpose of hearing the reports of the committee and city attorney in the case of City Clerk Frank R. Dougherty, the committee made no report, but its attorney recommended that the bond be not accepted. Another bond was immediately presented. The mayor then delivered an address to the council, charging the clerk, if not with willful embezzlement, at least of gross mismanagement and incompetency; that he considered him an unfit and unsafe official; that in order to shield the clerk from scandal, he had requested him to resign. As his resignation was not accepted this course was now necessary. A report from Special Auditor H. Temple, now employed on the city's books, was read, showing as far as he has checked up at this time a shortage in the clerk's accounts of $221.33. The previous vote on the clerk's resignation was reconsidered and the resignation accepted. Dougherty was serving his fourth term as clerk, and has always been elected by large majorities. He claims to have paid the money over to the ex-city treasurer and got no receipts for the same.

Prof. Floyd Davis, Chemist to the State Board of Health of Iowa, says: "The Royal has the highest leavening power of any baking powder examined, and is composed of pure and wholesome ingredients, well mixed, and of a character perfectly proper for use. No other powder gives results so satisfactory."

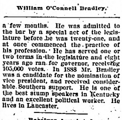
Superior Cyclists.

St. Paul, June 25. — The Superior Cycling Club of West Superior came down from the head of the lakes Saturday night and spent yesterday in the Twin Cities. There were seventy-eight of the members mounted, and in spite of the untoward weather they made several runs and surprised people by the intricacy of their movements in columns. The club includes many of the prominent business men of its town, and it is claimed that there are more wheels in Superior than in any town of its size in the country.

REPUBLICAN NOMINEES.

William Bradley, Nominated by the Republicans of Kenteky.

Cleveland, June 25.—William O'Connell Bradley, the Republican nominee for governor of Kentucky, who attended the Republican league convention, returned home to-day. Mr. Bradley was born in Girard, Ky., about fifty years ago. He enlisted in the federal army when a boy of eighteen, but the war ended before he had served but a few months. He was admitted to the bar by a special act of the legislature before he was twenty-one, and at once commenced the practice of his profession. He has served one or two terms in the legislature and eight years ago ran for governor, receiving 105,000 votes. In 1888 Mr. Bradley was a candidate for the nomination of vice president, and received considerable Southern support. He is one of the best stump speakers in Kentucky and an excellent political worker. He lives in Lancaster.



William O'Connell Bradley.

Receiver Appointed.

Milwaukee, June 25.—To-day Judge Johnson appointed G. N. Wiswell receiver of the National Benefit and Casualty company.

Incendiarism Suspected.

Kenosha, Wis., June 25.—The American Bedding company was burned out last night, causing a loss of $50,000. An insurance of $30,000 was carried. Bernard Rosenow has been arrested on a charge of setting fire to the factory.

Death of a Cardinal.

Rome, June 25.—Cardinal Amildare Malagola, archbishop of Fermo, is dead. He was born in 1840, was a native of Italy and was created cardinal in 1893.

The Electric Elevator.

There has been a fierce fight during the last twelve months between the hydraulic and the electric elevator systems. It is hardly surprising that the older system, which has done good service, and is still efficient for buildings of moderate height, under certain conditions, has had to give way to the more flexible electric system, which is equal to the requirements of the tallest skyscraper ever built. The question of rivalry has been virtually settled by the adoption of the electric elevator. In large new representative buildings in Chicago, Minneapolis and San Francisco, after open competition with the hydraulic, and its superiority, is now recognized by many of the leading architects of the country. One of these has expressed the opinion that the electric elevator is to the hydraulic what the electric car is to the horse car, and that the older system is doomed. He adds: "I unhesitatingly assert that the hydraulic elevator has finally met its rival, that it is a passing system, and that in the comparatively near future the electric elevator, for the highest class of service, will prove as much of an advance over the hydraulic as the latter has proved better than the steam machine. I have had an unequaled opportunity for seeing, under every possible condition of hard service and adverse circumstances, the development of this type of elevator." As there are not less than 50,000 elevators in operation in the United States, the commercial importance of this addition to the electrical field will be seen. Central stations are already laying themselves out for electric elevator business, and one station in New York is now running some 250 electric elevators of a total of 3000 horse-power. Although this system is adapted for heavy work, especially in tall buildings, and is coming into general use on account of its saving in space, ease of handling and high efficiency for business purposes, one of the most important of its utilizations will be for domestic needs. In five years' time a well appointed house will as naturally have an electric elevator as a bath room. To many delicate and elderly persons the mounting of steps is a grievous burden, if not a serious sourse of injury, and before long stairs will be looked upon as a barbarism. It is now as easy and cheap to have an electric elevator in a private house as in a large office building. The cost of operating it in, say, a five-story house, making fifty or sixty trips every day, will not exceed $3 or $4 a month. It is made to work automatically, so that there is not the slightest danger. An invalid or a child can operate it; it stops only at each floor and starts only when the elevator door is closed. For starting, the old lever is discarded, and all that is necessary is to press a button.

Use of Kites in War.

Tests in kite flying for military purposes, have established the following facts: That a properly constructed kite can be made to fly in the very lightest breezes; that by fitting "side fides" to the kite it can be steered out of the wind course to an extent of at least 45 degrees; that in an average wind, say twelve miles an hour, a kite can lift off the ground a weight equal to three pounds per square foot area, so that a kite of 500 square feet could lift a man; that if the string of a kite carrying a weight breaks the kite forms a parachute, and descends gently; that the length of the string is practically unlimited, since, when a kite has taken out all of the string it is able to lift, the end of the string may be affixed to a second kite, and so on; that by suitable arrangements of cords, etc., a kite may be made to fly quite steadily without any possibility of its capsizing; that on a perfectly calm day a kite can be made to float in the air so long as it is towed along at the rate of, at least, four miles an hour. It is believed that in actual warfare kites may serve as a means of communicating between bodies of troops when the usual method can not be conveniently employed. Excellent pictures of important strategic positions and movements have already been taken by making a camera-carrying kite hover over a given spot. A kite may be used for carrying a torpedo over the heads of an enemy, for communicating with a besieged place, or for raising a man, and in the last respect a large kite might be employed instead of a captive balloon. Kites, indeed, should be an indispensable auxiliary to a baloon equipment; but the advantages in their favor are so enormous that in course of time they will probably entirely supersede balloons. The only serious objection to the employment of kites in war is the possibility of lack of wind force; but, practically, this is not so great a difficulty as might be imagined.

Prof. C. W. Drew, Chemist to the Minnesota State Food and Dairy Commission, says that the "Royal" being of greater strength than any other, and possessing better keeping qualities, it is the natural conclusion that it is the best baking powder made.

An Electric Incubator.

The idea of hatching eggs by electricity may appear somewhat farfetched, but electric incubation is not only being carried on in Germany, but is growing into a large industry. A Strasburg electrician, who has been experimenting for three years, proves that with the electrical incubator 90 chickens can ordinarily be counted on out of every 100 eggs incubated. His apparatus is made for 50, 100 or 200 eggs, and not only obviates many of the difficulties connected with the ordinary form of incubator, but makes the process of hatching surer and quicker than it has ever been. The manipulation of the apparatus is brought down to a very simple phase, the main feature being the maintenance of a carefully regulated and uninterrupted supply of current. An automatic attachment keeps the temperature within one-tenth of a degree of the normal heat of incubation. The degree of saturation of the air is similarly maintained. The quantity of current required is very small. After the chickens are hatched they are turned into an "electric mother," the upper part of which is devoted to the freshly hatched birds only, while the lower part is arranged so that the chicks can run around on the ground, and at the same time find heat and protection when they desire it. The electric incubator has been found of great service for winter work.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arriv Crookston Daily
St. Paul Minneapolis, Superior Duluth Chicago and points East and South, west and Pacific Coast	7:40 a. m.	7:35 am
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	7.25 a. m.	7:10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston daily has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or full information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. at Crookston Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marsha

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for in or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON
R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE
W. A. Sorsoleil

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS
COPYRIGHTS.

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free.

Building Edition, monthly, $2.50 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address
MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY.

BREVITIES.

District Court opened at Crookston last Monday,

Dr. Grundy of Thief Rålls was in town on business last Friday,

Sash and doors cheap for cash at Johnson & Marshall's.

Collector Merrian of Crookston was doing business in town last Thursday;

Miss Louisa Swenson visited friends at Crookston several days this week,

Mrs. Ferguson, of Mallory is visiting with her sister Mrs R H, Aimer

P, G. Paradis made a short business trip to Red Lake Falls last Monday.

Postmaster Mullarky of Thief River Falls was in town between trains last Monday.

Frank Gravel of Crookston was selling groceries to our merchants last Monday,

Attorney J. C. Mathews of Red Lake Falls was in town on business last Thursday.

Miss Minnie and Mr, Henry Olson drove up to Thief River Falls last Thursday.

S. M, Dainard is having another boat built with which to haul rock for the dam.

Stone Wanted

$4.00 per cord paid for stone delivered at the St. Hilaire dam,

Mrs, Arthur, Mrs, Twing and Miss Corcoran visited friends at Thief River Falls, last Friday

The young folks of the village enjoyed a pleasant dance at. Bjerk's Hal last Monday night

Come to St. Hilaire to celebrate the glorious 4th if you want to make sure of having a good time.

Attorney Grady, of Thief River Falls was in town a short time last Monday on his way to Crookston.

Mrs. O H, Peters left last Monday for an extended visit to relatives in the southern part of the state.

Miss Annie Abrahamson left last Friday for Ada where she will visit her sister Mrs. L. T. Bergh.

Attorney Richardson of Thief River Falls was in town a short time last Monday on his way to Crookston,

Mr. and Mrs. Swanstrom and Miss, Carrie Nelson of Thief River Falls, took in the Swedish Luthern picnic here last Monday.

Our National Holiday,

On July 3rd and 4th the Great Northern Railway will sell round trip tickets at reduced rates to any point within 300 miles of the station where ticket is bought good to return on the 5th For urther information see company's agent,

Several members of the Thief River Falls fire department passed through here last Saturday on their way home from Crookston where they had been taking part in the Firemen's Tournament. They won the first prize of the tournament, the championship banner and felt very elated at their success

The concert given by the Hope Academy Troup was well attended in spite of the rain. The program consisting of vocal and instrumental music and declamations was very well rendered and was greatly appreciated by the audience, The troup is composed of teachers of the Academy

Mr. P. Meehan the Thief River Falls lumberman was in town last Monday He spent considerable time looking over the improvements here and expressed himself well pleased with the prospects. It is more than probable that Mr. Meehan will invest heavily in this place in the near future.

In spite of rain and bad roads a large number of people from the surrounding country came in to attend the picnic given by the Swedish Lutheran Congregation A musical program was given by the Hope Academy Concert Troup and Speeches made by Rev, Moody and Prof. Swenson and others after which a tent was put up and dinner served on the ground as announced and in spite of the damp surroundings the crowd seemed to enjoy themselves very well.

Frederick Rux, a farmer living about three miles west of here, had the misfortune to have four horses killed by lightning during the heavy thunder storm last Saturday,

Notice of Sale

I will offer for sale at public auction on Saturday July 13th 1895 at James Madden,s farm in Section 21 Tp 152 R. 41. One bay mare about six years old which was taken up astray May 15th

Tom Madden

At a meeting held by the citizens of St, Hilaire for the purpose of making arrangements for the celebration of the 4th of July, the following committees were appointed:

Committee on Finances.—Peter Hall W. A. Arthur, H. J, Freeman,

Committee of Arrangments.—S. M. Dainard, S, M. Hoff, P. G. Paradis, M. E, Bierk, J. L. Johnson.

Committee of Grounds and Dancing. —S. Harris, C, W, Peters. Isaac Holverson, O, F. Post, Carl Johnson,

Committee on Sports and Races. —Henry Jackson, S. M, Dainard, H, E Ives, E, M. Hoff, C, G. Rapp.

Fourth of July Excursions.

To accomodate those who wish to enjoy a trip on our National Holiday the Great Northern Railway will sell round trip tickets at reduced rates to any point within 300 miles of station where ticket is bought, Tickets sold on July 3rd and 4th, good to return on the 5th.

It is remarkable how little is being done to bring about international bimetallism considering that so many declare in favor of it. Why do not the leaders who declare that bimetallism would be a blessing if nations would enter into an agreement to adopt it, do something to promote the scheme? Germany did a short time ago decide to take the first step in calling a conference, and it was a surprise to the world. We are supposed to be more interested in the matter than Germany; Even the most radical gold bugs tell us that they will be glad to see silver placed on an equality with gold—if it can be done under an agreement between the leading commercial nations of the world, Why are they doing nothing? Even Grover Cleveland admits it would be safe to coin silver, if such an agreement was consummated. Why does he not abide by the instruction of the last Congress and push the matter along? It is safe to say that many of those who pretend to favor silver if other nations would fall into line, would do all in their power to hinder the progress of such an arrangement if it became apparent that it could be established.—Norman County Herald.

The sad news came from Red Lake Falls to-day that Michael Jeffers, one of the best known men in the county and a Populist politician of some note was drowned there at 8,30 o,clock last night, Mr. Jeffers and a man named Fred Emard were driving along the wagon road over the dam across the Red Lake River. The swift water washed the vehicle off the roadway taking its load of human freight into the river below. Emard succeeded in reaching the shore but Mr. Jeffers was drowned, Some time ago he sustained a broken arm, which made him somewhat helpless in the water and, before assistance could reach him he sank for the last time, Up to a late hour this afternoon the body had not been found, although a force of men have been engaged in the search since the time of the accident last night,

Mr, Jeffers was 67 years old, and leaves two sons—one a school teacher and the other a railroad man. Mr. Jeffers came to this country seven years ago and located near Red Lake Falls on a farm, where he since resided. He came from Rice County where he served two terms as rigister of deeds. He was a man of good education, genial and well liked, and there are but a few men in Polk County but who know Mike Jeffers,—Crookston Tribune.

The opinion is often expressed that in another generation or two the North American Indian will be practically extinct but according to James Ross, a prominent trader among the Sisstons, this is far from true of that tribe. He says: "The heads of families, on the Sisseton reservation draw money from the government for each child and consequently they want lots of children the production of which is their principal industry. A new baby is gladly welcomed and it receives the best of care because its presence adds to the income of the family, An Indian boy is impatient to reach the marriageable age that he may have children as a means of support. But he doesn't go around looking for a pretty girl to marry. He seeks out a widow who has children, and the more children she has the greater catch she is regarded,

"Young Indian girls are not in great demand for wives. If children don't speedily bless a marriage a divorce soon follows, and the separated couples seek more congenial mates. Their real object is babies. Many unmarried girls have babies and consider themselves especially attractive to the sterner sex afterward."—Crookston Tribune.

4th of July

Grand
Celebration
AT
ST. HILAIRE, $200
given away
in prizes!

FREE DANCE IN THE EVENING.

Come one and all and have a good time.

OFFICIAL APPLICATION FOR LICENSE TO SELL INTOXICATING LIQUORS.

To the common council of the village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota,

The undersigned M. E. Bjerk hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the 1st day of July 1895.

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows: On the ground floor of the two story building situate on Lot eleven [11] of Block forty [40] of the original townsite of St. Hilaire Polk county Minnesota, said building having two outside entrances one in front and one in rear,

Said applicant prays that such license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinances of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of said state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire this 11th day of June 1895.

M. E. Bjerk,

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk County Minnesota will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Saturday the 29th day of June 1895 at 8 o'clock p. m. at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

Witness my hand and the seal of said village this 11th day of June 1895.

[Seal] J. L. Johnson
Village Recorder.

ORDINANCE NO. XIII.

Draymen and Cartmen;

An ordinance to provide for the issuing of license to draymen and cartmen and to regulate the price of drayage and cartage.

The village council of the village of St Hilaire do ordain as follows:

Sec. 1. Draymen and Cartmen to be Licensed.

That no person shall carry on the business of drayman or car man within the limits of the village of St. Hilaire without having first obtained from the village council of said village a license for each dray, cart or wagon used by him in said business.

Sec 2. Licenses how to be granted

Such license may be granted upon an application in writing to said council signed by the applicant upon the following conditions viz; First—that said applicant shall pay to the treasurer of said village of St. Hilaire Minn. such sum of money as said council may fix by resolution as the price of such license.

Second—that said applicant shall not ask or demand for hauling, carting or transporting any goods wares or merchandise within the limits of the village of St. Hilaire more than twenty-five cents per load of three hundred pounds or under and fifty cents per load for all loads over three hundred pounds and not exceeding three thousand pounds provided that said applicant may demand and receive a greater sum for hauling carting and transporting goods, wares and merchandise if agreed to by parties employing said applicant

Sec. 3 Forfeiture.

All persons violating any of the conditions upon which licenses have been granted by virtue of this ordinance shall be deemed to have forfeited the same.

Sec. 4. Penalty.

Any person or persons who shall carry on the business of drayman or cartman, who shall haul, cart or transport goods, wares or merchandise about said village and within its limits for hire without first having obtained a license as provided by this ordinance shall upon conviction thereof pay a fine of not less than Five ($5.00) dollars nor more than Ten ($10.00) dollars besides the cost of prosecution and stand committed to the jail of Polk Co. Minnesota until said fine and costs are paid.

Sec. 5. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force on and after the first day of July A. D. 1895.

Dated and passed at St. Hilaire Minnesota this 3rd day of June A. D. 1895.

S. M. Dainard
Village President.
Attest J, L, Johnson
Recorder,

OFFICIAL APPLICATION FOR LICENSE TO SELL INTOXICATING LIQUORS.

To the Common Council of the village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned P. G. Paradis hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the 1st day of July 1895.

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows: On the ground floor of the two story building situate on Lot ten [10] of Block forty [40] of the original townsite of St. Hilaire Polk County Minnesota, said building having two outside entrances one in front and one on side

Said applicant prays that such license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinances of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of the state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire this 11th day of June 1895.

P. G. Paradis.

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk county Minnesota will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Saturday the 29th day of June 1895 at 8 o'clock p. m. at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

Witness my hand and the seal of said village this 11th day of June 1895.

[Seal] J. L. Johnson
Village Recorder.

Dr. Williams Pink Pills for pale people, the great blood purifier and Nerve Tonic For sale at the St. Hilaire meat market.

Dr H. GRUNDY
Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis

DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS
AND CIGARS.
Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.

Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY.

The NEW and the RIGHT WAY
EAST and WEST
TO ALL PACIFIC COAST POINTS
AND TRANSPACIFIC PORTS.

TIME CARD.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily. Daily

NO. 3 NO. 2
North and West South and East
7 45 p m Depart......St. Paul......Arrives 7 15 am
8 45 p m " ......Minneapolis...... " 6 45 am
1 15 a m ......Barnesville...... 11 15 am
5 35 am Ar......Crookston......De 8 35 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH
MONDAY, WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY
9 00 am De.......Crookston.......Ar 6 00 pm
11 00 am Ar.......St. Hilaire.......De 4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.00 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1 20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm Close connections made at Minneapolis and St. Paul for all points East and South.

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points,

F. I. WHITNEY H. J. FREEMAN
G. P. & T. A. St. Paul Agt. St. Hilaire

LANDS

Fertile, sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from

$2.00 to $6.00
PER ACRE.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 23	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
2 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.00
NE SE of 28	5.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE of SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 4.70
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 27	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.0 to 5.00
4 " 23	4.00 to 6.00
6 " 34	3.0 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 3.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.00
3 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	5.00 to 6.00

I will sell the hay on the above described lands for the season of 1895 at reasonable prices. All persons are hereby warned not to cut hay on any of these lands without first making contract for same. For further information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

Impetuous People

are sometimes figuratively spoken of as not above setting things on fire just for the fun of

Seeing Them Burn

Close competition breeds impetuosity, and in our earnest pushing for trade it often happens that we mark goods away down just for the fun of

Seeing Them Sell

Somebody has exclaimed: "Oh, the impetuosity of the idiocy of the tumultuous idiot!" This remark will never apply to you if in your rush for bargains you get into the right store, which of course is ours.

E. M. HOFF
DEALER IN General Merchandis

LOOK HERE!
Great Bargain Sale of
FARM MACHINERY
AT
J. E. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one n mower at $25, four second handed mowe at $10 each and a full line of walking a breaking plow which I will sell at u heard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise

PTERODACTYL

We print a likeness of the skeleton of this remarkable paleontological reptile because some of its physical characteristics are synonymous with our business methods. Perhaps the most striking similarity may be found in its

Little Finger and our Big Bargains

Its little finger is very large: and so are our bargains. The paradox of a little finger being big may be likened to the paradoxical inducements we offer you.

Profits and Hind Feet Small

Its hind feet are out of all proportion to its fore feet, just as our profit is overshadowed by the buyer's. Its large head represents the size of our stock. The many years that have elapsed since the time when this creature flourished will hint at the wearing quality of our goods.

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. E. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:
Advance, $1.50.
not in Advance, $2.00 Per Year

[illegible] Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY June 26 1895

AFOOT THROUGH EUROPE.

The Inexpensive Trip of a Party of Delighted Tourists.

Our party spent four months of delight last summer wandering among German rivers, Italian lakes and Swiss mountains, endured no privations and were conscious of no makeshifts; traveled as few Americans have courage for, but as thousands of Europeans do every year, and accomplished our object on a very moderate sum of money according to our estimate of value. There were six persons, of whom the youngest was 14 and another 40 years older. All were fair walkers and used to exercise. All were in good health, and four possessed enough buoyant enthusiasm to float another dozen. This is a very good outfit for a European journey—better than much gold and even much money.

What can never be expressed is the sense of personal interest and possession that such a walking trip gives to scenes that have become conventional and what new beauty it adds to every point of view. All day long to be the friend of the world around one, to advance step by step into the mysteries of mountain and valley, to learn nature's secrets as one approaches, to look upon its coy advances and retreats as the vistas of distance open or close about it, and so at last to win the divine right to its fullness of beauty—this is to make it a portion of one's life forever.

Whether they walked 30 miles a day or six, they never were too tired to contrast the blissfulness of their lot with that of the ordinary tourist tied to a time table and bounded by a carriage window. Sometimes for a new experience they took a diligence or a caleche. They lost but two days in the entire summer from storms too bad for outdoor work. They had boats on the rivers and lakes, when the three Harvard subfreshmen took turns at the oars. There was carriage driving in the cities to a degree that would have been wild extravagance at home. They bought little odds and ends for memories—wooden shoes at Rotterdam and kragels at Heidelberg and silken scarfs at Bellaggio and cow bells in Chamounix and scores of photographs.

And they accomplished it all, upon a sum of $409 for each person. This included first cabin passage both ways, fees to porters and maids, which are always less expensive to the walking tourist, galleries, churches, concerts and kursaals in the cities and tops of omnibuses without number—the most delightful mode of conveyance yet known to man. It covered also postage on voluminous correspondence, forwarding of traveling bags, heavy charges for expressing trunks, necessary repairs of clothing on the way, steamer chairs and extras—in short, everything from the time of leaving New York to arriving home in Boston except the new outfits brought home from Paris and London. If it had been desired, this sum could easily have been lowered $25 or $40 for each person.—Mary Elizabeth Blake in Donahoe's Magazine.

Rough on the Doctor.

The late Dr. Yandell was fond of telling the following joke: A lady patient one morning greeted him with the remark, "Doctor, I had such a singular dream about you last night."

"Indeed. What was it?"

"Why, I dreamed that I died and went to heaven. I knocked at the golden gate and was answered by St. Peter, who asked my name and address and told the recording angel to bring his book. He had considerable difficulty in finding my name and hesitated so long over the entry when he did find it that I was terribly afraid something was wrong, but he suddenly looked up and asked, 'What did you say your name was?' I told him again. 'Why,' said he, 'you have no business here. You're not due these 10 or 15 years yet.' 'Well,' said I, 'Dr. Yandell said'—'Oh, you're one of Yandell's patients, are you? That accounts for it. Come right in! Come right in! That man's always upsetting our calculations in some way.'"—Vis Medicatrix.

Drunk on Only Two Occasions.

In a certain little Scottish town some time ago they held a temperance meeting. During the proceedings an old man who was not exactly celebrated for sobriety got up to address the audience. He said after a few remarks upon the beauty and advantages of moderation:

"My friends, there's just twa occasions when I tak' whisky."

Undismayed by the "hums!" and "haws!" which ensued, he continued:

"Aye, I just tak' whisky when I hae haggis for dinner, and I tak' whisky when I hae nae haggis."

The rest of the speech was lost in the storm of applause that broke forth.—Boston Globe.

Four Days a Year.

There are only four days each year in which sun and clock time exactly correspond. They are April 15, June 14, Sept. 1 and Dec. 24.

U. S Land Office

Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver. U. S Land Office at Crookston Minn on June 8 1895 viz:

Simon E. Ahlberg of St. Hilaire Minn. H-D no. 12279 for the S.½ NE ¼ and Lots 1 and 2 Sec. 1 Twp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land, viz:

Carl Sundal, Anton Sundal Gilbert Anfinson, Tollef Erickson, all of St. Hilaire Polk county Minn.

T. A. Dunlava, Register

FASHION IN FIJI.

It Gives as Much Concern to the Ladies There as Elsewhere.

Fijian women have a most affectionate disposition, although, like all semicivilized people, they are extremely sensitive and ready to take offense at the veriest trifles. Their skins are usually of a bright dark brown, smooth and glossy as polished marble, and many while young possess handsome features and most symmetrical forms, but unfortunately their natural grace speedily disappears after marriage, at least among the common people, who have no attendants to relieve them in the heavier duties of the household. While unmarried their hair, picturesquely adorned with hibiscus and other flowers, is permitted to fall in thin plaits down the back of the neck. This is regarded as a sign of maidenhood. After marriage the plaits are cut off and not allowed to be worn again.

In Suva and Levuka the women generally wear a blouse shaped pinafore of thin white cotton, but in their homes or in the interior districts they are content with the sulu, a kind of loin cloth made from the bark of the native mulberry tree and wrapped two or three times around the body. The manufacture of this cloth, called tappa, is one of the leading industries in Fiji, the bark being beaten with wooden mallets into thin sheets, which are joined together as required. When taking part in the meke-meke, or native dance, the girls wear a short thick petticoat of dried grass adorned with black and yellow tappa streamers, the bodies remaining bare from the waist upward. The hair is decorated with flowers and frequently frizzed and plaited in a fashion somewhat resembling that depicted in Assyrian sculptures.

Most of the chiefs and their wives are extremely particular concerning the clothing of their offspring, the girls usually wearing white cotton pinafores or blouses over a colored cotton petticoat. The families of the higher classes of chiefs possess a somewhat aristocratic cast of features. This is especially noticeable in the descendants of King Thakombau. Among these is his granddaughter, the Princess Ada, who possesses many of the intellectual characteristics of the deceased monarch. Her attire, as becomes a member of the Fijian royal family, is somewhat more elaborate than that generally worn and consists of a thin silk bodice of some light color edged with ornamented ribbon and a calico petticoat over a pair of loose calico trousers—a costume admirably adapted to the Fijian climate. Shoes and stockings are discarded by Fijians of all classes save on special occasions, and during the hot summer months many of the European residents feel tempted to go and do likewise.—St. Paul's.

Why He Changed His Mind.

"Some persons," said a well known detective, "say it is wrong to arrest a man we know to be a criminal simply because he is apt to break the law. I had a friend who was very strongly opposed to this custom, and who used to talk a great deal about liberty, the pursuit of happiness and constitutional rights. He was having his shoes blackened at a corner stand one day when a young fellow ran from the saloon on the corner, grabbed my friend's watch and ran away with it. He learned that the fellow was well known in the neighborhood as a thief, and that he had been in prison several times.

"When my friend came to me to have me try to catch the thief and recover his watch, I told him I would do my best and asked him if he did not think it would have been better had this well known thief been locked up so that he could not be placed in temptation's way. He just looked at me and smiled, but I know he has changed his mind, and that he now believes that any man who ever stole a shoestring should be imprisoned for life."—New York Herald.

Blind Alex's Wonderful Memory.

Blind Alex, who lived in Stirling, Scotland, from 1830 to about 1840, had the most wonderful memory of which any account has ever been recorded. He was familiarly known as "The Complete Concordance" on account of the fact that he knew the entire Old and New Testaments "by heart." He was tested a half dozen or more different times before the Scottish Society of Advanced Learning and always succeeded in convincing the professors that he was all that had been claimed for him. If any sentence in the entire Bible was repeated to him, he would instantly name chapter and verse, or if the book, chapter and verse were named he could give the exact words of the quotation.—St. Louis Republic.

Modern Buildings.

"How was it the building fell down with a crash?"

"One of the bricklayers took a pinch of snuff contrary to strict orders. He was compelled to sneeze, and the mischief was done."—Dorfbarbier.

MORTGAGE SALE

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of nine hundred and thirty-two dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Ole P. Stokke and Tebde Stokke his wife mortgagors, to Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 3rd day of August 1889, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 7th day of August 1889 at 2:50 o'clock p. m, in Book 43 of mortgages on page 54 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty in Township one hundred and forty-nine of Range forty-seven in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 8th day of June 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest, and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated April 5th A. D 1895.

Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee.

J. Montague, attorney. Crookston Minn

U. S. LAND OFFICE,

Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the register or receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on July 2 1895, viz:

Carl Wik of St. Hilaire Minn. H D no 13344 for the SE ¼ Sec 35 Twp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz;

Hakon Johnson, Frank Satterberg, Jonas Fonstrom, Peter Anderson all of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of five hundred and eighty-seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary A. Holmvik and Hans M. Holmvik her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee, bearing date the 17th day of December 1890 and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 19th day of December 1890, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in book 57 of mortgages, on page 112 Which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned by said Security Trust Co. of Nashua N. H mortgagee to Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper by written assignment dated on the 7th day of January 1891 and recorded in the office of the Register of deeds on the 24th day of January 1891, at 8:45 o'clock a. m. in Book 56 of mortgages, on page 83 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt, secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The [illegible] west quarter of Section 18 in Township One hundred and Forty-seven in Range Forty-five in Polk County, and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston in said County and State, on the 8th day of June 1895 at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of fore losure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 1st A. D. 1895.

Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper

Assignee of mortgagee.

R. J. Montague, attorney, Crookston Minn.

ORDINANCE NO. XII,

Concerning Dogs.

The Village Council of the Village of St. Hilaire do ordain as follows:

Sec. 1. That any dog bitch or slut or any animal of the dog kind owned or being in the possession of any resident of or any person in the village of St. Hilaire shall be registered by such person or resident with the village recorder on the 1st day of July of each year and shall at the same time pay to said recorder for the use of said village a tax of Two [$2.00] Dollars for each dog and Five [$5.00] Dollars for each bitch or slut so owned and possessed by such resident or person. Every owner or possessor of any dog bitch or slut or any animal of the dog kind shall procure from the village recorder a certificate which shall state plainly therein the number and date of such license, the name of such owner or possessor, and the name of such dog, bitch or slut so licensed, and shall pay the village recorder for the us of said village the sum of ten cents for each certificate. The village recorder shall at the commensement of each municipal year provide a tag for every dog, bitch or slut licensed during his term of office said tag to have a distinguishable difference from those used in previous years.

Sec. 2. No person shall suffer his or her dog, bitch, slut or whelp to run at large within the limits of said village unless such animal wears a collar with the tag number and name destinctly engraved stamped or written thereon.

Sec. 3. It shall be lawful for the village dog inspector to kill or destroy any dog, whelp, bitch or slut found running at large within the limits of the village contrary to the provisions of this ordinance.

Sec. 4. No person shall suffer to be allowed to run at large in said village or streets thereof any dog bitch slut or whelp of a ferocious character, habit or disposition nor in the habit of barking at or in any manner annoying any person passing along or using the street or streets of said village and the village dog inspector is hereby empowered to kill or cause to be killed any such animal if found on the street or at large in said village.

Sec. 5. The dog inspector shall proceed under instructions from the president to capture and slaughter all dogs not properly licensed and collared and all dogs so slaughtered he shall bury or cause to be buried for which service he shall receive one ($1.00) dollar for each dog so slaughtered and buried upon presentation of his bill to the village council for approval, the sum to be paid out of the general village fund. The dog inspector shall receive no payment for services or expenses other than herein provided.

Sec. 6. Any person violating any of the provisions of the foregoing sections of this ordinance on conviction thereof before the justice of the peace in and for the village of St. Hilaire Minn., shall be fined in a sum not less than fifteen [$15.00] dollars and cost of prosecution and may be imprisoned, not exceeding twenty (20) days in the county jail until such fine is paid.

Sec. 7. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Passed by the Village Council of the Village of St. Hilaire Minn. this 3rd day of June A. D 1895

S. M. Dainard
Pres. of Vill. Council
Attest
J. L. Johnson
Village Recorder.

SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

—DEALERS IN—

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath. Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN

E. T. SPAFFORd & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE HIGHEST MARKET PRICES FOR All kinds of CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD.
Manager.

THE ST. HILAIRE TOWNSITE COMPANY

Will sell for the next

60 days

DESIRABLE RESIDENCE LOTS

From $25 to $100.

ALSO FIRST CLASS BUSINESS PROPERTY AT HARD PAN PRICES.

Apply to

H. E. IVES Agt.

ST. HILAIRE MINN.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

Barbershop in connection

BROADWAY, ST. HILAIRE

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun.

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200, BARRELS,5 0.

This cut represents Quality No. 1 — List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING. MATTED RIBS.
Taking up Wear at Every Point-

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsman that we have not only improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have a[illegible] and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the m[illegible] but THE BEST G[illegible] TIN[illegible]

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers' ITHACA, N.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

Heavy and Shelf HARDWARE

HEADQUARTERS FOR

HUNTER' SUPPLIES

MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS

BINDING TWINE

P[illegible] 9 cents a pound.

NEW GOODS PRICES

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

AMERICAN HOTEL

W. A. ARTHUR Proprietor.

NEWLY FURNISHED

STRICTLY FIRST CLASS

Special attention given to traveling men, Hunting, Fishing and Excursion parties.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.
DR.
PRICE'S
CREAM
BAKING
POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

AN IDEAL FARM.

Fourteen Varieties of Crops in the Place of Wheat.

General Freight Agent Moore, of the Northern Pacific, has been searching many years for an ideal Western farm, and thinks he has found it. He has made a deep study of the diversified farming question, and his ideal farm is cultivated on the broadest diversified plan. It belongs to George M. Bennett of Westport, Minn., on the Little Falls & Dakota branch of the Northern Pacific. Mr. Moore has recently sent letters to various prominent farmers on the line, asking them to what extent their crops and products are diversified. What the ideal farm, ideally diversified, really is can be best learned by reading Mr. Bennett's reply, which is as follows:

"Answering your inquiry as to what I am doing by way of diversifying my crops on Westport farm, I wish to say: In the place of [illegible] acres I usually sowed wheat previous to my change in the system, I have for the present year's crop as follows: Wheat, 75 acres; oats, 58 acres; barley, 60 acres; flax, 75 acres; corn, 70 acres; buckwheat, 45 acres; millet, 45 acres; rye, 35 acres; peas, 35 acres; potatoes, 35 acres; beans, 60 acres; onions, 2 acres; mangel wurzel, beets, etc., 3 acres; sweet corn, 1 acre; total, 619 acres; balance to hay.

"I supplement this cropping with hogs. The plan is to market the most saleable products and make pork from the poorer and less saleable stuff. The hog, if he has proper care and attention, plays a very important part in diversified farming, and it is a great mistake to attempt to get along without him. All of the crops, except onions, named in this list can be used to advantage in hog raising. It is an error to claim corn as the king of hog food. If space permitted I would demonstrate this assertion. We have all the elements required for successful hog raising, and I hope to see our farmers give serious and practical attention to the subject."

Editorial Note—Having called the attention of Gen. Flower, president of the St. Paul Union Stock Yards company (who is recognized authority on proper hog feeding), to the foregoing, he remarked: "Mr. Bennett's position is correct, that while corn is excellent hog food, it will not produce as good meat as a mixed ground ration of small grains, especially wheat, barley and oats, and that more profitable results were attainable from the latter.

Tobacco-Stinking Breath.

Not pleasant to always carry around, but it don't compare with the nerve-destroying power that tobacco keeps at work night and day to make you weak and impotent. Dull eyes, loss of interest in sweet words and looks tell the story. Brace up—quit. No-To-Bac is a sure, quick cure. Guaranteed by Druggists everywhere. Book, titled "Don't Tobacco Spit or Smoke Your Life Away," free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., New York City or Chicago.

The Latest Book Fad.

Jewels galore! Gems real and gems artificial: but so cunningly constructed, that they defy detection, sparkle on countless devices for ornamenting the hair and corsage. There are jeweled laces and passementaries, and nets for sleeves and plastrons, but quite the newest costly fad is to own a fine leather pocketbook or card case bearing a large silver monogram glittering with tiny diamonds and colored stones. These rich books are made of mottled lizzard or water snake skins, or of rare cassowary or suede leather, and the monogram, often surmounted by a crest, is cut artistically out of silver or gold. At times colored enamel is used instead of jewels.

The Magic Kiss.

One of the most popular attractions of the current season has been an opera entitled "The Magic Kiss." It tells the story of a maid whose virgin kisses bring renewed youth. For instance, she marries a man a hundred years old and three kisses bring him down to twenty-five years of age, when he stops, fearful of being kissed out of existence. The magic kiss of nature brings youth and longevity to those who live along the line of the Saint Paul & Duluth Railroad, which runs through the most healthful and decidedly the most picturesque portion of the Northwest—following a chain of the most beautiful lakes in the country. This line is known generally as the Duluth Short line, and runs fast, well equipped and convenient trains over a smooth road bed between the finest of terminals at St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, West Superior, Stillwater, Taylor's Falls and other points, including the new Inter-State park at the Dalles of the St. Croix and countless well known and sequestered summer resorts. Always take the Duluth Short line. For circulars, maps, etc., apply to ticket agents generally or write to W. A. Russell, general passenger agent, St Paul, Minn.

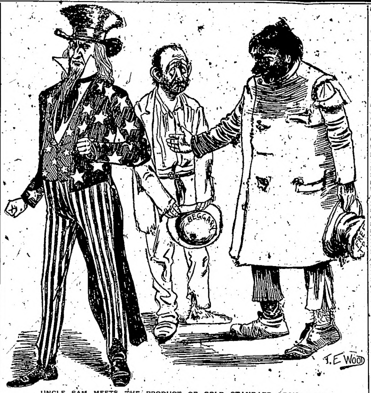
Nomenclature in Central America.

One of the foreign diplomats in Washington, who is seldom called by his right name, is Senor Antonio Lazo-Arriaga, which is his mother's name, his own being Antonio Lazo. "In Central America," he says in explaining the matter, "where a son bears his father's Christian name he adds his mother's family name in order that a proper distinction may be observed between his sire and himself. For example: My father's name is Antonio Lazo. I, also, was named Antonio, and in order that I should not be confounded with my father, I added my mother's family name, which is Arriaga. My eldest son is also named Antonio, and in order that he may be distinguished from his grandfather and myself, he will add his mother's—that is, my wife's—family name, which is Morales. Thus the three generations in my family, all Lazos, will be Antonio Lazo, Antonio Lazo-Arriaga and Antonio Lazo-Morales."

MOTHERS recovering from the illness attending childbirth, or who suffer from the effects of disorders, derangements and displacements of the womanly organs, will find relief and a permanent cure in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Taken during pregnancy, the "Prescription"

MAKES CHILDBIRTH EASY

by preparing the system for parturition, thus assisting Nature and shortening "labor." The painful ordeal of childbirth is robbed of its terrors, and the dangers thereof greatly lessened, to both mother and child. The period of confinement is also greatly shortened, the mother strengthened and built up, and an abundant secretion of nourishment for the child promoted.



J. E. WOOD

UNCLE SAM MEETS THE PRODUCT OF GOLD STANDARD LEGISLATION.

THE MASK UNMOVED.

TRUTHS OF POPULISM COMING TO THE FRONT.

Not So Much Talk Nowadays About the Wild Calamity Howlers—The Calamity Came as Predicted—So Will Victory Come to People's Party.

When Populist speakers in '92, '93 and '94 arraigned the national banking system and exposed the legalized robbery of the business and farming interests of America by the national bankers, the old party hacks denounced us, and branded us as anarchists and calamity howlers.

When the Populists proved that national banks got money from the government at 1 per cent and speculated on it, the old party hacks denounced us as liars.

When we proved that the farmers were forced to pay from 12 to 50 per cent for the use of money, the old party hacks denounced us as stirrers up of strife, and the Democratic press of Georgia, with an unbroken unanimity, defended the national bankers.

We told the people that the national bankers deposited an interest-bearing bond with the government; the government issued the bankers money at 1 per cent, exempted the bond from taxation, and in addition thereto paid the bankers to loan money direct to the farmers, but we couldn't hammer the facts into the heads of the country merchant and the farmer.

We told them it was legislation in favor of a class and would result in slaving the merchant and the farmer, but the old party hacks and newspapers stuffed the ears of the merchant and farmer with moss-backism, negro domination and white supremacy, and our warnings went unheeded.

But we never faltered. We knew we were right and believed that the time would come when our course would be vindicated—when the masquerade of the bond-holders would end and the maskers would be forced to unmask.

The average reader—we care not what his politics may be—must admit that our arraignment of the national banking system was just and true, and the fulfillment of our predictions is near at hand.

We publish on our first page extracts from a New York correspondent of the Constitution wherein the enormity of the national bank system of robbery is fully disclosed.

Every reader should remember that the money these bankers propose to loan is based on government bonds, and the bonds are based on the private property of the man who is forced to borrow; that the banker gets the money from the government at 1 per cent, and the man whose property is pledged for the payment of the goverment's debt has to pay from 12½ to 50 per cent to the banker for the privilege of using his own money.

Every reader should remember that the Populist party was organized to extirpate that system, and that the Democratic party approves and fosters the system by legislativ acts.—People's Party Paper.

That Co-Operative Railroad.

The railroad organizations can easily build a railroad across the continent, if they will organize it on a basis that will guarantee the public against extortion. Let them place in deeds to right of way a guarantee of not over 1 cent a mile, passenger rate, and not over one-half present freight rates, that no officer shall draw over $3,000 a year; that the road shall never be stocked for over a specific sum per mile, nor be bonded for over a specific sum, and that when the expenses shall be paid and 4 per cent paid on the actual outlay to construct and equip, that all surplus shall be paid into the school fund of each county according to the mileage, and a right of way, and donations of land, labor, ties and bonds will be given such a road enough to build and equip it where it goes through a settled country. Put out stock at $10 a share, to pay for labor and material in stock, and these $10 shares, made small for convenience, will soon be circulating equal to cash, will help commerce, and if they ever pay 4 per cent dividends, which they will do if no watered stock is permitted, they will be at a premium. Millions of people will take a few shares of stock in such a railroad, if it has no railroad magnates at its head and such provisions in its charter or laws as will make it impossible for them to manipulate it. All the railroad organizations going into it will soon get the assistance of other labor organizations and farmers. Land on such a railroad would be worth from three to ten times as much as the same land on one of the present robber railroads, where it takes all the crop and labor to get it to market. If it wasn't that Debs should be made president of the United States he should head such a company. There are many unselfish, well-known men who would lend their aid for the good it would do. Agitate.

Later.—Since the above was written I notice the company has been organized and Walter C. Vrooman of Baltimore, has been elected president. Vrooman is all right, and will make it a success.—Coming Nation.

THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

What Will the National Platform Have to Say About It?

What will the National People's party convention add to the Omaha platform—if anything. What, if anything, will it cut therefrom? These questions are now being asked. They become more interesting as the time for the convention draws near. Some changes will undoubtedly be made when the convention meets. It is to be hoped that nothing will be deducted from the Omaha platform. While the main fight will be conducted on the financial plank, land and transportation should not be kept entirely in the background. Then there will be the temperance plank. We ought to have a good one—one that will say just what we mean. Nine-tenths of the membership of the People's party is made up of temperance people. Yet our national conventions have dealt with the liquor traffic just like the old parties. We must not be afraid of the whisky trust. We must not shrink from the saloon power. We should deal with the question with the same courage displayed in dealing with finance, transportation and land. The writer would like to see the following plank in the national platform of our party next year:

"Real prosperity and happiness can never be fully restored to the people while the liquor traffic is legalized by the government. We are in favor of absolutely abolishing the whole system, which stamps as legitimate this evil, and we promise to destroy the traffic utterly as soon as intrusted with constitutional power as represented by the votes of the people. We would pass stringent prohibitive laws against the manufacture, sale, transportation or importation of all malt or spirit liquors. We would enforce such laws immediately after their passage and thereby annihilate the traffic root and branch."

It is certain that such a plank will be presented to the convention next year. That it, or something equivalent to it, will find a place in the platform is almost as certain. Knowing what is right the party will not flinch from the task of declaring therefor. There will be a few who will say that it is unnecessary to raise such a question and that it will lose votes. But do we want the votes of people who are friendly to the liquor traffic? I think it would bring us a hundred votes where it lost one. But if it would never bring us a vote it is right. That is paramount.

P. J. D.

TAUBENECK HEARD FROM.

The People's Party Is Common Ground for All Silver Advocates.

W. W. Mullins, Nashville, Tenn.: Dear Sir—Your kind letter, with clippings, in regard to the dispatch sent from Indianapolis to Chicago was received yesterday. No. There is not one word of truth in the report. I defy any person to prove that I ever publicly or privately favored the idea of Populists joining the silver Democrats. I have spent too much time and work to get people to leave the old parties and I shall not only not raise my hand to get them to go back, but shall do all I can to prevent them from doing so. I have always been in favor of making the fight on the money question unencumbered with details or side issues and recent events have proved that I was right. The money power for the first time realizes that a great conflict with the people confronts them and now is the time to meet them on their chosen ground. Secretary Carlisle's speech at Covington, Ky., indicates that they don't intend to yield one inch. Let us push the money question to the front and hold other issues in abeyance until this is settled. I am in favor of uniting all the people opposed to the gold standard and banks of issue into one party, under one banner, and on one platform and candidate in 1896; but it is impossible to do this in either the Democratic or Republican parties. It would be a waste of words to discuss such a proposition. At present, the people who are opposed to the gold trust are divided into four hostile camps. If they can be united next year the victory is won; but if they cannot, the contest for '96 is lost. In my opinion the People's party is common ground upon which all these elements can stand. With best wishes for the success of our cause, I remain, fraternally yours,

H. E. TAUBENECK.

CALDWELL FOR SILVER.

Another Prominent Republican for Populist Platform.

Hon. Henry C. Caldwell, senior United States Circuit Judge for the Eighth Judicial Circuit of Colorado, first made District Judge by President Grant, and promoted to the Circuit Judgeship by President Harrison, wrote a letter under date of St. Louis, April 30, to an old army friend, now in Denver, in which, among other subjects, he speaks freely and frankly upon the silver question. The letter was written without any supposition that any part of it would be given to the public, but the friend to whom it was written, who is an ardent silver man, himself, assumes the privilege for the sake of the good cause to make public a part of what the judge writes about silver. Judge Caldwell's utterances are bold, clear and unequivocal. The following is from the letter:

"The country is about entering upon another struggle for the protection of the rights and the promotion of the interests of the laborer and producer, which is, in my judgment, of even more moment than the first. I have been surprised that the issue has been so long delayed. The fight ought to have been forced years ago on the line of absolute and unqualified free coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, without regard to the action of England or any other foreign power. If we are subservient to England in our financial policy, why not in other matters? The financial policy of a nation determines its strength and prosperity and the nation which consents that another and competing nation may regulate its financial policy will find its producers impoverished and its industries destroyed, and the nation itself will soon be little more than a mere dependency of the power to which it surrendered the most vital function of government. If we are not capable and able to establish and maintain our own financial policy we ought to haul down 'Old Glory,' which you fought to gallantly uphold, and turn the government over to Queen Victoria, or ask Canada to annex us. The president has thrown down the gauntlet of battle. I trust the silver men in all parties will take it up. I am happy in the belief that platforms which mean anything or nothing on the silver question, will in the future go for nothing with the members of all parties. The people have been deluded and deceived until their eyes are open. There has sprung up among them hostility to such platforms, which the empty and perfidious hypocrisy of set phrases never fails in the end to inspire."

Certificate of Membership.

Commander VanDervoort has had designed and has now in press a beautiful Certificate of Membership in Legion of the People's party. It is suitable to frame and preserve always. It costs only $1, and any one taking five orders gets one free.

Special rates to newspapers, recruiting officers and Legion scouts. The only available plan to raise money for organization and 1896. Every true People's party man should send at once for one.

THE BUGLE CALL.

GET IN LINE AND LET THE WORLD KNOW IT.

Gen. Van Dervoort Calls for Volunteers Willing to Help and to Stand Up and Be Counted—Must Act Now—A Strong Appeal.

We have now ready a beautiful certificate of membership in the Legion and People's Party. It was designed by John W. Moakler, of the Executive Council, aided by his wife. It will decorate any parlor, adorn any home, and be a pride to everyone possessing it. Great trouble seems to be impending in the nation. The Attorney-General, Supreme Judges and newspapers predict it. One of these certificates may be of priceless value in a short time. At any rate it will show that you belong to the great army of patriots who are fighting the battle for humanity, and in years to come money could not buy one. Suppose the Peter Cooper veterans had such a testimonial. This certificate is engraved, has a beautiful figure on its face that typifies our platform, and shows the union of the west and south. It will have a silver seal, with Finance, Land and Transportation stamped on it, and we will give as a premium to all ordering early my book, Case for Bimetalism, a Legion button, address at Kansas City, with picture, and with first 100 Peffer's great report on agricultural depression. The premiums are worth the cost of the certificate, which is $1.00, to be sent in all cases in money, money orders, or express orders—no checks—and addressed to Paul Van-Dervoort, Station B, Omaha, Neb.

A liberal commission will be allowed recruiting officers, Legion scouts, and county, city and state committees can help make a campaign fund by handling them; also the press will find it profitable.

As soon as you see it you will have it, and to those who cannot afford it we say, go out and take five orders and we will send one free. Anyone can do that. We must have money for this work and for 1896. If the members of our party will use self-denial and take this certificate and canvass for it, we can raise it. The 10 cents entrance fee, 10 cents annual dues, and the income from this certificate should raise this money. It will if you want to win. You throw away on useless objects the money we need.

It is well known that I have given all my time and of my family without a dollar pay. We are out over $800 now and have a large printing bill which we must pay. We offer you more than your money's worth. All the proceeds will go into the work of organizing the People's Party and campaign work. Every human being that even sends one stamp to this office gets credit for it on our books, and we appeal to all to at once send in their orders. It is but little. Do without some luxury, or necessity, even, for one week and send for one.

If we win we must have money.

If I was not annoyed by debt, harassed and worried, I could do ten times better work. Quit contributing to other sources and combine all your energy and all the money you can spare in this effort. It is our only hope. If you can allow it to fail, we will be bankrupt in 1896, and be overwhelmed and the nation be destroyed. "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." Act now!

KEEP YOUR EYES OPEN.

The Old Parties Are Playing a Subtle Game Just Now.

Rapidly multiplying events demonstrate conclusively that the unscrupulous manipulators of the democratic and republican parties are doing everything in their power to stop the landslide now coming into the people's party, by sending out orators to advocate any fad, provided it draws the attention of the people away from the people's party, and the heroic battle it is making for the rights of mankind. The country was never so full of new-fangled schemes and plans of relief as now. Yet none of them charge those who have made the laws, with being responsible for their effects upon the people. Neither do they attack nor support any existing political party, or point to the ballot box as the place to remedy existing evils. Their acts demonstrate that the sole object these orators have in canvassing our towns and cities, is to persuade the people to look elsewhere for relief than to an intelligent and independent ballot. "Look to us and our scheme or plan, but stay in either of the old parties," is their motto. If these gentlemen, who wear good clothes, ride all over the country in Pullman cars, stop at the costliest hotels, and live on the fat of the land, yet never take up a collection, would explain to the people who pay all this expense, and why, they would, maybe, relieve themselves from being classed among the other tools of plutocracy. The people's party is set firmly on the Omaha demands, nothing more nor less. We warn our people everywhere to beware of these preachers of strange doctrines, however attractive they may dish them up. If any man is opposed to the "Omaha doctrine," let him take a back seat in our councils.—Southern Mercury.

Want It Back.

At one time when Andrew Jackson was president there was a surplus of $28,101,633 in the United States treasury. Instead of loaning this money to favorite bankers, without interest, as did Grover Cleveland, Jackson prorated it and returned it to the people of the states from whom it had been collected. Mississippi received of this money $382,335. Now that the treasury is empty and Rothschild is running the finances of this country, it is proposed to require the twenty-eight states sharing in the distribution to return this money to the general government. Nothing has been said as yet about requiring the banks, which still hold about $16,000,000 of the people's money which Cleveland turned over to them in 1887, to return this amount to the government treasury.—People's Messenger.

"For the party's sake" has got to be for Wall street's sake.

The bank aristocracy is bidding defiance to the government.

The Gunmaker of Ilion.

JEFFERSON M. CLOUGH REFUSES A TEMPTING OFFER FROM THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT.

His Health Was Too Poor to Admit Attention to Business.

(From the Springfield, Mass., Union.)

There isn't a gun manufacturer in the United States, who does not know Jefferson M. Clough, He has been intimately associated all his life with the development of the Remington and Winchester rifles. For years he was superintendent of the E. Remington & Sons' great factory at Ilion, N. Y. After leaving there he refused a tempting offer of the Chinese government to go to China to superintend their government factories,—and accepted instead the superintendency of the Winchester Arms Co., at New Haven, at a salary of $7,500 a year.

It was after this long term of active labor as a business man that he found himself incapacitated for further service by the embargo which rheumatism had laid upon him and resigned his position more than two years ago, and returned to Belchertown, Mass., where he now lives and owns the Phelps farm.

Being a man of means he did not spare the cost and was treated by leading physicians and by baths of celebrated springs without receiving any benefit worth notice. During the summer of 1893 and the winter of 1894 Mr. Clough was confined to his house in Belchertown, being unable to rise from his bed without assistance, and suffering continually with acute pains and with no taste or desire for food, nor was he able to obtain sufficient sleep.

Early in the year 1894 Mr. Clough heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. He began taking these pills about the first of March, 1894, and continued to do so until the first part of September following. The first effect noticed was a better appetite and he began to note more ability to help himself off the bed and to be better generally. Last August (1894) he was able to go alone to his summer residence and farm of 163 acres on Grenadier island, among the Thousand Islands, in the River St. Lawrence, where from the highest land of his farm he commands a view for thirteen miles down the river, and sixty of the Thousand Islands can be seen.

Instead of being confined to his bed Mr. Clough is now and has been for some time able to be about the farm to direct the men employed there and he is thankful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for him.

These pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine company, Schenectady, N. Y., and are sold only in boxes bearing the firm's trade mark and wrapper, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 and are never sold in bulk. They may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine company.

A Honeymoon in Italy.

A day or two after his marriage Barisoletti met his friend Gelsomini on the English promenade at Nice.

"What, you here?"

"Yes; I am on my wedding tour."

"And your wife?"

"She has staid at Milan to mind the house."—Il Carlino.

I'm All Unstrung

Is the remark of many a nervous individual. He or she will soon cease to talk that way after beginning and persisting in a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Nothing like it to renew strength and appetite and a good digestion. It checks the inroads of malaria, and remedies liver complaint, constipation, dyspepsia, rheumatism and kidney disorder. It is in every sense a great household remedy.

Heard at the Camera Exhibit.

He (an enthusiastic member of the club)—What is the difference between an amateur photographer and a professional one?

She (an artless visitor)—I never knew unless it is that amateurs always charge so much for their work.—Washington Capitol.

The Ladies.

The pleasant effect and perfect safety with which ladies may use the California liquid laxative, Syrup of Figs, under all conditions, makes it their favorite remedy. To get the true and genuine article, look for the name of the California Fig Syrup Co., printed near the bottom of the package.

He Was.

Jones—Are you serious in your attention to Miss Hulks?

Bones—Well, I guess so? Her father did me out of forty thousand on one Wall street deal last month; and I'll get that back if I have to marry the whole family.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."

Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

When a man gets too worthless for anything else, he is just worthless enough for a sentimental woman to make a hero of and marry.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

Next to a beau there is nothing a girl is prouder of bossing than a St. Bernard dog.

Coe's Cough Balsam

Is the oldest and best. It will break up a Cold quicker than anything else. It is always reliable. Try it.

We love the body for the soul's sake, but never the soul for the sake of the body.

S. K. COBURN, Mgr., Clarie Scott, writes: "I find Hall's Catarrh Cure a valuable remedy." Druggists sell it, 75c.

When the coachman marries his employer's daughter he is a groom. The daughter is foolish.

Every mother should always have at hand a bottle of Parker's Ginger Tonic. Nothing else so good for pain, weakness, colds and sleeplessness.

When you need a friend don't pick out the man whose dog never wants to follow him.

Now is the time to cure your Corns with Hindercorns. It takes them out perfectly, gives comfort to the feet. Ask your druggist for it. 15c

A Martyr to the Cause.

Miss Amateur—Are you musical, Prof. Bisten

Prof. Bisten—Yes; but if you are going to play anything, don't mind my feelings.—Sing Sing Courier.

Piso's Cure is a wonderful cough medicine.—Mrs. W. Pickert, Van Siclen and Blake avenues, Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 26, '94.

Crows have one virtue at least. They are devotedly attached to their caws.

Your Health Depends
Upon pure, rich, healthy blood. Therefore, see that your blood is made pure by Hood's
Sarsaparilla
The only true blood purifier prominently in the public eye today.
Hood's Pills act harmoniously with Hood's Sarsaparilla. 25c.

New Orleans' New Line of Steamers.

A new line of steamers between New Orleans and Colon, to connect there with the Panama railroad and the Pacific coast trade, has been started recently as an experiment, and will probably be continued as a permanent commercial route. The merchants of New Orleans are much interested in the project, for it promises to bring their city into closer communication with the trade of Ecuador, Peru, Chili and Bolivia than any other port in the United States, and it will establish the shortest water route to San Francisco, resulting in lower rates for freight and passenger traffic. The effect of this commerce upon New Orleans will be most beneficial, as it will open new business relations and will develop new opportunities for local investment and profit. Even if the steamers should not be found to pay large returns at first, it is proposed to continue them, for a time at least, by means of local encouragement in the hope that the commerce with the western coast cities will eventually bring adequate returns.—New York Post.

Abuse is one of the few things a man can get without earning or deserving it.

★ ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR ★ IMPERIAL GRANUM
IT IS
★ THE BEST ★
FOOD
FOR INVALIDS
★ JOHN CARLE & SONS, New York. ★

HIGHEST QUALITY OF ALL.
Columbia
Bicycles
THE STANDARD FOR ALL.....
HAVE you feasted your eyes upon the beauty and grace of the 1895 Columbias? Have you tested and compared them with all others? Only by such testing can you know how fully the Columbia justifies its proud title of the Standard for the World. And the price is but $100
POPE MFG. CO.
Hartford, Conn.
BRANCHES:
BOSTON
NEW YORK
CHICAGO
SAN FRANCISCO
PROVIDENCE
BUFFALO
An Art Catalogue of these famous wheels and of Hartfords, $80 $60, free at any Columbia Agency, or mailed for two 2-cent stamps.

Metal Wheels for your Wagons
Any size you want, 20 to 56 inches high. Tires 1 to 8 inches wide—hubs to fit any axle. Saves Cost many times in a season to have set of low wheels to fit your wagon for hauling grain, fodder, manure, hogs, &c. No resetting of tires. Catl'g free. Address Empire Mfg. Co., P. O. Box 33, Quincy Ill.

LINENE REVERSIBLE
The "LINENE" are the Best and Most Economical Collars and Cuffs worn; they are made of fine cloth, both sides finished alike, and, being reversible, one collar is equal to two of any other kind. They fit well, wear well and look well. A box of Ten Collars or Five Pairs of Cuffs for Twenty-Five Cents.
A Sample Collar and Pair of Cuffs by mail for Six Cents. Name style and size. Address
REVERSIBLE COLLAR COMPANY,
77 Franklin St., New York. 27 Kilby St., Boston.

DROPSY
TREATED FREE.
Positively Cured with Vegetable Remedies
Have cured thousands of cases. Cure cases pronounced hopeless by best physicians. From first dose symptoms disappear; in ten days at least two thirds all symptoms removed. Send for free book testimonials of miraculous cures. Ten days' treatment free by mail. If you order trial send 10c in stamps to pay postage. DR. H. H. GREEN & SONS, Atlanta, Ga. If you order trial return this advertisement to us.

LEWIS' 98 % LYE
POWDERED AND PERFUMED
(PATENTED)
The strongest and purest Lye made. Unlike other Lye it being a fine powder and packed in a can with removable lid, the contents are always ready for use. Will make the best perfumed Hard Soap in 20 minutes without boiling. It is the best for cleansing waste pipes, disinfecting sinks, closets, washing bottles, paints, trees, etc.
PENNA. SALT M'F'G CO.
Gen. Agents, Phila., Pa.

ALLEN'S IRON TONIC BITTERS
The most elegant Blood Purifier, Liver Invigorator, Tonic and Appetizer known. It builds up and fortifies the whole system, invigorates the liver, aids digestion and cures dyspepsia. The first Iron Tonic Bitters ever advertised in America. Get the genuine.
I. P. ALLEN, Druggist and Chemist,
ST. PAUL, MINN.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c, and $1.00 at Druggists

PAY FOR PLEASANT WORK easily secured through an early application for Local Agency to sell the DAVIS CREAM SEPARATORS to Farmers and Dairymen. One style was shown in last number of this journal. Another will soon be pictured out. Meanwhile, write for Handsome Illustrated Book Free. DAVIS & RANKIN BLDG. AND MFG. CO., Sole Manufacturers, 240 W. Lake St., Chicago

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D.C.
Successfully Prosecutes Claims.
Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau.
3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

Minn Hist Soc
MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

THE
St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XIV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, JULY 3, 1895. NUMBER 48.

PITH OF THE NEWS

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

The Latest and Most Important News of the World, Culled From the Telegraph Reports of the Press Associations.

Washington.

Secretary Carlisle and wife and Secretary Morton and Miss Morton have left Washington for Marion, Mass.

Attorney General Harmon has returned to Washington from a week's visit to Cincinnati, where he went to attend to some legal matters requiring his personal attention.

Postmaster General Wilson is about to inaugurate a system of espionage on the carriers and collectors in the large cities. Special inspectors will be sent out to follow letter carriers on their routes to detect loitering.

Admiral Ramsey has left the navy department for nearly a month's vacation in the Blue Ridge mountains. He will return in time to take charge of the navy when Secretary Herbert goes away for a long cruise on the Dolphin.

Personal Mention.

Miss Abigail Dodge continues to grow stronger, and will leave Washington within a day or two.

Mrs. Maybrick who is undergoing life imprisonment in England, is in a very weak state of health in Woking prison hospital.

The recently elevated thirteenth duke of Hamilton, though very young and handsome, with clean-shaven features suffers from paralysis of his legs.

Charles P. Libby, the well known packer, after a lingering illness, died in Chicago. He was the first man in Chicago to make the experiment of canning meats.

Mrs. Rebecca Browarsky of Toledo, a woman of Jewish parentage, but who was born in Detroit, was expelled from Russia, where she had gone to visit her father-in-law, because of her nationality.

The new German ambassador, Baron von Thielman, was presented to Secretary Olney by Baron von Kettler, who has been in charge of the German embassy since the departure of Baron Saurma Jeltsch from Washington.

Thomas Butler, an Englishman, does not believe "Chinese" Gordon was killed at Khartoum. He thinks the hero is a captive in the wilds of the Soudan. Butler was a companion of Gordon's in many of his stirring adventures.

George Young Tweed, youngest son of the famous boss, disappeared from the haunts that knew his father too well and turned up on a Massachusetts farm. The hereditary trait is not as strongely developed in young George as in the father.

L. W. Prettyman, aged sixty-seven, and father of H. G. Prettyman, who runs the student boarding house at Ann Arbor, Mich., familiarly known as "Prett's," died suddenly of heart disease. He was a prominent G. A. R. man.

The Hon. Emily Jane Mercer, dowager marchioness of Lansdowne, and in her own right Baroness Nairne, mother of the present marquis of Lansdowne, who was formerly governor general for Canada and later governor general of India, is dead.

Just as everybody expected, Mrs. Elliott F. Shepard has done the proper thing and sent to Boston the message: "Come home and all will be forgiven." Mr. and Mrs. David Hennen Morris have accepted the olive branch and will stay a few days at the Shepard mansion before they sail away to Europe on their honeymoon.

Unfortunate Events.

The Keystone pottery at Rochester, Pa., burned. The loss was about $50,000.

A fire at St. Mary's Ohio, destroyed the woolen mills and seven buildings. The loss will probably reach $100,000.

The sawmill and stored logs belonging to William Bockes, near Traverse City, Mich., burned.

The stone crusher and building of the Ivanhoe Limestone and Construction company at Iowa Falls, Ia., burned. Loss, $15,000; no insurance.

Mrs. Stewart and infant daughter, who lived on Sugar creek in the Chariton bottoms in Missouri, were drowned during the recent floods.

Harvey W. Noble and Frey Joslyn were drowned while fishing at Peoria lake, Peoria. Joslyn leaves a wife and five children.

A carload of dynamite exploded in the streets of the town of San Paulo, Brazil. Fifty persons were killed or wounded and many houses were destroyed.

Two thousand kegs of giant powder stored in Fisher's mills, at Krebb's Station, Pa., exploded. Windows for miles around were broken, but nobody was killed.

An electric car jumped the track at New Bedford, Mass., injuring thirty passengers, two of whom John Ryan of New Bedford, and Delia Reniveillard of Woonsocket, R. I., will die.

A young boy named Chapman, while running over some lumber piles at Burlington, Ia., fell over thirty feet to the ground alighting on his head and crushing it out of shape. He cannot live.

A frightened horse attached to a buggy threw Mrs. Mary Hoehn and her son Frank of Jeffersonville, Ind., into the street. Mrs. Hoehn's back was broken and her son received injuries that will prove fatal.

At a family reunion near Tilton, Iowa, fourteen persons were poisoned. Jacob Trout died, but the others will recover. The poison is supposed to have been in the water taken from an unused well. A dead bat was found in the well.

Criminal Doings.

Mary Montgomery, aged 23, of Sunny Hill, Ill., took poison and died. No cause known.

A big burglar bound and gaged Miss Mamie Fahr in a Brooklyn boarding house, took $4.

At a picnic at Pellyton, Ky., Thomas and James Crockett shot and killed Daniel Kidd.

An Italian convict in the Nebraska penitentiary, armed with a stilletto ran amuck, but was finally subdued with a loaded cane.

C. L. Moorehouse, one of the oldest newspaper workers in Iowa, committed suicide at Mount Pleasant with a razor.

Tye Nelson, 10 years old, who thought he had been cruelly treated by his father, committed suicide at Oden, Ark.

A colored man John Hull, of Urich, Mo., was found dead in a room at Kansas City. Indications are that he was murdered.

Parties arriving at Perry, Okla., from Ingalls, Okla., forty miles east, tell of a fight there during which several were shot or cut.

John Walters of Montgomery, Ala., became insane and sent his wife away so he could not harm her. She returned a few days later and found he had committed suicide by shooting.

Within the last three weeks a dozen incendiary fires have been discovered at San Francisco. Fire officials think there is an organization of firebugs in the city.

Harry Walker, conductor on the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad, shot himself through the heart at Salem, Mo. He left a letter to his wife saying he had nothing to live for.

A car on the consolidated tramway at Denver was held up by three robbers, who relieved the conductor of about $15. The passengers were unmolested.

At Atlanta, Ga., William G. Meyers, aged nineteen, who enticed Forest Crowley into the woods and murdered and robbed him last fall, was found guilty of murder in the first degree.

An attempt was made at Hazleton, Pa., to assassinate the family of Matteo Gerod by placing dynamite under the house, but the family escaped injury.

Mrs. Frank Holmes of Bloomington, Ill., whose husband was murdered by train robbers at Carlinville, is to receive from the Alton company, for which he was engineer, a cottage worth $1600 and $900 in cash.

Lillie and Laura Moore, daughters of a well-to-do farmer in the mountains of Rabun county, Ga., were shot and killed by their cousin, Seymour Keener. He had repeatedly threatened Lillie's life because she had rejected his love.

Anton Metzgar, a reputed anarchist of Allegheny, Pa., committed suicide by placing a bomb in his ear and touching it off. The whole side of his head was blown off. He was 81 years of age.

Henry A. Warren, a reporter who played insane in order to be able to get inside the state asylum at Highlands, Cal., and write it up, and who was adjudged guilty of contempt by Superior Judge Clark at Los Angeles, was sentenced to pay a fine of $200 or serve 100 days.

Foreign.

The Japanese are fortyfying the Liao Tung frontier.

The Cuban revolutionists are said to be about to send another expedition to the island.

Emperor William of Germany remained one hour on board the United States cruiser New York yesterday.

French Canadian conservatories at Ottawa, Ont., are said to be determined to force the fight in Manitoba.

The international railway congress opens in London with a speech by the prince of Wales.

There were five deaths from yellow fever in Havana last week, and ten new cases.

The Austrian steamer Thisbe is ashore on Sacramento shoal near Madras. The crew were saved.

Over a hundred houses have been destroyed by fire at Vishne Volotchok, Russia. Many of the inhabitants perished.

The insurgents under the command of Admiral Da Gama, in the Province of Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil, have been defeated by the government troops at Campos.

Three sailors of the American ship Tillie E. Starbuck deserted at Honolulu, stole President Dole's yacht and attempted to sail to Mexico. They grounded on a coral reef and were captured.

It is reported from the Isle de Coco, near Veraguas, in the department of Panama, Colombia, that an immense find of treasure has been made. It is said Spanish gold and silver coin to the value of more than $1,000,000 has been discovered.

General.

The revenue cutter William Windom has been launched at Dubuque.

The Standard Oil company is preparing to develop large tracts of oil land in Sequatchie county, Tenn.

At Jacksonville, Fla., Theodore Starbuck, aged twenty, developed hydrophobia from a cat bite inflicted two months ago.

The Logansport, Ind., street railway has gone into the hands of a receiver. The action was taken to secure a $3,500 judgment for Mrs. Katherine Dear for damages.

Police Justice Barney Martin, sitting in the Morrisania, N. Y., police court, reprimanded the policeman for using the word "collared" for "arrested."

James E. Cobb and Jay Goodwin of Alabama, who are contesting a congressional seat, met at Washington. In a quarrel which followed Goodwin tried to attack Cobb with a pair of shears.

John Gahan, an old and well known character, who had been taken to the county poorhouse at Quincy, Ill., was pushed from the second-story window by inmates at midnight and his neck was broken. He was dirty, disagreeable and quarrelsome, and dwellers at the poor farm combined against him.

The Dos Amigos and Eureka mines situated in the Morris district, Chihuahua and reputed to be among the largest gold mines in Mexico, have been sold by S. E. Harver and Capt. Alfred Williams to an English syndicate. The price is said to be about $250,000.

UNCLE SAM'S CASH.

THE NATIONAL LEDGER FOR THE PAST YEAR IS BALANCED.

The Treasury Deficit for the Fiscal Year Just Closed Will Be About $43,000,000—Comparisons With Last Year's Receipts and Expenditures.

Washington, July 2.—The treasury deficit for the fiscal year just closed will be found by the debt statement to be approximately $43,250,000. This, added to last year's deficit of nearly $70,000,000, makes the excess of expenditures over receipts since June 30, 1893, about $113,250,00. The total receipts of the government this fiscal year, exclusive of postal revenues, amount to nearly $313,000,000, and the expenditures $356,250,000, of which pensions took $141,391,623. Last year the aggregate receipts of the postal revenues were $297,722,019, and the expenditures $307,525,279. The receipts this year, therefore, were $15,287,000 greater than last, and the expenditures about $11,275,000 less. The postal service deficit is about $11,000,000, which is considerably in excess of that of any recent year.

The internal revenue debt of the government has contributed this year to the receipts nearly $143,000,000 as against a little more than $147,000,000 last year. The customs this year makes a better showing than last by about $21,000,000. Last year the receipts from this source amounted to nearly $132,000,000, and this year they approximate $153,000,000. Of this amount sugar contributed $17,350,000, the imports for the nine and a half months during which the 40 per cent ad valorem duty has been collected amounting to about 43,350,000 pounds, of which about 42,300,000 pounds was cane sugar, and the remainder beet.

The debt statement will show an available cash balance of about $195,000,000, of which about $107,500,000 is gold reserve. This reserve will include payment in full for the last bond issue, but the statement will show a counter debt charge of only $31,157,700 in bonds, or one-half of the whole amount issued. In explanation of this seeming error, it is said that the formal transfer of the London half of the bonds has not yet been made. The expenditures for July will be exceptionally heavy, pensions and interest alone are expected to amount to $20,000,000.

During the fiscal year the number of national banks in existence has decreased from 3,775 to 3,722. Forty-one national banks have been organized during the year; 60 have gone into voluntary liquidation and 36 have been placed in the hands of receivers. The national bank circulation has increased $4,337,791 from $207,353,244 on July 1, 1894, to $211,691,035 July 1, 1895. From July 18, 1894, to May 7, 1895, the nearest dates to the year obtainable, the loans and discounts of national banks have increased from $1,033,580,352 to $1,076,604,445, or about $43,000,000. During the same time individual deposits have increased from $1,677,801,200 to $1,690,961,299, or about $13,000,000. The lawful money reserve held by banks show a heavy increase from $346,105,757 to $438,931,970, or nearly $75,000,000.

MINNESOTA LOSSES IN WAR.

How the North Star State's Heroes Died.

St. Paul, July 2.—For the first time in the history of Minnesota a complete comparative list of the soldiers of the state who, during the civil war, were killed and died of wounds, as compared with those who died of disease, accidents, in prison, etc., together with the total number who died of all causes during the war, has been compiled. The work of making up the record was undertaken by Col. H. T. Bevans, assistant adjutant general. During the civil war 24,020 Minnesotans enlisted. They composed the First, Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh Minnesota regiments of infantry, the First, Second and Third batteries, the First heavy artillery, the First and Second and Brackett's and Hatch's cavalry. Of this number 2,539 lost their lives either on the battlefield, of disease, accidents or in prison. There are now about 8,000 members of the Grand Army of the Republic in Minnesota, while 12,000 of the brave men of the North Star State who fought in the civil war are not members of that order.

The United States Government Chemist, after an examination for the Indian Department, made the emphatic statement that "The Royal Baking Powder is the purest in quality and highest in strength of any baking powder of which I have knowledge."

ANGRY CATHOLICS.

They Mob and Nearly Kill Ex-Monk Leyden.

Winnipeg, July 2.—The ex-monk of Boston, Rev. Leyden, who is traveling through the Canadian Northwest exposing the alleged crimes of the Roman Catholic church, was assaulted by a mob at Fort William last night, and had a narrow escape from being killed. After the lecture a crowd of Catholics gathered and when Leyden attempted to leave the hall he was assaulted and forced to return to the building, where he was followed by some of the crowd. Here a battle was fought in which chairs played a conspicuous part. Some of the officers of the town who had been anticipating trouble interfered in the ex-priest's behalf. During the fight several men were seriously injured by being hit by a chair by Leyden, who was finally escorted out of the city by the police. At Rat Portage, where Leyden spoke previously, he was stoned.

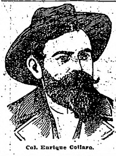
A Youthful Murderer.

Columbus, Ga., July 2.—Information just received from Harris county states that Thomas, a 11-year-old negro boy, had just killed his second victim. He was hired by his uncle, James Perthomas, to take care of a child about a year old while the father and mother were in the field working. Henry grew tired of acting as nurse and took his uncle's pistol and shot the child dead. He then laid it on the bed and fled to the woods and has not been seen since. This is the second child he has killed.

CUBAN FILIBUSTERS.

Col. Collazo Is Arranging for Another Expedition.

New York, July 2.—Col. Enrique Collazo, who came to New York last December to help in planning the present revolution in Cuba, is now arranging another expedition to go to that island from this country. Col. Collazo belongs to a well known family in Santiago, where he was born. He is forty-five years of age, was educated in a military academy in Spain, and had just left college with the grade of captain in 1868, when the last revolution broke out. Col. Collazo fought bravely during the ten years the revolution lasted, was for several years aide-de-camp of Gen. Gomez, and was commissioned a colonel. He is now in Tampa, Fla., ready to sail at the first opportunity.



Col. Enrique Collazo.

The official food analyses by the United States Government show the Royal to be a pure cream-of-tartar baking powder, the highest in strength, evolving 160.6 cubic inches of leavening gas per single ounce of powder. There were eight other brands of cream-of-tartar powders tested, and their average strength was less than 111 cubic inches of gas per ounce of powder.

ANOTHER HITCH.

Warden Sage Demands a Written Order to Electrocute Buchanan.

Sing Sing, N. Y., July 2.—"I do not propose to execute Dr. Buchanan until the attorney general gives me a written opinion as to the effect of the papers of appeal now in his hands at Albany."

Warden Sage was the speaker, and he was so angry that his voice trembled when he spoke to the group of reporters. At the door leading from the drawing room into the office the face of a woman, anxious and troubled, appeared, and as the warden made this emphatic statement she smiled and withdrew quickly. It was Mrs. Buchanan, and she had just left her husband. Warden Sage made the statement accredited to him after meeting his messenger, whom he had sent to Albany, at the train. Frank D. Burroughs, the messenger, who has been in Albany for two days with copies of the papers served on the warden and presented to the United States courts, returned with word that the atorney general's department at Albany declined to give an opinion in the matter, other than the verbal one that it would be all right to proceed. Warden Sage sent him right back to Albany to await a written decision.

MRS. NICKELLS.

A Minneapolis-North Dakota Case Recalled by a Property Quarrel.

Kansas City, July 2.—The contest of the heirs over the division of the $1,500,000 estate left by A. L. Mason is set for a hearing this afternoon before Judge Sleever. O. H. Dean and his wife who is a daughter of A. L. Mason, are the plaintiffs. One of the defendants is Mrs. Maud Nickells. She is the divorced wife of W. P. Graham and she married Clinton Nickells, who was divorced in North Dakota from his wife. The supreme court of North Dakota this week set aside the decree of divorce obtained by Nickells. The attorneys for Mrs. Anna Mason, it is said, will suggest to Judge Sleever that Mrs. Maud Graham is not mentioned as one of the defendants in the suit brought by Dean, and this will doubtless throw the suit out of court.

KEEP AWAY.

No Work for Outsiders on the Minneapolis Dam.

Lincoln, Neb., July 2.—Deputy Labor Commissioner Powers is in receipt of a communication from L. G. Powers, commissioner of labor of Minnesota, stating that conscienceless employment agencies throughout the country are sending men to Minneapolis to work on the Mississippi dam now in progress of construction. Mr. Powers says there are a great many more applications now on file for work than can be given employment. He also directs attention to the fact that the same agencies are sending men to Chicago to work on the canal near that city, which is a vain effort, as there are already on the ground 100 men for every job. The Minnesota labor commissioner invites co-operation of the Nebraska bureau in eradicating the evil of these fraudulent labor agencies.

Great Botanist Dead.

New Haven, July 2.—Prof. Daniel C. Eaton, of Yale university, one of the most eminent authorities on botany in this country and professor of that subject in the college, died to-day, after an illness of eight months. He was born in Fort Gratoit, Mich., Sept. 22, 1834.

Suicided in a Church.

Richmond, Va., July 2.—Miss Minnie Wilkinson, a young lady of high standing in social and religious circles, committed suicide last evening by shooting herself in the Second Presbyterian church, of which Dr. Moses D. Hoge is pastor. The act was committed in one of the parlors, not far from the auditorium in which services were being held at the time. Disappointment in a love affair in which E. B. Marquess, a nephew of Dr. Hoge's, is said to have been concerned, is given as the cause.

SHOTS FLEW FAST.

LIVELY BATTLE ON THE STREETS OF OKLAHOMA CITY.

Three Prisoners Break Jail After Assaulting the Jailer and Then Attempt to Secure Horses With Which to Make Their Escape

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 2.—As the result of a jail delivery here today two people are dead and several wounded more or less severely. When Jailor Garver entered the corridor of the jail at the usual time to lock the prisoners in their cells, Robert Christian, Vic Casey and William Christian made a savage onslaught on him with weapons which they had managed to secrete. He was struck a terrific blow over the right eye and knocked insensible. The prisoners dashed over his body and away to freedom, scattering the people on the crowded streets and keeping at bay their pursuers with a rapid discharge of revolvers, which in some manner they obtained. Vic Casey jumped into a passing vehicle containing a man and woman, and at the point of a pistol compelled them to jump out. Almost before they had time to obey his command Chief of Police Jones opened fire on the escaping prisoner, who promptly returned the fire. A perfect fusilade then took place between the two, Christian and Casey, and several officers. Casey and Officer Jones were instantly killed and another man was shot through the leg and a woman was slightly wounded by a spent bullet. One of the Christians then mounted an officer's horse, while the other compelled a citizen to get out of his buggy. They then fired a parting shot and drove away. A posse is after them and they will be lynched if caught.

Aberdeen's Next Grain Palace.

Aberdeen, S. D., July 2.—At a meeting of the directors of the Aberdeen grain palace it was determined to hold an exposition of the products of this portion of the state, commencing Oct. 1. The Aberdeen Coursing club will hold a meeting during the two weeks the palace is open. A live stock show will also be held in conjunction with the exposition. The grain palace of 1895 will be the truest exhibition ever held of South Dakota's natural resources.

Sentenced.

Aberdeen, S. D., July 2—W. E. Kidd, editor and publisher of the Aberdeen Star, a Populist newspaper, was sentenced by Judge Campbell, of the circuit court, to pay a fine of $10 or five days in jail for criminal libel on Gov. Sheldon. Kidd was found guilty by the jury some ten days ago, but for various reasons his sentence was postponed until to-day. The general impression seems to be that Kidd got a very light sentence.

New Express Law.

St. Paul, July 2.—Minnesota's new express law went into effect to-day. This law places all express companies doing business within the state under the jurisdiction of the state railroad and warehouse commission, being "an act to regulate express companies, declaring them to be common carriers and to make such companies subject to the laws of the state, regulating common carriers." This act was passed during the last legislature.

Another Victim.

St. Paul, July 2.—Herbert Hewitt, a railroad man aged thirty years, was killed in the Union depot yards at 6 o'clock last night. He was tending a switch at the foot of Broadway. A passenger train was just pulling out the depot and Hewitt stepped out the way onto another track. He did not see a second passenger train backing rapidly down the grade.

Actor Drowned.

Janesville, Wis., July 2.—Maurice Bradbury, whose home is 131 Peoria street, Chicago, while riding in a rowboat in Mayflower Park, three miles from here, was run down by a steamer and drowned. He was twenty-one years of age and a member of the theatrical company performing "The Maloney Wedding." His body was recovered.

An Uncomfortable Night.

West Superior, Wis., July 2.—A pleasure steamer, with 100 passengers on board stranded near the head of the St. Louis river yesterday afternoon, and the party, after an uncomfortable night, were released this morning and returned home.

Bulgarians Butchered.

Vienna, July 2.—A dispatch reached here from Dubnitzia, Bulgaria, which says that nine workmen who were returning from Macedonia, have been killed by Bashi Bazouks, who beheaded the men and left their bodies by the roadside.

Seals Change Hands.

Windsor, July 2.—The retiring cabinet ministers delivered their seals of office to the queen at Windsor castle to-day, and later her majesty presented the seals to the incoming ministers.

The unequalled strength of the Royal, as certified by the highest baking powder authorities, makes it the cheapest to use, even at a higher price than others.

Millionaire's Wife Indicted.

Chicago, July 2.—Mrs. Springer, the wife of Millionaire Warren Springer, was indicted to-day for an alleged attempt to bribe a juror in a damage suit in which her husband was interested. Mrs. Springer was indicted once before on the same charges, and to-day's action is supposed to have been taken to cover a technicality in the case.

Minister From Portugal.

New York, July 2.—Among the passengers on the steamer La Bourgogne, which arrived here to-day, was the minister from Portugal, A. De Seguria. He was accompanied by his wife and suite.

Insurgents Whipped.

Madrid, July 2.—The Spanish troops have defeated the insurgents at Guantanamo.

Huxley, the great biologist, died in London.

TRADE IS BOOMING.

The Turning of the Tide is Plainly Seen.

Chicago, July 2.—The Times-Herald prints dispatches from about a score of cities on the present condition of trade as compared with what it was a year ago. The general tenor of these indicate that trade is rapidly, healthfully and legitimately reviving.

"From New York to San Francisco," says the digest which leads the symposium of specials, "within the last eight weeks there has been an increase in business of at least 33 per cent, an advance of wages not less than 10 per cent." New York reports that within the thirty days ending with June the wages of 250,000 workingmen has been materially advanced, while the business done reached an unprecedented figure. One of the most favorable signs comes from Pennsylvania, where the men have been out of work so long. One dispatch states that 20,000 idle men in the Connelsville country alone have found work at fair wages. Of 768 window glass factories in the country 608 are now in operation, and the others will resume this month. From the South come glowing reports of business activity throughout, especially in the manufacturing districts. The introduction closes with the statement: "These detailed statements from all parts of the country mark the turning of the tide."

HORSES INCINERATED.

Sixteen Victims of a Fire of an Unknown Cause.

Minneapolis, July 2.—Serious loss of animal life attended a fire in the northern end of the city last evening, when the barn of John Dubay, 912 Twelfth avenue north, went up in smoke, as did also the contents, while sixteen horses perished in the flames. So quickly did the fire spread that it was found impossible to remove the animals, with the exception of three, which escaped with severe bruises. The neighing of the imprisoned beasts was painful to hear. They jumped around and rushed furiously against the sides of the stalls in frantic endeavors to escape from the heat and flames, but to no purpose, as no assistance could be given. A few minutes only elapsed before the falling of the building and the animals were crushed to death.

VICE PRESIDENTIAL POSSIBILITY.

H. C. Evans of Tennessee Visits Minnesota on His Return Home.

Minneapolis, July 2.—H. Clay Evans of Chattanooga is a guest at the West. Mr. Evans is talked of for the vice presidential nomination. He has made a splendid fight in Tennessee, and he has been prominent in national politics for years, so if any Southern man is to be placed on the ticket in '96 none stands a better show than Mr. Evans. It was freely talked at Cleveland that Mr. Evans could have the support of the gentlemen who went to Cleveland from Minnesota for his vice presidential boom. Without doubt Mr. Evans is making the Northern circuit to see how the boys feel when they get home.

In baking powders it is safer to use the Royal only, an article that many years' experience has proved most efficient, and which has been officially demonstrated pure and wholesome.

A PIONEER DIES.

S. D. Bell of Hampton Dies Suddenly at Red Rock.

St. Paul, July 2.—Steven D. Bell of Hampton, Minn., died quite suddenly at the Red Rock camp ground yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Mr. Bell has been suffering for some time with cancer of the stomach, and while his death was expected, yet it came suddenly at the last. For twenty-one years he has not missed attendance at camp meeting. He was born July 20, 1821, in the State of Vermont. Nearly fifty years ago he moved to Minnesota and settled in Hampton.

The Property Is Taxable.

St. Paul, July 2.—Attorney General Childs has written an opinion in answer to an inquiry from State Auditor Dunn as to whether or not the personal property of national building associations was taxable, and whether the real estate of the Norwegian Y. M. C. A. of Minneapolis was taxable. The attorney general holds that the personal property of national building associations is taxable, although the question may be more properly decided in the courts, and that the real estate of the Norwegian Y. M. C. A. is taxable.

Earthquake.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., July 2.—Some kind of a volcanic eruption has taken place on Batchewanna island, sixty miles west of here on the north shore of Lake Superior. Part of the bottom of the lake has been thrown up out of the water and the earth is transformed into a series of ridges. The most probable theory is that an earthquake has caused the phenomenon.

A Drink of Laudanum.

St. Paul, July 2.—Lavatha Langtry, alias Maggie King, a young colored woman living at 123 1-2 West Third street, drank an ounce of laudanum with supposed suicidal intent to-day. Prompt action on the part of the police saved her life. It is supposed that unrequited love led the girl to attempt her life.

First Fourth of July Accident.

St. Louis, July 2.—Joe Allis, the 15-year-old son of J. C. Allis, was instantly killed by the explosion of a huge rocket which fell in front of the house last night, and which he picked up. B. Moberly, a 15 year-old companion, was badly wounded. R. Blank, a private watchman, who fired the rocket, is under arrest, and will probably be prosecuted for manslaughter.

Wages Advanced.

Lewiston, Me., July 2.—Another of Lewiston's largest corporations have voluntarily increased the wages of its employes. This time it is the Lewiston Bleachery and Dye works, and the increase affects over 500 operatives. The increase will average 10 per cent.

Prisoner Punished.

Viroqua, Wis., July 2.—Andrew Engebretson was to-day sentenced to six years in state prison. He was found guilty of attempting to poison his whole family.

A Use for Abandoned Farms.

A new use has been found for abandoned farms. It is well known that in Scotland many of the largest landed proprietors depend largely upon the rental of their deer forests in the annual returns from their estates, and in England there are innumerable stretches of land which, at present agricultural prices, pay better to rent for shooting than farming. It is suggested that many abandoned farms in this country can, at comparatively slight expense, be made to yield a fair return by being turned into game preserves. Gunners have every year to go further and further from home in search of game, and the time must come, when the English plan of preserving game birds will have to be adopted, if there is to be any sport left in the country. Good, well-stocked shooting lands will then fetch high prices, and some wide-awake business men propose to be early in the field. The movement has been hitherto mainly confined to shooting and country clubs, which, having acquired runs of property, have prohibited the indiscriminate killing of game on their lands or of fish in their rivers by the public; but it is probable that such acquisition and preservation will soon form a distinct branch of private enterprise. To show its posibilities a Connecticut farmer has bought up a lot of abandoned farms and swamp and wood land, aggregating about 3,000 acres, and fenced it in. In this domain he intends to encourage the development of all kinds of game indigenous to that region—winged, finned or four-footed. He has one patch of twelve acres sown wholly to buckwheat, which will not be cut, but left for the "Bob Whites." These birds perish in great numbers in hard winters, as well as ruffled grouse, and plenty of brush will be left on the reservation for their protection and shelter.

The Gutta-Percha Supply.

Whatever electricity may eventually prove to be—and electricians still seem to be a long way from finding out—it has some qualities about which there is little doubt. One of these is its readiness to take short cuts, and "run to ground" at the slightest opportunity, instead of continuing along the conducting wire, and finishing the work intended for it. The greatest care has therefore to be taken in insulating wire; that is, covering it with some material which is a bad conductor of electricity and will prevent its escape. From a badly insulated wire the electricity will leak out just as surely as water will leak out of a pipe full of holes. As water is sometimes used under very high pressure, so electricity is now employed, especially for transmission over long distances, and with the consequent heavy strain comes the need for insulating material of the highest efficiency. Gutta-percha has been one of the insulating mainstays of the electric engineer, but disquieting rumors have been for some time prevalent as to the coming failure of the supply. Good news now comes from Sarawak. M. Hourant, a French cutch merchant in that city, has discovered that gutta-percha can be extracted from the dried leaves of the dried leaves of the gutta tree. The old native plan, which threatened to ruin the industry, was to cut down a tree to obtain the sap. A tree 30 years of age would give only one "catty" of pure dry gutta; the same quantity is now obtained from two pluckings of the leaves. These pluckings are said not to injure the tree, which goes on seeding and reproducing its species. The million of trees already cut down, and apparently destroyed by the native gutta hunters, which now come into service as their stumps have sprouted out much as an osier does, and although the shoots are too small to produce gutta their leaves are as good for the purpose as those of an adult tree.

The easy, safe and certain protection of our bread, biscuit and cake from all danger of unwholesomeness is in the use of the Royal Baking Powder only. This powder is mentioned because of the innumerable reports in its favor by high medical authorities, by the U. S. Government, and by the official chemists and Boards of Health, which leave no doubt as to its entire freedom from alum, lime and ammonia, its absolute purity and wholesomeness. While its use is thus a safeguard against the poisonous alum powders, it is satisfactory at the same time to know that owing to its greater strength it is more economical.

A Hydraulic Riveting Machine.

A powerful and unique hydraulic riveting plant has been made for an Alabama machine shop. It is said that in operating it three entirely unskilled persons can drive from eight to ten rivets per minute. The machine has riveted a boiler or tank 15 feet in diameter and 36 feet long, weighing many tons, as easily and accurately as it would the smallest boiler manufactured. It is worked from a pump and accumulator, which allows the use of water over and over again. The accumulator alone weight 20 tons, and the weight of the whole outfit is nearly 60 tons. It is supplied with a furnace, where a keg of 1,000 rivets is heated at once, and as fast as the rivets can be put in place the machine drives them, doing far better work than it is possible to do by hand. The machine can be utilized for many purposes, and especially in lifting heavy weights. It is claimed that it will raise a 16,000-pound boiler without the slightest strain on its lifting capacity.

A curious instance of the formation of snow was witnessed at Agen, France, on the night of January 30. A fire broke out in a saw mill when the temperature was ten degrees centigrade below the freezing point. The water thrown upon it instantly vaporized, and, rising into the cold, dry air, was immediately condensed and fell as snow. What with bright starlight and a strong northwest wind blowing, the whirling snow above and the raging fire below, a brilliant spectacle was presented.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arriv Crookston Daily
†St. Paul Minneapolis perior Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.05 a. m.	7:55 am
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	7.25 a m.	7:10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston ly has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or al information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. at Crookston [illegible]

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marsha

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for in or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON R. R. TRACT ST. HILAIRE

W. A. Sorsoleil

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE, Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers' price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS
COPYRIGHTS.

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free.

Building Edition, monthly, $2.50 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY.

BREVITIES.

Go to Johnson & Marshall's for lime cement, etc.

Ed Jeffers of Gervias was in town on business last Monday.

Miss Dye is visiting friends at Thief River Falls this week.

Sash and doors cheap for cash at Johnson & Marshall's.

Ed Moran, of Thief River Falls was in town on business last Monday,

Erick Kling of Red Lake Falls was in town on business last Thursday,

Mr. Mrs, Carl H Olsen visited friends at Thief River Falls last Saturday.

B. E. Burkee made a short business trip to Crookston last Wednesday,

G, C, Rapp left last Monday for Maple Lake where he will spend the 4th.

George Wycle, of St. Paul has been buying cattle in this vicinity the past week.

Joe Paradis of Red Lake Falls was in town taking in the ball game last Sunday.

W. A. Sorsoleil and family drove over to Maple Lake to day to spend the 4th.

S. M. Dainard and Mrs. W. A. Arthur drove down to Crookston last evening.

The crib work on the dam is all completd and work was commenced on the apron to-day.

Mr. Bassett of Wyandotte, left last Friday for Duluth where he will reside in the future.

Chas. Meade of Red Lake Falls was in town last Wednesday on his way to Thief River Falls.

Editor Ware of the Thief River Falls Press was in town last Sunday taking in the ball game.

J, W. Swanstrom of Thief River Falls was in town last Wednesday on his way to Crookston,

For Sale
Hay Stumpage on NW ¼ Sec 2 Tp, 152—44 Address,
P, S. Ware Thief Liver Fills.

J. E. Morrissey, the genial representative of the Crookston Foundry, was in town last Monday trying to arrange a shoot in the near future with our gun club,

Dan, Patterson and family started last Monday for Maple Lake. They took with them a fine sail boat and a tent and will spend the week there fishing sailing and enjoying themselves generally.

Erick Bjerk, of Holt P. O. Marshall Co., was in town a short time last Thursday, Mr. Bjerk informs us that they had a severe hail strom in his section last week completely demolishing the crops.

The crew of the Happy Six returned last Friday. They did not reach Winnipeg as they intended owing to the fact that some of the members of the party could not remain any longer, They report a pleasant outing.

A large number of people from our neighboring villages gathered here last Sunday to witness the game of ball between the Thief River and Red Lake Falls nines. As usual the Thief River nine were easy winners the score being 24 to 41 in their favor.

From the best obtainable information it appears that the hay crop throughout Ilinois, Michigan, Indiana Wisconsin and parts of Iowa and Missouri is a very limited one, This condition not only cuts off the supply from Northern Wisconsin and Minnesota but will create a limited demand for hay in some parts of the section named, The conditions are exceedingly good for the farmers in Minnesota and North Dakota to pull up a large amount of wild hay to ship and sell. One of the difficulties in the past with hay made in some sections has been that it has not been put up until late in the season consequently lacking the fair merchantable quality that is essential to profit. If farmers will put up hay in good order in July before it grows too rank and the good qualities have been destroyed by the toughening process incident to full maturity, there promises to be a good market for all the hay they will have to sell.

A party consisting of Rev. G. N. Keniston and wife of Thief River Falls, Mr, E. F, Gistie and wife of St. Hilaire Miss Mary Kyle, of Crookston and Miss Harriet Felton of Minneapolis, and known to fame as the "Happy Six," arrived at St. Vincent on Wednesday and made a pleasant call at the Era office, They report a most delightful trip by boat down Red Lake and Red river, Their boat was built expressly for the trip and accomodates the party with board and beds without leaving the craft, The ladies looked perfectly lovely, and the gentlemen appeared as if they would be delighted to spend several eternities in just such an outing —St. Vincent New Era,

The supreme court of the United States has decided that a man does not have to run away when he is threatened, especially if he is on his own premises. The decision was made in the case of a resident of the Indian territory named Bird, A neighbor, with whom he had had a quarrel, came to his house and made threatening demonstrations with his hand in his hip pocket, whereupon Bird shot him. In the trial court the judge instructed the jury that before shooting Beard should have made every effort to get out of his enemie's way, so as to avoid trouble, and he was convicted of murder. The decision was reversed in the supreme court,

Mrs. J. P. Kennedy, of Fergus Falls, daughter of Mike Jeffers, the victim of the unfortunate drowning at Red Lake Falls, passed through this morning en route to that place. Mrs. Kennedy says that she had a destinct presentment of the sad fatality of Sunday last, in a dream in which she destinctly saw the telegram notifying her of her father's death, During the past few months the family has been sorely afflicted by accident and death. A brother and sister have each lost a child, her sister is now upon crutches as the result of a dislocated knee, one brother broke a leg in January last. In May Mr. Jeffers dislocated a shoulder by being thrown from a wagon by a runaway team and Mrs. Jeffers fell down cellar and broke her wrist, a short time since The dreadful fate of Mr, Jeffers comes as a terrible ending to a long list of casualties.—Crookston Times.

The committees having in charge the arrangments for celebrating the 4th have been hard at work an the result will be a celebration that will be a credit to the village. Arrangments have been made for all kinds of amusements races etc, and good purses will be put up There will be a match game of base ball, a shoot by the gun club, a grand calethumpian parade and numerous other amusments. Good speakes have been engaged to deliver oration suitable to the day. In the afternoon the bowery will be opened and the dancing will commence, A good string band and good cal'ers have been engaged and a large platform has been erected to accomodate those who wish to trip the light fantastic. The program will be closed by a grand display of fire works in the evening. Remember this is all free and no one will be asked to chip in and help pay for the celebrations, Come one and all and enjoy yourselves in good old style.

Special meeting of the village council Wednesday June 26th A. D, 1892.

All members present except Hoff.

Meeting called to order by President Dainard

Minutes of last meeting read and approved.,

On motion the bridge and dam proposition of H. E. Ives was accepted.

On motion the bond of H. E. Ives signed by C. G, Rapp and B, M. Hoff was accepted.

On motion the village recorder was instructed to issue an order on the village treasurer for the sum of $2,500 in favor of H. E. Ives.

On motion meeting adjourned.

S, M, Dainard
Village President.
Attest J, L, Johnson
Recorder.

Special meeting of the village council Saturday, June 29th 1895.

All members present.

Meeting called to order by President Dainard.

On motion P, G, Paradis was granted a license to sell intoxicating liquors for one year after he has deposited the sum of $250 to the treasurer of school district no. 102 and $250 to the treasurer of the village of St. Hilaire,

On motion M. E. Bjerk was granted a license to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of one year after he has deposited the sum of $250 to the treasurer of school district no, 102 and $250 to the village treasurer of the village of St. Hilaire,

On motion D. Patterson was granted a dray license for one year after paying the sum of $10 to the treasurer of said village.

On motion meeting adjourned,
S, M. Dainard J, L. Johnson
President Recorder,

Stone Wanted
$4.00 per cord paid for stone delivered at the St. Hilaire dam,

4th of July
Grand
Celebration
AT
ST. HILAIRE.
$200
given away
in prizes!

FREE DANCE IN THE EVENING.

Come one and all and have a good time.

A Chance For A Fine Trip.

The annual meeting of the National Educational Association occurs July 9th to 12th, 1895, at Denver Colo. A fine trip has been provided by the Great Northern Railway for persons who wish to attend it. The route is from St. Paul and Minneapolis through the Minnesota Park Region and Red River Valley, by Devils Lake, Great Falls, with its wonderful water power, industries and scenery, Helena, capital of Montana, with its hot springs, Butte America's famous mining city and then by way of Ogden and Salt Lake to Denver and return via Omaha or Sioux City. Tickets on sale June 10th 17th. and 24th good 30 days with stop off privileges going. Tickets are sold July 4th 5th and 6th direct to Denver via Sioux City and return by Salt Lake Ogden, Butte, Helena and Great Falls. Regular summer Montana and Pacific Coast Excursion rates are now in effect and round trip tickets can be bought any day. For further information see H. J. Freeman, agent or address F. I. Whitney, G, P, & T, A, St. Paul Minn

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred and eighty seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary Richard and Charles Richard her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 20th day of November 1889, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 9th day of December 1889 at 1 o'clock p. m., in book 43 of mortgages, on page 15?, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz:

The North west quarter of Section thirty two in Township one hundred and fifty one of Range forty three in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 17 h day of August 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law

Dated June 17th A. D 1895.
Security Trust Co., Of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.
R. J. Montague, Crookston Minn attorney.

Our National Holiday,

On July 3rd and 4th the Great Northern Railway will sell round trip tickets at reduced rates to any point within 300 miles of the station where ticket is bought good to return on the 5th For further information see company's agent,

Meeting of the Board of Equalization Monday June 24th 1895, All members present,

Meeting called to order by President Dainard, and the following business transacted,

S. M. Hoff was assessed $200, for his threshing machine and engine. Leonard Holmes was raised $75. on household goods. P, S, Stranahan was assessed $100 for feed mill and engine. J. C. Dahl was raised $100 on household furniture.

On motion meeting adjourned,
S. M. Dainard J. L. Johnson,
President Recorder,

Notice of Sale

I will offer for sale at public auction on Saturday July 13th 1895 at James Madden's farm in Section 21 Tp 152 R 41. One bay mare about six years old which was taken up astray May 15th
Tom Madden

Fourth of July Excursions.

To accomodate those who wish to enjoy a trip on our National Holiday the Great Northern Railway will sell round trip tickets at reduced rates to any point within 300 miles of station where ticket is bought, Tickets sold on July 3rd and 4th, good to return on the 5th.

Dr H. GRUNDY
Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario,

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis
DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS
AND CIGARS.
Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.
Broadway St. Hilaire

City Dray Line
AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery Rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY.

The NEW and the RIGHT WAY
EAST and WEST
TO ALL PACIFIC COAST POINTS AND TRANSPACIFIC PORTS.

TIME CARD.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily.		Daily
NO. 3 North and West		NO 2 South and East
7 45 p m Depart	St. Paul	Arrives 7 15 am
8 15 p m "	Minneapolis	6 45 am
3 05 a m	Barnesville	11 15 am
5 35 am Ar	Crookston	De 8 25 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH
MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

9 00 am De	Crookston	Ar 6 00 pm
11 00 am Ar	St. Hilaire	De 4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.00 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1 20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm Close connections made at Minneapolis and St. Paul for all points East and South.

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points,

F. I. WHITNEY, G. P. & T. A. St. Paul
H. J. FREEMAN Agt. St. Hilaire

LANDS

Fertile, sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from

$2.00 to $6.00
PER ACRE.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 23	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5,00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5,50
4 " " 2	4.50 to 6.0
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.50
2 " 27	5.50
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4,75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	2.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE OE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4,50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 4.70
NE of SE 19.	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.00 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 5.00
5 " 34	3, 0 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.90 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6. 0
3 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	5.00 to 6.00

I will sell the hay on the above described lands for the season of 1895 at reasonable prices. All persons are hereby warned not to cut hay on any of these lands with out first making contract for same, For further information apply to.

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

Impetuous People

are sometimes figuratively spoken of as not above setting things on fire just for the fun of

Seeing Them Burn

Close competition breeds impetuosity, and in our earnest pushing for trade it often happens that we mark goods away down just for the fun of

Seeing Them Sell

Somebody has exclaimed: "Oh, the impetuosity of the idiocy of the tumultuous idiot!" This remark will never apply to you if in your rush for bargains you get into the right store, which of course is ours.

E. M. HOFF
DEALER IN
General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!
Great Bargain Sale of
FARM MACHINERY
AT
J. E. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mowe at $10 each and a full line of walking an breaking plow which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise.

PTERODACTYL

We print a likeness of the skeleton of this remarkable paleontological reptile because some of its physical characteristics are synonymous with our business methods. Perhaps the most striking similarity may be found in its

Little Finger and our Big Bargains

Its little finger is very large: and so are our bargains. The paradox of a little finger being big may be likened to the paradoxical inducements we offer you.

Profits and Hind Feet Small

Its hind feet are out of all proportion to its fore feet, just as our profit is overshadowed by the buyer's. Its large head represents the size of our stock. The many years that have elapsed since the time when this creature flourished will hint at the wearing quality of our goods.

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. E. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

Advance. $1.50.

Not In Advance. $2.00 Per Year

[illegible] as Second-Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY July 3 1895

A WEARY WOMAN'S REQUEST.

I never wanted the earth,
I never have cried for the moon,
Not an orb of celestial birth
Have I craved as a special boon,
But wishes and thoughts that aspire
Will reach out in time to the stars,
And now I've an ardent desire
For one
Of the two little moons of Mars.

Deimos, the smaller, will do—
In fact, all my cry is for him—
For Phobos is such a Jehu,
With so much of carvet and vim,
With plunges so sudden and swift
From daylight to dark. Oh, my stars!
Yes, yes, I will take as my gift
The least
Of the two little moons of Mars.

I have fitted it up in my mind,
With many a cunning device,
With warm sheltered nooks, just the kind
That world weary workers entice,
And neither a gong nor a bell
Nor whistle nor jangle of cars
Shall break through the languorous spell
Of the least
Of the two little moons of Mars.

No pedagogue, prophet or priest,
Reformer, saint, sinner or sage
Shall work on our mind in the least
With problems and thoughts of the age,
And nothing of labor or trade
That burdens or worries or jars
Shall dare with its discord invade
The least
Of the two little moons of Mars.

Now, when the time comes that we fly
From earth with its good and its ill
And in the broad regions of sky
Go coasting about as we will,
As I have been modest and meek
And asked neither planets nor stars,
Break not my seclusion nor seek
The least
Of the two little moons of Mars.
—Laura Garland Carr in Boston Transcript

Alloys of Aluminium.

After numerous experiments upon alloys of aluminium it has been found, as reported in Dingler's Polytechnic Journal, that one composed of from 92 to 96 per cent of the latter metal and 4 to 8 per cent of nickel is particularly valuable, since it possesses greater hardness than the pure metal without being brittle. It is found to be well adapted to the manufacture of small articles of jewelry, etc. These alloys of aluminium, copper and nickel are remarkable for their beautiful color, the ease with which they may be polished and their excellent degree of hardness, and in order to restore their metallic aspect it suffices to simply immerse them for a few seconds in a 10 per cent solution of caustic soda, wash them and then immerse them in a mixture composed of three parts of nitric acid and two of sulphuric. A solder for use with aluminium or aluminium alloys is also proposed—viz: by mixing silver, nickel, aluminium, tin and zinc in the following proportions: Two per cent silver, 5 per cent nickel, 9 per cent aluminium, 34 per cent tin and 50 per cent zinc. No flux is necessary, and an ordinary soldering iron or tool can be used.

How Mr. Vaux Paid His Bills.

Among the eccentricities of the late Richard Vaux was his strong aversion for the use of bankbooks or checks. The famous ex-mayor had a bank account of course. In fact, he had several of them, but he never drew upon them in the regular way through the medium of checks. Whenever any one came to him with a bill, Mr. Vaux would pay it in a very unique way. The back of an old envelope or a fragment of paper of any kind or size would serve for a check, and upon this he would scribble the amount of the bill, the name of the creditor and his own characteristic signature. He very frequently used a strip from the margin of a newspaper. The tellers at the banks all knew of Mr. Vaux's strange custom, and none of Mr. Vaux's homemade checks was ever turned down.—Philadelphia Record.

The True Gentleman.

By a gentleman we mean not to draw a line that would be invidious between high and low rank and subordination, riches and poverty. The distinction is in the mind. Whoever is open, loyal and true; whoever is of humane and affable demeanor; whoever is honorable to himself and in judgment to others and requires no law but his word to make him fulfill an engagement—such a man is a gentleman, and such a man may be found among the tillers of the earth.—Philadelphia Press.

In the reign of James II some English adventurers fitted out a vessel to search for and weigh up the cargo of a Spanish ship which had been lost on the coast of South America. They succeeded and brought home $1,500,000 which had been at the bottom of the sea 44 years.

The Indians called the Delaware river Marisqueton, Makeriskitton, Lenape-wihittuck, Cook-quago and several other names of doubtful significance.

Cascarilla is the dry bark of a tree which grows wild as well as under cultivation in many parts of the West Indies and the Bahamas.

Adversity is a severe instructor set over us by one who knows us better than we do ourselves, as he loves us better too.—Burke.

According to an old superstition of the mediæval church, whenever a cock crows a lie is being told.

In Chaucer's time a woman's gown was called her cote.

U.S Land Office
Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver. U.S Land Office at Crookston Minn on June 6 1895 viz:

Simon E. Ahlberg of St Hilaire Minn. Hd no. 12679 for the S ½ NE ¼ and Lots 1 and 2 Sec. 1 Twp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land, viz:

Carl Sundal, Anton Sundal Gilbert Aaflinson, Tollef Erickson, all of St. Hilaire Polk county Minn.

T. A. Dunlava, Register

SHOULDER STRAPS STOPPED HIM.

A Story of Lieutenant Guy Preston's Heroism at Standing Rock.

"Do you know Lieutenant Guy Preston?" asked an army officer stopping at the Windsor. "No? Well, he's a good fellow. You want to cultivate him if he ever strays this far away from his station at Fort Robinson.

"I know a fairly good story about him, if you care to have it.

"He was one of the younger class of second lieutenants that came into the northwest just before the Indian troubles which culminated in the fight at Wounded Knee. Preston had been assigned to duty in the Ninth cavalry, the 'black regiment,' you know, and those negro soldiers had a pretty strong doubt about his heroic qualities.

"But he gathered his men, according to orders, when the hostiles were rounded up there at Standing Rock and held one side of the square which inclosed the warlike and dangerous band of savages. The Indians had come out of their tents with their blankets around them, and their leaders declared that they were unarmed, and that they wanted to 'talk.' The negro cavalrymen, dismounted and 'resting at will,' were inclined to wander about rather more than was agreeable to Preston's tidy West Point ideas, and he hauled them back in line. They looked at his jaunty uniform and almost wished they might see him in real trouble, just for the pleasure of testing him.

"Well, the Indians got to the middle of the horseshoelike inclosure of troops, and then at a given signal by their chiefs they threw off their blankets, and each one was seen armed with a rifle, hatchet and scalping knife. They fired point blank at close range and with deadly effect at the soldiers. Of course you know the story of the battle. That is a tale that is told.

"The attack was so sudden and so unexpected that the soldiers were thrown into confusion, and they turned and ran to cover. It was the worst possible thing, but the first thing that suggested itself to the imperiled men.

"Only Lieutenant Guy Preston, the youthful West Pointer, looking around at that savage band of murderers, caught sight of the gold bars on his shoulder straps—the insignia of a rank in the army of the nation. And the thought came, 'I can't run away carrying that.' And he halted, turned, called back his men and formed the first line which repulsed the Indians and finally conquered them.

"Maybe it isn't as much of a story as it seemed at the beginning, and yet I have always thought it was well illustrative of the view an army officer must take of his position. He cannot carry the proofs of that position, the evidences of a trust reposed in him by his country—he cannot carry that insignia to dishonor."—New York Herald.

Sharp Witted Cat.

A correspondent of the London Spectator reports a clever trick of a black Persian cat of the name of Prin. One of his peculiarities is a disrelish of meats unless they are roasted. The cook undertook to break him of this foolish whim. In short, she determined to starve it out of him.

She set before him a saucer of boiled meat. Prin turned away from it in disgust. "Very well," said the cook. "It is that or nothing."

For three days the cat went hungry, the boiled meat remaining untouched. But on the fourth morning the cook found the saucer empty.

"Ah, Prin," she said, "so you have come to your meat."

That day the cat fared sumptuously on roast beef with plenty of gravy. But on Saturday, when the potboard under the dresser was cleaned, the cook found in one of the stewpans the boiled meat which had remained three days in Prin's saucer. The cat had been too sharp for her.

"I know this story to be true," concludes the correspondent.

Love.

Love, like faith, is reasonable, yet it is not attained by a process of reasoning. Love is consistent with reason, but reason is not its basis. A mother's love for her child is reasonable, yet a mother does not wait to argue herself into a conviction that it is right for her to love that child before she gives it her love. The highest human love is prompted by the truest instincts of the soul and not by the logic of the cold intellect. Love of God, like love for a human dear one, is prompted by the inner nature of man, and while it is most reasonable it is not a result of reasoning. God is love, and man formed in God's likeness is capable of loving apart from the demands of logic.—Selected.

Go Slow.

My son, you should not be hasty and call a man a liar simply because he never indulges in the truth, but basks continually in the sunshine of mendacity. It is just possible that he may be a statesman.—Boston Transcript.

MORTGAGE SALE

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of nine hundred and thirty-two dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Ole P. Stokke and Tehle Stokke his wife mortgagors, to Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 3rd day of August 1889, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk, and state of Minnesota, on the 7th day of August 1889, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in Book 43 of mortgages on page 54 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premise described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty in Township one hundred and forty-nine of Range forty-seven in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 8th day of June 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption, at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated April 5th A. D 1895.
Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee
J. Montague, attorney. Crookston Minn

U. S. LAND OFFICE
Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the register or receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on July 2 1895, viz:

Carl Wik of St. Hilaire Minn. H D no 13344 for the SE ¼ Sec 35 Twp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz;

Hakon Johnson, Frank Satterberg, Jonas Fongstrom, Peter Anderson all of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of five hundred and eighty-seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary A. Holovik and Hans M. Holovik her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee, bearing date the 17th day of December 1890 and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 19th day of December 1890, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in book 50 of mortgages, on page 112. Which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned by said Security Trust Co. of Nashua N. H. mortgagee to Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper by written assignment dated on the 7th day of January 1891 and recorded in the office of the Register of deeds on the 24th day of January 1891 at 8:40 o'clock a. m. in Book 56 of mortgages, on page 83 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The north west quarter of Section 18 in Township One hundred and Forty-seven in Range Forty-five in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston in said County and State, on the 8th day of June 1895 at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 1st A. D. 1895.
Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper
Assignee of mortgagee.
R. J. Montague, attorney, Crookston Minn.

ORDINANCE NO. XII,
Concerning Dogs.

The Village Council of the Village of St. Hilaire do ordain as follows:

Sec. I. That any dog bitch or slut or any animal of the dog kind owned or being in the possession of any resident of or any person in the village of St. Hilaire shall be registered by such person or resident with the village recorder on the 1st day of July of each year and shall at the same time pay to said recorder for the use of said village a tax of Two [$2.00] Dollars for each dog and Five [$5.00] Dollars for each bitch or slut so owned and possessed by such resident or person. Every owner or possessor of any dog bitch or slut or any animal of the dog kind shall procure from the village recorder a certificate which shall state plainly therein the number and date of such license, the name of such owner or possessor, and the name of such dog, bitch or slut so licensed, and shall pay the village recorder for the use of said village the sum of ten cents for each certificate. The village recorder shall at the commensement of each municipal year provide a tag for every dog, bitch or slut licensed during his term of office said tag to have a distinguishable difference from those used in previous years.

Sec. 2. No person shall suffer his or her dog, bitch, slut or whelp to run at large within the limits of said village unless such animal wears a collar with the tag number and name destinctly engraved stamped or written thereon.

Sec. 3. It shall be lawful for the village dog inspector to kill or destroy any dog, whelp, bitch or slut found running at large within the limits of this village contrary to the provisions of this ordinance.

Sec. 4. No person shall suffer to be allowed to run at large in said village or streets thereof any dog bitch slut or whelp of a ferocious character, habit or disposition nor in the habit of barking at or in any manner annoying any person passing along or using the street or streets of said village and the village dog inspector is hereby empowered to kill or cause to be killed any such animal if found on the street or at large in said village.

Sec. 5. The dog inspector shall proceed under instructions from the president to capture and slaughter all dogs not properly licensed and collared and all dogs so slaughtered he shall bury or cause to be buried for which service he shall receive one ($1.00) dollar for each dog so slaughtered and buried upon presentation of his bill to the village council for approval, the sum to be paid out of the general village fund. The dog inspector shall receive no payment for services or expenses other than herein provided.

Sec. 6 Any person violating any of the provisions of the foregoing sections of this ordinance on conviction thereof before the justice of the peace in and for the village of St. Hilaire Minn. shall be fined in a sum not less than fifteen [$15.00] dollars and cost of prosecution and may be imprisoned not exceeding twenty [20] days in the county jail until such fine is paid.

Sec. 7. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Passed by the Village Council of the Village of St. Hilaire Minn. this 3rd day of June A. D 1895

S. M. Dainard
Pres. of Vill. Council

Attest
J. L. Johnson,
Village Recorder.

SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

—DEALERS IN—

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath, Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always on hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

E. T. SPAFFORd & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE HIGHEST MARKET PRICES FOR All kinds of CATTLE, Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD. Manager.

THE ST. HILAIRE TOWNSITE COMPANY

Will sell for the next

60 days

DESIRABLE RESIDENCE LOTS

From $25 to $100.

ALSO FIRST CLASS BUSINESS PROPERTY AT HARD PAN PRICES.

Apply to

H. E. IVES Agt.

ST. HILAIRE MINN.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

Barbershop in connection

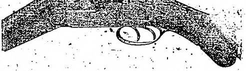
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200

BARRELS, 5 0.



This cut represents Quality No. 1 — List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING. MATTED RIBS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point.

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsmen that we have not only improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not, and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money, but THE BEST G[illegible]

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers — — ITHACA, N.

FRED. EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

Heavy and Shelf HARDWARE

HEADQUARTERS FOR

HUNTER' SUPPLIES

MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS

BINDING TWINE

P[illegible] 9 cents a pound.

NEW GOODS PRICES

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

AMERICAN HOTEL

W. A. ARTHUR Proprietor.

NEWLY FURNISHED

STRICTLY FIRST CLASS

Special attention given to traveling men, Hunting, Fishing and Excursion parties.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.
DR.
PRICE'S
CREAM
BAKING
POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

The Point of Touch.

Mrs. McSwatters—And what did the doctor say?

The Invalid—He didn't say anything. He just touched me.

Mrs. McSwatters—Your pulse?

The Invalid—No; my pocketbook.—Syracuse Post.

A Pressing Creditor.

Official Receiver (at a meeting of creditors)—What have you come here for?

Professional Beggar—To put in my claim. Herr Meyerstein used to give me sixpence every week.—Eulenspiegel.

The Trust After No-To-Bac.

Chicago Special.—Reported here today that a large sum of money had been offered for the famous tobacco habit cure called No-To-Bac by a syndicate who want to take it off the market. Inquiry at the general offices revealed the fact that No-To-Bac was not for sale to the trust at any price. No-To-Bac's success is marvelous. Almost every Druggist in America sells No-To-Bac under guarantee to cure tobacco habit or refund money.

Making the Best of It.

Mr. Bronston—Where is the dessert, my dear?

Mrs. Bronston—The pastry cook has left. You'll have to be satisfied with kisses for dessert to-day.

Mr. Bronston—All right. Bring on your French maid.—New York Weekly.

She—Tell me, when you were in the army, were you cool in the hour of danger?

He—Cool? I actually shivered.—Tit-Bits.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

You will ride a Bicycle

Of course you will ride. All the world will—fashion, pleasure, business—men, women, children. It takes a while sometimes for the world to recognize its privileges; but when it does it adapts itself promptly. Therefore, you who are in the world will ride a bicycle—a bicycle if you desire the best the world produces; a Hartford, the next best, if anything short of a Columbia will content you.

COLUMBIA

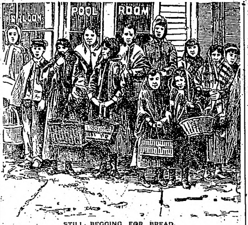
Columbias, $100; Hartfords, $80 $60; for boys and girls, $50.

POPE MFG. CO., Hartford, Conn.
Boston, New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Providence, Buffalo.

A Catalogue—comprehensive, beautiful—at any agency free, or by mail for two 2-cent stamps. The book tells of all the new Columbias and Hartfords

LAND
—IN—
MINNESOTA
Along the line of the Saint Paul and Duluth Railroad. Fertile Soil; Pure Water; Plenty of Timber; Good Markets.
Over 2,000 New Farms
Opened up last year.
The Best Place in America
for a Poor Man.
LAND ONLY $5.00 per Acre,
and from five to ten years' time in which to pay for it.
FREE Maps and descriptive circulars will be mailed to anyone applying for same to
HOPEWELL CLARKE,
Land Commissioner, St. P. & D. R. R.,
St. Paul, Minn.

Schrage's $1,000,000 Rheumatic Cure Never Failed. 167 Dearborn St., Chicago.



STILL BEGGING FOR BREAD.

A Scene in the Rear of a Chicago Restaurant—Yes, Good Times Are Here.

A BIG HOLD-UP.

STANDARD OIL SCOOPS IN MILLIONS.

Trust Is Only a "Private Affair," You Know—How This Private Affair Is Raising the Price of Its Oil Products.

(Clark Ervin in Chicago Sentinel.)

The people of this country are just now regarding with amazement, and a portion of them at least with indignation, the methods by which a private corporation, whose stock is owned by one individual, is levying tribute upon the people and compelling payment to the amount of fifty million dollars or more.

That corporation is the Standard Oil Company, and the individual owning a majority of the stock is the company's president, John D. Rockefeller.

The associated press dispatches of the 20th inst. give a concise and extended history of the transaction, from which we give the following extracts:

"The oil territory of this country, east of the Mississippi river, so far as developed, underlies part of Pennsylvania and West Virginia and sections of Ohio and Indiana. The quality of the oil in the first named fields is superior to that of the Ohio and Indiana district. The residuum in refining the latter is capable of only limited uses, while the bi-products of Pennsylvania oil are valuable. Among them long and costly experimentation has developed and perfected aniline dyes, paraffine for candles, and for insulating telegraph wires, wax for gums, and other commercial articles. Pennsylvania oil always fetches higher prices than Lima oil, as the Ohio product is called. From its beginning the Standard has operated most largely in the Pennsylvania field, chiefly because of the greater profits that were to be made in handling that oil, the bi-products of which are said to be as valuable as the oil itself. The Standard has been the buyer and refiner of the oil. Though there are now and have been independent refiners they are small elements, and the Standard is practically the market to which producers go to sell their oil.

"In consideration of the many chances against striking oil at the end of an expenditure of perhaps thousands of dollars in boring for it, and also because of its apparent disbelief in the soundness of any searching system of searching for the fluid, and probably for other reasons, the Standard has left to others the business of drawing oil from the ground and devoted itself to controlling the subsequent sale of it. It frequently has purchased wells and leases in territory that was first developed but its main business has been to refine crude petroleum purchases at prices fixed by itself. For several years past these have ruled on an average too low to induce as much prospecting as in former times. Excepting the McDonald, Sisterville, and Mannington fields, and perhaps a few others, new territories have not been found for several years. The product of these has been insufficient to keep pace with the demand in the ratio the Standard desires. The figures of the visible supply for a number of years are instructive in this particular. Feb. 28, 1892, the reserve of eastern oil was 16,600,000 barrels. A year later at the same date it was 11,000,000. In 1894 it had fallen to 5,300,000 barrels and Feb. 28 last the stock was down to 900,000. The production in the eastern district in 1893 was 30,936,000 barrels. In 1894 it amounted to 30,183,000. The shipments in the same year were 36,000,000 barrels; that is, nearly 5,000,000 in excess of the output. The difference, as is seen, was made up by drafts on the reserve supply. At the close of 1894, estimating the Ohio reserve stock at 20,000,000 barrels and the Pennsylvania reserve, as shown, at about 5,000,000 barrels, the visible supply in the country was down to approximately 25,000,000 barrels, four-fifths of it not adapted to the most profitable purposes of the Standard. Consumption had overtaken and passed production, in one section at least.

"Close observers of the company say the course it marked out to fit the exigency is clear. The Standard, they say, determined to stimulate production. It set about first to secure all the oil entering into the visible supply, which it did not own already. Probably the total was not large. Jan. 21 producers were surprised to read in various publications a circular signed by Joseph Seep, chief purchasing agent of the Standard, that thereafter the company would disregard the ruling quotations of oil in the speculative markets of Pennsylvania and pay whatever the markets of the world justified. Some of the producers preferred to store their oil when the circular was issued, and 250,000 barrels were actually stored and certificates issued for them. The majority, however, believing the Standard's then price would be lowered subsequently, hurried their oil into its hands. The effect was what the Standard expected and desired, and soon it owned practically all of the small proportion of the visible supply remaining outside of its tanks when Seep's announcement was made. It had the supply cornered.

"There were men in the oil country who suspected what was intended, but the general public had no thought of it. Therefore, three weeks ago, when oil awoke from a lethargic sleep of three years and prices on the Pittsburg exchange began mounting skyward there was surprise and interest from one end of the country to the other. Oil was sold at the highest prices touched in years. The contagion of speculation has spread with great rapidity, but notwithstanding that there has not been as heavy a volume of speculation as people at a distance might suppose. There are said to be fewer than 1,000 pipe line certificates outstanding. The Standard has ceased issuing certificates. It is said to have secured part of those outstanding in the slump engineered in the market a few days ago. It is after those remaining—the representatives of the small quantity of oil yet remaining out of the Standard's possession, a quantity too small to cut a figure in the general supply.

"Though the methods of the Standard have been in the direction of stamping out speculation, in this instance they have been changed. The market has been pushed up, allowed to slump, and advanced again in the same fashion that would be followed by the manipulators of a corner in grain.

"Yesterday the Standard sent out notices of an advance of 4 cents a gallon on naptha and 2½ cents on gasoline. That means the prices to jobbers are 11½ and 11 respectively. Both commodities, though largely used, do not concern the public so much as kerosene. Refined oil has advanced to 9 cents in bulk—a rise of 5 cents a gallon since the Standard began to put the screws on its corner in the crude product. As shown before, the total stocks in its hands, counting the Pennsylvania and Ohio supplies, aggregate approximately 25,000,000 barrels. Five cents a gallon on this means $2.50 a barrel or $67,500,000 on the whole quantity. Deduct $17,000,000 as representing unseen expenses and contingencies and there remains $50,000,000 as the profit of the corner that can be counted in one direction. It is not all. Prices of naptha and gasoline, as said, have been boosted, and the quotations of bi-products are all firmer and in some cases have been put up. The returns from these sources, though perhaps cast in the shade by the ransom of a kingdom which is in sight from kerosene, will be large, undoubtedly. There are men who do not hesitate to say the ultimate profit of the whole scheme will be nearer $75,000,000 than $50,000,000."

Fifty million dollars "profit" from the monopoly of a single industry turned into the coffers of a single individual, mainly; a forced contribution of 76 cents from every man, woman and child in the United States.

The mind of man fails for the moment to grasp the immensity of this gigantic hold-up, of this veritable robbery of industry by the highwayman, Greed.

This $50,000,000 "made" by one individual in a few weeks by cornering the market in crude oils exceeds by $15,000,000 the proposed capital of the celebrated United States bank, the squelching of which made Gen. Jackson the second democrat in the history of that party.

This $50,000,000 tax unwillingly paid to John D. Rockefeller would give employment for two months at a dollar a day to the 1,000,000 men now out of work and scarcely knowing where their next meal is coming from.

This $50,000,000 forced from the consumers of kerosene and gasoline by that "pious" fraud, John D. Rockefeller, would provide 50,000 families with $1,000 homes.

This $50,000,000 hold-up of the American people—as premeditated, as cold-blooded and as effectual as though made at the muzzle of a pistol—equals one thirty-second of the entire circulating medium of the United States, and is a greater sum of money than could be earned by one man working at a dollar a day for one hundred and sixty-seven thousand years, or 28,000 times as long as the earth is supposed to have been peopled.

It is an appalling feature of this transaction that the government seems powerless to prevent its repetition on even a grander scale.

A more appalling feature of this daring exploit of Robber Rockefeller is the fact that the two most influential and powerful guardians of the public morals and denunciators of public crimes—the orthodox pulpit and daily press—give tacit or outspoken approval of the crime, seeming to regard it as a legitimate business transaction.

Such papers as the Chicago Tribune have not a word of editorial disapproval and scarcely a line of comment regarding it.

Not a prominent divine of Chicago alluded to the subject in his last Sunday's sermon, or if so his criticisms were refused publication in the daily press reports of Monday morning.

Dealers in legimate enterprises are questioning in their minds if there be not for them some shorter road to wealth than uncertain honest plodding, and are preparing to turn "speculators" and "plungers."

This $50,000,000 "strike" of the "Oil King" increases to desperation the bitterness and hatred for the rich entertained by him out of employment and him who veritably sweats blood ten hours a day for a bare existence.

It is such transactions as this gigantic hold-up, not only unpunished but condoned by those in authority and high position, more than all other causes combined which makes intelligent men turn inquiringly to "plank 10" and wonder if matters could be much worse if the people collectively owned and controlled "all means of production and distribution."

It is such facts as these, namely—that the Rothschild family possess property valued at $2,000,000,000, equal to half the gold in the world, and that Rockefeller can at will force $50,000,000 of tribute from consumers of a single product of industry—that make Populists become Socialists, that make Socialists become Communists, that make Communists become Anarchists, and that make Anarchists rejoice and set the day when shall be verified the prediction of ex-Congressman J. Proctor Knott in his letter to Senator Blackburn that, unless some great change takes place we "may expect to see the horrors of the French revolution put on the American stage with all the modern improvement, and that within the next decade."

The Rockefellers, the Goulds and the Vanderbilts, with their lickspittle followers and sycophantic and subsidized allies of the pulpit and press, are Anarchist breeders; they are revolution mongers; they are Republic destroyers; they are monarchy makers; they are enemies of liberty and oppressors of common humanity, of whom they would make slaves.

These multi-millionaires must be shorn of their power and that speedily, or the next century in this country will be but a repetition of the Dark Ages.

The old parties are with them; a "new silver party" will not reach them; only a party of the people can hope to successfully contend with them.

If Robber Rockefeller's gigantic hold-up will serve to arouse the rank and file of the People's Party to the danger which threatens them, to the duty which confronts them, and point unmistakably to the united and patriotic action now required of them, it will, in the end, have served a good and useful purpose.

This is the only good thing which can truthfully be said of it.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Everybody knows that the eastern democrats and enough of the western and southern democrats to make a majority in the party are in favor of a gold standard on the Cleveland and Carlisle plan. Nearly every democrat who is fighting for free silver "inside the party" expresses himself willing to abide by the action of the party, both as to candidates and platform. In other words the minority free silver democrats say they will abide by the decision of the majority gold bug democrats. The logical result of this will be a gold standard platform, or a straddle, with a gold bug candidate. These will be supported by the free silver democrats. This goes to prove that the most of the free silver democrats so-called think more of a party that is serving Wall street than they do of principle and that they are actually helping the gold bugs by preventing many honest sincere free silver men from leaving their gold bug party, and joining a genuine free silver party. This is exactly the position that is being occupied by such men as Bland and Bryan. They are doing more harm to the silver cause—more to prevent the free and unlimited coinage of silver than any gold bug in the democratic party.

* * *

The plutocratic press frequently raises the cry of paternalism when it lacks an argument against the ownership of railroads and other public utilities. The fact is the United States bears the distinction of doing more for corporations and getting less for it than any nation on earth. It was the rankest kind of paternalism to give the railroad corporations 215,000,000 acres of land and $64,000,000 in bonds but the plutocratic press doesn't say anything about that. That's their master's, you know.

* * *

All this talk about international bimetallism by arrangement, is a farce. The only way to secure international bimetallism is to declare for free and unlimited coinage in the United States. According to Mr. Carlisle's own statement this will bring it about. He says "there is not a gold standard country but what is using silver as a part of its currency." That is the key to the situation. They are using it because they have to have it. All the silver using countries have to have it also. Hence all the countries use more or less silver and are compelled to have it. Now Carlisle says if we declare for free silver the world will dump its silver here because it can get more for it. There's where the gentleman is mistaken. The nations of the world will do no such thing because they can't spare it, and in order to retain it they would have to follow the United States and place it on equal terms with gold.

* * *

The courts seem to be running this country. One man changed his opinion within sixty days and that change set aside a law which provided for the collection of $30,000,000 or $40,000,000 a year. Here the constitutionality of a law that was passed in deference to the will of at least three-fourths of the people in the United States, is decided by one man, and it was necessary that he should reverse a decision of his own made not sixty days prior. This is closely followed by a decision that in cases where the law will not reach the people an injunction may be issued which would promote the contempt of a Hottentot, and then a man be thrown into jail for contempt, without trial. Things are coming to a pretty pass and there's going to be trouble in this country one of these days.

There ought to be a constitutional provision prohibiting banks of issue.

A PREACHER PRAYS

IN A CONVENTION FOR "HONEST MONEY."

A Priest of the Golden Calf Makes a Supplication for His Idol—Error Permeates the Republican Party of Kentucky.

If Moses don't come down out of the mountain pretty soon most of the preachers in the land will be dancing around the golden calf set up by the Rothschilds and a few American usurers and extortioners. There are more churches to-day worshiping God on a gold basis than there are on a Christ basis. We willing take off our hat to a disciple of true Christianity and bow with reverence to the decrees of Deity, but when we see a cowardly, fawning, lying sycophant, pandering to the devil's gold gang, we have no language adequate to express our contempt.

At the republican state convention in Kentucky, Rabbi Adolph Moses, of the Temple Adas Israel, offered a prayer, from which we take the following extract:

"The eyes of the whole nation are in this hour turned with anxious expectation upon this assembly, for a fatal delusion has taken possession of numbers of the American people. National dishonesty is by many held to be national wisdom. Debasement of the coin of the land, it is believed, will insure our country's prosperity. Dense ignorance, reckless selfishness, overvaunting greed have perverted the judgment of hundreds of thousands in the land. False prophets have arisen, corruptors of the people's heart and mind.

"They call evil good. Breach of faith with individuals and nations they commend as highest public virtue. They laugh to scorn the world's experience. The wisdom of the wise is folly in their eyes.

"O! Lord, dire disaster is threatening the American people. National bankruptcy and individual ruin, the misery and degradation of those who work for hire are lying in ambush. We beseech, Thee, protect the American people from the errors and wiles of those who would lure it from the path of honesty and safety.

"May the delegates here assembled speak out in no uncertain tones for national honesty. May they declare in clarion notes that there shall be no false weights and false measures, no fraud and no breach of faith in the land of Washington and Lincoln. May they give assurance to the whole country that a battle will be fought in this state, not for the petty interests of party, nor for the gains of office, but for national honesty, faith and prosperity. May they enunciate such principles of government and public honesty that all good men and true may be drawn toward them and join them to ward off danger and labor with them for the common good."

It was perfectly proper that the republicans should have a Jew to open their convention with prayer. None but a representative of the race of Rothschilds could do justice to the occasion. We would like, however, to remind Mr. Moses that he does not seem to hold the same financial views which Holy Writ accords to his illustrious namesake. When that gentleman came down from Mt. Sinai, fresh from the presence of God, and saw his deluded followers dancing around an idol of gold, he became so angry that he let fall the tables of stone on which were written the new laws. He not only demolished their golden idol, but he actually rallied an army of the sons of Levi and put to death about three thousand of the gold bugs; we presume as an example of the justice which should overtake all such foolish worshipers for all time to come. It is not a question as to what the Rothschilds and a few financial pirates thing about the honor and credit of this nation, but what honest men think.

Any sensible man knows that an honest dollar is the dollar of the contract, and all the legislation in this country from 1792 until now has recognized both gold and silver as honest money, with the exception of the demonetization acts passed by a republican congress and President in 1873, and a democratic congress and President in 1893. If Rabbi Moses knows anything about finance he knows that gold is the usurer's lever of oppression and the devil's grabhook. The trouble with Rabbi Moses and most other preachers is, that the devil has this grabhook fastened to their love of ease and desire for popularity. And the Rabbi's prayer will make him popular, both in hell and on earth, with the republican party and with the devil.

The last resort of tyrants before force is used, is the church and the courts, and that position seems to have been reached by the gold gang. Many American people will be surprised that the devil is so strongly intrenched in both, but it has always been so. The church prayed for the perpetuation of chattel slavery as it is now praying for the perpetuation of debt slavery, and the court gave us the Dred Scott decision as it has recently the income tax and the Debs decisions. The church has espoused the cause of tyrants and burned honest men and women at the stake. The courts gave Christ to the cross; and John Brown to the scaffold. If the church was doing its duty it would not be arrayed on the side of the usurer and extortioner. It would recognize the fact that the man who demands gold for bond and note is the repudiator and the dishonest man, and not the man who wants to pay in the dollar of the contract, the dollar that has been recognized as such when the contracts were made, and that was even denominated "in the bond."

Another Bank Failure.

Gobs of prosperity! Seattle (Wash.) National bank went down or up, whichever way you want it, with a half million belonging to people who believe banks are a convenience. I like to see 'em squirm. Great system, you know, cause the old party politicians say so. Lots of banks getting a dose of gold standard. The number of failures increase. Let the glorious work of the gold standard proceed. When most of the country is pauperized maybe they will begin to question the honesty or wisdom of the Rothschild money system.—Coming Nation.

TO CONFEDERATE DEAD!

Union Generals Attended the Monument Dedication at Chicago.

The dedication of a monument to 6,000 confederate prisoners who died at Camp Douglas, was a striking feature of the Memorial day exercises at Chicago. Among the distinguished visitors who participated in the dedication were Lieutenant General Schofield, General Flagler, Senator John M. Palmer, General Alfred Orendorff and Colonel J. P. Sanger, inspector general of the army. Among the ex-confederates were Senator John B. Gordon of Georgia, General Wade Hampton, General James Longstreet, General Fitzhugh Lee, ex-Senator M. C. Butler, ex-Senator Eppa Hunton, General Basil M. Duke and General A. P. Stewart.

The monument was erected in Oakwoods cemetery, a few miles out of Chicago, in 1893. The pedestal is of pearl granite, 40 feet high, and is surmounted by a bronze statue of a confederate soldier. On the front of the lower base are the words "Confederate Dead." On the upper base is a bronze model of the confederate seal, representing a mounted soldier—General Washington—inclosed within a wreath of foliage of the products of the South. This inscription is on the face of the front panel:

> Erected
> to the Memory of the
> SIX THOUSAND SOUTHERN SOLDIERS,
> Here Buried. Who Died in > Camp Douglas Prison,
> 1862-65.
> Confederate Dead.

On each of the three other sides of the die is a bronze panel representing the "Call to Arms" of the confederacy, "A Veteran's Return Home" and "A Soldier's Death Dream." Around the monument will be cannon, shot and shell appropriated by congress. These were captured by the confederates in the war and recaptured by the federals.

HOW SARDOU WRITES.

The Great Dramatist Builds a Play in Scientific Fashion.

Sardou's way of working is as follows: The moment an idea occurs to him he puts it down, and all the various notes, documents and particulars which have to do with this idea are joined together, forming a sort of dossier. When the idea is crystallized into dramatic shape, Sardou writes a scenario of a few pages, giving the skeleton, as it were, of the whole play. Then he puts the work aside. All his various schemes are treated in the same way. He has at the present day from seventy to eighty dossiers in his drawers, out of which eight or ten plays will come. So, when he has to write a drama or comedy, he only chooses. For instance, "Theodora" was written fifteen years after it originated in the author's mind. As soon as Sardou's choice is made he reads over all the accompanying notes and documents which pertain to that play and then he begins to write the drama or comedy, act by act, scene by scene, as they come into his mind. When he has done this preliminary work he rewrites the piece on large white quarto paper. The play is then reduced and condensed. It is this second manuscript which is given to the copyist, to whom is intrusted the care of putting it in shape. All this writing is ordinarily done at Marly. Sardou is not disturbed there as he is in Paris.

IT DID LOOK SUSPICIOUS.

Nevertheless the Overcoat Transaction Was Perfectly Legitimate.

A robust young man, wearing a thick terra cotta overcoat, and a somewhat consumptive-looking companion, minus an overcoat, left a well-known Chesnut street cafe together at a late hour on Saturday night, says the Philadelphia Record. The former generously tendered his warm outer garment to his shivering companion, who gratefully accepted it for the walk home. On turning the corner of Sixteenth and Locust streets the pair were closely scrutinized by a big policeman. Arrived at his home, the thin man returned the coat to his stout friend, and the latter started back toward his hotel on Broad street. When he reached the corner of Sixteenth street the policeman grabbed him. "Pretty slick guy, you are!" he claimed; "but I'm on to that little overcoat racket. I guess you got his pocket-book, too."

"What do you mean, sir?" demanded the indignant citizen. "You just take a ride to the station-house," mildly urged the cop, "and tell the sergeant how you managed to get into that other man's overcoat."

Protestations were in vain. The mad man, with the terra-cotta overcoat, had to submit, and only the presence of his thin friend, whom he promptly sent for, saved him from a cell.

She Forgot the Baby.

A rather amusing story is told on a young society matron. The daughter of wealthy and indulgent parents, she had never known a care until she assumed the responsibility of housekeeping at the time of her marriage a few years ago. She is now a mother. Her younger sister was seen recently in a street car with a child in her arms.

"Whose baby is that?" inquired a friend, who was rather astonished to see the young lady taking care of a child.

"Oh, it is sister's!" she replied. "She was out at the house last night and when she left for home forgot the baby. I am taking it to her now."

"But how did she forget her baby?" inquired the surprised friend.

"She knew she was forgetting something when she left, and could not think what it was."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

No Need of Alarm.

Man of Family—My dear, a rice trust has been formed, and there is no telling how soon rice may go up. Better lay in enough to last a year at least.

Average American Housewife—Very well, I'll send out and buy two or three pounds.

Romantic Preliminaries.

Jeanette (simpering)—I think the count means to propose, ma.

Her Ma—Why, has he said anything?

Jeanette—No, but last night he asked what pa's income was.

ALL OUT OF SORTS

Tired, weak and weary. If this is your condition, stop and think. You are a sufferer from dyspepsia and great misery awaits you if you do not check it now. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine you can take. It has peculiar power to tone and strengthen the stomach. Remember

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the only true blood purifier prominently in the public eye today. $1; six for $5.

Hood's Pills act harmoniously with Hood's Sarsaparilla. 25c.

Life as It Is.

Friend—What rent do you pay for this house?

Taxpayer—Alas! I own it.—New York Weekly.

Don't Get Scared

If you should hear that in some place to which you are going malaria is prevalent. To the air poison which produces chills and fever, bilious, remittent and dumb ague there is a safe and thorough antidote and preventive, viz., Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The great anti-malarial specific is also a remedy for biliousness, constipation, dyspepsia, rheumatic and kidney trouble, nervousness and debility.

Next to a beau there is nothing a girl is prouder of bossing than a St. Bernard dog.

There is pleasure and profit and no small satisfaction in abating troublesome and painful ills by using Parker's Ginger Tonic.

For staving off the hungry craving when a meal is unavoidably delayed, it is difficult to find anything better than an apple.

It is so easy to remove Corns with Hindercorns that we wonder so many will endure them. Get Hindercorns and see how nicely it takes them off.

Crows have one virtue at least. They are devotedly attached to their caws.

East Via the Great Lakes.

The Northern Steamship Company's magnificent ships, "Northwest" and "Northland" are now running regularly between Duluth and Buffalo, with stops at the "Soo," Mackinac Island, Detroit and Cleveland. These ships are the finest on the lakes, and the only ones exclusively engaged in passenger service. On this account the government gives them the right-of-way over other vessels through the "Soo" canal. Each ship is built of steel, with three water-tight compartments; the boilers are non-explosive; the equipment and furnishing throughout being equal to the best ocean liners. No expense has been spared in securing every precaution and device possible for the safety and comfort of passengers. The "Northwest" leaves Duluth every Monday and the "Northland" every Friday in connection with Great Northern trains—Eastern Minnesota division—from the Twin Cities and the west.

When a man gets too worthless for anything else, he is just worthless enough for a sentimental woman to make a hero of and marry.

I could not get along without Piso's Cure for Consumption. It always cures.—Mrs. E. C. Moulton, Needham, Mass, Oct. 22, '94.

When the coachman marries his employer's daughter he is a groom. The daughter is foolish.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."
Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

Eleanor of England had a very strong nose and an iron will, and to the latter, no doubt, owed her influence over her husband.

HALL'S CATARRH CURE is a liquid and is taken internally. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

With nearly all breeds, except the Asiatics, June-hatched chicks will pay and come to maturity time enough to produce eggs in winter.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine.
The original and only genuine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Cold Sores, &c. C. G. Clark Co., N. Haven, Ct.

See that their craws give evidence of food at night after the last feeding.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth
Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

Must Have Somebody.

The Mob (in chorus)—We're after that man and we're going to lynch him.

The Jailer—But he's left town.

The Mob—Well, then give us some other man.

Dr. PIERCE'S
Golden Medical DISCOVERY
Cures Ninety-eight per cent. of all cases of Consumption, in all its Earlier Stages.

Although by many believed to be incurable, there is the evidence of hundreds of living witnesses to the fact that, in all its earlier stages, consumption is a curable disease. Not every case, but a large percentage of cases, and we believe, fully 98 per cent. are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, even after the disease has progressed so far as to induce repeated bleedings from the lungs, severe lingering cough with copious expectoration (including tubercular matter), great loss of flesh and extreme emaciation and weakness.

★ ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR ★
IMPERIAL GRANUM
IT IS
★ THE BEST ★
FOOD
FOR NURSING MOTHERS, INFANTS, AND CHILDREN
★ JOHN CARLE & SONS, New York. ★

The Poor Man's Chance
HOMES 100,000 ACRES CHOICE Hardwood Farming lands situated along the line of a new railroad now being constructed in central Wisconsin, and near a through trunk line already constructed, for sale cheap to single purchasers or colonies. Special inducements given to colonies. Long time and low interest. Send for full particulars to NORTHWESTERN LUMBER CO., EAU CLAIRE, WISCONSIN.

LOOK for our announcement in NEXT issue of this paper. It will show a cut of 1 style of DAVIS CREAM SEPARATORS
It would take several pages to give details about these marvelous machines. Handsome Illustrated Pamphlet Mailed Free. AGENTS WANTED.
DAVIS & RANKIN BLDG. AND MFG. CO.
Sole Manufacturers, Chicago.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c, and $1.00 at Druggists.

FITS—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after the first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

ARTIFICIAL LIMBS
Free Catalogue. Geo. R. Fuller, Box 2144, Rochester, N. Y.

25 CTS PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

Minn Hist Society

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

St. Hilaire THE Spectator.

VOLUME XIV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, JULY 10, 1895. NUMBER 49.

PITH OF THE NEWS

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

The Latest and Most Important News of the World, Called From the Telegraph Reports of the Press Associations.

Washington.

National bank circulation shows a large increase.

The deficit of the federal treasury for the fiscal year ended is over 45,000,000.

Thirty-six domestic and eighteen limited money order postoffices have been established.

Chief Harrington of the weather bureau has a disagreement with Secretary Morton and is removed.

Consul J. Lamb Doty, stationed at Tahita, on the Society islands, will be reprimanded by the state department for marrying a Tahita girl by native rites.

The treasury department drew a warrant for 1 cent in favor of Grover Cleveland. In calculating the president's salary an error of 1 cent had been made and the drawing of a warrant was the only way the account could be balanced.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. Steele, who weighed 675 pounds, was buried at Millersburg, Ohio.

Capt. William T. Scoville, one of the pioneer lower Mississippi steamboatmen, died at Jeffersonville, Ind.

Joseph P. Kelly, the writer of popular songs sung on the variety and minstrel stage is dead in New York.

James R. Garfield, son of the martyred president was nominated for the state senate in Ohio.

Woodward, the St. Paul newspaper man who was imprisoned in Cuba and thought to be dead, is not only alive but on his way home.

New York letter carriers will dedicate a monument to "Sunset" Cox, who labored so faithfully in their behalf when he was in congress.

Ex-President Harrison went hunting with ex-United States Marshal Ransdell. They took a train for Dana, Vermillion county, Ind.

Edward Bascomb Harper, president of the Mutual Reserve Fund Life association and one of the best known life insurance men in the country, died in New York city.

James H. Widber, treasurer, of the city and county of San Francisco, died at midnight last night of pneumonia. He was born in Portland, Me., in 1828, and went to California in 1849.

George William Smith, professor of history in Colgate university at Hamilton, N. Y., was elected its president by the trustees. He is only thirty-two years old.

Dr. A. B. Talbott of Philadelphia, thirty-three years old, has married Mrs. Calista Maria Phelps, of Buffalo, who is seventy-eight years old and who is worth $1,500,000.

Unfortunate Events.

Policeman William Sheehan fell into the river at St. Louis and drowned.

A locomotive with fifteen cars backed off a dock at Sandusky, Ohio. The engineer was fatally hurt in jumping.

A party of four Americans were drowned off the coast of Mazatlan, Mex. while making a pleasure cruise.

Lightning killed Ed. Bryan, a merchant of Tuscumbia, Ala., his wife and a small child.

By the upsetting of a boat on Lake Chautauqua, N. Y., John Swanstrom, Hedwick Lawson and Christine Hegelen were drowned.

Three children of Archelus Cook of Rockhouse, Ky., were poisoned by eating mulberries that contained spider eggs. All died.

Charles Krummer of Elgin, Ill., struck a match in his outhouse, and an explosion of sewer gas followed, which blistered his face and arms until fatal results are expected.

The gasoline used for fuel on a launch on the river basin at Adrian, Mich., took fire and the seven passengers had to take to the water. They narrowly escaped being drowned.

Representative Charles W. Perry's saw and grist mill at Pierpont, twenty miles north of Manistee, Mich., were destroyed by fire. The total loss is about $100,000; no insurance.

Wabash train No. 41, which left Decatur, Ill., for the west one hour late, met with an accident at Niantic, 20 miles west of Decatur, by which two trainmen were fatally injured and a number of passengers had a narrow escape from death.

A broken harness caused L. W. Old's horse to run away while descending a steep approach to a bridge at Galesville, Wis. When the buggy reached the bridge it overturned, throwing Mr. and Mrs. Olds among the timbers. Both are believed to be fatally injured.

The Cumberland accommodation on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad ran into an open switch at Laughlin station, near Pittsburg, and collided with a switch engine. Harvey Louther, a brakeman, was instantly killed. Fireman, McBeth was seriously injured. A number of passengers were bruised and cut by broken glass.

Criminal Doings.

An Ohio woman is credited with seven husbands.

A man accused of selling army position is arrested in Chicago.

Adolph Picker imprisoned for life in Pratt Mines prison, Birmingham, Ala., broke jail and escaped.

Henry Wolf, proprietor of a restaurant at Parsons Kan., shot and killed himself because of financial troubles.

Clay Pugh was hanged at Boulder, thirty miles from Helena, Mont., for the murder of Chauncey W. West.

On the fifth trial of the George Lewis murder case at Mexico, Mo., the defendant was found not guilty.

Mrs. M. L. Pinkley, who attempted to kill her husband with a hammer at Rockford, Ill., was adjudged insane.

As a result of a jail delivery at Oklahoma City, O. T., one desperado and one policeman are dead.

Bob Fitzsimmons has been acquitted of the charge of killing Con Riordan in a sparring match.

Capt. Howgate, formerly of the signal service, is sentenced to imprisonment for eight years for forgery.

During a fight between drunken Italians at Peeksvills, Pa., one man was killed and two others fatally wounded.

Count Shinburn, the famous burglar, has been captured by the Pinkertons in New York.

Blanche Newberger, aged fifteen, committed suicide in Denver because she was scolded for quarreling with her sister.

El Paso, Tex., is making a determined war on gamblers. Forty-eight were placed under $100 bonds in one day.

At Oakley race track at Cincinnati Jockey Henry Webber was fatally stabbed by a colored stable boy known as "Gib."

William H. Thacher of Benzie county, convicted of poisoning his wife and sentenced to prison for life, was granted a new trial by the Michigan supreme court.

Sheriff Hughes, of Denison, Texas, has under arrest John H. Thompson, believed to be the nortorious Jeab Stevens, whose bloody exploits in Texas and other cities are still fresh in the minds of citizens.

Mrs. Kate Morrow of Utica, Ind., committed suicide by taking morphine. She was the wife of Sherman Morrow, a prominent farmer, but for two years had been living apart from her husband.

Miss Minnie Wilkinson, a young woman of high standing in social and religious circles, committed suicide by shooting, in the vestry of the Second Presbyterian church at Richmond, Va., while services were in progress. A love affair was the cause.

Rabbi Canter, in charge of the Jewish congregation Sharra Solom at St. Joseph, Mo., is charged by his wife with attempting to murder her, and the rabbi claims that his wife and her brother, Jacob Ladisky, were in a plot to take his life.

Two years ago August Dahner was sent to the Ionia, Mich., prison for two years for whipping a man who refused to pay him his wages. When he was released from prison he was met at the door by attorneys who informed him that a fortune of $225,000 was his when he chose to claim it.

Foreign.

A strong earthquake shock was experienced at La Bache, Austria.

The Valkyrie was beaten by both the Britannia and the Ailsa.

Cambridge defeated Oxford at athletic games and will try to arrange a contest with Yale.

A military balloon exploded in the shed of the barracks at Berlin. Three soldiers were injured and one of them has died.

A Chinese loan is about to be issued in London. It is not for a large amount and independent of the negotiations for a Chinese loan made from St. Petersburg and elsewhere.

The Japanese have not advanced on Tai Wan Fu, Island of Formosa. The withdrawal of the British marines from the island has caused much surprise among foreigners who remain ashore.

The Macedonian question is causing much excitement at Philipopolis, Bulgaria. The town was placarded with posters reading: "The hour for revolt has struck. The voice of long-suffering Macedonia calls for help."

General.

Yale excepts the Oxford-Cambridge challenge.

The Ohio river is so low as to greatly impede the running of boats.

Lessees of Indian lands in Nebraska threaten to resist the Indian police. Bloodshed is feared.

Northern Pacific earnings it is estimated will show an increase of over $1,000,000 for the current fiscal pear.

Montana gamblers close up their establishments, the new anti-gambling law going into effect.

The $2,000,000 bridge between Jeffersonville, Ind., and Louisville, Ky., has been completed.

Electricity will be used as motive power on the Chicago suburban lines of the Chicago & Northern Pacific railway.

Dr. Chowing of Aledo, Ill., was shot by Dick Baugus. There had been bad feeling between the two for over a year.

Surrogate Fitzgerald has denied Mrs. Hetty Green's application for the removal of Henry A. Barding, the executor of the will of her father, Edward M. Robinson.

The state supreme court of Colorado handed down an opinion that the levying of a license by the Denver city council on all occasions is entirely legal.

Joseph Lee, a colored plasterer of Champaign Ill., has sued Richard Ballenger, a colored barber, asking $5,000 damages because the latter refused to shave him on account of color.

John S. Johnson in a race with Sawyer and Tyler, defeats them and bikes a mile in 1:58 5-8 the fastest on record.

Harvey George, aged 21 dropped dead while pitching in a game of ball at Decatur, Ind.

W. H. Denton of Markham, I. T., has leased the Petaca grant in New Mexico for ten years and will immediately ship his 27,000 head of cattle to Las Vegas and from there he will drive them to the grant.

The Tacoma Land Company has floated $1,000,000 of bonds in Philadelphia with which to purchase from the state and fill in for shipping, manufacturing and railroad purposes the most important part of Tacoma tide flats.

At the request of County Treasurer Reed, the sheriff seized the new bridge over the Missouri river at Council Bluffs, Ia., belonging to the Omaha Bridge and Terminal company, for $3,000 back taxes. Trains over the line were stoped.

TOWN WIPED OUT.

A CYCLONE TOTALLY DESTROYS THE TOWN OF WINONA, MO.

The Wind Is Assisted in Its Work of Destruction by a Flood—Eleven Persons Are Killed and Several Others Are Injured.

Springfield, Mo., July 9.—A storm awful in its terror and total in its work of destruction, wiped out the town of Winona, on the Current River branch of the Kansas City, Fort Scott & Memphis railway, in Shannon county. It is known that eleven persons lost their lives and eight men are missing. The dead are:

Rev. G. W. Duncan, Mrs. G. W. Duncan, Mattie Duncan, Mrs. Crawford (married daughter of G. W. Duncan), Crawford Gert, George Nevins, Norma Nevins, little daughter of Lloyd Wright, Maggie Cannon, John Norris, Mrs. Nevins. The bodies of Rev. G. W. Duncan, his wife and daughter, George Nevins, Norma Nevins and the Wright girl were recovered, but the others have not been found.

A slashing rain preceded by a fierce wind set in at 9 o'clock last night. While the wind ceased, the rain increased intensely until at 10 o'clock it became a warring tumult. At 10:15 four feet of water was on the streets. In fifteen minutes more buildings could no longer stand the strain and began to careen and disintegrate in the water. Vivid flashes of lightning pierced the downpour, which came like the falls of Niagara. Houses were smashed, and in the water were hundreds of men, women and children.

Dashed About Like Corks.

It was like a shipwreck on land. Cries of terror and shouts for help from the struggling people clinging to pieces of timber made the scene one that baffled intelligent effort to save the helpless. The strong current rushing down the ravine or valley, carried many to higher land and places of safety. When the torrent had to a degree subsided, the men who had seen to their families; turned their attention to others and by 3 o'clock in the morning the worst was over. Those who escaped the sweep of devastation stood shivering without clothing or without an opportunity to dry themselves. When day dawned there was nothing of their homes in the town. There was no shelter, no food, no clothing. As soon as the destroyed telegraphic communication was restored Mayor B. F. Evans telegraphed to this city for aid. The inhabitants of Winona are scattered among farm houses or have gone to neighboring towns. In all thirty buildings were destroyed. The total loss is not less than $80,000. Rev. G. W. Duncan, who lost his life, was pastor of the Winona circuit, and was but recently ordained. He was formerly an engineer on the Iron Mountain railroad. The bodies of Miss Mamie Duncan and Mrs. Crawford were found at 4 o'clock this morning. The others were recovered long after daybreak. Some had floated three miles down Pike creek toward the northeast and the direction of Current river. At places the water was twelve feet deep in Winona.

A Kansas Cyclone.

Baxter Springs, Kan., July 9.—A cyclone struck Baxter Springs and killed five people outright and two others were injured and are not expected to live. A dozen people were seriously injured. Cooper & Co.'s dry goods store was destroyed, the Methodist church, Christian church and Colored Methodist church were blown down and a dozen residences and as many barns were totally wrecked. A complete list of the dead is as follows:

Sallie Webster, aged 70; Florence Webster, 36; Ralph Webster, 3; Thomas Shields' baby and H. H. Hibbs.

The injured—Mrs. Neal, both collar bones broken and internal injuries; James Neal, scalp wound and internal injuries; Roy Webster, right arm broken, right hip and left elbow dislocated; Mrs. Martha Smith, hip dislocated and internal injuries; George A. Dieker, head injured; A. G. Hanback, head injured; three members of A. Sharpe's family, badly injured; Mrs. Thomas Shields, living nine miles south, fatally injured.

Food raised by the Royal Baking Powder may be eaten hot, even by dyspeptics, with impunity. Hot bread, biscuits, hot cakes, muffins, crusts, puddings, etc., are made by its use perfectly wholesome

---

Cyclone in Arkansas.

Pine Bluff, Ark., July 9.—A terrible cyclone swept over this city and adjacent territory north at 11 o'clock last night. All wires north and south are down and news of the damage, which must have been considerable, cannot be ascertained at this late hour. Small buildings and numerous parts of houses in this city were hurled away for great distances, but thus far no loss of life or other casualties have taken place as far as can be learned.

Ten Probably Killed.

Eatonton, Ga., July 9.—A terrible cyclone swept across this and Morgan counties to-day. But meager accounts have been received. It is known, however, that two lives were lost and a number of persons severely injured, several of them fatally. The death list will hardly be less than ten. At Willard's Station, on the Middle Georgia & Atlantic railroad, every house was torn to pieces.

An Iowa Tragedy.

Dewitt, Iowa, July 9—Robert Brown, a colored barber at Calamus, in a fit of jealous rage shot his wife, a white woman, this morning. He then shot himself in the head, expiring immediately. The woman will die. They had been married only a few months.

Kansas City's Population.

Kansas City, Mo., July 9.—In the last five years Kansas City's population has been almost doubled in numbers. The city directory, issued today, shows its present population to be 205,985.

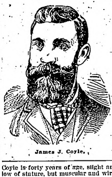
Both Drowned.

Ironton, Ohio, July 9.—To-day while bathing at Russell, Ky., opposite this city, Charles Sutton, aged 8, and Homer Likens, aged 7, were drowned. Likins lost his life in trying to save Sutton.

TO THE SOUDAN.

James J. Coyle Will Attempt to Rescue Dr. John Neufeldt.

San Francisco, July 9.—James J. Coyle, a plain hotelkeeper in Pomona, Cal., has been quietly preparing for months for an expedition of ten or a dozen people to enter the hostile territory of the Mahdi in the Soudan. He will brave death in the hope of aiding a young Austrian physician, Dr. John Neufeldt, who was his chum in the Gordon campaign and was captured at the fall of Khartoum, in 1884.



James J. Coyle.

Coyle is forty years of age, slight and low of stature, but muscular and wiry. His face is bronzed by the suns of many seasons on the deserts of Egypt. He has traveled several times across the Sahara desert. Coyle says his companions in the perilous expedition will go largely for the glory there will be in it in case of success, but he is inspired only with zeal to rescue his friend, thereby keeping a vow made to him over ten years ago, and to do what the British government has left undone for a decade. There are believed to be about twenty others in bondage with Neufeldt.

There is certainly no baking powder so well known and generally used as the Royal. Its perfect purity, as well as its superiority in leavening power, are matters of fact no longer disputed by honest dealers or makers of other brands. Its virtues are so well known to every housekeeper that the slanders of the dishonest makers of the cheaper goods fail to touch it.

DISCONCERTING SIGHT.

Alleged Murderers Suddenly Shown a Dead Man's Face.

Omaha, July 9.—The four men and one woman who are held in connection with the Seljan murder were forced to view the body to-day in hope of making them talk, and their silence has confused the police. The persons were escorted into the rear room of the morgue, where Seljan's body lay. The cloth was suddenly removed from the body of the dead man, and, without a moment's warning they were brought face to face with their victim. John Buckove was in the lead. He is the man who is supposed to have been the principal in the crime. As Seljan's discolored features appeared before him Buckove broke down and screamed with terror. He put both hands over his face to shut out the awful sight, and sobbed in the most pitiable manner. Drobinic and Milan were equally affected, but they did not break down. Mrs. Milan broke down and wept bitterly for an hour. She went into hysterics and almost unconsciousness. As soon as Buckove's terror had subsided he was led to the head of the cooling board and asked if he knew whose face it was that lay before him. He said: "No, no, no," and refused to make any further answer.

STRYCHNINE IN A WELL.

Fearful Charge Made by a Woman Against Her Husband.

Eau Claire, Wis., July 9.—Mrs. Hester Graun, residing near the eastern limits of the city, caused a peace warrant to be issued for the arrest of her husband recently, but the warrant was not served. She and her husband have not lived together since last September, he having removed to a farm in Pleasant Valley. Now she has secured a second warrant charging her husband with placing a bottle of strychnine in the well on her premises. This warrant has not yet been served, but Mrs. Graun declares that she can prove by chemists to whom samples of the well water were submitted, that it contained strychnine, and that her five children were made sick by it.

HEAVY LOSS AT DULUTH.

Western Transit Company's Storage House Burns.

Duluth, July 9.—At midnight a fire broke out in the storage house of the Western Transit company, on Lake avenue. The building was occupied by Eckert, Williams & Co. and J. J. Hartley & Co. Both firms were burned completely out. The fire started in the stables of Eckert, Williams & Co. and spread the whole length of the building, destroying their stock of general commission, consisting of feed, grain, fruits and a cargo of flour worth $37,000, which had just been stored there. The loss on building and stock is said to be $100,000. The most of the goods were insured.

Riot Victim Buried.

Boston, Mass., July 8.—The funeral of John W. Wills, the victim of the riot in East Boston, was held to-day from his home, Rev. Father McCarthy, of the Church of the Assumption, officiating. A dense crowd filled the avenue leading to the house, and the presence of a squad of police was necessary to control the 10,000 people estimated to have been in the vicinity.

Loss Half a Million.

Scotia, Cal., July 9.—The fire that burned the Pacific Lumber company's mill, store and warehouses and lumber yards adjoining the mill was under control to-day. There were no casualties. The estimated loss is $500,000. Small portions of goods in the store was saved together with the greater portion of the books.

Four Blocks Burned.

Newton Falls, Ohio, July 9.—Fire this morning destroyed four business blocks on the main street of the place.

LIVES MAY BE LOST.

ONE OF THE WORST STORMS EVER KNOWN IN CHICAGO.

Many People Are Caught Out on the Lake in Yachts, and It Is Feared That Some of Them Have Failed to Reach Shore.

Chicago, July 9.—One of the most furious wind and rain storms known in this vicinity for years passed over the city about 6 o'clock last evening, coming from the northwest. The day had been intensely hot and there were many people out on the lake in sail boats, and as the storm came very suddenly, it is feared that several lives were lost. The different life-saving crews are busy tracing rumors of capsized boats, people clinging to planks, etc., and have brought in the occupants of three capsized boats, all in a very exhausted condition. The police at the Cottage Grove avenue station on the South side claim that they distinctly saw a sail boat with three occupants disappear during the height of the gale; and that nothing was seen of it again during daylight. The life-savers from the South side cruised about that locality for some time but found no evidences of a wreck.

Up to within twenty minutes of the descent of the storm upon the city the sky had been clear and the sun shining brightly. Suddenly heavy black clouds began to gather in the northwest, and a few minutes later a terrific gale of wind, accompanied by a perfect flood of rain and furious thunder and lightning was sweeping over the city. Shade trees were broken off close to the ground, awnings, signs, etc., torn away and much minor damage done in the city proper. The wind moderated after about half an hour, but the furious rain continued for fully two hours, during which time the streets were running with water.

Dispatches from many points in the central and northern portions of Illinois and Southern Wisconsin tell of furious storms, though in no place did the damage reach so high a point as in Chicago. The weather all through the state was oppressively hot all day, and the storm came with remarkable suddenness toward evening. Along the Lake Shore north of here there was much minor damage done, and it is feared that when the returns are all in it will be found that there was great loss of life.

Some lumber craft, Chicago-bound, were caught by the storm, but whether they suffered cannot be known until to-morrow. The excursion steamers all came in safely. Long after midnight searchers were patroling the waters seeking overturned boats and some token of the presence of the dead. At the last writing the known drowned are John Ross, capsized near outer breakwater; three unknown persons, supposed to have been drowned by the capsizing of a small unknown yacht off Twenty-second street.

Six People Drowned.

Lake Geneva, Wis., July 9.—A heavy storm passed over here about 4:30, which unroofed buildings and demoralized shade trees. The hail broke a large amount of glass and ruined corn, oats and what little fruit there was. The steam launch Dispatch was chartered just before the storm by a party consisting of Father Hogan and Miss Hogan of Harvard, Ill., and a man thought to be Dr. Franz, assistant superintendent of the Elgin, Ill., insane asylum, wife and child. The boat was in charge of John Preston, a reliable young man. They were caught by the storm and the boat was swamped and all on board were drowned. The body of Miss Hogan was found floating near Kayes' Park.

Delavan, Wis., July 9.—The most destructive rain and wind storm that ever visited this locality came yesterday afternoon. The wind blew down houses and barns, uprooted trees and plowed up cornfields. On the south shore of Delavan lake the devastation was greatest. A portion of the roof of the Metowee hotel was blown off and great trees were broken like pipe stems. The wind was accompanied by a deluge of rain and great hail stones that broke windows and leveled the fields of grain. The roads and fields are strewn with debris of trees.

Milwaukee, July 9.—Wires are down in nearly every direction out of Milwaukee, but from meager reports it seems that a severe storm, approaching a cyclone, has passed over the southwestern part of the state, probably doing serious damage. Passengers arriving on a late train from the south on the Chicago & Northwestern railroad report that the storm washed out a bridge near Waukegan and that the train was obliged to take the Harvard branch to Kenosha. North of Waukegan in Wisconsin, telegraph poles and trees were leveled along the line and there were signs of a devastating storm. It is reported that four men who were out in a boat near Waukegan, were drowned.

It is a remarkable fact that the Ohio State Food Commissioner, in his official examination of baking powders, after excepting the Royal, found no other to contain less than ten per cent. of impurities. The Royal was found practically pure.

Dies of Her Wound.

Minneapolis, July 9. — Another victim has been added to the list of fatalities as a result of the Thursday celebration, in the person of Mrs. Rosa Larson, who lived at 1419 Fifth street northeast. She was shot in the abdomen by the accidental discharge of a revolver in the hands of her husband Thursday afternoon, and it was from the effects of the bullet that death ensued.

Young Indian Killed.

Chamberlain, S. D., July 9.—As the result of a runaway at Crow Creek agency yesterday an Indian youth was thrown from a wagon and killed. He became entangled in a rope and was dragged a considerable distance with the rope around his neck, nearly severing the head from the body.

John Brown's Successor Dead.

London, July 9.—Francis Clark, who succeeded the late John Brown as Queen Victoria's personal attendant, is dead.

MURDER MYSTERY.

Nels Carlson or His Slayer Is Under Arrest.

Pierre, S. D., July 9.—A man giving the name of Nels Carlson was arrested at Miller yesterday and brought to Pierre this morning on suspicion of murder. Nels Carlson was here last fall with a bunch of horses, and this spring wrote parties here that he would arrive again about July 1. About ten days ago the party now under arrest arrived at Fort Pierre with horses, and gave his name as Nels Carlson. He sold the horses at a very low price and started East, representing himself as Carlson at towns east of here. While at Fort Pierre he gave away a coat and vest which were too small for him, and in one of the pockets was a letter relating to the transactions of the real Carlson while here. The prisoner tells many conflicting stories. The case appears much like a similar one near here six years ago, when Redmond killed Duncan of Baker City, Or., and took his stock.

Gallipolis, Ohio, July 9.—Riley Watson was trapped into a barber shop and captured to-day. Watson is a desperate man who killed two men in the Hatfield-McCoy feud, and is now wanted in Lincoln county, W. Va., for the murder of Albert McCormas. The latter was Watson's friend, but Watson feared him. Watson offered McCormas a drink from his flask. While McCormas was drinking Watson killed him and escaped. The pursuit during the past two days has been full of thrilling episodes.

IT'S A GIRL.

Another Addition to President Cleveland's Family.

Buzzard's Bay, Mass., July 9.—Just before 5 o'clock last night news reached the village that a girl baby had been born at Gray Gables. This report was soon verified by Dr. Bryant, who announced that the happy event occurred at 4:30 p. m., and that both mother and little one were doing as well as could be expected. This is the third child born into the president's family and all of them are girls. Ruth is four years old and Esther two. Only a passing glance could be obtained from the president, but that was sufficient to note an expression of satisfaction on the face of the chief executive; although it was an open secret that a boy would not have been unwelcome. Mrs. Cleveland's mother, Mrs. Perrine, is expected to arrive from Buffalo this week.

Firemen's Memorial Meeting.

Minneapolis, July 9.—The Metropolitan opera house never presented a more impressive scene than it did at the memorial meeting in honor of the dead firemen yesterday afternoon. The stage most beautifully adorned with memorials of the the dead firemen. Bishop Fowler opened the service with prayer and addresses followed by Mayor Pratt, President Snyder, of the council; Rev. M. Falk Gjertson, Rev. M. D. Shutter, Rev. Wayland Hoyt, Rev. J. M. Cleary and Bishop Fowler. All the speeches paid appreciative tribute to the memory of the brave men who had lost their lives in the discharge of duty.

Prof. Haines, Chemist to the Chicago Board of Health, says he has found the Royal Baking Powder the purest and strongest, and superior to all others in every respect.

Bad Aim.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 9.—A tragedy took place at Pittston this morning. Miss Kate Connell, aged 24, found a revolver in her brother's pocket. It contained two cartridges. She hoisted the window and began firing at some sparrows. One of the bullets struck Mrs. C. Kelly, an aged woman who was in the yard at the time. Death resulted almost instantly. Miss Connell gave herself up and was committed to jail. It is feared that she will lose her mind over the occurrence.

Storm in Oklahoma.

El Reno, Okla., July 9.—After three days of terrible heat El Reno was visited by a terrific wind and sand storm; The Northern Methodist African church, the residence of Fred Hulz and of W. L. Wilson and the Texas livery stables were demolished and many buildings were damaged, roofs being blown off and windows smashed. Several people were painfully injured, but it is not known that any one was killed. During the storm sand filled the air and it was dark as night.

Secures a Divorce.

Sioux Falls, S. D., July 9.—Mrs. Nellie B. Monroe has just succeeded in securing a divorce from her husband, G. W. Monroe of Brooklyn. Mrs. Monroe is an actress and has appeared in several leading New York companies, and was at one time in the company with Booth. Mrs. Monroe has told that she would soon wed John Hagen of St. Louis, who is the proprietor of a big opera house there, and who has recently been elected alderman after a hard fight.

Judge Fitzpatrick Dead.

Butte, Mont., July 9. — A dispatch from Salt Lake announces the sudden death there of Judge Moses Kirkpatrick of this city, one of the foremost in the Northwest. He was in the early '60s a law partner of Senator Stewart of Nevada, and was at one time a candidate for the supreme judgeship of that state. The last ten years he has been principal attorney for the Anaconda Mining company.

Agricultural College President.

Brookings, S. D., July 9.—The board of trustees of the agricultural college met in this city to-day. It elected Hon. O. T. Gratton of Elkton, S. D., president, and left for Huron, where the board of regents will meet to-morrow.

Rain and Wind.

Peabody, Kan., July 9.—A terrible storm of rain and wind visited this town and vicinity to-day. Much damage to barns, windmills and crops by the wind is reported. The Doyal river rose about eight feet in three hours, and many bridges were in danger of being washed out.

Catholic Summer School.

Plattsburg, N. Y., July 9—The fourth annual session of the Catholic summer school of America was formally opened at St. John's church to-day.

KILLS HIS FAMILY.

WHOLESALE MURDER AND A SUICIDE IN CHICAGO.

A Well-to-Do Mason Contractor Kills His Wife, Their Four Children and Himself by Turning on the Gas in Their Bed Rooms.

Chicago, July 7.—Frederick Hellman, a well-to-do mason contractor, murdered his wife and four children last night and then killed himself. It was at first supposed that Hellman and his wife and children met death by accident, but it developed at the coroner's inquest that the wholesale murder was calmly planned, and that the man intended to kill himself and end the existence of the members of his family.

The dead man and his victims are: Frederick Hellman, aged 52; Miss Ida Hellman, 32; Fred Hellman, Jr., 11; Ida Hellman, 10; William Hellman, 7; Hedwig Hellman, 3.

The tragedy took place in a little brick cottage at the corner of Cornelia and Wood streets. The motive for the deed is unknown, but is supposed to be the act of a madman as Hellman about ten years ago had a sunstroke from which he never recovered completely.

Suspicion was first aroused this morning by the fact that the house in which the Hellmans lived was tightly closed long after the usual hour for the family to be astir. The mother and married sister of Hellman, who lived next door, attempted to break into the house but were unable to do so. They finally managed to force an entrance through a window that had been left unfastened and made their way to one of the bed rooms, where the dead bodies of all the family were found. The house was so full of gas that the two women were nearly overcome, and it was only after it had been opened up that it was found possible to turn off the gas which was streaming from an open jet. The relatives and neighbors at once circulated that the deaths had been the result of an accident, and the police, when they came, adhered to the same opinion. The open gas jet was just above the bed in which the mother and one of the children lay, and it was supposed that one of them had during the night accidentally hit the stop-cock and knocked it open. At the inquest, however, an entirely different complexion was given the matter by Charles, a brother of Hellman. He had not been summoned as a witness, and when he was asked to take the stand it was not expected that his testimony would be anything out of the ordinary. He, however, produced a letter written by the murderer and suicide on the previous evening in which he clearly showed purpose of killing himself, although he gave no intimation of the fact that he was meditating killing his family also.

TORE UP HIS MONEY.

A Kentuckian Is Then Thought to Have Suicided.

Chicago, July 7.—The police believe now that the mystery surrounding the $3,000 worth of torn money found on the lake shore between Twenty-second and Twenty-sixth streets a week ago is solved. They believe that the money was torn up by John Chambers of Covington, Ky., and that his body is now under the waves of Lake Michigan.

Chambers is about twenty-eight years of age, and is said to belong to an excellent family in Covington. Some time ago he left home with about $35,000 in his possession, and in company with a young woman. About a month ago he was seen in Seattle, Wash., by William T. Trimble, a fellow townsman. Chambers told Trimble that he had been to Sitka, Alaska, and that all his money was gone excepting $6,000. The young woman and he had parted company, and Chambers, according to his own statement, was "bound for the East, probably Chicago." Trimble returned to Covington, and made a report to the family of Chambers. While he was in Covington the story of the torn money, and of the board which was found on the shore, bearing the words "I am tired of life. John Chambers." was published. Trimble was at once urged to return to Chicago to make further inquiries regarding the missing man, and neither he nor the police have now any doubt that Chambers has killed himself.

INDIANS AND FIREWATER.

The Usual Result When the Two Become Mixed.

Sioux City, July 7.—A number of the citizens of Homer, Neb., a small town across the river from here, are in trouble with the federal authorities for furnishing whisky to Indians. The place is near the Winnebago reservation, and yesterday a number of red men visited town to celebrate. Several business men induced them to run foot races, giving them whisky at the end of each heat. As a result the Indians soon became intoxicated and a small sized riot ensued in which knives were drawn and several persons badly hurt. A number of arrests have been made, and the responsible parties are likely to be heavily fined.

Arrested for Horse Stealing.

Eden Valley, Minn., July 7.—Sheriff Thorson of Pope county came here yesterday and arrested a man who goes by the name of James Hunt for horse stealing.

Mike the Witch Burner.

Dublin, July 7.—Michael Cleary of Ballyvedlea, near Clonmel, was convicted of manslaughter to-day in causing the death of his wife, Bridget Cleary, on March 14 last, by burning and otherwise illtreating her, on the ground that she was bewitched.

Murdered Man's Body Found.

Omaha, July 7.—The body of Sejan, who was butchered Tuesday last by four men and a woman, and whose remains most mysteriously disappeared, was found in the river to-day.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO

ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arrive Crookston Daily
St.Paul Minneapolis Superior, Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.40a. m.	7:35 am
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	7.25 a m.	7:10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston daily has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or special information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. R. at Crookston Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marsha
North Side Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for in or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON R. R. TRACT ST. HILAIRE

W. A. Sorsoleil

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers' price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS
COPYRIGHTS.

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free.

Building Edition, monthly, $2.50 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY.

BREVITIES.

Go to Johnson & Marshall's for lime cement, etc.

Andrew Berg is giving his dwelling a coat of paint this week,

Sash and doors cheap for cash at Johnson & Marshall's.

Mrs. M. Jeffers returned home from Fergus Falls last Friday.

C. G. Rapp is doing business at Crookston this week.

Mrs. S. Harris visited at Thief River Falls short time to-day.

W. W. Emmons of St. Paul was in town between trains last Monday.

Prof Casey of Red Lake Falls was in town between trains last Friday.

W. B. Dawley of Crookston was in town between trains last Monday

George Ossman of St. Paul was in town last Monday buying hides and furs

James powers of Thief River Falls was doing business in town last Friday

Carl Johnson made a short business trip to Thief River Falls last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Peters visited friends at Red Lake Falls last Friday,

Jack Thill the Wylie wheat buyer was in town on business last Monday.

J. E. Morrissey of Crookston was doing business in town the first of the week,

S. M. Dainard made a short business trip to Red Lake the latter part of last week,

Levi Strandan left yesterday for Moorhead where he will reside in the future.

J. D. Marshall of Red Lake Falls was looking after his business interests here to-day,

H. O. Hanson of Thief River Falls was in town a short time on his way to Stephen.

Mrs. and Miss Evens of Thief River Falls was in town last Monday on their way to Crookston.

J. W. Wheeler and wife of Crookston were in town to-day on their way home from Thief River Falls.

R. B. Vining the wholesale liquor dealer of Thief River Falls was in town to-day on business.

S. C. Bagley, of Fosston, head contractor for the Red River Lumber Co., was in town on business today,

Mike Fricker of Larimore N. D. came over to-day and will spend a few days with friends here.

Henry Norland went down to Crookston last Friday to attend a meeting of the County Commissioners.

Last Friday was the hottest day of the season the thermometer registering 98 degrees in the shade.

Mrs S. M. Dainard spent the past the past week in the country east of here visiting relatives.

Mrs C. J. Knox of Thief River Falls was in town a short time last Monday on her way to Minneapolis.

Quite a number of our citizens drove to Thief River Falls last Monday night to take in the Luteman Concert,

Miss Bye closed her Millinery Store and will leave for Thief River Falls today to visit friends for a few days.

Miss Katie Powers of Thief River was in town last Friday on her way to attend the teachers training school,

K. O. Gigstad who has been sick for some time past left last Monday for St. Paul to consult a physician there.

Stone Wanted
$4.00 per cord paid for stone delivered at the St. Hilaire dam,

John Dainard left last Monday for his farm in North Dakota, where he will remain during haying and harvesting

Emil Holmes came up from Goodhue Co; last Monday and will make his headquarters here the balance of the year,

Miss Fletcher of Red Lake Falls was in the village a short time last Friday on her way to Crookston to attend the training school

Miss Louisa Swenson left last Friday for Crookston where she will attend the teachers training school which opened there last Monday.

D. Patterson and family returned last Saturday from their outing at Maple Lake They report having had a very pleasant time.

The hot weather last Friday was followed by a violent wind and thunder storm. Heavy grain was lodged some what but no serious damage was done.

The young folks of the village enjoyed a pleasant dance in Bjerks Hall last Saturday evening. About twenty couple were present.

J. H. Fenno has been busy the past week decorating the interior of his tonsorial parlor. He has done some neat work and now has a very attractive place of business

For Sale
Hay Stumpage on NW ¼ Sec 2 Tp. 152—44 Address.
P. S. Ware Thief River Falls

In another column will be found the advertisement of L. L. May & Co, nurserymen and florists. This is a reliable firm who pay their agents good wages and handle none but the very best goods,

The passenger Steamer Alice Meehan leaves Thief River Falls every Monday and Friday for points on Red Lake Special rates given to excursion parties For further information apply to Jas. Meehan Jr. Thief River Falls,

The morning of the 4th dawned bright and clear and a large number of people came to town prepared to celebrate in grand style but fate willed it otherwise and owing to the heavy rain in the afternoon only a small part of the program was carried out: S M Hoff hall was was secured for the dance in the evening and the large building was crowded with dancers until the small hours of the morning.

The business year for Uncle Sam ended on June 20th, and the books are closed at that time. The government land office in this city makes a very flattering showing for the fiscal year. During the month of June 1895 the homestead entries numbered 143 and for the six months ending June 30, there were 692, while for the year last past the total number was 1,055. The final homestead proofs during June were and for the year 276 This shows a flattering increase over the business done during the previous year when the original homestead entries were only 415 for the entire year. The immigration into the northern counties and out in the county adjacent to Red Lake accounts for the increase. The local land office has an added clerk allowed to keep up with the extra amount of business which the increased work brings in.—Crookston Times,

Ex-Senator Hoard, editor of the Montevideo Leader, thus manfully frees himself from the lash of the would-be bosses:

A great effort has been made by certain so-called leaders of the republican party in Minnesota to commit the party in this state to the hard money side of the question. To that end the Pioneer Press and Minneapolis Tribune have been whipping the fellows in, or trying to do so, for weeks and months, and to that end a feed was arranged at St. Paul a week or so ago, when such great lights as Merriam, Davis, Nelson and others were called on as a "steering committee" to keep us poor devils in line with the Cleveland-Sherman-Rothchilds wing of the republican party. Now we hate to be steered, even by our friends, and especially when we don't feel like going that way. It is all very well to talk about unity and about fighting the common enemy and winning a glorious victory. but we don,t happen to be a Cleveland republican, nor a Wall Street republican, nor a British republican, nor a monometalist republican, nor do we propose to accept froth and foam and glittering generalities, when plain words and square pledges are needed. If the republican party will stand pat for bimetallism—honest bimetallism, and facing that way will work earnestly and honestly for that end, we are with them, but if the definition of bimetallism is to be changed to gold monometallism, with silver barred from its equal right with gold, as an absolute and ultimate measure of values, then please excuse us for waiting and watching awhile.

It is manly men like this who make a party great, It is not cheap trucklers whose political acts are all measured by a little immediate personal gain.—Midway News,

City Dray Line
AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. HOFF'S.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred and eighty seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary Richard and Charles Richard her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 29th day of November 1890, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 9th day of December 189[illegible] at 1 o'clock p. m., in book 43 of mortgages, on page [illegible], and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz:

The North west quarter of Section thirty two in Township one hundred and fifty one of Range forty three in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 17 th day of August 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest; and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law

Dated June 17th A. D. 1895.
Security Trust Co., of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.
R. J. Montague, Crookston Minn attorney.

WANTED—Salesmen.

LOCAL AND TRAVELING. A good chance! Don't miss it! You need no capital to represent a reliable firm that warrants nursery stock first class and true to name. WORK ALL THE YEAR, and good pay weekly. Our famous Minnetonka Apple is warranted until it produces a bushel of fruit Our seed potatoes sell everywhere. State age L. L. MAY & Co.

NURSERYMEN FLORISTS AND SEEDSMEN. St. Paul Minn.

Notice of Sale

I will offer for sale at public auction on Saturday July 13th 1895 at James Madden,s farm in Section 21 Tp 152 R 41. One bay mare about six years old which was taken up astray May 15th
Tom Madden

Are You Going East?

If so and you wish to avoid heat dust, and worriment of an all rail route and at the same time secure those genuine pleasures of traveling, comfort rest pleasant companionship, exhileration sleep and good food, relishing appetite and every luxury one can ask for try the lake route from Duluth to Buffalo on one of those floating palaces of the Northern Steamship Company "North West" or "North Land?

They are the largest, fastest and best equipped steamers on fresh water anywhere, and the equal of the finest ocean grey—hounds. — Leader Montevideo, Minn.

Good News to farmers.

W. A. Sorsoleil will give you 50 pounds of good flour for a bushel of wheat, at Johnson & Marshall's ware house,

Regular meeting of the village council Monday July 2nd A. D. 1895.

All members present except Dainard and Patterson.

Meeting called to order by Recorder.

On motion E. M Hoff was appointed president protem

Minutes of previous regular and special meetings read and approved

On motion the following bills were allowed

C. W. Peters one day on election $2.00

H. E. Ives publishing ordinances $19. 50

Do publishing side walk notice bids for bonds Health notice and bids for bonds. $16. 16

James Dainard making arrest etc. $1,22.

Daily Globe bids for bonds $4.75

Daniel Patterson Judge of election one day Equalization and ½ yr council man $6.50

B. E. Burkee assessing village, $28.00

E. R Williamson and Co: printing $8.00

S Harris street work $9.00

Andrew Berg one day equalization $2.00

Bill of Brown and Tressy laid on table till next meeting.

On motion meeting adjourned,

S. M. Dainard
Village President.
Attest J. L. Johnson
Recorder.

Dr H. GRUNDY
Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of, Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis
DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS AND CIGARS.
Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.
Broadway St. Hilaire

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY.

The NEW and the RIGHT WAY

EAST and WEST

TO ALL PACIFIC COAST POINTS AND TRANSPACIFIC PORTS.

TIME CARD.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily.		Daily
NO. 3 North and West		NO 2 South and East
7 45 p m Depart	St. Paul	Arrives 7 15 am
8 15 p m	Minneapolis	6 45 am
3 05 a m	Barnesville	11 15 am
5 35 am Ar	Crookston	De 8 35 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH
MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

9 00 am De	Crookston	Ar 6 00 pm
11 00 am Ar	St. Hilaire	De 4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.00 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1 20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm Close connections made at Minneapolis and St. Paul for all points East and South.

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY G. P. & T. A. St. Paul
H. J. FREEMAN Agt. St. Hilaire

NORTHERN STEAMSHIP COMPANY,

The magnificent steamships "North West" and "North Land" leave Duluth Mondays and Fridays for the "Soo" Mackinac island, Detroit Cleveland and Buffalo. running in connection with Great Northern trains, (Eastern Railway of Minnesota), St. Paul and Minneapolis. Round trip tickets include the lake route either going or returning on sale by Great Northern Agents

No one should go East and back without using the delightful lake route one way at least For printed matter and information about the steamship tour apply to any agent of the Great Northern.

LANDS

Fertile, sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from

$2.00 to $6.00 PER ACRE.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP,
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 23	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.00
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 2.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 4.70
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.01 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.00 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	2.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP;
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.00
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	5.00 to 6.00

I will sell the hay on the above described lands for the season of 1895 at reasonable prices. All persons are hereby warned not to cut hay on any of these lands without first making contract for same, For further information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

Impetuous People

are sometimes figuratively spoken of as not above setting things on fire just for the fun of

Seeing Them Burn

Close competition breeds impetuosity, and in our earnest pushing for trade it often happens that we mark goods away down just for the fun of

Seeing Them Sell

Somebody has exclaimed: "Oh, the impetuosity of the idiocy of the tumultuous idiot!" This remark will never apply to you if in your rush for bargains you get into the right store, which of course is ours.

E. M. HOFF
DEALER IN
General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!

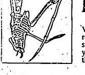
Great Bargain Sale of FARM MACHINERY
AT
J. E. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mowers at $10 each and a full line of walking and breaking plow which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise.



PTERODACTYL

We print a likeness of the skeleton of this remarkable paleontological reptile because some of its physical characteristics are synonymous with our business methods. Perhaps the most striking similarity may be found in its

Little Finger and our

Big Bargains

Its little finger is very large: and so are our bargains. The paradox of a little finger being big may be likened to the paradoxical inducements we offer you.

Profits and Hind Feet Small

Its hind feet are out of all proportion to its fore feet, just as our profit is overshadowed by the buyer's. Its large head represents the size of our stock. The many years that have elapsed since the time when this creature flourished will hint at the wearing quality of our goods.

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. E. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

Advance, $1.50.
Not in Advance, $2.00 Per Year

Entered at the St. Hilaire Post Office as Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY July 10 1895

WHERE HUXLEY FAILED.

The Great Scientist, as a Manipulator of Shears, Shamed by a Porter.

Rather a good story is told about Professor Huxley when he was delivering a lecture to the Literary and Philosophical society, Newcastle-on-Tyne, about 20 years ago. The subject was "The Geographical Distribution of Fossil Remains of Animals;" consequently numerous diagrams were required. Old Alexander, the porter of the institution and quite a distinguished character among the members of the society, was assisting the professor to hang the diagrams. The screen on which the diagrams were hung was not very large, and Huxley, do as he would, could not prevent the blank corner of one diagram overlapping the illustration of another one on which the professor placed great importance.

What was to be done? The professor asked Alexander to bring a pair of scissors. Lord Armstrong (then Sir William), Dr. Watson and several others were present at the time. The scissors were brought, but as the joint was somewhat loose the professor was not able to cut the paper and threw the scissors down in disgust, adding that they were useless.

"Vera guid shears, professor," said Alexander.

"I tell you they won't cut," said Huxley.

"Try again," said Alexander. "They will cut."

The professor tried again, and not succeeding said somewhat angrily, "Bring me another pair of scissors."

Sir William Armstrong then stepped forward and ordered Alexander to go and buy a new pair.

"Vera guid shears, Sir William," persisted Alexander, and picking up the scissors from the table and placing his thumb and forefinger into the handles he stepped forward and asked Huxley how he wanted the paper cut.

"I tell you they won't cut," said the professor.

"Bring me a new pair instantly," said Sir William.

"A tell'ee ther-r vera guid shears, only the professor canna cut wi' them," replied Alexander.

"Well, then, cut it there," said Huxley somewhat tartly, at the same time indicating the place with his forefinger. Alexander took hold of the paper, and inserting the scissors pressed the blades together and cut off the required portion as neatly as if he had used a straightedge; then, turning to the professor, with a rather significant leer and twinkle of the eye, said, "Sceence an' airt dinna gang thegither, professor."

The professor and all present collapsed. Huxley put his hand into his pocket, and taking out a sovereign gave it to Alexander, adding at the same time, "You have done me." The same evening Alexander related the story with great gusto over a glass of whisky to a friend. When asked how he dared to make so free with such a distinguished man, he replied with great emphasis, "Lord, mon, they bits o' professor bodies ken naething at a' except their buiks."—Westminster Gazette.

The Great Air Whale.

The native inhabitants of the Fiji islands believe thunder to be the bellowing of the great air whale, a mythical creature which, according to their folklore stories, inhabits the opposite side of all thunderclouds. If the regulation thundercloud appears unaccompanied by the ominous rumblings peculiar to such phenomena, they take it as a token that the Great Spirit is pleased with their past doing. If, however, on the other hand, the detonations be frequent and violent, they are sure that the god of the elements is displeased and immediately engage themselves in all sorts of ludicrous incantations for the purpose of righting matters. Lightning is to them the result of the air whale gnashing his teeth together and thus striking fire. Another peculiarity of this primitive people lies in the fact that they will not partake of food while a thundercloud is in sight, fearing that the air whale will pounce upon and devour them for such irreverence.—St. Louis Republic.

Circlograph For Draftsmen.

Mr. Thomas Clarkson, C. E., of Mark Lane, E. C., has brought out a useful instrument for scientific draftsmen called the "circlograph." It enables him to draw curves to practically any radius and is based on the fact that strips of steel of uniform thickness can be bent into circular curves by pressure on their ends. The circlograph is a handy little instrument and is calculated to save much valuable time.—London Globe.

Pained.

"Henry, you look worried. What is the trouble?"

"I was stung to the quick by an adder this afternoon."

"Heavens! How did it happen?"

"Why, I went to the bank this afternoon, and the bank clerk, after adding up the ledger, told me my account was overdrawn."—London Tit-Bits.

U. S Land Office

Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U. S Land Office at Crookston Minn on June 8 1895 viz:

Simon E. Ahlberg of St. Hilaire Minn. H E no. 12979 for the S ½ NE ¼ and Lots 1 and 2 Sec. 1 Twp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land, viz:

Carl Sundal, Anton Sundal Gilbert Anfinson. Tollef Erickson, all of St. Hilaire Polk county Minn.

T. A. Dunlava, Register

UNIMAGINATIVE BEGGARS.

Novelist Howells Says They Rarely Tell a Good Story.

In "Tribulations of a Cheerful Giver," in Century, W. D. Howells gives the following experiences with the begging fraternity:

I must say that his statement of his own case is usually incoherent and sometimes seems even a little fabulous. The poor fellows have very little imagination or invention. They might almost as well be realistic novelists. I find that those who strike me for a night's lodging when they stop me in the street at night come, as a rule, from Pittsburg and are iron workers of some sort. The last one said he was a puddler, "a skilled mechanic," he explained, "what is called a skilled mechanic," and of course he was only watching for some chance to get back to Pittsburg, though there was no chance of work, from what he told me, after he got here. On the other hand, I find that most of those who ask by day for money to get a dinner are from Philadelphia or the rural parts of eastern Pennsylvania, though within six months I have extended hospitality—I think that is the right phrase—to two architectural draftsmen from Boston. They were both entirely decent looking, sober looking young men who spoke like men of education, and they each gratefully accepted a quarter from me. I do not attempt to account for them, for they made no attempt to account for themselves, and I think the effect was more artistic so.

I am rarely approached by any professed New Yorker, which is perhaps a proof of the superior industry or prosperity of our city, but now and then a fellow citizen who has fallen out asks me for money in the street and perhaps goes straight and spends it for drink. Drink, however, is as necessary in some forms as food itself, and a rich, generous port wine is often prescribed for invalids. These men, without exception, look like invalids, and I have no doubt that they would prefer to buy a rich, generous port wine if I gave them money enough. I never do that, though I have a means of making my alms seem greater, to myself at least, by practicing a little cordiality with the poor fellows. I do not give grudgingly or silently, but I say, if I give at all, when they ask me, "Why, of course," or, "Yes, certainly," and sometimes I invite them to use their feeble powers of invention in my behalf and tell how they wish me to think they have come to the sad pass of beggary. This seems to flatter them, and it makes me feel much better, which is really my motive for doing it.

Now and then they will offer me some apology for begging in a tone that says, "I know how it is myself," and once there was one who began by saying, "I know it's a shame for a strong man like me to be begging, but"— They seldom have any devices for working me beyond the simple statement of their destitution, though there was a case in which I helped a poor fellow raise a quarter upon a postal order, which he then kept as a pledge of my good faith. Their main reliance seems to be lead pencils, which they have in all inferior variety. I find that they will take it kindly if you do not want any change back when you have given them a coin worth more than they asked for the pencil; and that they will even let you off without taking the pencil after you have bought it. In the end you have to use some means to save yourself from the accumulation of pencils unless you are willing to burn them for kindling wood, and I find the simplest way is not to take them after you have paid for them. It is amusing how quickly you can establish a comity with those pencil people. They will not only let you leave your pencils with them, but they will sometimes excuse you from buying if you remind them that you have bought of them lately. Then if they do not remember you they at least smile politely and pretend to do so.

A Novel Use For the Sand Blast.

The sand blast is now regularly used by a London firm in engraving lithographic stones. The whole surface of the stone is first impregnated with grease, so that if inked it will print a uniform black. The sand blast is then allowed to play on the surface under most careful control. Its action is to remove entirely the grease from all portions that are not to print—that is to say, intended to show white, to granulate or more or less destroy it upon those parts which are to give different tones of shading and to leave it intact upon those that are to print black. All that remains of the original greased surface alone prints, the stones being wet, as usual, prior to inking for every impression.

An Ardent Patriot.

Hogan—Fwat are ye wearin the green glasses on your nose for, Grogan?

Grogan—Me eyes are a bit sore.

Hogan—Oi t'ought perhaps ye wore thim for the sake of ould Oireland—the green above the red.—Indianapolis Journal.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of nine hundred and thirty-two dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Ole P. Stokke and Tolne Stokke his wife mortgagors, to Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 3rd day of August 1890, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 7th day of August 1890, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in Book 43 of mortgages on page 54 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty in Township one hundred and forty-nine of Range forty-seven, in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 8th day of June 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated April 5th A. D 1895.

Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee

J. Montague, attorney. Crookston Minn

U. S. LAND OFFICE

Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the register or receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on July 2 1895. viz:

Carl Wik of St. Hilaire Minn. H D no 13344 for the SE ¼ Sec. 35 Twp. 152 R. 43,

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

Hakon Johnson, Frank Satterberg, Jonas Fohgstrom, Peter Anderson all of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of five hundred and eighty-seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary A. Holnvik and Hans M. Holnvik her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee, bearing date the 17th day of December 1890 and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 19th day of December 1890, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in book 50 of mortgages, on page 112 Which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned by said Security Trust Co. of Nashua N. H. mortgagee to Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper by written assignment dated on the 7th day of January 1891 and recorded in the office of the Register of deeds on the 24th day of January 1891 at 8:40 o clock a. m., in Book 56 of mortgages, on page 83 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The north west quarter of Section 15 in Township One hundred and Forty-seven in Range Forty-five in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston in said County and State, on the 8th day of June 1895 at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 1st A. D. 1895.

Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper,
Assignee of mortgagee.

R. J. Montague, attorney, Crookston Minn.

ORDINANCE NO. XII,

Concerning Dogs.

The Village Council of the Village of St. Hilaire do ordain as follows:

Sec. I. That any dog bitch or slut or any animal of the dog kind owned or being in the possession of any resident of or any person in the village of St. Hilaire shall be registered by such person or resident with the village recorder on the 1st day of July of each year and shall at the same time pay to said recorder for the use of said village a tax of Two [$2.00] Dollars for each dog and Five [$5.00] Dollars for each bitch or slut so owned and possessed by such resident or person. Every owner or possessor of any dog bitch or slut or any animal of the dog kind shall procure from the village recorder a certificate which shall state plainly therein the number and date of such license, the name of such owner or possessor, and the name of such dog, bitch or slut so licensed, and shall pay the village recorder for the use of said village the sum of ten cents for each certificate. The village recorder shall at the commencement of each municipal year provide a tag for every dog, bitch or slut licensed during his term of office said tag to have a distinguishable difference from those used in previous years.

Sec. 2. No person shall suffer his or her dog, bitch, slut or whelp to run at large within the limits of said village unless such animal wears a collar with the tag number and name distinctly engraved stamped or written thereon.

Sec. 3. It shall be lawful for the village dog inspector to kill or destroy any dog, whelp, bitch or slut found running at large within the limits of the village contrary to the provisions of this ordinance.

Sec. 4. No person shall suffer to be allowed to run at large in said village or streets thereof any dog bitch slut or whelp of a ferocious character, habit or disposition nor in the habit of barking at or in any manner annoying any person passing along or using the street or streets of said village and the village dog inspector is hereby empowered to kill or cause to be killed any such animal if found on the street or at large in said village.

Sec. 5. The dog inspector shall proceed under instructions from the president to capture and slaughter all dogs not properly licensed and collared and all dogs so slaughtered he shall bury or cause to be buried for which service he shall receive one ($1.00) dollar for each dog so slaughtered and buried upon presentation of his bill to the village council for approval, the sum to be paid out of the general village fund. The dog inspector shall receive no payment for services or expenses other than herein provided.

Sec. 6 Any person violating any of the provisions of the foregoing sections of this ordinance on conviction thereof before the justice of the peace in and for the village of St. Hilaire Minn. shall be fined in a sum not less than fifteen [$15.00] dollars and cost of prosecution and may be imprisoned not exceeding twenty (20) days in the county jail until such fine is paid.

Sec. 7. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Passed by the Village Council of the Village of St. Hilaire Minn. this 3rd day of June A. D 1895

S. M. Dainard
Pres. of Vill. Council

Attest
J. L. Johnson
Village Recorder.

SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

—DEALERS IN—

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES,

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath. Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always on hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

E. T. SPAFFORd & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE

HIGHEST MARKET PRICES

FOR

All kinds of

CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats,

Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD.

Manager.

THE

ST. HILAIRE

TOWNSITE

COMPANY

Will sell for the next

60 days

DESIRABLE RESIDENCE

LOTS

From $25 to $100.

ALSO FIRST CLASS BUSINESS PROPERTY AT HARD PAN PRICES.

Apply to

H. E. IVES Agt.

ST. HILAIRE MINN.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

Barbershop in connection

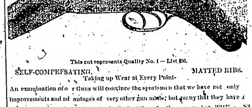
BROADWAY St. HILAIRE

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST -DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200,

BARRELS,5 0.



This cut represents Quality No. 1 — List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING. MATTED RIBS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point.

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsmen that we have not only improvements and advantages of every other gun made; but many that they have and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money but THE BEST G TING GUNS

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers — — ITHACA, N.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

Heavy and Shelf

HARDWARE

HEADQUARTERS FOR

HUNTER' SUPPLIES

MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS

BINDING TWINE

P 8 1 9 cents a pound.

NEW GOODS PRICES

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

AMERICAN HOTEL.

W. A. ARTHUR Proprietor.

NEWLY FURNISHED

STRICTLY FIRST CLASS

Special attention given to traveling men, Hunting, Fishing and Excursion parties.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.
DR.
PRICE'S
CREAM
BAKING
POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

OUTNIMRODS OLD NIM.

The Petaluma Pot-Hunter Tells a Story of the Chase.

Frank Timins, the Petaluma pot hunter, had the floor, and the crowd around the stove breathlessly awaited a thrilling story of the chase.

"You want a story of the chase, eh?" repeated Timins. "Well, I'll tell you about the greatest bit of chasin' I ever did in my life. I wuz out huntin' one day fer quail with my ole muzzle-loadin' shotgun, when three quail jumped up out of a bush right ahead of me. One flew to the right, one to the left and the other straight ahead, but I got 'em all three."

"Killed three quail going in different directions with a muzzle-loadin' shotgun?" replied one of the listeners incredulously.

"Yep, that's what I done."

"Your gun must have had three barrels, then."

"Nope, only two."

"How did you do it?"

"Well, I killed the one that went to the right with the right barrel; then quick as a flash I killed the one that went to the left with the other barrel; then I took after the one that went straight ahead and knocked the stuffin' out of it with the ramrod."

"I wouldn't believe that if I told it myself," declared one of the assemblage.

"Huh! That ain't nothin'. I killed six quail with one barrel once, and they wuz all flyin' in different directions."

"Run 'em all down?"

"Nope; never moved out o' my tracks. When they all started out o' the same bunch of grass I held the gun away over to the right, an' as it went off I swept it aroun' to the left. The result was that I slung shot in every direction, same as you can sling water outen a pan, an' a little of the shot ketched ev'ry one."—San Francisco Post.

"Hitch Your Wagon to a Star,"

as Emerson said,—that is, don't be content with any bicycle except the best one made—the COLUMBIA. Matchless as these famous bicycles have been in past years, you will rub your eyes when you see the quality and beauty of the 1895 models—$100.

POPE MFG. CO.
General Offices and Factories, HARTFORD.
BOSTON, NEW YORK, CHICAGO, SAN FRANCISCO, PROVIDENCE, BUFFALO.

You need the Columbia Catalogue, a work of art, that shows every detail of peerless Columbias and superb Hartfords. The book is free if you call at a Columbia agency; by mail for two 2-cent stamps.

Metal Wheels for your Wagons

Any size you want, 20 to 56 inches high. Tires 1 to 8 inches wide—hubs to fit any axle. Saves Cost many times in a season to have set of low wheels to fit your wagon for hauling grain, fodder, manure, hogs, &c. No resetting of tires. Cat'l'g free. Address Empire Mfg. Co., P. O. Box 53, Quincy Ill.

DAVIS CREAM SEPARATORS
A Peerless Leader. Successful, Meritorious. Pamphlet Mailed Free. AGENTS WANTED.
DAVIS & RANKIN BLDG. & MFG. CO.
Sole Manufacturers,
240-254 W. Lake St
Chicago, Ill.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c, and $1.00 at Druggists

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.
Successfully Prosecutes Claims.
Late Principal Examiner U. S. Pension Bureau.
3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR 25 CTS.
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

N. W. N. U. No. 28—1895.

A Busy Blind Woman.

Miss Alice King, the novelist, who has been wholly blind from the age of seven, became a fearless horsewoman, and would gallop over hills and along rough moorland paths that would have been impassable to any but the most proficient rider. Miss King, who was educated at home, gained more or less proficiency in seven languages besides her own, namely, French, German, Italian, Spanish, Latin, Greek and Hebrew. All her literary work has been done with a typewriter, and with its aid she could write as quickly as a person with sight ordinarily writes with a pen. All Miss King's time not taken up with these literary labors was occupied in teaching and improving the workingmen and lads in her father's parish; and by her own efforts this unwearying blind girl established for them a reading room, cricket club, a band and other pleasures.—London News.

Does He Chew or Smoke?

If so it is only a question of time when bright eyes grow dim, manly steps lose firmness, and the vigor and vitality so enjoyable now be destroyed forever. Get a book, titled "Don't Tobacco Spit or Smoke Your Life Away," and learn how No-To-Bac, without physical or financial risk, cures the tobacco habit, brings back the vigorous vitality that will make you both happy. No-To-Bac sold and guaranteed to cure by Druggists everywhere. Book free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., New York City or Chicago.

Almost Everything.

"Mandy," said Farmer Corntossel, as he sat down a bucket of spring water against the doorpost, "ain't the Goddess of Liberty a female?"

"Course."

"Ain't Queen Victoria a lady?"

"Certainly."

"Ain't all our ships called she?"

"Invariably."

"Ain't the statoo of Freedom in the feminine gender?"

"It is."

"Well, what do you 'mancipated women want, anyhow—the earth?"—Exchange.

Life in the Suburbs.

Little Son—Mamma, there a tramp coming in the gate.

Mrs. Suburb—Mercy me! You go up stairs and stomp around so he'll think it's your father, and I'll put some tobacco on the stove.—New York Weekly.

When Traveling,

Whether on pleasure bent, or business, take on every trip a bottle of Syrup of Figs, as it acts most pleasantly and effectually on the kidneys, liver and bowels, preventing fevers, headaches and other forms of sickness. For sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all the leading druggists. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only.

The Usual Choice.

Jinks—Let's go to one of the theaters to-night.

Blinks—All right. Which do you prefer—a good company with a poor play, or a poor company with a good play?—New York Weekly.

J. A. JOHNSON, Medina, N. Y., says: "Hall's Catarrh Cure cured me." Sold by Druggists, 75c.

For Summer Wear.

Aunty—These ear-muffs of yours don't look very warm.

Niece—Oh, I don't wear them in winter. They belong to my Asbury Park bathing suit.—New York Weekly.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

A Bad Break.

Charles—I see, Maud, you have got my photograph in a place of honor.

Maud—Yes; I always reserve this place for the man I am engaged—that is—I meant to say—And it took her half an hour to explain away that unlucky speech and restore confidence.

ON THE ROAD to recovery, the young woman who is taking Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. In maidenhood, womanhood, wifehood and motherhood the "Prescription" is a supporting tonic and nervine that's peculiarly adapted to her needs, regulating, and strengthening the system and curing the derangements of the sex. Why is it so many women owe their beauty to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription? Because beauty of form and face radiate from the common center—health. The best bodily condition results from good food, fresh air and exercise coupled with the judicious use of the "Prescription."

It reaches the origin of the trouble and corrects it.

ALLEN'S IRON TONIC BITTERS
The most elegant Blood Purifier, Liver Invigorator, Tonic and Appetizer known. It builds up and fortifies the whole system, invigorates the liver, aids digestion and cures dyspepsia. The first Iron Tonic Bitters ever advertised in America. Get the genuine.
J. P. ALLEN, Druggist and Chemist,
ST. PAUL, MINN.

LEWIS' 98 % LYE
POWDERED AND PERFUMED
(PATENTED)
The strongest and purest Lye made. Unlike other Lye, it being a fine powder and packed in a can with removable lid, the contents are always ready for use. Will make the best perfumed Hard Soap in 20 minutes without boiling. It is the best for cleansing waste pipes, disinfecting sinks, closets, washing bottles, paints, trees, etc.
PENNA. SALT M'F'G CO.
Gen. Agents, Phila., Pa.

LINENE REVERSIBLE
Raphael, Angelo, Rubens, Tasso
The "LINENE" are the Best and Most Economical Collars and Cuffs worn; they are made of fine cloth, both sides finished alike, and, being reversible, one collar is equal to two of any other kind.
They fit well, wear well and look well. A box of Ten Collars or Five Pairs of Cuffs for Twenty-Five Cents.
A Sample Collar and Pair of Cuffs by mail for Six Cents. Name style and size. Address
REVERSIBLE COLLAR COMPANY,
77 Franklin St., New York. 27 Kilby St., Boston.

Throat Paralysis.

(From the Courier-Herald, Saginaw, Mich.)

It was publicly talked all over Clare County for some time before the Courier-Herald sent a reporter to Dover to investigate the Coulter matter. He finally went, and we publish to-day his report. The Coulters are prominent people, though Mrs. C. in response to the question whether she objected to being interviewed, said, "Certainly not." Her story follows: "About 14 years ago, we decided to take up our abode in Dover and everything went along smoothly for seven years, business progressed and being of a saving temperament we accumulated quite an amount. Our family increased as the years rolled by and we now have 5 children, but sickness made its way into our household, and doctors' bills flooded upon us, until we have nothing left but our home and our children. Everything went to satisfy the claims of physicians.

"About three years ago I had a miserable feeling at the back of my ears, my right hand became paralyzed and the paralysis extended to my arm and throat, and would affect my head and eyes. Sometimes for days I would lose my sight, my face was deformed, lifeless as it were, my nose was drawn to one side and I presented a pitiable appearance and never expecting to regain my natural facial expressions. I employed the best physicians that could be procured, expending thousands of dollars for their services, but could not obtain relief. At last, they stated my case was beyond the reach of medical skill and it would be but a short time until the end would come. In connection with receiving the attendance of physicians I have tried every medicine known to the apothecary but never received any relief until Dr. Williams' Pink Pills came to my assistance. Before I had taken half of the first box the deformity in my face had left me, and before four boxes had been consumed the paralysis had disappeared entirely and much to my surprise I felt like a new woman. I have not taken any medicine since last spring just about a year ago and my trouble has not appeared since. I owe my health, my life to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"A short time since my little boy John was afflicted with St. Vitus' dance. He could not walk across the room without assistance, in fact he would fall all over himself, but after taking a few boxes of Pink Pills, St. Vitus' dance entirely left him, and no trace of it is left. These Pills are worth their weight in gold. You may say in this connection that I am willing at any time to make affidavit to the truth of these statements, and furthermore I will answer any communication concerning my case.

Pink Pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are for sale by all druggists; or may be had by mail from Dr. Williams' Med. Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for 50 cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

Women at Chess.

For the first time in the history of chess, there was contested yesterday a bona-fide match by a club team of lady players. They represented the newly established Ladies' Chess Club, and their opponents were gentlemen from the Metropolitan who yielded the odds of a knight at each board. It will be interesting to feminine players to learn that this first public match of their sisters was marked throughout by the most pleasant and courteous demeanor and bearing between the ladies and their opponents. Play between 8 p. m., on fourteen boards. Some of the ladies had to strike their colors very early through falling into palpable errors in the openings; others, however, defended themselves more stubbornly. Mr. Marsden, the honorable Secretary of the Metropolitan Club, discovered to his cost that the playing strength of the ladies was not to be despised, for giving his opponent, Mrs. James, a queen, he lost the first game. Miss Hooke added another victory to the credit of the sex; and, though finally the ladies' club was defeated by a score of 9 to 5, the result is not at all bad for a first venture.—London Telegraph.

Every dollar spent in Parker's Ginger Tonic is well invested. It subdues pain, and brings better digestion, better strength and better health.

It is a lamentable fact that pride often wears patent leather boots and begs its tobacco.

Good reasons why you should use Hindercorns. It takes out the corns, and then you have peace and comfort, surely a good exchange. 15c at druggists.

A Good Point.

Mrs. DeFadd—She is magnificently dressed, but her hands are not very aristocratic, are they?

Mr. DeF.—No, they look as if they might be good for something.—New York Weekly.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Tender or Sore Feet, Chilblains, Piles, &c. C. G. Clark Co., New Haven, Ct.

Comical Tragedies.

Jinks—Francis Wilson says there is so much sadness in the world that actors should play only comedies."

Winks—Oh, I don't know about that. Most of the tragedies, as now presented are.—New York Weekly.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."
Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

Can't Be Particular.

"Why don't you live a decent life?" The Brooklyn man sobbed.

"Sir," he faltered, "we cannot be particular. We're lucky to live any kind."—Detroit Tribune.

FITS—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after the first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch st., Phila., Pa.

Long Engagements Preferred.

Edith—So you prefer a long engagement. Well, I wouldn't.

Blanch—If you liked theaters as well as I do, you would.—New York Weekly.

I believe Piso's Cure for Consumption saved my boy's life last summer.—Mrs. Allie Douglas, LeRoy, Mich. Oct. 20, '94.

Nowadays.

Friend—Don't you belong to a club?

Business Man—No; can't afford it. Takes all I can spare to pay dues at the clubs my wife belongs to.—New York Weekly.

The Pursuit of Happiness.

When the Declaration of Independence asserted man's right to this it enunciated an immortal truth. The bilious sufferer is on the road to happiness when he begins to take Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most efficacious regulator of the liver in existence. Equally reliable is it in chills and fever, constipation, dyspepsia, rheumatism, kidney trouble and nervousness. Use it regularly and not at odd intervals.

A Convenient Clock.

Beez—Why is it the clock never strikes more than twelve?

Meez—Because it hasn't the face to do such a thing.—Iota.

LILAC PLUMES.

Beside the door's worn step it grows
And close against the eaves,
Where later buds the dear white rose,
It lifts its fragrant sheaves,
And out across the grassy lawn,
And through the low-ceiled rooms
Drifts hour by hour from dusk till dawn
Breath of the lilac plumes.
Old lilac bush, fair, sturdy tree,
That close against the eaves,
Beside the farm house threshold lifts
Its fragrant plumy sheaves.

The mother standing by the door,
The children off to school,
The grandsire groping to the barn
For some forgotten tool,
Are glad with gladness of the spring
That bubbles light and free,
When wrens, on merry, glancing wing,
Build in the lilac tree.
Old, lilac tree, fair, sturdy tree,
Where fondest memory weaves
A mesh of yearning tenderness
Amid the fragrant sheaves.
—Harper's Bazar.

STOOD THE ORDEAL.

"I really must be in a bad dream," said Mr. Delmaine, staring at his pretty daughter Leslie as if she were some startling freak of the entomological kingdom. "Base child, do I understand you aright? Have you actually promised to wed this penniless artist—you, the sole heiress of half a million?"

"I actually have," confessed Leslie, with eyes adroop.

"Then go!" he said, striking an attitude which would have disgraced Salvini himself. "Go, marble-hearted and unfeeling daughter—go with the man of your choice! What is it to you that I have an organic affection which renders excitement fatal; that may—"

"Oh, papa!" cried Leslie, making a rush in that direction.

But loftily he waved her back.

"Depart!" he resumed. "Abide by your choice. You are no longer a child of mine. Away with the centless one who has won you from my arms. Do not speak to me. Do not address me. Leave me to perish alone with this fatal organic—"

Earl Palmer, the "centless one" referred to, seized Leslie's hand at this juncture and drew her toward the door.

"Oh, hasten. Oh, let us not linger. Oh, fly—let us fly—for we must," he quoted in seeming terror.

Before the old gentleman could finish his interrupted sentence they were both outside, and Leslie was clinging to her lover's arms in tears, half in laughing.

"Come, darling, he has given his consent, and we may as well be married at once," said Earl. "His eccentricities will strike in and kill him some day instead of that 'organic affection' on which he harps. Was he ever ill?"

"Never," answered Leslie solemnly. "His health is perfect. I hoped he would receive the news of our engagement differently, Earl. He likes you, but he likes to show his authority. He does not dream I would ever take him at his word. I have a notion to elope with you since he has ordered me to depart, just to teach him a lesson."

Needless to say the plan met with Earl's unqualified approval, and in less than an hour's time the elopement was an accomplished fact. A brief note to Mr. Delmaine, apprising him of the affair, was dropped into a post-box, and then Mr. and Mrs. Palmer took possession of a wee cozy cottage in the suburbs of Omaha far from the madding crowd.

Earl had a studio down town. Although he had as yet attained no startling degree of success in his chosen profession, he was an artist of rare talent and had his patrons. It was somewhat lonely for Leslie, left to her own devices all day, but she busied herself with household affairs and was very happy. No word came from her father in his great lonely house up town. He had apparently forgotten her very existence.

One evening, a month after their marriage, Earl came home to find his little wife in a state of high excitement. "Oh, Earl," she said eagerly, "such a queer old organ grinder stopped in front of the house to-day and played that little Italian air you always liked so well. I threw him a quarter, and what do you think? He let it lie in the road and asked me in the queerest choked voice for a glass of water. I went to the kitchen to get it, and when I came back he was standing in the parlor looking at papa's picture over there. I tell you I was frightened."

"What did you do?" asked her husband, looking startled.

"I told him to go at once, and he stepped outside and played Byron's 'Farewell,' then waved his dirty hand and went away. Why, Earl, what is it?" she broke off as the young man picked up a scrap of green paper from the floor and eyed it incredulously.

"A $50 bill," he gasped, holding it up to view. "Your organ grinder is a rascally counterfeiter, Leslie, dear, and is trying to get us into trouble. I'll give this to an expert to-morrow."

He did so, and to his astonishment found the note genuine. On his return that night Leslie met him with an account of a second visit from the organ grinder and showed him a second note she had found on the door-step, held in place by a small stone. It was for $100 this time, and Earl nearly fainted with surprise.

"An old Italian throwing money round after that fashion!" he ejaculated, sinking into a chair and drawing Leslie down on his knee. "He must be a prince in disguise. See how true goodness is rewarded, darling. We obeyed the dictates of our hearts and got married, and now that our father has forsaken us, lo! an organ grinder takes us up. But organ grinders who go round dropping $100 notes are dangerous customers. I shall stay at home with you to-morrow and interview the mysterious old fellow if he comes again."

He was as good as his word, but the day wore on without a sign of the musical itinerant. They had given up seeing him at last, and stood together at the parlor window watching the fires of sunset in the west. An odd, choked cough startled them and both turned to find the identical organ grinder, who had, unperceived, entered the open door of the parlor and stood grinning at them.

"Out with you!" was all that Earl could say in a voice of fierce indignation.

The venerable offender answered by dropping his organ, seizing the astonished Leslie in his arms and kissing her in a most insane manner.

For an instant Earl stood as if in a horrible nightmare. Then he made a wild rush at the Italian, grasping him by the collar and dragged him toward the door. He grasped at the lintel, and, resisting the young man's united strength, threw his arms around him frantically, burying his patriarchal head in his bosom.

Fearing contagion, Earl extricated himself with difficulty, while the seemingly demented visitor kicked over the organ, and thrusting his hands into his pockets withdrew notes, silver and gold, and flung them on the carpet in wild profusion.

"You moonstruck Vanderbilt! Desist instantly or I must give you in charge," cried Earl in strong excitement. "How did you get so many wheels in your head, venerable Rothschild?"

No answer again save acts. Off came the apostolic beard with its environment of dirt. Down went the greasy rabbit skin cap. One jerk, and, lo, the moustache had departed. Like a full moon beamed upon the surprised young people, the smiling face of Leslie's father. In another moment she was sobbing and laughing, both at once, upon his bosom.

"Children," said the old gentleman, wiping away the tears and the solution of sienna which had Italianized him, "you must forgive me and return to my lonely mansion. I was but trying you to prove your affection for each other, and nobly have you stood the ordeal."—Yonkers Statesman.

CHINESE HISTORY OF OPIUM.

The Use of the Drug in China Is Not a Modern Evil.

In a work by Dr. Edkins, a distinguished Chinese scholar, who was for forty years a missionary in China, recently reprinted as an appendix to the report of the opium commission, the responsibility for the introduction of opium into China is traced on the basis of "information from the Chinese side." It is the prevalent opinion that British interference forced China to import opium, and that if British pressure were removed China would cease to use it. Premising that it was not till 1637 that the British East India company established relations with China, and not till 1781 that the company took the opium trade into its own hands, Dr. Edkins proceeds to set forth the facts as stated in Chinese historical documents. The poppy was brought into China, he finds, by Arab traders between the seventh and eighth centuries, A. D. Its cultivation in China began in the eighth century, and the Imperial Pharmacopoeia of 973 mentions it. The editor of the official Chinese Materia Medica of the eleventh century remarks: "The poppy is found everywhere." In the fourteenth century, says Barbosa, the Portuguese traded in opium at the Chinese ports. Its value is stated in the Chinese tariff of 1589 at "two mace of silver per ten catties." The Arabs, Portuguese and Dutch preceded the British East India company in the opium trade with China. The Canton valuation book of 1687 shows that the board of revenue at Pekin sanctioned the importation of the drug at a duty of 6 per cent ad valorem. A native work of that period refers to opium coming from Java and to the practice of opium smoking in Formosa.

Opium smoking, according to Chinese histories, had its origin from efforts of a Ming emperor (1628-1644) to suppress tobacco smoking. But the practice of tobacco smoking was established, and the only effect of the interdict was to cause opium to be used along with tobacco, or instead of it, to eke out a diminished supply. Opium smoking became most common in parts of the empire that had been most given to tobacco smoking. In 1729 opium smoking fell under the imperial interdict, but the trade in opium continued as before, the annual importation being 200 chests. By 1767 the quantity had grown to 1,000 chests under a tariff rate of 3 taels per chest. It was received at the custom houses of Amoy and Canton, and the items in the books show that the proceeds of the tariff on opium were remitted to Pekin. When the East India company took the opium trade into its hands in 1781 the drug had been a legal import for from 200 to 300 years. The people demanded opium, the officials smoked it, and, although the import was forbidden by law at the capital, it was permitted by the constituted authorities on the coast.

The net result of Dr. Edkins' reading of Chinese documents is the conclusion that opium was widely grown and used in China before 1637, and opium smoking was firmly established before 1781, when the East India company first engaged in the trade. After 1781 the trade was conducted, first with the concurrence, then, from 1800 to 1822, with the practical consent of the Chinese port authorities. After 1822 it was conducted under a distinct arrangement. It follows, if the Chinese records are correctly read, that the Anglo-Chinese war of recent date was not the beginning of the opium evil in China, and did not force upon the Chinese an unwonted and undesired article of traffic.—Baltimore Sun.

Keeping the Farm Clear of Weeds.

The government agricultural department is trying to impress upon the farmers of this country the truth of the familiar maxim, "God helps those who help themselves." The direct loss in crops, the damage to machinery and stock and the decrease in the value of land due to weeds in this country, is estimated at tens of millions of dollars a year. This loss is sustained almost wholly by the farmers. A government report urges the co-operation of the whole agricultural community on this question. In many cases weeds cannot be exterminated, and their reduction to a state of comparative harmlessness is all that can be looked for. Land owners should be on the watch for new plants, and learn their character, if possible, before they become established as aggressive weeds on farms. This is practically the only possible means of extermination, unless public sentiment is aroused to a more vigorous and universal destruction of weeds. The official bulletin on the subject insists that any species can be subdued and controlled within the limits of an ordinary farm, and unless the value of land is low from other causes this work can be profitably undertaken. Prevention of seed production is cases of annuals will gradually reduce the quantity of weeds and prevent further spreading. This is accomplished in cultivated fields by burning over to destroy as many as possible of the seeds on the surface, and successive plowing is required. Broken lands should not be permitted to remain idle, and mowing or cutting off the main stems of weeds is deprecated as multiplying the stalks. They should be cut below the crown and killed.

For Humanity's Sake.

Young Man (boastfully)—I am going to cross the Atlantic in this twenty-foot boat, with no companion but this dog. Good-by, friends—

Humane Officer—I must stop you, sir!

"Stop me? And what for, pray?"

"Humanity—"

"Humanity! Haven't I a right to risk my life if I—"

"O, that's all right; but I must interfere. The dog can't go!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Postal Cars on City Electric Roads.

A. T. Sullivan, postmaster of Brooklyn, N. Y., who took a prominent part in organizing and introducing the postal car system on city electric railroads, has made public the results of the working service in Brooklyn, for the benefit of such cities as have not yet adopted it. The postal car, as used in Brooklyn, is of the size of the ordinary street car usually found in large cities. It has eight windows on each side, and is divided by a wooden partition in the center. As the postal service requires only half the car, the front portion, which has seating and standing accommodations for about twenty passengers, is used by the public as a smoking compartment. The railroad company is thus able to derive from the passenger portion of the car sufficient income to more than pay the running expenses of the entire car. A sliding door opens into each end of the car. In the part used for postal purposes a shelf runs along one side under four of the windows. On the opposite side an iron rack supports the mail bags. At the front end of the compartment large ornamental gates prevent any one, except the motorman, from going on the platform. Beneath the windows on the side, printed in gold letters, are the words, "United States Mail—Smoking Car." The cost of such a car is $1,900. It is warmed in winter by an electric heater, and at night it is lighted by electricity. One postal clerk rides in each car. It is his duty to face, separate and distribute the mail in pigeon holes furnished for the purpose. While the car is in transit he drops into mail bags the matter assigned to the different stations. On his return trip to the central office he has all the letters sorted in different bags ready to be sent out of the city. During the journey of the car the bags are received through an open window on either side, and deposited in the same manner. In his compartment the mailing clerk is isolated and free from interruption as is the postal clerk on the large postal cars that run across the country. Three trips are made daily.

The Prejudice Against Sleep.

The last word on the sleep discussion seems to have been spoken. It appears that, after all, the sleep-sluggard is a very rare being. It is time that people were becoming sensible on the subject. The popular prejudice against sleep works an infinity of mischief. The tendency of the educated is to wakefulness, and the man who does intellectual work and exhibits what his friends think a disposition to oversleep, is obeying a healthy instinct. Sleep recuperates him, and he knows it. The popular notion that a young man who works with his head, yet sleeps for nine hours, is a bluggard, is popular nonsense. No man whose brain is active and who does not drink ever sleeps more than is good for him and the cure, if he seems to do it, is to let him sleep till he gives the habit up. Sleep is a delight until you have had enough of it, but five minutes beyond that point it becomes a bore. Nobody sleeps twice around the clock, or even once, unless impelled thereto consciously or unconsciously by exhaustion, for which, again, sleep itself is the best and the most natural remedy. The contrary idea has arisen there is good reason for believing purely from selfishness. Many people of mature years have a lively recollection of the diligence with which they were routed out of their youthful bed, and they resent the idea of "pampering" the younger generation, besides objecting to the extreme inconvenience and household upsetting which arises when any one necessary member of the family will not "keep hours."

An Effective Freight Carrier.

A conveyor erected at Bridgeport, Ala., illustrates the facility which has been attained in the handling of freight by mechanical means. The conveyor is about 175 feet in length, and is designed to carry sacks of grain, boxes, packages, bales, etc., to and from the boat at the river landing and the warehouse on the top of an adjacent hill. It is constructed of two strands of roller chain, each link having an attachment to which wooden slats are bolted, forming an endless apron. The roller chain used in the conveyor makes it run very smoothly, and with the minimum amount of power. The carrier houses a large cargo in short order, and frequently handles 1,500 sacks in an hour.

Bicycles as Revenue Producers.

An ingenious idea has been hit upon by the president of a Canadian railway for creating travel on the company's cars. Along the railroad, running some distance out of the city, the company has allowed bicyclists to construct a cinder path for their own convenience as well as giving the company better ballasting on the road. The only revenue the company expects to derive from the path is from the fares of the wives and families of the riders who take the cars to watch the wheelmen practice. As the riders of the wheel in Toronto number about 10,000 the enterprise of the railway company is likely to be well rewarded.

It will be gratifying to consumers to note that the quality of the baking powder most generally in use in their kitchens, the Royal, is confirmed by the highest official authorities as altogether the best of any in the market.

Diamond Setting for Tools.

In working hard materials with diamonds set in metal there has always been a difficulty in preventing the stone from being ripped out by the strain. An effective method of doing this has been devised. A little block of steel, suitably notched to receive the diamond, is brought to a red heat, the diamond inserted, and the block is passed through a small roll. The diamond is thus firmly imbedded in the block, though projecting slightly beyond its surface, and defies the strain of the most exacting work.

Hoping for the Best.

"You know, dear," said Miss Doryers, frankly to her accepted suitor, "you know we get none of papa's money while he lives."

"I quite understand that, my precious pet," replied the young man, with the light of love in his eyes. "We will invite him to live with us, put a folding bed in his room, and hope for the best."—Life.

A Flat Denial.

Father—I saw you kiss my daughter last night, sir, and—

Young Man—I beg your pardon, you did not.

Father—But I say I did.

Young Man—And I insist you did not. We had the gas turned off.—Detroit Free Press.

Always Tired

Describes a dangerous condition, because it means that the vitality is becoming exhausted by reason of impoverished blood. Give new life to the vital fluid and the nerves and muscles will grow stronger. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives strength, because it makes pure, rich blood. Remember

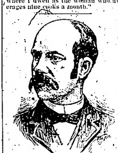
Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the only true blood purifier prominently in the public eye today. $1; six for $5.

Hood's Pills the after-dinner pill and family cathartic. 25c.

A Brilliant Promise.

She was the pride of the faculty and the pet of the class—a girl grappled with logarithms only to lay them low, and whose Latin and Greek were as perfect as could be desired. All sorts of brilliant things were expected of her after she left the college. The president said that she had one of the finest minds the college had ever had the privilege of cultivating. The literature professor prophesied that she would make a shining place for herself in literature. The professor of mathematics shed tears at the thought of her absence from his class. As for the girls, her fellow students, they each and all regarded her as a sort of George Eliot and Maria Mitchell rolled into one. And, in spite of these many fond hopes and bright predictions, the girl, immediately after she was graduated married. Ten years later her class met for a reunion. The members made it a sort of experience meeting. Each arose and told what had happened during the interval since they last met. One had won renown in music, another in philanthropic fields. Another had written her heart out in verse, and a fourth had become a successful teacher. At last it was the turn of the girl with a mind. Everybody held her breath as she arose and began: "Girls, I, too, have not been idle. During all these years I have won a name like the rest of you. I am known in the city where I dwell as the woman who averages nine cooks a month."



A. M. Woodward.

Mr. A. M. Woodward, whose picture is depicted above is the only member of the well known grain and commission firm of Woodward & Co., Minneapolis, Minn., which is the oldest established firm of that character in the city of Minneapolis.

Mr. Woodward is a careful shrewd business man, thoroughly posted in his business and has a reputation throughout the Northwest of being one of the safest and most conservative dealers in the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce. The firm is also established with offices in Duluth and Chicago, at which points Mr. Woodward holds membership on the Board of Trade.

In addition to his extensive grain commission business Mr. Woodward is connected with several banks in Minneapolis and at other points in the state.

Galvanized Steel Wire Fencing.

The most extensive and complete plant for the manufacture of wire fencing in the United States is the De Kalb Fence Company, located at De Kalb, Ill. For years prior to 1890 barbed wire was extensively used for fencing, but those using it often lost in fine stock, more than its cost and to avoid danger to man or beast there was need of, and a demand for, a barbless fence.

The proprietors of this company having spent more than 12 years in the manufacture of wire fencing, recognized this fact, and have produced the best lines of smooth wire fencing for all purposes now in use. The success of this company is due to the managers adopting the true business principle of making good what they make, putting enough material in their lines to make them both strong and serviceable, instead of producing a cheap flimsy article only to meet the price of a fence that has never given satisfaction. This is what has made their fence so popular and in such great demand and to-day they have over 40 special machines, with a capacity of over 22 miles of fence per day, and their fencing is used in every state in the Union. The fence most used is their Cable Steel and Hog Fence for field fencing, Cable Poultry Fence, Steel Web Picket Fence, and Park and Cemetery Fence, and to complete same they also make gates of wood or steel frames to match, and also furnish iron posts. All of their styles of fencing are strong, neat, durable and economical in price.

And everyone needing fencing of any kind will consult their own interests by sending to the De Kalb Fence Co., 121 High street, De Kalb, Ill., for their 1 page catalogue and price. The reader is also directed to their advertisement in this paper.

Taking a Breathing Spell.

Little Johnny has been naughty, and has has to be sent from the table without having any dessert. For the hour he has been sitting in a corner of the room crying. At last he thinks it time to stop.

"Well! I hope you have done crying now," says his mother.

Johnny (in a passion)—Haven't done. I'm only resting.—Ex.

A Law-Abiding Girl.

Mrs. McBride (entering the kitchen)—Bridget, didn't I see that policeman kiss you?

Bridget—Well, mum, sure, an' yez wouldn't hev me lay meslif open to arrist for resistin' an officer, mum."—Harper's Bazar.

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR
IMPERIAL GRANUM
IT IS
THE BEST
FOOD
FOR
Dyspeptic, Delicate, Infirm and
AGED PERSONS
JOHN CARLE & SONS, New York.

Cabled Field and Hog Fence,
The best in the market.
Also
Cabled Poultry,
Garden & Rabbit Fence.
Steel Web Picket Fence, Steel Wire Fence Board. A full line of Wire Fencing, Steel Gates, Steel Posts and Rails, Steel Web Picket Tree, Flower and Tomato Guards. Prices Low. Catalogue Free.
DE KALB FENCE CO., 121 High St., De Kalb Ill.

PARIS GREEN We have it and are selling it for less than wholesale prices, 100 lb lots, 18¾c lb; less quantity 21c
BARB WIRE Painted, $1.70 per 100 lbs. Galvanized, $1.97 a 100 lbs.
BINDING TWINE 4¾c lb. Will sell you any quantity subject to stock. We expect to sell over 700 tons. Samples free.
SEND NOW The names and P. O. address of 17 farmers and receive our 24-page Grocery and Special Price List every 2 weeks; or send 15c and our No. 167A 640-page catalogue will be sent, express paid.
T. M. ROBERTS SUPPLY HOUSE, 508-510-717-719-721 Nicollet Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

MINNESOTA
HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XIV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, JULY 17, 1895. NUMBER 50.

HANGED TO TREES.

TWO NEGROES ARE LYNCHED BY A MOB IN ARKANSAS.

The Sheriff, Seeing That Resistance Is Useless, Delivers the Keys to the Mob and the Negroes Are Taken to a Forest and Hanged.

Camden, Ark., July 16.—About 12 o'clock last night at Hampton, thirty miles east of here, two negroes were mobbed by eighty-five men. Two weeks ago a white man named Martin was killed by three negroes. Two of them were arrested and confined in jail. A mob gathered several nights ago but were persuaded to desist. Last night there was another gathering headed by determined men who marched to the jail and demanded of the sheriff the surrender of the murderers. It was useless to resist such a force with but a handful of men to summon to his aid, so the keys were delivered to the mob. The culprits were carried to the neighboring forest and hanged. The men were not masked and made no effort to conceal their identity. Two years ago a race riot occurred in Calhoun county. The negroes greatly outnumber the whites and further trouble is expected.

St. Louis, July 16.—A white man, evidently familiar with the Whitechapel manner of murder, took the life of Ella, alias "Kid" King, a negress twenty-eight years of age and of a dissolute character, at a late hour last night. The woman, whose abdomen was ripped open by the knife of the assassin in such a manner that the entrails slipped out, died at the hospital soon after reaching there. To-day Charles Schlick, a white man who is said to have lived with the King woman in Kansas City, was arrested on suspicion of having committed the murder, which he strongly denies. Just before the crime was committed he was heard to say he would get even for being robbed of 50 cents.

STREET CARS COLLIDE.

Passengers in Tornoto Fatally Injured and One Is Killed.

Toronto, July 16.—A terrible accident occurred on the Scarborough electric road just outside the city, in which several passengers were injured, three of whom may die, and one killed. A trolley car belonging to the Toronto railway line and one of the Scarborough cars came in collision on the steep grade near East Toronto village, and the Toronto car was completely telescoped. The car was filled with children on their way to Victoria Park, and over a score were badly injured. James Stewart, eleven years of age, was killed. Frank Townsend, aged thirteen, had his left leg broken and right leg cut, and his condition is serious. Mrs. Lettie Lambie is suffering from internal injuries, and it is feared that she cannot recover. The motorman, W. J. Graham, had both legs broken below the knee. Conductor W. B. Northam had bad injuries about the head, and R. H. Dunn, accountant of the Toronto type foundry, is suffering from internal injuries.

HARCOURT DEFEATED.

One of the Most Astonishing Results of the English Elections.

London, July 15.—There were twenty-two contested elections in England, and the returns show that the Unionists have gained eight seats, in proportion more than one-third. The most astonishing fact is the defeat of Sir William Vernon Harcourt in Derby, regarded heretofore as the very heart of Liberal England. There can be no doubt that this is due to Harcourt's veto bill. The keepers of public houses, otherwise our barkeepers, united with all their following with the Tories, the church party and the Anti-Irish people. The crusade against the house of lords is relegated to the dimmest future. As to home rule for Ireland, the coalition government can do what it likes. It looks as if it will have a majority sufficient to make it entirely independent of the Irish vote, so that the old Parnell tactics of obstruction will be of no avail in the next house.

The State Chemist of Wisconsin, Prof. Geo. S. Cox, says the Royal is the superior baking powder in regard to purity, leavening power and keeping qualities.

DEATH IN A STORM.

Furious Cyclone in New Jersey—Five People Killed.

Hackensack, N. J., July 16.—A terrific storm swept over this section, doing great damage. At Cherry Hill, a small village a few miles from this place, it developed cyclonic fury, attended by the demolition of the village and a number of deaths. Cherry Hill received the full sweep of the wind's fury, and within a minute after the storm broke twenty-seven houses, nearly the entire number in the village, were wrecked. The cyclone made a clean path through the center of the place, carrying everything before it. Houses were unroofed and thrown down. Trees were uprooted and the crops in the fields leveled to the ground. At the present time it is known that five were killed, and the injured are numbered by the score, many of them, it is believed fatally.

Metric System Favored.

Washington, July 16. — Word has been received here that the select committee of the British house of commons on weights and measures has reported a recommendation that the metric system be made permissive at once in Great Britain, and compulsory after two years.

Three Men Drowned.

South Haven, Mich., July 16.—To-day H. Tittsworth took his new yacht Artist out for her trial trip in company with the builders, Messrs. Coats & Stillson. When about four miles north of the harbor a squall struck and capsized her, and the men were drowned.

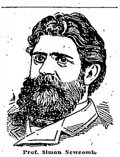
Fall of the Bastile.

Paris, July 16.—The fete of the republic was celebrated quietly throughout France to-day, this being the anniversary of the fall of the bastile.

ASTRONOMER HONORED.

Prof. Simon Newcomb Elected Associate in the French Academy of Sciences.

Paris, July 16. — The Academy of Sciences elected the noted astronomer and scientist, Prof. Simon Newcomb, of the John Hopkins university and of the Washington observatory, an associate academician, to succeed the late Prof. Helmholtz, the celebrated physiologist. Mr. Newcomb, in January, 1892, was elected an honorary member of the Royal Institute of London. Prof. Newcomb was born and educated in Canada, and in 1861, at the early age of twenty-six, was appointed professor of mathematics in the navy of the United States. Since that period he has been continuously engaged, practically and scientifically on astronomical work of the highest class. His genius, energy and industry have gained for him the distinction of being one of the greatest of living astronomers. He has received the highest attainable honors from all the most famous astronomical societies in Europe, as well as in America.



Prof. Simon Newcomb.

Pure baking powders are one of the chief aids to the cook in preparing perfect and wholesome food. While those are to be obtained of well-established reputation, like the Royal, of whose purity there has never been a question, it is proper to avoid all others.

INDIANS AND WHITES AT WAR.

Battle Thought to Have Been Fought in Wyoming.

Denver, July 16.—A special to the News from Leander, Wyo., indicates that a second battle has occurred between the Bannock Indians and the white settlers in the Jackson Hole country south of Yellowstone Park. The dispatch says: Word comes from the upper Wind river that some Indians have been killed and several white men wounded. But no particulars have been received. On Tuesday morning W. L. Simpson, ex-county attorney, who has relatives living in Jackson Hole, headed a small party to go to the rescue of friends there. Word from Jackson Hole is anxiously awaited here.

A messenger from Fort Washakie says that in the encounter with the Indians three settlers were badly wounded and several Indians were also wounded, and it is not known how many. Indian police were dispatched several days ago from Shoshone agency to Marysville in Jackson's Hole, and dispatches from there are due to-morrow. The trouble was started by an attempt to arrest a band of Bannocks who were wantonly slaying female elk for the purpose of taking out the foetus, which is regarded as a luxury by the Indians. Last year the Indians killed several hundred of the cow elks for the same purpose, and the white settlers protested loudly against the outrage.

ANOTHER MAN DESERTS.

The List of Third Regiment Absentees Grows.

St. Paul, July 16.—Private Blanchard, of Company C, Third United States Infantry, deserted from Camp Lakeview yesterday morning. Blanchard was doing guard duty near the colonel's quarters at the time. About 10 o'clock the officer of the day approached the commander's tent accompanied by the superintendent of the Red Wing reformatory. They entered into conversation and Blanchard at once called to the corporal and complained of being sick. He asked leave to absent himself from duty for the balance of his relief, which was only to continue for a few minutes. He told the corporal that he had been suddenly seized with a severe attack of diarrhoea and must be relieved at once. Just at this moment the officer of the day was seen approaching from the colonel's tent. The sick man grew suddenly pale and the corporal, thinking that he was seriously ill, told him to go at once. Blanchard started hurriedly for the woods in the rear of the camp. The officer of the day delivered an unimportant order to the corporal and returned to the colonel's tent. Nothing has been seen of Blanchard since. Nothing has been heard from Private Haynes, who made his escape from Fort Snelling.

Important to Millers.

Milwaukee, July 16.—By an important decision made in the United States circuit court of appeals, affecting the interests of every flour miller in the United States, the firm of J. B. A. Kern & Sons of Milwaukee wins a long contested case, and Judge Seamans, of the United States circuit court for the Eastern district of Wisconsin, is fully sustained. This was in the case of J. H. Russell vs. J. B. A. Kern & Sons, regarding the right to sell and use a certain purifier. There are a number of other suits pending upon the same question, all of which will naturally fall through by reason of this decision.

Fire on a Steamer.

New York, July 16. — The French line steamship Normandie, from Havre, which arrived in port to-day, had a fire on board during the passage. It was at 7 o'clock on the night of July 9. The passengers were all at dinner, and little was known until the next day of the danger through which they had passed.

The New York supreme court has decided that certain property of the Presbyterian church was legally taxed.

SASSOUN MASSACRE.

EVIDENCE THAT THE BUTCHERY WAS CAREFULLY PLANNED.

It Develops That for Months Previous to the Massacre Petroleum Has Been Secured With Which to Burn Towns and Cremate Bodies.

(Special Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Van, Armenia, May 24.—The Sassoun massacre, it would appear, was one of the most carefully planned outrages in history. The evidence of this is circumstantial only, but it is alleged to be none the less conclusive. During the months of June, July and August, preceding the Sassoun massacre, the Kurdish chiefs in the country surrounding the Sassoun region, and particularly the districts in the southward and southwestward, were apparently unusually busy in gathering up the scattered warriors of their tribes for an invasion of the Sassoun region.

In July and August enormous quantities of petroleum were shipped from Erzeroum to Moush. This petroleum came originally from Russia to Erzeroum, and so great was the quantity brought over the mountain roads that it was a subject of remark to very many persons. For a time it looked as though nothing went over the roads between Erzeroum and Moush but petroleum. Now it is a fact that Moush does not use a great quantity of petroleum herself, nor do her merchants sell much of it to the surrounding country. In the villages candles of sheep fat oil are used for lights. What Moush wanted with those countless cans of petroleum was a mystery, but the mystery was a mystery no longer after the Sassoun massacre, for that petroleum was used to burn the houses of the Sassoun villages, and to cremate the bodies of the wretched villagers who fell victims to the awful butchery. In burning the houses the petroleum was thrown upon the woodwork in generous quantities and set on fire, the result being that everything that could be burned was destroyed. The bodies of the dead were, in many cases, placed between layers of wood and built up into a sort of funeral pyre. The entire mass was saturated with petroleum and set on fire. It is charged that living men were cremated in the same way. But this was a merciful way of putting the unfortunate creatures to death in comparison with the tortures inflicted upon many others.

The massing of troops near the Sassoun region, and particularly at Moush, was carried on for some time before the beginning of the massacre in order that everything might be in readiness according to the programme said to have been carefully made out at Constantinople.

Several weeks after the Sassoun massacre it is claimed orders were sent from the Pauace at Constantinople for a massacre of the inhabitants of Modikan, a district lying to the south and southeast of Sassoun, but when it was seen that an investigation of the massacre at Sassoun, was inevitable, the order, it is said, was recalled and Modikan was not molested, except in the ordinary course of the persecution general in all parts of Armenia.

The only baking powder yet found by chemical analysis to be entirely free from lime and absolutely pure is the "Royal." This perfect purity results from the exclusive use of cream of tartar specially refined and prepared by patent process which totally removes the tartrate of lime and other impurities.

JIM SWALLOW

Will Be Killed by Indians If Acquitted by the Court.

Winona, Minn., July 16.—The trial of Jim Swallow of Black River Falls for murder committed near here, in case he is held by the county judge at his examination, is creating a great deal of interest, as it will be the first case of the kind tried in the county courts of that state. Some question has been raised as to whether the state has jurisdiction in the case or not, as the Winnebago Indians are not citizens, but wards of the United States. The Winnebagos do not want Swallow sent to Waupun, as they claim there is where he wants to go in order to be safe from the friends of Black Hawk, and they argue that if such is the case, then it will be no punishment for him. Many of them hope to see him cleared by law, in which case "the avenger of blood" will very soon be on his track, and the expense of a trial among the Indians would be too small to see with a microscope. Their belief is that their own justice, by the avenger, is far more sure and is swifter than the progress of the courts, and they have no patience with trials and stays and objections and all the other processes of delay. It is entirely probable that if Swallow is acquitted and gets back to the tribe he will not live sixty days, and the name of the person who causes his death will never be known outside the members of the band.

CHARGED WITH CLARA'S DEATH.

The Jury Finds a Verdict Against Johnson and Lowe.

St. Paul, July 16.—In the opinion of the six jurymen called in at the Clara Bergh inquest the girl's death was due to a criminal operation performed about June 17 by Dr. J. F. Johnson of Martel, Wis., and C. R. Lowe of St. Paul is an accessory to the crime. Lowe was arrested immediately after the verdict was brought in. Together with Dr. Johnson, who has been in custody since his attempt to leave the city last Wednesday night, he was locked up at the central police station. The charge appearing on the station register against Johnson was abortion. Lowe was booked as an accessory.

The Assets Disappear.

St. Louis, July 16. — President J. Porter, of the Security Loan Company No. 2, with offices in the Roe building, has gone to Chicago and no one knows when he will return. A receiver for the concern has been appointed by Judge Woods and an injunction granted restraining the company from transacting business. He sold $30,900 worth of stock, but the money has disappeared.

Secretary Lamont has decided that Fort Pembina will not be rebuilt.

CHARGES UPON THE STATE.

The June Expenditures for the Various State Institutions.

St. Paul, July 16.—The following are the expenses of the different state institutions for building and support incurred during June and paid by the state auditor: School for deaf, current expenses, $1,772.98; building, $1,038.81; school for feeble minded, current expense, $5,638.42; state reformatory building, $57.70; permanent improvement, $307.17; current expense, $3,058.80; Fergus Falls hospital, current expense, $9,787.57; building, $2,620.05; state prison, revolving fund, $8,039.12; support, $7,501.39; binder twine plant, $142.50; Rochester state hospital, current expense, $13,985.18; building, $1,100; building, $1,519.16; Minnesota state public school, new buildings, $2,252.03; Minnesota state training school, improvement and repairs, $301.78; workshop and barn, $82.73; state agent, $129.76; Minnesota state reform school, current expense, $4,228.82; St. Peter hospital for the insane, building, $162.62; repairs, $115; instruments, $74.50; extraordinary improvements and repairs, $332.32; current expense, $11,523.89; state university, current expense, $14,971.66; improvement of campus, $1,688.05; bills, $8,759.25; salaries, school of mines and electrical engineering, $495; Minnesota institute for defectives, building, $633; improvements, $273.73; building, $551.98; school for the blind, current expense, $722.26; school for feeble minded, building, $922.51; Minnesota state public school, building, $1,667.25; equipment, $3,072.24.

The United States Government Report on baking powders shows Royal superior to all others; it is pure, made from wholesome ingredients, and greatest in leavening strength. It is the only baking powder for those desiring the finest, most wholesome food.

TAKES HER OWN LIFE.

Rosie Gardner Dies From an Overdose of Morphine.

St. Paul, July 16.—Mrs. Rosie Gardner, a handsome young woman whose home is supposed to be at The Dalles, Or., committed suicide at the Hampton house yesterday. She took morphine and died without medical attendance.

The case was a mysterious one at first. The woman was not known at the hotel, but was supposed to be a friend of Charles M. Shepherd, an ex-justice of the peace, who lives at Demarsville, a village near Kalispell, Mont. It was supposed that he knew the woman's history. Deputy Coroner McNamara, who was called to investigate the case, telephoned the central police station asking that Shepherd be apprehended and held for examination. Detectives Meyerding and McGuiggan were sent out to look for him. They secured a description from the proprietor of the Hampton house, and found the man sitting on a bench in Rice Park. He was surprised to learn that he was wanted at the police station, but went with the officers without remonstrance. He says the woman told him that her husband had sent her to live with relatives in St. Paul, but they treated her coolly and she left. She claimed to have known him in Montana, and asked him for money. He gave her $5 and took her to a hotel, but had nothing more to do with her. He will be held pending the inquest.

Dr. Seaman Convicted.

Detroit, Mich., July 16.—The jury in the case of Dr. Seaman, who was charged with having performed a criminal operation which resulted in the death of Emily B. Hall, rendered its verdict to-day, which was "guilty on the third count." In other words the doctor is convicted of having performed an abortion by means unknown. Miss Hall was sent to Detroit from Blackheath, Dudley, Eng. It is alleged that she was sent by Rev. Jonathan Bell, a Methodist clergyman, who is also generally supposed to have been the author of her shame.

No Hope for Recovery.

Sioux Falls, S. D., July 16. — The news has been received here that Hon. John R. Brennan of Rapid City, one of this state's railroad commissioners, who is at the Battle Creek sanitarium, cannot recover. There is a tumor of the bowels, besides other complications, and a large carbuncle has been removed from his neck.

Girls Drowned.

Cleveland, July 16—Two girls named Flora Gedeon and Mary Tomasch, who accompanied an excursion from this city to Chippewa Lake, were drowned to-day by the capsizing of a row boat.

Fort Smith, Ark., Special.—A. J. Kendrick, publisher of the Ft. Smith, Ark., News-Record, was convicted July 2d in the United States District Court at Ft. Smith of using the mails to perpetrate a fraud on the Price Baking Powder Co. of Chicago. The latter had paid for the publication of a full page advertisement in the News-Record of Oct. 18, 1894, and the evidence showed that the advertisement had been printed in but five copies of the edition. E. H. Brown, advertising manager of the Price Baking Powder Co., appeared as the chief witness for the government. The conviction of Kendrick is of especial interest to newspaper men and advertisers in this surprising question, which it raises: If a publisher can be punished by the Government for using the mails for collecting on an advertisement that appeared in but five copies, instead of the entire edition of a paper, couldn't he be punished for using them for collecting on an advertisement that appeared in an edition of 5,000 copies when he had represented it would have 10,000? Should Uncle Sam decide to act in keeping with the Ft. Smith cases it would probably make things uncomfortably lively for the circulation liar.

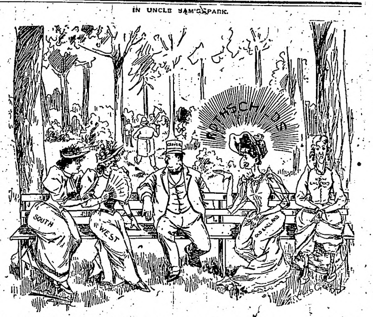
Tramps in the Wreck.

White Sulphur, Ohio, July 16.—To-day a bad wreck occurred at White Sulphur, on the Big Four, resulting in the wreck of fourteen cars of whisky, seed tobacco and candles amounting to $75,000. Dick Hurley, a molder of Cincinnati, was killed. A number of tramps are supposed to be under the debris.

Had a Relapse.

Bloomington, Ill., July 16—Mrs. Vice President Stevenson had a relapse today and was very ill for some time.

IN UNCLE SAM'S PARK.



Grover the I. (to the good-lookers on the end of the bench)—"Keep away from me, you nasty, radical, forward things! I won't have anything to do with your cheap silver proposition."

Old Gals on the other end—"Dot's ride, Grofer dear; dey vas not gonservative und sound like us girls vas: Our gold talks."

(That's right, the old pelicans seem to have scooped him in.—Ed. Denver Road.

ALL FOR FREE SILVER

THAT IS THE THREE POLITICAL PARTIES.

But the Populists Party Stands on Its Record—False Pledges of Republicans and Democrats Will Not Be Taken Again.

The Memphis free silver blow-out has come and gone, and unless the Associated Press dispatches lie, nothing has been demonstrated, except that we have three parties in this country that favor the free coinage of silver, but no two of them can agree to vote together for what they want unless one of the parties will surrender its organization.

The treacherous old Democracy, of course, is taking the lead now in howling for silver, and if the people trust the gang again they will be betrayed just as the greenback movement was betrayed.

Some Populists attended the Memphis meeting, possibly to see just what was on foot, but the man who permits himself to believe the Southern Democracy is any more sincere in the free silver movement they have inaugurated this year than usual, will awake to find himself cheated again.

With all their pretended indignation over "the crime of '73," no national Democratic platform has ever condemned that crime. On the contrary, every national Democratic convention that has assembled since that date, has given the country a platitude or a straddle on the money question and nominated a gold bug as its candidate for President.

Promises from the stump are always profuse in a campaign, but the performance never fails to be short.

In 1891, when the sub-treasury canvass was being made in this State, the old set-fasts, badly frightened, assembled in convention at Jackson and promised adherence to the doctrine of free silver, but they were then in favor of the abolition of national banks and government issue of paper money. Here is what they said at that time:

"We believe that gold and silver should be coined upon the same terms and conditions, and that, when the government ceases to discriminate between them, they will freely circulate side by side and be equally useful and acceptable to the people. We also believe that there should be an additional issue of treasury notes interchangeable with coin, sufficient to transact the business of the country, and to relieve the present financial depression."

They were successful in that campaign, and the g. o. c. was re-elected to the United States Senate. In 1892 another Democratic convention assembled at Jackson, and when the platform committee were discussing the financial plank, the declaration of the convention one year before was offered for adoption and voted down. A "miserable makeshift" was inserted in the State platform of 1892, and the author of the financial plank of 1891 (T. C. Catchings) becomes a gold bug cuckoo in 1893, and votes straight for the repeal of the only law on the statute books favoring the white metal.

As a further illustration of the total unreliability of the average Democratic politician, we mention the fact that in 1894, the party claimed to have elected six free silver Congressmen from this State. But after the election is over and the commissions are secured it develops that three of that six have falsified their pledges to the people and gone over to the worshipers of Mammon.

For sixty years the Democracy has made the tariff question an issue, and they never touched it without making matters worse than before. For twenty years the restitution of silver to the position it held prior to "the crime of '73," in which Thomas F. Bayard participated side by side with John Sherman, has occupied much of the time of the average Southern mugwump politician and promises thick and fast have been made by these gentry just preceding every election. With all the labor they have been able to put forth in support of their profuse pledges they have worked the party up to the point that 101 out of 227 Democratic members in Congress did not vote for free silver. Now the question is: "If the party has always been in favor of the equal use of both gold and silver as a money metal, and the coinage of each without discrimination against either and without charge for mintage," as Col. Money, Mr. McLauren, Gov. Lowry and others insist it is, and they can't get quite half their representatives to vote for free coinage in twenty years, how long would it be if a 16 to 1 plank was inserted in the platform before the Democracy would give the country free silver?—People's (Okalona, Miss.) Messenger.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

We are not of the number who believe that no good will come from the Democrats holding free silver conventions this year. While we realize that the principal object in holding them is to stop the disintegration of the party, we rather think that it will have the opposite effect in the outcome. There is a certain amount of education going along with this movement that will result in good. Resolutions favoring free silver this year may be the means of many voters leaving the party next year when a gold standard plank is adopted, and a so-called sound currency candidate nominated.

* * *

While we recognize that the free silver discussion is breeding dissension in the two old parties, and for that reason it ought to be encouraged, we insist that there is danger in committing ourselves to that alone, to the exclusion of more important phases of the money question, and of other questions. We predict that the silver question is to take the place of the tariff question for the purposes of keeping the people divided. It is to be discussed, but not settled, is the programme of the two old parties. What the Populists should do is to show that both old parties demonetized silver, and that there is no possible show for either old party to restore it. Keep the record of the two old parties on this question constantly before the people.

* * *

The most important question now before the people is, who shall issue the money, the banks or the people? Whoever issues the money controls prices, and the business of the country. As the power to issue money was denied even the States, the inference is that the framers of the Constitution never intended that it should ever be delegated to corporations. The control which the banks have had over the money has invested them with the power to cause a stringency whenever they saw fit, and they are responsible for every panic we ever had. The legitimate business of a bank is for purposes of exchange, deposit and discount, and the power to make money plenty or scarce at will by the issue of their own notes should be forever prohibited. The People's party is the only party that is opposed to banks of issue.

* * *

We frequently wonder how any old Union soldier can vote either the Republican or Democratic ticket. They put their lives in the scale for the preservation of the Union. They took their pay in a dollar that was purposely depreciated at the suggestion and demands of the capitalists. The capitalist called it a dishonest dollar. But he speculated, got all of them he could and traded them for bonds, dollar for dollar. If that dollar was dishonest, then the bond also is dishonest. He was entitled to no better dollar for the bond than he gave for it. But he demanded a better dollar and got it—one that would buy twice as much of all the necessities of life as the dollar he gave for the bond. And now he is demanding a better dollar still, which the two old parties have given him. The soldier took the greenbacks and did not grumble. The difference in the value of coin and greenbacks was made up to the rich man, who stayed at home and gambled and speculated, but not to the soldier, who risked his life and fought and bled for his country.

* * *

In his speech at Memphis, Mr. Sibley said:

"Suppose the news should reach Memphis that New York was beleaguered by the British. The Democrats would hold a mass-meeting and determine that if the party was not strong enough to drive out the intruders they would wait until they were able to make the attempt. The Republicans would hold a mass-meeting and conclude that the British ought to be driven out by the Republican party without leaving party lines. The Populists would get together and declare that if they could take all the planks of the Omaha platform along with them they would drive the representatives of John Bull from the shores of America. Is this what the parties would do? Or would they drop 'party,' and, turning patriot, unite in saving the country?"

This looks like a plausible illustration, but we would suggest to Mr. Sibley that it will take about "all the planks of the Omaha platform" to drive the British out of this country, a fact which shows the wisdom of the Populists for wanting to take them with them.

Rothchild Agents.

In one respect we are glad to see this activity in the right direction on the silver question, on the part of western and southern democrats, but when we figure out that it is only another scheme to fool the people we conclude that it is a bad thing after all. While these men are all sincere in their views on the question, for all know they're right, yet their efforts as a rule are not to save silver, not to benefit the country, not for love of truth, home and country, but merely to save their party. Did not the chairman of the Illinois conference say openly that the agitation was to head off the nonpartisan and Populist movements that were about to take many of their best democrats, and to solidify and harmonize the party? Did not Chairman Stuart of the Iowa conference say practically the same thing? They know that the democratic party will never, can never do anything in the interest of the masses, because it is owned, body and soul, and breeches by the classes. But they want to preserve it for the offices it may give them. They bluster and blow about the rights of the people and condemn the encroachments of monopoly, yet they are the most active tools in trying to destroy the rights of the masses and in perpetuating the rule of plutocracy. They are wolves in sheep's clothing. Almost everyone of them will, when the national party adopts a straddle platform, knuckle down to their mess of crow and swallow the whole goldbug gag. No intelligent man can honestly hope to effect any reform by and through the old parties. Whenever he says he is a free silver democrat or republican tell him he is a free silver humbug. The old parties are the head agents for the enslavement of the people and its members are all subagents. Don't let them fool you.—Farmers' Tribune.

We can never have honest government in this country until one or the other of the two old parties is annihilated, and the honest voters act together, not only to defeat Shylock and all classes of monopolists, but to give the people genuine measures of relief.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND
PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE.

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arrive Crookston Daily
For St. Paul Minneapolis Superior Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.0 a. m.	7.05 am
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	7.25 a m.	7.10 p. m.

Trains leaving Crookston [illegible] has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, time tables or [illegible] information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. at Crookston [illegible]

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent.
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marshall
North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for [illegible] or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON
R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE

W. A. Sorsoleil

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers' price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS
COPYRIGHTS.

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free.

Building Edition, monthly, $2.50 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY.

BREVITIES.

Go to Johnson & Marshall's for lime cement, etc.

Rev. Kenniston is visiting in Crookston this week.

George Wyele shipped a carload of cattle last Friday.

Sash and doors cheap for cash at Johnson & Marshall's.

Attorney Richardson was in town between trains to-day.

Dr. Henault of Crookston was in town on business to-day.

M. E. Bjerk is giving his building a coat of paint this week.

Harry Norrie of Crookston is in town to-day on business

Mr. W. Bassett and brother are visiting friends in town to-day

Fishing at the dam is becoming a very popular amusement.

S. M. Damard left last monday for Larimore N. D, on business.

Philip Zeh of Thief River Falls drove through town last Monday.

J. D. Marshall of Red Lake Falls, was doing business in town yesterday.

James Meehan Jr. of Thief River Falls was in town on business yesterday.

Mrs Fergu son who has been visiting Mrs. R. H. Aimer returned to her home today.

Commissioner Norland went to Crookston to-day to attend the county board of Equalization.

Mrs. Berquist of Crookston was visiting friends in the village the latter part of last week.

Wm. Whitman of Thief River Falls was in town a short time to-day on his way to Crookston.

Ed. Porter of Thief River Falls was in town a short time last Monday on his way to Crookston

R. H. Aimer received another large herd of horses which he will try to dispose of in this vicinity,

Mrs. John E. Burkee of Thief River Falls was the guest of her sister Mrs. E. M. Hoff the past week.

Haying will be later this year than usual owing to most of the meadow and being flooded by the late rain

Stone Wanted

$1.00 per cord paid for stone delivered at the St. Hilaire dam,

The Swedish Mission Church held a series of very successful revival meetings at Hoff's Hall the latter part of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ware and Mr. and Mrs Benzie of Thief River Falls drove down and looked over the improvements here, last Tuesday evening

A work train has been put on hauling gravel and repairing the track on this branch getting it in shape to carry the large wheat crop this fall.

P. G. Paradis, E. J. Holmes and O. F Post went up to Thief River Falls last Monday. They took the steamer from there to Red Lake where they will spend a few days looking over the country,

As a result of the criminal cases just tried at this term of court, $2,500 have been paid into the county treasury in the shape of fines, and there will be nothing more said about the expenses of the special grand jury — Crookston Times.

Henry Norland foreman at the dam met with a painful accident last Saturday which will lay him up a week or more. He was chopping with an adz when it slipped cutting a deep gash in his foot. He is able to be around again to-day but it will be several days before he will be able to resume work,

In a large percentage of the country papers we pick up, we read of people beat by signing their names in the hands of strangers. Until they learn to bestow their patronage at home and have nothing to do with these traveling rascals they will be thus cheated out of their hard earnings. —Exchange

The young folks of the village enjoyed a pleasant dance in Bjerks Hall, last Saturday evening. They report spending a very pleasant evening,

The newspaper which is replete with good home advertising is one of the best instruments in promoting the growth of a town. It gives the town a good standing in other localities and carries the impression there are enterprising business men connected with all the establishments. The enterprise and business life of a town is certainly indicated by the local newspapers, —Exchange.

The farmer is not pictured in the public prints, he is cartooned. He is caricatured as a fool or a lout, with the accompanying billy goat beard and feet larger than his real estate. Now there are farmers who do not fill this description, and since nine tenths of the natural wealth of the country is produced from the soil by the farmers and goes toward the support of the merchant, and professional man, it would seem as if a greater need of respect was due to them at the hands of this class of people. — Crookston Times.

The Thirteen Towns has never been accused of over-much friendship for populist officers or judges, and is therefore free to remark that the free-for-all tumbling match that took place before Judge Searle at Crookston on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, in which the indicted keepers of houses of prostitution and gamblers from Crookston and East Grand Forks struggled for front seats in pleading guilty and paying their $200 fine each, is something of a vindication of Judge Ives and his special grand jury. Judge Searle must have been surprised at the eagerness with which those people disposed of his two weeks' work in three days and nights.—Thirteen Towns.

Another Fat Year.

A thorough investigation of the crop prospects in Minnesota and the Dakotas has been made and the result is most gratifying, but there is need of help to properly care for the abundance now in the fields. Harvesters threshing crews and machines will be needed in nearly every locality. The lesson of 1891, when hundreds of acres of as fine grain as ever grew spoiled uncut or in the shock, should not be repeated this year. History sometimes repeats itself It may require a little extra expense to properly secure the sheaves in stacks when the thresher is not available to handle them directly from the cutting, but this should be met so that the farmer may get the full benefit of the year's work. Failure must not come at last through negligence. When all the vicissitudes of the seasons pass us by and the fields fairly teem with plenty spare no effort to garner it. Get men and machines and save the crop. It may rain again as it did in '91.

C. A. Pillsbury thinks that the wheat crop in the northwest cannot possibly be as large as some people claim While the chances are in favor of an excellent crop there are yet opportunities for much damage and the critical period is yet to come, he avers. Frost is possible, he thinks, though unusual in July. "But in computing the probable yield," he said, "at least so far as this state is concerned, people do not want to forget that there is a very considerable decrease of acreage as compared with last year. Some months ago I thought the decrease in wheat acreage in Minnesota would be about 12 per cent. I am now satisfied the decrease will prove greater than that. It will be 15 to 20 per cent less than last year. I am sure it will be 15 per cent. As nearly as I can estimate the increase in acreage in other important crops in the state—corn, oats, flax, barley and potatoes—is sufficient to make the total acreage this year about 5 per cent greater than it was last year."—Crookston Tribune

Last year the excessive drouth throughout the Northwest made the hay crop exceedingly short and many farmers were sorely pressed for roughage to carry the cows through the winter. This year hay promises to be fairly abundant in Minnesota and the Dakotas, but portions of Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and other states have a very short supply, and it is almost certain that large quantities of hay will be shipped into those states from the Northwest, and at good prices too: It will therefore be well for farmers in the last named region to make all the hay they can, Especially should those farmers who patronize co-operative creameries put in a liberal supply of early cut hay for their dairy cows. It has been for two years pretty clearly demonstrated at the Minnesota Experiment Station that good bright early cut prairie hay is excellent feed for dairy cows if supplemented by a ration of bran, flax-seed meal and barley or wheat. With butter at 20 cents per pound the station herd returned 95 cents a bushel for wheat and $9.50 a ton for the hay consumed. With such results there is no reason why all of our hay and grain should not be fed to cows instead of selling it in the market.—Farm Stock & Home,

City Dray Line
AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred and eighty seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary Richard and Charles Richard her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 20th day of November 1889, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 6th day of December 1889 at 1 o'clock P. m., in book 43 of mortgages, on page 152, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof,

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz:

The North west quarter of Section thirty two in Township one hundred and fifty one of Range forty three in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 17 a day of August 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law

Dated June 17th A. D. 1895.

Security Trust Co., of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.

R. J. Montague, Crookston Minn attorney

WANTED—Salesmen.

LOCAL AND TRAVELING. A good chance! Don't miss it! You need no capital to represent a reliable firm that warrants nursery stock first class and true to name. WORK ALL THE YEAR and good pay weekly. Our famous Minnetonka Apple is warranted until it produces a bushel of fruit Our seed potatoes sell everywhere. State age

L. L. MAY & Co.

NURSERYMEN FLORISTS AND SEEDSMEN. St. Paul Minn.

Notice of Sale

I will offer for sale at public auction on Saturday July 13th 1895 at James Madden's farm in Section 21 Tp 152 R 41. One bay mare about six years old which was taken up astray May 15th

Tom Madden

Are You Going East?

If so and you wish to avoid heat dust, and worriment of an all rail route and at the same time secure those genuine pleasures of traveling, comfort rest pleasant companionship, exhilaration sleep and good food, refreshing appetite and every luxury one can ask for try the lake route from Duluth to Buffalo on one of those floating palaces of the Northern Steamship Company; "North West" or "North Land."

They are the largest, fastest and best equipped steamers on fresh water anywhere, and the equal of the finest ocean grey—hounds. — Leader Montevideo, Minn.

Good News to Farmers.

W. A. Sorsoleil will give you 50 pounds of good flour for a bushel of wheat, at Johnson & Marshall's ware house,

The passenger Steamer Alice Meehan leaves Thief River Falls every Monday and Friday for points on Red Lake Special rates given to excursion parties For further information apply to Jas. Meehan Jr. Thief River Falls,

For Sale

Hay Stumpage on NW ¼ Sec 2 Tp, 152—44 Address,
P. S. Ware Thief River Falls

In another column will be found the advertisement of L. L. May & Co, nurserymen and florists. This is a reliable firm who pay their agents good wages and handle none but the very best goods,

U. S. Land Office
Crookston Minn. April 24 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and has said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn., on June 7 1895. viz:

John Kron, father of Alfred Kron deceased, HD. n o. 12983 for sw¼ NE ¼ Sec. 22 Tp 153 R 45.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land viz:

Adolph Nelson, L. G. Dalin, Per Person Sam Person all of Bray p. o. Polk Co. Minn,

T. A. Dunlavy, Register.

Dr H. GRUNDY
Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis
DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS AND CIGARS.
Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.
Broadway St. Hilaire

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY.
The NEW and the RIGHT WAY
EAST and WEST
TO ALL PACIFIC COAST POINTS
AND TRANSPACIFIC PORTS.

TIME CARD.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily NO. 3 North and West		Daily NO 2 South and East
4 15 p m Depart	St. Paul	Arrives 7.15 am
4 45 pm "	Minneapolis	6.45 am
[illegible] 05 a m	Barnesville	11 45 am
5 35 am Ar	Crookston	De 8 25 pm.

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH
MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

[illegible] am De	Crookston	Ar 4 60 pm
11 0 am Ar	St. Hilaire	De 4 0 pm.

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.05 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1 20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm Close connections made at Minneapolis and St. Paul for all points East and South.

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and sleeping cars, between St. Paul, Helena Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY G. P. & T. A. St. Paul
R. J. FREEMAN Agt. St. Hilaire

NORTHERN STEAMSHIP COMPANY.

The magnificent steamships "North West" and "North Land" leave Duluth Mondays and Fridays for the "Soo" Mackinac island, Detroit Cleveland and Buffalo, running in connection with Great Northern trains; (Eastern Railway of Minnesota) St. Paul and Minneapolis. Round trip tickets include the lake route either going or returning on sale by Great Northern Agents

No one should go East and back without using the delightful lake route one way at least. For printed matter and information about the steamship route apply to any agent of the Great Northern.

LANDS

Fertile, sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from

$2.00 to $6.00
PER ACRE.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	[illegible]
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 25	3.75
Lot 1 of 33	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 5.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.00
NE SE of 28	5.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	6.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE OE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 4.70
NE of SE 10	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.00 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
6 " 34	3.00 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 5.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.00
3 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
3 " 21	6.00
4 " 23	8.00 to 6.00

I will sell the hay on the above described lands for the season of 1895 at reasonable prices. All persons are hereby warned not to cut hay on any of these lands without first making contract for same. For further information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

Impetuous People

are sometimes figuratively spoken of as not above setting things on fire just for the fun of

Seeing Them Burn

Close competition breeds impetuosity, and in our earnest pushing for trade it often happens that we mark goods away down just for the fun of

Seeing Them Sell

Somebody has exclaimed: "Oh, the impetuosity of the idiocy of the tumultuous idiot!" This remark will never apply to you if in your rush for bargains you get into the right store, which of course is ours.

E. M. HOFF
DEALER IN
General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!
Great Bargain Sale of
FARM MACHINERY
AT
J. E. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mowers at $10 each and a full line of walking and breaking plows which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise.

PTERODACTYL

We print a likeness of the skeleton of this remarkable paleontological reptile because some of its physical characteristics are synonymous with our business methods. Perhaps the most striking similarity may be found in its

Little Finger and our

Big Bargains

Its little finger is very large: and so are our bargains. The paradox of a little finger being big may be likened to the paradoxical inducements we offer you.

Profits and Hind Feet Small

Its hind feet are out of all proportion to its fore feet, just as our profit is overshadowed by the buyer's. Its large head represents the size of our stock. The many years that have elapsed since the time when this creature flourished will hint at the wearing quality of our goods.

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.
EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING
H. E. IVES, Editor.
SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:
Advance. $1.00.
Not in Advance. $1.50 a Year
[illegible] as
Second-Class Mail Matter
WEDNESDAY, July 17, 1895

CATCHING COD.

Life Is No Joke to Men Who Work on Fishing Smacks.

Cod fishing nowadays means work night and day while on the trip, very little time being given to sleep.

The most common way of catching cod now employed is by trawls, which have taken the place of hand lines. A trawl is made of three lines of about 50 fathoms each, or about 1,000 feet in total length. On these long lines at regular intervals are fastened short pieces of line about two feet in length, to which are attached the hooks. On an ordinary trawl there are from 400 to 500 hooks.

An ordinary fishing smack carries about 15 trawls. When the fishing ground is reached, the crew is sent out in the dories at an early hour, and the trawls, after being baited, are set and moored with buoys, on which are placed flags, so that they may be readily found. By the time the last trawls are set the first are ready to be pulled in. Then the boats go back and the crew commences to haul in the half mile of line.

As the first trawl is hauled in it is carefully coiled in a tub so that the hooks will not become tangled up and prevent it from running out smoothly, and the fish are unhooked and thrown into the boat. Sometimes a trawl will be hauled, and only four or five fish will be caught, and at other times 150 or 200 will be taken from a single trawl.

The trawls are then set again, and the fish already caught are taken to the smack and thrown into the well. A second hauling, and then it is time to go to the smack for supper. After supper the crew set to work repairing trawls, replacing hooks that have been lost and then baiting them for the morrow's fishing. Baiting 7,500 hooks before going to bed is no small matter, and when the job is finished the crew are ready to turn in, to be called out at 2 a. m. to begin their day's work again.

The spare time of the crew is taken up in opening clams to be used in baiting the hooks. While the boats are off with the trawls the cook is left in charge of the smack, and he fishes with a hand line from the deck. What fish he catches in this manner he gets paid for by the piece. Sometimes the boats will be away from the smack nearly all night. Trawls get tangled, and lots of extra work is necessary. This routine is gone through daily until enough fish have been caught to pay for [illegible] to market.

The smacksmen are seldom troubled twice with the same guest, as a visitor usually gets satisfied after helping to haul two or three trawls. Smacksmen are well paid in comparison with other classes of sailors, but they earn all they receive.—New London Day.

"Melancholy" McCullom's Oratory.

One of the California pioneers told a story of stump speaking in the Golden State:

A turgid orator, so noted for his verbosity and heaviness that he had been dubbed "Melancholy" McCullom, was assigned to speak at a mining camp in the mountains. There were about 50 miners present when he began. But when at the end of a couple of hours he gave no signs of finishing his listeners dropped away. Some went back to work, but the majority sought wherewith to quench their thirst, which had been immensely aggravated by the dryness of the discourse.

Finally there was but one auditor left, a dilapidated, weary looking old fellow. Fixing his gaze on him, McCullom pulled out a man's size six shooter and laid it on the table. The old fellow rose slowly and drawled out:

"Be you goin to shoot ef I go?"

"You bet I am," responded McCullom. "I'm bound to finish my speech, even if I have to shoot to keep an audience."

The old fellow sighed in a tired manner, edging off slowly, saying as he did so:

"Well, shoot ef you wants to. I may jest as well be shot as talked to death."—Washington Post.

California Prune Drying.

California has given us an enormous supply of fruit, which, by recent improvements, is able to reach Europe in good, wholesome condition. Wide strips of linen are laid on the ground, and on them are placed the newly picked fruit. The hot sun accomplishes the drying in a short while, and then the prunes are carefully packed for traveling and are transported from the fields to be relished in all parts of the world. From recent statistics it appears that California produces at least 26,000,000 pounds of raisins annually. There are more than 200,000 acres in California under vines, and these yield 15,000,000 gallons of wine.—Philadelphia Press.

A Farsighted Girl.

"I will work night and day to make you happy," he said.

"No," she answered thoughtfully, "don't do that. Just work during the day and stay at home at night."—Washington Star.

U. S. Land office

Crookston Minn. April 27 1895

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on June [illegible] 1895 viz:

Simon E. Ahlberg of St. Hilaire Minn. H. E. no. 1269 for the S ½ NE ¼ and Lots 1 and 2 Sec. 1 Twp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land, viz:

Carl Sandal, Anton Sundol Gilbert Anfinson, Tollef Erickson, all of St. Hilaire Polk county Minn.

T. A. Dunlava, Register

IN CLOSE QUARTERS.

A Public Place Where New Yorkers Sometimes Get a Squeeze.

Between the office of the register of deeds and the south side of the city hall in City Hall park, New York, there is an asphaltum walk which takes you into the city hall police station if you keep straight ahead or turns you into Chambers street if you branch off at what is called "the squeeze." It is doubtful if there is another spot in the big town where so much fun can be seen every hour in the day the year round.

Along the right hand side of the path runs a barbed wire fence, and just where it branches off there is a big tree. In making the path the tree was not disturbed, and so it happens that between its trunk and the fence is a space about 18 inches wide. One person can pass through very well, but it occurs every two minutes that two persons, traveling in opposite directions, wish to take this short cut and save going around the tree.

It has never been settled who has the right of way and probably never will be. If the man bound for Park row weighs 200 pounds and the man for Chambers street is a lightweight and has corns to boot, the big fellow carries the day, but if they are pretty evenly matched a "question of privilege" is certain to arise, and one near by will hear:

"Here, you! You git out."

"Git out yourself."

"I was in first."

"No, you wasn't."

"Don't call me a liar."

"And don't you sass me."

"I'll go through here if I have to stay a week."

"And I'll have my rights if I stand here for six months."

If one doesn't give way, there is a squeezing and elbowing and cussing, ending perhaps in a regular row and calling for interference of the police. One day when bound for Chambers street I tried the short cut. I saw a man approaching from the other direction, but hoped to get through before he came up. I was too late. We met at the critical point and looked each other in the eye. One glance told me that it was "our Chauncey Depew." I started to surrender the right of way to the great after dinner orator, but he smiled, lifted his hat and exclaimed, with the remark:

"Excuse me, sir; come on, come on."

But I didn't. I wasn't going to be outdone in politeness, and I also backed out and started around the tree. Mr. Depew had started around from his side, and as a result we came together with a bump, and our hats rolled to the ground.

"Your hat, sir," said the orator as he picked up my tile.

"And yours, sir," I said as I handed him his.

Then we bowed and smiled and passed on, and a gamin who had witnessed the entire performance called out:

"I expected to see a bloomin ole row, but one's afraid, and t'other dasen't."—Detroit Free Press.

When He Is Civilized.

Apropos of a recent book on America written by an English traveler, a fiercely patriotic lady says: "Fault finding is in the British blood. They come over here, find no end of fault with everything, go back home, find no end of fault with everything there, die and go to heaven and find no end of fault with everything there because it is in their nature. An Englishman by birth and education is a brute, but he usually tries to tell the truth, just as he makes a violent effort to pay his debts of honor. Physically he is the most beautiful specimen in the world. He knows how to put his clothes on, and he never looks conscious of them. Occasionally an Englishman comes over here and lives. An American woman trains him, knocks some of the brutality out of him, and then he is the nearest thing to a gentleman angel I ever met."—Chicago Post.

A Gay Deceiver.

"My dear," said Mrs. Honeymoon to her spouse one day at dinner, "the doctors say that one should not think of business matters at mealtimes, as it impairs the digestion and injures the health. Pray, dear, what do you think about when we sit down to meals?"

"Sweetest," replied the old man, "I only think about chew."

And Mrs. Honeymoon put her arms around his neck and kissed him.—London Answers.

Greeks' Worship of Lightning.

The Greeks were so much afraid of lightning that they worshiped it. They endeavored to avert its malignant influence by hissing and whistling at it. In places which had suffered by it altars were erected and oblations made to avert the anger of the gods, after which no one dared to touch or approach them.

The wettest place in the world is Cherrapungi, in Assam, where the average rainfall for 15 years has been 493 inches. In 1861 it was 905.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of nine hundred and thirty-[illegible] dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Ole P. [illegible] and [illegible] his wife mortgagors, to [illegible] Investment Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 3rd day of August 1893, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 5th day of August 1893, at 2 o'clock p. m. in Book [illegible] of mortgages on page 54 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty [illegible] Township one hundred and forty-nine [illegible] Range forty-seven in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 8th day of June 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated April 5th A. D. 1895.

Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee.

J. Montague, attorney. Crookston Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE

Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the register or receiver U. S. Land office at Crookston Minn. on July 2 1895, viz:

Carl Wik of St. Hilaire Minn. H. D. no. 1301 for the SE ¼ Sec. 25 Twp. 153 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

Hakon Johnson, Frank Satterberg, Jons Fongstrom, Peter Anderson all of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of five hundred and eighty se[illegible] dollars, which is claimed to be due and [illegible] due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary A. Holovik and Hans M. Holovik her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee, bearing date the 17th day of December 1890 and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 19th day of December 1890, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in book 5 of mortgages, on page 112 Which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned by said Security Trust Co. of Nashua N. H. mortgagee to Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper by written assignment dated on the 7th day of January 1[illegible] and recorded in the office of the Register of deeds on the 24th day of January 189[illegible] at [illegible] o'clock a. m. in Book 53 of mortgages on page 83 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The [illegible] quarter of Section 1[illegible] in Township One hundred and Forty-seven in Range Forty-five in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston in said County and state, on the 8th day of June 1895 at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder, for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and, the taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 1st A. D. 1895.

Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper
Assignee of mortgagee.

R. J. Montague, attorney, Crookston Minn.

ORDINANCE NO. XII.

Concerning Dogs.

The Village Council of the Village of St. Hilaire do ordain as follows:

Sec. 1. That any dog bitch or slut or any animal of the dog kind owned or being in the possession of any resident of or any person in the village of St. Hilaire shall be registered by such person or resident with the village recorder on the 1st day of July of each year and shall at the same time pay to said recorder for the use of said village a tax of Two [$2.00] Dollars for each dog and Five [$5.00] Dollars for each bitch or slut so owned and possessed by such resident or person. Every owner or possessor of any dog bitch or slut or any animal of the dog kind shall procure from the village recorder a certificate which shall state plainly therein the number and date of such license, the name of such owner or possessor, and the name of such dog, bitch or slut so licensed, and shall pay the village recorder for the use of said village the sum of ten cents for each certificate. The village recorder shall at the commencement of each municipal year provide a tag for every dog, bitch or slut licensed during his term of office said tag to have a distinguishable difference from those used in previous years.

Sec. 2. No person shall suffer his or her dog, bitch, slut or whelp to run at large within the limits of said village, unless such animal wears a collar with the tag number and name distinctly engraved stamped or written thereon.

Sec. 3. It shall be lawful for the village dog inspector to kill or destroy any dog, whelp, bitch or slut found running at large within the limits of this village contrary to the provisions of this ordinance.

Sec. 4. No person shall suffer to be allowed to run at large in said village or streets thereof any dog bitch slut or whelp of a ferocious character, habit or disposition nor in the habit of barking at or in any manner annoying any person passing along or using the street or streets of said village and the village dog inspector is hereby empowered to kill or cause to be killed any such animal if found on the street or at large in said village.

Sec. 5. The dog inspector shall proceed under instruction from the president to capture and slaughter all dogs not properly licensed and collared and all dogs so slaughtered he shall bury or cause to be buried for which service he shall receive one ($1.00) dollar for each dog so slaughtered and buried upon presentation of his bill to the village council for approval, the sum to be paid out of the general village fund. The dog inspector shall receive no payment for services or expenses other than herein provided.

Sec. 6 Any person violating any of the provisions of the foregoing sections of this ordinance on conviction thereof before the justice of the peace in and for the village of St. Hilaire Minn. shall be fined in a sum not less than fifteen [$15.00] dollars and cost of prosecution and may be imprisoned not exceeding twenty [20] days in the county jail until such fine is paid.

Sec. 7. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Passed by the Village Council of the Village of St. Hilaire Minn. this 3rd day of June A. D 1895

S. M. Dainard
Pres. of Vill. Council

Attest
J. L. Johnson
Village Recorder.

S. AFFORD S. M. DAINARD
E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.
DEALERS IN
LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.
A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath, Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always on hand at the lowest market prices.
S. M. Dainard, Manager.
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE MINN.

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.
WILL ALWAYS PAY THE
HIGHEST MARKET PRICES
FOR
All kinds of
CATTLE.
Cord wood, Hay, Oats,
Barley and flax.
Ground Feed for Sale
S. M. DAINARD.
Manager.

THE
ST. HILAIRE
TOWNSITE
COMPANY
Will sell for the next
60 days
DESIRABLE RESIDENCE
LOTS
From $25 to $100.
ALSO FIRST CLASS BUSINESS
PROPERTY AT HARD PAN
PRICES.
Apply to
H. E. IVES Agt.
ST. HILAIRE MINN.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON
DEALER IN
pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.
Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.
Barbershop in connection
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New
Ithaca Hammerless Gun
BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200
BARRELS 5 0.
This cut represents Quality No. 1 — List $50.
SELF-COMPENSATING: MATTED RIBS.
Taking up Wear at Every Point.
An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsman that we have not only [illegible] improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they [illegible] and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the [illegible] but THE BEST G[illegible]
EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.
ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers ITHACA, N.

FRED EIKHOFF
DEALER IN
Heavy and Shelf
HARDWARE.
HEADQUARTERS FOR
HUNTER' SUPPLIES
MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS
BINDING TWINE
P[illegible] a[illegible] 9 cents a pound.
NEW GOODS PRICES
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

AMERICAN HOTEL
W. A. ARTHUR Proprietor
NEWLY FURNISHED
STRICTLY FIRST CLASS
Special attention given to traveling men, Hunting, Fishing and Excursion parties.

FARMERS STORE
NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES
If you want to save money do your trading with
HALL BROS
DEALER IN
Dry Goods, Groceries
Notions.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.
·DR·
PRICE'S
CREAM
BAKING
POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Westminster Cathedral.

The official announcement is made that work on the proposed great Catholic cathedral not far from Westminster Abbey, will be pushed on with as much speed as possible. Bentley, the architect selected, has just returned from a long and special study of European cathedrals and his model is Constantine's Church of St. Peter at Rome. It will cost £250,000 and the cardinal has already for the purpose £80,000 and the site.

The site of this great edifice was purchased by Cardinal Manning and it was the dream of his life to see the great church erected. Contributions for the church will be received from all parts of Christendom. As an inducement to liberality every contributor to the extent of £1,000 will be honored by having his or her name inscribed on the cathedral as a founder. The building will be unlike anything in London. With a length of 350 feet a width of 270 feet and a height of 100 feet, it will seat 8,000 persons. The foundation stone has just been laid.

Tobacco-Weakened Resolutions.

Nerves irritated by tobacco, always craving for stimulants, explains why it is so hard to SWEAR OFF. No-To-Bac is the only guaranteed tobacco-habit cure because it acts directly on affected nerve centers, destroys irritation, promotes digestion and healthy, refreshing sleep. Many gain 10 pounds in 10 days. You run no risk. No-To-Bac is sold and guaranteed by Druggists everywhere. Book free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., New York City or Chicago.

Breadsticks.

Mrs. Rorer's formula for making breadsticks says: "Pour half a pint of boiling water into half a pint of milk. Add a teaspoonful of warm water. Now stir in sufficient whole-wheat flour to make a stiff dough. Turn it out on the board, knead until soft and elastic and free from stickiness. Place in a bowl, brush the top lightly with butter and stand aside for three hours. Then turn out on the board, cut off a small portion and roll it out under the hands about ten inches long and twice the thickness of a lead pencil. Place in greased pans, stand aside one hour, and bake in a quick oven ten minutes. Special pans come for these sticks, but they are not necessary, as they will bake in any bread pan."

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth
Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for Children Teething.

The Other Kind.

Hart—I see that you have that rent in your trousers still.

Smart—Oh, no, I haven't. My landlord held me up in the street this morning, and took every cent of it.

Coe's Cough Balsam
Is the oldest and best. It will break up a Cold quicker than anything else. It is always reliable. Try it.

Getting Even.

Brace—I like a joke, but printing a fellow's death notice is carrying a joke too far.

Bagley—Didn't you say you would pay me Saturday night that five you borrowed, if you were alive?—Puck.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."
Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

A Margin to Boot.

"Do you really think that a bicycle is worth the money?"

"Worth the money?" said the quick-tempered man. "Why, mine has paid for itself in less than three months in the beautiful explanation it furnishes for a black eye."—Washington Star.

We think Piso's Cure for Consumption is the only medicine for Coughs.—Jennie Pinckard, Springfield, Ills., Oct. 1, 1894.

Knew the Ropes.

Editor—I presume you know this paper is run on strict party lines.

New Man—That's all right. I'm first rate at party lyin'.—New York Weekly.

Green cerebdolite, or "cat's eye," is found in New Mexico.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

A LOST TYPE.

Oh, for a glimpse of a natural boy—
A boy with freckled face,
With forehead white 'neath tangled hair
And limbs devoid of grace;

Whose feet toe in, while his elbows flare;
Whose knees are patched all ways;
Who turns as red as a lobster when
You give him a word of praise;

A boy who born with an appetite;
Who seeks the pantry shelf
To eat his "piece" with resounding smack—
Who isn't gone on himself;

A "Robinson Crusoe" reading boy
Whose pockets bulge with trash;
Who knows the use of rod and gun
And where the brook trout splash.

It's true he'll sit in the easiest chair,
With his hat on his tousled head;
That his hands and feet are everywhere
For youth must have room to spread.

Bue he doesn't dub his father "old man,"
Nor deny his mother's call,
Nor ridicule what his elders say,
Or think that he knows it all.

A rough and wholesome natural boy
Of a good, old-fashioned clay;
God bless him, if he's still on earth,
For he'll make a man some day.
—Detroit Free Press.

A PRIMEVAL STORY.

Chug did not know that he belonged in the post tertiary period of the world as he stood beside the tawny waters of the great inland sea, whose waves gently washed the warm shores of the young earth.

He was in Kansas, although he was not aware of it, and as he stood there, he looked off into the northwest anxiously for the clouds that would bring rain to break the drought.

The little brook which now winds through the valley where he stood is a mere glimmering ghostlet of its mighty post tertiary predecessor, the sea.

Chug was young and lithe and stalwart, like the machairodus of the cataclysmic caves. His whole body was hard as wood and covered with a coat of thick nut-brown, hair that harmonized with the reddish beard that flowed over his broad chest as that of a post tertiary Peffer.

His heavy mane of weather-beaten locks had never felt a hat.

About his loins from one shoulder was draped the skin of a cave lion.

A ponderous mace of flint lashed by leather thongs to the handle lay at his feet.

Chug, who derived his name from the sound of the mighty blow with which he smote to death the cave lion whose hide he wore, was not thinking of the pterodactyl from which he narrowly escaped the night before.

Nor did he notice the cyclopean crocodiles in the sea.

His thoughts were sad and roamed afar.

At a distance too far for his computation he had been born amid a little clan of post tertiarians.

A strange impulse, such as brothers and sisters had never known, came over him.

The monosyllabic conversation of his kin made him tired. Chug was wont to twine wild flowers in his hair and wear sandals of woolly hippopotamus hide.

"Spat-Spat!" a young woman who could skin an Irish elk quicker than any woman of the clan, and who scorned the luxury of sandals or robes of hide, one day pointed her reeking finger at Chug as she paused in her work, and cried contemptuously, 'Dude! Dude!"

"You didn't say 'dude' when I saved you from the claws of the ichthyosaurus!" retorted Chug, and passed on.

Thus Chug gathered up his weapons and went forth alone, and wandered from his own fireside.

Long he had pondered over the mystery of life.

He had repeated in his sleep the refrain, "There are others."

If his clan existed, he argued, why not other clans somewhere?

Was it not possible that in their society he could lose that tired feeling which had so oppressed him?

But moons had come and waned; he had traversed unknown leagues of morass and forest, crossed the tide of rushing rivers, and still holding nothing but packs of great hyenas, trumpeting mammoths, giant grainivorus and carnivorus mammalia and monstrous reptiles and amphibia.

Man was nil, and woman existed not.

If Chug had lived nowadays he would have known what troubled his breast.

He would have found love in the eyes of beauty and become happy.

Poor Chug did not understand love. His soul yearned unconsciously.

His thought went back homeward.

It had not been quite so bad there as in this solitude.

He thought of how he built a house for his mother of the ribs of a horned iguanodon that in life was seventy feet long, with legs thick as the fluted columns of a Corinthian temple.

He recalled how he used to arise early and build the fire, and how he once had mashed his finger while chopping kindling wood with the stone ax.

An idea came to him as he stood there looking across the great sea.

Why not float upon its bosom on a raft and mayhap come upon another people.

Chug worked with feverish fervor, and in two days was launched upon his hazardous journey.

But, alas, as he was putting to shore a few days thereafter, an air-breathing, cold-blooded plesiosaurus, which was hidden in the reeds, suddenly shot its horrible head at him, its long flexible neck seeming like a monstrous serpent.

Chug pushed away madly, tore himself loose from the jagged jaws, but fainted across his raft, and the tawny waters bore it out to sea, the rude funeral car of a post tertiary hero.

For days the apparently dead voyager floated.

His system stood the strain, and the spark of life remained due to the fashion of the time of eating but once a week or so.

Chug had dined the day prior to his misadventure.

Old Chief Tushe-tushe of the fishermen at the mouth of the river, now known as the Arkansas, intercepted the raft and found Chug.

After due consideration among the tribe it was decided to put him to death.

The Tushe-tushes had dwelt by the sea many generations, and the legends gave their origin as the children of a gigantic mastodonsaurus which had formerly infested the coast.

Their village was on the site of the present city of Wichita, somewhere near the soap works and was laid out in town lots even into the bed of the sea.

They were brown skinned, beardless and with hair as black as the alluvial soil and stiff as the whiskers of the giant post tertiary leopard.

Their numbers had brought about many improvements in the mode of living, such as wearing loin cloths of native grasses and the hanging of shells from the ear and nose.

For generations the fashion of flattening the forehead had prevailed.

Chug had small hands and feet, was hairy as a cave lion, and wore whiskers, and besides, his head was not flattened.

Such a monstrosity could not be permitted to live.

The natural curiosity of the Tushe-tushes, however, impelled them to nurse Chug to life to see what he was like when well.

The job of nursing Chug fell to Sunbird, the only daughter of the old chief.

She marveled at the brawny proportions of the strange voyager.

She whiled away the long hours by plaiting his whiskers and grooming his brown fur until he shone like a blooded carriage horse.

Sunbird was young and impressionable.

She had been wooed by every youth of the clan, had listened for a while, and then repulsed every many of them.

No woman of the tribe was so beautifully shaped as Sunbird nor was there so smart a flathead among the Tushe-tushes.

She had a Trilby foot and the shoulders of a Lillian Russell.

Her old father loved her devotedly, still he chided her.

"You are getting much too gay for the tribe, my precious darling," he would say in his blunt, rough way.

During Chug's convalescense his days were sweet with newness.

Instead of a bulletheaded Spat-Spat, covered with a fur like a megatherium, here was a creature with a head like a tri-angle, and with a graceful figure, smooth and soft to the touch, and the broiled steak of the post tertiary reindeer was charming to his palate.

The vocabulary of the language of Chug and Sunbird contained but 600 words, and nurse and invalid could soon converse.

So happy was Chug that he hated to tell the story of his passion which filled his heart, and he reserved it from day to day.

But his stalwart form trembled with emotion, as Sunbird's hand gently smoothed the fur of his broad shoulders.

When Sunbird's father comprehended the trend of affairs, he did not grate his teeth, because, as a matter of fact, he was a fish eater and toothless.

But he spoke his mind.

"Come, the jig is up!" he shouted, and dragged Chug to the place of execution.

This denouement astonished Chug so much that he was pinioned by withes of elastic bush before he could make up his mind to resist.

The executioner brandished a ponderous dinotherium tusk, when Sunbird dashed through the throng of Tushe-tushes.

"Stand b-a-c-k!" she shrieked, with the furious mien of a post tertiary sabertoothed tigress robbed of her cubs.

"I love him, and if he dies, I d-i-e with him!" cried Sunbird as the tribesmen wavered before her as before the awful presence of a 50-foot high pterodactyl.

"What! that hairy animal, with small hands and feet and little round head—that Populist freak!" yelled the old chief.

"I love him because he is so different from other men, papa. He is so perfectly unconventional!" replied Sunbird.

"That's all right," said old Tushe-tushe as he released Chug and blessed his children. "It will be my turn to laugh when you want a divorce, young woman! Remember that Chicago is only 20,000 years hence!"

But Chug eventually became chief of the tribe and through his example the people became exceedingly mild mannered and took to whisker raising.—Kansas City Star.

OUR TWO LANGUAGES.

One Used in Conversation, the Other in Written Language.

A writer in the current number of the "Educational Review" prefaces an extremely interesting article on English literature in the college by the declaration, "It is now, I think, generally admitted that the first principle of rhetoric is, write as you speak. The pedantic, declamatory, Latinized diction that prevailed in literary circles a hundred years ago is no longer the standard King's English. In order to write well, it is necessary first to speak well—that's is, to speak naturally, correctly and strongly."

This is a clever and cunning, as well as complete begging of the whole question. The assumption that we, English and Americans, speak as we write, and that the ordinary rules of rhetoric and grammar run through and underlie oral, as well as written language, is an assumption which can not be verified by evidence. The man who says "don't" and "can't" and "isn't" and who talks about him and me" when he means "he and I" or who says "done" for "did" or "seen" for "saw" can take his pen or pencil in hand and write English which is unexceptionable from the standpoint of person, mood or tense, the fact being that written language is a refinement and, possibly an improvement on spoken language, but at the same time as different from it as the dialect of Yorkshire from that of Cornwall, or the talk of Yankeeland from the patois of the uplands of North Carolina or the lowlands of Louisiana.

The writer of the article in question has fallen into the rhetorical error of, as the vernacular has it, putting the cart before the horse. Every written language, protected and fenced in as it may be by rhetorical fences and hedges, each of which is bristling with rules and safeguarded by exceptions to those rules, is only a development from a spoken language, and whether it be an improvement or not is an open question. At all events it must be apparent to every student of language of philology that we have, at least in English, two separate and distinct languages, and that if we should attempt to follow the dictum of the writer in the "Educational Review" and write as we speak, our contributions to current literature would be speedily sidetracked into the editor's waste-paper basket. It might be better for the genius of the English language, and for the preservation of its integrity, that we should speak as we write, but to adopt the converse proposition and write as we speak seems the very climax of absurdity to those who know and appreciate the distinction between English "as she is wrote" and "as she is spoke."—San Francisco Chronicle.

Wood Clothing.

Some of the Japanese soldiers wear paper clothing, which proves very durable, so it is hardly surprising that a French chemist should have hit upon a method of producing artificial cotton from wood cellulose. The cellulose is heated under pressure in a closed vessel with zinc chloride, hydrochloric and acetic acids, a little ripe oil, caseine and gelatine. A pasty mass is thus obtained which is placed in a cylinder and expelled through the base of the latter by means of a heavily loaded piston. The threads, as they issue, are led first between two hot rolls, then into a weak solution of washing soda, and finally between another pair of drying rolls. The material weaves and takes dyes well. The strength of the "cotton" is said to be much increased by parchmentising. As this cloth is waterproof and extremely light, it has been suggested that it would form an excellent material for the clothing of the masses in India. In connection with the subject of wood pulp, a contemporary points out that the imports of that substance into Manchester, England, during the month of March were the largest on record, and show an increase compared with the previous month, of more than 20,000 bales.

What Blackens the Globes of Incandescent Lamps.

An Italian scientist has been trying to add to the comparatively small available store of information as to how the blackening of incandescent bulbs is caused. He found that under the microscope the surface of a used filament has little humps, resembling in minature those on the carbon of an arc lamp. They seem to have been produced by some melted material. In places the filament is furrowed by transverse cavities, out of which rise ramifications of lamp black. The film collected on the inside of the lamp shows under the microscope as a very thin coating of lamp black, in which are distinguished larger grains irregularly distributed, and also yellowish crystals. His explanation of the blackening is that certain mineral substances contained in the carbon filament become fused by the high temperature and evaporate. This causes a gradual disintegration of the carbon, some very minute particles of which are projected on to the glass. When the explosion of the little humps on the filament are at all violent, entire fragments are detached, and at those places where detachments occur most frequently the filament breaks.

Electrical Training.

There has been much discussion of the question of the training of electrical engineers and the chances of success offered by electrical engineering as a profession. The fact has been established that in these days there is no such thing as a ready-made electrical engineer. A man has to go through a very laborious and highly scientific training before he can be so equipped as to do justice to the profession, and to himself. Some practical men, however, think differently and say so. A writer in an American electrical journal says: "The truth is that a first-class constructive engineer can be turned out in a year or two." In commenting on this statement, the leading English electrical organ says: "In our opinion this is very far indeed from the truth; and the sooner young men realize the fact the better will it be for the future of the profession."

Electric Car Heating in Switzerland.

It is instructive to know that the Mont Salere electric rack railroad in Switzerland is heated entirely by electricity. The heating apparatus of each car consists simply of two resistance boxes, about 33 inches long, 12 inches high and 7½ inches deep, placed under the seats at the end of the car. The current for the heaters is taken directly from the conductor rail, which supplies the car motors. The temperature of the resistance coils reaches about that of boiling water, and from ten to fifteen minutes is sufficient to bring the interior of a car to a comfortable temperature, even on the coldest days. The heater can be thrown into or out of circuit by a switch on the platform. It is impossible to overheat the car.

Does Electricity Kill.

Just when the killing power of electricity is supposed to have been proved, officially and conclusively, the whole question has been reopened in a startling manner. A reputable physician, who was recently engaged by the authorities of New York state to investigate into the effects of electrocution, showed by facts, figures and photographs that the shock, as given to criminals from the prison dynamo, was invariably fatal. In the face of this, an electrician stated positively that a person exposed to the severest shock can be recovered by proper treatment. Now a lineman has been apparently killed by the passage through him of the frightful charge of 3,000 volts, and yet resuscitated after two hours.

In every receipt calling for baking powder better results and more wholesome food will be obtained by the use of Royal than any other, because of its greater leavening strength and absolute purity.

Improved Laundry Machine.

An improved ironing machine has appeared for cuffs, collars and shirts. In the ordinary ironing machine the table has to be reversed by moving the belt, which loses a great deal of time. In the improved ironer the table is moved by means of friction pulleys, and is reversed or sent forward by a simple arrangement operated by the foot. The roller is so arranged that it can be raised or lowered at will without the necessity of repadding the table. The heating apparatus has also been advantageously modified, and contains a special gas burner, which admits equal parts of gas and air, giving an even distribution of heat, and doing away with smoky rollers, which are usually such a source of trouble in machines of this class.

The Language of Animals.

A game called "The Language of Animals" is so well liked by a family of small children of my acquaintance that it is recommended to those who seek to entertain other small children. Each child chooses the name of an animal, and in turn describes its feelings and actions, the others guess the name from the description. For instance, the ant says, "I live in a hill I sometimes get into sugar and cake and make them taste very bad." The cat says, "I wash my face many times a day. I like cream and catch mice."—New York Evening Post.

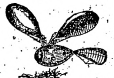
A NEW FLYING MACHINE.

A New York Man Attempts the Aerial Navigation Problem.

It is pretty hard to take seriously the man with the flying machine, and yet it is rather dangerous to make too much fun of him. So many strange things have been accomplished at which the world once roared in derision that some day, while you are laughing at him, some Darius Green will mount to the clouds and glory in his crazy old machine, and then you will beg him for stock.

There is an abiding faith in the heart of man that the tough problem of aerial navigation will be solved some day before long, and now comes J. A. Crandall of 514 Fulton street, Brooklyn, who thinks he has done it.

Mr. Crandall is not a tangle-haired dreamer, with clockworks where his brains ought to be, but is a solid and widely known Brooklyn business man. He has the records of more than fifty patents at Washington, chiefly devoted to the fancy and needs of children, for whom he has invented hobby horses, perambulators, building blocks, and endless games.



Crandall's Flying Machine.

"As the man who invented the steamboat," says Mr. Crandall, "copied the duck's paddling in the water, I have taken the gentle bird's method of flight for a model."

The accompanying picture gives a good idea of what Mr. Crandall's airship looks like. The body is made of aluminum spiral tubing covered with bamboo and sealed air tight, the tubes and the spaces between the floor of the car and the outer casing being filled with gas. The wings are of a tough silk thread paper over a light but strong wire frame, and are closely perforated. Each of the countless holes will be covered by a thin leather valve that is opened as the wing raises and is closed by the pressure of air as the wing descends for the stroke.

The tail is like one of the wings, without the perforations and valves, and is geared to move in any direction.

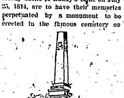
The power is obtained from a dynamo within the car and communicated to the wings by a pair of shafts that move up and down somewhat like the walking-beam of a ferryboat. A lateral shaft resembling the screw gearing of a propeller operates the tail.

Mr. Crandall made a working model of his device many years ago, but he employed a steam engine, which was too heavy. The recent development of the electric motor has given Mr. Crandall hope that from that source he can bring to bear sufficient power without the handicap of weight.—Exchange.

ON LUNDY'S LANE.

Battleground Monument to Be Dedicated on July 25.

The unknown heroes who fell in the bloody battle of Lundy's Lane on July 25, 1814, are to have their memories perpetuated by a monument to be erected in the famous cemetery on Drummond hill, on the Canadian side not far distant from Niagara Falls, by the dominion government.



Lundy's Lane Battle Monument.

The monument will be built of granite from Stanstead county, Quebec. This stone is of bright gray color, even in texture, and is susceptible, of a high polish. The shaft will be approached by six steps. These and the first two bases will be fine hammered work. At the top of the upper base, and at each angle, will be placed a pile of cannon balls as will also be the base with the ornamented parts which terminate the ramps that spring from each angle of the base. The die will be octagonal in form. The four faces will be polished, the angles hammered and ornamented with bronze shields, on the face of which will be inserted the name of the regiments which took part in the battle. Over the die will be a heavily molded capital on the front of which will be cut, in large, raised letters, the words "Lundy's Lane."

The shaft will be of one block weighing over five tons. On its face will be a wreath of maple and the date "1812-14" in bronze. The monument will be about forty feet high, with an extreme width at the steps of twenty feet, and from its commanding position in the cemetery it will have an imposing appearance.

The monument will be dedicated on the 25th of next month.—Philadelphia Record.

Her Face an Inspiration.

There is a face which I meet frequently on the street. It is not particularly a beautiful face but it is so bright and so happy that the atmosphere always seems clearer after it has passed. Its owner is evidently a working girl, for each morning she takes a car at a certain corner and she carries a lunch. And I feel like congratulating the firm which has captured that ray of sunshine to light up some dingy office or beam across some dreary dry goods counter at the impatient customer. I am sure she is worth her weight in gold to her employer.

Her face but puts in contrast the multitude of gloomy, weary, worried, sorrow-stricken countenances one sees passing up and down the city streets and leads one to wonder why there are not more of these exceptions. If it is possible to cultivate such a disposition as shines out through that pair of laughing eyes there is a deal of blame attached to those people whose faces have the effect of an August thunder cloud on the community.—New York Herald.

A Hereditary Talent.

Bellefield—Young Halfback gets his athletic tastes very legitimately. He comes of a very athletic family.

Bloomfield—Is that so?

Bellefield—Yes; his father once held up a train. He had an aunt who did some shoplifting, and an uncle who was quite noted for jumping board bills.—Exchange.

A Gourmand.

Miss Gushah—My Lord, during all your American tour, which of the belles has proven the most irresistibly alluring?

His Lordship— The—aw—dinner-bells, I assure you.

The Reason of It.

Maggs—I suppose Chicago is pretty lively during the summer, is it not?

Staggs—Dead as a mackerel.

Maggs—Heat?

Staggs—Nit. Divorce courts closed.

Ten Thousand Miles for Thirty.

It Matters not which, may subject you to sea sickness on the "briny deep." Whether you are a yachtsman, an ocean traveler, out for a day or two's fishing on the salt water, or even an inland tourist in feeble health, you ought to be provided with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a valuable remedy for nausea, colic, biliousness, acidity of the stomach, malaria, rheumatism, nervousness and sick headache. Lay in an adequate supply.

He Did.

Poet—Did you feel the force and directness of that pointed article I left for you this morning?

Editor (furiously)—So it was you who put that bent pin in my chair, was it, you scoundrel?

FITS.—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after the first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Hard Luck.

Bangs—What a remarkable memory your wife has!

Hangs—Yes, I should say so! She remembers everything that I have been trying desperately for years to forget.

"I have tried Parker's Ginger Tonic and believe in it," says a mother, and so will you say when familiar with its vitalizing properties.

American products, generally speaking, stand well by comparison with all others in Australian markets.

Just how it does it is not the question. It is enough to know that Hindercorns takes out the corns, and a very pleasing relief it is. 15c. at druggists.

Perfectly Safe.

Caller—Your coat-of-arms is very pretty; but couldn't any one else use it?

American Hostess—No, indeed. We paid the designer ten dollars extra to to have it copyrighted.—New York Weekly.

Tobacco Chewing Dog.

Supt. McAlvey has a little English mastiff pup, eight months old and weighing 135 pounds that has developed an abnormal appetite for tobacco. He acquired his taste for it by watching Amos chew, no doubt, and he is never happier than when he is given a "chaw." He chews and spits like any other man and has never yet been sick. His tobacco habit is a very expensive one and he will be given a treatment of No-to-bac in the hope of curing him.—Crawfordsville Argus News.

Not Her Kind.

He (on a small salary)—I love to listen to the singing of the birds, to the orchestra of nature.

She—Yes, it is so inexpensive.—Pick Me Up.

E. B. WALTHALL & CO., Druggists, Horse Cave, Ky., say: "Hall's Catarrh Cure cures everyone that takes it." Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Taking No Chances.

"No, sir," said Charon, positively, "you can't get in here."

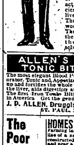
As the disappointed shade moved away from the gang-plank, one of the passengers remarked:

"It seems too bad to discriminate against anybody in that way."

"I know it does," Charon replied, "but I have to do it. He's the blooming idiot who rocked the boat in the other world."—Life.

The salt fish obtained from Siam and Cochin China greatly injure the United States salmon trade throughout the far East.

Agatized wood, of a quality suitable for articles of jewelry, has been found in large quantities in Montana and the Dakotas.



You can carry the little vial of Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets right in the vest-pocket of your dress suit, and it will not make even a little lump. The "Pellets" are so small that 42 to 44 of them go in a vial scarcely more than an inch long, and as big round as a lead pencil. They cure constipation.

One "Pellet" is a laxative; two a mild cathartic. One taken after dinner will stimulate digestive action and palliate the effects of over-eating. They act with gentle efficiency on stomach, liver and bowels. They don't do the work themselves. They simply stimulate the natural action of the organs themselves.

ALLEN'S IRON TONIC BITTERS.

The most elegant Blood Purifier, Liver Invigorator, Tonic and Appetizer known. It builds up and fortifies the whole system, invigorates the liver, aids digestion and cures dyspepsia. The first Iron Tonic Bitters ever advertised in America. Get the genuine.
J. P. ALLEN, Druggist and Chemist,
ST. PAUL, MINN.

The Poor Man's Chance

HOMES 100,000 ACRES CHOICE Hardwood Farming lands situated along the line of a new railroad now being constructed in central Wisconsin, and near a through trunk line already constructed for sale cheap to single purchasers or colonies. Special Inducements given to colonies. Long time and low interest. Send for full particulars to NORTHWESTERN LUMBER CO., EAU CLAIRE, WISCONSIN.

Cabled Field and Hog Fence.

Is Your Blood Pure

If not, it is important that you make it pure at once with the great blood purifier

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Because with impure blood you are in constant danger of serious illness.

Hood's Pills cure habitual constipation. Price 25c. per box.

A MAN WITH HOPES.

He Might Be Poor but at Least He Wasn't a Pessimist.

Near midnight the other night I sat down in City Hall Park a minute before tackling the long flight of steps to the Brooklyn Bridge, and I hadn't drawn half a dozen breaths before a chap came over from another bench and "struck" me for a dime. After I had given it to him I said:

"You must go hungry at least half the time?"

"Yes, sir."

"And you seldom sleep in a bed?"

"Very seldom."

"And your clothes are badly out at the elbows?"

"I need a new suit, sir."

"On the whole, you haven't much to live for, I take it."

"Not very much, sir, and if it was not for my hopes I'd take a header into the river."

"What hopes have you?"

"Well, sir, I'll put your ten with forty cents more and play the races tomorrow, and if I win I'll sit down to a champagne supper, take in the theatre and buy a box of Havana cigars. That's what I hope for, sir, and I thank you, and good night."

I yelled at him to come back with my dime, but he vanished in the gloom in the direction of Broadway, and a police came along and ordered me to shut up.—Detroit Free Press.

Novel Wedding Present.

At a wedding in a little New England town the other day the village doctor, who is the village joker contributed to the hilarity of the occasion in his wedding present. It was a bottle containing 100 two-grain quinine tablets, with the advice to the bride to take two when tempted to scold her husband, the desire being it was asserted, a sure sign of malaria. Unfortunately no prophylactic for the distemper, should it attack the husband, was provided—an obviously most unfair distinction. The list of presents as published in the village paper further included: "One breakfast caster, five pairs of linen towels, 62 yards of bleached cotton cloth, a painted fire screen in three sections, a set of silver buttons for shirt waist and sleeves two embroidered table covers, table mats, pin cushions, stocking bag, dust shovel, gem tins and various articles too numerous to mention."

The Last Resort.

James—I wonder how I can win an heiress?

Dicks—You might dress up as a heathen Chinee and join a Brooklyn Sunday school.

★HIGHEST AWARD★
WORLD'S FAIR.
IMPERIAL GRANUM
IS
★ THE BEST ★ PREPARED
FOOD
SOLD EVERYWHERE.
★ JOHN CARLE & SONS, New York.

LAND
—IN—
MINNESOTA
Along the line of the Saint Paul and Duluth Railroad. Fertile Soil; Pure Water; Plenty of Timber; Good Markets.
Over 2,000 New Farms
Opened up last year.
The Best Place in America
for a Poor Man.
LAND ONLY $5.00 per Acre,
and from five to ten years' time in which to pay for it.
FREE Maps and descriptive circular will be mailed to anyone applying for same to
HOPEWELL CLARKE,
Land Commissioner, St. P. & D. R. R.,
St. Paul, Minn.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c, and $1.00 at Druggists

PAY FOR PLEASANT WORK easily secured through an early application for Local Agency to sell the
DAVIS CREAM SEPARATORS
to Farmers and Dairymen. One style was shown in last number of this journal. Another will soon be pictured out. Meanwhile, write for Handsome Illustrated Book Free. DAVIS & RANKIN BLDG. AND MFG. CO., Sole Manufacturers, 240 W. Lake St., Chicago

WANTED SALESMEN!
One locally and one to travel. Good salary or commissions to right parties. We want hustlers. Add six, with stamp, MANUFACTURER, Box No. 291, Des Moines, Ia.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D.C.
Successfully Prosecutes Claims.
Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau.
3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

ARTIFICIAL LIMBS
Free Catalogue. Geo. R. Fuller, Box 2144, Rochester, N. Y.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

N. W. N. U. No. 29—1895.

Cabled Poultry, Garden and Rabbit Fence, Steel Web Picket Lawn Fence, etc. Quality first class. PRICES LOW. Catalogue FREE.
De Kalb Fence Co., 121 High St., De Kalb, Ill.

Minn Hist Society

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XIV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, JULY 24, 1895. NUMBER 51.

AROUND THE GLOBE.

DIGEST OF THE NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

All Important Occurrences of the Past Week, Boiled Down and Arranged for Rapid Reading, From Home and Abroad.

Washington.

Secretary Hoke Smith has declined to approve a request for pay for work done Sunday by government employes.

Concerning the Mora claim for $1,500,000, the value of the property confiscated by the Spanish in Cuba in 1869, it is said the lawyers will get 40 per cent of that amount.

It has been decided by the weather bureau at Washington to hold the fourth annual convention of the American Association of the State Weather Service in Indianapolis this year.

The attention of the state department at Washington has been called to the alleged illegal execution by soldiers in Mexico of Robert Tribolete of Bisbee, Ari., who was accused with others of robbing a stage.

Surveyor of the Port English of San Francisco has appointed an inspector of the local customs house to investigate the charge made by the United States district attorney, Mr. Foote, that imports are undervalued by the federal authorities.

People in Print.

Mrs. Leland Stanford expects to get some revenue from her ranches to aid in sustaining the great university.

"Freddie" Gebhard will soon receive $30,000 as his share of an uncle's estate.

Jacob L. Mitchener, founder of the first beef packing house in Kansas City, is dead, aged eighty years.

Henry E. Irving, son of the great Irving, while playing at Oxford lately, took his master of arts degree there.

John M. Ward, ex-captain of the New York base ball team, has been admitted to the New York state bar.

Gen. Eliseo Payon, statesman and formerly president of Colombia, is dead.

Dr. Louis Stopskopf, aged fifty-two, of Freeport, Ill., a member of the Yale crew of 1864 and 1865, is dead.

W. A. Clark, Montana's millionaire mine owner, has disposed of his holdings in that state. He will locate in Arizona.

The violinist, Corrodus, died from apoplexy at Hamstead. He performed at the Covent Garden theater only a couple of days before.

Mrs. Victoria Woodhull Martin was arrested at the instance of her warring relatives in New York just as she was about to go to Europe.

Hub Smith, who wrote the music to accompany Eugene Field's "Listen to My Tale of Woe," has been appointed to a consular clerkship in Paris.

Cornelius Lane, a resident of Buchanan county, Iowa, for nearly fifty years and one of its wealthiest farmers, is dead.

Dr. Edwin C. Baxter, one of the foremost dental practitioners in the country, died at Albany, N. Y. He was president of the state dental association for a number of years.

Thomas Sexton, M. P. for North Kerry, is going to resign his seat. He says that the Irish members quarrel among themselves too much to accomplish anything.

The duke of Orleans is being charged with bad taste by the French press in sending fragments of his sister's wedding breakfast to the French hospital in London.

Alexandre Dumas, fils, remained a widower a very short time. He has just married Mme. Regnier, widow of the actor. Sardou and Ernest Lagouve were witnesses to the marriage.

Mrs. Cleveland is getting along very nicely and the baby is thriving. The weather has been very favorable since the birth of the little one, and the doctor says she has suffered no drawback.

Cornelius Yager, one of the most noted of California's pioneers, died at Fresno, Cal. He was born in Kentucky in 1811, and was connected with with some of the most prominent families in the state.

The Casualty Record.

Flora Gedeon and Mary Tomasch of Cleveland Ohio, were drowned in Chippewa lake.

Mrs. C. W. Holt, McKeesport, Pa., may die, the result of an accident caused by a bursting bicycle tire.

Trolley cars collided at Toronto Canada and James Stewart, aged 9, was killed.

Emmet McCarl, aged 13, was kicked to death by a horse on his father's farm near Quincy, Ill.

New York city and vicinity had a touch of a cyclone. Mrs. Louisa Ketrequin was killed and many persons were injured.

It is reported that a large stretch of country fifteen miles from Vacaville, Cal., is on fire and great danger threatens the farmers of that vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Campen and three children were poisoned by lemonade or dried beef, at Constantine, Mich. They will recover.

Lightning struck a horse drawing a load of nitro-glycerine near Shannopin, Pa., but strange to say the glycerine did not explode.

It is now believed that Cleveland Coxe and Harry May, the missing Hobart college students, have been drowned.

John Buscher was fatally wounded at Springfield, Ill., by the accidental discharge of a revolver in the hands of James Marlow.

John Holinger, aged 22, was drowned at Houghton, Mich. A coal dock on which he was standing gave way and he was thrown into the water and covered by two tons of coal.

One victim of the excessive heat in St. Louis has fallen. Mr. P. Busch dropped dead. Mr. Busch was 37 years old and the son of the millionaire brewer of Burlington, Iowa.

James Rogers, a 14-year old boy of Latham park, while grazing a horse tied the rope to his foot. The animal became frightened and ran away, fatally injuring the lad.

Forest fires are raging at Telegraph Bay, B. C., and the destruction of the Victoria powder works, in the magazine of which is stored 80,000 pounds of nitro-glycerine, is threatened.

The barn of John Murphy two miles north of Varna, Ill., burned with the contents. Loss, $10,000. The barn was erected in 1846, had a ground area of 10,000 square feet. It was the best known landmark in Central Illinois.

Fritz Klano, aged 26, acting superintendent of the Carmen mine, Coahuila, Mex., of the Mexican Ore company was killed by the accidental discharge of a pistol, which fell from his belt while he was riding horseback.

Sins and Sinners.

Victoria Woodhull Martin has been arrested in New York as a result of business difficulties with her niece.

J. T. Ebbs, P. D. Table and A. F. Reed were arrested in Kansas City, Mo., for swindling farmers.

John Good and William Freeman, two negro murderers, were hanged at Greensburg, Pa.

Mrs. Howard O'Donnell of Zanesville, Ohio, committed suicide with a razor.

Mrs. W. H. Spivey of Montgomery Ala., was arrested on the charge of poisoning her husband.

Mrs. Louise Hogenson, a child wife who formerly lived in Chicago, took her life in New York because she was homesick.

Cashier L. T. Parrish of the Farmers' bank of Orrick, Mo., is missing. It is said $20,000 of the bank's money is also missing.

William Brusseau, the accomplice of Mrs. Nellie Pope in the murder of Dr. Horace N. Pope on Feb. 2, was sentenced at Detroit, Mich., to twenty-five years' imprisonment at Jackson.

Wesley Collins took poison with fatal effect at the home of his brother, near Durham, Mo. He attempted to cut his throat about a month ago at Camp Point, Ill., but was stopped.

Detective Bradish of Los Angeles, Cal., has arrived at Newark, N. J., with papers authorizing him to take back Giovanni Carrozzi for the murder of Roy Kenner. Carrozzi was captured in Newark.

Thomas C. Woods, a cook on the steamer Walla Walla, shot and killed Miss Mabel Kent at San Francisco, Cal., and then fired a bullet through his heart. Death ensued in both cases almost instantly.

The jury in the case of Woodruff Parmalee of Traverse City, Mich., on trial for the murder of Julia Curtis, has spent six hours deliberating on the evidence with no prospect of an agreement soon.

Henry Wiley, aged sixty, killed his wife at Shelbyville, Ind., in a quarrel over the manner in which they should celebrate the Fourth of July. The crime was not discovered for several days.

From Foreign Shores.

The Banque du Peuple at Montreal has suspended. Assets are said to be $9,000,000 and liabilities $7,000,000.

Prince Bismarck's health is much better, but as he is unwilling to travel he will probably not go to Gastein or Kissengen this year.

The Brazilian cabinet will not accept the terms of peace offered in behalf of the revolting bands in the state of Rio Grande do Sul.

Gen. Count O'Donnell, who saved the life of Emperor Francis Joseph when Libenyi attempted to assassinate him in 1853, died at Salzburg.

Baron Von Hammerstein, formerly editor-in-chief of the Kreuz Zeitung, has fled from Berlin taking his effects with him and official seals have been placed upon his dwelling.

An important change in the military system of Switzerland is soon to be made through a revision of the constitution just decided upon by the Swiss Assembly. Under the present system the army is divided into two classes, the troops of the confederate and those of the cantons. The entire military administration is to be transferred to the confederation.

Otherwise.

An elevated bicycle road is to be built between Chicago and Milwaukee.

Window glass workers are practically out of the Knights of Labor.

Bad luck continues to follow the sealers this year, according to stories told by incoming sailors.

The attorney general of Texas has held that the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight will be illegal.

In a speech at Honolulu Rev. Joseph Cook of Boston attacked President Cleveland.

The third semi-annual convention of the Northwestern Electrical association opened in Chicago.

Ginger, the oldest circus horse in the country, aged thirty-four years, died at Cincinnati.

A. M. Kennedy of Delavan, Kan., became paralyzed and was unable to eat. He lived sixty-eight days.

Mrs. Alva Vanderbilt met her former husband in the office of the Casino at Newport. They did not speak as they passed by.

The Sun Insurance company, a local concern of San Francisco, has been forced to go out of the business and has reinsured its risks with the Fireman's Fund Insurance company.

Receiver Bohn, who has taken charge of the Security Loan Company No. 2 of St. Louis, has found about $1,000 worth of assets, and claims are filed against them for fully that amount.

The board of supervisors of Bureau county, Ill., has voted to erect a staff in front of the county building and keep the American flag constantly hoisted there.

Agents of the various steamship companies declare that the business this year is so much larger than usual that the outgoing steamers will be filled for all the rest of the month.

Paper manufacturers and paper bag makers, at a convention held in Niagara, N. Y., decided to advance drab paper from 6¼ to 6½ cents a pound and flour sacks from $18 to $19 a thousand.

Harry P. Deuel, city passenger and ticket agent of the Union Pacific at Omaha, Neb., has resigned after thirty-five years' active service, to be succeeded by A. C. Dunn of the same road.

PINS IN HER LEGS.

SELF-TORTURE INFLICTED BY AN INMATE OF A CONVENT.

A Young Lady Is Admitted to a Hospital in Cincinnati, Where Surgeons Extract Forty-One Needles From the Woman's Lower Limbs.

Cincinnati, July 23.—A well dressed lady applied at the Cincinnati hospital for admission yesterday afternoon. She presented a letter from the mother superior of the convent where the young lady had resided. The letter said the bearer, Miss Nellie Thomas, had been employed at the convent some time and was suffering from swollen legs and feet. Nothing except symptoms referred to in the letter was found in the preliminary examination, but later it was decided to lance the feet, when it was found the limbs and feet were embedded with pins and needles. Forty-one needles were extracted from her body and she was not able until to-day to endure further operations, when the needles were extracted, and it is thought others will be found. The physicians believe that blood poison will set in, and the case in any event may prove hopeless. The girl protested until after the operations that she could not tell how her feet and limbs became embedded with these needles, but finally she said she had been at the convent of the Good Shepherd for several years. She was an orphan and alone in the world. During her stay there she had done wrong. Not once alone, but persistently. She had done that which she knew was not right, and for every sin she had committed she had done penance by thrusting a needle into one of her legs. She explained that each operation had caused her agonizing pain and that at times the operations were almost unbearable, but she felt she must bear the pain as a recompense for the sin committed. This mode of doing penance, she said, had covered more than two years. Her wrong doings had been of frequent occurrence and she was unable to estimate the number of needles she had placed in her limbs. She said she and another girl in the convent had become unnaturally infatuated with each other. They had acted as lovers and had together sinned against God and nature. She said she had confessed to a priest at the convent who was greatly shocked at the confession she made.

The Sisters were greatly surprised at the statement made by the girl, and could not understand how such conditions could have existed in the institution without their knowledge. They made no attempt to deny the story, but were in ignorance of such relations existing between any persons.

Sister Superior Mary Malone stated that the outcome of the examination of Miss Thomas was a startling revelation to her. She had been aware of the condition of the patient's legs and feet for several months but had no idea of the cause.

Yesterday her limbs were so swollen and her condition so serious that the mother insisted upon her going to the hospital. As to that portion of the story regarding Miss Thomas' infatuation and intimacy with another female in the convent Sister Malone declared she knew nothing of it, and was surprised and shocked beyond measure.

Prof. C. W. Drew, Chemist to the Minnesota State Food and Dairy Commission, says that the "Royal" being of greater strength than any other, and possessing better keeping qualities, it is the natural conclusion that it is the best baking powder made.

Shot His Wife.

Minneapolis, July 23.—Frank Chrispen, a brakeman for the the Minneapolis & St. Louis road, shot his wife with murderous intent yesterday afternoon at the home of the latter, 316 1-2 Sixth avenue south. He fired two shots at her from a six-chamber revolver, one of which struck her in the right elbow, and the other in the right thigh, and then made good his escape. Mrs. Chrispen lies at her home in a dangerous condition. The couple separated three years ago.

Anderson Admits His Guilt.

Farmington, Minn., July 23.—Coroner Stapf of Dakota county came down to Farmington to-day for the purpose of holding an inquest over the body of Josephine Sherdol, the twelve-year-old daughter of Sever Sherdol, who was murdered on Friday. Ed Anderson, who committed the crime and was captured shortly afterward, admitted his guilt. He was bound over to the grand jury and is now confined in the jail at Hastings.

Ex-Bank President Dead.

Milwaukee, July 23.—Isaac A. Hasbrouck, formerly a well known Milwaukee contractor, died at Troy, N. Y., yesterday. Mr. Hasbrouck was president of the old Manufacturers' bank, and returned to the east after the failure of that institution.

Trying Murderer Davis.

Pierre, S. D., July 23.—The prosecution has rested its case in the Davis murder trial and the defense is now presenting its side. The state has made a strong case, based on circumstantial evidence, coupled with Davis' confession.

Not Bones.

Chicago, July 23. — Chemists who have examined the bones found in the stove in Holmes' house at 701 Sixty-third street, say that in their opinion the so-called bones are not bones at all. A further examination will be made.

Good Man to Be Missed.

Sergeant, Ky., July 23.—Near Fish Trap Will Thacker was beating his wife with a club, when John Mattney interfered. The two men fought and Mattney shot and killed Thacker. Mrs. Thacker will probably die as a result of the beating.

Accused of Incendiarism.

Kenosha, Wis., July 23. — George Sperrin and B. T. Block, of the Chicago Bedding company, have been arrested on a charge of burning their factory in this city on June 24 last.

JAMES R. GARFIELD.

A Son of the Late President Is in Politics.

Columbus, Ohio, July 23.—A great deal of political interest has been aroused by the nomination of James R. Garfield, son of the murdered president, for state senator in Ohio. He is a candidate from the Portage-Summit district, comprising the same counties which, in 1859, elected his father to the same office. Unlike his father when he entered politics, James R. Garfield is a rich man. He married the daughter of a millionaire. He is a young man of ambitious tendencies and very proud of his father's name, but wants to win success on his merits, not by reflected glory. Garfield the elder and Garfield the younger were both graduated from Williams college. The son is also a graduate of the Columbia law school, though he was admitted, by examination, to practice before the supreme court of Ohio.

James R. Garfield.

To manufacturers like the Royal Baking Powder Company, the public is under a large debt of gratitude for the increased purity of articles of food sold at the present day. The reports of the official Government investigations of baking powders show the Royal to be stronger and purer than any other. It is quite evident that neither ingenuity, science nor expense can in any way improve upon the Royal Baking Powder as now before the public.

RUIN AROUND DEER CREEK.

Severe Storm With a Number of Serious Results.

Deer Creek, Minn., July 23.—This village was visited by a small cyclone which demolished several buildings in the town and county east. About 4:30 the people noticed clouds moving swiftly from the south and northwest. The clouds came together west of town and immediately formed a funnel. The funnel-shaped cloud started eastward and the first time it reached the ground it picked up a windmill owned by C. N. Benjamin and smashed it into kindling wood. A new barn near by owned by the same party was also twisted out of shape. The store of A. D. Baker was next in its path and is a total wreck, literally twisted to pieces. Mr. Baker and family were in Fergus Falls, but the clerks in charge had a narrow escape. They held the doors closed until the front commenced to give way, when they made a rush for the cyclone cellar under the store. Just as they jumped over the railing into the cellar the building collapsed, one of them having his hat plucked off his head by the cellar door. The second story was occupied by Frank Lodon. Mrs. Lodon, three children and sister, were in the building when it collapsed, and it is a miracle how they escaped death. One child was pinned down by timbers, but was taken out badly, but not seriously, injured. Two ladies were taken from the lower part of the ruins, although when the storm struck they were upstairs. The G. A. R. hall was carried six feet from its foundation and badly twisted. Half the chimneys in town were blown off and outhouses, small barns and woodsheds were scattered over the fields.

STRANGE DISAPPEARANCE.

A St. Paul Police Sergeant Is Missing.

St. Paul, July 23. — Sergeant John Zirkelbach, of the central police station, has disappeared most mysteriously. He was seen Friday forenoon for the last time. Since then nothing has been heard of him. His friends and relatives seem at a loss to account for his strange departure.

At the central station to-day the sergeant's disappearance was the sole theme of conversation. Every man had a different theory regarding the affair. A few united in the opinion that Zirkelbach had made away with himself. Others thought that he was laboring under aberration and would eventually be found. Still others, who said the least about the matter, felt sure that financial troubles had something to do with it. His home was a happy one, but of late had been shadowed by a misfortune to Gracie, the youngest child. Two years ago, when she was eight years old, she fell from a West Seventh street electric car and sustained injuries that necessitated the amputation of her left leg above the knee. The child was his pet, and her sufferings may be assigned as a cause for his derangement, if his disappearance is to be so explained.

While workmen are digging in the cellar of a house in Chicago once occupied by Holmes, the insurance swindler, they strike a gas tank which exploded and injured several of the diggers.

Violet Fined.

Wabasha, Minn., July 23.—Fred Violet and Henry Ray, regular soldiers arrested for connection with the escape of two girls from the state reform school, were tried here. Violet was convicted and fined $25. Ray was acquitted.

With Murderous Intent.

Chamberlain, S. D., July 23.—Long Elk, a Pine Ridge Indian, has been arrested by Deputy United States Marshal Walters for stabbing another Indian with murderous intent.

MANY LOST AT SEA.

A DISASTER AT THE MOUTH OF THE GULF OF GENOA.

Two Italian Steamers Collide and One of Them Sinks, Carrying Down One Hundred and Fourty-Eight People.

Genoa, July 23.—The Italian steamers Ortega and Mariapp collided off Isola del Pini at the entrance of the Gulf of Genoa to-day. The latter sank and 148 persons were drowned.

The Mariapp was bound from Naples to La Plata. There was a crew of seventeen, and the passengers numbered 173. She was calling en route to her destination. She was entering the Gulf of Genoa at 1:20 this morning when she met the Ortega, outbound. They only noticed each other when a collision was inevitable. The bow of the Ortega crashed into the starboard side of the Mariapp, penetrating six yards and ripping up the Mariapp like matchwood. The water rushed in through the hole, and the Mariapp sank in three minutes.

The majority of the passengers were asleep at the time of the accident, and had no time to escape after the alarm was given. They were engulfed with the vessel. The Ortega remained on the spot until 6 o'clock in order to pick up the survivors. She rescued fourteen of the crew and twenty-eight of the passengers of the Mariapp. Other steamers have been dispatched to the scene of the disaster and are now searching for further survivors. The Ortega's bow was smashed for a space of twelve feet along the water line. There is some comment upon the fact brought to mind by the disaster that the Ortega once collided on the same spot with the French steamer Uncle Joseph.

At the conclusion of the sitting of the chamber at Rome the minister of marine announced the news of the disaster in the midst of a profound sensation, adding that an officer, a seaman, stoker, and 140 passengers of the Mariapp had perished.

The Ortega had twenty-five passengers on board. The Mariapp's captain was named Ferrara. The chamber has ordered an inquiry into the disaster.

CONFIRMED THE SALE.

Judge Shiras Decides the Sioux City Transfer.

Minneapolis, July 23.—At the United States circuit court, held by Judge Shiras at the Hotel Lafayette, the receiver's sale of the Sioux City stock yard properties was confirmed. As will be remembered, the Sioux City stock yards were, prior to 1893, operated by the Union Stock Yard company, and had acquired different properties and had a bonded indebtedness of $925,000. It was under the control of the so-called railroad syndicate, which had used the credit of the company to the amount of a million dollars. Upon its failure it was placed in the hands of a receiver. A new company has been formed which has negotiated for the purchase of the old property, and with the confirmation passes into control of the property. The largest stockholder in the new company is the Credit Computation Company of Boston, whose attorney was present. There is a great deal of dispute between the present stockholders and D. A. Holmes, the attorney for the receiver, who has placed his fee too high according to their views. The matter was left to the court to decide at the next session.

The Taylors Go Home.

Chicago, July 23.—The Taylor party, which has been in Chicago for several days, has broken up, and Mr. Taylor, the father of the ex-state treasurer of South Dakota, has returned home. The party consisted of Walter W. Taylor, Redfield, S. D., the ex-state treasurer; Henry A. Taylor, his brother, who lives in Lafayette, Ind.; William Taylor and wife, his father and mother; R. W. Stewart, Pierre, S. D., Taylor's attorney, and John P. McChesney of New York. It was a family meeting, as Mr. Stewart explained, but it was admitted that one of the reasons of their coming was to raise the money promised by W. W. Taylor to pay off his indebtedness.

The Wisconsin State Board of Health, in its latest annual report, officially recommends the Royal Baking Powder, as a pure cream of tartar powder, containing neither alum nor ammonia. This is a hight compliment for no other powder was so honored by special mention.

Arrested in Mexico.

Chicago, July 23.—Chester W. Rowe, the defaulting cashier of Poweshiek county, Iowa, is under arrest in the City of Mexico, and a large part of the $30,000 which he made away with has been attached by Pinkerton operatives and will likely be returned to the county from which it was taken. Richard Rowe, brother of the absconder, is also under arrest.

In the First Degree.

Aitkin, Minn., July 23.—The jury in the case of the Cristellos, the murderers of Gennetie and wife, returned a verdict of guilty in the first degree. Judge Holland's charge was clear, able and impartial in the extreme. The judge charged the jury that it could bring in a verdict of murder in the first or second degree or of acquittal, to which the defense excepted.

Five Drowned.

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 23.—William Lunstedt, of 87 Cossey street, with Fred and Frank Sunbiem and Mrs. Fred W. Sunbiem and two others went out for a sail to-day and were caught in a storm. Their boat capsized and all except Lunstedt were drowned.

Sioux City's Population.

Sioux City, Iowa, July 23.—With the exception of a few suburbs the Sioux City census for the current year has been completed, showing a population of 28,500. It is expected that the last returns will bring it up to 30,000.

Burned in Chicago.

Chicago, July 23.—The plant of the National Linseed Oil company on West Polk street was entirely destroyed by fire last night, causing a loss of about $400,000, which is fully covered by insurance.

NEWS BOILED DOWN.

Items of General Interest Placed in a Few Lines.

Physical violence was used by a Populist convention in Ohio.

Logs of the Lake Superior Lumber company have been attached.

Defender beat Vigilant by nearly three minutes in a fifteen-mile sail.

St. Paul saloonkeepers have been notified not to sell liquor to minors.

The Michigan miners' strike may extend to the Gogebic and Vermillion ranges.

Turkish troops were defeated in a battle with insurgents on the Macedonian frontier.

Three cases of persons being bitten by dogs have been reported to the St. Paul authorities.

Disgraceful, riotous scenes attended the funeral of Stambouloff, the assassinated ex-premier of Bulgaria.

Ex-City Attorney Luscomb of Milwaukee has been acquitted of the murder of Sanger, his brother-in-law.

Princeton students on a geological expedition are thought to have fallen in the hands of Indians in Colorado.

A fourteen-year-old negro girl in South Carolina murdered two little children in a most atrocious manner.

Judge Otis of St. Paul has filed a decision against the St. Anthony Park North Real Estate and Improvement company.

The government is trying to prevent the departure of the largest filibustering party yet organized in the United States to help the Cuban insurgents.

MARKET REPORTS.

Latest Quotations From Grain and Live Stock Centers.

Chicago, July 23.—Wheat — No. 2 spring, 66 1-2a69 1-4c; No. 3 spring nominal; No. 2 red, 66 1-4a67c. Corn—No. 2, 43 7-8c; No. 3 yellow, 43a43 1-8c. Oats—No. 2, 23 1-2c; No. 2 white, 26 3-4c; No. 3 white, 25a26c. Rye—No. 2, 43 7-8c. Barley—No. 2 nominal; No. 3, 40c; No. 4 nominal.

Minneapolis, July 23.—Wheat—July closed at 64 7-8c; September opened at 63c and closed at 63 5-8c; December opened at 64 3-4c and closed at 65 5-8c. On track—No. 1 hard, 67 1-4c; No. 1 Northern, 66 1-2c; No. 2 Northern, 65 1-2c.

Milwaukee, July 23.—Flour very dull. Wheat higher; No. 2 spring, 67 3-4c; No. 1 Northern, 71 1-2c; September, 68 1-4c. Barley nominal; No. 2, 47 1-2c; sample nominal. Rye steady; No. 1, 53 1-2c. Provisions higher; pork, $10.50; lard, $6.35.

Chicago, July 23.—Hogs—Market 5a10c higher; light, $5.20a5.70; mixed, $5a5.50; heavy, $4.85a5.45; rough, $4.85a5.05. Cattle—Market steady.

St. Paul, July 23.—Hogs 20a25c higher; packers on the market cleared to Eastern shippers at $4.75a5. Cattle quiet; not enough to make a market.

DEATHS TO BLACKS.

Five Negroes Killed as the Result of a Feud.

Waco, Tex., July 23. — To-day five dead bodies and four badly wounded persons—two of them will die—in the little town of Mart, was the result of a dynamite bomb thrown with deadly intent. Following are the killed and injured:

Killed—Mrs. Abe Phillips, Hannah H. Phillips, aged 12 years; Abe Phillips, Jr., 17; Willie Phillips, 15; Ed Phillips.

Injured—A stranger named Ben Johnson, who will die; K. D. Taylor, fatally hurt.

For some months past a feeling of bitterness has existed between the friends of Abe Phillips, colored, and Phil Arnold, white, growing out of the death by the killing of Phillips by Arnold and the latter's death through Phillips' son. Dynamite was thrown into the house which was occupied by Mrs. Phillips, her five children and three men, five persons being instantly killed by the explosion or burned to death. Two of the children escaped, badly injured. One man lost his life and the other two will die. Recently meats have been in the house found to contain poison, and when fed to dogs immediate death ensued.

GIBBONS EXPLAINS.

Says Archbishop Ireland's Position on the Schools Was Not Discussed.

London, July 23. — The Ossovore Romani publishes a letter written by Cardinal Gibbons to Cardinal Rampolla, papal secretary of state, declaring false some reports published in the United States regarding his visit to the Holy See. The interviews which the American cardinal had with the pope were confidential and, he adds, the subjects touched on were not communicated to any one. Archbishop Ireland's position in the school question was not discussed. The cardinal adds that there is no truth in the stories from Rome that he is opposed to Mgr. Satolli, to whom, from the moment of his arrival in the United States, the cardinal says, he has had a faithful friend and defender.

The Royal Baking Powder is the greatest of the modern time helps to perfect cooking and every receipt requiring a raising ingredient should embody it.

Two More Victims.

Chicago, July 23. — A local paper says: To the long list of murders and other crimes directly traceable to the arch-fiend, H. H. Holmes, must now be added the mysterious disappearance of Mrs. A. L. Connor and her twelve-year-old daughter, with reasonable certainty that they may have been disposed of in the same manner in which the rest of his victims met their death. Mrs. Conner and her child were last seen in the company of Holmes in this city in 1893. Since then all trace of them has been lost.

Killed by a Train.

Williamstown, Mass., July 23.—Four men were instantly killed while crossing the Fitchburg railroad track about two miles from this place today. A party of six men were riding in a two-seated covered carriage. They were returning to North Adams from Bennington and were struck by a west-bound express. Two of the men, Clarence Prindle and Edward White, both of Williamstown, escaped by jumping. The killed were: Oliver Dudley, Nelson Trudeau, Peter Rocko and Joseph Trayon.

A GOOD APPETITE

indicates a healthy condition of the system and the lack of it shows that the stomach and digestive organs are weak and debilitated. Hood's Sarsaparilla has wonderful power to tone and strengthen these organs and to create an appetite. By doing this it restores the body to health and prevents attacks of disease.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only true blood purifier prominently in the public eye today.

Hood's Pills the after-dinner pill and family cathartic. 25c.

Adventures of a French Baby.

A Parisian lady returned from a ball one night much earlier than she had given her servants reason to expect, and to her consternation found three members of her household missing, the nurse, the housemaid and—the baby! Greatly terrified, she rushed to the concierge to make inquiries, and after some prevarication the man informed her that the two servants, fancying their mistress would not return for some hours, had gone to a notorious dancing place, taking the baby with them, and there the lady would be certain to find all three "quite safe and sound."

As the master of the house was absent, the distracted mother went to seek a male relative, and together they visited the locality indicated, where they found the two women drinking with their friends, but no baby. By dint of threats, it was dragged from the nurse that the child had been taken to a low inn close at hand. Here the enraged parent found her precious offspring asleep in a filthy bed with eight other children, who were all being taken charge of at a franc 50 centimes a head, while their nurses enjoyed themselves.—Ladies' Pictorial.

Skinny Sufferers Saved.

Tobacco users as a rule are away below normal weight because tobacco destroys digestion and causes nerve irritation that saps brain power and vitality. You can get a quick, guaranteed relief by the use of No-To-Bac, and then if you don't like your freedom and improved physical condition you can learn the use of tobacco over again, just like the first time. No-To-Bac sold under guarantee to cure by Druggists everywhere. Book free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., New York City or Chicago.

Bringing Them Together.

Author—I have here a hair-rising story.

Literary Agent—Good. A cure for baldness company was asking for something of that kind this very morning.—Detroit Tribune.

That was a bright girl in the street car the other day who said to her companion, who was making the usual female search for her purse:—"Let us divide this, Ethel. You fumble, and I'll pay."—American Hebrew.

CONDUCTOR E. D. LOOMIS, Detroit, Mich., says: "The effect of Hall's Catarrh Cure is wonderful." Write him about it. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Penalty of Prominence.

"This is one of the penalties of prominence," hummed the mosquito, sinking his stiletto into the sleeping victim's long nose.—Chicago Tribune.

Old Heads and Young Hearts

You sometimes see conjoined in elderly individuals, but seldom behold an old man or woman as exempt from infirmities as in youth. But these infirmities may be mitigated in great measure by the daily and regular use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, an invigorant, anti-rheumatic and sustaining medicine of the highest order, which also removes dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness and kidney trouble. It is adapted to the use of the most delicate and feeble.

Among the Kopts in Egypt, to whom the pope has sent his latest appeal in behalf of religious unity, there is a strong movement in favor of a return to the Roman Catholic church.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."

Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

A white panther has just arrived at the Jardin des Plantes, Paris. A panther of that color has never been seen in a menagerie.

I have found Piso's Cure for Consumption an unfailing medicine.—F. R. Lotz, 1305 Scott Street, Covington, Ky., Oct. 1, 1894.

Japan has a banking house that has been in business without a break for over 300 years. The bank has now over thirty branches, and is the largest private bank in Japan.

FITS—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after the first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

New Man on Morning Paper—What are the office hours here?

Old Man (carelessly)—Oh, only from 3 to 4.

New Man—That's good.

The more one uses Parker's Ginger Tonic the more its good qualities are revealed in dispelling colds, indigestion, pain and every kind of weakness.

You never appreciate the weight of your friend's infirmities until you lug him home on one of his off nights.

Walking would often be a pleasure were it not for the corns. These pests are easily removed with Hindercorns. 15c. at druggists.

Discouraging.

She—Did you attend the amateur performance the other night?

He—Why I took one ow the principal parts. I am surprised that you didn't see me. You were there, were you not?

She—Oh, yes; but you didn't come on until the second act, did you.—Leslie's Weekly.

★ ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR ★

IMPERIAL GRANUM

IT IS

★ THE BEST ★

FOOD

FOR

INVALIDS

★ JOHN CARLE & SONS, New York. ★

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN
SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT
DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arriv Crookston Daily
St. Paul Minneapolis perior Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.Da. m.	7:05 am
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	7.25 a m.	7:10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston ly has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping C s and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or al information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. at Crookston Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St, Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marsha

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for in or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON
R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE
W. A. Sorsoleil

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS
COPYRIGHTS.

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free.
Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free.
Building Edition, monthly, $2.50 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address
MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY.

BREVITIES.

Go to Johnson & Marshall's for lime cement, etc.

A. Perron of Red Lake Fal's was in town last Monday.

Swan Anderson of Wylie was seen on our streets to-day.

Sash and doors cheap for cash at Johnson & Marshall's.

Joe Schmidt of Black River is in town on business to-day.

Carl Johnson drove over to Euclid on business last Monday.

C. Shuster of Thief River Falls drove through town last Monday.

A C Schmidt of Crookston was in town last Monday on business

Dr, Merril of Thief River Falls was doing business in town yesterday.

Mrs. Dan Patterson spent a week in the country visiting relatives.

Our machine men are buisy these days setting up bindes and mowers

D. Patterson spent several days the first of the week. at Crookston.

J. C. Mathews of Red Lake Falls was doing business in town yesterday.

Miss, Lena Jonson left last Monday for a visit to relatives in North Dakota

George Williams of Thief River Falls was in town on business yesterday.

To-days's train brought a host of traveling men to town looking for orders.

S, M, Dainard shipped several car loads of wood to Larimore N. D, last Monday.

Frank Gravel the popular Crookston traveling man was in town on business last Monday.

Oscar Olson who has been spending the past year in Norway Europe, returned home to-day

Ole Wiste came over from Hallock on to-days train to spend a few days with relatives here,

Mr. Askew representing Berrisford Confectionery Co; was doing business in town last Friday,

Mrs. Ware, of Thief River Falls, was in town a short time to-day on her way to Crookston.

H LaBree of Thief River Falls was in town a short time last Monday on his way to Crookston

A. L. Intlehouse of Lisbon N, D was shaking hands with old friends in the village last Monday.

Stone Wanted
$4.00 per cord paid for stone delivered at the St. Hilaire dam,

Miss Inga Rude returned last Friday from Crookston where she had been visiting friends the past two week

Miss May Bye was in town a short time last Friday on her way to Minneapolis where she intends to spend the summer,

The young folks of the village enjoyed a pleasant dance in Holt's Hall last Saturday evening, They report spending a very pleasant evening,

Carper Falk came down from his farm near Thief River Falls to-day to buy his harvesting and threshing supplies. He has already cut his barley and will commence threshing it today.

A four year old son of O. E. Whaley,s while out playing with some of his companions last Friday fell from a fence and broke his arm. Dr, Meril of Thief River Falls was called and reduced the fracture and the patient is now doing nicely.

The annual school meeting was held for this district at the village hall last Monday evening H, J, Freeman was chosen moderator of the meeting H E, Ives was re-elected clerk for the ensuing year and it was determined to have eight months school and commencing the last Monday in September

County Auditor Gleason to-day received word from State Auditor Dunn informing him that there will be no sale of school lands in Polk county this fall as has been customery, The reason assigned is that the sales have already been advertised in 30 counties of the state and there will not be time to get as far north as this. The farmers who have anticipated an opportunity to buy school lands will govern themselves accordingly. —Crookston Times.

If the income tax law had been sustained by the supreme court, says the Boston Transcript, William Waldorf Astor would have been compelled to pay a tax of $178,000. John D, Rockefeller's tax would have been $152,000, Other taxes would have ranged about as follows: Russell Sage $90,000; Jay Gould estate and Cornelius Vanderbilt $80,000 each; W. K Vanderbilt $75,000 Henry W. Flagler and William Rockefeller $60,000 each; John Jacob Astor and Moses Taylor estate $50,000 each, Hetty Green would have been compelled to pay the heaviest tax born by the women. Her proportion would have been about $30,000. As it is the producing classes will have to pay this little pocket sum of $950,000 in the form of taxes upon what they eat, drink and wear.—Waseca Herald.

THE CROOKSTON.

Opening of the New Hotel July 31st,

A visit to the new hotel today found everything making rapid progress toward completion, The grounds have been cleaned, the walks laid and the exterior finished, Inside a large force of men is at work unpacking and arrangeing the furniture and making all things ready for the opening on the 31st In addition to Gov, Clough and staff who will be present Manager Baker expects Senator Nelson will honor the occasion by his presence. A letter received from him today gives encouragment that he will be here. A special car will be run to accommodate the Fargo and Moorhead people who have signified their intention to be present and Manager Baker's mail is crowded each day with acceptances to the invitations which he has sent out. Mr. Baker will limit the number of tickets sold, however, so that none who come need fear that the crowd will be so great as to interfere with the thorough enjoyment of the occasion, The menu is prepared, and will list the finest spread ever made in the city, The music will be of a high class, and on the whole the opening will be the most successful public society event of the year.

The hotel itself is so near completion as to demonstrate to those who have been favored with a look through its elegant interior that it will be far the finest hotel building in the Northwest. The finish is all massive and will stand a century and the appointments are all elegant. The builders have spared no expense to ornament and complete the interior in a manner at once finished and artistic.

At a recent meeting of the board of county commissioners a resolution was passed relative to the taxation of railroad lands in each county. In Polk county alone the two railroads would be called upon to pay to the county treasurer a large amount each year. The resolution was offered by Henry Norland, and is in accord with the famous Andereon H. F. No. 1, which became a law at the last session of the legislature and over which there was considerable lobbying, It was this bill that gave Senator Cronklute such a reputation for a time, when he made his escape and remained away until after the bill passed. It is claimed that the railroads of the state will carry the matter to the supreme court to test its constitutionality, as the same law has never been passed or enforced in the state, Polk county commissioners are the first in the state to pass a resolution looking toward the collection of this tax that certainly should be paid to each county. The following is the resolution in full:

Whereas, the lands now held by the St. Paul Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway Co., having originally been granted to the St. Paul & Pacific R. R. Co., and bought by the former company under foreclosure sale; and,

Whereas the lands to exemption could not accompany such sale and transfer: and,

Whereas, the lands now owned by the Wisconsin Minnesota & Pacific R. R. Co., and the lands now owned by the Little Falls & Dakota R. R. Co., their lands being a state grant and they having leased their roads to other companies and thus not paying any gross earning tax, their lands should be taxed: therefore be it

Resolved, That the register of deeds be requested to prepare a list of all the lands owned by said companies in this county and the county auditor instructed to list such lands on the assessment books and tax lists of the several towns in this county for the year 1895,

Resolved, that the county auditor be requested to open correspondence with all counties in which lands of said companies are situated, asking them to co-operate with us in getting these lands on the assessment books and tax lists of the several counties.—Crookston Tribune,

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred and eighty seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary Richard and Charles Richard her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 29th day of November 1889, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 9th day of December 1889 at 1 o'clock p. m., in book 43 of mortgages, on page 15x and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof,

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz:

The North west quarter of Section thirty two in Township one hundred and fifty one of Range forty three in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 17 th day of August 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law

Dated June 17th A. D 1895.
Security Trust Co., of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.
R J. Montague, Crookston Minn attorney.

WANTED—Salesmen.

LOCAL AND TRAVELING. A good chance! Don't miss it! You need no capital to represent a reliable firm that warrants nursery stock first class and true to name, WORK ALL THE YEAR, and good pay weekly. Our famous Minnetonka Apple is warranted until it produses a bushel of fruit Our seed potatoes sell everywhere. State age L. L. MAY & Co.
NURSERYMEN FLORISTS AND SEEDSMEN. St. Paul Minn.

Notice of Sale.

I will offer for sale at public auction on Saturday July 13th 1895 at James Madden,s farm in Section 21 Tp 152 R 41. One bay mare about six years old which was taken up astray May 15th
Tom Madden

Are You Going East?

If so and you wish to avoid heat dust, and worriment of an all rail route and at the same time secure those genuine pleasures of traveling, comfort rest pleasant companionship, exhileration sleep and good food, relishing appetite and every luxury one can ask for try the lake route from Duluth to Buffalo on one of those floating palaces of the Northern Steamship Company „North West" or "North Land?

They are the largest, fastest and best equipped steamers on fresh water anywhere, and the equal of the finest ocean grey—hounds.—Leader Montevideo, Minn.

Good News to farmers,

W, A. Sorsoleil will give you 50 pounds of good flour for a bushel of wheat, at Johnson & Marshall's ware house,

The passenger Steamer Alice Meehan leaves Thief River Falls every Monday and Friday for points on Red Lake Special rates given to excursion parties For further information apply to Jas. Meehan Jr. Thief River Falls,

For Sale

Hay Stumpage on NW ¼ Sec 2 Tp, 152—44 Address.
P, S. Ware Thief River Falls

In another column will be found the advertisement of L. L. May & Co, nurserymen and florists. This is a reliable firm who pay their agents good wages and handle none but the very best goods,

U. S. Land Office
Crookston Minn. April 24 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and has said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn, on June 7 1895. viz:

John Kron, father of Alfred Kron deceased, HD no. 12983 for the NE ¼ Sec. 32 Tp 153 R 45.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land viz:

Adolph Nelsen, L. G. Dallin, Per Person Sam Person all of Bray p. o. Polk Co. Minn.
T. A. Dunlava, Register.

Dr H. GRUNDY
Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis

DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS
AND CIGARS.
Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.
Broadway St. Hilaire

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY.

The NEW and the RIGHT WAY
EAST and WEST
TO ALL PACIFIC COAST POINTS
AND TRANSPACIFIC PORTS.

TIME CARD.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily:		Daily
NO. 3. Northand West		NO 2 South and East
7 45 p m Depart	St. Paul	Arrives 7 15 am
8 15 pm "	Minneapolis	6 15 am
3 05 a m	Barnesville	11 15 am
5 35 am Ar	Crookston	De 8 55 pm.

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH
MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

0.00 am De	Crookston	Ar 6 00 pm
11 00 am Ar	St. Hilaire	De 4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.00 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1 20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm

Close connections made at Minneapolis and St. Paul for all points East and South.

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY
G. P. & T. A. St. Paul

H. J, FREEMAN
Agt. St. Hilaire

NORTHERN STEAMSHIP COMPANY,

The magnificent steamships "North Wes." and "North Land" leave Duluth Mondays and Fridays for the "Soo" Mackinac island; Detroit Cleveland and Buffalo, running in connection with Great Northern trains, (Eastern Railway of Minnesota) St. Paul and Minneapolis. Round trip tickets include the lake route either going or returning on sale by Great Northern Agents

No one should go East and back without using the delightful lake route one way at least For printed matter and information about the steamship tour apply to any agent of the Great Northern.

LANDS

Fertile, sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from

$2.00 to $6.00
PER ACRE.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 23	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
0 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.01 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5. 0
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.01
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.30 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.0
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.5
4 forties in 24 at from	5 00 to 6.0
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.0
5 " 26	5.70
9 " 27	5.0
NE SE of 21	6.0
2 forties in 33	5.0
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50, 4.50
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5 00
NE OF of 31	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2.	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 4.70
NE of SE 10	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.00 to 5.00
4 " 31	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3. 0 to 4.51
13 " 35	4.50 to 6. 0
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE, NE of 5	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5 00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6. 0
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	5.00
4 " 23	5.00 to 6.00

I will sell the hay on the above described lands for the season of 1895 at reasonable prices. All persons are hereby warned not to cut hay on any of these lands without first making contract for same. For further information apply to
H, E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

Impetuous People

are sometimes figuratively spoken of as not above setting things on fire just for the fun of

Seeing Them Burn

Close competition breeds impetuosity, and in our earnest pushing for trade it often happens that we mark goods away down just for the fun of

Seeing Them Sell

Somebody has exclaimed: "Oh, the impetuosity of the idiocy of the tumultuous idiot!" This remark will never apply to you if in your rush for bargains you get into the right store, which of course is ours.

E. M. HOFF
DEALER IN
General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!
Great Bargain Sale of
FARM MACHINERY
AT
J. E. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mowe at $10 each and a full line of walking an breaking plow which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of
General Merchandise.

PTERODACTYL

We print a likeness of the skeleton of this remarkable paleontological reptile because some of its physical characteristics are synonymous with our business methods. Perhaps the most striking similarity may be found in its

Little Finger and our Big Bargains

Its little finger is very large: and so are our bargains. The paradox of a little finger being big may be likened to the paradoxical inducements we offer you.

Profits and Hind Feet Small

Its hind feet are out of all proportion to its fore feet, just as our profit is overshadowed by the buyer's. Its large head represents the size of our stock. The many years that have elapsed since the time when this creature flourished will hint at the wearing quality of our goods.

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. E. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

Advance, $1.00

Not in Advance, $2.00 Per Year

[illegible] as Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY July 21 1895

A BALLAD OF A BORE.

Oh, have you heard o' the Mackenzie bodle,
The great wild bore o' the north countree?
This is the tale o' the Mackenzie bodle
And how he came a-boring o' me.

He came from far Breadalbane to London,
In his pockets were manuscripts thirty and three.
He sent up his card. Said I: "Lo, I am undone!
What shall I do if he read them to me?"

He came at nine, and he talked till eleven.
Then he read me a novel till half past three.
"Excuse me," said I, "but we dine at seven"—
"I am much obliged for the honor," quoth he.

He finished the novel. He read a poem.
"I think Jones would publish this volume," quo' he.
"Maybe," said I, "but I do not know him,
And in the meantime I'll ring for tea."

He drank three cups, and he read three poems.
My brain it reeled, and mine eyes grew dim.
My soul it loathed the Mackenzie bodle.
I took the teapot and shied it at him.

I fled, and I know not what befell him.
I left him lying and saw him no more,
But I dodge up courts as I walk down Fleet street
And shun the buses I took before.

And at eve I tread my own staircase softly
And open the door in dread lest I see
There in the armchair the Mackenzie bodle
With another manuscript waiting for me.
—London Spectator.

"Thanks," Said the Boss Barber.

Did you ever notice that the regular patrons of a barber shop never tip the proprietor? Whether they feel that it would be an insult to his dignity to offer him gratuity, or whether it is the idea that as an employer of men he is making enough money, is a question yet to be decided. That it is not the first in the case of one proprietor at least was settled by an incident which I noticed the other day.

It is a big shop just off one of the leading thoroughfares, and that it is a money making institution is shown by the fact that it has eight barbers and a long line of customers. A youth from whose appearance it might be judged that he was a clerk on a salary of perhaps $10 a week arose from the proprietor's chair as I entered. He asked a few questions of the boss barber, which showed that he was a stranger in the place. Then he handed to him a quarter of a dollar, which the boss put in the money drawer, holding out a dime to the young man.

"That's all right," said the youth, with a wave of his hand.

"Thanks," said the proprietor, and turning quickly he put the dime not into the till, but into his pocket.

And all the other barbers threw glances of scorn at this employer and looked with contempt at the young man as he passed out of the door.—New York Herald.

Krushite a New Abrasive Material.

Krushite consists of minute chilled cast metal shot, varying in size from mere powder to cloverseed size, which is chilled to intense hardness without becoming brittle, a fact proved by striking it on an anvil, when the latter will be indented. It is claimed to be superior to sand, emery or corundum for stone cutting, polishing, etc., the action between the blocks and saw blade or "rubber" being a crushing one, and the balls do not lose the spherical shape. The wear and tear on the rubber is considerably lessened and the power required reduced one-half. Krushite is especially adapted for sawing blocks of granite, for the sand blast and as a substitute for diamond drills in boring. One ton of krushite is equal to three tons of the sharpest sand.—Railway Review.

Just Gone.

To most German visitors to Rome Goethe is a sort of deity, and after his death every trace of his stay there, however unimportant, was unearthed and visited as if it had been a sacred shrine. One of these shrines is a humble inn where the great poet used to take a glass of wine in the evening.

Mr. Rudolf Lehmann relates that an enthusiastic young Teuton, engaged in this pilgrimage, asked the waiter in his broken Italian whether this was really the spot where Goethe used to visit.

"Goti, oti, no lo conosco—I never heard of him," said the waiter. Then, seeing suddenly that he was disappointing a customer, he added: "Oh, yes, of course, Goti. He has just this moment gone."

An Afghan Custom.

An Afghan is bound by custom to grant a stranger who crosses his threshold and claims protection any favor he may ask, even at the risk of his own life. Yet apart from this he is cruel and revengeful, never forgiving a wrong and retaliating at the first opportunity.

The south Atlantic states have the smallest proportion of foreigners of any portion of the country. Only about 2 per cent of the entire number are of foreign birth.

As soon as a true thought has entered our mind it gives a light which makes us see a crowd of other objects which we have never perceived before.—Chateaubriand.

Kennebec was the nearest approach the whites could make to the pronunciation of Quinninappiohke, "the place of long water."

Bosnia is so called because the river Bosna flows through it.

U.S. Land Office

Crookston Minn. April 27, 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on June 8 1895 viz:

Simon E. Ahlberg of St. Hilaire Minn. Hd no. 1209 for the S½ NE¼ and Lots 1 and 2 Sec. 1 Twp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land, viz:

Carl Sundal, Anton Sundal Gilbert Anfinson, Tollef Erickson, all of St. Hilaire Polk county Minn.

T. A. Dunlava, Register

A SWEET PLACE.

Grasse Is One of the Fairest Gardens In All Europe.

To speak literally, one of the "sweetest" places in all Europe is Grasse, the garden of Provence and, after Paris, the most extensive manufactory of perfumery in France. A writer says of it that the air, half sea and half mountain air, is scented with the fragrance of roses and orange flowers, and whithersoever one goes not a bare patch of ground is to be seen. No fruit tree that will grow or sweet scented flower which can be made to yield up its essence is neglected here.

As all the best roses are gathered in the early morning before the sun has touched them, it is only in private gardens that one should look for roses later in the day. Chief among them is the lovely little yellow rose, which flowers in a profusion unimagined by dwellers in the north. It flings one flower laden spray over another until one might bury the arm in clusters of cool roses to the depth of a third of a yard.

Everything flourishes at Grasse. "I shall not stay here," said a young German gardener, who had gone south to study his occupation under new conditions. "There is nothing to learn here. Nature works with you. I shall go to England."

Grasse has for some centuries been celebrated for perfumes, for scented oils and soaps. Many a process has to be gone through before either soaps, perfumes or toilet waters receive a being. Little can be seen of the gathering unless it be that of the orange blossoms, when men and women work their way into the densest part of the closely growing, round topped trees and stay there as if they had been capriciously stuck in by some powerful enemy and left there.

The orange scent produces something like hay fever, except that it is more serious. The pollen also acts as a sort of poison, and, though the odd, broad bonneted figures look as if they were so firmly wedged into the trees that nothing could dislodge them, they frequently startle the bystanders by falling fainting to the ground.

When the sacks of flowers reach the manufactory, they are weighed, and their contents are tumbled out on long tables, where they lie in heaps nearly a yard high. The floor, too, is covered, leaving narrow footpaths for the work people. Here at the table the townspeople sit picking off petals and laughing and talking, for they are paid by weight and so are allowed such liberty of behavior.

When the rose leaves have passed from their hands, they are shot down through a trapdoor at the other end of the building and thrust into caldrons of boiling lard. There the perfume, the soul of the flower, is caught and imprisoned.

Most of the perfumes are made by laying freshly gathered flowers in a glass case, the lid of which is spread with a coating of lard half an inch thick. This, in the course of 12 or 24 hours, absorbs all the essential oil.

The lard requires many relays of flowers before it is sufficiently impregnated with perfume. Sometimes the supply is changed five or six times, or again as many as 80. The lard is finally melted and mixed with spirit, which, combining with the volatile oil, rises to the top and is captured and filtered.

There is a probability that Grasse will lose its picturesque beauty through being "improved" for the eye of the winter visitor. Queen Victoria's recent visit has given it an impetus, and now it longs for boulevards and villas such as make Cannes so prosperous and so commonplace.—Longman's Magazine.

Burning Common Water.

The very latest thing in the fuel line is made of water, "that useful element which tempers the excess of solar, artificial and animal heat." The above statement may appear to be "an improbable paradox," but it is a fact nevertheless that a gas is now made of pure water, and that that same gas is a splendid fuel. The principle of the manufacture of these water gases is to pass aqua pura over redhot irons, thus resolving it into the two inflammable substances known as hydrogen and carbonic oxide gas. As scarce as water now is in the United States, we had hoped that no new plans of getting rid of it would be invented.—St. Louis Republic.

An Eclipse to Order.

Dean Church has told a very good story about the eclipse of the sun in 1864. It appears that at Whatley, the dean's country parish, the eclipse was a failure. Some wag in the neighboring county town sent the common crier round to announce that, in consequence of the disappointment, the eclipse would be repeated next day. "I don't know," says the dean, "what effect the announcement had. I only know that the bellman took the fee and very solemnly went round the town crying the intelligence."

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of nine hundred and thirty two dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Ole P. Stokke, and Tobie Stokke his wife mortgagors, to Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 3rd day of August 1889, and, with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 7th day of August 1889, at 2:30 o'clock p.m., in Book 43 of mortgages on page 54 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty in Township one hundred and forty-nine of Range forty-seven in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 8th day of June 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated April 5th A. D. 1895.

Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee

J. Montague, attorney. Crookston Minn

U.S. LAND OFFICE

Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the register or receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on July 2 1895, viz:

Carl Wik of St. Hilaire Minn. H D no 1334 for the SE ¼ Sec 35 Twp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

Hakon Johnson, Frank Satterberg, Jonas Fougstrom, Peter Anderson all of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of five hundred and eighty seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary A. Holsvik and Hans M. Holsvik her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee, bearing date the 17th day of December 1890 and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 19th day of December 1890, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in book 51 of mortgages, on page 112 Which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned by said Security Trust Co. of Nashua N. H. mortgagee to Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper by written assignment dated on the 7th day of January 1891 And recorded in the office of the Register of deeds on the 24th day of January 1891 at 8:40 o'clock a. m., in Book 56 of mortgages, on page 81 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The [illegible] quarter of Section 18 in Township One hundred and Forty-seven in Range Forty-five in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston in said County and State on the 8th day of June 1895 at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and the taxes if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 1st A. D. 1895.

Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper
Assignee of mortgagee.

R. J. Montague, attorney, Crookston Minn.

ORDINANCE NO. XII,

Concerning Dogs.

The Village Council of the Village of St. Hilaire do ordain as follows:

Sec. I. That any dog bitch or slut or any animal of the dog kind owned or being in the possession of any resident of or any person in the village of St. Hilaire shall be registered by such person or resident with the village recorder on the 1st day of July of each year and shall at the same time pay to said recorder for the use of said village a tax of Two [$2.00] Dollars for each dog and Five [$5.00] Dollars for each bitch or slut so owned and possessed by such resident or person. Every owner or possessor of any dog bitch or slut or any animal of the dog kind shall procure from the village recorder a certificate which shall state plainly therein the number and date of such license, the name of such owner or possessor, and the name of such dog, bitch or slut so licensed, and shall pay the village recorder for the use of said village the sum of ten cents for each certificate. The village recorder shall at the commencement of each municipal year provide a tag for every dog, bitch or slut licensed during his term of office said tag to have a distinguishable difference from those used in previous years.

Sec. 2. No person shall suffer his or her dog, bitch, slut or whelp to run at large within the limits of said village unless such animal wears a collar with the tag number and name destinctly engraved stamped or written thereon.

Sec. 3. It shall be lawful for the village dog inspector to kill or destroy any dog, whelp, bitch or slut found running at large within the limits of this village contrary to the provisions of this ordinance.

Sec. 4. No person shall suffer to be allowed to run at large in said village or streets thereof any dog bitch, slut or whelp of a ferocious character, habit or disposition nor in the habit of barking at or in any manner annoying any person passing along or using the street or streets of said village and the village dog inspector is hereby empowered to kill or cause to be killed any such animal if found on the street or at large in said village.

Sec. 5. The dog inspector shall proceed under instructions from the president to capture and slaughter all dogs not properly licensed and collared and all dogs so slaughtered he shall bury or cause to be buried for which service he shall receive one ($1.00) dollar for each dog so slaughtered and buried upon presentation of his bill to the village council for approval, the sum to be paid out of the general village fund. The dog inspector shall receive no payment for services or expenses other than herein provided.

Sec. 6 Any person violating any of the provisions of the foregoing sections of this ordinance on conviction thereof before the justice of the peace in and for the village of St. Hilaire Minn. shall be fined in a sum not less than fifteen ($15.00) dollars and cost of prosecution and may be imprisoned not exceeding twenty (20) days in the county jail until such fine is paid.

Sec. 7. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Passed by the Village Council of the Village of St. Hilaire Minn. this 3rd day of June A. D. 1895

S. M. Dainard
Pres. of Vill. Council

Attest.
O. L. Johnson
Village Recorder.

SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

—DEALERS IN—

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath. Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always on hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN

E. T. SPAFFORd & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE

HIGHEST MARKET PRICES

FOR

All kinds of

CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD.

Manager.

THE

ST. HILAIRE

TOWNSITE

COMPANY

Will sell for the next

60 days

DESIRABLE RESIDENCE

LOTS

From $25 to $100.

ALSO FIRST CLASS BUSINESS PROPERTY AT HARD PAN PRICES.

Apply to

H. E. IVES Agt.

ST. HILAIRE MINN.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs,

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

Barbershop in connection

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200, BARRELS, 50.

This cut represents Quality No. 1 — List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING MATTED RIBS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point.

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsmen that we have not only [illegible] improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have [illegible] and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the [illegible] but THE [illegible]

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers ITHACA, N.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

Heavy and Shelf

HARDWARE

HEADQUARTERS FOR

HUNTER' SUPPLIES

MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS

BINDING TWINE

P [illegible] a [illegible] 9 cents a pound.

NEW GOODS PRICES

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

AMERICAN HOTEL

W. A. ARTHUR Proprietor.

NEWLY FURNISHED

STRICTLY FIRST CLASS

Special attention given to traveling men, Hunting, Fishing and Excursion parties.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries

Notions.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.
DR.
PRICE'S
CREAM
BAKING
POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Electric Light and Candles.

The Russians will not allow gas or electric lights in their splendid churches, but by the use of thousands of candles produce a most brilliant yet agreeable light. Prof. Crookes, the scientist, says that "if the electric light were universal to-day, the candle if suddenly introduced, would be thought a wonderful invention, as it enables a person to obtain light in its simplest and most portable form, and without the use of cumbrous machinery or the necessity of attaching a lamp to any fixed point by means of wire before it could be lighted." The desired portable electric light has not yet arrived. An inventor of our acquaintance has long been experimenting upon it, but has not yet reduced its weight below 20 pounds. The tribute to the best sperm candle is deserved. The softness and clearness of the light are delightful to the eye. The candle's dignity, like that of the horse, remains; for as the mightiest steam and electric engines are estimated in "horse-power" so the unit of measurement for gas lights, the powerful Welsbach light and the electric light is "candle-power."—New York Christian Advocate.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth
Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

The Speed of Electricity.

The speed of electricity under the most favorable conditions is now established to be 180,000 miles a second. What this enormous speed implies is somewhat dimly suggested by an illustration recently used by the eminent scientist, Sir Robert Bell. Suppose that a row of telegraph posts 25,000 miles long were erected around the earth at the equator. Suppose that a wire were stretched upon these posts for this circuit of 25,000 miles, and that then another complete circuit was taken by the same wire around the same posts, and then another, and yet another. In fact, let the wire be wound no fewer than seven times completely about this great globe. We should then find that an electric signal sent into the wire at one end would accomplish the circuit in one second of time.

The Next Demand.

"I suppose," remarked the authorities to the street railway corporations, "that it's the same old story. You want more time."

"No," was the reply. "We've had all the time we want. It doesn't satisfy us."

"What are you after then?"

"Eternity."—Washington Star.

In the Same Boat.

Mr. Figg—What were you kept in at school for?

Tommy—'Cause I didn't remember the name of the vice-president.

"H'm! Half the time I can't remember it myself."—Indianapolis Journal.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine.
The original and only genuine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Cold Sores, &c. C. G. Clark Co., N. Haven, Ct.

Tried to be Funny.

Is this the smoking car?" anxiously inquired an old lady at the Albany station.

"No, madame," replied the polite young man standing on the steps of the car; "you'll find the smoker on two cars ahead."—Puck.

When Traveling,
Whether on pleasure bent, or business, take on every trip a bottle of Syrup of Figs, as it acts most pleasantly and effectually on the kidneys, liver and bowels, preventing fevers, headaches and other forms of sickness. For sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all the leading druggists. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only.

Passed to Realms Unknown.

"Where's my bicycle?" asked papa on the morning of the Fourth, as he came out into the yard.

"Boo-hoo!—I d-don't know," said Willie. "It went off a little while ago."

"Went off! Where?"

"Boo-hoo!—I d-don't know. I f-fu-filled the roomatic tire wiv powder an' touched a m-match to it, an'—ah-hoo-ah-hoo!—it went away."—Harper's Bazar.

Dress-Suit Distinction.

Gosling (in his first dress suit)—What do you think of it, Tom?

Tom—Well, if you could only put on a more haughty air, you would almost look as gentlemanly as our head waiter.—New York Tribune.

Ivory paper is a paper which is considered in many particulars superior to ivory itself. It is peculiarly adapted for the most delicate kind of pencil drawing.

Old Rip Van Winkle went up into the Catskill mountains to take a little nap of twenty years or so, and when he wakened, he found that the "cruel war was over," the monthly magazines had "fought it over" the second time and "blown up" all the officers that had participated in it. This much is history, and it is also an historical fact that, it took the same length of time, for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to become the most celebrated, as it is the most effective, Liver, Blood and Lung Remedy of the age. In purifying the blood and in all manner of pimples, blotches, eruptions, and other skin and scalp diseases, scrofulous sores and swellings, and kindred ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" manifests the most positive curative properties.

Schrage's $1,000,000 Rheumatic Cure Never Failed.
167 Dearborn St., Chicago.

HORR AND HARVEY.

THE GREAT FINANCIAL DEBATE IN CHICAGO.

The Ex-Congressman From Michigan and the Author of "Coin's Financial School" Engage in a Ten Days' Debate on the Money Question.

Chicago, July 17.—The financial debate between ex-Congressman Roswell G. Horr, late of Michigan but now of New York, and William Harvey, author of "Coin's Financial School," began at the Illinois club before a large audience. The debate will last ten days.

In opening each of the participants made a statement, defining in a general way the ground he proposes to occupy in the debate. The foundation of the discussion is a small book published by Mr. Harvey, entitled "Coin's Financial School." Mr. Horr combats the statements made in the book and Mr. Harvey defends them.

Chicago, July 23.—The crucial point was reached in the big Horr-Harvey debate when near the end of the session Mr. Horr, breaking away from the long-continued discussion of the circumstances surrounding the enactment of the law of 1873, stated compactly his version of the existing condition of the debate and then plumped the main question: "Ought we again throw open the mints of the United States to the free coinage of silver?"

Mr. Harvey was evidently taken by surprise, but stood by his guns and insisted on proceeding with his attempt to prove that the demonetization of silver was accomplished with a surreptitiousness that was criminal. Here is what Mr. Horr said preparatory to springing the chief issue:

"There are some things about which Mr. Harvey and myself differ and some about which we agree. He thinks that our forefathers established a single measure of value; that that measure was 371¼ grains of pure silver; that gold was made a simple companion metal of silver and that its value was to be all the time measured by a silver dollar. I believe that those early patriots attempted to establish a measure of value out of two metals, gold and silver, and that they supposed they had hit upon a ratio which would secure the use of both gold dollars and silver dollars. Beside, we agree that up to 1834 the measure of value in actual use in this country was the silver dollar. I assert that in 1834 the ratio was changed, that the gold dollar was made smaller. He admits that. I insist that when the gold dollar was cheapened it became the actual measure of value in this country and remained so up to the suspension of specie payments; that the silver dollar, though still a legal measure of value, was not used in this country as the actual measure after 1834. He denies that. We both agree that from 1862 to 1879 the domestic business of this country was done by using the greenback dollar as the measure of values, which was during none of those years equal in value to either the gold or the silver dollar. He states that in his book. We both agree

"Now mark. We both agree that in 1873 the coinage of silver dollars was stopped by law, and that since 1879, since the resumption of specie payment, the domestic and international business of this country had been done on a gold basis. We agree that Great Britain has been on a gold basis since 1816; no dispute about it. I claim that Germany ceased the free coinage of silver in 1871, and he claims that it was not done until later—in 1873—but we both agree that since Jan. 1, 1874, Germany has been entirely upon a gold basis. We agree that the nations which compose the Latin Union—France, Belgium, Switzerland, Italy and Greece—are all of them to-day gold standard countries. There is no dispute between us that British America and Australia are also gold standard countries. We agree that Mexico, China and Japan and several other republics of South America are silver standard nations.

No Double-Standard Nation.

"There is to-day no nation on the face of the earth that is actually using a double standard. The actual measure of value in each of the countries of the world is either gold alone, or silver alone, except in some countries where depreciated paper money is the only circulating medium and metal money is bought and sold as a commodity, just as was the case in this country during the suspension of specie payments. Mr. Harvey claims that the law of 1873 was secretly and fraudulently passed. He won't deny that he claims that. That I have denied and still deny. I say that there is not a grain of truth in such a statement. But we both agree that the law was passed and is in force to-day. Now the important question before the American people at this moment, and the one we are here to discuss, is this: Ought the law to be repealed? Ought we to again throw open the mints of the United States to the free coinage of silver upon the old ratio of 16 to 1, when the actual ratio of value in the markets of the world is fully 30 to 1?"

Mr. Harvey: When I have read the printed record of what Mr. Horr has just now said, it will be time enough for me to take up a new subject. I am not done with the present subject yet. The act of 1853 served the purpose of the men who were seeking to overthrow our constitutional standards of money in this way. In 1853, on account of the exportation of our silver coins, by reason of the French ratio of 15½ to 1, being less than ours, 16 to 1; congress, preserving the silver unit, ordered by act that the fractional silver fifty cents and less should be cut down in size to the French ratio, to stop its exportation. The silver unit was preserved and could be preserved without even coining a single one of them. It would regulate the other coins all the same. Now this fractional silver has its legal tender character taken away from it, because it was not of full weight. It was not made full weight because of the exportation and it was made non-legal tender, because it was not of full weight, awaiting further consideration whether we could go to the French ratio as a whole or not. So that when the bill in 1873 was being considered at a time when nobody was thinking about coins and very few knew anything about it, these men who were steering the bill said:

"We are re-enacting the act of 1853. There can't be anything wrong about that," and that is what they made senators and congressmen believe they were doing, except that they were going to reduce the size of the silver dollar, to put us on the French ratio, but talking to men who knew nothing about bimetallism or the previous history of coinage, the act of 1873 served that purpose to get the language in the bill concerning the fractional coin and the preceding clause that had the dollar in it, into language of the act of 1853. So that all they had to do was to strike out the line that had the dollar in it in the words of the act of 1853, which was a free coinage dollar, and there you had an act without any free coinage silver in it.

This bill was passed in the senate on Jan. 17, so that the morning papers of the 18th would contain any news, if there were any, showing that the fundamental laws of the government had been changed.

The only reference that appears in the paper is a press telegram from Washington, which says this: "Mr. Sherman called up the bill to revise and amend the laws relating to mints, assay offices and coinage of the United States, which was amended as passed." That is all, not another word. One of the money metals of the United States, as is now conceded, was struck down by the bill; the constitution had been overthrown; the dollar that had regulated all other coins had been abolished. A great war debt to be paid off and one of our money resources for paying it had been destroyed. (Long continued applause.)

No information of that fact was conveyed to the people through the newspapers of the country. (Applause.) The reporters at Washington did not know it. The money of the people that had served them well was destroyed, and now I challenge Mr. Horr to show me anywhere in the newspapers of the United States during the passage of the bill which he says has no taint of fraud attached to it, where the public knew that a bill was being considered by congress that was to destroy as money one-half of the money metal of the country, or that they had passed such a bill. I have charged that it was passed secretly. The fact that a fundamental law of the government had been reversed and that no information of it had gone to the people whose government it was, either before or after the passage of the bill, until it was discovered several years afterward, is one of the best evidences of its secret passage.

The contestants being clearly at loggerheads as to the point of discussion, little further progress was made, until adjournment was taken till Monday. The debate prior to running against the big snag had been full of interest.

The fourth day of the contention opened at 1:15 this afternoon. The attendance showed no appreciable difference from that of the previous sessions. Mr. Harvey opened with a statement of the points so far established. They were that prior to 1873 gold and silver were the money of the constitution; that silver was the unit of value; that up to that time the debtor was permitted to pay in the cheaper money, and that silver was not demonetized because of any over production at the time the act of 1873 was passed. Taking up the debate, Mr. Harvey denied that he had at any time tried to impeach the integrity of the American people. But he did not propose to allow corrupt legislators to throw that mantle of national honesty around them for their own protection. The speaker recognized the integrity of the American people, and it was to that that he appealed. He then resumed the statement which was interrupted at the close of the talk on Thursday, of the various steps leading up to the passage of the act of 1873.

Mr. Horr, in opening, declined to allow Mr. Harvey to accept as admitted any statement of Mr. Harvey's which Mr. Horr had failed to deny. Mr. Horr said: Mr. Harvey had been reading a series of carefully prepared essays, and he (Mr. Horr) could not be expected to remember all of the statements made in them. He would, however, furnish Mr. Harvey a rule to go by. He might take it for granted that he (Horr) denied everything except what he expressly assented to. Mr. Horr took up the International Monetary Conference in Paris, of 1867, at which the leading civilized nations of the world were represented, and pointed out that after eight days' consideration, the representatives of all the nations present, including the United States, voted unanimously, with the exception of the representative of Holland, in favor of a gold standard. It was after this that our statesmen began to consider the question of our currency and it was openly and as a legitimate outcome of this international conference that the act of 1873 was passed. Mr. Horr then argued at length, quoting from letters and documents to prove that the charge that the demonetization act was passed through the influence of British bribes was false.

Mr. Harvey, replying, said that the argument tended to show that the most important letter submitted by Mr. Horr, showing that the man who was supposed to have done the bribing had in fact advised that the nation continue bimetallism, was inconclusive. At some future time a letter written by Hon. John G. Carlisle might be produced, showing that he was a bimetallist, instead of a single standard secretary of the treasury. Mr. Harvey resumed the history of the act of 1873, quoting from the debate in the senate when the bill was put on its passage.

Mr. Horr said that there was in the bill of which Mr. Harvey had spoken a provision for a token dollar worth five francs. The senate struck that out and substituted the trade dollar.

Mr. Harvey—If you will show me anywhere in the debate that day where the senate struck out that provision we will stop the debate right here. (Great applause from Mr. Harvey's friends.)

Mr. Horr—The bill as passed contained the trade dollar, did it not?

Mr. Harvey—Yes, sir.

Mr. Horr suggested that that covered the point and proceeded with his argument. He said that nobody thought of striking down silver when the bill was passed. At that time silver was not in circulation and the bullion in the dollars was worth more than $1.

Mr. Harvey read from Senator Sherman's statement on putting the bill on its passage, showing that the bill provided for two dollars. A 384-grain dollar equal to the French five-franc piece, and the trade dollar. He declared that Mr. Horr had said that this small dollar was not in the bill.

Mr. Horr, interrupting, said he never denied it.

Mr. Harvey said he would refer the question in dispute to the record of the day. The conspiracy was carried out in the conference committee. Messrs. Sherman and Hooper reported to their respective houses that the differences had been reconciled and the bill was passed without debate and without question. The bill as reported omitted the 384-grain dollar.

Mr. Horr said he did not deny the existence of the 384-grain dollar in the bill; but at no time did the bill provide for anything except gold as the standard. The matter of the small dollar was agreed on in conference committee, as is the usual custom, but the committee could not enact anything. It had to report to the two houses and their action was necessary. The bill as passed, with the addition of the trade dollar, was nearly identical with the bill presented by the secretary of the treasury. To attempt to smirch the character of the members of congress who voted for this bill was infamous. (Applause.) And so the fight continued, turn and turn about till the hour for closing the debate.

Americans Arrested.

London, July 23.—It has developed that a police raid was made upon the Palace club on Thursday. The club is one of the several fashionable night clubs in London where the demi monde resort. The club is elegantly appointed, having twenty-five men servants and a band playing nightly. A hundred men and women, all in evening dress, were captured. Among them were a United States senator, a congressman, a prominent law official of an Eastern state and an American police official.

Losses Slight.

Havana, July 23.—Half a dozen more battles have occurred between troops and insurgents, in which the latter were routed. The losses are slight.

McCurry & Co. Assign.

Minneapolis, July 23.—J. C. McCurry & Co., commission merchants, made an assignment for the benefit of their creditors to Plumley A. Rogers. It is estimated that the assets will figure up $60,000, but that they will not realize above $50,000.

A Big Majority.

London, July 23.—As a result of the pollings thus far in the general elections the Unionists now show a net gain of 68, giving the government a majority of 108.

Won by O'Donnell.

Montreal, Special.—Great interest was manifested in the battle between Steve O'Donnell, Champion Corbett's sparring partner, and Billy Woods of Denver in the Crystal rink. The big auditorium was crowded. Both O'Donnell and Woods were arrested during the day at the instance of the citizens' league, but were bailed out by friends. No attempt was made to stop the fight. In the fifteenth round O'Donnell gave Woods a smash which sent him down like a log, and he was carried out of the ring at the expiration of ten seconds.

Married a Count.

Hamilton, Ohio, Special.—News has been received of the marriage at Dresden, Germany, of Miss Grace Campbell, daughter of the late Hon. Lewis D. Campbell of this city to Count Benno von Rittberg on June 25.

Shadow Maber Whipped.

Baltimore, Special.—At the Riverside club young Corbett knocked out Shadow Maber in the seventh round. Tommy West of Chicago put Chris Johnson of Baltimore out in two minutes and thirty-seven seconds.

The Cause of Death in Electric Shock.

The theory of the disintegrating effect of the electric current upon brain and nerve tissues in persons electrocuted has been controverted by Dr. A. M. Bleile. Dr. Bleile holds that death in electric shock is entirely owing to the contraction of the arteries produced by the current through its influence on the nervous system. The effect of this constriction is that the heart fails in its attempt to overcome the mechanical impediment arising from the greatly retarded flow of blood. In the course of investigations on this subject, it has been found that where drugs have been given to counteract the constrictive effect of the current much larger doses of electricity than the ordinary can be borne. This fact cannot but have a bearing upon the much disputed question of resuscitation after electrocution. Notwithstanding the apparently conclusive testimony which has been given on this subject it is still believed by some medical experts that given a criminal who has had an exceptional capacity for resisting the electric shock—and this capacity varies in every one—and his power of resistance be still further increased by a dose of the drug mentioned, the effect of the electrocuting current would be so far modified as to make it possible to resuscitate the body after the execution, even though signs of apparent death were exhibited.

A Fire Curtain of Water for Protecting Buildings.

An effective device for the protection of buildings from fires in adjacent structures has been successfully tested in Boston. The idea worked out in the apparatus is to maintain a sheet of water between the fire and the buildings to be protected. This is done by placing on every open side of the building near the top a line of perforated piping for carrying the water. The complete apparatus consists of a 5-inch standpipe, extending over the upper story. From it runs another pipe around the sides and front, from 2½ to 4 inches in diameter. On the front are three revolving sprinklers, and one is placed at each exposed side, in the center. The arms are of bronze metal, slightly curved. At each end of the arms is a ball nozzle, such as is used by fire departments on regular hose lines. At the base of the stand-pipe is a Siamese connection for four lines of 3-inch hose. At the Boston test a fire department steamer furnished the power, and for about fifteen minutes poured through the sprinklers a delivery of 1,000 gallons a minute, completely drenching the walls, and keeping a continuous sheet of water from top to bottom.

Electric Power a Salable Commodity.

An incident is reported from Niagara Falls which illustrates the readiness of manufacturers to utilize electric power. It has been generally expected that Buffalo would be a larger user of the electric power generated by the Cataract Company at Niagara Falls. Considerable delay has taken place between the negotiations between the city and the company for the power, and in the meantime another customer has arisen. According to a Buffalo paper, "while Buffalo is dickering for Niagara Falls power and talking about impossible restrictions, Depew has made a bid for it, and literally goes half way to get it. In all probability Depew will get the power before Buffalo does." As a matter of fact, Depew, a growing town, eight miles from Buffalo, actually stepped in and pre-empted a large amount of the power for which Buffalo was somewhat too complacently bargaining. The town has large locomotive shops coupler works, etc., and in the acquisition of the new power it has made a big bid for prosperity.

Royal Baking Powder is the purest and highest in strength of any of the baking powders, and hence makes more, finer and better food. These are the official facts as set forth by the U. S. Government and the various State Chemists' reports. Of course great efforts will be made by those interested in the sale of the cheaper made, alum powders, to continue their sale where consumers have made up their minds to have the Royal and call for it at their grocers. The Royal Powder is so much superior to all the other preparations for quick raising, that it will amply repay housekeepers to use the necessary persistency to procure it in spite of all objections.

The Bicycle Hump.

An incalculable amount of comfort has been scattered far and wide by the statement of an old wheelman in a bicycle journal that, as a matter of fact, the man who bends over his wheel is not "humped," but the man who undertakes to sit up straight is round-shouldered. He adds: "Watch a rider coming head on, and you will think the one leaning over the bar is "humped," while the other class appears straight. But when they pass and you get the rear view, you find the back of the stooped fellow is straight; the bend being at the hips, the shoulders being pushed back square by the weight resting on the rider's hand from the top of the bar. The rider who tries to sit straight reaches under the grips and by pulling draws his shoulders together, cramping his chest. Look for yourselves, and you will be surprised."

Electrical Mining.

An electrical journal has published a most suggestive picture of mining life in South America, which illustrates not only how electricity is revolutionizing the mining industry, by making it possible to work valuable lodes in almost inaccessible places, where formerly the cost of operation would be pronounced prohibitive, but also the extraordinary mildness of the mountain regions in some countries near the equator. The picture shows the top of the shaft in a copper mine in a valley on a lofty mountain range. The work is going on briskly, although the generator which supplies the motive power is many miles away. But the singular point in the scene is that the motors, machinery, and transformers are all out in the open air, entirely unprotected from the elements, as rain is almost unknown in the region.

Color Photography.

Parisian photographers have been especially active in experimenting in color photography and another artificial method is now reported from Paris. A negative of gelatine is exposed to the blue rays of the object and then treated with a solution of analine blue, which fixes itself in the parts affected by the blue light. The plate is then exposed to the red rays of the object and similarly treated with analine red. The process is repeated for the yellow rays and the picture is then viewed by holding the plate against the light, or putting a sheet of white paper behind it.

WAS IT BRADDOCK'S?

Mysterious Well of Whisky Found in Western Pennsylvania.

The good people of Smithton are greatly worked up over the discovery said to have been made a few days ago. A genuine spring of pure old rye whisky according to report, has been located in the vicinity and as a result curious people are flocking to the place.

A citizen of the town tells the story of the remarkable find. A young farmer of the neighborhood was digging a ditch on his farm near the village. He came upon an old well. From the depths of the deserted hole there came a distinct odor of whisky. It was learned through inquiry of old residents of the neighborhood that the well was probably a portion of the ruins of an old distillery, but no positive proof was obtained that a distillery ever existed in that locality.

The discovery of the odor excited the curiosity of the people, and it was decided to make a thorough investigation. The well was located on an incline, and examination showed the stones of the upper wall to be covered with deep rust, and from them there was a slow but regular dropping of a reddish liquid.

The men with picks and shovels went to work with more vim than ever, and soon a foothold in the hill over the well and at the point where the liquid was found to be oozing from the wall was obtained. A few feet further back they came to a ledge of soft sandstone, and then from a small crevice was dripping the fluid which proved to be pure pure whisky. The searchers were amazed and for that time abandoned further search. It will be renewed probably to-morrow and the secret unraveled.

The source of the whisky is unknown but many of the people of the vicinity believe that during the operation of the distillery, if ever it existed, barrels of the whisky were buried on the hillside; and now that the barrels or flasks are decaying the liquid is running away.

During the digging of the ditch by the farmers a cannon ball about the size of an ordinary cocoanut was unearthed near the well. That has led some people to believe that Braddock in his march through that region with his army, may have planted a barrel or two of whisky on the hillside for future use, but falling by the wayside the hiding place was never revealed until the decaying stones permitted the old rye to escape.—Greensburg, Pa Cor. Pittsburg Times.

IN THE HORSE'S HOOF.

Strange Place in Which a Lost Pocket-Book Was Found.

Mrs. Jacob Darue, living a few miles north of Canandaigua, drove to town to do some trading, accompanied by her children. She tied her horse on Main street, leaving the children in the wagon. She made a number of purchases, but when she sought her pocketbook it could not be found. She hastened to the spot where the horse was hitched and made a thorough investigation of the ground, the carriage and even the youngsters were given an overhauling in comparison with which a custom house inspection bill is a mild affair. Mrs. Darue was positive that she had placed the purse in her pocket just before leaving the carriage, and its complete disappearance was ample grounds for her anxious attitude. The search, augumented by clerks and bystanders, was continued with fruitless result, and finally abandoned. A village paper that day published a notice offering a reward for the return of a pocket-book containing a considerable sum of money in bills, Mrs. Darue had placed the advertisement before returning home. She had proceeded but a short distance when a slight lameness was visible in the horse she was driving. Instead of passing off, it increased until Mrs. Darue became alarmed. She stopped and alighted from the carriage and at her command the horse raised the apparently injured member. Mrs. Darue's surprise can better be imagined than described when she found, firmly imbedded in the hollow of the hoof, the missing purse. It was removed without difficulty and the family horse established a gait from there home which indicated that the discovery was as pleasing to him as to the owner of the purse. Mrs. Darue believes that in alighting from the carriage the purse fell from her dress and under the horse's feet. The purse contained about $50.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

HORSE MEAT IN DEMAND.

German Butchers Stand Ready to Purchase American Shipments.

Reports on the use of horse meat for food on the Continent of Europe show that it is increasing. The United States official at Brunswick, Germany has collected some information on the subject. He says the Americans can find a good sale for horses in Germany. He advises shipping horses alive to Hamburg. The duty on a live horse is $4.75, and the German butchers pay about $35 each for worn-out horses, such as were used on street car lines in America before the coming of the trolley car. A better grade of horses will sell higher. If the horses are slaughtered in America and the meat is sent abroad the food inspectors are apt to find fault with it and reject it. Fresh horse meat sells in Brunswick for 7 cents a pound and smoked meat 12 cents. In many of the western states horses can be raised cheaply. It looks as if the business of exporting cheap horses for food to Europe may amount to something for Americans.—Baltimore American.

The Beans Are Put Through.

Mr. Wheeler—I suppose the great and mysterious Robert has many admirers in Boston, Miss Emerson?

Miss Emerson—Why, yes, Mr. Wheeler—even the beans go through a course of Browning before they come to the table.—P. & S. S. Co. Bulletin.

Japan's first spinning mill was erected in 1883 with 5,436 spindles. At the end of 1893 there were 46 mills, with about 600,000 spindles.

Wonderful in Technique.

"A wonderful bit of work. Those things were painted by a blind painter."

"What were?"

"Those blinds."—Rochester Union and Advertiser.

Bound to Be Cool.

"Certainly," rejoined the King of Dahomey. "My soldiers are always cool in the presence of danger. Why should they not be? They wear shirt waists. Yes, indeed."—Detroit Tribune.

SAW THE BATTLE OF WATERLOO.

A Midshipman Who Watched the Fight Through a Sea Glass.

Wednesday, the 19th inst., was the eightieth anniversary of the battle of Waterloo. Of the hundreds of thousands of men who struggled that day for supremacy all have passed away, except two in America, four in the British Isles, and six in France, and most of these are centenarians.

There is another, who, although not a participant in the great battle, had the privilege of witnessing the thrilling events of that week in Belgium which marked the downfall of the Napoleon dynasty and who viewed that battle from a better vantage ground, perhaps, than any of the participants. That man is James R. Green of Ellsworth, Ohio, who is ninety-seven years of age.

The old gentleman was born in Bolton, Lancashire, England, on July 25, 1798, and entered the English navy at the age of sixteen as a midshipman. The next year his ship was employed in transporting the English soldiers for Wellington's army across the channel from Southampton to Antwerp, and it was at this time that he accidentally witnessed Waterloo. In 1818 he entered the East India merchant service, and for many years voyaged in the Atlantic and Indian oceans, making many trips around the Cape of Good Hope to Delhi, Calcutta and Bombay. In 1820 he made his first voyage to America in a sailing vessel. It required twelve weeks to cross the stormy Atlantic. Since then he has crossed the Atlantic twenty-three times.

Mr. Green was in a reminiscent mood when seen by a correspondent, and talked interestingly of the great battle. "I was a midshipman in June, 1815, on one of King George's transport ships," he said, "and with the other 'middies' started across Belgium to join the English troops.

"We came first to Ligny, where the preliminary battle of that terrible week in Belgium took place. That fight was between the Prussians under Blucher and Napoleon's veterans. The conflict did not last long, but it stands as one of the most desperate fights of history. Blucher was compelled to give way, and his retreat was almost a rout. Flushed with success, Napoleon pushed on to his fate at Quatre-Bras and attacked the outposts of the English on the 17th.

"At Quatre-Bras Napoleon was repulsed, falling back to Waterloo that night, where he determined to make his final stand.

"On the morning of the 18th, with a sea glass which we had taken with us, we stood on the heights some distance away from Waterloo and took in the whole scene. We could see Napoleon on his charger riding along his lines preparing for the battle. The lines were formed and soon the field was filled with smoke and the roar of cannon reverberated through the hills of Belgium. In the afternoon the fierce conflict ceased and the field was a sickening sight. The green rye had been trampled down and the field was nothing but dust like the middle of the road, while the dead and wounded lay scattered thickly over the plain. Out of 250 pieces of artillery Napoleon lost 156, and 40,000 of his men were either dead upon the field or prisoners.

"I can remember distinctly of seeing Blucher, Napoleon, the duke of Wellington and George IV. I can remember seeing George III. and his couriers riding down to London docks upon many a morning. During the reign of William IV. I remember having seen Queen Victoria in a villa near London playing in a garden, and I have distinct remembrances of the last four ruling monarchs of the house of Hanover."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

LAZY PEOPLE'S BICYCLE.

Run by a Little Hot-Air Engine That Weighs Twelve Pounds.

In trying to get up a motor suitable for an airship an inventor has evolved a lazy man's bicycle. All the exertion that is required of the rider is to keep his balance and steer the machine. The power that propels it is furnished by a hot-air apparatus so light that it adds only twelve pounds to the weight of the machine, and so simple that it does not mar the symmetry of the wheel in the eyes of the bicycle crank. W. R. Keep and the inventor took a spin down Michigan boulevard yesterday afternoon on the first motor tandem ever seen in Chicago. They attracted no end of attention. This tandem will really carry three persons—two adults and a child. The total weight of the machine in traveling order is seventy-three pounds. This tandem has already covered 8,000 miles. It has been speeded up to forty-five miles an hour, and in tests has climbed 10 per cent grades, and has run successfully through mud, sand and snow.

The power mechanism is composed of two hot-air engines carried on the rear of the frame, one on each side of the rear wheel. These engines are 2⅞ inches in diameter and 6 inches stroke. A nickeled tank in front of the operator carries the coal oil, which is conveyed through the frame to the cylinders, where it is mixed with air. A small primary battery, the same as is used with ordinary door bells, is carried in the tool bag; from which a copper wire leads to the interior of the engines. It is a well known law that rapid evaporation of any fluid produces cold, the more rapid the evaporation the more intense the cold. This engine utilizes this principle. The first or backward movement of the piston or plunger pumps the engine full of air and at the same time admits the desired charge of coal oil. The same movement produces an electric spark which vaporizes the coal oil and cools the engine. The second or forward movement of the piston compresses this compound of oil and air into one end of the cylinder, when just as the piston starts backward another electric spark explodes the vapor, thus producing power. The admission valve is opened mechanically every other time, thus allowing the burnt gases to escape. The forward wheel is 22 inches in diameter, the rear wheel 20 inches. Both are fitted with 4-inch pneumatic tires.

Speed is regulated by throttling the oil supply. In making a stop or in holding up on a down grade it is only necessary to shut off the oil supply and the electric current; the engines then act as an automatic brake. The motor cycle ridden by W. A. Maltby at Elmira, N. Y., a few days ago made a mile on a straightway track in 58 seconds.

The rider's feet may rest on the coasters or pedals as preferred. The pedals do not revolve as on the ordinary bicycle, but are operated with a ratchet, and will not move when the feet are kept still.—Chicago Tribune.

Its Net Value.

"How much was that diamond garter buckle you had stolen worth?" inquired the theatrical interviewer.

"Seventeen columns," was the actress' absent-minded reply.—Washington Star.

He Will Not Drown Himself.

(From the Troy, N. Y., Times.)

R. W. Edwards, of Lansingburgh, was prostrated by sunstroke during the war and it has entailed on him peculiar and serious consequences. At present writing Mr. E. is a prominent officer of Post Lyon, G. A. R., Cohoes, and a past aide-de-camp on the staff of the commander-in-chief of Albany Co. In an interview with a reporter, he said:

"I was wounded and sent to the hospital at Winchester. They sent me together with others to Washington—a ride of about 100 miles. Having no room in the box cars we were placed face up on the bottom of flat cars. The sun beat down upon our unprotected heads. When I reached Washington I was insensible and was unconscious for ten days while in the hospital. An abscess gathered in my ear and broke; it has been gathering and breaking ever since. The result of this 100 mile ride and sunstroke, was, heart disease, nervous prostration, insomnia and rheumatism; a completely shattered system which gave me no rest night or day. As a last resort I took some Pink Pills and they helped me to a wonderful degree. My rheumatism is gone, my heart failure, dyspepsia, and constipation are about gone and the abscess in my ear has stopped discharging and my head feels as clear as a bell when before it felt as though it would burst and my once shattered nervous system is now nearly sound. Look at those fingers," Mr. Edwards said, "do they look as if there was any rheumatism there?" He moved his fingers rapidly and freely and strode about the room like a young boy. "A year ago those fingers were gnarled at the joints and so stiff that I could not hold a pen. My knees would swell up and I could not straighten my leg out. My joints would squeak when I moved.

"I cannot begin to tell you," said Mr. Edwards, as he drew a long breath, "what my feeling is at present. I think if you lifted ten years right off my life and left me prime and vigorous at forty-seven I could feel no better. I was an old man and could only drag myself painfully about the house. Now I can walk off without any trouble. That in itself," continued Mr. Edwards, "would be sufficient to give me cause for rejoicing, but when you come to consider that I am no longer what you might call nervous and that my heart is apparently nearly healthy and that I can sleep nights you may realize why I may appear to speak in extravagant praise of Pink Pills. These pills quiet my nerves, take that awful pressure from my head and at the same time enrich my blood. There seemed to be no circulation in my lower limbs a year ago, my legs being cold and clammy at times. Now the circulation there is as full and as brisk as at any other part of my body. I used to be so light-headed and dizzy from my nervous disorder that I frequently fell while crossing the floor of my house. Spring is coming and I never felt better in my life, and I am looking forward to a busy season of work."

Preparing for the Worst.

"Mamma?"

"Well?"

"You licked me last week for whaling Jimmie Watts and papa licked me yesterday 'cause Johnny Phelps walloped me."

"Well?"

"I'm wondering what'll happen some time when it's a draw."—Chicago Record.

Could Not Spare It.

"I wish you would pay this bill to-[illegible] day," said the tailor; I really need it."

"Not so much as I do," replied Shawt; "I not only need the money to pay you but I also need it to pay other bills of mine."—Boston Transcript.

It is said that Italy is the only country of Western Europe in which the laborer's return for his work is now as low as it was in the American colonies just before the Union.

The biggest ferryboat in the world is said to be the Solano, plying between San Francisco and Oakland.

Metal Wheels for your Wagons
Any size you want, 20 to 56 inches high. Tires 1 to 8 inches wide—hubs to fit any axle. Saves Cost many times in a season to have set of low wheels to fit your wagon for hauling grain, fodder, manure, hogs, &c. No resetting of tires. Catl'g free. Address Empire Mfg. Co., P. O. Box 53, Quincy Ill.

LINENE REVERSIBLE
Raphael, Angelo, Rubens, Tasso
The "LINENE" are the Best and Most Economical Collars and Cuffs worn; they are made of fine cloth, both sides finished alike, and, being reversible, one collar is equal to two of any other kind.
They fit well, wear well and look well. A box of Ten Collars or Five Pairs of Cuffs for Twenty-Five Cents.
A Sample Collar and Pair of Cuffs by mail for Six Cents. Name style and size. Address
REVERSIBLE COLLAR COMPANY,
77 Franklin St., New York. 27 Kilby St., Boston.

LEWIS' 98 % LYE
POWDERED AND PERFUMED
(PATENTED)
The strongest and purest Lye made. Unlike other Lye, it being a fine powder and packed in a can with removable lid, the contents are always ready for use. Will make the best perfumed Hard Soap in 20 minutes without boiling. It is the best for cleansing waste pipes, disinfecting sinks, closets, washing bottles, paints, trees, etc.
PENNA. SALT M'F'G CO.
Gen. Agents, Phila., Pa.

ALLEN'S IRON TONIC BITTERS
The most elegant Blood Purifier, Liver Invigorator, Tonic and Appetizer known. It builds up and fortifies the whole system, invigorates the liver, aids digestion and cures dyspepsia. The first Iron Tonic Bitters ever advertised in America. Get the genuine.
J. P. ALLEN, Druggist and Chemist,
ST. PAUL, MINN.

DAVIS HAND OR POWER CREAM SEPARATOR
One-third more butter and of higher quality than by other known systems.
SAVES MONEY AND LABOR
Sizes from 1 to 1,000 Cows. Pamphlet Mailed Free. Agents Wanted
DAVIS & RANKIN BLDG. AND MFG. CO., Sole Manufacturers, Chicago, Ill.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c, and $1.00 at Druggists

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.
Successfully Prosecutes Claims.
Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

25CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25CTS.

Minn. Hist. Society

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

THE

St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XIV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, JULY 31, 1895. NUMBER 52.

PITH OF THE NEWS

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

The Latest and Most Important News of the World, Culled From the Telegraph Reports of the Press Associations.

Washington.

The Nicaraguan question is about to be reopened.

The president has appointed William L. Maxwell to be second assistant engineer in the revenue cutter service.

Friends of Gov. Castilno, of the state of Rio Grande do Sul have protested to the federal government against the granting of any indulgence to the rebels in view of the prospect of a resumption of active fighting.

The president has commuted the death sentence imposed on Thomas J. Taylor, who was to be hanged Friday in Washington, for the murder of his wife. It is asserted that Taylor was driven to the deed by his wife's unfaithfulness.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. Jefferson Davis is ill at Narragansett Pier, R. I.

Mrs. Potter Palmer is at Bar Harbor.

Prof. F. D. Robinson, for twenty-one years dean of Latin language and literature at Kansas university, is dead.

Comedian Edward Leslie stopped a runaway team at New York and saved four lives.

John W. Barry, the actor, sues his wife, Sadie Farley, for divorce at Terre Haute, on the ground of desertion.

C. W. Hull, a wealthy resident of New York, died on the Northern Pacific passenger train while on route from Tacoma, Wash., to Portland.

Thomas Regaldo, a former student at the University of California, is to be shot in San Salvador, where he led a rebel band.

Walter Phelps Dodge has repudiated the statement made by Chauncey Depew to the effect that Americans favor home rule for Ireland.

Miss Helen Mar, the American actress, has been achieving success both as an entertainer and as a writer in London.

M. Beuve, an enthusiastic admirer of Victor Hugo, has a collection of 4,000 portraits of that author, 2,500 of which are caricatures.

People who have wondered how Richard Le Gallienne, the poet, pronounces his name will be pleased to know that the London World rhymes it with "battalion."

Hector Louis Francois Pessard, a well known publicist, died at Paris. He was born at Lille, Aug. 24, 1836. He was at different times connected with a number of Paris papers.

Frank Boswell of Omaha, employed at Dubuque, Iowa, as a mortar mixer, has received a letter from the attorneys of his aunt's estate in England informing him that he had fallen heir to £90,000.

Dr. Maurice Francis Egan, the well known author, poet and lecturer who has occupied the chair of English literature at Notre Dame for several years, has accepted a like position with the Catholic University of Washington.

The Casualty Record.

George Dietz, living near Pana, Ill., was killed in a runaway accident.

George Barnhart, a farmer living near Tolono, Ill., was kicked in the abdomen by a horse and will die.

Five children named Beech were drowned in Lake Dauphin, Man., by the upsetting of a sailboat.

Glen, the 12-year old son of Enos Smith, of Allegan, Mich., was drowned while bathing in the river.

Twenty-five houses have been destroyed and fifty-nine partially destroyed by a sinking of the earth at Bruex, Bohemia.

The Gould coupler works in Buffalo, were destroyed by fire. Loss about $200,000. Thousands of dollars worth of valuable paterns are lost.

A railing gave way at Niagara Falls and Mrs. Graham rolled down a 150-foot slope, landing in the river. She was not seriously injured.

Will Delven, aged 22, a member of an Englewood camping party, accidentally shot himself at Davis Station, Ind. He lived two hours.

John Alward, aged 27, was found dead in the Wabash river at Lafayette, Ind. He had fallen through a floor vacancy in the bridge, which was being repaired.

While workman are digging in the cellar of a house in Chicago once occupied by Holmes, the insurance swindler, they strike a gas tank which exploded and injured several of the diggers.

The damage done at Silver City, N. Mex., by the floods amounts to $100,000. As no mention is made of any loss of life, it is believed the early reports regarding the extent of the disaster were exaggerated.

Criminal Doings.

Frederick Hollowell was fatally shot by David Huston near Cincinnati. Both are well-known farmers.

A. C. Crade was shot and killed at Sparta, O. T., by Bud Ray, marshal of the town.

An electric car was held up in Wichita, Kas., and the conductor and a passenger robbed of $70. Fully fifty persons witnessed the robbery.

John Gallagher was stabbed and instantly killed by John Conway at Pittsburg, Pa. Conway is in jail. Both men were glassworkers.

As a result of a feud a dynamite bomb was thrown in the hamlet of Mart, Tex., and five members of the Phillips family were killed outright.

Porter Jones a nephew of Sam Jones, the Evangelist, committed suicide at Atlanta, Ga., in the penitentiary camp, where he was serving a five-year sentence for killing a man.

Julius Berghoff, said to be one of the greatest fish dealers in the world, is under arrest in Seattle, Wash., on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

There has been another Mafia murder on Donaldson plantation near New Orleans. An Italian and his 4-year old son were the victims.

Martinez, the escaped Trinidad murderer, and a companion held up a saloon in New Mexico, and swept $550 off the faro table.

Burglars entered the residence of William Baxter at Cardonia, Ind., chloroformed Mr. Baxter and his wife, and stole $800.

Deputy Sheriff O. D. Mitchell of Sevier county, Tenn., shot and killed a prisoner named Breedon, who was attempting to escape.

Mayor Fletcher of Sioux City, Ia., removed Chief of Detectives Morrison and Sergt. Frenelseus from the police force on charges of corruption and incompetency.

John Taylor a young rancher was shot and instantly killed at Hot Springs, S. D., by Horace Crofferd, ex-commissioner of Custer county and an extensive sheep owner.

N. P. Peterman, a contractor of Findlay, Ohio, who eloped from that city three weeks ago with Minnie Corbin a pretty hotel waitress has been arrested at Atlanta, Ga., in company with the girl.

John Brady, one of the bandits who held up a Southern Pacific train in Tehama county, Cal., and murdered Sheriff Bogard a few weeks ago, is said to have been surrounded by a posse near Sacramento.

Turnkey Allan Wendling of the county jail at Canton, Ohio., before locking up stopped for a game of cards with the prisoners, Thomas Smith and John Nolan, held for burglary. They overpowered him, took his keys and escaped.

Warehouse receipts to the value of $2,000 representing goods stolen from Boyd, Gillies & Co., of Montreal before the fire which destroyed their warehouse, have been found in the possession of John Haynes, who is arrested for arson and claimed to be one of a desperate gang of firebugs.

The mystery surrounding the murder of Lewis McAfee at Lincoln, Ill., has been solved. A tramp caught in a cornfield and forced to surrender at the point of a shotgun has weakened and admits being in the vicinity of the murder Sunday morning and having escaped through the fields.

Foreign Gossip.

Ceylon has 302,000 Christians, 246,000 of whom are Catholics.

Since 1850, in Armenia, 200,000 persons have become Catholics, and 16 dioceses have been erected there.

Fifteen thousand dollars has so far been subscribed for the testimonial to Dr. W. G. Graco started by the Daily Telegraph.

"Squire Abingdon" Baird's race course and farm near Hull, on which he spent $375,000, were sold recently for a little over $50,000.

Boh Cho, the last and most daring of the Dacoit chiefs, who opposed the British in 1886, has just been captured with his two sons at Myingyan.

Paris courts have at last decided that concierges are liable for damages if they say anything about the private life or business relations of the tenants. They can only give information about their leases.

Leprosy is increasing in Iceland in an alarming manner, according to the Jesuit missionary, Father Sveinsson. Last year a Danish physician, sent by the government, examined one-third of the island and found 141 lepers.

Five short autograph poems by Robert Burns were sold recently in London for $490; three long letters for $370, and three short ones for $105; at the same time seven letters of Sir Walter Scott were sold for about $27.50 apiece.

Consul Debellet, at Rheims, France, has informed the state department through an official report of the discovery of a new process for keeping fruits fresh, which consists in treating them to a vapor from water and alcohol.

The situation in Cuba is causing a sensation in Madrid. The newspapers are blaming Capt. Gen. Martinez de Campos for advocating sending Generals Weyler and Polavieoja, famous for their severity during past Cuban insurrections, to assist in the work of suppressing the present rebellion.

Miscellaneous Items.

The first shipment of peaches have left Saugatuck, Mich.

The shipment of government exhibits to Atlanta for the Cotton states exposition began this week.

Charley Fong Sing, an American born Chinaman, has applied for a position on the New York police force.

The Omaha board of education elected Prof. Frank B. Cooper of Des Moines superintendent of the Omaha public schools for the coming year.

A stone which ruffians threw into a coach of a Big Four train near Columbus, O., narrowly missed ex-Gov. Foraker.

Lena Fylaeger of Cass county, Neb., became so excited at a bicycle race that she lost her reason. She spends her time saluting imaginary riders.

It is believed that the missing 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gebbard of Indianapolis was stolen by gypsies.

San Francisco clergymen are making a vigorous protest against the production of "The Durant Case," a play based upon the Emanuel church murders.

The state game warden seized 120 gill nets with four tons of fish at Cleveland, Ohio. The owners will be arrested.

Covington, Ky., police are investigating a peculiar case where a man paid boys for beating him with switches until the blood ran.

The American wire, rod, and nail mills at Anderson, Ind., will resume full operations with a force of 800 men.

At Atlanta, Ga., Dr. Hawthorne preached a red hot sermon against bicycling declaring that a personal devil was responsible for the evil.

During the year ending June 30, 1342 immigrants entered the port of San Francisco possesing about $50 apiece.

Editor Ruban Kalley of the Daily News at Jeersonville, Ind., received of George Lucas of Henryville a rattle snake with ten rattles as payment for one year's subscription to his paper.

NEARING THE END.

LAST DAY BUT ONE IN THE GREAT SILER DEBATE.

The Question of Wages Is Taken Up With Living Expenses and the Purchasing Power of Money—House-Owners and Banks.

Chicago, July 30.—The last day but one of the Harvey-Horr silver contention began at 1 p. m.

Mr. Horr opened the day's talk with a comparison of the wages and the cost of products during the years from 1860 to 1890 as shown in a table prepared by Statistician Carroll D. Wright. With wages and prices in 1860 taken as the index, or 100, it showed that in 1890 the prices were 92, wages 159, and the purchasing power of wages 172. Mr. Horr proceeded to argue that at no time in the history of the nation was the country so prosperous as it was at that time in spite of the "crime of 1873." He submitted that the statistics were more applicable to the conditions under discussion than those of Mr. Sauerbeck, quoted by Mr. Harvey on Thursday, as Mr. Sauerbeck's figures were made from prices in England.

Mr. Harvey in turn took up the matter of the prices of wheat for a series of years, in reply to Mr. Horr's statement of Thursday that the farmer had received as much for his produce in gold as he had received when silver was demonetized. For answer he quoted the prices, from year to year. He declared that the arguments of Mr. Horr were those which had been used in all time to bulwark tyranny. The declaration of independence was the proper answer to such arguments. Mr. Harvey proceeded by saying that the proper index of prices was to measure the main articles of international use. Tables made up by gold men even on these articles showed that they were lower than in 1850. Referring to Mr. Horr's argument touching the measure of value in human toil, Mr. Harvey quoted from an article by Mr. Horr in a paper in reply to a correspondent suggesting the making of so much work the equivalent of a dollar. Mr. Horr declared the proposition absurd and confusing.

Mr. Horr said that Mr. Harvey had only quoted a brief extract and it did not give the sense of the article. The correspondent replied he did not want either gold or silver money, but merely paper based on nothing. It was only another form of the socialistic craze and Mr. Harvey would come to that in the end. His disease had not reached its worst stage. It would come to socialism and anarchy in the end.

Mr. Harvey's friends in the audience broke out in dissent at this statement and Mr. Harvey declared that not a word he had uttered would justify it.

Mr. Horr declared that the only applause which his opponent had secured from his friends in the audience was when he denounced a large part of the people of the country as scoundrels and had asserted that the country was going to the dogs. Mr. Horr then took up which Mr. Harvey on a former occasion had denounced. He admitted that there were corrupt banks, but the business of banking as carried on was the outgrowth of civilization and banks were a blessing. They made it possible for a gold dollar to do twenty times as much as it could do otherwise. He had seen $119,000,000 of business settled in three hours in the New York clearing houses and less than 5 per cent of it was done in money. If it had been necessary to count all of this money it would have taken an army of men and long days of work.

The Question of Banks,

Mr. Harvey, replying, presented a table of failures showing the failures in the country for a series of years. He pointed out that during the war, when the circulating medium amounted to $40 per capita, failures had been reduced to a minimum. As the circulating medium decreased failures increased. The nation owed it to itself to get rid of this great amount of bank credit and substitute money for it. The interest on $10,000,000 of debts to the banks was the equivalent of the amount of the annual failures. Mr. Harvey quoted figures as to the number and mileage of railroads in the hands of receivers, the comparatively large increase of tenant farmers over owning farmers in 1890 over 1880, as shown by the census returns, and the great percentage of housekeepers who are renters, not owners. Mr. Harvey said: "I now read you from page 262 of the February, 1895, number of Lippincott's Magazine in a comparative review of the census of 1880 with that of 1890: 'In forty-seven states and territories the number owning farms increased 158,951 and the number of tenant farmers increased 509,337. In 1880 25.62 per cent of the farms were cultivated by tenants, in 1894 34.13 per cent of the farms were hired.' I refer to this because Mr. Horr used some detached statements

Concerning Minnesota Farms.

the other day, which must be regarded as very incomplete. I have read you a comparison of the tables for the whole United States." (Applause.)

Mr. Horr—So did I follow it with the whole.

Mr. Harvey—I did not so understand it.

Mr. Horr—Well, you did not read that I said then. Did not pay attention. I gave the whole.

Mr. Harvey—Did you have your book here, the book you read from?

Mr Horr—I don't remember about that.

Mr. Harvey—You have not been having the books here?

Mr. Horr—Why, the bulk of the books I can't get because you have got them out of the library and keep them. I have never been able to get them. (Applause and laughter.)

Mr. Harvey—There are eight or ten public libraries in this city all having the books that we are using in this debate. And the books that I have had here have been on this table for Mr. Horr's use if he wanted them. No such subterfuge as that will save the gentleman in making quotations in this debate, the authorities for which he has not produced here for our inspection. (Applause.) I now read you, Mr. Horr, on this subject from the Census Bulletin of the census of 1890, now in my hand. I read you this paragraph: "New York is the congested part of a large urban region and a greater New York may more fairly be taken into consideration. In New York city and the nine counties in New York state and New Jersey that are neighboring to that city 81.54 per cent of the home families are tenants." Now as to your city of New York: "The highest degree of city home tenancy is in New York and is represented by 93.67 per cent." Ninety-three and sixty-seven hundreths per cent of the families in your city are tenants.

Mr. Horr—I have this to say in reference to my conduct of this debate without bringing in my books, and I allude to that reminding you of the gusto, for which Brother Harvey is so peculiar, with which he says: "I now pass the book over to Mr. Horr," when he knows that it is impossible for me during the excitement of the debate to examine and look into the merits of the book or his references. The only times when I have done it, I have caught him in misquoting the book and made him own it right here before the audience.

Mr. Harvey—Mr. Horr, that is not true.

Mr. Horr—The audience knows whether that is true or not.

Mr. Harvey—The record of the debate will show it.

Harvey on Organized Labor.

Mr. Harvey: At the conclusion of this debate Mr. Horr and I have 2,500 words each at our disposal to write at our leisure within seven days after the debate, to sum up the debate, and anything in Mr. Horr's argument that I do not reply to to-day I will reply in that summary, because there is only a short time left to us and I want to answer some matters that have been introduced into this debate at the earlier stages. I want to speak a few moments on the proposition that wages have increased.

Speaking of organized labor Mr. Harvey said: "Organization sustains wages for those actually employed while engaged at work, but when you average the wages by including the unemployed and include the expense and time lost, it does not do so. Make the calculation this way, and you will find that the gold basis has measured itself in wages with mathematical accuracy. This condition is not healthy. It is not good for the country. It breeds strife. It creates loss to industry and labor; it destroys manhood; it makes criminals. The cause for it should be removed. (Applause.) The labor organizations will continue and have a right to continue as long as money is organized. But we should have a civilization that would make it unnecessary for any organizations of that character to exist. In Europe wages have been forced down to the legitimate level of the gold standard. The bayonet has been used to do it. Later it will do it here. The interest of the laboring man is on our side. We will hold his wages up without strikes or the expense of strikes.

"'As the gold of California and Australia raised his wages, so will the silver of our mountains as it pours into our metallic money stock as primary money raise his wages. There will be work for all, and the strife for labor will cease. The man who now has work or a situation and selfishly reasons that he benefits himself by maintaining a dear dollar, is neither broad nor humane. He is assisting in wrecking his country and it may be too late to remedy the error when he too is without employment.'" (Applause.)

The Pullman Wages.

Mr. Harvey asked if we were not deceived about wages being increased. Referring to the reported 10 per cent advance in wages at Pullman, affecting 4,000 men, conceded by the company without demand by the toilers, Mr. Harvey said the facts are that there has been no advance in wages made at Pullman, and that Mr. Pullman himself admits that there was no advance made; that what they meant was that they had given the men that were at work about 10 per cent more work to do. They had previously been working only half-time. (Applause.) Mr. Harvey read a letter from Thomas I. Kidd, general secretary of the machine woodworkers' international union, saying: "If clothes and food embraced all the necessities of the laboring people, the dollar would unquestionably be of greater value to them than ever; but they do not, and what the laborer may save by cheaper clothes and food is more than offset by increased rent alone. When all things are considered the relative value of the dollar is no greater now than in 1865." Mr. Harvey went on:

"One trouble that all labor will now recognize in the United States is that on account of the depressed condition of affairs laborers are not working full time. The unions have succeeded in holding up the price per diem, but the men are not working more, say, than one half the time, which is making that much less in dollars that they are receiving." Speaking of tenantcy, Mr. Harvey said: "Twenty million acres of land in the United States to-day is owned by English titled nobility, and the English land tenantcy has to that extent been already introduced into this country. In Illinois there is a county by the name of Logan that has a county seat by the name of Lincoln, and you can drive for miles through that county on your way to that county seat and have on both sides of you Lord Scully's possessions, with the Irish thatched cottages over the land." (Applause.)

Mr. Horr—I have traveled extensively, very extensively, through thirty-one states of this Union, and I never yet saw a single farm nor had my attention called to one that was owned by people living outside of the United States. There are some, but they are few.

Mr. Harvey said: "The proposition is made by the gold standard men that all of our efforts for the restoration of silver is for the interests of silver bullion owners. It is not true. In our struggle to restore a sufficient volume of primary money in this country we have turned our attention to that was committed and to restore to the people that which was the people's money, irrespective of who owned that property. We do not object to gold, because the gold miners produce it, and the arguments that the gentleman makes about silver producers could be made with the same force about the gold producers. But I want to make another answer to it. I want to say to you that the silver producers have not assisted in running this campaign. (Applause.) If they were assisting anyone it is reasonable to suppose that they had assisted me. I began my work in May, 1893, by publishing a weekly paper, and commenced bringing out books in December, 1893. I became chairman of the bimetallic executive committee of this state in the summer of 1893. My committee appealed personally and by letter to about all the silver mine owners in the West for donations to assist us. We did not receive a cent. At one time I sent out forty-four letters to selected names of as many prominent silver mine owners who were supposed to be wealthy, such men as Moffit and Shear of Colorado and Clark of Montana, and did not receive a cent from them, not even enough to pay the postage used on the letters; not even the courtesy of a reply, except from one. At the time I brought out 'Coin's Financial School.' I was in debt and had no money left."

Silver to Right the Wrong

In closing the debate for the day Mr. Harvey handed Mr. Horr, as a souvenir, a silver dollar of 1790, with the word "unit" upon it. Mr. Harvey said: "Take it, Mr. Horr. Washington may have carried it in his pocket; Jefferson may at one time have had it in his possession; it may have paid for the paper on which the declaration of war was written in 1812 against Great Britain. It may have been fondled by Jackson when writing his message to congress against the national bank. (Applause.) It is a fit souvenir for any American proud of his country and of its institutions to carry in his pocket all the days of his life." Mr. Harvey passed the dollar to Mr. Horr. Then came shouts, cries of "hurrah," and continued applause.

Mr. Horr, smiling: "I shall keep this dollar and put it to a good use. I intend to have a hole bored through it, and then I will hang it around the neck of my little grandchild, born just as we commenced this discussion. (Applause.) It will do brother Harvey good to learn that the people of the United States are still, in spite of the gold standard, marrying and giving in marriage, and that children are still born to us in spite of the silver dollar. (Laughter and applause.)

TAMBOURINES RATTLE

At a Meeting Which Ends the Salvation Army Congress.

Minneapolis, July 28.—The Salvation Army state congress, which had been in session in the city during two days, closed last evening with a public meeting in Century Music hall after a busy day's work devoted to considering plans for future aggressiveness in the state. The evening session began with an open air meeting at the old stand, corner of Nicollet avenue and Fourth street, which was listened to by several hundred people, after which a procession was formed, headed by a few bicycle riders and a float of little children and followed by a crowd of noisy Salvationists who marched to the place of the evening meeting by way of the West hotel and Nicollet avenue. The hall was comfortably filled by the arrival of the procession, and with half a hundred Salvationists on the platform, including the band, the war began at once.

The playing of the band, accompanied by the rattle of the tambourines and the noise of hand-clapping and stamping of feet, was the opening of the meeting, followed by the singing of a prayer on bended knees, "Savior, Lead Me Lest I Stray." A song by twenty-five little children was given, after which Capt. Sam Young, who is at the head of the junior work in the state, was called upon and told what the Army is doing for children.

As a matter of useful information it may be stated that whenever a cooking receipt calls for a baking powder the "Royal" should be used. The receipt will be found to work better and surer, and the bread, biscuit, rolls, cakes, dumplings, crusts, puddings, crullers or whatever made, will be sweeter, lighter, finer-flavored, more dainty, palatable and wholesome.

Crops All Right.

Milwaukee, Special.—Mr. Henry C. Payne, receiver for the Northern Pacific railroad, said to-day that the reports about damaged crops along the line of the Northern Pacific were greatly exaggerated. He says he received reports to-day showing that the damage at some points was but slight, and that he looked for a good yield.

Turks and Persians Fight.

Paris, Special.—A dispatch received here from Constantinople says that sanguinary conflicts have taken place between the Turks and Persians on the Persian frontier.

NO ONE ESCAPED.

REPORTS OF A MASSACRE AT JACKSON'S HOLE.

A Courier Reaches Market Lake With a Dispatch Stating that the Bannock Indians Are Murdering, Burning and Pillaging.

Chicago, July 30.—Despite explicit denials from Boise City, Idaho, and from Washington in regard to the alleged massacre at Jackson's Hole, a local paper has the following special dispatch from Market Lake, Idaho:

"A courier from the Teton river valley has reached Market Lake with a dispatch from some ranchmen who are barricaded in a ranch in the valley this side of Jackson's Hole. The message reads: 'Use every influence to hurry the soldiers forward. Indians are murdering, burning and pillaging. For God's sake lose no time.'

"The courier cannot tell what was the extent of the massacre at Jackson's Hole. He believes none escaped alive. The torch had been applied beyond the range, and the fires could be seen at night."

Washington, July 30.—Dispatches received at army headquarters here from Gen. Coppinger show that the force of cavalry ordered to Jackson's Hole, the scene of the Indian troubles in Wyoming, is making its way there and will probably reach that place by Tuesday night. In addition other troops have been ordered to Market Lake from Fort Russell so as to be in readiness for active work should their services be required. No mention is made of further trouble, and with the known peaceable attitude of the Indians on the Washakie and Duechesne reservations, the situation is regarded as very much simplified.

The statement that the Indians on the Washakie and Fort Duechesne reservations are not involved in the present movement is regarded by the officers of the army as very important. The Shoshones are under the direction of the agent of the former reservation and the Utes under the agent of the latter, so that it is felt here that there will be no trouble experienced from them. This condition of affairs, it is believed here, makes the situation much easier to handle, for with but one tribe of Indians to deal with, the uprising can be much more easily suppressed. There are now four troops of cavalry on their way to Marysvale, and five more will be at Market Lake to-morrow, which makes the available force all that it is hoped will be necessary to quell the disturbance.

Pocatello, Idaho, July 30.—Fred Cunningham left Jackson's Hole Friday evening and arrived at Market Lake at 8 o'clock last night. He reports Indian camp fires burning all along the road around Jackson's Hole, but that no conflict had occurred up to the time he left. The Eighth cavalry made sixteen miles yesterday and camped on the South fork of Snake river.

"I find the Royal Baking Powder superior to all the others in every respect. It is entirely free from all adulteration and unwholesome impurity, and in baking it gives off a greater volume of leavening gas than any other powder.

Walter S. Haines, M. D."

Chemist to the Chicago Board of Health.

Campos Walked In

London, July 30.—The Times has a dispatch from Havana which says: Accounts of the fight on the road between Manzanillo and Bayamo (in which Gen. Santocildes, was killed) which have been published hitherto, was under censorship and largely imaginary. No official account has yet been received from Capt. Gen. Campos. The government admits that three officers and seventy men were killed. The general impression here is that Capt. Gen. Campos met with a distinct reverse. All the mules and horses were killed by his orders, so that he lost his baggage train. Campos himself arrived at Bayamo on foot.

Death of an Aged Divine.

Sioux City, Iowa, July 30.—Rev. J. N. Hines, the noted Episcopalian divine, died at Elk Point, S. D., this morning in his ninety-first year. The deceased had preached for seventy-one years, during which time he baptised 1,500 people, married 700 couples and organized 300 congregations and 14 state conferences, besides publishing a number of books and papers of a religious order. He was born at Wickford, R. I., and during his early years was a Christian Baptist, afterward an Adventist, and finally an Episcopalian. He came West thirty years ago to work among the Indians and has remained ever since.

Smallpox Costly.

Milwaukee, July 30.—The report of Health Commissioner Bradley on the cost of the smallpox epidemic in this city from its commencement until the close of the year 1894 has been completed. The total cost to the city was $120,000. The heaviest item of expenditure was for vaccine virus, the total being $6,627. There were about 100,000 people vaccinated by the health department, and this service cost $5,457. The quarantine guards cost the city $62,130.

Bonnets and Toys Burned.

New York, July 30.—A destructive fire started in the basement of the six-story brick, Numbers 19 and 21 West Twenty-second street, fronting on Numbers 28 and 30 West Twenty-third street to-day and gutted the establishments of Scharles Brothers, dealers in toys, and Jacquin & Co., dealers in French millinery. Loss $200,000.

Negro Lynched.

Meridan, Miss., July 30.—Charlie Burwell, Colored, about sixty-five years of age, was lynched near here last night. It was thought he was concerned in the "Farmer outrage which occurred within a stone's throw of where he was hung.

The practical withdrawal of Argentina from the contest with the United States and Russia in supplying the wants of the wheat importing part of the world, sent wheat up in Chicago.

MARKET REPORTS.

Latest Quotations From Grain and Live Stock Centers.

Chicago, July 30.—Wheat—September, 70 3-4c; December, 73 5-8c. Corn—September, 43 1-4c; December, 35 5-8c. Oats—September, 22 5-8c; May, 26c. Pork—July, $10.55; September, $10.65. Lard—July, $6.22; September, $6.32. Ribs—July, $6.05; September, $6.15.

Minneapolis, July 30.—Wheat—July closed at 70 1-8c; September opened at 66 5-8c and closed at 68 1-4c; December opened at 68 1-8c and closed at 69 5-8c.

Milwaukee, July 30.—Flour steadier. Wheat buoyant and higher; No. 2 spring, 71 7-8c; No. 1 Northern, 76c; September, 72 3-8c. Corn quiet and steady; No. 3, 44c. Oats lower; No. 2 white, 26 1-2c; No. 3 white, 26 1-4c. Barley steady; No. 2, 46c; sample, 45a 46 1-2c. Rye steady; No. 1, 52c.

St. Paul, July 30.—Hogs—Only a few bunches offered; selling early. Cattle steady but quiet; not much offered; one load of good butcher steers arrived, selling at $3.60; good demand for all grades.

The health authorities of a number of States have recently made exhaustive examinations of the baking powders with the uniform result of finding the Royal superior to all others.

Kansas City Flooded.

Kansas City, July 30.—Kansas City and vicinity was visited early this morning by the worst rain and lightning storm in the history of the weather bureau. The rainfall in this city was 4.57 inches, the heaviest on record. No damage was done on the Missouri side, but across the line in Kansas great damage was done to private and public property. Reports from all over the city indicate that the damage will foot up into the thousands. Street pavements were washed out like so much kindling wood; sidewalks were carried away, small woodsheds and outhouses were moved to the creek bottoms and destroyed, and the homes of a number of people were flooded, ruining their furniture.

Dry in New York.

New York, July 30—The police made a supreme effort to enforce the excise law Sunday and to all appearances they realized their expectations almost to the letter. To all practical purposes the law was so thoroughly enforced that not a saloon was open to the general public, and so fearful had the saloonkeepers become of the citizen spy that it was a difficult matter for even the initiated to get a drink at any place unless the proprietor or the man in charge was absolutely certain that no danger would follow the admission of the would-be customer in the shape of a summons to court in the morning.

Lightning Burns an Asylum.

Madison, Wis., July 30.—The Dane county asylum for chronic insane at Vernon was struck by lightning last night and is now a mass of ruins. Supt. E. P. Edwin was badly hurt by falling from the roof. The building cost $100,000 a year ago. The unfortunate people are housed in the old building. Madison sent aid, but it was no use, as a high wind prevailed and the flames spread rapidly.

Receiver Payne Inspecting.

Milwaukee, July 30.—Receiver Henry C. Payne left to-night for a three weeks' inspection of the Northern Pacific. He is accompanied by some of the officers of the company, and will visit Yellowstone Park. Two of the park hotels, destroyed by fire a few years ago, will probably be rebuilt, and the Northern Pacific will contribute a share toward the expense.

Wisconsin Family Killed.

Cairo, Ill., July 30.—A cyclone has swept over the village of Three States, situated on the Mississippi river forty-five miles south of here, on the Missouri side. Lightning struck a shanty boat tied at the bank, killing the owner, George McClelland and wife, and fatally injuring their three children, who are since reported to have died. Their home was said to be at Kenosha, Wis.

National Silver Party.

Columbia, S. C., July 30.—Congressman Latimer of South Carolina is authority for the statement that the silver leaders have agreed to call a convention to meet in St. Louis in September for the purpose of forming a national silver party. Among the names mentioned of those who have agreed to the scheme are Bland of Missouri, Tillman of South Carolina and Marion Butler of North Carolina.

Lutherans Adjourn.

Winona, Minn., July 30.—The conference of the Mississippi district of the Lutheran church has adjourned. The last day was devoted to discussing church work and criticising sermons. It was decided to hold the conference next year in La Crosse the last whole week in July. Four papers were ordered prepared for the next year's meeting.

Theft Did Them No Good.

Willmar, Minn., July 30.—Last night the grocery store of Anderson Bros. was broken into by tramps and about $100 worth of silverware taken. Three of the culprits were apprehended shortly afterward and nearly all the stolen articles recovered.

Died of Paralysis.

Gary, S. D., July 30.—H. A. Sturges, one of the oldest settlers and a retired lawyer, is dead, the result of a stroke of paralysis received in January. He was an Odd Fellow and an old soldier and was well known here.

Pierre Bottineau Dead.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., July 30.—Pierre Bottineau died late last night surrounded by his wife and children.

Ate Toadstools.

Red Bud, Ill., July 30.—A famil of movers while near Anna, made their supper off toadstools which they mistook for mushrooms. Three children are already dead and the mother and two other boys are ill and not expected to live.

Murder at a Dance.

Paducah, Ky., July 30.—At Birmingham, Marshall county, twenty miles from here, George Egna was stabbed to death by Simon A. Duh at a dance.

WAS NOT A MURDER.

MAGGIE CRAIGIE'S DEATH WAS THE RESULT OF AN ACCIDENT.

She Was Killed by the Nine-Year-Old Son of Earnest Lange, Who Was Trying to Show Maggie How to Fire the Shot-Gun.

Minneapolis, July 28.—The death of Maggie Craigie of Minneapolis, whose body was found on the farm of Ernest Lange, near Osseo, was not the result of murder, as at first appeared, but of an accident. The girl was killed by the discharge of a shotgun in the hands of Fred, the nine-year-old son of Lange. The boy admitted the deed.

When the coroner arrived the body of the girl was found lying in the yard near the corner of the granary, which is situated about thirty feet to the rear of the house and a little to the west. It was said, however, by those who had seen it first, that it had been moved to that position to get it out of he sun, and that it first lay directly behind the house and only a few feet away. Upon examination it was discovered that death had been inflicted with a shotgun at short range, for the skull above the right temple was completely crushed in and the face was badly powder-burned. The face and shoulder were filled with scattered shot. After making his examination of the remains the coroner had them removed to the front room of the house and properly laid out. The coroner held an inquest, and the jury's verdict was that Maggie Craigie came to her death from a gunshot wound in the head, caused by the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of Fred Lange, and that the jury does not hold him guilty of criminal intent. Mr. Craigie, the father of the unfortunate girl, fully shares the opinion of the jury, and believes that his daughter's death resulted from an accident. No action whatever will be taken against Fred Lange.

The little fellow said that instead of being away, as supposed, he was at home; and after a lot of questioning he admitted that he himself had killed the little girl. He said that after his mother left the house, taking the only son, Henry, with her, to go to her father-in-law's house, he remained in the yard, playing by himself for some time; Maggie and the baby being in the house upstairs. After about ten or fifteen minutes he went into the house and Maggie called to him to come upstairs. When he went up he found her playing with the shotgun. She cocked it and pointed it at him, but she said she did not know how to shoot it. Fred then told her that he would show her. He took it in his hands for that purpose, but almost before he knew it the gun was discharged, the charge striking Maggie in the head. She fell to the floor. He immediately took hold of the body and dragged it down the back stairs and through the kitchen into the back yard where he left it. Next he took an old sack and vest, which he found at hand, and, returning to the room where the tragedy occurred, wiped up the blood as best he could; afterward throwing the bloody articles he had used as a mop into the woodpile. He then went out to play, and says that he soon forgot all about the matter, not even thinking about it any more.

He seemed to have no comprehension of the terrible deed he had accidentally done. When the coroner asked him if some one had told him to tell the story he had narrated, he positively declared that he was telling the truth. He said he had no trouble with the little girl whatever. The coroner found the gunny sacy and vest in the wood pile, where the boy had said he threw them. The sack was saturated with blood, and the vest had several clots of blood on it. Further investigation showed a big pool of blood in the fatal chamber, and splashes of blood and fragments of brain on the walls. There were also a number of stains of blood on the kitchen floor. The boy remained perfectly calm while he told how the terrible affair occurred, and is particularly without any realization of what he has done, not even seeming to exhibit any signs of remorse or sorrow. Capt. Craigie was present at the inquest. He and Mrs. Craigie are nearly prostrated with grief over the loss of their daughter.

RULING BY COURTS.

Sheldon To-Day Removes Regent Shannon in South Dakota.

Huron, S. D., July 28.—Public Examiner Hemmingway was here this morning and caused notice to be served upon J. W. Shannon of his removal by Gov. Sheldon as president of the state board of regents, and forbidding him from further serving, either as a member or officer of that body, and directing him to at once turn over to the board all books, papers and other property in his possession belonging to it.

No attention will be paid to the governor's order by Shannon, and he has directed his attorney to proceed against Gov. Sheldon at once for contempt of court, as in issuance of his order removing Shannon he ignored the order of Judge Campbell, issued Wednesday, restraining him or his agents or representatives from in any manner interfering with Shannon as a member or officer of the board of regents.

The authorities of Canada have been making an elaborate study of the baking powders sold there. The official analyst of Ontario says as the result of his investigation that he "finds the Royal Baking Powder far superior to the others," and goes so far as to recommend its use in preference to any other.

OVER THIRTY DEAD.

Explosion in a Mine in Westphalia.

Bochum, Westphalia, July 27.—An explosion occurred yesterday in the Prince von Corzen mine, in this vicinity. The bodies of thirty-two victims of the accident have already been recovered and a number of persons are still missing. The searching parties are experiencing much difficulty in exploring the mine. In addition to the killed, several men are seriously burned by the explosion.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND
PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

	Leave Crokston Daily	Arriv Crookston Daily
St. Paul Minneapolis Superior, Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.40 a. m.	7:05 am
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg, Brandon and points North	7.25 a m.	7:10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston daily has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, Maps, Time Tables or special information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. at Crookston Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marsha

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for in or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON
R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE
W. A. Sorsoleil

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS
COPYRIGHTS.

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free.

Building Edition, monthly, $2.50 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY.

BREVITIES.

Go to Johnson & Marshall's for lime cement, etc.

Miss Alma Julin returned home to-day from Euclid.

Prof Wishard of Beltrami is in town to-day visiting friends.

Sash and doors cheap for cash at Johnson & Marshall's.

Frank Duncomb of St. Paul is in town on business to-day.

Mr. Smith was in town last Saturday taking orders for cigars,

Tom Wylie of Thief River Falls was in town on business last Friday,

E. M Hoff and family visited friends at Thief River Falls last Sunday.

C. A, Brink received a carload of Mc Cormick machinery last Monday.

Deputy Sheriff Johnson of Crookston was doing business in town to-day.

M. E. Bjerk took in the Mark Twain lecture at Crookston last Monday night

Miss Augusta Olson visited friends at Crookston the latter part of last week.

C. G. Rapp went to Crookston last Monday to hear Mark Twain speak

The prairie chicken crop is a large one this year and hunterss are happy

The weather the past week has been perfect and the crops are doing fine.

J. Sonstagen of St. Paul was doing business in town the first of the week.

Messrs Gilmore and Mant of McIntosh is in town this week on business.

Charley Westler of St. Paul was doing business in town a short time to-day.

H E Ives left for Crookston to-day to attend the opening of the Hotel Crookston.

Fred Eikhof has received a stock of the best Gun Oil in the market. Give it a trial.

John Freeburg and family of Grand Forks is in town this week visiting Mr. and Mrs. O W Brink,

Miss Anna Abrahamson returned to-day from Ada where she has been visiting her sister the past month,

Mr. & Mrs. D. Patterson drove down to Crookston last Monday afternoon to take in the Mark Twain lecture.

Stone Wanted

$4.00 per cord paid for stone delivered at the St. Hilaire dam,

Henry Norland returned from Crookston last Friday where he has been attending the county board of equalization

K. O. Gigstad returned from St. Paul last Friday where he has been under treatment of Dr. Hawk. He reports himself very much better.

A party consisting of J. H. Penno W. C. Stranahan, Wm. and Henry Olson and Emil Brink drove up to Thief River Falls last Sunday to get "took."

Rev. Hillman and Rev. Ostad of Crookston was in town this week. Rev. Ostad will take charge of the Norwegian Lutheran Church here and at Thief River Falls in the future.

The Scandinavian American Museum came up to-day from Red Lake Falls by team. They placed their mumified Norse Giant on exhibition several hours while waiting for the train.

Married.—At the residence of the brides parents Miss. Manda Olson to Mr. M. Hanson of Black River. The both bride and groom are well and favorably known here and a host of friends unite with the Spectator in wishing them a long and happy life.

A number of our citizens treated S. M. Hoff to a pleasant surprise last Friday evening that being the anniversary of his birthday refreshments were served at 12 o'clock after which dancing and other amusements were indulged in. The evening was well spent and all report having a very plersant time.

A good way to keep home trade at home is to let people know what you have, which they are likely to need In this day of large catalogues and mail order emporium, it is estimated that at least 50 per cent of the home business, which should go to build up the country merchant, is drawn by city firms. If you have what people want let them know about it by advertising, if you haven't it is time you went out of business.—Princeton Union

When a man tells you that the goverment can't run the railroads, call his attention to the fact that the goverment is now running sixty different roads, and when the receivers get their accounts straightened out and every thing is in running order they will be turned over to the corporations to pass through another process of thievery until necessary for the government to come in again to run things and get on such a basis as to stand the stealing incident to corporate managment.
—Chicago Express.

"Its scarcely any wonder that lines are on my brow; it's hard its hard to make a living as things are going now; I plant nice potatoes and sit down and watch them grow; then comes the frost a whooping and lays the blamed things low; I plant some little seedlets to raise some succotash; my neighbors hens come over and knock them a'l to smash; I had a little arbor in which to snooze and rest: a cow came in and climbed it and sent it gilly, west; I bought a dozen egglets, (they cost so much I cried) they hatched a lonely chick and that went of and died; the insects ate the cabbage. the worms have nailed the corn; my horse has got the glanders my cow has lost a horn my pig has got the measels and squeals unseemingly tunes; my geese are hunting water and I am full of prunes,

For the past week the county board has been in session and besides the transaction of routine business they have thoroughly gone over the assessment books of each town and have equalized them in more thorough manner than the business has ever been done before. The result is that each property holder will bear his just burden of taxation. Among other work the tax levy was fixed for the coming year, The Times is pleased to announce that the rate will be reduced from 7½ to 6½ mills. The result will be just what the figures represent a reduction of one seventh in the gross tax each will have to pay this year compared to last year. The county finds $15'000 in its general revenue fund and $10,000 in the sinking fund, with which to redeem the bond issue of $16,000 that falls due a year hence. This showing is favorable and justifies the peoples estimate of the business ability of their representatives on the board of county commisioners.—Crookston Times.

For good practical common sense the following from a Nebraska paper is entitled to special consideration; A county superintendent in a neighboring county recently asked every teacher at the county institute who took their local paper to hold up their hands, and out of about 100 present, only six responded, at which he expressed great surprise and said: "You don't spend one dollar a year with these papers, yet you expect them to print, free of charge notices of institutes, insert long programmes of same and full report of what you say and do on these occasions, and thus expect them to advertise you and your abilities in you, chosen profession, thus assisting you to climb the ladder to higher positions and better saleries, without a cent's postage in return." He closed by saying: "Your condition in this matter would lead me, were I editor of these papers, to promptly throw into the waste basket any communications sent in by any society, the members of which were too proud or too stingy to take the paper, or if I inserted it to demand full advertising rates for every line published."

There is good sage advice in the following from the Mazeppa Independent. "This spring a large number of peddlers have passed through our village, traveling about the country with a horse and light wagon and swindling the farmers on the way, They purchase the cheapest articles on the market, which is a grade made especially for them, as no reliable merchant would have his shelves burdened with such truck. The people have an idea they can buy cheaper of a peddler than they can of their home merchant so the Italian must but display the goods state the prices, and the purchaser seeing the article looks well and knowing the man to be a peddler, jumps at the chance and pays the cash. But when the article is put into use its failings are readily seen and the owner will kick himself; but as soon as another makes him a call he tries again, only to suffer the same fate. Did you ever notice that these itinerant merchants pass through all villages without a stop? People have seen them too often and have abandoned them as the country folks will in the course of a few years. Patronize your home merchants and then if you purchase something which is not just what it should be, they are situated where you can find them and are always ready to right the error,"

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred and eighty seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary Richard and Charles Richard her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 29th day of November 1889, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 9th day of December 1889 at 1 o'clock p. m., in book 43 of mortgages, on page 155, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz:

The North west quarter of Section thirty two in Township one hundred and fifty one of Range forty three in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 17th day of August 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law

Dated June 17th A. D. 1895.
Security Trust Co., of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.
R. J. Montague, Crookston Minn attorney

WANTED—Salesmen.

LOCAL AND TRAVELING. A good chance! Don't miss it! You need no capital to represent a reliable firm that warrants nursery stock first class and true to name. WORK ALL THE YEAR. and good pay weekly. Our famous Minnetonka Apple is warranted until it produses a bushel of fruit Our seed potatoes sell everywhere. State age L. L. MAY & Co.
NURSERYMEN FLORISTS AND SEEDSMEN. St. Paul Minn

Notice of Sale

I will offer for sale at public auction on Saturday July 13th 1895 at James Maddens farm in Section 21 Tp 152 R 41. One bay mare about six years old which was taken up astray May 15th
Tom Madden

Are You Going East?

If so and you wish to avoid heat dust, and worriment of an all rail route and at the same time secure those genuine pleasures of traveling, comfort rest pleasant companionship, exhuleration sleep and good food, relishing appetite and every luxury one can ask for try the lake route from Duluth to Buffalo on one of those floating palaces of the Northern Steamship Company "North West" or "North Land?

They are the largest, fastest and best equipped steamers on fresh water anywhere, and the equal of the finest ocean grey—hounds. — Leader Montevideo, Minn.

Good News to farmers.

W. A. Sorsoleil will give you 50 pounds of good flour for a bushel of wheat, at Johnson & Marshall's ware house,

The passenger Steamer Alice Meehan leaves Thief River Falls every Monday and Friday for points on Red Lake Special rates given to excursion parties

For further information apply to Jas. Meehan Jr. Thief River Falls,

For Sale

Hay Stumpage on NW ¼ Sec 2 Tp. 152—44 Address.
P. S. Ware Thief River Falls

In another column will be found the advertisement of L. L. May & Co, nurserymen and florists. This is a reliable firm who pay their agents good wages and handle none but the very best goods,

U. S. Land Office
Crookston Minn. April 24 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and has said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn., on June 7 1895. viz:

John Kron, father of Alfred Kron deceased, HD no. 12983 for the NE ¼ Sec. 32 Tp 153 R 45.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land viz:

Adolph Nelsen, L. G. Dalin, Per Person Sam Person all of Bray p. o. Polk Co. Minn.
T. A. Dunlavy, Register.

Dr H. GRUNDY
Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis

DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS AND CIGARS.
Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.
Broadway St. Hilaire

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY.

The NEW and the RIGHT WAY
EAST and WEST
TO ALL PACIFIC COAST POINTS AND TRANSPACIFIC PORTS.

TIME CARD.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily. NO. 3 North and West		Daily. NO 2 South and East
7 45 p m Depart	St. Paul	Arrives 7 15 am
8 15 p m "	Minneapolis	6 45 am
3 05 a m	Barnesville	11 15 am
5 35 am Ar	Crookston	De 8 55 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH
MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

100 am De	Crookston	Ar 600 pm
1100 am Ar	St. Hilaire	De 400 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.05 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.12 pm. Leaves St Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1:20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm Close connections made at Minneapolis and St. Paul for all points East and South.

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY G. P. & T. A. St. Paul
H. J. FREEMAN Agt. St. Hilaire

NORTHERN STEAMSHIP COMPANY,

The magnificent steamships "North West" and "North Land" leave Duluth Mondays and Fridays for the "Soo" Mackinac island, Detroit Cleveland and Buffalo, running in connection with Great Northern trains, (Eastern Railway of Minnesota) St. Paul and Minneapolis. Round trip tickets include the lake route either going or returning on sale by Great Northern Agents

No-one should go East and back without using the delightful lake route one way at least For printed matter and information about the steamship tour apply to any agent of the Great Northern.

LANDS

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from

$2.00 to $6.00

PER ACRE.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ at Sec. 21	5.00
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 23	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.0
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.5
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.0
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.0
5 " 23	5.0
9 " 27	5.0
NE SE of 28	5.0
2 forties in 33	5.0
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE OE of 31	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 4.70
NE of SE, 10	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.00 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 31	3.00 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 6.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.00
3 " 17	4.50
4 " 23	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	5.00
4 " 29	8.00 to 6.00

I will sell the hay on the above described lands for the season of 1896 at reasonable prices. All persons are hereby warned not to cut hay on any of these lands without first making contract for same, For further information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

Impetuous People

are sometimes figuratively spoken of as not above setting things on fire just for the fun of

Seeing Them Burn

Close competition breeds impetuosity, and in our earnest pushing for trade it often happens that we mark goods away down just for the fun of

Seeing Them Sell

Somebody has exclaimed: "Oh, the impetuosity of the idiocy of the tumultuous idiot!" This remark will never apply to you if in your rush for bargains you get into the right store, which of course is ours.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN
General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!

Great Bargain Sale of FARM MACHINERY

AT

J. E. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mowers at $10 each and a full line of walking and breaking plows which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise.

PTERODACTYL

We print a likeness of the skeleton of this remarkable paleontological reptile because some of its physical characteristics are synonymous with our business methods. Perhaps the most striking similarity may be found in its

Little Finger and our

Big Bargains

Its little finger is very large: and so are our bargains. The paradox of a little finger being big may be likened to the paradoxical inducements we offer you.

Profits and Hind Feet Small

Its hind feet are out of all proportion to its fore feet, just as our profit is overshadowed by the buyer's. Its large head represents the size of our stock. The many years that have elapsed since the time when this creature flourished will hint at the wearing quality of our goods.

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. E. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION. PRICE:

Advance, $1.50.

Not in Advance, $2.00 Per Year

Entered at the post office at St. Hilaire, as Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY July 31 1895

DEBTS OF ROYALTY.

Tradesmen Wait Patiently and Present No Bills to Kings.

There are many persons who will envy the privilege which royalty enjoys of never being dunned for tradesmen's bills. The great Parisian dressmakers in particular make a point of never sending in any account to their royal and imperial customers unless specially requested to do so. At the same time all sorts of artifices and devices are adopted to remind customers of this exalted rank, without appearing to do so, that money is due and payments desirable.

Some of the scions of royalty are very punctilious and exact about their payments, especially the Princess of Wales, who has from the English crown an independent allowance of $50,000 per annum, supposed to be entirely spent in dress, not so difficult a matter when it is borne in mind that throughout the London season the princess, as the observed of all observers, never appears a second time in the same toilet; that the toilets are changed several times a day, and that many of them, especially those for evening and court wear, cost $1,000 and $1,500 each.

Very different from the Princess of Wales is the dowager queen of Portugal, who is perennially hard up, in spite of the large allowance she receives from the Portuguese and Italian civil lists. Her tradesmen at Paris, whence she gets all her clothes, have to wait years for their money, which they get only when some of those Portuguese loans happen to be floated or when the queen is able to get her brother, King Humbert of Italy, to come to her rescue and fill her depleted purse.

The members of the Russian court are very exact and unquestioning in their payments, and so, too, is Queen Marguerite of Italy, her punctiliousness in this respect being due to her husband, King Humbert, who, still suffering from the disastrous effects of the insane extravagance of his father, Victor Immanuel, is careful to run as few bills as possible and, so far as he can, to pay as he goes.

This immunity from duns does not extend to royal personages whose families have been deprived of their thrones or who are compelled to affix an "ex" to their title. Thus ex-King Milan of Servia is constantly being dunned and sued, while old ex-Queen Isabella of Spain every now and then gets into such a terrible snarl with her Parisian tradesmen that her daughter-in-law, the queen regent, is compelled to send members of her own household from Madrid to straighten matters out and to assume charge of the old lady's liabilities.

There is a popular impression abroad that the Prince of Wales is frequently dunned by tradesmen. But this is not the case. I don't suppose he ever received a tailor's bill in his life, and his pressing needs for money, which drive him into such extraordinary and promiscuous friendships and associations, are attributable to loans coming due and to gambling and racing debts. Perhaps the most unpunctual and least satisfactory of royal personages with whom to run a bill is the present emperor of Germany, a reigning sovereign who comes as near being dunned like an ordinary mortal as any one could find, the tradesmen who are unable to get their money taking out their annoyance in disagreeable remarks that bring them dangerously near indictment for the crime of leze majesty.—Chicago Record.

Birds in Winter.

Birds, I believe, never absolutely die of cold. I question if they even feel it as man does, and I attribute their invulnerability to the closeness and warmth of their feathery covering, the peculiar texture of the skin of their feet and legs, the fatty plumpness of their flesh, the warmth and richness of their blood and other purely physiological characteristics. If kindly disposed people, in the visitations of severe weather, take care to spare a little for the birds, the birds will take care of themselves and be healthy, wealthy and happy, and the robins and wrens, at least, will pay back with interest in floods of that melody which is indeed a "glorious gift of God", to the "poor man's choristers," and which they do not, in winter at all events, pour forth in emulous rivalry and for purely selfish sexual ends.—Cornhill Magazine.

Cost of Stopping a Train.

It is estimated that the power required to stop a train in a space of 120 yards when moving at the rate of 60 miles an hour would be sufficient to propel the train on a level a distance of 15 miles. The cost of each stop is given as $1.17 for wear on machinery, etc.—Mining and Scientific Press.

What Was Needed.

Miss Oifanf—I see that you are cultivating Miss Nurltoh lately.

Mr. Poarwun—Well, doesn't she need cultivating about as much as any person you know?—Detroit Free Press.

U.S Land office

Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U. S. land Office at Crookston Minn on June 6 1895 viz:

Simon E. Ahlberg of St. Hilaire Minn. Hd no. 12979 for the S ½, NE ¼ and Lots 1 and 2 Sec. 1 Twp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land, viz:

Carl Sundal, Anton Sundal Gilbert Anderson, Tollef Erickson, all of St. Hilaire Polk county Minn.

T. A. Dunlava, Register

BEARS THAT CATCH SALMON.

Easy Fishing and Good Fish in the Teeming Waters of Alaska.

"Most bears catch fish if they have a chance," said Dr. Tarleton H. Bean, formerly icthyologist of the United States fish commission and now superintendent of the New York aquarium, "but they don't all have as easy fishing or as good fish to eat as the bears in Alaska. There the bears catch salmon. In the spawning season the fish are so thick in the streams that the bear has simply to stand on the bank and pick out the fish he wants. The salmon run up the rivers from the ocean. Some great streams they follow for hundreds of miles, seeking the headwaters. It is the common belief that from these long journeys the salmon never returns alive. Worn and emaciated, often wounded by contact with stones and roots in its long and toilsome journey, it deposits its spawn and dies in its effort to regain the sea.

"The salmon seek smaller streams as well. On the island of Kadiak, for instance, in the gulf of Alaska, they run in great numbers up the Karluk river, about 20 miles to its source in Karluk lake, which is eight miles long, three or four miles wide and so deep that no line yet dropped in it has reached the bottom. The salmon spawn in the lake, in the shallow places along the shore and in the little streams tributary to it. These little streams may be in some places so shallow as to contain scarcely enough water to float the fish; its back fin and the top of its back may be out of water. The salmon of the Karluk river is the red salmon, the great salmon of commerce. It attains a length of nearly three feet and a weight of 10 to 12 pounds.

"Various birds eat many of the smaller salmon, and small fishes of other kinds eat many of the salmon eggs. The bears eat the grown fish as they pass up or down the stream on the way to or from their spawning places. The bear of Kadiak is the grizzly. It may grow to weigh 1,000 pounds or more, though that would be one of unusual size. Four hundred pounds would be much nearer the average weight. It is the common habit of the bear in Alaska to catch salmon. Every year, when the salmon season begins, which is in the summer, the bears go to the streams to fish, and they fish all through the season as long as the fish continue to run.

"The country around the Karluk lake is wooded, the timber being chiefly cottonwood. There are places on the river where there is tall grass, perhaps six feet in height. It may be that a grizzly will be seen coming down out of the woods on all fours, or you may see one, alarmed at something while on its way to the river, standing up in the grass, its head appearing above the top of it.

"The bear is a good swimmer, but he doesn't need to do any swimming here. He stands with his hind feet on the bank and his fore feet in shoal water and looks straight ahead. The fish swim past in endless procession and close in to the banks, looking for springs, little streams, cool places where they like to deposit their eggs. The bear looks ahead intently. I have never stood near enough to a bear that was fishing to see that he did so, but I have no doubt that he selects out of the many constantly passing a particular fish, one that pleases his fancy. He slaps the salmon out of the water and up on the bank and turns and eats it while it is still alive. She bears take their cubs to the river and feed them there on salmon and incidentally teach them to fish."—New York Sun.

Artificial Snow.

A curious instance of the formation of snow was witnessed at Agon, France. A fire broke out in a sawmill when the temperature was 10 degrees C. below the freezing point. The water thrown upon it was instantly vaporized, and, rising into the cold, dry air, was immediately condensed and fell as snow. What with bright starlight and a strong northwest wind blowing, the whirling snow above and the raging fire below, a brilliant spectacle was presented.—Popular Science Monthly.

A Dead Give Away.

He was in Chicago.

He had signed his name in the hotel register, "John Smith, N. Y."

Then he went out to wait for a car.

He stood on the near side of the street.

The fly clerk noticed this, and as he deftly inserted the word "Brooklyn" before the "N. Y." he whistled softly a few bars of "The Liars' Club March."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Dante's Beatrice.

The style of beauty possessed by Dante's Beatrice is uncertain. She is described by one authority as a brunette; by another as a golden haired blond. If she was the latter, the golden hair was artificially colored, in accordance with a custom then prevalent in Italy of blonding the hair by the use of honey and sulphur.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of nine hundred and thirty-two dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Ole P. Stokke and Tehne Stokke his wife mortgagors, to Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 3rd day of August 1889, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 7th day of August 1889, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in Book 43 of mortgages on page 54 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty in Township one hundred and forty-nine, of Range forty-seven in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 8th day of June 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated April 5th A. D 1895.

Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee

J. Montague, attorney, Crookston Minn

U. S. LAND OFFICE

Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the register or receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on July 2, 1895, viz:

Carl Wik of St. Hilaire Minn. H D no 13341 for the SE ¼ Sec 35 Twp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

Hakon Johnson, Frank Satterberg, Jonas Tongtrom, Peter Anderson all of St. Hilaire, Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of five hundred and eighty-seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary A. Holuvik and Hans M. Holuvik her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee, bearing date the 17th day of December 1890 and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 19th day of December 1890, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in book 50 of mortgages, on page 112 Which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned by said Security Trust Co. of Nashua N. H mortgagee to Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper by written assignment dated on the 7th day of January 1891 and recorded in the office of the Register of deeds on the 21th day of January 1891, at 8:45 o'clock a. m., in Book 56 of mortgages, on page 84 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The north west quarter of Section 18 in Township One hundred and Forty-seven in Range Forty-five in Polk County and State of Minnesota with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston in said County and State, on the 8th day of June 1895 at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 1st A. D. 1895.

Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper

Assignee of mortgagee.

R. J. Montague, attorney, Crookston Minn.

ORDINANCE NO. XII.

Concerning Dogs.

The Village Council of the Village of St. Hilaire do ordain as follows:

Sec. 1. That any dog bitch or slut or any animal of the dog kind owned or being in the possession of any resident of or any person in the village of St. Hilaire shall be registered by such person or resident with the village recorder on the 1st day of July of each year and shall at the same time pay to said recorder for the use of said village a tax of Two [$2.00] Dollars for each dog and Five [$5.00] Dollars for each bitch or slut so owned and possessed by such resident or person. Every owner or possessor of any dog bitch or slut or any animal of the dog kind shall procure from the village recorder a certificate which shall state plainly therein the number and date of such license, the name of such owner or possessor, and the name of such dog, bitch or slut so licensed, and shall pay the village recorder for the use of said village the sum of ten cents for each certificate. The village recorder shall at the commencement of each municipal year provide a tag for every dog, bitch or slut licensed during his term of office said tag to have a distinguishable difference from those used in previous years.

Sec. 2. No person shall suffer his or her dog, bitch, slut or whelp to run at large within the limits of said village unless such animal wears a collar with the tag number and name destinctly engraved stamped or written thereon.

Sec. 3. It shall be lawful for the village dog inspector to kill or destroy any dog, whelp, bitch or slut found running at large within the limits of this village contrary to the provisions of this ordinance.

Sec. 4. No person shall suffer to be allowed to run at large in said village or streets thereof any dog bitch slut or whelp of a ferocious character, habit or disposition nor in the habit of barking at or in any manner annoying any person passing along or using the street or streets of said village and the village dog inspector is hereby empowered to kill or cause to be killed any such animal if found on the street or at large in said village.

Sec. 5. The dog inspector shall proceed under instructions from the president to capture and slaughter all dogs not properly licensed and collared and all dogs so slaughtered he shall bury or cause to be buried for which service he shall receive one ($1.00) dollar for each dog so slaughtered and buried upon presentation of his bill to the village council for approval, the sum to be paid out of the general village fund. The dog inspector shall receive no payment for services or expenses other than herein provided.

Sec. 6 Any person violating any of the provisions of the foregoing sections of this ordinance on conviction thereof before the justice of the peace in and for the village of St. Hilaire Minn. shall be fined in a sum not less than fifteen [$15.00] dollars and cost of prosecution and may be imprisoned not exceeding twenty (20) days in the county jail until such fine is paid.

Sec. 7. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Passed by the Village Council of the Village of St. Hilaire Minn. this 3rd day of June A. D 1895

S. M. Dainard
Pres. of Vill. Council

Attest
J. L. Johnson
Village Recorder.

SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

DEALERS IN

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath, Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE HIGHEST MARKET PRICES

FOR

All kinds of

CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale.

S. M. DAINARD.

Manager.

THE ST. HILAIRE TOWNSITE COMPANY

Will sell for the next

60 days

DESIRABLE RESIDENCE LOTS

From $25 to $100.

ALSO FIRST CLASS BUSINESS PROPERTY AT HARD PAN PRICES.

Apply to

H. E. IVES Agt.

ST. HILAIRE MINN.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

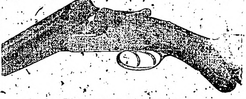
Barbershop in connection

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200, BARRELS, 50.



This cut represents Quality No. 1 — List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING. MATTED RIBS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point.

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsmen that we have not only improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not, and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money, but THE BEST G

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers. ITHACA, N.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

Heavy and Shelf HARDWARE

HEADQUARTERS FOR

HUNTER' SUPPLIES

MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS

BINDING TWINE

9 cents a pound.

NEW GOODS PRICES

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

AMERICAN HOTEL

W. A. ARTHUR Proprietor.

NEWLY FURNISHED

STRICTLY FIRST CLASS

Special attention given to traveling men, Hunting, Fishing and Excursion parties.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.
DR.
PRICE'S
CREAM
BAKING
POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Protect Cows From Flies.

If cows could be protected in summer from flies it would undoubtedly be a means of largely increasing the milk flow and save much annoyance in milking. Prof. C. M. Weed of the New Hampshire agricultural experiment station gives the following methods of preventing the attacks of the horse-fly, which, we presume, would be equally effective for any other kind of fly. It is simple and worth trying:

The most satisfactory way of preventing the attacks of the horse-fly is to apply to the cattle some substance that serves as a repellant. We have experimented with a number of materials and find that the best results are obtained by the use of a cheap oil—such as fish oil or crude cottonseed oil—to which a small amount of carbolic acid or pine tar has been added. Apply rather lightly to the cattle by means of a paint brush, a sponge or even a woollen cloth. Such a combination immediately drives off the flies and remains in a condition to keep them off for about a week. This is a very simple remedy; it should be applied whenever the flies become troublesome.

Either of the following formulas are recommended for this purpose:

1. Crude cottonseed or fish oil, 2 parts; pine tar, 1 part.

2. Crude cottonseed or fish oil, 100 parts; crude carbolic acid, 3 parts.

In either case these substances are to be mixed and applied as described above.

A Coon's Memory.

A coon may not be a very communicative animal, but his receptive and retaining faculties are excellent. At one of the Grand Island resorts a young representative of the species occupies a limb of a tree before the hotel. One day, early in the spring, while the ice was going down the river in cakes an acre wide, a youth untied the coon and threw him into the cold water. The coon swam to the shore, but since that time his tormentor has not approached him without a fight. The coon snarls and bites and grits his teeth, and in other characteristic ways gives vent to the feeling that is within him. Occasionally, when very hungry, he will eat from a dish held to his perch by his enemy, but when his hunger has been appeased one of his long hands is sure to start at lightning pace for the fingers of the man holding the bowl of bread and milk.—Buffalo Courier.

Parker's Ginger Tonic is popular for its good work. Suffering, tired, sleepless, nervous women find nothing so soothing and reviving.

In the Western states good horses are becoming scarce, and possibly there may be a revival in transatlantic traffic.

What a sense of relief it is to know that you have no more corns. Hindercorns removes them, and very comforting it is. 15c. at druggists

Not Understood.

"Misunderstood!" he bitterly exclaimed.

The world had read his poem and laughed mockingly.

"Misunderstood."

This time it was the soda water girl who sold him a club cocktail for whisky straight.

"Misunderstood," he sobbed, and wondered whether he had better use his last ten cents to buy morphine, or to get the razor sharpened.—Detroit Tribune.

Piso's Cure for Consumption is an A No. 1 Asthma medicine.—W. R. Williams, Antioch, Ills., April 11, 1894.

The Surroundings.

The heroine had the center of the stage.

"Amid such surroundings," she exclaimed, looking raptly at the people, "who could not be happy?"

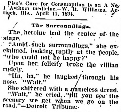
Upon her felicity broke the villian rudely.

"Ha, ha," he laughed through his nose. "Wait."

She shivered with a nameless dread.

"Wait," he cried, "till you see the scenery we get when we go on the road."—Detroit Tribune.

A fishing schooner, with a freezing plant on board, to freeze the fish as fast as caught, is now plying from Gloucester, Mass.



LEAVES ITS MARK
—every one of the painful irregularities and weaknesses that prey upon women. They fade the face, waste the figure, ruin the temper, wither you up, make you old before your time.

Get well: That's the way to look well. Cure the disorders and ailments that beset you with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It regulates and promotes all the womanly functions, improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, melancholy and nervousness, brings refreshing sleep, and restores health and strength.

★ ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR ★ IMPERIAL GRANUM
IT IS
★ THE BEST ★
FOOD
FOR NURSING MOTHERS, INFANTS AND
CHILDREN
★ JOHN CARLE & SONS, New York. ★

STORYETTES

The story of a gentleman who, entering a depot, met an expressman coming out with a dog under his arm. The gentleman asked: "Where is that dog going?" The expressman savagely replied: "You don't know where he's going; I don't know where he's going; nobody knows where he's going—he's ate his tag!"

* * *

William M. Evarts was going up once in the elevator of the state department when it happened to be loaded with an unusual number of strangers, presumably applicants for ministerships and consulships. Turning to a friend who accompanied him, Evarts said: "This is the largest collection for foreign missions that I have seen taken up for some time!"

* * *

Apropos of boasters, Dean Hole tells a story of an acquaintance of his at Oxford, who once wrote him a note beginning "My Dear Countess," and then scratched out "countess," substituting "Hole." Whereupon the dean, not to be outdone, began his reply "My Dear Queen," and then drew his pen through "queen" and substituted "Dick."

* * *

A youth to fortune and to fame unknown sent Dumas the manuscript of a new play, asking the great dramatist to become his collaborateur. Dumas was for a moment petrified, then he seized his pen, and replied: "How dare you, sir, propose to yoke together a horse and an ass?" The author, by return of post, wrote: "How dare you, sir, call me a horse?" Dumas by next mail: "Send me your play, my friend!"

* * *

In Philadelphia the other day an old lady from the country took her stand directly in the center of a trolly track. She soon spied a messenger boy, who, with hat perched on one side, was coming along whistling a popular air. "Say, little boy," inquired she, "would you tell me where I could get a trolly car?" "Yes, ma'am," was the prompt reply; "stand where you are, an' you'll get one right in the neck."

* * *

A gentleman in Washington who has for years made a practice of gathering personal anecdotes of veterans of the war, both of the Northern and Southern services, once asked a friend, who had fought all through the war, if he had ever killed a man that he positively knew of. "Yes," said he, remorsefully, "one. At Bull Run I ran at the first fire. A rebel chased me for ten miles, and was then so exhausted that he dropped dead."

* * *

A young reporter was sent out recently by the city editor of one of the Rochester papers to report a meeting. About two hours after the assignment was made the young reporter returned with a sad countenance. The city editor asked him to get the report up immediately, as it was nearly time to go to press. "There will not be any report on that meeting," was the answer. "Why not?" queried the city editor. "There was not any meeting," replied the young reporter; "it broke up in a big row, and the chairman was chucked under the table."

* * *

He was one of the "Lilliputians," and she was a lovely Maysville girl. He stopped at the hotel where she was visiting, when she met him just after the matinee in the hall, and everybody was looking at her. With a sweet Kentucky smile she stepped up to him, patted him on the cheek and then imprinted one of those kisses that only a Kentucky girl can dispense.

"You dear, cute little thing," she exclaimed, as she lifted him for another smack. "How old are you?"

"Twenty-nine," he replied. "Do it again."

* * *

A New York undertaker or funeral director, as the reader may prefer, advertised for a driver for a hearse, and among the applicants he secured a good-looking, strong fellow, with a solemn countenance, and took him into his private office.

"Before employing you," said the undertaker, "I want to know if you have had any experience in this business?"

"Well, I never drove a hearse," admitted the applicant, "but I've drove the next thing to it, and I guess I can give you satisfaction."

"How do you mean? I don't understand," and it was evident from the undertaker's puzzled look that he was speaking the truth.

"Why," said the applicant, with confidence, "I drove a rapid delivery wagon in Philadelphia for seven years."

He got the job.

* * *

Jerome K. Jerome tells in his paper, To-day, of giving a little dinner once and discussing the matter of wine with the head waiter before the guests arrived. "Well," said the waiter, "if you take my advice, you will give them a very good champagne to start with, let's say Mousseux Sec 1878, and let that go round twice. After that, sir—well—here's a very good wine that I always recommend, at 5 shillings the bottle; and then, if I were you, sir, I would finish up with this," and he pointed to a modest little brand at three and six. "And don't you think," Jerome said, "that they will notice the difference?" "Lor' bless you, no, sir," said the man; "we generally do that way. I wouldn't undertake to tell the difference myself between champagne at sixteen shillings and champagne at five after the first two glasses."

* * *

Once upon a time the Clever Girl and Young Apropos found themselves at a very stupid evening party. After several minutes of boredom the Clever Girl grew desperate. "I tell you what let's do," she said; "you take one side of the room, and I'll take the other, and we'll each see how many persons we can engage in conversation upon a certain topic without in any way appearing to drag in the topic." "All right," said Young Apropos; "but what shall the topic be?" "Cockroaches," said the Clever Girl. Straightway they separated, and, she going on one side of the room and he on the other, they talked to as many persons as possible upon cockroaches. Just before leave-taking time they met, and both agreed that never had they had a more delightful evening. As the Clever Girl was driving home with her mother the latter remarked: "Oh, by the way, Clara, do you happen to know if we are troubled with ah—vermin—or—ah—cockroaches—or anything of that sort?" "No, mama; why do you ask?" innocently inquired the Clever Girl. "Oh, nothing," returned the mother; "only—it was very strange so many people came to me this evening with recipes for getting rid of—ah—cockroaches, and I couldn't understand why it was."

The Illimitable Depths of Space.

Sir Robert Ball, who has an unequaled faculty of throwing light upon astronomical facts which are ordinarily beyond the power of the human mind to grasp, has endeavored in the last of his lecture to suggest the inconceivable distance of some of the stars in the heavens. Taking electricity, which will travel around the world seven times in one second, or, as it is generally calculated, 180,000 miles a second, as the unit of speed, he shows that it would take eight minutes to send a message to the sun. To reach Alpha Centauri, the nearest star, however, would take no less than four years. Many of the still more remote stars would be still unreached if an electrical impulse had been dispatched to them at the time of the battle of Waterloo, eighty years ago, and had been continuously traveling in their direction at its normal gait of 180,000 miles a second. Again, there are over our heads thousands of stars so distant that if the news of the discovery of America by Columbus had been circulated far and wide throughout the universe by the instrumentality of the telegraph these thousands of stars are elevated into boundless space at an altitude so stupendous that the announcement would not yet have reached them. Many stars are only known to us by the impression they made on a photographic plate. Many of these are so far from this earth that if the tidings of the first Christmas at Bethlehem, 1894 years ago, had been disseminated through the universe by the electric current, all the seconds which have elapsed in the 1894 years of our present era would not have sufficed for the journey.

The New Maxim Gun.

The new Maxim gun is one of the most terrible weapons known to man. In appearance it is a mere toy. It can fire 600 shots per minute, so that if every man of a regiment were supplied with it 36,000,000 shots could be fired in an hour, each bullet being capable of piercing 40 inches of oak. If even a small percentage of the bullets did their deadly work, war on a large scale would be impossible, and armies would cease to meet. So long as the trigger is held back the gun will fire automatically as long as ammunition is supplied. When the trigger is released the firing ceases. The gun can be unlimbered and firing within 58 seconds of the giving of the word of command. It will prove of special value in a mountainous country, where a few well-placed guns would wipe out an army. It is no exaggeration to say that 100 men armed with the gun could mow down 10,000 cavalrymen with ease. The possibilities of the machine seem unlimited, and its extraordinary effectiveness is well conveyed by a military expert, who was present at the last test of the gun. He says: "It is the most deadly instrument of war I have ever seen. I have been told it was only a toy, whereas its accuracy and reliability are simply appalling." Each bullet will pierce the bodies of six men, and its muzzle can be moved like the end of a garden hose.

New Device for Catching Fish.

Among the triumphs of inventive genius is a new fish trap that promises to simplify the operation of fishing and permit the angler to capture his prey by a clever artifice. A small mirror is suspended by a swivel and chain, and before it hangs a squirming, wriggling bait. The fish gets his eye on this, and with a greed characteristic of other creatures besides fishes, thinks he will catch the bait before the other fish that he sees in the mirror coming directly toward it, can get there, therefore he makes a snap for the bait and swallows it, hook and all, at the same time bumping himself sharply against the surface of the mirror, all of which operation is supposed to facilitate the secure hooking of the deluded fish. A similar trap is used in India for catching tigers. The savage beast sees another tiger, as he supposes, making for the bait, and immediately hurries to secure it, forgetting in his haste his usual caution and desire to investigate.

New Uses for Old Cables.

Many cities, which are discarding their cables in favor of electricity for street traction are availing themselves of a plan first tried on the Market street road, San Francisco for using up worn out cables. Old rope is cut in lengths short enough to melt in a small cupola, and from it are cast carrying pulleys and even sheaves of 30 inches diameter. A curious feature of the casting is its extreme brittleness, a sharp, sudden blow from a hammer causing the pulley to fly into fragments like glass. On this account it is necessary to cast the pulley on its axle instead of boring and inserting the shaft, as is usually done. Although the castings may be so easily fractured, they are found to last in service fully as long as the ordinary pulley, and as the wheel is of the same metal as the rope it carries, it affords an ideal surface for the rope to run upon.

The Royal Baking Powder Company controls its own cream of tartar factory and the processes for making the only absolutely pure cream of tartar. It sends its product to millions of homes all over the world, supplies the Army and Navy, the great transatlantic steamers, the finest hotels and restaurants. The "Royal" is recommended by the best chefs and authorities on cuisine in every land. Its sale is larger than that of all other cream of tartar baking powders combined and it has more friends among housekeepers than any other similar article.

Revenue from Electric Heating.

An electrical journal calls attention to the fact that Ottawa, Can., has proved itself one of the most progressive utilizers of electricity on this continent. The running of 50,000 lights in a city of 40,000 inhabitants speaks volumes, and it is doubtful whether any other city in the world can approach such figures. But even more interesting is an item in the report of the local central station, just presented, showing an income of $421 from heaters. This is a new item in similar balance sheets. Although the amount is small, it is much larger than the motor account used ordinarily to be, and as it involved only an outlay of $12, it is sound, as well as promising business.

A Device to Improve the Action of Valves.

A device has been put on the market for the prevention of hammering and consequent injury to manifold check valves and the vibration of feed connections. This arrangement is greatly appreciated by engineers, as it permits of a full lift being given to a valve and prevents the excessive strains on pumps and pipes which are often so destructive.

NON-SINKABLE LIFE-BOAT.

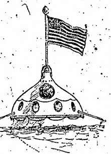
Description of an Interesting Craft Constructed by a Chicago Inventor.

The man didn't live in Chicago who complained that there is nothing new under the sun, else would his mind have changed at sight of the little model brought to the Inter-Ocean office yesterday of a new "life-boat" just patented by a Swedish-American resident of the South Side, A. S. Hedberg, of No. 215 One Hundred and Eleventh street, in the Roseland ward.

Made of galvanized iron—in actual service different materials can be used—the miniature looks like a large turnip, and is in two parts, cut apart horizontally at the line of greatest girth. The halves, however, are firmly clamped together with a water-tight connection; when the toy is dumped into the water, to which it takes as jauntily as a rubber feather, and the only means of entrance and exit then is via a little upward opening like a melon plug, and very easily made use of, as also readily rendered water-tight in its turn. At the top are several little holes for ventilation, but which can also be closed at will. Furthermore, there are six windows, round as portholes in the ordinary ship. Over all this is a flagstaff which can be lowered and put up at pleasure, with waterproof connections and ventilation device, and on the top of the flagstaff is a lantern. There are two oar holes also, one on each side, similarly water-tight in the play of the pair of strong serviceable oars.

And last, and most important of all, the apparatus always rides the wave right-side-up-with-care, because of the abundant ballast in the bottom. The interior of the miniature is fitted up completely, with seats all around the wall, and there are straps for additional support in case of storm.

For practical use the inventor proposes a "life-boat" of this description which shall be either eight feet high by six feet in diameter, at the widest girth, with a seating capacity of ten persons, or else one ten feet high and eight feet wide, seating twenty-five persons. The former style of boat, made wholesale, would cost only $125, and would carry 1,000 pounds without sinking more than four feet in the water, riding as buoyantly as a top. In the base would be plenty of room for supplies and water to last from ten to fifteen persons several weeks, without any danger from water or vitiated air. For the first named size of boat the circular entrance would be three feet in diameter, and the windows one foot. Chains are attached on the outside for people out in the water to catch hold and climb up by. The lifeboat cannot possibly tip over, but simply bobs up and down like a cork.



The New Non-Sinkable Boat.

Already on Lake Calumet there is a little "lifeboat" of this pattern, and the inventor expects soon to have one on Lake Michigan.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

KNOWING A RIVER.

What a Pilot from Pittsburg to Cairo Must Carry in His Head.

At this season of the year, when the river excursion business is at its height, and hundreds of boats are carrying thousands of people to and fro along the entire length of the Ohio river from Pittsburg to Cairo, many persons who ordinarily never give the subject a thought are being impressed with the wonderful way in which navigation on our beautiful stream is carried on. The first thing noticed generally is the accuracy with which the pilot handles the boat, avoiding the bars, which are near the surface of the water at this season of the year going from one side of the river to the other, and finally, without a jar, landing them all safely at their destination. When the excursion business is over these same men will assume similar positions on packets and towboats carrying hundreds of tons of freight and thousands of bushels of coal on every trip with the same accuracy with which they handled the excursion steamers during the summer.

A large number of the pilots running out at Cincinnati know the river from here to New Orleans, others from here to Memphis, and others still to points up the river as far as Pittsburg. "Know the river!" This phrase means much. For instance, a man running from here to New Orleans must be able to take charge of the wheel of his boat at any hour of the day or night, at any point of the river, and on any stage of water. He must be able to tell at a glance exactly where the boat is, at any point on this long stretch of 1513 miles. He must know every bend and chute, and by day the different points by which to steer, such as houses, barns, trees, fences, and even haystacks; by night every light placed by the government in conspicuous places, as well as the hills and their shape; he must know exactly how long to hold the boat to one light or object before changing to another. When the Mississippi river is reached a new feature presents itself in the shape of the constantly changing chanel. To work here requires more skill and greater judgment probably than all the rest of the difficulties combined. Going down, a boat may go on one side of the river; coming back it doesn't go within two miles of that place. When these things are appreciated (and they are only a small number of the things a pilots must know), then it is that the pilot gets credit for what he does.—Pittsburg Commercial-Gazette.

An Eye to Business.

Pixter—Is that the heiress who married the count last week?

Onson—Yes.

Pixter—Wait till I hand her my card. I'm the most successful divorce lawyer in the city.

"I conclude that's a fly," said a young trout.

"You are right, my dear," said its mother; "but never jump at conclusions."—Household Words.

Summer
Weakness
Is caused by thin, weak, impure blood. To have pure blood which will properly sustain your health and give nerve strength, take
Hood's
Sarsaparilla

Trunks Like Dressers.

A new trunk that is finding favor with many women who dislike the lifting of heavy trays, or the turning of the contents of a carefully packed trunk topsy-turvey in order to reach something placed in the middle or bottom of it, is constructed like a dresser, with the trays like so many drawers that can be drawn out as easily as the drawers of a well-made bureau. It has not the appearance of a piece of bedroom furniture, however, when closed, as the lid forms part of the side of the trunk, locking near the bottom. These trunks are very strong and light, being clamped with iron made of a cellulose fiber, with the woodwork a three-ply veneer. The drawers run on metal slides.

Tobacco Tattered and Torn.
Every day we meet the man with shabby clothes, sallow skin, and shambling footsteps, holding out a tobacco-palsied hand for the charity quarter. Tobacco destroys manhood and the happiness of perfect vitality. No-To-Bac is guaranteed to cure just such cases; and it's charity to make them try. Sold under guarantee to cure by Druggists everywhere. Book free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., New York City or Chicago.

Migrating Rock Crystals.

It has long been assumed that of two igneous rocks in contact that containing crystals peculiar to the other was necessarily younger than the latter. Cole, however, shows that crystals may be floated away in a pre-existing rock of a low degree of fusibility from one of a higer degree which has intruded on it. At Glasdrumman Port, County Down, Ireland, a dike or eurite is flanked on both sides by dikes of basaltic andesite, of which the andesites are unquestionably the older rocks, since the eurite on its contact with them incloses fragments torn from their sides. The eurite contains porphyritic crystals of pink orthoclase, while the andesite is normally deyoid of them. Near its contact with the former rock, however, crystals exactly like those in the eurite are occasionally found in the andesite. Crystals of quartz and feldspar have also often been floated from the eurite into the detached fragments of the andesite. The invading rock has melted the ground mass of the andesite and has left its larger crystals scattered through a matrix made up largely of molten andesite intermingled with some eurite substance.—American Naturalist.

Not Well Up on the Subject.

"Pity a poor blind man with a large family!" cried a wayside beggar.

"And how many children have you, unfortunate man?" asked a lady in great concern.

"How can I tell, madam? I can't see 'em."—The Waterbury.

Enjoyment of Nature.

He (on a small salary)—I love to listen to the singing of the birds, to the orchestra of nature.

She—Yes, it is so inexpensive.—Pick-Me-Up.

Open the Safety Valve.
When there is too big a head of steam on, or you will be in danger. Similarly, when that important safety valve of the system, the bowels, becomes obstructed, open it promptly with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and guard against the consequences of its closure. Biliousness, dyspepsia, malarial, rheumatic and kidney complaint, nervousness and neuralgia are all subjugated by this pleasant but potent conqueror of diseases.

Knocked Out.

Reporter—I suppose you realized a large sum of money on your last fight, didn't you?

Pugilist—Naw, I didn't realize nothing until I came to, a week after der scrap.—Truth.

FITS—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after the first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

A Large Racket.

Mr. Darley—What's all that racket next door? Who's crying at that rate?

Mrs. Darley—That's Mrs. Noyes's baby, little Noyes.

Mr. Darley—Little Noise? I'd like to know what you call a big noise.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth
Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

A Formidable Rival.

"Mein fraulein, I am over head and ears in love with you!"

"Really! but my cousin has told me the same thing."

"Yes, but my ears are longer than his!"—Dorfbarbier.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."
Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

Loved His Fellow Men.

Diggs—Scribulous must be a very sympathetic man.

Figgs—What makes you think so?

Diggs—He was asked to send a copy of his latest book to the hospitals, and he wouldn't do it.—Pittsburg Post-Dispatch.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Tender or Sore Feet, Chilblains, Piles, &c. C. G. Clark Co., New Haven, Ct.

On the War Path.

Spacer—Old Killbill swears he will sue for libel.

Editor—What's the matter?

Spacer—He got into the paper with an "Hon." before his name.—Pittsburg Post-Dispatch.

ALBERT BURCH, West Toledo, O., says: "Hall's Catarrh Cure saved my life." Write him for particulars. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

A Pound of Prevention.

Penologist—Our prisons and penitentiaries are a disgrace to civilization. The convicts are abused, uncared for, and poorly fed. Can you suggest a remedy?

Philanthropist—Yes; let 'em keep out of such places.—Puck.

A WOMAN'S DESK.

Keeping It in Order Need Not Be Troublesome.

A woman need not be "literary" nor a social queen to have enough writing to do to make the care of "papers" a nuisance. So, too, though she does not have a priceless mahogany desk, with Dresden and silver fittings, she can have lots of bother from the desk she has, unless she practices a trick or so in keeping it in order. It is time saved to refit penholders with fresh pens once a week. Tie one penholder and one sharpened pencil to the desk, letting the string be long enough to not interfere in the use of the other articles. This trick is the only known one that insures the presence of these necessary articles on the desk. If a woman will anchor a pair of scissors in the same way she deserves to be both wise and happy.

The fewer fittings a desk has the better. A strip of ribbon or blue denim tacked down by the ends at the back of the desk and then divided into compartments by rows of tacks, will serve nicely instead of a dozen or more movable fittings. Into narrow spaces one can tuck pencils, paper cutters, rules, sealing wax and stamps. Into a wider one goes the quire or so of note paper in use, and next to it the envelopes. Still another holds bills, another the little flat oiled paper strip into which stamps are folded, the only known way to keep them free from stickiness or loss.

For miscellaneous papers of too great bulk to be so disposed, the sort that accumulate, must not be thrown away and ought not to get mixed, but which do and will get mixed up all the time, there is one trick that will subdue them entirely. Keep a supply of little spring clothes pins that will nip securely different lots of papers according to your convenience and choice. The biggest pile of miscellaneous papers so nipped into separate bunches may be "tidied" by any strange hand and yet not get mixed, which surely is an advantage. If the bunches are numerous and further designation is necessary, a line of direction may be written on the pin. This arrangement is vastly better than the murderous mounted spikes that are in the way and look untidy.

A big square paper tacked to the writing table is far and away better than the most elaborate blotter folio. Indeed, elaborate fittings of any sort are a nuisance for any but a toy, make-believe desk, where Milady pens sweet-scented pink notes to Alphonso. Mucilage is hard to keep in order. A patent bottle, fitted with a sponge in the end and a round foot, so it must be left lying down, is perhaps the best arrangement. If only one could thing to put on the cover of the sponge, which one can't. The mucilage bottle that is entirely neat, the pencil that doesn't need sharpening and the pen that works without ink, are devices that inventors should consider at once. We need them.—Philadelphia Press.

Kind of Horses in Demand.

The Western Agriculturist says: Coach and carriage horse size, style and beauty is now the ruling market demand. We have predicted it would be for years, while we have been breeding millions of small trotters for speed. The depression developed the change so quickly that many can not realize the lost cause of the country cross roads trotter, while those who read the stock journals and farm papers of the city daily, or who visit the large cities and see the type of large harness horses with the elements of beauty in form and action, can better understand the mistakes we have made in breeding for speed alone, which now has little commercial value except for professional race-track use; while the great city markets demand the coach horse type with high knee action. The trotting horse papers have tried in vain to cry down the introduction of the coachers, just as they did the draft horse, which they predicted would soon play out. Now we can not get half enough of those despised draft horses and the coachers have to run the gauntlet of foreign competition. There are European buyers for more horses than we yet raise, and a wonderful home city demand that buys with a lavish hand to keep them from the foreign buyers that fill all our horse markets.

LAND
—IN—
MINNESOTA
Along the line of the Saint Paul and Duluth Railroad. Fertile Soil; Pure Water; Plenty of Timber; Good Markets.
Over 2,000 New Farms
Opened up last year.
The Best Place in America
for a Poor Man.
LAND ONLY $5.00 per Acre,
and from five to ten years' time in which to pay for it.
FREE Maps and descriptive circulars will be mailed to anyone applying for same to
HOPEWELL CLARKE,
Land Commissioner, St. P. & D. R. R.,
St. Paul, Minn.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR 25 CTS.
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

S. D. N. U. No. 31—1895.

Employment of Women in England.

A report to the British Board of Trade by Miss Collet on the statistics of employment of women and girls has just been issued as a parliamentary paper. It shows, among other things, that only a slight increase in the employment of women has taken place in the interval between the census of 1881 and that of 1891 the total number of women and girls returned as occupied at the former date, out of every 1000 above 10 years of age, in England and Wales, being 340.5 in 1881, as against 344.2 in 1891. The number of males returned as occupied shows a decrease of 1 per 1000. A further fact pointed out is that, notwithstanding the large number of headings of occupations in the census report—349. In all—more than four-fifths of the women and girls returned as occupied in 1891—that is, 277 out of every 1000 over the age of 10—are included under eighteen headings. A remarkable increase in the employment of children under 15 years of age is noted, but on the other hand, the statistics concerning women employed in textile and clothing trades show that in the towns most affected by married women's labor the percentage of married women employed is diminishing. There is more especially a marked diminuation in the factory districts in the proportion of married women between 20 and 25. Notwithstanding this diminution, however, in married women's labor, Miss Collet thinks that the minimum percentage is still extremely high. Blackburn, Burnley, Preston, Stockport, Rockdale and Bury occupy, it seems, an exceptionally bad position in this respect, and Miss Collet says of them: "In such towns, where nearly all the girls under 20, and half the women between 20 and 45, are engaged away from home, we may naturally look for a high infant mortality, and expectation is justified by the facts."

He Found the Hard Places.

Hackett (gloomily)—I tell you, Charlie, this is a hard, hard world.

Sackett (interestedly)—So you have bought a bicycle, have you?—Life.

KNOWLEDGE
Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

CHEAPEST POWER ON EARTH.

The Waterloo Gasoline Engines are sold on their merits, and power guaranteed. Furnished with either tube or spark igniter, or both, to suit customers. We build Portable, Stationary and Traction Engines of any H. P. required. We also build a complete Pump and Engine for fire protection. Send for circular and prices to WATERLOO GASOLINE ENGINE CO.,
Minneapolis, Minn.

PARKER'S
HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c, and $1.00 at Druggists

LOOK for our announcement in NEXT issue of this paper. It will show a cut of 1 style of
DAVIS CREAM SEPARATORS
It would take several pages to give details about these peerless machines. Handsome Illustrated Pamphlet Mailed Free. Agents Wanted
DAVIS & RANKIN BLDG. AND MFG. CO.
Sole Manufacturers, Chicago.

ARTIFICIAL LIMBS
Free Catalogue. Geo. R. Fuller, Box 2146, Rochester, N. Y.

Binder Twine
That WON'T BREAK
when it oughtn't to—the kind that over 100 carloads of is sold every year with never a complaint. That is ours.
MANILLA BINDER TWINE—
600 feet to the pound. Price per pound 5½ cents.
SISAL BINDER TWINE—
500 feet to the pound. Price per pound 4¼ cents.
Send for samples, or order without them and if the twine's imperfect we'll return your money without a word
MONTGOMERY WARD & CO.,
(THE ORIGINAL WHOLESALE GRANGE SUPPLY HOUSE.)
111 to 116 Michigan Ave. CHICAGO.

BINDING TWINE
No. 87 MANILLA Standard Mixed. 550 to 600 ft. per lb., 5½c.
THOUSANDS OF POUNDS STILL ON HAND. While we are shipping out thousands of pounds every day, we still have the Twine to keep it up. We have not advanced the price and do not expect to do so. Send in your orders. Remember these prices are on board cars, Minneapolis. We will fill telegraph orders providing you deposit the amount of the Twine with your banker or express agent, and have them telegraph us that the deposit is made subject to our order. Very economical. We recommend the No. 87 especially as made of long fiber and runs the furthest to the pound, consequently are the most economical. 550 to 600 ft. to pound, whilst the Twine often offered as 650 feet Twine.
T. M. ROBERTS' SUPPLY HOUSE, 305-310-717-719-721 Nicollet Av., Minneapolis, Minn.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 7, 1895. NUMBER 1.

AROUND THE GLOBE.

DIGEST OF THE NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

All Important Occurrences of the Past Week, Boiled Down and Arranged for Rapid Reading, From Home and Abroad.

Washington.

Secretary Hoke Smith has returned to Washington after a two weeks' trip to Georgia.

James B. Long, for whom there was recently made an application to the secretary of foreign affairs for the issuance of an exequatur permitting him to officiate as United States consul general at Chihuahua, Mex., has been refused on the score that he is persona non grata.

People in Print.

Maurice Thomson, the Indiana poet and essayist, has a pet rattlesnake.

Ex-Mayor Hugh O'Brien of Boston died at the home of his son, Rev. James J. O'Brien, at Somerville, Mass.

Hamilton F. Atchison, a member of Morgan's famous Confederate raiders, is dead in Lexington, Ky.

Dr. Talmage disappointed 7,000 people at the Havana, Ill., Chautauqua by failing to keep an engagement to speak.

Will T. Hale, the sweet singer of Tennessee, like Frank L. Stanton, is a newspaper man. He is one of the editorial staff of the Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

Walter Damrosch is busy at work in the Blaine homestead in Augusta on his new opera, "The Scarlet Letter," which is to be produced in Boston next February.

Lady Tennyson has set to music her husband's poem, "Sweet and Low." She used to sing this song to him, and as he was very fond of it she has decided to perpetuate it.

Rev. Dr. Robert Collyer, formerly of Chicago, denied the rumor that he is about to resign his pastorate of the Church of the Messiah (Unitarian) at New York.

Prof. John B. Miner died at his home in Charlotteville, Va. He was the most celebrated instructor in law in the South, and the most prominent men at the bar of the Southern states to-day are nearly all his pupils.

Joseph Gregory, one of the wealthiest lumber men in Michigan, died at his home in Gregorsville, on Torch lake. Gregory was a pioneer in the lumber business, and owned the town which bears his name. He was a victim of consumption.

James C. Pilling, a prominent Washingtonian, and well known in scientific circles throughout the country, died at Olney, Md. His death was due to locomotor ataxia, from which he had been a sufferer for many years. Mr. Philling was appointed chief clerk of the United States geological survey in 1881.

The Casualty Record.

Mrs. William Pearce and her son Franklin were drowned at Credo, W. Va.

The steamer Aurania, which was reported disabled at sea, has arrived at New York with all on board well.

J. Waters Blundon, Guy Brown and Charlie Lynch, boys between 10 and 15 years old, were run down and killed by a train near Washington, D. C.

A drunken driver let a busload of people over an embankment at Toledo. Mrs. Bingham and daughter of Sandusky, Ohio, were fatally injured.

The lugger Zenith has been burned off Baltimore, Cork county, Ireland. Nine men are missing and eighteen were rescued.

John E. Hart, a farmer living at Robinson, Ark., was killed at his home, his head being crushed with an axe. He and his wife had quarreled.

The court house in Fresno, Cal., burned. Only the hall of records was saved. The loss is estimated at $100,000, most of which is covered by insurance.

Isaac Grimes was gored by an enraged bull near Elkhart, Ind. The injuries will result in his death. He is a member of the firm of Grimes & Moran, contractors.

Jacob Mowery, a young man living four miles south of Marshall, Ill., had his arm torn completely off while feeding a threshing machine. He is in a critical condition and is not expected to recover.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bogel, aged 62, and Mrs. F. Drake, aged 22, of Brazil, Ind., were driving down a hill when the buggy upset. Mrs. Drake was fatally injured internally and Mrs. Bogel received a broken arm and several serious bruises.

The 6-year-old daughter of Mr. Blemer of Colorado Springs, while ascending the steps at the seven falls in South Cheyenne Canon, Col., fell through the railing to the bottom of the first wall, a distance of sixty-seven feet, alighting in a deep pool of water. She was rescued, but was unconscious and bleeding from numerous injuries and may die.

Sins and Sinners.

Edward Kneven of Dayton, Ohio, shot and killed Mary Schneer at Cincinnati, either from pique or sorrow.

After reading his Bible for several minutes Nathan Rockwell, of Fort Scott, Kas., cut his throat and died.

Isabel Hermandez killed Rosa Guzman in a duel at Mexico City over a man's affections.

Richard Cooley of Fairview, Ky., attempted to kill his wife while crazed because of a religious revival.

Ten prominent residents of Beaufort, N. C., are under arrest charged with trying to collect graveyard insurance.

Jealousy led Frank Wahlgreen to shoot Mrs. Augusta Anflinao, employed as a starcher in an Omaha laundry.

Andrew Boyd, at Montreal, has confessed that he conspired with firebugs to destroy his business building to get the insurance.

James Leonard, a Columbus, Ohio, grocer, shot and instantly killed William Welch, who had attacked him with a surgeon's dissecting knife.

D. K. Barrett, who accused himself of the Emanuel church murders, was released from jail at Santa Cruz, Cal., having recovered from his hallucination.

Felix Murray, who for thirteen years has handled mail on the Elkhorn road is under arrest at Omaha. He is charged with robbing the United States mail for years past.

Mrs Joseph Colvin of Jeffersonville Ind., shot three men who used insulting language to her at her residence. They were badly wounded and took to the woods. Mr. Colvin and neighbors are pursuing them.

Emma Thornton, said to be intimate with the Englishman who committed suicide in Mexico, drew a pistol, placed it to her head and fired, dying instantly. The girl is from exTus and is reported to be of excellent family.

Antonio Bennet, collector of customs at San Quentin, Cal., was shot in the head and killed by Juan Barrozo at Rosario. Policarpo and Espinefas, Justices of the peace, retaliated by killing Barozo.

John Henry Pitman, a Dubuque, Ia., farmer, aged 30 was ready to return to his old home in England, but while neighbors were hitching up the team to take him to the depot, he went up into the hayloft and hanged himself.

J. L. Benjamin, a traveling salesman, was "held up," by two men at New Buffalo, Ind., and robbed of a gold watch and $65. Benjamin threw a wallet containing $800 under the buggy seat.

At Cleveland Emma Mitdhell, a pretty mulatto girl, aged sixteen, was shot and fatally injured by James Lock, a musician, who at once turned the revolver upon himself and sent a bullet through his brain. Jealousy was the cause.

Owen Delaney, of Deshler, Ohio, went home drunk and murdered his wife, crushing her skull with a coupling pin. The crime was committed because Mrs. Delaney would not give him $500 which she received from the sale of some land.

T. H. Johnson, a blacksmith living in Aetna, Cal., finding a young man named Smith in a compromising position with his wife, shot at him, but did no injury. Johnson then stabbed his wife in the breast. She died two hours later.

While services were being conducted in a negro church near Mitchell Springs, Ala., the report of a pistol rang out and the preacher, Eli Williams, fell dead in his pulpit, a bullet having pierced his heart. The assassin is believed to have fired through a crack in the front door.

From Foreign Shores.

A riot occurred in a Hungarian town and several rioters were killed by gendarmes.

Cholera is spreading in Corea, especially in regions where battles were fought last year.

Princess Frederick, wife of the hereditary prince of Anhalt-Dessau, is dead.

Rt. Hon. A. B. Forwood, conservative member of parliament for the Ormskirk, division of Southwest Lancashire, has been made a baron.

Mrs. Paull, wife of Rev. George A. Paull, of Bloomfield, N. J., died in London. Under the name of Minnie E. Kinney, she was widely known as the author of the Prince Dimple series of children's books.

A train bearing 400 Japanese soldiers, who landed at Hiroshima on their return from the war, while en route to Kobe, ran off the rails where the line is constructed along a sea wall and plunged into the water Fourteen were drowned.

Otherwise.

The Roloff expedition, which left Florida early in June, has arrived safely in Cuba.

Owing to a war between rival companies the people of Boone, Iowa, are getting a free telephone service.

Charles R. Curzen and Miss Josie A. Neff, of Paxton, Ohio, eloped to Urbana on their bicycles.

Hundreds of dead cisco have been washed up on the beach at St. Joseph, Mich. For several miles the shore is covered with them.

The directors of the Iowa State fair have decided to make a beauty show a feature. Each county will be presented by photographs of its most beautiful women and girls

George Susanka, the St. Louis boy who disappeared suddenly June 13, has not been heard from. It is believed by his parents that he has been stolen.

The last step in the retirement of Archbishop Kenrick from the St. Louis diocese has been taken and Archbishop Kain is now in possession of the property.

James J. French, formerly warden of the Michigan City (Ind.) penitentiary, has been made warden of the United States penitentiary at Leavenworth, Ind.

The advance in the wholesale price of meat in New York has been maintained since last spring and as the butchers have been unable to advance the retail price in proportion many of them are in financial straits.

In the $25,000 libel suit of Julia Marlowe, the attorney for the Cleveland paper filed answer that the article complained of was a review and criticism and no damages has accrued to the plaintiff.

Senator James A. Bradley, at the risk of his life, jumped off the big abutment at Asbury Park bathing grounds and saved the lives of three men who had become exhausted and were drowning.

R. Gardner Chase of Boston and Charles E. Legg, of Chelsea have brought an action against the Thomson-Houston Electric company to recover $44,500 worth of bonds, which they claim the defendants obtained from them through misrepresentation.

The Carnegie nail mills at Beaver Falls, Pa., have been purchased by the Consolidated Steel and Wire company of Chicago. It is said to be the first instance known of the sale of one of the plants bearing the Pittsburg mill magnate's name.

Over 500 citizens of Italian birth assembled in Faneuil hall, Boston, for the purpose of preparing a memorial to Gov. Morton in behalf of Maria Barberi, who is condemned to death at New York for the murder of her alleged betrayer, Antonio Matama.

A RIOT IN ILLINOIS.

ITALIAN MINERS MAKE WAR UPON THE NEGROES.

Armed With Shotguns, They Make an Assault Upon the Negro Village and Wound a Number of People, Several Probably Fatally.

Spring Valley, Ill., Aug. 6. — The "Location," a patch of some hundred-odd company houses near No. 3 shaft, inhabited almost exclusively by negroes, was this morning visited by a vengeful mob of 500 white miners from this city and given a taste of mob violence. Last night near midnight five colored men held up a white man named Barney Role between this city and "Location," and, after robbing him of nearly $100 in money, fired three pistol shots into him and left him for dead. Role is the third man shot at "Location" in the past few weeks. When the white miners of this city this morning heard of the outrage they marched in a body to "Location." By the time the mob arrived most of the negroes, having been notified of the wrath of the whites, had fled to the woods. About a dozen were caught and treated to most violent kicks; stones were hurled at them and shots fired. Two were shot, but not seriously hurt. The boarding house for colored men at No. 3 was then attacked. All the inmates fled for their lives. The mob ransacked the houses, breaking furniture and commiting other depredations. By noon every negro had fled the city. All day a gang of men with pistols and shotguns scoured the woods hunting for negroes to shoot. No more trouble is anticipated unless the negroes attempt to come back.

Later investigation shows that there were more negroes seriously hurt than at first reported. Those most seriously injured are:

Granville Lewis, aged 45, shot in the head, clubbed with rifles; will die. Clem L. Martin, 32, shot in back of head with rifle ball and thirty buckshot in back and shoulders; may die. Norman Bird, 38, shot in neck and head, also badly bruised by kicks and internal injuries received. Mrs. Bird, 31, wife of above, shot in right cheek and arm, also trampled upon; will die. Maria Bird, 14, daughter of above, shot in breast; wound may prove fatal. William Lee, 34, kicked and tramped upon. Jube Sterritt, 47, trampled upon, face lacerated, and injured internally; also badly cut by barbed wire fence in attempting to escape from the mob. Oscar Prim, Silas Burden, Jude Stuart, James Kelley, Will Beck, all badly cut and bruised. Frank Turner, 28, shot twice in the back of the head and struck in back and shoulders with about forty buckshot. Frank Burner, head badly bruised; body also trampled upon and internal injuries received.

Women Ordered to Leave.

The rioters are all Italian miners. There has been bad blood between them and the negroes ever since the latter were imported here, and it is asserted that they have been waiting a good excuse to drive them out. This was furnished by the shooting of last night. Upon reaching the negro village the members of the mob acted as so many fiends. Men were dragged out of their homes, and the women pushed about, slapped and abused. The Italians poured through the village firing guns and beating the negroes right and left. As each house was reached the rioters smashed the windows, and where doors were locked they broke them down. The interiors were ransacked, the women insulted and the men dragged forth, clubbed and shot.

That there was not a large number of immediate fatalities was no fault of the rioters, as they used every endeavor in their power to kill the men outright. One reason that many negroes escaped was that the weapons of the rioters were mostly old rusty guns that had not been used for many years, and in addition, the men were not skilled in the use of them.

Over forty houses were occupied by the colored people, and in these were two invalid men who could not be moved. The rioters served notice on the women and children who had not been driven out that they would be given to-day to leave town forever, and if they were not gone they would be shot down in their tracks. Consequently the women have been placing all that is left of their household goods and fleeing over the hills in all directions. Large numbers have started out in the direction of Toluca and others have taken refuge at Seatonville.

The injured men, many of whom are lying at the point of death, are sheltered in barns and under trees.

The Royal Baking Powder, as every cook knows, is always to be relied upon. It is one of the greatest aids she has. She is always able with the least trouble to make the very finest biscuits, cakes, muffins, and crusts. Many a cook's reputation has been made by the delicious things she has been able to make with it.

Supposed to Be Drowned.

St. Paul, Aug. 6.—Early this morning a crew of men will begin dragging Forest lake, twenty-eight miles from St. Paul on the Duluth road, for the body of Joseph V. Wheeler, of 685 Carroll street, the assistant bookkeeper at Field, Mahler & Co.'s store. It is supposed that he was drowned Saturday night. Between 8 and 9 o'clock yesterday morning a boat containing all of his clothing was found on the shore near ex-Gov. Merriam's farm.

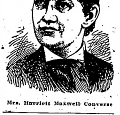
Rioters Killed.

Teheran, Aug. 6. — The scarcity of bread and the closure of the bazaars to prevent disorders, has led to serious rioting in Tabrees. The troops dispersed the rioters, twenty of whom were killed. The mob carried the corpses to the Russian consulate and demanded protection against the soldiers. The consul hereupon visited the governor, who promised a reduction in the price of bread. Nothing has yet been done in the matter, and the troops were still firing on the mob when this dispatch was sent.

ADVISER OF INDIANS.

Mrs. Harriet Maxwell Converse a Friend of the Red Man.

New York, Aug. 6.—As a chief, custodian and adviser of the Six Nations of Indians, Mrs. Harriett Maxwell Convers, a cultured white woman, prominent in New York society, is a person of interest. For three generations her family has been accepted as the guardian and true friend of the American Indian. Mrs.



Mrs. Harriett Maxwell Converse

Converse is a loyal chief, and for her faithful work in protecting their original landed interests and territorial boundaries was given the title Chief Ya-le-wa-noh (she watches us.) She is a graceful, versatile writer of prose and poetry, and a book of poems which she published entitled "Sheaves," attracted the attention of Longfellow and Whittier, who personally wrote her letters of praise. She has traveled extensively in both continents, belongs to several women's clubs, and believes thoroughly in woman's power and advancement.

The statistics show that there is used in the manufacture of the Royal Baking Powder more than half of all the cream of tartar consumed in the United States for all purposes. The wonderful sale thus indicated for the Royal Baking Powder—greater than that of all other baking powders combined—is perhaps the highest evidence of the superiority of this article, and of its indispensableness to modern cookery.

BOGUS BISHOP.

Impostor Unearthed by Catholic Prelates in Oregon.

Portland, Or., Aug. 6.—Father Orth, pastor of St. Lawrence Roman Catholic church, since Wednesday last has been entertaining a man who represented himself as the Rt. Rev. Gulston Ropert, bishop of the diocese of Hawaii. The alleged bishop is a white-haired man of sixty, and when he appeared at the priestly residence wore the purple of a bishop, the episcopal ring and the pastorial cross. Friday he celebrated mass as St. Lawrence church, and to-day was to have lunched with Archbishop Gross. The stranger's failure to call upon his grace, the head of the church in Portland, aroused Father Orth's suspipions. To-day, however, the delayed call was made. The archbishop did not like his visitor's looks, neither did Father Orth his actions. The latter's suspicions were partially confirmed when he found the page containing the picture of the bishop of Hawaii torn from his Catholic directory.

Four years ago an imposter appeared at one of the local convents, and the priest attached thereto was invited to meet the new-comer at the archepiscopal lunch. When the alleged Hawaiian prelate caught sight of the priest entering the house he darted out of another door. Father Orth followed. They caught him ust as he boarded a street car.

"You are an imposter!" shouted Father Orth.

"You are a liar!" replied the quondam bishop.

They followed him into the car and warned him that he would better leave the city and forever lay aside the priestly garb he wore. This was promised. To hasten his exit from Portland the St. Lawrence pastor offered him money, but this he declined. Through Eastern Oregon the alleged bishop has collected large sums for the leprosy hospital in Hawaii, and was evidently well heeled.

HARRISON SPEAKS.

Says the Republicans Will Have a Long Lease of Power.

Watertown, N. Y., Aug. 6. — Ex-President Harrison was interviewed at Old Forge. He declined to discuss politics further than to say: "You will see that when the Republican party comes into power again it will be a long time in power. That era will begin when the people are heard from again. The Republicans have learned a lesson, and they will attend the caucus hereafter. More earnest and hard work will be performed, and consequently success is practically assured."

When the reporter suggested that Gen. Harrison might be the nominee for the presidency, the ex-president said: "Thank you, but I don't believe I am the man."

Murdered at a Church.

Baton Rouge, La., Aug. 6. — Last night at Gideon church, where a protracted meeting is being held, in which Henry and Albert O'Neil, sons of William O'Neil, aged respectively 23 and 21 years, were killed by Bill Pacou and party.

For American Pilgrims.

Rome, Aug. 6.—The pope said mass at 8 o'clock this morning in the hall of the consistory in the presence of the American pilgrims who are here, a deputation of the Passionist Fathers of America and about 200 American tourists.

Suspected of Murder.

Philadelphia, Aug. 6.—Jennie Jones, aged forty, was drowned in the Delaware river last night, and Barney Hayes is under arrest on suspicion of having thrown her overboard.

HOT FUN IN OMAHA.

THE POLICE TROUBLE IS NEARING THE CRISIS.

New Police Commissioners Are Appointed, Their Bonds Are Approved Regardless of an Injunction, and a Police Force Is Appointed.

Omaha, Aug. 4.—Three police commissioners, acting under the A. P. A. police law, are doing business in Omaha, regardless of the fact that the district court restrained the city council from approving their bonds. The oath-bound organization in the council has a working majority and the court's order was ignored. As a result, a citizens' volunteer armed guard is on duty at the police stations to maintain peace and assist the regular force in holding possession of the city property. Messrs. Broatch, Vandervoort and Foster were given their certificates as police commissioners at noon by the attorney general and commissioner of public lands and buildings. The governor refused to sit with them, and warned them that their course was illegal. The council held a special session to approve the bonds, but they were met with an injunction returnable to-morrow from the district court. The order was ignored with a hurrah, and the police commissioners appointed a full police force. They will make no effort to get possession of the city property before morning, when trouble will occur. At an early hour to-morrow the district court will take up the matter of the council proceedings in contempt and will probably annul its work. There is much inflammatory talk, and several companies of militia in different parts of the state have been notified to be in readiness to move to Omaha in the event of trouble. Gov. Holcomb is prepared to maintain the law, and is using all means in his power to conserve peace and have the whole squabble carried to the supreme court. When asked what action he proposed to take in the matter in case of an attempt to take formal possession of the department of police, he said that he would see that there was no rioting, and that the laws would be enforced. He did not anticipate any violence, but would be prepared to deal with any cases of lawlessness that might come up.

RAILWAY MAIL FRAUDS.

The Government Will Doubtless Make an Investigation.

San Francisco, Aug. 4.—The Chronicle publishes an article in regard to alleged frauds in the railway mail service off the Pacific coast, which, it says, promises to lead to one of the most far-reaching federal investigations ever held here. It is alleged by Railway Postal Clerk E. S. Colver and others that the United States mails were fraudulently stuffed with the advice and consent of Supt. Samuel Flint, of the Eighth division of the railway mail service, during the month of June, 1894, in order that the weight carried during that month, which formed the basis for estimating compensation to be paid the railroads for the next four years, might appear unduly large. Railway postal clerks of long experience say there are great opportunities for stuffing cars in such a way as to rob the government of millions each year.

TOO MUCH RELIGION.

New Ground for Divorce Taken Cognizance of in South Dakota.

Sioux City, Aug. 4.—A new ground has been discovered upon which divorce may be granted in South Dakota. Dr. L. C. Smith of Armour has just secured a decree on his representation that his wife, Nellie M. Smith, is a Seventh Day Adventist, and that ever since their marriage she has made life a burden by her efforts to convert him. She has even gone so far on some occasions, the doctor averred, as to wake him up in the middle of the night to deliver sermons. In addition to this, he remarks, incidentally, that she is of a very jealous disposition. The combination was more than the doctor could stand, and the aid of the South Dakota divorce courts was invoked. Mrs. Smith is living at present at Battle Creek, Mich.

OLLIE HAS NO HOBBY.

Judge Gildersleeve Gives the Champion's Wife a Divorce.

New York, Aug. 4. — Judge Gildersleeve to-day approved the referee's finding in the Corbett divorce case. This gives Mrs. Corbett an absolute decree, with the right to resume her maiden name, Ollie Lake. She is to receive $5,200 a year alimony, payable semi-annually. She may marry again, but Corbett is forbidden to do so during the life of his wife.

Still Fighting.

Havana, Aug. 4.—A skirmish between the troops and the insurgents has taken place near Colon, in the Matanzas district. The insurgents numbered fifty men, and after a short exchange of shots they were dispersed into small groups, leaving two killed upon the field. The troops also captured two prisoners and a quantity of provisions. The insurgents, on July 25, made an attack upon Yara. Its garrison of twenty men made a gallant defense and the insurgents at night retired with their dead and wounded.

Receiver Appointed.

Washington, Aug. 4.—The controller of the currency to-day appointed W. S. Nelson receiver of the Union National Bank of Denver.

Nellie Will Recover.

Cincinnati, Aug. 4.—Two weeks ago Nellie Thomas was received at the Cincinnati hospital and fifty needles and pins were extracted from her limbs. She had been doing penance by imbedding needles in her limbs. The girl's hallucinations are also gone. To-day, for the first time, she was able to be up and walk, and the physicians say she will recover.

The Kentucky Lumber company's mills at Williamsburg burned to-day. Loss, $50,000; insurance, $25,000.

[illegible]

Confirmation of the Reports of a Massacre in China.

Washington, Aug. 6.—The state department has received a cablegram from United States Consul Jernigan at Shanghai, stating that one American female missionary was wounded and four British female missionaries killed at the mission of Ku Cheng. No further details are given, and the place described is believed to be in the province of Hupe, far up on the banks of the Yang Tse river, beyond the reach of men-of-war, and about 400 miles north of Cheng Tu, where the last missionary riots occurred. The state department will take steps in the matter at once.

New York, Aug. 6.—Corresponding Secretary A. B. Leonard, of the Methodist board of missions, who has spent considerable time in China, said to-day: "In view of the fact that we have received no cablegram from China we can only hope for the present that our people are safe and well. Miss Hartford is a resident of Dover, N. H., and has spent several years as a missionary in China. She was some time ago put in charge of the women's work at Ku Cheng. Miss Rouse, her assistant, came from Lakefield, Minn."

Washington, Aug. 6.—The state department to-day received later intelligence of the killing of the missionaries in China. The dispatch, like the one received yesterday, was from Consul General Jernigan, and shows that no Americans suffered, but that the massacre of British subjects was greater than at first reported. The consul general's dispatch is as follows: "Americans all safe. None hurt. The British killed."

London, Aug. 6. — A Shanghai dispatch to the Times says that the mission and sanitarium at Wha Sang, near Ku Cheng, Province of Fokein, has been attacked and ten British subjects killed. Miss Hartwell (Hartford) was fearfully injured, and bears evidence of the fearful treatment and cruelty she received at the hands of the mob. Several English and American children have been killed.

There is no baking powder which produces such sweet and tasteful food as the Royal Baking Powder.

DEAD ANARCHIST.

Sudden Retribution for a Would-Be Assassin.

Donal, France, Aug. 6.—During the fetes in the mining district of Aniche to celebrate the jubilee of M. Vuillemin, manager of the Anyiche Colliery company, an anarchist named De Coux, in the crowd, fired five revolver shots at M. Vuillemin while he was leaving the church. Three of them took effect, though the wounds inflicted were not serious. Directly afterward a tremendous explosion was heard and De Coux's body was hurled several yards, while ten of the bystanders were thrown to the floor, injured by the explosion. De Coux's father rushed upon the prostrate body of his son and kicked him, exclaiming: "Canaille, assassin." De Coux had been carrying a bomb beneath his coat which was prematurely exploded. De Coux was disemboweled and terribly mutilated and expired immediately. He was dismissed from the colliery after the strike in 1893.

THE BANNOCKS.

Again We Are Assured That Everything Is Quiet.

Washington, Aug. 6.—The following dispatch was received at the war department to-day from Gen. Coppinger's headquarters at Omaha:

"All quiet at Jackson's Hole. Two scouting parties were sent out yesterday, one to the country northeast, about Buffalo Forks, and one to the southwest to Hoback river. One company of Bisby's battalion, Eighth infantry, has been sent to Swan river for the protection of citizens. The acting Indian agent at Fort Hall reservation reported 164 Indians were camped four miles east of Soda Springs, and 200 at the outlet of Gray's lake, in Idaho. They all claimed to be on their way back to the reservations. Acting agent says that the trouble is now about over."

Market Lake, Idaho, Aug. 6. — Indian Agent Teter, of the Fort Hall agency, has sent the following telegram to the commissioner of Indian affairs. "I have returned from Jackson's Hole. Everything is quiet there. I recommend that you request the department of justice to investigate the killing of peaceable Indians by lawless settlers in Uintah county, with a view to prosecuting the guilty parties."

Two Aeronauts, a Man and a Woman, Fatally Injured.

Jackson, Mich., Aug. 6.—Two aeronauts were fatally injured in a balloon accident which occurred at Vandercook's lake, a resort four miles south of Jackson, early last evening. The balloon used was one of the largest of the hot air variety, with double trapeze bars. Ella Peake, a trapeze performer took the upper bar and Charles Elliott the lower. At the moment the retaining ropes were cast off a gust of wind caught the canvas and careened it to one side, and it took fire. The monster shot into the air some distance with both of the horrified aeronauts on the trapeze. Then it collapsed and came crashing down. Miss Peake is a large woman and fell heavily, breaking both legs, besides suffering internal injuries. Elliott struck on his shoulders and is badly crushed. His injuries are said to be fatal.

For the Bulgarian Throne.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Aug. 6.—The organ of the Russian sympathizers here suggests that in view of the possible abdication of Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria, Prince George of Greece may be invited to the throne.

Lost a Day.

New York, Aug. 6.—The French line steamship La Touraine, from Havre, came into port this morning, twenty-four hours behind her usual time, owing to a mishap to her machinery during the voyage.

RESEAT THE QUEEN.

ANOTHER HAWAIIAN FILIBUSTERING SCHEME GIVEN AWAY.

A Young Connecticut Man, Backed by Rudolph Spreckles, Engages Men to Go to Hawaii and Overthrow the Dale Government.

San Francisco, Aug. 6.—The Chronicle prints a story exposing an alleged plot to restore Queen Liliuokalani and loot Hawaii. Rudolph Spreckles, youngest son of Claus Spreckles, is said to be backing the scheme. The Chronicle says: One of the best contested and most dangerous filibustering expeditions ever fitted out on American soil was uncovered in San Francisco yesterday. Its object is, or was, to take Hawaii by force of arms, restore to the throne ex-Queen Liliuokalani and divide the republic's lands, money and goods, worth approximately $27,000,000, among some 200 freebooters picked up by ones and twos in Western America.

The active agent of the conspirators is W. P. Morrow, a native of Connecticut, aged thirty-one, and, he says, recently a resident of Grass Valley, Cal. He is still in San Francisco under surveillance, so that the federal authorities can get him if they desire to do so. The headquarters of the filibustering expedition has been at 714 Bust street, a dingy flat-fronted boarding house. There the agent of the conspirators has been receiving daily and nightly a motly crowd of men who respond to his cautiously worded advertisements published in the city and elsewhere. Morrow admitted last night when he was forced into a corner and told that the game was up, that he had been engaging men to go to Hawaii and overturn the republic.

THE MARKETS.

Latest Quotations From Grain and Live Stock Centers.

Chicago, Aug. 6. — Wheat — No. 2 spring, 69 7-8c; No. 3 spring, 65c; No. 2 red, 67 3-8c. Corn—No. 2, 42c; No. 3 yellow, 42c. Oats—No. 2, 21 1-4c; No. 2 white, 25a26 3-4c; No. 3 white, 21a24c. Rye—No. 2, 44c. Barley—No. 2 nominal; No. 3, 38c; No. 4 nominal.

Minneapolis, Aug. 6.—Wheat — August closed at 66c; September opened at 64 7-8c and closed at 64c; December opened at 66 1-2c and closed at 65 1-2c. On track—No. 1 hard, 67 1-2c; No. 1 Northern, 66 3-4c; No. 2 Northern, 65 3-4c.

Milwaukee, Aug. 6. — Flour steady. Wheat easier; No. 2 spring, 68c; No. 1 Northern, 72c. Oats dull and weak; No. 2 white, 26c. Corn weak; No. 3, 42 1-2c. Barley nominal; No. 2, 67 3-8c. Rye lower and quiet; No. 1, 47c. Provisions lower; pork, $9.55; lard, $6.

Chicago, Aug. 6. — Hogs — Market strong to a shade higher; light, $4.70a5.25; mixed, $4.55a4.95; heavy, $4.30a4.90; rough, $4.30a4.50. Cattle — Market steady; Texas steers, $2.90a$4.50; bulk, $3.50a3.75.

St. Paul, Aug. 6.—Hogs in good demand at $4.25a4.55. Cattle—Good demand for all grades; fat cattle and yearlings wanted.

For thirty years the Royal has been the standard for purity and strength in baking powders, and has been placed at the head of every board of official examiners, whether State or National.

THE GRAVING DOCK.

Formally Opened by the Prince and Princess of Wales.

Southampton, Aug. 6.—The prince and princess of Wales and the duke of York arrived here to-day and formally opened the new Graving dock, said to be the largest in the world, and to be able to accommodate the largest ship afloat. Its capacity is over 73,000 tons and its maximum depth thirty-five feet. Its width is 874-2 feet and the pumping engines for emptying it are the most powerful known. The guaranteed time for emptying the dock is two hours and fifteen minutes, which necessitates delivering 540 tons of water per minute.

Although the new dock is open it is not yet ready for use, as one of the big pumps is damaged and must be repaired before a big vessel can be accommodated. It was originally intended to dock the New York of the American line, to-day, but the damage to the discharge pump has necessitated sending the New York to Tilbury, opposite Gravesend.

HONORS FOR LAWLER.

Grand Army Men Tender Him a Reception at Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Aug. 6. — Gen. Thomas G. Lawler, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., and members of his staff, arrived from Chicago this morning and were escorted from the depot to the Grand hotel by the Sons of Veterans. Later Gen. Lawler and Gen. W. E. Bundy, commander-in-chief of the Sons of Veterans, and staff, went to Hamilton to attend the outing of the Sons of Veterans at Woodsdale Park to-day. To-morrow Ohio and Kentucky posts entertain Gen. Lawler at the Zoo. Then he goes to Louisville to confer with the general council on the arrangements of the national encampment. To-night general Lawler and Gen. Bundy will be tendered a public reception at the Odd Fellows' auditorium.

Correspondent Expelled.

Paris, Aug. 6.—A correspondent of the Gaulois has been arrested and expelled from Alsace.

Broke Out of Jail.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 6.—To-day at Huntington, five prisoners escaped from the county jail, and one of them, R. F. E. Truslow, a celebrated bank robber who is under sentence of three years in the penitentiary, pending an appeal. Assistance was given from the outside during the absence of the jailor.

Kaiser Cheered.

Berlin, Aug. 6. — Emperor William was heartily cheered on his short visit to Heligoland to-day.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arriv Crookston Daily
St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.0a. m.	7:05 am
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	7.25 a.m.	7:10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston ly has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or full information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. at Crookston Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marsha

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for in or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE
W. A. Sorsoleil

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS
COPYRIGHTS.

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free.

Building Edition, monthly, $2.50 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY.

BREVITIES.

Go to Johnson & Marshall's for lime cement, etc.

Mr. O. H, Wiste returned home last Friday.

Sash and doors cheap for cash at Johnson & Marshall's.

Mike Burns of Thief River Falls was in town to.day on business,

---

Sheriff Steenerson of Crookston is in town to-day on business.

Joe Paradis of Red Lake Fall was seen on our streets last Saturday

---

A. C. Schmidt. of Crookston is in town this week on business,

---

Tom Wylie of Thief River Falls was in town last Monday on business

---

Bert Walker of Hillsborough was in town on business last Thursday.

Martin Sorum of Thief River Falls was in town between trains to-day

---

James Meehan Jr of Thief River Falls is in town on business to-day.

Mrs, King of Crookston was visiting friends in the village last Thursday

---

Mr. and Mrs, Kratka of Thief River Falls drove through town last Friday

---

D. Patterson and W. A, Sorsoleil drove to Clearwater River last Sunday.

E J Holmes left on to-days train for a short visit to his family in Cannon Falls

---

Mrs. K. Jorstad of Thief River Falls is visiting friends in the village this week

---

L.T Bergh is looking after McCormick collections in this vicinity this week,

---

Otto Wallin of Thief River Falls was in the village visiting friends last Sunday,

---

Frank Gravel of Crookston was in town last Monday taking orders for groceries

---

Mr, and Mrs. Meehan of Thief River Falls visited with Agent Freeman last Monday,

---

M' E, Bjerk is having his saloon papered this week by A. C. Schmidt of Crookston.

Several of the boys of town took in the sights at Thief River Falls last Sunday evening.

L. D. Marshall came up on last Monday,s train to look after his business interests here

---

Our Farmers are busy preparing for harvest which will commence in about a week.

Miss Mary Kvaale returned home to-day from Audobon where she has been visiting her sister.

Hon. Marcus Johnson of St. Paul was in town to-day looking over his business interests here.

Rev Norsen of Minneapolis held services here in the Norwegian Lutheran Church last Sunday evening.

Stone Wanted
$4.00 per cord paid for stone delivered at the St. Hilaire dam,

---

E. M Hoff. S. M, Hoff, Fritz Eikhoff and Peter Paradis drove down to Red Lake Falls Last Thursday on business

---

Thos. Taylor of the firm of Nicholls and Taylor, commision merchants of Minneapolis was in town to-day interviewing our wheat buyers.

The Weather has been perfect the past two weeks and if it will continue a few days more the largest crop raised in this vicinity for years will be safe in stacks or graneries. Barley is already being cut and the wheat will be ready for the binder this week on the sandridges and a few days later on the low lands.

A team driven by Dennis LeSarge of of Thief River Falls indulged in a lively runaway to-day here, After running about a block one of the horses got its leg caught in the tongue and was thrown to the ground. The front wheels and the tongue of the carriage had to be taken of before the animals could be extricated, Nothing was damaged and the horse escaped with only slight soratch.

A dance will be given in Hoff,s Hall to-morrow evening. Good music has been engaged and a pleasant time is assured Come one and all and have a good time.

Elevator and grain men generally throughout the country freely advance the opinion that the market for barley is likely to be poor this year, especially during the early fall. Until some time in September there will be no demand whatever, since the browers will not buy until the grain has been thoroughly cured. Stack cured barley will bring the top price.—Ex.

Word reached us that last Monday night about 11 o clock a half breed by name of John Gwa was drowned in the Thief River near where it empties into the Red Lake River He started with a number of boys to see an indian dance which was held on the reservation that evening and it is claimed that he attempted to swim across the river to get a boat in which to take the others over but became exhausted and sank before reaching shore. The body was recovered about three hours later

---

It is too much to expert that all the farmers will ever get out of debt. Farm property must necessarily change hands once in a while and debts are created. But as a class they should be out of debt. If one needs money some neighbor ought to be able to supply it. When the farmers in the Red River Valley get that far (and if they could get a fair share of the proceeds of their labor it would not take long) there will be greater prosperity, The amount of money sent east every year for interest charges is something enormous and we get nothing in return.—Norman County Herald,

---

Last Monday afternoon while the children of B Anderson and R. Sorenson' two farmers living a short distance north of Thief River Falls were playing in a granary the seven year old daughter of Mr. Anderson was accidently shot by a son of Mr.. Sorensons. The boy was in the loft of the granary and there found an old shot gun and while playing with it he in some way discharged it. The charge striking the little girl who was almost directly beneath him in the face chest and lower limbs. Dr, Grundy was called to dress the wounds and reports the patient doing nicely

---

Miss Tillie Labree, whom it will be remembered eloped some months ago with E E Serriene, of Thief River Falls has been heard from' Her sins soon found her out and she has already been made to pay dearly for her misdoings. A letter just received from her by a lady at Thief River Falls tells the whole of the sorrowful story. After they had left St. Paul they started West and traveled by easy stages for several weeks. Then she noticed that Serriene, who had deserted his wife to fly with her, commenced to act tired of her, She knew the character of the man to well to trust him very far, and she had little doubt that he would desert her as soon as he got a good opportunity, She was right as the sequel shows. They were in a town in California and Serriene suggested one evening that they attend a theatre. She assented and they accordingly went. At the end of the first act Serreine went out and failed to return. Miss LaBree made a search of the town for him but he had disappeared and she has seen or heard nothing from him since. When she became satisfied that he had deserted her she turned back and had just money enough to pay her fare to Wisconsin where she is now stopping with friends —Crookston Times.

Regular meeting of the village council Monday Aug, 5th A. D. 1895.

All members present except Dainard

Meeting called to order by Recorder.

On motion D. Patterson was appointed president protem

On motion meeting adjourned until Tuesday evening Aug. 6th 1895 at 8 o'clock p. m.

D. Patterson, President pro tem
J. L. Johnson, Recorder

Special meeting of the village council Tuesday, Aug. 6th 1895.

All members present.

Meeting called to order by President Dainard,

Minutes of previous regular meeting read and approved

On motion the following bills were allowed

S. Harris	street work	$9.00
"	service as dog inspector	5.00
Peter Hall	justice fees	.80
J. L, Johnson	service as per bill	18.45
W. A. Sorsoleil	lumber	3,40
S. M, Dainard	service as per bill	6,50

On motion the bill of the Crookston Times was returned for correction.

On motion an ordinance was passed restraining stock and the same ordered published in the St Hilaire Spectator for three successive weeks,

On motion meeting adjourned,

S. M, Dainard, Village President.

Attest J. L, Johnson, Recorder.

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred and eighty seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary Richard and Charles Richard her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 29th day of November 1889, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 9th day of December 1889 at 1 o'clock p. m., in book 43 of mortgages, on page 155, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz:

The North west quarter of Section thirty two in Township one hundred and fifty one of Range forty three in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 17th day of August 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure; and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law

Dated June 17th A. D 1895.

Security Trust Co., of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.

R. J. Montague, Crookston Minn attorney.

WANTED—Salesmen,

LOCAL AND TRAVELING. A good chance! Don't miss it! You need no capital to represent a reliable firm that warrants nursery stock first class and true to name, WORK ALL THE YEAR: and good pay weekly. Our famous Minnetonka Apple is warranted until it produces a bushel of fruit Our seed potatoes sell everywhere. State age L. L. MAY & Co.

NURSERYMEN FLORISTS AND SEEDSMEN. St. Paul Minn

Notice of Sale

I will offer for sale at public auction on Saturday July 13th 1895 at James Madden,s farm in Section 21 Tp 152 R 41. One bay mare about six years old which was taken up astray May 15th

Tom Madden

Are You Going East?

If so and you wish to avoid heat dust, and worriment of an all rail route and at the same time secure those genuine pleasures of traveling, comfort rest, pleasant companionship, exhileration sleep and good food, relishing appetite and every luxury one can ask for try the lake route from Duluth to Buffalo on one of those floating palaces of the Northern Steamship Company "North West" or "North Land?

They are the largest, fastest and best equipped steamers on fresh water anywhere, and the equal of the finest ocean grey—hounds. — Leader Montevideo, Minn.

Good News to farmers.

W. A. Sorsoleil will give you 50 pounds of good flour for a bushel of wheat, at Johnson & Marshall's ware house,

---

The passenger Steamer Alice Meehan leaves Thief Liver Falls every Monday and Friday for points on Red Lake Special rates given to excursion parties

For further information apply to Jas. Meehan Jr. Thief River Falls,

---

For Sale

Hay Stumpage on NW ¼ Sec 2 Tp, 152—44. Address.

P, S. Ware Thief River Falls

In another column will be found the advertisement of L. L. May & Co, nurserymen and florists. This is a reliable firm who pay their agents good wages and handle none but the very best goods,

---

U. S. Land Office
Crookston Minn. April 24 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and has said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn., on June 7 1895, viz:

John Kron, father of Alfred Kron deceased, HD no. 12986 for the NE ¼ Sec. 32 Tp 153 R 45.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land viz:

Adolph Nelsen, L. G. Dalin, Per Person Sam Person all of Bray p. o. Polk Co. Minn,

T. A. Dunlavy, Register,

Dr H. GRUNDY

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis

DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS AND CIGARS.
Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.

Broadway St. Hilaire

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY.

The NEW and the RIGHT WAY
EAST and WEST
TO ALL PACIFIC COAST POINTS AND TRANSPACIFIC PORTS.

TIME CARD.
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily.			Daily
NO. 3 North and West			NO 2 South and East
7 45 p m	Depart	St. Paul	Arrives 7 15 am
8 15 p m	"	Minneapolis	6 45 am
3 05 a m		Barnesville	11 15 am
5 35 am	Ar	Crookston	De 8 35 pm.

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH
MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

9 00 am	De	Crookston	Ar 6 00 pm
11 00 am	Ar	St. Hilaire	De 4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.01 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1 20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.01 pm Close connections made at Minneapolis and St. Paul for all points East and South.

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY, G. P. & T. A. St. Paul
H. J. FREEMAN, Agt. St. Hilaire

NORTHERN STEAMSHIP COMPANY,

The magnificent steamships "North Wes." and "North Land" leave Duluth Mondays and Fridays for the "Soo" Mackinac island, Detroit Cleveland and Buffalo, running in connection with Great Northern trains, (Eastern Railway of Minnesota) St. Paul and Minneapolis. Round trip tickets include the lake route either going or returning on sale by Great Northern Agents

No one should go East and back without using the delightful lake route one way at least For printed matter and information about the steamship tour apply to any agent of the Great Northern.

LANDS

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from

$2.00 to $6.00

PER ACRE.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP,
Lot 3 of 10	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 23	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	6.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.00
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	6.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	2.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE OE of 31	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 4.70
NE of SE 10	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.00 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
6 " 34	3.00 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.00
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 23	8.00 to 6.00

I will sell the hay on the above described lands for the season of 1895 at reasonable prices. All persons are hereby warned not to cut hay on any of these lands without first making contract for same. For further information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

Impetuous People

are sometimes figuratively spoken of as not above setting things on fire just for the fun of

Seeing Them Burn

Close competition breeds impetuosity, and in our earnest pushing for trade it often happens that we mark goods away down just for the fun of

Seeing Them Sell

Somebody has exclaimed: "Oh, the impetuosity of the idiocy of the tumultuous idiot!" This remark will never apply to you if in your rush for bargains you get into the right store, which of course is ours.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!

Great Bargain Sale of FARM MACHINERY

AT

J. E. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mowe at $10 each and a full line of walking and breaking plow which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise.

PTERODACTYL

We print a likeness of the skeleton of this remarkable paleontological reptile because some of its physical characteristics are synonymous with our business methods. Perhaps the most striking similarity may be found in its

Little Finger and our Big Bargains

Its little finger is very large: and so are our bargains. The paradox of a little finger being big may be likened to the paradoxical inducements we offer you.

Profits and Hind Feet Small

Its hind feet are out of all proportion to its fore feet, just as our profit is overshadowed by the buyer's. Its large head represents the size of our stock. The many years that have elapsed since the time when this creature flourished will hint at the wearing quality of our goods.

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. E. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

Advance, $1.50.

Not In Advance, $2.00 Per Year

Entered at St. Hilaire as Second Class Mail Matter.

WEDNESDAY August 6 1895

BEST FLOOR TO LIVE ON.

The Second Said to Be the One Most Favorable to Health.

M. Korosi, the Hungarian hygienist, has lately investigated the effects of living in cellars, ground floors and upper floors upon the duration of life. He found that the dwellers of cellars lived to about 39 years and 11 months, those on the ground floor to 43 years and 3 months, those on the first and second floors lived to 44 years and 2 months, while those on the third and fourth floors lived only to 42 years.

All things being otherwise equal, the observations of M. Korosi may be accepted as showing the different effects upon longevity by the differently selected planes of residence. The air of cellars or basements is never healthy, nor can such localities be ventilated except at considerable expense. This also implies ground air and ground moisture contaminations arising from the inability to remove the additional contamination coming from the animal exhalations of the persons living there, along with the heavier ground air from the street and yard that of necessity pours down into such spaces. Those living on the first and second floors seem to enjoy the longest lease of life, this, as might be expected, from the greater freedom that the air of those floors enjoys from foul gases, microbes and germs, animal emanations and from street dust. Much here depends, however, upon the character of the stairs. A steep, hard stairs tends to shorten the duration of life, while an easy, low step stairs, broken by easy landings at every eight or ten steps, will lengthen its duration. The spiral stairs, winding screwlike up in a narrow cylindrical space, are life shorteners. These stairs save space and destroy life and are quite common in many parts of Europe, and where one has to climb them to the third floor the exertion is slowly but surely telling. The effects of stair climbing are visible in the two years less life enjoyed by the inhabitants of the upper floors.

These observations tally with those of Strassmann of Berlin, with the exception that in Berlin the basements give less mortality than the immediate street floor, which speaks well for the humanity of the Berlin microbe. In Berlin the basements are occupied by a well to do class, whereas in Budapest, the point observed by M. Korosi, the basements are occupied by the very poorest. We should not neglect to observe that those who can afford a first or second floor flat are those who, as a rule, are better clothed, better fed and capable of surrounding themselves with better hygienic conditions than the poorer of either the basements or of the upper floors.

The dwellers of the first two floors are, besides, persons better off in the world and not as likely to suffer any physical ill effects due to occupation as their less fortunate fellow mortals on the other floors, although we cannot overlook the fact that these better favored ones probably do more worrying, and that they are apt to suffer more from diseases of the kidneys and of the circulatory system that arise from worry and anxiety. These favored ones would also be more likely to fall victims to acute brain or nervous affections than the others. So that were we to people the first and second floors with the less worrying and less perplexed but poorer class the length of life of these would probably go far in excess of the 44 years and 2 months.—National Popular Review.

Cordial Notes of Courtesy.

I wonder whether you are particular to write notes of thanks very soon after receiving gifts or acts of courtesy. The value of a note of thanks is greatly increased by its being prompt. If some friend leaves a bunch of violets at your door and you fail to acknowledge it until the flowers have faded, your thanks, when they do come, are tardy. When flowers are sent to those who are ill, they, of course, cannot repay the courtesy by a little note themselves, but some one in the family should do it for them. Your note of thanks should be very genial, showing that you are really pleased by the kind attention and the happier because of it. Do not be afraid to write warmly and cordially on such occasions. If stiff and formal, you are unjust both to your friend and yourself.—Chicago Tribune.

Small, Pointed Teeth.

Small, pointed teeth denote many unpleasant characteristics. When accompanied by nearsightedness, round eyes, a pug or snub nose and noticeably small and sometimes very pretty ears, their owner will be found to possess many catlike attributes. A woman of this kind will naturally make the gestures, with the right hand about her face and head, of the cat with its paw.—Kansas City Times.

Wanted a Lunch.

Landsman (at a yacht race)—What's that craft out yonder?

River Man—That's the stakeboat.

Landsman—Row me over to it. I'm hungry.—New York Herald.

U.S Land Office

Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U. S Land Office at Crookston Minn on June 4 1895 viz:

Simon E. Ahlberg of St Hilaire Minn. H D no. 1269 for the S½ NE ¼ and Lots 1 and 2 Sec. 1 Twp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land, viz:

Carl Sundal, Anton Sundal Gilbert Aufinson, Tollef Erickson, all of St. Hilaire Polk county Minn.

T. A. Dunlava, Register

MAY.

"Now, who art thou, my dainty maid?"
"I'm April's sister, sir," she said,
Then smiled so heavenly sweet,
And making me a courtesy fine
She dropped an armful of sunshine
Right down about my feet.
Her blush was like the apple blow,
Her eyes like violets that grow
Beside the meadow stream.
Oh, buttercups alone would dare
To match the bright gold of her hair,
And all the air did seem
Rich freighted with her fragrant breath.
Now surely happy nature saith,
"Thrice welcome, maiden May."

—May V. G. Williams in Ladies' Home Journal.

Stevenson and the Haunted House.

The day before he started he spent with my wife and me, a day of stormy agitation, an April day of rainclouds and sunshine, for it was not in Louis to remain long in any mood. I seem to see him now, pacing the room, a cigarette spinning in his wasted fingers. To the last we were trying to dissuade him from what seemed to us the maddest of enterprises. He was so ill that I did not like to leave him, and at night—it was midsummer weather—we walked down into town together. We were by this time, I suppose, in a pretty hysterical state of mind, and as we went through Berkeley square in mournful discussion of the future Louis suddenly proposed that we should visit the so called "haunted house" which then occupied the newspapers.

The square was quiet in the decency of a Sunday evening. We found the house, and one of us boldly knocked at the door. There was no answer and no sound, and we jeered upon the doorstep, but suddenly we were both aware of a pale face, a phantasm in the dusk, gazing down upon us from a surprising height. It was the caretaker, I suppose, mounted upon a flight of steps, but terror gripped us at the heart, and we fled with footsteps as precipitate as those of schoolboys caught in an orchard. I think that ghostly face in Berkeley square must have been Louis' latest European impression for many months.—"Personal Memories of Stevenson," by Edmund Gosse, in Century.

Bank of England Safeguards.

"The safeguards adopted by the Bank of England to prevent that institution being robbed are about as thorough and complete as human ingenuity and mechanism can devise," says Mervin O. Todd of Manchester. "Its outer doors are so finely balanced that a clerk, by pressing a knob under his desk, can close them instantly, and they cannot be opened again except by special process. The bullion department is nightly submerged in several feet of water by the action of machinery, and in some of the banks the bullion department is connected with the manager's sleeping apartments, so that an entrance cannot be effected without setting off an alarm near this person's head. If a dishonest official during the day or night should take even one from a pile of 1,000 sovereigns, the whole pile would instantly sink and a pool of water take its place, besides letting every one in the office know of the theft."

Both.

Bass—And of which variety is your wife, the clinging vine or the self assertive?

Cass—A little of both. When she wants a new dress or a new bonnet, she generally begins in the clinging vine role. If that doesn't bring the money, then she changes to the self assertive, and—well, she invariably gets the dress or the bonnet.—Boston Transcript.

Margaret of Denmark.

Margaret of Denmark, the "Semiramis of the North," was a large woman, of powerful build and great physical strength. She said that nature had perpetrated a great mistake in not making her a man. She was fond of manly sports and threw a spear and drew a bow as well as any soldier.

Spoons were the earliest table implements, with the exception of the knife. They are mentioned as used in China at least 2000 B. C. Specimens of spoons of gold, silver and bronze, dating from extreme antiquity, have been found in many countries.

It was perhaps ordained by Providence to hinder us from tyrannizing over one another that no individual should be of so much importance as to cause, by his retirement or death, any chasm in the world.—Johnson.

Much as worthy friends add to the happiness and value of life, we must in the main depend on ourselves, and every one is his own best friend or worst enemy.

Olive oil saturated with camphor makes an excellent application for inflammatory swellings; also for rubbing rheumatic joints.

In 1544 the winter was so severe in Europe that in Flanders wine was frozen and was cut in blocks and sold by weight.

An all round wag has placed the following placard over his coal bin: "Not to be used except in case of fire."

MORTGAGE SALE

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of nine hundred and thirty-two dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Ole P. Stokke and Tehne Stokke his wife mortgagors, to Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 3rd day of August 1889, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 7th day of August 1889, at 2:20 o'clock p. m. in Book 63 of mortgages on page 54 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty in Township one hundred and forty-nine of Range forty-seven in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 8th day of June 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated April 5th A. D 1895.

Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee

J. Montague, attorney. Crookston Minn

U. S. LAND OFFICE

Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the register or receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on July 2 1895, viz:

Carl Wik of St. Hilaire Minn. H. D no 1344 for the SE ¼ Sec 35 Twp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz;

Hakon Johnson, Frank Satterberg, Jonas Fougstrom, Peter Anderson all of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of five hundred and eighty-seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary A. Holovik and Hans M. Holovik her husband, mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee, bearing date the 17th day of December 1890 and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 19th day of December 1890, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in book 51 of mortgages, on page 112. Which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned by said Security Trust Co. of Nashua N. H. mortgagee to Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper by written assignment dated on the 7th day of January 1891 and recorded in the office of the Register of deeds on the 24th day of January 1891, at 8:45 o clock a. m., in Book 58 of mortgages, on page 81 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The [illegible] quarter of Section 18 in Township One hundred and Forty-seven in Range Forty-five in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston in said County and State, on the 8th day of June 1895 at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 1st A. D. 1895.

Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper
Assignee of mortgagee.

R. J. Montague, attorney. Crookston Minn.

ORDINANCE NO. XIV.

Relating to the impounding of domestic animals in the Village of St. Hilaire.

The village council of the village of St Hilaire do ordain as follows:

Sec. 1. There shall be a public pound in the village of St. Hilaire to be located by the village council.

Said council shall appoint one pound master who shall hold his office until the next general election thereafter and until his successor is duly appointed and he shall be entitled to such compensation as the village council shall designate.

Sec 2. No horse, mule, or cattle of any kind, sheep, hogs, goats, hens or chickens, turkeys or any other domestic animal shall be permitted to run at large in said village at any time and if found running at large therein each and every one of the animals aforesaid may be impounded in the public pound of said village from which they shall not be released until the owner or owners shall pay the pound keeper such fees as he shall be allowed by law together with a reasonable sum not exceeding fifty cents for each animal taken up and the costs and expenses of keeping such animal in the pound. The owner of of such animal above specified or any person in whose charge the same may be who shall permit the same to run at large within the limits of said village contrary to the provisions of this ordinance shall on conviction thereof before a justice of the peace of said village be punished by a fine not exceeding ten dollars and the costs of prosecution and in default of payment may be committed to the village or county jail for a period not exceeding ten days.

Sec. III. It shall be the duty of the poundmaster to provide suitable and necessary sustenance for animals so impounded and a reasonable cost for such sustenance shall be paid to such pound master before such animal shall be released from custody.

It shall be lawful for such pound master to sell at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash any animal so impounded as aforesaid, at any time after the expiration of four days from the time that they were impounded the said pound keeper to give not less than three days notice of the time and place of sale with a description of the animal or animals to be sold by posting three written or printed notices in three conspicuous public places in said village, for posting said notices the pound master shall receive 25 cents apiece for each notice so posted.

Sec. IV Any pound master of said village who shall refuse to take up restrain or impound any animal mentioned in this ordinance liable to be impounded by him known to be running at large contrary to the provisions thereof or who shall neglect to make diligent search for such animals shall on conviction thereof before a justice of the peace of said village shall be punished by a fine not exceeding ten dollars and costs of prosecution and may be imprisoned until such fine and costs are paid not exceeding ten days.

Sec. V. Any animal sold under the provisions of this ordinance for the sum of ten dollars or more may be redeemed from the purchaser at any time within thirty days from the sale thereof upon payment of the purchase price and 5 per cent additional and all reasonable costs for keeping the same after the sale over and above the value of the use of the same.

Sec. 5. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force on and after the first day of Sept. A. D. 1895.

Dated and passed at St. Hilaire Minnesota this 6th day of August A. D. 1895.

All ordinances prior to this in regard to the impounding of animals are hereby repealed.

Attest
J. L. Johnson
Village Recorder.

S. M. Dainard
Pres. of Vill. Council

SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

—DEALERS IN—

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath. Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper, Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always on hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

E. T. SPAFFORd & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE

HIGHEST MARKET PRICES

FOR

All kinds of

CATTLE.

C rd wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for ale

S. M. DAINARD.

Manager.

THE

ST. HILAIRE

TOWNSITE

COMPANY

Will sell for the next

60 days

DESIRABLE RESIDENCE

LOTS

From $25 to $100.

ALSO FIRST CLASS BUSINESS PROPERTY AT HARD PAN PRICES.

Apply to

H. E. IVES Agt.

ST. HILAIRE MINN.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

Barbershop in connection

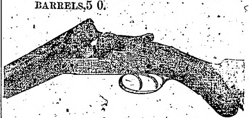
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200

BARRELS, 5 0.



This cut represents Quality No. 7—List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING. MATTED RIBS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point.

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsman that we have not only improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have [illegible] and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the m[illegible] but THE [illegible] G[illegible]

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers — — ITHACA, N.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

Heavy and Shelf

HARDWARE

HEADQUARTERS FOR

HUNTER' SUPPLIES

MACHINE OIL AND XTRAS

BINDING TWINE

P a 1. 9 cents a pound.

NEW GOODS PRICES

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

AMERICAN HOTEL

W. A. ARTHUR Proprietor.

NEWLY FURNISHED

STRICTLY FIRST-CLASS

Special attention given to traveling men, Hunting, Fishing and Excursion parties.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries

Notions.

A Slave From Boyhood.

(From the Red Wing, Minn., Republican.)

"I am now twenty-four years old," said Edward Swanson, of White Rock, Goodhue County, Minn., to a Republican representative, "and as you can see I am not very large of stature. When I was eleven years old I became afflicted with a sickness which baffled the skill and knowledge of the physician. I was not taken suddenly ill but on the contrary I can hardly state the exact time when it began. The first symptoms were pains in my back and restless nights. The disease did not trouble me much at first, but it seemed to have settled in my body to stay and my bitter experience during the last thirteen years proved that to be the case. I was of course a child and never dreamed of the sufferings in store for me. I complained to my parents and they concluded that in time I would outgrow my trouble, but when they heard me groaning during my sleep they became thoroughly alarmed. Medical advice was sought but to no avail. I grew rapidly worse and was soon unable to move about and finally became confined continually to my bed. The best doctors that could be had were consulted, but did nothing for me. I tried various kinds of extensively advertised patent medicines with but the same result.

"For twelve long years I was thus a sufferer in constant agony without respite, abscesses formed on my body in rapid succession and the world indeed looked very dark to me. About this time when all hope was gone and nothing seemed left but to resign myself to my most bitter fate my attention was called to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Like a drowning man grasping at a straw, in sheer desperation I concluded to make one more attempt—not to regain my health (I dare not to hope so much) but if possible to ease my pain.

"I bought a box of the pills and they seemed to do me good. I felt encouraged and continued their use. After taking six boxes I was up and able to walk around the house. I have not felt so well for thirteen years as during the past year. Only one year have I taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I am able now to do chores and attend to light duties.

"Do I hesitate to let you publish what I have said? No. Why should I? It is the truth and I am only too glad to let other sufferers know my experience. It may help those whose cup of misery is as full to-day as mine was in the past."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. Pink Pills are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

An Autograph of Chatterton.

A very rare manuscript poem with the autograph of Thomas Chatterton, who died by suicide in 1770, has this week been on view in one of the leading auction rooms in London. This interesting relic has long been the property of the Lefroy family, one of whose members, the late Sir Henry Lefroy, bequeathed it to his son, Col. Lefroy, present owner. The poem, which consists of ninety-nine verses, is prefaced by a short announcement by the author to the effect that it relates to "a transaction that happened in Bristol the second year of Edward IV., and deserves to be commemorated as one instance of the severe treatment that Prince show'd those who opposed his coming to the crown." —London Realm.

Electricity for Railroads.

The adoption of electricity as motive power on the suburban branches or lines of various railways has led to the supposition that in time all lines, long or short, will be run by electricity. This, however, has been strenuously denied, on the ground that it would be impracticable for general traffic use. Be that as it may, the St. Paul & Duluth will, as ever, be found in the fore-front, giving as many patrons the luxury of a comfortable ride in the latest equipment through the most picturesque territory, and providing the best of facilities between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, West Superior, Stillwater, the Interstate Park, Taylor's Falls and other important Northwestern points. It is this that has made the Duluth Short Line so extremely popular. At handsome terminals close connections are made with trains running in all directions, and the time cards are arranged with a view to suiting the convenience of the business man as well as the pleasure of the tourist. For maps, circulars and the new folder, apply to ticket agents or to W. A. Russell, General Passenger Agent, St. Paul, Minn.

A Great Incentive.

Nick—The German kaiser does a god deal of lecturing.

Nock—Well, you know he has a good many subjects.—Harlem Life.

Laugh and Grow Fat!

You shall do both, even if you are a slabsided, pallid, woe-begone dyspeptic, if you reinforce digestion, insure the conversion of food into flesh and nourishing blood, and recover appetite and sleep by the systematic use of the great renovator of health, strength and flesh, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which also remedies malarial, kidney and rheumatic trouble, nervousness, constipation and biliousness.

Her Ideas.

He—My views of bringing up a family are——?

She—Never mind your views. I'll bring up the family. You go and bring up the coal.—Halifax Herald.

To Cleanse the System

Effectually yet gently, when costive or bilious, or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently cure habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, to dispel headaches, colds or fevers use Syrup of Figs.

Death of Modesty.

They buried her in her bathing suit,
A victim of the sea.
Who died of shame when a big wave come—
Her epitaph "R. I. P."—Louisville Truth.

Mothers appreciate the good work of Parker's Ginger Tonic, with its reviving qualities—a boon to the pain-stricken, sleepless and nervous

Many of the new houses now in process of construction in Paris include special offices for the housing of bicycles.

When you come to realise that your corns are gone, and no more pane, how grateful you feel. All the work of Hindercorns. 15c

His Family Skeleton.

Mrs. Tupenny—Did you know that the Uppertens have a family skeleton?

Mr. Tupenny—Oh, yes; she's out there on the beach now.—Louisville Truth.

Impure Blood

Manifests itself in hives, pimples, boils and other eruptions which disfigure the face and cause pain and annoyance. By purifying the blood Hood's Sarsaparilla completely cures these troubles and clears the skin. Hood's Sarsaparilla overcomes that tired, drowsy feeling so general at this season and gives strength and vigor.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the only true blood purifier prominently in the public eye today. $1; six for $5.

Hood's Pills cure habitual constipation. Price 25 cents.

THE WISHING RING.

"A 'wishing ring,' a 'wishing ring,'
I would that one were mine!"
"What wouldst thou do if such a thing
Thou speakest of could be thine?"

"Oh, I would bid 'good-by' at once
To poverty and care!"
"And then the burdens thou layest down
Some other one must bear."

"Oh! were it mine, to other lands
I'd soon be on the wing!"
"Yet one may journey far and long Without a wishing ring."

"With such a ring, love, faithful, true Enduring should be mine!"
"Thou needst no ring to bring such
love,
Already it is thine!"

A WIFE'S ANSWER.

By Christine Martinez.

The fishing fleet had set out early in the morning from the little harbor of Leeport. The atmosphere was very clear, and the boats could still be seen in the distance, strung out in a long line across the horizon, far out at sea.

A few sailors' wives, children, and old men, still loitered on the wharves, all in excellent humor, for with such weather there could certainly be a fine haul of fish. The sea was admirably blue, but lashed by the wind, it broke into little waves which rushed, white-capped, toward the shore.

"Do you see papa's sloop yet, mamma?" asked a little fellow, who had stayed away from school that morning in order to see his father start with the fleet.

His mother had a fine telescope—a luxury that her neighbors envied her. In such clear weather as this if they could not distinguish the men, they could at least recognize most of the fishing smacks.

The boy would have remained a long time watching his father's sloop, the Laurent, as it grew smaller and smaller in the distance, but his mother led him away. They must go back to the house to their work.

They loitered by the side of the harbor, which had lost its animation now that its fleet of fishing craft was gone.

Mrs. Fanshawe stopped mechanically in the center of the wharf to look at a fine brig, the Harding, which came every week with a cargo of assorted merchandise. A sailor, leaning over the rail of the ship, saw her, and waved his cap gayly to her. She turned away and hurried up the street to her home.

Two hours later the loungers in the main street of the village were greatly surprised to see Captain Robert Fanshawe, the owner of the fishing sloop Ajax, hastening angrily homeward.

He had not entered the house before the neighbors had run to learn the reason of his sudden return.

Why had he come back?

The backstay of the Ajax had been broken, and Fanshawe was compelled to come back to port for repairs. These were already under way, and, once he had seen his men at work, he had come up to see his wife a moment.

"Your wife—she has gone out; but she will be back directly."

He was pouring out a glass of cider from the pitcher he had drawn that morning before leaving, when he noticed the ink stand open on the table, and the pen beside it, still wet with ink.

It was his son's pen and inkstand, but, as the little fellow never wrote during the day, he concluded that his wife must have been writing. Almost at the same moment he noticed a letter in the blue vase on the mantelpiece, and without thinking, he opened it and read:

"Dear Mrs. Fanshawe:—I love you more than I can tell. I implore you to set a time when we can meet. You are free—your husband is gone.

—Harry Evans.

"Oh, heavens!" cried Fanshawe, "Harry Evans!"

He knew him well, this handsome sailor of the Harding, who had already ruined more than one home in Leeport—a tall fellow as tall as Fanshawe himself, fair with the complexion of a girl, and tender blue eyes.

He sprang up to rush to the wharf and strangle the audacious rascal, when he heard his wife returning. Evidently she had answered that insulting letter, and she would tell him what answer she had given. He trusted his wife.

"I hurried back," she said, as she came in; "I heard of the accident as I was doing my marketing."

As she laid on the table the purchases she had made, he had time to thrust the letter back into the vase. He would wait for her to speak.

Mrs. Fanshawe continued to busy herself with her household duties. He watched her, and he found her still young, browned like himself, a most graceful woman in her No. 3 boots, and with a waist still slender.

From time to time she looked at him with a smile; she was not surprised to see him looking somber after the accident. She did not say anything about it, for she knew to discuss the accident would annoy him.

"Wife, have you nothing new to tell me?"

"Nothing, my dear husband."

His face contracted as with a sudden pain. His wife thinking it due to chagrin at the accident, kissed him tenderly.

He pressed her to him with unaccustomed force. Never, even in the fiercest tempest, had he suffered as he suffered now. Suspicion entering his simple, loyal heart, ravaged it terribly.

"Well, good-by. I am going to the wharf. We shall go out with the next tide if the backstay is repaired. Good-by!"

She accompanied him to the end of the street and bade him farewell so frankly that he asked himself if it were possible that such a woman could lie.

He was about to go to the Harding and taunt Harry Evans with his infamy, when one of his crew saw him and came after him. Compelled to return to his vessel, he had time to reflect. A sudden fit of rage—a fight—would prove nothing, and his wife would never know the truth.

So he calmly watched the work of repairs, which was going on apace. At 12 o'clock his wife brought him his good-by; and that evening he set sail again, after having seen the Harding sail out of Leeport.

The following Saturday, after a terrible tempest, the fishing fleet returned to Leeport, laden with a fine catch of fish. Capt. Fanshawe looked quickly to see if the Harding was at the wharf, but she was not there.

Disembarking, he learned that the Harding had gone down in a storm in sight of Owl's Head Bluff, and that all on board had been lost.

Harry Evans, then, was dead. His wife alone knew the truth; he would not dare to question her; he would never know the truth—he would doubt her always!

From that time every one in Leeport remarked that Capt. Fanshawe had grown taciturn. They asked his wife the reason, but she replied evasively that she did not know.

His crew found him rougher than before and more avaricious. He often returned to Leeport on Sunday morning and left again the same evening without a night's rest.

One week he came back on Tuesday, and the news spread that the Ajax had brought back the corpse of a drowned man. He had returned earlier than usual, he said, in order to bury the drowned man.

Accompanied by two of his crew he made his deposition before a commissioner of deeds, and the latter had him sign the declaration that "the body of a drowned man had been recovered by the Ajax at a point fifteen miles south-south-west of Owl's Head Bluff, measuring five feet ten inches in height; dressed in a blue shirt, trousers of gray cloth and neckerchief of black silk; no papers, no marks to establish identity; supposed from the place of drowning, in default of other evidence, to be one of the crew of the Harding."

Early the next morning a funeral procession traversed the little village and bore to the church the remains of the unknown sailor found by the Ajax. Behind the coffin walked the crew of the Ajax, their captain at their head, and behind the men came the wives, sisters or mothers of the sailors.

The religious ceremony was brief, and the unknown dead was conducted to the cemetery by the great family of sailors of Leeport, who honor themselves in thus honoring the remains of others.

"Get yorselves ready," announced Capt. Fanshawe to his men; "we go to sea directly."

Fanshawe led his wife to a little knoll a few paces away from the cemetery. He wished to speak with her in private.

"Wife," he said, "do you know for whom you have come to pray?"

She trembled and pressed her husband's hand. She had never seen him so solemn.

"The man we have just buried was Harry Evans!"

Mrs. Fanshaw turned pale. Her husband tendered her a paper, stained as if with water.

"Wife, I have doubted your fidelity. My punishment is to accuse myself of it. I read the letter he dared to write to you, and I have been very miserable. The other night when this drowned man was found I searched him. I could not show to others, not even to the commissioner of deeds, the only paper he had on him, in a little bag of oiled silk. The water had dimmed it a little, but I have read it nevertheless."

It was the answer written to the handsome sailor by Mrs. Fanshawe.

"Sir: I love my husband; that is the sole answer I can make to your letter. I shall say nothing to my husband, for he would kill you. Never come here again."

"Wife, do you forgive me?"

"Oh, my poor husband, how you have suffered!"

From that day Capt. Fanshawe grew young and gay again; and he honors and trusts his wife as a jewel beyond price.

The Captain's Last Farewell.

It is said that Capt. Taylor, of the Colima, and his wife were an unusually devoted couple. Having no children, they lived for each other. The only thing that interfered with their happiness was his going to sea. Like most of the wives of the company's captains Mrs. Taylor seldom went on the dock to see her husband off; but before his last trip she felt that singular dread that seems so often to be a premonition of disaster. He reassured her and begged her not to go to the ship, wondering at her strange display of fear. At last he suggested that she go out on Point Lobos and wave him a farewell from there. He said that he would watch for her from the vessel's deck and would blow three whistles for her. "That you will know to be my last farewell," he gayly said. Mrs. Taylor went to Point Lobos as arranged. She saw the Colima steam out of the Golden Gate, heard the three good-by whistles and watched the vessel until it disappeared. When the news of the wreck came the strange and puzzling statement was made that just before the vessel foundered the captain ordered a last three-whistle signal given as he stood upon the bridge. To some who read of it, it merely meant a "good-by," to some a cry for help, but the captain's wife knew that it meant definitely a "last farewell" and hoped no more.—San Francisco Examiner.

A Diet of Gutta-Percha.

Gutta-percha doesn't appeal to most people as an article of diet, but there is a small an exceedingly small, submarine animalcule that positively delights in it. This interesting creature is called the "gribble," and it is only really happy while it is browsing on the gutta-percha, that is used for the sheathing of submarine cables. I can't say as whether a "gribble" has ever got through to the wire itself. If so, that particular member of the tribe probably experienced the same kind of sensation as would be felt by any one having his hair electrically singed by a barber of less than ordinary skill. Anyway, the layers of submarine cables are so afraid a diet of gutta percha won't agree with gribbles that they are sheathing the wires with brass. Possibly, though, their anxiety may not be so much for the gribble's health as for the cable's safety. On the whole this does appear to be the more likely supposition.—St. Paul's Magazine.

Old Houses in New England.

It sometimes seems strange, even to an "old settler" in Connecticut, living in the midst of all the new movement of modern life, with its railroads, telegraphs, telephones, electric lights, bicycles and all the other thousand-and-one features of the modern world, to reflect that even in this new country, with no picturesque quality, there are old houses in Hartford and in Farmington, that were built only about thirty years after "the plague" and "the great fire" in London—and in one Connecticut town (Guilford) a stone house, built nearly ten years before the beheading of King Charles I., and which looks to-day as if it would last for another century or two. It was built in 1639, as much for a defense against the Indians as for a parsonage, and it was used for both purposes. —Hartford Times.

The Reason.

Mills—Why do you stay at home while your wife goes to the mountains? You might go to the sea shore near by.

Hills—Impossible. I have to stay home to feed the cats, while only the mountain air agrees with Fido in summer.

Australian Telegraphy.

A clever bit of telegraphy has been done in Australia. Through the co-operation of the telegraph authorities in all the five colonies on the mainland of Australia, a very interesting experiment was lately made in the long-distance transmission of telegraphic messages. The points selected were Rockhampton and Broome, in Roebuck Bay, Western Australia. Broome on the northwestern coast of Western Australia, and is the point where the cable of Java, and so from Europe, is landed in that colony. It is also the furthest point north in Western Australia to which the telegraph has yet been carried. At the time appointed all the instruments on the intervening stations between Rockhampton and Broome were connected, and thus a continued circuit was made between the two points. The signals received in Rockhampton from Israelite Bay, about 4,000 miles away on the southern coast of Western Australia, are described as being as clear and sharp as if they had come from across the street. In the line between Israelite Bay and Broome there was a defect which sometimes impaired the distinctness of the signals. But the experiment was decidedly a success, for perfectly readable signals were exchanged and a conversation was carried on, between the telegraph masters at Rockhampton and Broome, which, following the route of the wire are 6275 miles apart.

A Quarter's Worth of Gas.

The Consolidated Gas Company of this city, has adopted the nickel-in-the-slot meter. In England these penny gas machines are very popular with the poor as well as those who live in lodgings. The prepayment meters introduced here, however, are not of the penny pattern. A silver quarter is the coin required to release the illuminating fluid. For 25c 200 feet of gas goes through the meter, moves out rate of $1.25 per 1000. The gas need not be used continuously. A special indicator on the face of the dial, which is supposed to show how much gas gas goes through the meter, moves out to a 200-foot mark as soon as the coin is deposited. As the gas is used this indicator returns to the zero point. Meters of this class are placed in the consumer's room or flat, so that the number of feet still to be burned may be seen at a glance at the dial. The machine is so arranged that two, three or four quarters may be placed in the slot, and thus 400, 600 or 1000 feet of gas purchased. The meter will register and give credit for 200 feet of gas every time a coin of the proper dimensions is placed in the receiver. Less than 300 meters are now in use, but as they are growing in popularity the number is bound to increase, especially in bachelor apartments and folding-bed and condensed milk flats. —New York Cor., of the Pittsburg Dispatch.

Photography in Municipal Engineering.

An interesting use of photography is noted in the last annual report of the city engineer of Rochester, N. Y. To meet the requirements of construction his department has found it necessary to prepare 196 photographic negatives, 390 prints and 136 lantern slides. Photography was used for many purposes. In the first place, for a record of old structures, which may have had an important place in the early local history. Second, as a record of construction, for the purpose of study, and also for the purpose of spurring the inspectors and contractors to greater care. Flashlight pictures are taken of the inside of completed sewers, so that the details of the work can be examined at leisure. Many photographs are made for the law department to be used in cases of suits for personal injury by reason of defects in walks or pavements. Copies are pasted into substantial albums, and are of constant use in discussion with aldermen and other officials, as well as taxpayers. On one occasion it was necessary to educate the public of the city to a better comprehension of the question of beauty in bridge designs. The engineer prepared a lecture on city bridges and illustrated it by 140 lantern slides made from photographs. The slides were selected to show existing structures which are failures, in direct comparison with successful and beautiful specimens of bridge building. The lecture had a good effect, and the engineer had the satisfaction of selecting a bridge that was artistic as well as useful.

The cook should examine carefully the label of the baking powder and see that she is not imposed upon. If the grocer sends anything but the Royal, send it back, as one cook did five times until she got the Royal. The only safe way is for the cook to have the finest things to work with, and the Royal is not only the finest but the most economical to use, because it goes much further.

Water Column 93,000,000 Miles Long.

The finite mind is utterly incapable of framing an idea or of making a comparison that will properly illustrate the vast amount of water now existing in the five great oceans of the planet. Let us see: One gallon of water weighs ten pounds and figures on that area and depth of the Pacific show that there are, approximately, 200,000,000,000,000 of such gallons of water in that ocean alone. The Atlantic could be put down in the basin of the Pacific, and only fill it one-third full. The Indian, the Arctic, and Antarctic Oceans, combined with the other two; would give an area for the five of 142,000,000 square miles. Formed into a circle this would make an ocean 12,000 feet in depth and 13,000 miles from bank to bank. The contents would be about 195,000,000 cubic miles of water. If a standpipe could be built from the earth to the sun, so that we could have a column of water 93,000,000 miles in length, that standpipe would have to be made two and one-half miles in diameter to hold the water now contained in the five oceans. It has been figured that it would take one-half million years for the water of the Pacific to flow over Niagara, the volume being continually as great as that which is now plunging over the falls. —St. Louis Republican.

Seasoning of Stone.

Stone, like lumber, requires seasoning, and is often not so solid as generally supposed. A cubic foot of compact granite, for instance, weighs about 164 pounds, while a cubic foot of iron weighs 464 pounds, thus plainly indicating that there must be considerable space between the atoms of the most enduring stone, for air, moisture, etc. The seasoning of stone is well understood, and it should enter into the calculations of every architect.

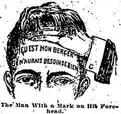
RELIGION STAMPED ON HIM.

A Text Was Tattooed on This Young Frenchman's Forehead.

A man upon whom religion had left its mark ineffaceably was observed at Ellis Island recently. He was one of a number of French immigrants brought before the commissioner for examination says the New York World.

He was a tall, handsome young man a skilled ironworker. Attention was drawn to his personal appearance by the fact that he wore his thick hair brushed down over his forehead to his very eyebrows.

When he was asked by the commissioner the reason of this extraordinary coiffure, the French youth looked embarrassed for a moment, and then replied that he wore his hair in this manner to hide a mark on his brow.



DIEU EST MON BERGER
JE N'AURAIS BESOIN DE RIEN
C

The Man With a Mark on His Forehead.

"What is the mark?" was asked.

He tossed his hair back and exhibited a skillfully executed piece of tattooing, which, on examination, proved to be a text from the Bible, done in minute but perfect letters. It was in French and read:

"Dieu est mon Berger je n'aurais besoin de rien." ("The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want.")

He stated that the tattooing was done at the request of a cranky aunt when he was a twelve-year old boy.

This passes the enterprise of those who decorate natural scenery with texts as conspicuously as do patent-medicine vendors with advertisements of their wares. This form of enterprise is highly developed in France.

Here and there along certain railway lines one finds gigantic texts printed with white stones on the green hillside.

ELECTROCUTED SHADE TREES.

Fine Elms Killed by Contact With Electric Wires.

Two pretty elm shade trees which stand opposite the residence of Dr. W. T. Goldsmith, on Church street, have recently died from electrocution. Now, Dr. Goldsmith is very much vexed to know who should replace his shade trees—the electric light company or the city. It may be that there have been a number of trees killed in this same manner and that this is the first time it has been noticed.

Twenty years ago Dr. Goldsmith planted two elm bushes in front of his Church street home, and they soon began to spread into beautiful shade trees. The electric light company, when it stretched its wires down that thoroughfare allowed the wires to communicate with the limbs of the trees. True, the wires were covered with an insulator, but the rubbing of the limbs against the wires soon rubbed this off and left the naked wire against the body of the tree.

This occurred a short time ago, and when it rained the presumption is that the current from the wire went through the damp trees and this killed them. Three trees stand between the two electric wire poles, but only two of them were injured, as the insulator on the wire through the other tree did not rub off. The rain occurred on one afternoon, and on the following afternoon one of the trees was entirely dead, the leaves having withered and turned red.

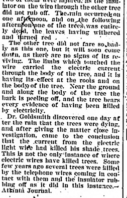
The other tree did not fare so badly as this one, but it will soon come down, as there are no signs of its reviving. The limbs which touched the wire carried the electric current through the body of the tree, and it is having its effect at the roots and on the body of the tree. Near the ground and along the body of the tree the bark is peeling off, and the tree bears every evidence of having been killed by electricity.

Dr. Goldsmith discovered one day after the rain that the trees were dying, and after giving the matter close investigation, came to the conclusion that the current from the electric light wire had killed his shade trees. This is not the only instance of where electric wires have killed trees. Some few years ago several trees were killed by the telephone wires coming in contact with them and the insulator rubbing off as it did in this instance.—Atlanta Journal.

A NEW FRUIT-JAR CLAMP.

Which Makes a Water-Tight Seal, But Allows Gas and Steam to Escape.

The clamp shown in the accompanying illustration is strong and inexpensive, and is readily adjustable to the ordinary fruit-jar. It has a yielding fastening device that permits any gas or steam that may be generated to escape, but it may be quickly adjusted to make a perfect seal.



The main clamping piece has inturned flanges, which fit under the rim of the jar, and a bail curved spring which is operated by a lever. On the under side of the spring is a cushion, which prevents the spring from coming into direct contact with the cap of the jar. The device is so arranged that it prevents water from entering the jar when it is submerged for cooking or other purposes, but the pressure is not great enough to retain the gas and steam that escapes without breaking the jar.

A Double Mistake.

On one occasion, when Mr. Gladstone was prime minister, he had asked Sir Henry Parkes, then on a visit to London, to breakfast. Henry Irving was among the guests invited to meet him. Mr. Irving arrived first, and Mrs. Gladstone, mistaking him for the Australian statesman, said: "Oh, Sir Henry, I'm so glad to see you." Great was Mr. Irving's surprise, which, however, passed away when he discovered that Mrs. Gladstone was not making an announcement of a knighthood.—Westminster Budget.

Don't Drag Your Feet.

Many men do because the nerve centers, weakened by the long-continued use of tobacco, become so affected that they are weak, tired, lifeless, listless, etc. All this can easily be overcome if the tobacco user wants to quit and gain manhood, nerve power, and enjoy vigorously the good things of life. Take No-To-Bac. Guaranteed to cure or money refunded by Druggists everywhere. Book free. Address the Sterling Remedy Co., New York City or Chicago.

A Queenly Virtue.

Mrs. Cleveland sets a shining example in always being on time. She does not think it quite nice to enter the theater or church or any place late and disturb every one just for the sake of attracting attention. Mrs. Cleveland also makes a toilet in less time than almost any other woman prominent in Washington. She frequently returns from a long drive fifteen minutes before an appointment, and when the guests arrive she is there to greet them in a pretty house gown and as fresh as a rose.

FITS—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after the first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch st., Phila., Pa.

The Largest Valves.

A Troy firm is making ten of the largest valves ever manufactured in the world. They are for the waterworks system in Allegheny City, Pa. Their weight is 50,000 pounds each, and they will stand a pressure of 200 pounds to the square inch. Their dimensions are: Length, 16 feet; height 9 feet; width 5 1-2 feet.

Likely to Win.

Dime Museum Manager—Want a position here, eh? Huh, What are you remarkable for?

Hungry Tramp—I'd like to take part in an eatin' match.—New York Weekly.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve." Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

Why the Ocean Raged.

"Mother, this book tells about 'angry waves of the ocean.' Now what makes the ocean angry? Is it because it has been crossed so often?"—Philadelphia Lutheran.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

Brains Count.

Floor Walker—The boss is pleased with your sales of mourning goods.

Clarkle—It takes brains to do it; when a widow asks if they will fade, I sort of give her to understand they will take a very beautiful lavender shade after six months.

Unmistakable.

Lawyer—And you say you know this man?

Witness—I would know him in a barber's chair.—Sing Sing Courier.

GREAT BOOK FREE.

When Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., published the first edition of his work, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, he announced that after 680,000 copies had been sold at the regular price, $1.50 per copy, the profit on which would repay him for the great amount of labor and money expended in producing it, he would distribute the next half-million free. As this number of copies has already been sold, he is now distributing, absolutely free, 500,000 copies of this most complete, interesting and valuable common sense medical work ever published—the recipient only being required to mail to him, at the above address, this little COUPON (COUPON No. 111) with twenty-one (21) cents in one-cent stamps to pay for postage and packing only, and the book will be sent by mail. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. It contains over 1000 pages and more than 300 illustrations. The Free Edition is precisely the same as those sold at $1.50 except only that the books are bound in strong manilla paper covers instead of cloth. Send NOW before all are given away. They are going off rapidly.

CHEAPEST POWER ON EARTH.

The Waterloo Gasoline Engines are sold on their merits, and power guaranteed. Furnished with either tube or spark igniter, or both, to suit customers. We build Portable, Stationary and Traction Engines of any H. P. required. We also build a complete Pump and Engine for fire protection. Send for circular and prices to WATERLOO GASOLINE ENGINE CO., Minneapolis, Minn.

25 CTS PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS

N. W. N. U. No. 32—1895.

Awarded Highest Honors—World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant. 40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Woman's Greatest Charm.

I am quite sure that men regard "sweet simplicity" as the greatest charm in women, and especially in girls. This does not mean simplicity in the simpering sense, but an absence of that affected air of boldness and mannishness which has lately been assumed by too many really loveable girls. Then, too, sincerity in expression is one of the characteristics that charm men. To be sincere and candid the girl in society need never be abrupt nor self-assertive.—Ethel Ingalls in Ladies' Home Journal.

W. H. GRIFFIN, Jackson, Michigan, writes: "Suffered with Catarrh for fifteen years. Hall's Catarrh Cure cured me." Sold by Druggists, 75c.

His Pedigree.

Cammann—Is that a blooded horse you've just bought?

Quinn—Oh, yes; I've forgotten who sired him, but I know he's damned by everybody about the stable.—Harlem Life.

Piso's Cure for Consumption has no equal as a Cough medicine.—F. M. Abbott, 383 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y., May 9, 1894.

His Little Way.

"I understand you have been very successful in your business," said the burglar.

"Yes," replied the kidnapper. "I know how to take people."—Harlem Life.

Coe's Cough Balsam Is the oldest and best. It will break up a Cold quicker than anything else. It is always reliable. Try it.

A Conscientious Flirt.

Prude—Well, why did you refuse him after you had taken him away from the girl he was engaged to?

Flirt—Oh, I haven't quite reached the point where I will receive stolen goods.

Metal Wheels for your Wagons

Any size you want, 20 to 56 inches high. Tires 1 to 8 inches wide—hubs to fit any axle. Saves Cost many times in a season to have set of low wheels to fit your wagon for hauling grain, fodder, manure, hogs, &c. No resetting of tires. Catl'g free. Address Empire Mfg. Co., P. O. Box 53, Quincy Ill.

DAVIS' CREAM SEPARATORS

Combined Separator, Feed Cooker, and Churn Power. Simple, Practical, Effective, Durable, Cheap and Good. Complete Dairy in Itself. Saves Time, Labor and Money. Book Mailed Free, write for it. AGENTS WANTED. DAVIS & RANKIN BLDG. & MFG. CO. Chicago, Ill.

LEWIS' 98 % LYE

POWDERED AND PERFUMED (PATENTED)

The strongest and purest Lye made. Unlike other Lye, it being a fine powder and packed in a can with removable lid, the contents are always ready for use. Will make the best perfumed Hard Soap in 20 minutes without boiling. It is the best for cleansing waste pipes, disinfecting sinks, closets, washing bottles, paints, trees, etc.

PENNA. SALT M'F'G CO. Gen. Agents, Phila., Pa.

ALLEN'S IRON TONIC BITTERS.

The most elegant Blood Purifier, Liver Invigorator, Tonic and Appetizer known. It builds up and fortifies the whole system, invigorates the liver, aids digestion and cures dyspepsia. The first Iron Tonic Bitters ever advertised in America. Get the genuine. J. P. ALLEN, Druggist and Chemist, ST. PAUL, MINN.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c, and $1.00 at Druggists.

HOUSEKEEPERS:—When you are buying goods you want a good assortment to select from. We make purchases for non-residents at city prices, charging a small commission. Experienced buyers. Send for circular for particulars. N. Y. Purchasing Agency, 311-14 N. Y. Life Building, St. Paul, Minn.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C. Successfully Prosecutes Claims. Late Principal Examiner U. S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

LIQUORS RETAIL AT WHOLESALE PRICES.

ALL GOODS WARRANTED AS REPRESENTED. Per Gallon.

America's finest production of RYE AND BOURBON WHISKEY, 8 years old.....$2.00
BRANDY, 10 years old, warranted pure and excellent quality.....$2.50
PORT WINE from France, rich and mellow and guaranteed PURE.....$1.50
BLACKBERRY BRANDY, XXX MARYLAND, home-made and ONE of THE FINEST ever put on the market.....$1.50
AMONTILLADO SHERRY, imported from Spain, dry and rich.....$1.75
HOLLAND GIN, XXX, direct from Holland, made from pure Juniper Berries, 7 years old.....$1.50
ANGELICA WINE, California's Finest Production.....$1.50
ALCOHOL.....$2.00

No charges for Demijohns or packing. CASH to fill must accompany all orders for above goods. No orders for less than one gallon accepted. Money can be sent by Express, Drafts or Postal Notes. Send for one gallon of any of the above Liquors, and convince yourself that you buy pure Liquors retail at wholesale prices. PRICES QUOTED ON ALL OTHER LIQUORS.

STEARN BROS. MERCANTILE HOUSE, 324 First Avenue South, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Reference—Any Business House in Minneapolis.

Cabled Field and Hog Fence. Cabled Poultry, Garden and Rabbit Fence. Steel Web Picket Lawn Fence, etc. Quality first class. PRICES LOW. Catalogue FREE. De Kalb Fence Co., 121 High St., De Kalb, Ill.

Minn. Hist. S.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

THE St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 14, 1895. NUMBER 2.

AROUND THE GLOBE.

DIGEST OF THE NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

All Important Occurrences of the Past Week, Boiled Down and Arranged for Rapid Reading, From Home and Abroad.

Washington.

Naval officials have been punished for usury and irregular payments on the receiving ship Vermont.

Statistics received at the Indian bureau show that 30,000 Indians are now engaged in farming, stock raising and other civilized pursuits.

The president has appointed Burton E. Bennett of the State of Washington to be United States district attorney for the district of Alaska.

The new naval dry dock at Port Royal, S. C., will be ready for use soon, and if all works well, the navy department will be relieved of what appeared to be a disagreeable necessity of sending the Indiana, the first of four big battle ships, to Europe to be docked before her trial trip.

People in Print.

Miss Susan B. Anthony is much better, and will soon be able to resume her lecture tour.

Frederick Engels, head of the international Socialist movement, is dead at London.

Judge D. D. McCollum, a prominent Northwestern jurist, died at his home in Cherokee, Iowa.

Walter Dennison, Ann Arbor, Mich., and H. F. Decon, Detroit, have been awarded scholarships for study in the American coleges at Athens and Rome.

Col. Fellows, the district attorney, has returned to his office in New York from England, where he has been spending the latter part of his vacation.

Rev. A. C. Vandewater, one of the oldest Methodist Episcopal ministers in Illinois, died at his home near Pana. He was about eighty years of age and was wealthy.

Ex-Mayor H. J. Grant has returned from his European wedding tour. He says the liquor law was largely responsible for the defeat of the Liberal party in England.

Charlotte Neilson, well known to the American stage, was quetly married at the chapel of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, in New York, to Joseph H. Neill, a wealthy planter of Guatemala, Central America.

Isabel Garrison, of the Chicago Tribune, is at Quebec, to select a site, on behalf of the Sons of the Revolution, for a mounment to Gen. Montgomery, as near as possible to the spot below the cliff where he fell.

The Casualty Record.

Twenty residences were burned at Berlin, Md. Loss, $200,000.

Miss Stella Dye was burned to death in her father's house at Arlington, Ind.

Sprague, Wash., a thriving town fifty miles from Spokane, was wiped out by fire.

Five bodies have thus far been recovered of the victims of last week's cloudburst near Adelaide, Col.

Gottlieb Geitman, aged sixty, and Harry Weinberg, aged thirty-five, were instantly killed at Philadelphia by a cave-in while at work in a gravel pit.

The works of the Tuscarora Advertising company, at Coshocton, Ohio, were badly damaged by fire. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

four-year-old boy at Omaha threw a lighted match at his sister. Her dress caught fire and she was fatally burned.

Although he drank one gallon of whisky, John Sonwell, the "snake charmer" who was bitten by a rattler in a New York museum, will die.

At Anderson, Ind., Nellie Regan was killed and her mother badly hurt by a runaway team. The wagon was loaded with beer, of which only two bottles were broken.

Thescore or mome members of the Methodist church at Quakertown, Pa., who were injured when the church was struck by lightning, are still suffering from the shock.

In a head-end collision between the Cannon Ball, south-bound, and a freight train, north-bound, just south of Plymouth, N. H., this morning three trainmen were killed.

A. R. Case, a real estate man, was drowned in the river at Des Moines, Iowa. He choked on a cigar stump he had in his mouth and never came to the surface after going down.

Robert Lawder, a farmer of Audrain county, Mo., was struck by lightning during a light storm. He is still alive, but there is no hope for his recovery. His shoes were torn from his feet and his clothing badly burned.

Mrs. George W. Pauley, a lady prominent in church and social circles at Moline, Ill., is dead. She was thrown from a bicycle eight weeks ago, and, though at first the accident was not thought to be serious, it was afterward found that her neck was dislocated at the occipital joint.

Sins and Sinners.

A "bishop of Hawaii" has been "working" the brethren on the Pacific coast.

N. C. Narramore, a well known Los Angeles statesman, was killed by robbers on his California ranch.

Peter Hoffman has been arrested in Hammond, Ind., for making and passing silver counterfeit dollars.

At Cana, Davie county, N. C., Marshal Cain shot and killed his brother, Fillmore Cain.

Lon Perry, an ex-member of the old Cook gang, a noted desperado and a dangerous man, was captured near Huntsville, Ark.

Simon Szurliet, a section foreman on the Chicago drainage canal, was murdered by an unknown man in a saloon row at Lamont, the murderer escaping.

William Mella, aged seven, and Jessie Mella, aged three, were found guilty of horse stealing at Rockport, Ill., and will be sent to the reform school at Plainfield.

It is reported at the City of Mexico that Chester and Richard Rowe will get eight months each on the charge of bringing stolen money into the country.

Coughlin and George, the slayers of Sheriffs Sing and Dawes, near Echo, Utah, a week ago, have been captured and are safely behind the bars in the county jail.

Robbery of houses charged to Bannock Indians, was committed by six men belonging to the rescuing party of fifteen, who came from Lander to assist the settlers.

Hazel, the nine-year-old daughter of Mrs. J. C. Rardin, at Greenfield, Ind., took poison because she had been severely punished by her mother. She will recover.

A posse in pursuit of Ed Kaviness, who shot and killed Byron McGeech in Dunn's saloon at Mancos, Col. McGeech had been paying attention to Kaviness' divorced wife.

Louis Stern of New York was sentenced, at Kissegen, Germany, to two weeks' imprisonment for insulting a public official, and to pay a fine of 600 marks for resistance to the authority of the state.

Mrs. William Campbell, driven insanely jealous by her husband, who read over to her a batch of old love letters from another woman, attempted suicide at Wichita, Kan., by taking morphine.

As a result of a drunken orgie at Joe Campbell's roadside station, at Turkey Creek, Ariz., Ernest Arnez, a mining man, lies dead; Joe Campbell, the stationkeeper, lies at the point of death, and Ed Payne, young cowboy, has a bullet in his right leg.

H. Davidson, alias Kimball, who murdered a man named Donnelly in Hamburg Iowa, last September, is locked up in jail at Riverside, Cal., awaiting the arrival of the sheriff of Sidney county, Iowa, to take the prisoner back to the scene of the crime.

At Keystone, W. Va., J. M. Stroud, coke boss for the Pulaski Iron company, shot W. A. Gilbert and James Owens, two white miners working for the same company. The trouble originated at a dance given by strikers last month. Gilbert may live but Owens will die.

Hans Hanson was sentenced, in the United States court at San Francisco, to be hanged Oct. 18, for the murder of Maurice Fitzgerald, mate of the bark Hesperia. Hanson and Thomas St. Clair killed the mate as the first step in a mutiny. St. Clair will die the same day as his companion in crime.

From Foreign Shores.

The German and Austrian premiers have had a quarrel.

The Salisbury government will attempt to advance imperial federation.

Russian naval officers are said to have killed seals in Bering sea, which they were sent there to protect.

An Anarchist named Decoux was killed at Aniche, France, by the explosion of his own bomb.

The organ of the Russian sympathizers at Sofia, Bulgaria, suggests George of Greece as a successor to Prince Ferdinand.

State officials whom he had criticised, kidnaped Editor Perez of Oaxaca, Mex., and impressed him in the Yucatan army. He finally escaped.

Continuous rains have ruined the rice crop in many parts of Japan, and a famine is feared. Many lives have already been lost and the damage is enormous.

The bread riots in Tabrez, Persia, continue. A mob has wrecked the house of the governor, who has resigned his authority and promises a reduction in the price of bread.

Gen. Count Robert de Beaumont died very suddenly, after a four days' illness, at his villa, Merille, at Coppet, on the Lake of Geneva, Switzerland. He was sixty-two years old and leaves two children, a son and a daughter.

Two well known British ships, one bound from Melbourne for London, and the other from Newcastle, N. S. W., for Panama, are long overdue, and insurance men who have risks on them have given them up as lost.

A residence of the Cleuzkrug estate was burned to the ground at Breslau and four women and a child perished in the flames. Four other persons are suffering from terrible injuries received in the conflagration.

Otherwise.

Drouth and grasshoppers have interfered with New York's milk supply.

A young woman will shortly enter the live stock commission business at the Kansas City, Mo., stock yards.

It has been definitely decided to remove the headquarters of the Order of Railway Telegraphers to Peoria.

A dangerous type of Texas fever has broken out among the cattle at Birmingham, Pa.

Southern railway and steamship association lines have decided not to cut rates.

The Republicans of Fort Scott, Kan., have introduced a new innovation in county politics, by nominating Miss Stella Straight for register of deeds.

Romeo, one of the performing lions at an old-fashioned circus, exhibiting in New York, escaped and created a panic among the 2,000 persons witnessing the performance.

W. E. Snyder has sued Findlay, Ohio, for $14,500. He claims his business block, fronting on the river, has been damaged by the sewage that is emptied into the river.

The Pan-American Railway company which, three years ago, started the project of building a railroad from Victoria, Tex., to Brownsville, and thence to the City of Mexico, is to be reorganized.

The first prize of $10,000, offered by the Smithsonian Institution, for new discoveries relating to atmospheric air, has been awarded to Lord Rayleigh and Prof. Ramsey, both of London, for the discovery of the new element, argon.

Miss Ada Fisher sued the West Shore railroad at Dubuque, Iowa, for $5,000 damages for alleged injuries in a collision. The lawyers allege to have found she was uninjured the day after the collision, and that she was trying to swindle the company.

ALL NOW IN RUINS

HALF A MILLION DOLLAR FIRE AT NEWARK, N. J.

The Plant of the Central Stamping Company Is Totally Destroyed, Together With Several Other Buildings in the Immediate Vicinity.

Newark, N. J., Aug. 13.—The fiercest fire the department of this city has had to contend with in many years, with the possible exception of the big grain fire at the Ballentine brewery a couple of months ago, broke out in the plant of the Central Stamping company to-day. The front of the Central Stamping company plant was on New Jersey and Railroad avenue, and covered ten city lots on that street. From this branched another building five stories high and seventy-five feet wide, running through the block to Liberty street. From this building there was a wing of the same size extending from the middle of the block through to East Fair street. On the south side of the main building on the avenue were five three-story brick buildings, and on the north was a new two-story brick structure. All these were destroyed. The loss to the Central Stamping company was estimated by State Senator Ketcham, treasurer of the company, as upward of half a million dollars; insurance, $250,000. The other losses will aggregate $30,000. Less than an hour after the first alarm was turned in the walls began to fall. The house at No. 10 Fair street was crushed beneath the wall next to it. In this house lived Samuel Glesner and his family. The house was flattened by the weight of brick falling upon it, but the family lost but little as most of their belongings had been removed from the building when the fire broke out. A house at No. 28 Liberty street was also caught beneath a falling wall and wrecked. Several other houses were badly damaged by falling timbers and bricks. When the main wall fell it buried the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad and all traffic on that road was blocked for a time. A number of firemen had narrow escapes from being buried beneath this wall. Fireman John Van Houghton, of Engine Company No. 2 had a narrow escape early in the course of the fire. He had gone to the roof searching for a position from which to direct a stream of water. The roof gave way while he was on it. When he felt it sinking he leaped to the gutter and threw himself over so as to hang from the edge by his hands. The gutter was filled with boiling tar, and although his hands were badly burned he managed to cling to the roof until rescued.

James Parker, who lives at No. 15 Hamilton street, was on the roof of his house with buckets watching the sparks. In throwing water on some of them he lost his balance and fell to the ground. He was badly injured about the head, shoulders and arms, but will recover. Capt. Frank Mercer, of the salvage corps, was severely cut about the hands. Many firemen were badly scorched and blistered by the heat, but no one was seriously hurt.

MASSACRES IN CHINA.

Miss Rouse, the Minnesota Missionary, Probably Escaped.

Boston, Aug. 13.—The Standard will to-morrow print an exhaustive interview with Miss Clara M. Cushman of Deadham, concerning the missionary situation in China. Miss Cushman was for many years a missionary in Pekin, having been sent by the same society as that under whose auspices Miss Hartford has been working at Ku Cheng. In the interview Miss Cushman asserts a belief that these latest massacres are one of the results of the recent war between China and Japan. Ku Cheng is many hundred miles from the central government at Pekin, and it is probable that the people had only rumors of the trouble, and so got all sorts of stories, some of which may have started the trouble. "The uninformed Chinese," Miss Cushman continued, "believe that the foreign missionaries cut out the eyes and hearts of the natives to use for medicine. They are quick to accept any story that they hear, so that the foreigners there can never tell when a mob will come upon them. Ku Cheng is quite a distance from Foo Chow, up the Min river. It it a walled city of about 20,000 inhabitants, and has the reputation of being a very neat and clean city. Iong Bing is still further inland. Miss Hartford has an assistant, Miss Wilma H. Rouse of Minnesota, who was probably not in the massacre as her name was not mentioned."

The Royal Baking Powder is the purest and strongest baking powder made, and has received the highest award at all the great International and State fairs wherever exhibited in competition with others.

Republic Formed at Long Range.

New York, Aug. 13.—Delegates representing the Cuban revolution held a meeting at Camaquey hall, which they called the national republican convention, and formed a republic. They elected Gen. Maceo president and designated Camaquey, as their capital. This news was received to-day by Gen Quesada, which was sent by the delegates.

Bridegroom Suicides.

Clyde, N. Y., Aug. 13.—George Nolan, aged thirty-six, a prominent young man of this village who was to be married to-morrow, was found shot in the temple at his home to-day. It is undoubtedly a case of suicide. He left a rambling note for his parents which indicates that his mind was unbalanced. The bride is prostrated with grief.

Steamer Captain Dead.

New York, Aug. 13. — The German steamer Marsala, which arrived to-day from Hamburg, reports the recent death in that city of Capt. Kraeft, who was commander of the vessel on her last trip to Hamburg.

To Fight Insurgents.

Havana, Aug. 13.—Early this morning immense crowds began to invade the Parque de la India, to be present at the review of the 1,300 Havana volunteers which were going into the field.

LOWER WHEAT CONDITION.

It Fell Off Six Per Cent in the Month of July.

Washington, Aug. 13.—The report of the statistician of the department of agriculture on the 10th of the month relates to conditions as they stood on the 1st of the month. Thus understood, the returns show an improvement in the condition of corn of about 3 points during July, from 99.5 to 102.5. The average of Iowa is 107.

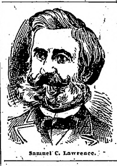
The condition of spring wheat has fallen since last report 6.3 per cent, being 95.9 against 102.2 for July. The condition by states is as follows:

Michigan, 59; Illinois, 63; Wisconsin, 87; Minnesota, 102; Iowa, 111; Kansas, 60; Nebraska, 79; South Dakota, 91; North Dakota, 104; Washington, 75; Oregon, 94; California, 73. The condition of oats has advanced 1.3 points since last report, being 84.5 against 83.2 July 1. Spring rye conditions are 84 against 77 in July, while barley has fallen to 82.7 from 91.9 in July. Rye is 84.1; last year, 91; apples, 71.2 against 44 last year; peaches, 83.3 against 22.3 last year; buckwheat has an acreage of 96.5 per cent of last year and condition 85.2. Area under hay, 91.5 per cent of 1894; condition of timothy, 69.9 against 75.6 last year. Product of clover 66.7 against 72.1, and quality of clover 87.3 against 90.2 a year ago. Condition of pasture 77.8 against 66 last year. Irish potatoes, condition 87.7, a fall of nearly 4 points since July.

KNIGTHS TEMPLAR.

The Triennial Conclave Will Soon Be Held in Boston.

Boston, Aug. 13.—The twenty-sixth triennial conclave of the grand encampment of the Knights Templar of the United States will be held in Boston, Aug. 26-30. Great preparations are being made for the event by a committee of which Sir Samuel C. Lawrence, right eminent commander of the Grand Commandery of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, is chairman. Under Mr. Lawrence's direction $150,000 has been raised for the entertainment of visitors. The grand encampment is composed of forty-five grand commanderies, with a combined membership of 10,384. Reports from throughout the country foreshadow a large attendance. A plan looking to a change in the methods of voting will be presented at this conclave. Under present laws each state is allowed four votes on any matter coming before the triennial conclave. It makes no difference whether a state's membership is 100 or 10,000. It is to equalize this that the change of methods is asked for.



Samuel C. Lawrence.

Prof. C. W. Drew, Chemist to the Minnesota State Food and Dairy Commission, says that the "It oyal," beinf mission, says that the "Royal," being of greater stren gth than any other, an of greater strength than any other, and possessing better keeping qualities, it is the natural conclusion that it is the best baking powder made.

FUR FACTORY BURNED.

Rosen's South St. Paul Establishment Destroyed.

St. Paul, Aug. 13.—A passing locomotive on the Great Western road, it is thought, set fire to the roof of A. T. Rosen's fur factory at South Park yesterday afternoon, the building burning to the ground with all its contents, making a total loss of $30,000. Two workmen were in the shop at the time, but did not discover the fire until the upper story was filled with smoke. Mr. Rosen discovered the fire first from his residence, which is a short distance from the two-story factory building, situated between the railroad tracks and the river. He ran down, giving the alarm, and a safe and desk with books were rolled out of the office. Nothing more could be saved on account of the heavy smoke. Five thousand dollars' worth of furs in process of work, were burned, but they were insured. The building and machinery, valued at $24,000, were uninsured, several policies having just expired.

Storm in Nebraska.

Duncan, Neb., Aug. 13.—This entire country was swept by a severe electrical storm last night and to-day, and much damage was done. The high wind was accompanied by hail and rain. The storm was especially severe in Colfax and Platt counties, while adjacent counties suffered severely. The most disastrous results followed in the vicinity of Schuyler. All the glass in the sides of the buildings exposed to the stom were broken. Wires for a distance of fifty miles in all directions were torn down, and information secured here from that section was brought in by train.

Factory Burned.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 13.—The burning of M. P. Mollor's organ factory at Hagerstown, Md., caused a loss of $30,000; insurance, $2,000. It will be rebuilt.

Miss Roehm Abducted.

Portage, Wis., Aug. 13.—Miss Amelia Roehm, a daughter of Mrs. Caroline Miller, by a former husband, was abducted last night by a man who has been around the city for some time, but whose name is not known. The girl is fourteen years of age.

Scrip for Bonds.

London, Aug. 13.—The Rothschilds announce that they are prepared to exchange scrip for bonds of the United States of America of the 4 per cent loan.

DEED OF A DOCTOR.

HE KILLS HIS WIFE AND THEN TAKES HIS OWN LIFE.

While Temporarily Insane, Dr. J. H. Whiteford, a Prominent Physician of Wilmot, S. D. Shoots His Wife and Then Suicides.

Wilmot, S. D., Aug. 13.—Dr. J. H. Whiteford of this place, while temporarily insane to-day, shot and killed his wife, then killed himself. He has been a prominent physician here for many years. The doctor had been attending to his practice regularly, and it was not suspected that his mind was becoming unbalanced. To-day neighbors heard shots in the Whiteford residence, and on entering the house Mrs. Whiteford was found lying on the floor, dead, and near her body was Dr. Whiteford, who was just breathing his last. The smoking revolver was still tightly grasped in his hand. Mrs. Whiteford was a most estimable woman and the doctor had always been known as an upright man.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug 13—George W. Loehmer, for several years bookkeeper at the city workhouse, was arrested this morning on the charge of embezzlement of city money. Later he was found dead in a cell at the central police station under circumstances which indicate suicide. On June 1 it was discovered that he had been embezzling funds entrusted to him. The shortage amounted to $6,000. He was permitted to retain his position until his friends made good the shortage and was then dismissed. Since then an expert investigation of the books showed a further shortage of about $4,000. Loehmer was arrested at 4 o'clock this morning. He made a confession in which he admitted the theft of $3,000. He was then apparently in good health. An hour later he was found lying on the floor of his cell bleeding at the mouth. He was put to bed and a physician summoned. The doctor advised that he be sent to a hospital. When the ambulance arrived to remove him he was dead.

BEHEADED.

Chinese Fanatics Cut Off the Head and Hands of Mrs. Stewart.

New York, Aug. 13. — The World's cablegram from Foo Chow, China, says: Baby Stewart is dead, the eleventh victim of the massacre of missionaries by the Chinese at Hwasang. One of the murderers of the Stewarts has been caught and confessed that they cut off the hands and head of the wife. Mrs. Stewart was frenzied and fought till hacked to pieces. Foo Chow is cut off from Pekin. The Chinese say the telegraph lines are blocked north of Yangtse river.

Washington, Aug 13—The navy department has received a cablegram announcing that Commodore Newell had sailed from Shanghai with the Detroit for Foo Chow. Foo Chow is about 400 miles south of Shanghai, and is the nearest seaport to the scene of the rioting at Hwasang and Ingbok. Hwasang is 175 miles from Foo Chow, and Ingbok fifty miles. The dispatching of the Detroit to Foo Chow was construed at the state and navy departments to mean that both Minister Denby and Admiral Carpenter, who, with the flagship Baltimore, are at Nagasaki, 400 miles from Shanghai, across the Yellow sea, are fully alive to the situation and propose to have an American cruiser as close as possible to the scene of the disturbance for the protection of such of the missionaries as may flee to the coast, and also to enforce such demands as may be made.

LESS EASY FOR TAYLOR.

Indications That the Defaulter Will Receive a Long Term Sentence.

Huron, S. D., Aug. 13.—Ex-Treasurer Taylor was in consultation here to-day with Attorney Stewart, Charles T. McCoy and H. F. Hunter. It is apparent that Judge Gaffy's action in asking Judge Campbell to sit with him when Taylor pleads guilty is a surprise to them and indicates that Taylor will receive a long term sentence.

Pierre, S. D., Aug. 13.—There will be a meeting here of R. W. Bourne, receiver of the First National Bank of Redfield, accompanied by his attorney, Judge Crofoot of Aberdeen; Vice President Fitch, of the Northwestern Mortgage and Trust company; B. R. Hoover, receiver of the Gettysburg State bank, and W. W. Taylor. The object of the meeting is to straighten out titles to several tracts of land which it is intended to transfer to South Dakota on Taylor's settlements. The tracts in question are among those transferred to Charles S. Wells in trust by Taylor as president of the Northwestern Loan and Trust company. The Gettysburg bank had assigned a mortgage to the Redfield bank for security on notes, and the Redfield bank transferred it to the Mortgage Trust company, thus bringing it into the present settlement. The object of meeting is to get a straight title to the state.

Prof. Floyd Davis, Chemist to the State Board of Health of Iowa, says: "The Royal has the highest leavening power of any baking powder examined, and is composed of pure and wholesome ingredients, well mixed, and of a character perfectly proper for use. No other powder gives results so satisfactory."

Murderer Captured.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 13. — Zeke Bryant, who deliberately killed a guard at the Kingston convict camp June 17 and escaped, has been recaptured and is now being brought to the main prison.

An Old Pilot Dead.

Kansas City, Aug. 13.—A. A. Stone, at one time one of the best known Mississippi river pilots, died at his home here to-day. He had been ill with Bright's disease for some time. The remains will be taken to Marshall, Mo., for interment. Mr. Stone was well known in New Orleans and in Mississippi river towns.

Specie From Europe.

New York, Aug. 13.—The steamship Normandie, which arrived to-day from Havre, brought $62,000 in specie.

WHITEMAN'S WOES.

He Charges Conspiracy on the Part of His Relatives.

San Francisco, Aug. 13.—Alonzo J. Whiteman, the Duluth banker and ex-state senator of Minnesota, who was recently sentenced to the penitentiary for forgery, declares he has been sent to prison as the result of a conspiracy between his sister and her husband, a man named Gibbs. Whiteman declares that after the governor of Michigan refused to issue extradition papers to surrender him to California he went to Paris. From there he was decoyed to New York by his sister and her husband on representations that his father's estate was about to to be settled, and on their promise to clear him of debt. When he arrived in New York he was arrested on the forgery charge, and Gov. Morton turned him over to the California officers. Whiteman exhibits a letter from his mother, in which she refers to her son-in-law, Gibbs, as a fiend, and tells of the efforts of Gibbs and her daughter to embarrass Whiteman. The crime for which Whiteman was convicted was the forgery of a check for $500 on a New York bank, using the name of Frank Dixon. He claims Dixon wrote the check in good faith but did not have $500 in the New York bank. Whiteman, who cut quite a swell here, cashed the check, and when the bank here was informed that Dixon had no account in New York they demanded the return of the money from Whiteman. He was unable to pay, and prosecution followed.

The grocer sends the new brand of baking powder simply because it costs him so much less and he can make more profit by selling it than he can on the Royal. The Royal is made from the very finest materials and costs much more than any other brand, which accounts for its superiority, although it is sold to consumers at the same price.

MARKET REPORTS.

Latest Quotations From Grain and Live Stock Centers.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—Wheat — No. 2 spring, 67 3-4c; No. 3 spring, nominal; No. 2 red, 67 3-4c. Corn—No. 2, 40 3-8c; No. 3 yellow, 40 3-8c. Oats — No. 2, 20 1-4c; No. 2 white, 24a25 3-4c; No. 3 white, 20a21 1-2c. Rye — No. 2, 44a44 1-4c. Barley—No. 2 nominal; No. 3, 38c; No. 4 nominal. Pork—Mess, $9.75. Lard—Per cwt., $6.15.

Minneapolis, Aug. 13.—Wheat — August closed at 65 3-4c; September opened at 64 1-4c and closed at 64 1-8c; December opened at 65 3-4c and closed at 65 5-8c. On track—No. 1 hard, 67 1-4c; No. 1 Northern, 66 1-2c; No. 2 Northern, 65 1-2c.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—Hogs—Market active to 5a10c higher; light, $4.75a5.25; mixed, $4.50a5.05; heavy, $4.80a4.95; rough, $4.30a4.50. Cattle — Market quiet and steady; prices unchanged.

Milwaukee, Aug. 13.—Flour steady. Wheat easy; No. 2 spring, 67 1-2c; No. 1 Northern, 72c; September, 67 3-4c. Corn dull and weak; No. 3, 39 1-2c. Oats lower; No. 2 white, 24c; No. 3 white, 21 1-2a22 1-2c. Barley dull; No. 2, 43c; sample, 32a37c. Rye scarce and firm; No. 1, 45c. Provisions lower; pork, $9.55; lard, $6.10.

St. Paul, Aug. 13. — Hogs steady. Cattle firm and active; good demand.

ROARING FLAMES.

Great Destruction Wrought by Forest Fires.

Olympia, Wash., Aug. 13. — Only meager details have been received from the burning district west and south of here. The wires went down yesterday and the only method of communication was by messenger. The city is covered by dense smoke and a shower of fine ashes is falling continuously. Thus far two deaths have been reported. Kars Peters and T. White were riding on a logging train near Shelton when the train went through a burning trestle. The engineer and fireman escaped, but Peters and White were burned in the wreck. Heavy winds have fanned the fire through the dry timber until the roaring of the flames is heard miles away and the quick and successive falling of giant trees resembles the noise of battles. At Summit, fifteen miles west of here, several ranches have been destroyed and fear is expressed for the safety of settlers whose escape by the road is cut off. Millions of feet of timber have been lost.

RECEIVER WANTED.

One Asked for the Standard Ore Company of Duluth.

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 13.—Application was made in the district court here today for the appointment of a receiver for the Standard Ore Company of Duluth. Recently the Standard company assigned to the Minnesota Iron company, who held a claim of $55,000 against its leases of two valuable iron mining properties, the Cincinnati and Hale mines. The creditors now claim that this was done to give the Minnesota Iron company a preference, and have petitioned the court to set the leases aside.

Cattle Killed by Lightning.

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 13.—Twenty-five head of cattle were killed by lightning in a most remarkable way in Finnis county. A herd of 600 were being moved to another pasture, and for a part of the distance were driven through a narrow lane hedged in by a wire fence. While in this narrow passage a thunder storm overtook them and a bolt of lightning descended and struck a fence post, felling the wire for 200 feet. Every head of cattle that was crowded against the wire was killed.

Have Reached the Age of Discretion

Kennebunkport, Me., Aug. 13.—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Manuel, aged 112 and 97 respectively, celebrated their seventy-fifth wedding anniversary at Cape Porpoise, to-day.

Killed by an Officer.

Minneapolis, Aug. 13.—Wm. Moore, the young man who was shot on the night of April 29 by Mounted Officer Edward W. Hoban, while the latter was attempting to arrest him, died yesterday as the result of the gunshot wound.

Judge Thatcher Dead.

Lawrence, Kan., Aug. 13. — Judge Solon Thatcher, state senator from this county and one of the best known men in the state, died this morning of Bright's disease.

Makes the Weak Strong

Hood's Sarsaparilla tones and strengthens the digestive organs, creates an appetite, and gives a refreshing sleep. Remember

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the one True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills the after-dinner pill and family cathartic. 25c.

Mercenary.

The cowbells tinkled drowsily.

In the shadow of the shelving shore, with the waves breaking at their feet, they lingered.

"Would you marry for money?" she demanded.

He started and turned pale.

"This is so sudden!" he faltered.

To make a bad matter worse, he subsequently asked her how much she was offering.—Detroit Tribune.

Tobacco's Triumph.

Every day we meet men who have apparently lost all interest in life, but they chew and smoke all the time and wonder why the sunshine is not bright and the sweet bird's song sounds discordant. Tobacco takes away the pleasures of life and leaves irritated nerve centers in return. No-To-Bac is the easy way out. Guaranteed to cure and make you well and strong, by Druggists everywhere.

The Music of the Fox Hounds.

"Why, sir, there is but one nobler animal that a long-eared, deep-mouthed, patient fox hound; and that is a woman! Think of treating him that way! And the music is the thing! Many an old Virginian would give away a dog because his tongue was not in harmony with the rest. The chorus would be a chord. I shall never hear sweeter music, unless, by the grace of heaven, I hear some day the choiring of angels."—"Fox Hunting in Kentucky," by John Fox, Jr., in the Century.

Health once impared is not easily regained, yet Parker's Ginger Tonic has attained these results in many cases. Good for every weakness and distress

Handkerchiefs first came into notice in England during the reign of Elizabeth.

It is more than wonderful how patiently people suffer with corns. Get peace and comfort by removing them with Hindercorns.

He Was Off Duty.

"Oh, doctor, how do you do? You look killing this evening."

"Thank you, but I'm not; I'm off duty, you know."—Brooklyn Life.

REV. H. P. CARSON, Scotland, Dak., says: "Two bottles of Hall's Catarrh Cure completely cured my little girl." Sold by Druggists, 75c.

In the Smoke.

Tripper—That love affair of Tom's has ended in smoke, eh?

Flipper—I guess so. He was burning her letters last night.—Comic Weekly.

A Ghastly Spectre.

Disease is ever, but in no form is it more to be dreaded than in that of the formidable maladies which attack the kidneys and bladder. Bright's disease, diabetes and gravel alike be prevented, if inactivity of the kidneys is rectified in time with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, sovereign also in case of rheumatism, dyspepsia, constipation, malaria, biliousness and nervousness.

He Was Satisfied.

Wiggles—I've got just one cigar here. You haven't any objections, have you?

Waggles—Not if I smoke it.—Somerville Journal.

I can recommend Piso's Cure for Consumption to sufferers from Asthma.—E. D. Townsend, Ft. Howard, Wis., May 4, '94

In 1804 Pasteur discovered the parasite which caused silk-worm disease.

In 1878 thirty-two different varieties of sheep were known to wool growers.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. The original and only genuine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Cold Sores, &c. C. G. Clark Co., N. Haven, Ct.

An English lady's state gown was, in the time of George I., called a cyclas.

FITS—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after the first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Calashes, a sort of bonnet, were invented by the duchess of Bedford in 1765.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

Among the Greeks breeches indicated slavery. A free man never wore them.

FAIR SAILING through life for the person who keeps in health. With a torpid liver and the impure blood that follows it, you are an easy prey to all sorts of ailments. That "used-up" feeling is the first warning that your liver isn't doing its work.

That is the time to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, to repel disease and build up the needed flesh and strength, there's nothing to equal it. It rouses every organ into healthful action, purifies and enriches the blood, braces up the whole system, and restores health and vigor.

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR

IMPERIAL GRANUM

IT IS

THE BEST

FOOD

FOR

Dyspeptic, Delicate, Infirm and AGED PERSONS

JOHN CARLE & SONS, New York.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS,
ELEGANT DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arrive Crookston Daily
St. Paul Minneapolis, Superior Duluth Chicago and points East and South, west and Pacific Coast	7.05 a. m.	7.05 am
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	7.25 a m.	7.10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston daily has Pullman Vestibuled, Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or special information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. R. at Crookston Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marsha

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for in or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON R. R. TRACT ST. HILAIRE

W. A. Sorsoleil

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS
COPYRIGHTS.

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free.

Building Edition, monthly, $2.50 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address
MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY.

BREVITIES.

Go to Johnson & Marshall's for lime cement, etc.

George Ossman is buying hides and furs in town this week.

Sash and doors cheap for cash at Johnson & Marshall's.

Peter Hall left for a business trip to points in North Dakota to-day,

Miss, Ihlsing of Thief River Falls is visiting friends here this week,

F L Kribs of Minneapolis was in town on business last Monday.

S. M. Dainard went to St, Paul last Wednesday with a carload of cattle

Andrew Holden of Crookston is visiting Mr, and Mrs, J C Dahl this week.

Fred Collens the Thief River Falls photographer was in town a short time to-day,

J H Penno and Henry Olson visited with friends at Thief River Falls last Sunday,

E T Spafford of Thompson N D was looking over his business interests here last Monday

Mr Lee of the Thief River Falls News was in town a short time last Monday. on business

Prof, A D Wishard of Beltrami was shaking hands with old friends in the village last Friday.

Mr, and Mrs S, Harris drove up to Thief River Falls last Saturday to purchase wall paper for their house.

Stone Wanted
$4.00 per cord paid for stone delivered at the St. Hilaire dam,

Messrs. H and E Royem of Warren spent several days in the village the first of the week the guests of C G Rapp

James Powers and sister of Thief River Falls was in town a short time yesterday on their way to Red Lake Falls.

B E Buzkee was made happy by the arrival of a baby girl at his place last Saturday. Mother and Child are doing well.

F W Tillish representing the Security Trust Co of Grand Forks is in town this week in the interest of that company.

Mrs E J Kellogg of Stephen was visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs, P. S Stranahan several days the latter part of last week.

August Pederson and Ole and Holvor Holvorson drove to Crookston this morning to get some repairs for their threshing rig.

A severe storm accompanied by a heavy wind struck this place last evening Reports come in from the country to-day that heavy oats were badly lodged but wheat fields suffered little if any damage

The ladies of the M E Church will give a social in the church next Thursday evening. Refreshments will be served consisting of ice cream, coffee and cake etc and an enjoyable literary programme rendered. All are cordially invited to attend

Here is the way an exchange understands the new game law; "Book agents may be killed from August 1 to October 1; spring poets from March to July; scandle mongers from January 1 to December 31 inclusive; umbrella borrowers from February 1 to May 1 from August to November 1. Open season all the year round on life insurance agents and the fellows who borrow their neighbors papers.

There was an old preacher who told some boys the Bible lesson he was going to read in the morning. The boys finding the place, glued the connecting pages together. The next morning he read on the bottom of one page" When Noah was one hundred and twenty years old he took unto him a wife who was"—then turning the page — 140 cubits long and 40 cubits wide, built of gopher wood and covered with pitch inside and out." He was naturally puzzled at this. He read it again, and verified it, and then said; "My friends this is the first time I ever met this in the bible, but I accept it as an evidence of the assertion that we are fearfully and wonderfully made."—Ex.

In another column will be found the advertisement of L. L. May & Co, nurserymen and florists. This is a reliable firm who pay their agents good wages and handle none but the very best goods,

The Ladies of the Aid Society of the M E Church of Thief River Falls have engaged the steamer Viking for a pleasure trip up the Red Lake River next Friday, The steamer will make two trips and will leave for the first trip at 8:30 a m and for the second at 3p. m. The ladies will serve dinner and supper on the grounds charging only 50 cents for dinner and 15 cents for supper, Children 15 cents for dinner and ten cents for supper, Row boats swings croquet etc will be taken along and every effort made to insure a good time to those attending, The fare for the round trip is 25 cents 10 cents for children. All are invited to attend.

The passenger Steamer Alice Meehan leaves Thief River Falls every Monday and Friday for points on Red Lake Special rates given to excursion parties For further information apply to Jas. Meehan Jr. Thief River Falls,

A newspaper office is not a factory where news is manufactured and newspaper men are not clairvoyants who can see all things nor omnipresent and be at all places. He writes up not alone what he sees but also things of which he hears He cannot see everything and there are many things he would not hear of only for the kind courtesy of individuals who do not find it too much trouble to assist him Some people are kind enough to step out of their way a little to tell where or how an item of news may be gathered that might otherwise be missed by the newspaper. From others you can learn nothing. A newspaper transmits to print the little things about town that may be seen or heard of some one visiting a neighbor, or some of their own folks going or coming home of a runaway, dog fight an accident etc. If you know of any of these things send word to the office or tell the editor, you should no blame anyone but your self if they are not in print —Ex.

Good News to Farmers.

W. A. Sorsoleil will give you 50 pounds of good flour for a bushel of wheat, at Johnson & Marshall's ware house,

Anyone who observes a company of traveling men as they meet in a hotel lobby and go from place to place together will subscribe to the sentiment that of the average townsman. Watch the former as they meet, perhaps competitors trying to sell to the same local merchants and realizing that if one sell the other must sell just that much less When anyone speaks doubtfully of the character of one of those fellow strugglers for business he will find the whole fraternity ready to take up the friend's cause and defend him to the last. Business men of a city could learn a valuable lesson from this. It is not to be supposed that these travelers have no misunderstandings. They do. But they settle them among themselves and to the outside present a solid front If the business men of any town could work on such a basis you could work on such a basis you could not hold down such a town. It would grow and improve all the time,—Ex.

Notice of Sale

I will offer for sale at public auction on Saturday July 13th 1895 at James Madden's farm in Section 21 Tp 152 R 41. One bay mare about six years old which was taken up astray May 15th
Tom Madden

Every Country that has adopted the single gold standard has for years been passing through a period of deep depression, marked by falling prices, social unrest, industrial disturbances, emphasized at intervals by violent panics, This condition did not exist prior to 1873, but began immediately thereafter, and with occasional and temporary rallies has lasted to this day

With the very time that the gold standard countries began to suffer from a profound business depression the silver standard countries began a career of steady progress. Japan's growth and development has been within the past twenty years. India's great stride in manufacturing enterprises has been within the same time. Mexco has grown and prospered wonderfully within the past few years and during the very time that we have been passing through our period of stagnation was making steady progress in the development of her great resources. The manufacturers of Europe are loudly complaining of the ruinous competition of silver using countries. The farmers of the United States are being crushed by the same foe. The silver countries for the first time are becoming dangerous rivals to the great nations of the world —Memphis Commercial Appeal.

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop,

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred and eighty seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary Richard and Charles Richard her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 28th day of November 1889, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 9th day of December 1889 at 1 o'clock p. m., in book 43 of mortgages, on page 155, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law, or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz:

The North west quarter of Section thirty two in Township one hundred and fifty one of Range forty three in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 17th day of August 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law

Dated June 17th A. D 1895.
Security Trust Co., of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.
R. J. Montague, Crookston Minn attorney.

WANTED—Salesmen.

LOCAL AND TRAVELING. A good chance! Don't miss it! You need no capital to represent a reliable firm that warrants nursery stock first class and true to name, WORK ALL THE YEAR. and good pay weekly. Our famous Minnetonka Apple is warranted until it produces a bushel of fruit Our seed potatoes sell everywhere. State age

L. L. MAY & Co.
NURSERYMEN FLORISTS AND SEEDSMEN. St. Paul, Minn.

MINNESOTA

STATE NORMAL SCHOOLS.

AT

WINONA, MANKATO, St. CLOUD AND MOORHEAD.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state,

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:

(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural district, and elementary grades.

(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.

(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.

(d) A kindergarden training course [at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.]

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents' first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination. All others are required to pass an entrance examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota Text books are furnished at a rental of $1 per year Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week The new dormitory at Moorhead, and the ladies' Home at Winona furnish similar accommodation at a slightly higher rate. Winona accommodation $3.50 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at Winona September 2nd; at Mankato, September 2nd; at St. Cloud September 3rd; at Moorhead September 3rd.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R. KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead

Are You Going East?

If so, and you wish to avoid heat, dust, and worriment of an all rail route and at the same time secure those genuine pleasures of traveling, comfort, rest pleasant companionship, exhilerating sleep and good food, relishing appetite and every luxury one can ask for take the lake route from Duluth to Buffalo on one of those floating palaces of the Northern Steamship Company "North West" or "North Land?"

They are the largest, fastest and best equipped steamers on fresh water anywhere, and the equal of the finest ocean grey—hounds. — Leader Montevideo, Minn.

For Sale

Hay Stumpage on NW ¼ Sec 2 Tp, 152—44 Address.
P, S Ware Thief River Falls

U. S. Land Office
Crookston Minn. Aug. 7 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn., on Sept. 19 1895, viz:

Emelia Englund HD 1 736 for the NE ¼ SE ¼ Sec. 1 Tp 152 R 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

Carl Sandahl, Erick Anderson, Simon E. Ahlberg, Daniel Johnson all of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlavy, Register.

Dr H. GRUNDY

Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis

DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS AND CIGARS.

Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.

Broadway St. Hilaire

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY.

The NEW and the RIGHT WAY

EAST and WEST

TO ALL PACIFIC COAST POINTS AND TRANSPACIFIC PORTS.

TIME CARD.,
GREAT NORTHERN RAILROAD.

Daily		Daily
NO. 3 North and West		NO 2 South and East
7 15 p m Depart	St. Paul	Arrives 7 15 am
8 15 p m "	Minneapolis	6 15 am
3 15 a m	Barnesville	11 15 pm
5 35 am Ar	Crookston	De 8 55 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH

MONDAY WEDNESDAY, and FRIDAY

9 00 am De	Crookston	Ar 6 00 pm.
11 0 am Ar	St. Hilaire	De 4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.05 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1.20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.05 pm. Close connections made at Minneapolis and St. Paul for all points East and South.

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

F. I. WHITNEY G. P. & T. A. St. Paul
H. J. FREEMAN Agt. St. Hilaire

NORTHERN STEAMSHIP COMPANY,

The magnificent steamships "North West" and "North Land" leave Duluth Mondays and Fridays for the "Soo" Mackinac island, Detroit Cleveland and Buffalo, running in connection with Great Northern trains, (Eastern Railway of Minnesota) St. Paul and Minneapolis. Round trip tickets include the lake route either going or returning on sale by Great Northern Agents

No one should go East and back without using the delightful lake route one way at least For printed matter and information about the steamship tour apply to any agent of the Great Northern.

LANDS

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from

$2.00 to $6.00

PER ACRE.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP,
Lot 3 of 10	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SE NE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 23	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP,
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2	4.50 to 5.0
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.30 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " " 12	5.00
2 " " 14	5.00
3 " " 15	5.30 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " " 25	5.00 to 6.00
6 " " 26	5.00
9 " " 27	7.00
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.0
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
6 " " 35	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.50
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE of 34	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
8 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 1.70
NE of SE 10	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	2.00 to 5.00
4 " 31	4.00 to 6.00
3 " 34	3.00 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP,
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.00
2 " 17	4.50
3 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
1 " 23	5.00
4 " 29	5.00 to 6.00

I will sell the hay on the above described lands for the season of 1895 at reasonable prices. All persons are hereby warned not to cut hay on any of these lands without first making contract for same. For further information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

Impetuous People

are sometimes figuratively spoken of as not above setting things on fire just for the fun of.

Seeing Them Burn

Close competition breeds impetuosity, and in our earnest pushing for trade it often happens that we mark goods away down just for the fun of

Seeing Them Sell

Somebody has exclaimed: "Oh, the impetuosity of the idiocy of the tumultuous idiot!" This remark will never apply to you if in your rush for bargains you get into the right store, which of course is ours.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!

Great Bargain Sale of FARM MACHINERY

AT

J. E. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mowers at $10 each and a full line of walking and breaking plow which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise.

PTERODACTYL

We print a likeness of the skeleton of this remarkable paleontological reptile because some of its physical characteristics are synonymous with our business methods. Perhaps the most striking similarity may be found in its

Little Finger and our

Big Bargains

Its little finger is very large: and so are our bargains. The paradox of a little finger being big may be likened to the paradoxical inducements we offer you.

Profits and Hind Feet Small

Its hind feet are out of all proportion to its fore feet, just as our profit is overshadowed by the buyer's. Its large head represents the size of our stock. The many years that have elapsed since the time when this creature flourished will hint at the wearing quality of our goods.

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.
EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING
H. E. IVES, Propr.
SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:
Advance. $1.50.
Not in Advance. $2.00 Per Year

[illegible] St. Hilaire as Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY August 14 1895

TATTOOING AND CRIMINALS.

A French Writer Who Does Not Believe In a Connection Between the Two.

The French scientific journal Archives d'Anthropologie Criminelle prints a curious and interesting study of tattooing in its relation to criminals and other outcasts, vagabonds and the insane. The article is made up partly of extracts from a recently published German work on the subject and partly from the studies of anthropologists in various countries, especially in Italy, France and Germany. Some persons have thought that the habit of submitting to the tattooing process not unusual among criminals and rare among persons of regular and reputable life was evidence of the close relation of the criminal to the primitive savage, in fact, an effect of atavism. There have been many attempts also to trace a relation between the subjects depicted in tattoo upon the bodies of criminals and others and their mental and moral characteristics. The conclusions of the article are not favorable to those theories.

Although an examination of criminals in many prisons seems to indicate a decided taste for tattooing among them, the belief of the compiler of the article is that the fact that a man is tattooed cannot be taken as indicating anything as to the category to which he belongs. It is believed that the frequency of tattooing among any class of men is determined by external rather than internal causes. No anthropological analogy is found in the tattooed designs, though the subjects of tattooing upon the persons of prisoners agree with the view and customs of persons belonging to their social grade. Tattooed persons do not have marked criminal characteristics, and ordinarily they are not dangerous or insensible to good. Lines without color made in prison by the prisoner upon himself seem to indicate morbid psychic excitement. Colored tattooing is a valuable aid in reconstructing the past of a prisoner and for the identification of criminals, though not so good for the latter purpose as anthropometrics.

The facts and figures that precede these conclusions are of the most curious sort.

Tattooing seems to be common among the lowest class of women of loose lives. One student of the subject examined 800 of these women and found that 10 per cent were tattooed. Names and initials of lovers were common marks. After a capital "E" followed the name, to signify that the affection was eternal. Hearts pierced with a dagger were common, as indeed they are upon tattooed men. The breast and forearm are favorite places for tattooing with both women and men. There is a conjecture that women of weak will and vagabond habits submit to tattooing oftener than others, and its prevalence among women of loose lives is ascribed to their association with criminals.

It has been found that a considerable proportion of the insane poor are tattooed. They exhibit a curious variety of subjects—allegorical, erratic, religious and conventional—but the students of the subjects have not been able to discover that the hallucinations of the mad have any relation to the tattoo marks that they bear. Favorite subjects are a woman's head and bust, soldiers, clasped hands, which is probably a Masonic sign, stars, comets, a boot with spur, Christ crucified, an altar with candles, the sun, animals and mathematical figures.

The article does not refer to the accepted belief that tattooing is commoner among sailors than among men in other occupations, though some statistics of the former occupations of tattooed criminals show a large proportion of sailors. There is no special reference to the elaborately tattooed men and women that exhibit themselves in dime museums on this side of the water or to the fact that men have been found tattooed almost from head to foot with Masonic emblems. There is no reference either to the fact that the enforced idleness of some prisoners and of sailors on long voyages probably leads them to resort to tattooing as a means of killing time.—New York Sun.

Bacteria and Not Thunder.

Scientists long since "went on record" as believing the ozone produced by electric discharges during thunderstorms to be the cause of milk coagulating and souring during the prevalence of such phenomena. Recent experiments by Professor Treadwell prove that the souring of milk is not due to oxidation caused by ozone or other products of the electric discharge, but that it is produced by the growth of bacteria in the fluid, the growth of which is exceptionally rapid in sultry, hot weather such as usually precedes thunderstorms.—St. Louis Republic.

Life is not a plaything to be used as long as it gives pleasure and then cast aside. It is an imperative trust, a continuous obligation from which no grief, no loss, no shame can ever absolve us.

U.S Land office
Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U. S Land Office at Crookston Minn on June 6 1895 viz:

Simon E. Ahlberg of St Hilaire Minn. Hd no. 12979 for the S ½ NE ¼ and Lots 1 and 2 Sec. 1 Twp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land, viz:

Carl Sundal, Anton Sundal Gilbert Anderson, Tollef Erickson, all of St. Hilaire Polk county Minn.

T. A. Dunlava. Register

WOMEN MONEY LENDERS.

Some of Them Unable to Read—Hard Terms to Borrowers.

"Perhaps you will be surprised when I tell you that there are such people as women money lenders, as some of my poor parishioners know to their cost," remarked a hardworking London curate. "These women—there are two in my parish—out-Shylock Shylock. Twopence is the usual charge for the loan of a shilling for a week, or, rather often, it is not a week, but for a shilling borrowed any time through the week, 1s. 2d. is expected on the following Saturday. Women are their only customers, and they make very few bad debts, as those who borrow generally do so without their husbands' knowledge and consequently are only too anxious to repay as soon as they are able, or else the lender would soon threaten to 'split' to their husbands. Besides, some of these people are so in the habit of borrowing 2 or 3 shillings every week that they are afraid if they did not repay the borrowed money on the Saturday their borrowing powers would be at an end. For a sovereign lent, a shilling a week interest is charged until the money is all repaid, and not less than 2 shillings a week is taken by way of installment toward repayment of the loan. If any week the installment is missed, the interest must be paid, and no reduction is made in the interest as the principal is reduced. A woman is often cajoled into taking some article of finery from the irrepressible tallyman, thinking she will be able to pay for the article by the 'easy' installment plan so glibly explained to her. Getting behind for two or three weeks in her payments, the credit draper threatens to summon her husband. To avoid this the woman goes to the money lender, who 'obliges' her with a sovereign on condition that she repays 3 shillings a week for ten weeks.

"It is not often that these female usurers will lend more than a sovereign at a time. However, in the case of a person dying and pending the benefit of insurance being received they will lend £3 or £4 to the bereaved family, frequently demanding as much as £1 for the use of £4 for a week.

"One of the money lenders to whom I refer deals only with female hawkers and street sellers. Owing to the precariousness of their calling these people constantly find themselves without the wherewithal to purchase their stock in trade. On a Friday evening as many as 10 to 15 women will borrow sums varying from 5 to 30 shillings in order to make their purchases at the early markets on the following morning. On a Saturday evening toward midnight the money lender makes the rounds of her clients' stalls, often taking every penny from the stallholder, which forces the hawker to trade on Sunday morning.

"It hardly seems credible, but one of these money lenders can neither read nor write, keeping account of all money due to her in her head with unfailing accuracy. This woman is an unbeliever in the stability of banks and always carries her stock in trade on her person, a not inconsiderable sum, seeing that one week, she told me, she had lent $135 in odd shillings."—London Correspondent.

To Old England.

When Charles II ruled the land, all strangers entering Southampton had to satisfy the authorities as to whom they were, whence they came and what they wanted there. Stone was so scarce Gravesend way that the names of the occupiers of churchyard ground were inscribed on logs of wood fastened to posts at each end of the grave, and for want of better fuel the people of Wilts used cow dung, which they dried in summer by daubing it against their houses and walls. Norwich butchers were compelled to sell all meat killed in the fore part of the week by Thursday night in order to encourage the sale of fish on the following days. A pleasanter peculiarity of the place was the annual feast of the mayor, aldermen and liverymen kept in the town hall, whereunto ladies were invited and presented with marchpanes to take home with them. With like gallantry the trade companies of Newbury allowed the sex to participate in the merry meetings they delighted in holding, on which occasions the men, arrayed in their best clothes, marched through the town, with the town music playing before them, the women following after, finely dressed and all in steeple crowned hats, "a pleasant sight to behold."—Chambers' Journal.

Voices of Animals.

The roar of the lion can be heard farther than the sound of any other living creature. Next comes the cry of the hyena and then the hoot of the owl; after these, the panther and the jackal. The donkey can be heard 50 times as far as the horse and the cat ten times as far as the dog. Strange as it may seem, the cry of a hare can be heard farther than that of either the dog or cat.—Exchange.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of nine hundred and thirty-two dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Ole P. Stokke and Tehne Stokke his wife mortgagors, to Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 3rd day of August 1889, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 7th day of August 1889 at 2:55 o'clock p. m. in Book 53 of mortgages on page 54 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty in Township one hundred and forty-nine of Range forty-seven in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston in said county and state on the 8th day of June 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated April 5th A. D 1895.

Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee
J. Montague, attorney. Crookston Minn.

U. S. LAND OFFICE
Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on July 2 1895, viz:

Carl Wik of St. Hilaire Minn. H D no 13344 for the SE ¼ Sec 35 Twp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

Hakon Johnson, Frank Satterberg, Jonas Fonstrom, Peter Anderson all of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava, Register.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of five hundred and eighty-seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary A. Holuvik and Hans M. Holuvik her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee, bearing date the 17th day of December 1890 and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 19th day of December 1890, at 2:30 o'clock p. m in book 51 of mortgages, on page 112 Which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned by said Security Trust Co. of Nashua N. H. mortgagee to Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper by written assignment dated on the 7th day of January 18[illegible] and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds on the 24th day of January 18[illegible], at 8:40 o'clock a. m. in Book 56 of mortgages, on page 83 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The [illegible] quarter of Section 18 in Township One hundred and Forty-seven in Range Forty-five in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said County and state: on the 8th day of June 1895 at [illegible] o'clock A. M. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and the taxes if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 1st A. D. 1895.

Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper
Assignee of mortgagee.
R. J. Montague, attorney. Crookston Minn.

ORDINANCE NO. XIV.

Relating to the impounding of domestic animals in the Village of St. Hilaire.

The village council of the village of St Hilaire do ordain as follows:

Sec 1. There shall be a public pound in the village of St. Hilaire to be located by the village council.

Said council shall appoint one pound master who shall hold his office until the next general election thereafter and until his successor is duly appointed and he shall be entitled to such compensation as the village council shall designate.

Sec 2. No horse, mule, or cattle of any kind, sheep, hogs, goats, hens or chickens, turkeys or any other domestic animal shall be permitted to run at large in said village at any time and if found running at large therein each and every one of the animals aforesaid may be impounded in the public pound of said village from which they shall not be released until the owner or owners shall pay the pound keeper such fees as be shall be allowed by law together with a reasonable sum not exceeding fifty cents for each animal taken up and the costs and expenses of keeping such animal in the pound. The owner of of such animal above specified or any person in whose charge the same may be who shall permit the same to run at large within the limits of said village contrary to the provisions of this ordinance shall on conviction thereof before a justice of the peace of said village be punished by a fine not exceeding ten dollars and the costs of prosecution and in default of payment may be committed to the village or county jail for a period not exceeding ten days.

Sec. III. It shall be the duty of the poundmaster to provide suitable and necessary sustenance for animals so impounded and a reasonable cost for such sustenance shall be paid to such pound master before such animal shall be released from custody.

It shall be lawful for such pound master to sell at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash any animal so impounded as aforesaid, at any time after the expiration of four days from the time that they were impounded the said pound keeper to give not less than three days notice of the time and place of sale with a description of the animal or animals to be sold by posting three written or printed notices in three conspicuous public places in said village, for posting said notices the pound master shall receive 25 cents apiece for each notice so posted.

Sec. IV Any pound master of said village who shall refuse to take up restrain or impound any animal mentioned in this ordinance liable to be impounded by him, known to be running at large contrary to the provisions thereof or who shall neglect to make deligent search for such animals shall on conviction thereof before a justice of the peace of said village shall be punished by a fine not exceeding ten dollars and costs of prosecution and may be imprisoned until such fine and costs are paid not exceeding ten days.

Sec. V Any animal sold under the provisions of this ordinance for the sum of ten dollars or more may be redeemed from the purchaser at any time within thirty days from the sale thereof upon payment of the purchase price and 5 per cent additional and all reasonable costs for keeping the same after the sale over and above the value of the use of the same.

Sec. X. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force on and after the first day of Sept. A. D. 1895.

Dated and passed at St. Hilaire Minnesota this 6th day of August A. D. 1895.

All ordinances prior to this in regard to the impounding of animals are hereby repealed.

S. M. Dainard
Pres. of Vill. Council
Attest
J. L. Johnson
Village Recorder.

SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD
E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.
DEALERS IN
LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.
A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath, Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always on hand at the lowest market prices.
S. M. Dainard, Manager.
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.
WILL ALWAYS PAY THE
HIGHEST MARKET PRICES
FOR
All kinds of
CATTLE.
Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.
Ground Feed for Sale
S. M. DAINARD.
Manager.

THE
ST. HILAIRE
TOWNSITE
COMPANY
Will sell for the next
60 days
DESIRABLE RESIDENCE
LOTS
From $25 to $100.
ALSO FIRST CLASS BUSINESS PROPERTY AT HARD PAN PRICES.
Apply to
H. E. IVES Agt.
ST. HILAIRE MINN.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON
DEALER IN
pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.
Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.
Barbershop in connection
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

The New
Ithaca Hammerless Gun
BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200
BARRELS.5 0.

This cut represents Quality No. 1—List $[illegible].
SELF-COMPENSATING. MATTED RIBS.
Taking up Wear at Every Point.
An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsman that we have not only improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have not, and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money but THE BEST
[illegible]
EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.
ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers ITHACA, N.

FRED EIKHOFF
DEALER IN
Heavy and Shelf
HARDWARE
HEADQUARTERS FOR
HUNTER' SUPPLIES
MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS
BINDING TWINE
P[illegible] 9 cents a pound.
NEW GOODS [illegible] PRICES
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

AMERICAN HOTEL
W. A. ARTHUR Proprietor
NEWLY FURNISHED
STRICTLY FIRST CLASS
Special attention given to traveling men, Hunting, Fishing and Excursion parties.

FARMERS STORE
NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.
If you want to save money do your trading with
HALL BROS.
DEALER IN
Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

A TOMBOY.

That long-legged darling, Alice James,
Plays cricket with the Johnson boys;
A dozen engines could not make
So shrill a noise.

She's only twelve, and so, unfrocked
Beyond her sometimes shameless knee;
And never maiden longed so much
A boy to be.

She puts on gloves and pads to bat,
And makes young Johnson bowl her slows.
Good heavens! How she pulled that ball!
And how she goes!

She's tumbled yards outside the crease,
And is indisputably out.
Another innings? Ah, how strong
That cherry pout!

She keeps on batting all the time,
And hammers Rupert Johnson's lobs;
She also thumps Emilius's,
And also Bob's!

So, riding roughshod over rules,
This long-legged darling has her will;
And when she's twenty, I expect
She will do so still.—Norman Gale.

THE ROMANCE OF A PIPE.

"P-f-f-ff. Minnie! It's a horrid smoking carriage."

"So it is, Maud. Well, it couldn't be helped. There was no time to choose our carriage; in fact, we had luck in catching the train at all. These underground trains scarcely give one time to wink."

"What dreadfully vulgar expressions you do pick up, Minnie."

"Slang is the go nowadays, my dear. You cannot be smart without it. But I say, do you really object to the smell of tobacco?"

"Yes, especially when it is stale. The scent of a carriage like this clings to one's dress for hours."

"What of that? It is rather chic than otherwise. For my part, I greatly prefer a smoking carriage."

"What extraordinary taste!"

"Not so much for the sake of the tobacco, as because you meet the best-looking men in smoking carriages, and——"

"Minnie! Don't be so expressibly vulgar."

"And the wickedest."

"Are all smokers wicked, then?"

"No; but all wicked men are smokers."

"And you like wicked men best?"

"Rather! Don't you?"

"Of course not. How can you suppose such a thing?"

"Charlie Bidding is a little wicked, my dear," (with laughing malice.)

"I—I—really Minnie, you speak as if Ch—Mr. Bidding's affairs had something to do with me. Haven't I told you fifty times——"

"Yes, you old darling! And I've never believed you once. Hilloa, what's this?"

"What's what?"

"Why this," said Minnie, stretching across and picking up some small article from the opposite seat. "By jingo, Maud—a pipe!"

"So it is. Some man has left it behind him. Ugh! The horrid, smelly, old, thing. Put it down at once, Minnie."

"You're no judge of pipes, my dear," said Minnie, airly. "If you were, you would never abuse a pipe for being old. Now, this is a regular clinker; quite a gentleman among pipes. Look at it. Amber mouth-piece, silver collar, beautifully colored bowl and" (bringing it near to her dainty pink nose) "smells de-licious!"

"Faugh! I call the smell atrocious. It nearly makes me ill—even at that distance."

"Ah, that's your prejudice, dear old-fashioned coz. I—I say" (inspecting the inside of the bowl) "it's—actually—charged!"

"Actually, what?"

"Charged, you darling simpleton; loaded filled with baccy. And I do believe—yes—yes it is—I am sure of it—it's Old Judge!"

"Pray what is Old Judge, Minnie?"

"Old Judge, Maud, is a particularly scrumptious kind of baccy. My brother Jack always expects me to give him some for a Christmas present. It tastes just about heavenly, I can tell you."

"Tastes!" cried out Maud. "You do not mean to say that you have ever smoked it?"

"Rather, I've had stealthy whiffs from Jack's pipe many a time. I should like a pull at this one now!"

As she spoke, to Maud's unutterable horror, she placed the pipe in her mouth and made believe to draw it.

"Good heavens, Minnie!" exclaimed her sober cousin, aghast. "How can you! That horrid, dirty, strange pipe? Take it out immediately!"

Minnie only laughed.

"If I had a match with me," she said "I should shock you still more, for I should light up."

"Allow me to oblige you."

It was a man's voice, and it came from behind. Both girls turned hastily round. Maud's face was crimson. Even Minnie, who was usually equal to most situations, showed signs of confusion.

The stranger was in the next compartment, looking at them over the partition. How long he had been watching them they did not know, for they had sat with their backs to him, and would never have observed him at all unless he had spoken. He was not an ill-looking man—rather the reverse. He had a pleasant, good-tempered face and twinkling eyes, which were now regarding the two young ladies with evident amusement. But he had no business to be spying over the partition at all, still less to address girls with whom he was unacquainted. So Maud felt, and she drew herself up as stiffly as she could, and affected to ignore him.

That was not in Minnie's line at all. After the first shock of the stranger's voice she began to enjoy the joke, and she said, with a wave of her hand toward his proffered match-box:

"Thanks, awfully. We are getting out at the next station, else I should have availed myself of the kindness."

"Then, if you are really not going to use it yourself, perhaps you can spare me my pipe now," suggested the stranger, smiling.

"Oh, it's yours, is it? Here you are," she said, handing it up to him.

"Thank you very much. I ought to explain. My intrusion must otherwise seem rather unaccountable. I got out at the last station for a paper, and jumped back into the wrong compartment. Recollecting that I had left my pipe—an old and valued friend—upon the seat, I stood up to look for it over the partition. I was rejoiced to find that it had fallen into such appreciative hands."

"Oh, I know a lot about pipes," said Minnie. Then, as the train pulled up she turned to her cousin, exclaiming:

"Hilloa! here we are; Gloucester road. Out with you, Maud."

The stranger raised his hat by way of farewell.

"I shall never forget that so great a connoisseur in pipes as yourself has pronounced mine to be a regular clinker!" he said demurely.

When they had alighted from the train Maud, who had been frowning at her cousin all through the above conversation, at once took that young lady to task for her encouraging the stranger's familiarity. But Minnie treated these remonstrances very lightly.

"All right, dear old Propriety. No harm done. Only a bit of a joke. What do you think Aunt Agatha will say when she hears about it?"

"Surely you won't tell mamma; she will be terribly angry if you do," exclaimed Maud.

"Oh, I'll tell her, certainly, if only for the sake of watching her face during my recital. It will be better than a play," answered Minnie.

And Minnie did tell her. And Aunt Agatha's face—a genuine study of emotions—was decidedly better than a play. No actress could have reproduced that horror-struck expression.

"Margaret," she said scathingly. "I do not know which to condemn the more, your outrageous conduct with that impertinent stranger, or your flippant manner of relating it. It is hard for me to believe that you can be my own sister's child."

A few mornings later the two girls were sitting in the little up stairs room, where they painted and messed, and practiced untidiness to their heart's content.

A maid entered.

"A message from misses, please, Miss Maud. Will you go down to her in the drawing room?"

Maud sprang up and smoothed her hair with her hands. Then she ran down stairs to obey her mother's order, with a very nervous, frightened expression upon her face.

It was nearly an hour before she came back. Minnie looked up at her questioningly. It was clear that something unexpectedly good had happened.

"Oh, Minnie, I have something so wonderful to tell you. Mr. Bidding—Charles—has had an extraordinary piece of fortune. He has come into two thousand a year! And mamma has allowed us to be engaged. She was so kind, Minnie, and said such beautiful things about my happiness being her one consideration. I think I have misjudged mamma, Minnie."

Just for a second a queer, quizzical twinkle flashed in Minnie's eyes. The idea of Aunt Agatha saying beautiful things was rather novel. However, that was soon forgotten in her genuine delight at Maud's happiness. With all her harum-scarum ways, Minnie was a warm-hearted, unselfish little creature. She hugged and kissed her cousin a dozen times. She used every term of congratulation—of endearment. Had it been her own engagement she could not have displayed more heartfelt and unaffected joy over it. Maud found her sympathy very delicious. Girls in her condition are particularly susceptible of sympathy. It adds on 75 per cent to their bliss.

At luncheon Aunt Agatha was more than agreeable. Her face was wreathed in smiles through the meal. Minnie indulged in many vulgarisms unrebuked. It was altogether an unprecedented luncheon in that house. Aunt Agatha said some more beautiful things and Minnie managed to keep her countenance. It was an effort. But she did it.

In the afternoon the elder lady went out alone to pay calls, and, no doubt, to discuss Maud's engagement with her friends. It was 5 o'clock before she returned. She came into the drawing room where the two girls were having tea. They saw at once by her face that something had happened in the interim. She had gone away in a sunlight of smiles and good humor. She came back in a storm of angry scowls. Eve Maud had never seen her mother's face more ominous. The poor girl shuddered. What could it mean? Could it have anything to do with her engagement?

But it was not against Maud that her mother's anger was directed.

"Margaret!" she said in an awful voice. "Margaret!"

"Yes, aunt," replied Minnie.

"I—I—hardly know how to address you—you shameless girl. Do you know what I have been told of you this afternoon? That a few evenings ago you were seen after dark in a deserted street near here walking arm in arm with a man."

"Quite true, aunt," answered Minnie in a low voice. Her eyes were bent upon the carpet. She was altogether very shame-faced and confused.

"And a strange man!" continued her Aunt Agatha, her voice rising with increased anger.

"Yes, aunt. At least I had never seen him till I picked up his pipe the other day on the underground."

"Picked up his pipe!" Aunt Agatha's voice had risen almost to a scream. "Is that the fellow? That counter jumper! A nice companion for my niece to walk arm in arm with in the public streets."

"I did not take his arm," faltered Minnie in a slightly confused tone, until I had promised to marry him!"

"Promised to marry him!" Aunt Agatha's expression was now appalling. "Marry him! Some common cad, whose very name we don't know, and—"

"I do know his name, aunt," interposed Minnie.

"What is it, pray? Tom Jones or Jack Robinson?" scoffed the elder lady, with an unparalleled effort of sarcasm.

"Not quite either, aunt. It is the earl of Northover—Charlie Bidding's brother."

* * * * * * *

So, you see, Charles owed his fortune to the earl, his brother. The earl owed his generous impulse to Minnie. And Minnie owed her opportunity to the pipe. If you took the opinion of the three persons, adding in Aunt Agatha and Maud, you would probably find them concur in Minnie's original verdict upon the said pipe, viz., that it was a regular clinker!—London Truth.

A New Kind of Lozenge.

Mrs. Briggson—Harold, mother called in at your office yesterday, and, seeing some cough lozenges on your desk, took several. To-day she is suffering dreadfully, and she thinks you meant to poison her.

Mr. Briggson (the architect)—Cough lozenges! Great Scott! That was a box of samples of our little mosaic tilings for hotel and office floors.—Good Company.

What Do You Call This?

"Are you going to work?" inquired one gentleman of another when they met on a crowded elevated train the other morning.

"Going to work!" exclaimed the one addressed, grabbing another strap to keep his legs from giving out, "I'm working!"—Yonkers Statesman.

Couldn't Take Any Risks.

"You haven't read my new book of poems yet?"

"No, I haven't. I've just recovered from a severe illness, and the doctor is very particular about my health."

THE PASSION PLAY.

NEW VERSION TO BE PRODUCED IN A SWISS TOWN.

A Stage in the Open Air—Six Hours Required to Produce the Great Play—Vivid Biblical History Depicted.

In the little watch making town of Selzach, Switzerland, this summer there will be presented a new version of the Passion Play. With rare exceptions, the production nowadays of a play of this kind, dealing as it does with a living and breathing representation of Christ upon the stage, provokes little opposition in many of the European countries.

This country has not yet outgrown its Puritanical abhorrence of the Passion Play, but in certain sections of Europe the desire on the part of the public for productions of this kind is growing. Violent opposition at times greeted the first performance of the play at Oberammergau some years ago, but all this is changed. Some of the foreign writers and thinkers regard this change not in a religious light at all. They assert that it is merely one of the revolutions in taste of the stage-loving public, and point to the fact that in the realm of theatric art a change in rapidly working in the direction of the popular plays or mysteries of the Middle Ages. The public, they claim, want plays of this kind, and in meeting the demand the theatrical folks have gone much further back, in fact, to Biblical times.

With the forthcoming Passion Play at Selzach and a sacred opera called "Christus" by the late Anton Rubinstein now being produced at the Bremen Opera house, the Europeans should have a surfeit of stage productions of this kind.

Rubinstein's opera, after it has run the gauntlet of the European capitals, will probably be brought to this country, but it is a question whether its production will be permitted. It will be a question of local option with the cities, and even, if it is eventually staged here it will only be after most bitter fights with the opponents of plays of this kind. It will also be largely modified, as in its present shape it presents all of the leading events of Christ's life upon earth, with the exception of the crucifixion.

The play to be produced at Selzach goes more into details than Rubinstein's opera. Two years ago the Passion Play was given at Selzach. The success achieved was very marked, as the best critics of Europe agreed that it far excelled the Oberammergau production. The wealthy people of Selzach, after the successes of 1893, at once began the creation of a fund for the erection of a Passion Play theater. The construction of the building is quite different from the ordinary playhouse, being designed to meet the peculiar demands of the plays to be produced.

The stage is in the open air, where all the spectacular effects can be fully realized. The auditorium, however, is covered and fashioned much after the plan of the ordinary theater. It will seat 1,200 people. The parts designed for the orchestra and choruses are built after the plan of the Wagner theater of Bayreuth. They are beneath the stage surface, and entirely out of sight of the spectators. This arrangement intensifies the spectacular features of the production, the music seeming to come up out of the ground.

It will take six hours to produce the play, allowing for a half hour's intermission for luncheon. This necessitates the beginning of the performance at 11 a. m., and concluding at 5 p. m. Next Sunday the first presentation will be made, and the play will be enacted on every succeeding Sunday until September. The only week day on which it will be given is Thursday, Aug. 15, the Festival of the Assumption.

Two hundred musicians, singers and actors take part in the performance. The music is by the German composer, H. F. Mueller, and the play is divided into two parts, one occupying the morning session, and the second taking up the afternoon session.

The scenes of the morning session are largely taken from the Old Testament, the first picturing the life of Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden. Their flight from the garden is shown. The murder of Cain, Jacob's dream, Joseph in Egypt, the finding of Moses as a babe and the giving of the laws of Moses on Mount Sinai are all presented with truthful allegiance to the Biblical descriptions.

The birth of Christ is beautifully produced. When the Three Wise Men enter the hut a dazzling radiance of light shows the Infant Christ, with Mary seated at the foot of the crib. Standing by is Joseph with folded hands and with soft music rising from the sunken orchestra and singers. The Three Wise Men, accompanied by the shepherds, kneel while the music slowly increases in volume until it reaches a grand hallelujah of adoration. This scene is one of intense grandeur and church dignities who have witnessed it have had nothing but praise to say of it.

Christ.

The journey of the Wise Men to the birthplace of Christ is given, also a vivid representation of the Holy Family. The sermon on the mount is another striking feature of the play, including as it does the feeding of the 5,000 people and the rising up to life of the youth at Nain.

In the sermon scene the Savior is shown standing in the shade of a great tree as He preaches to the people His doctrines. There is a wonderful dramatic art in this scene, as the crowds are slowly worked up to a wild pitch of enthusiasm for the Master and His teachings, and in this spirit they lead Him to Jerusalem.

There is a vast contrast between the first and second parts of the play. The former portrays all the glories and victories of Christ, while the latter deals with His sorrows and death.

The selling of Christ by Judas Iscariot for thirty pieces of silver is one of the finest scenes in the second part of the play; also the trial before Pilate. The march to Calvary is about the most dramatic of all the scenes. Christ, walking beneath the archways of Jerusalem with the cross upon his shoulders, followed by the rabble of the city, forms a wonderful picture.

Before long modifications of the Passion Play will be produced in England, which will be the first time that anything of the kind has been presented in an English-speaking country. It will be in form of tableaux vivants or living pictures, other features of the dramatic art being dispensed with.

On this subject a recent number of London Black and White says that two oratorios, "The Passion" and "St. Elizabeth and other works, by Dechant [illegible] orary member of the St. Cecilia society, Rome, are about to be introduced in England. Of late over 120 towns in Germany have testified their admiration of the music and the illustrative tableaux. One of the latest representations of "The Passion" was at Salzburg, under the presidency of the archbishop, Dr. Katchthaler, and with the co-operation of the local choirs, and on that occasion the Marble hall of the imperial palace, large as it is, proved inadequate to meet the demands of the applicants for admission. Continuing, it says: "It is held that the combination of music and picture is free from any of the objections raised to the famous 'Passion Play.' 'St. Elizabeth' was recently performed before the grand ducal court at Darmstadt with marked success."

Peter.

Supporters of the "Passion Play" claim that it is a most desirable religious agent, as it teaches the events of the Bible pictorially and in a vivid way that produces a lasting impression upon the mind of the spectator.

House Nerves.

"House nerves" is the latest name invented by medical experts for the peculiarly depressing set of ailments which afflict people who stay indoors too much. Merely as house nerves the ailment can be regarded with some complacency; but for all that it is not a thing to be laughed at. All over Europe the rush for existence is playing havoc with sensitive cerebro-spinal fibres. People recognize all the symptoms which the inventors of "house nerves" describe as quite common today. They are "low spirits and broodings," much irritability and generally "morbid habit" of mind.

Women, especially women who are delicate and afraid to go out, owing to the weather, are those who suffer most from this malady. They have a way of imagining that something awful is happening to their husbands or children when they are out of their sight, they "conjure up accidents, analyze their feelings and lose their power of will." All this occurs because people are too sedentary, and stay at home too constantly. Unfortunately, a housewife, as her name implies, is one whose duty it is to stay at home for a considerable portion of each day; and all the mischief arises from her not being able to tear herself away from home ties and forget all about them in some form of out-of-door amusement or occupation.

Fortunately, the disease is not left without a remedy, and the prescription for a person afflicted with "house nerves" is a very agreeable one. There is no help to be got from medicine or doctors. All that has to be done is to pay visits to others, to take long walks in the open air and sunshine, and to go in generally for gayety and innocent amusements. The patient is also recommended to "repress every morbid thought as it arises, or repel it by thinking of a necessary duty."—London Telegraph.

Old Wine in English Houses.

People scarcely realize how large an amount of fine, rare wines and spirits lies hidden in old country hostelries. Outside London few people care for any but sweet wines, and on this account clarets and dry champagne of great age and fine flavor are often to be found. I know a small hotel whose name wild horses shall not drag from me, situated not many miles from one side of the New Forest. I found myself there once on a fishing expedition, and made friends with mine host, a typical innkeeper, whose red face and extensive width betokened good living. We talked about wine and he produced some of the finest claret I ever wish to taste. It had been in his cellars as long as he remembered. He also showed me some curiously sealed bottles of Hollands, undeniably old. A connoisseur would have taken up his abode there for good, and would have been well rewarded.

I have made very similar discoveries in Kent and Sussex. All these wines probably belong to an age before adulteration became a fine art, and long keeping has made them perfect. Nobody among the natives cares for them, and Boniface usually keeps the supply for the benefit of favored visitors from London. The spirits in towns and villages on the sea coast were probably smuggled on shore in the days when excisemen and smugglers indulged in hand-to-hand fights, and lent a romantic couleur locale to the South of England that is sadly missing in these prosaic days. Nowadays, the lodging-housekeeper and divers unnamable little wild fowl flaunt proudly in the regions of our native land's forgotten attempt at romance.—London Sketch.

Lightning Struck the Razor.

About 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon a commercial traveler called at the hairdresser's shop of Mr. R. H. Marshall, No. 34 Lockwood road, and sat down to be shaved. He was duly lathered, and, when Mr. Marshall had extended the razor and was about to begin the shaving operation, the lightning struck the razor from his hand and imbedded the blade about three-quarters of an inch in a wooden partition close by, where it now remains for passers-by and customers to see, with a label appended below it on which is written the following: "Notice—While shaving a young gentleman on Wednesday afternoon the lightning took the razor from my hand and buried it in the ceiling (partition), as above."—Huddersfield (England) Examiner.

Electric Soldering and Curling Irons.

Electric soldering irons are rapidly taking the place of iron heated in the ordinary way. The iron can be brought to the required temperature in an instant by inserting the termination the flexible cord carrying the current in the handle of the iron, and all the trouble of making and maintaining a fire is saved. The iron is provided with interchangeable copper tips, so that when one becomes worn another can be substituted at slight cost. The case and rapidity with which electric heating can be effected are bringing this class of apparatus forward not only in the industries, but in the domain of domestic economy. One of its most popular forms is the electric curling iron heater. The heater is suspended from an ordinary electric light socket, thus avoiding damage to furniture which might possibly be caused by an apparatus mounted on a stand and set on a table or stand. This appliance is now very much used by ladies in travelling. The connection is made in a moment, and there is no necessity for stringing a long, flexible cord to the table. In order to obtain the highest economy the heating resistance is inserted in the curling tongs; this insures the application of the heat at exactly the right place, and when the tongs are ready for use, which takes about half a minute, the current is gradually reduced by means of a compensating resistance. The regulation of the heat is thus entirely within the control of the person using the iron. The electric curling iron is the only appliance yet devised that will effect its purpose without running the risk of burning the hair.

Electricity in Japan.

American electrical engineers will do well to open their eyes to the advantages now offered by Japan as a field for electrical work. The correspondent of an electrical journal, who has recently returned from a visit to the East, emphasizes the need of electrical railways in Japan. He is certain, to begin with, that an electrical railroad on the fourteen miles between Yokohama and Tokio, passing through a thickly-populated district, would pay. At present, Tokio, which has over 1,000,000 inhabitants, has no electric road, and there is not a single street car line in Yokohama. The town of Osaka, in the central part of the empire, presents another admirable opening. It has no electric railway and is sixteen miles from the coast. It is now connected by railway with Kobe, which in 1890 had 136,000 inhabitants. An electric railway between these towns would prove a remunerative undertaking. A line from Osaka to Kioto, a great city, which was formerly the capital of Japan, via Kobe, would touch villages at almost every mile of its course, and would accommodate a population of fully 2,000,000 people. The Japanese are great travelers. They make long excursions over the country to visit the most sacred Buddhist temples and Shinto shrines, and the roads are often thronged with families going from one sacred place to another. The electric lines would pick up many parties out on these trips of combined religion and pleasure. The chances for electric lighting in Japan are quite as good as those of electric railroading.

Many receipts as published still call for cream-of-tartar and soda, the old-fashioned way of raising. Modern cooking and expert cooks do not sanction this old way. In all such receipts the Royal Baking Powder should be substituted without fail.

Cultivating Sponges.

Large areas of water along the coast of Florida, in the Gulf of Mexico, are devoted to this novel and, it is said, profitable industry. Sponge farms became necessary because of the possible exhaustion of the natural fisheries; cultivated sponges are also superior and easily accessible. The only preparation necessary for a farm is the dropping of rocks and stones into the water for the sponges to fasten to, and to build a lagoon to prevent the seed from being carried out to sea. In the autumn various varieties of sponges, including the male and female cells, are secured and kept in "pounds," which develop during the winter. In the spring they are liberated and soon fasten to the rocks. The sponge grows slowly and is generally pulled at the end of the third year, the smaller sizes being left for seed. Sponges are worth from $1.50 to $3 per pound.

Glass Bricks.

Hollow bricks of glass are being used in the construction of the walls of winter gardens and plant houses. They are so set that the hollows are filled with rarefied air, which is a non-conductor of heat. The bricks are laid in cement that unites the entire mass firmly. It is thought to be possible to use bricks without any support, and experiments are being made on roofing with this glass, which, put up in arch shape, will, it is hoped, be sufficiently strong to answer all purposes without the wood or iron frames ordinarily used in such buildings. Houses of this material are said to be heated at much less cost than those made after other methods. The light comes through the bricks, and extra windows are not necessary. The system is thought to combine great strength and economy, and if it is a success will almost revolutionize the building of plant houses.

Perfuming Flowers Artificially.

Flowers that have lost something of their perfume are now scented artificially by watering them with an alcoholic solution of essence, using a little glycerine to fix the odor. Thus, for violets, the liquid is composed of 100 grammes of glycerine and 10 grammes of essence of violet. In many places, while scented violets are comparatively rare, the unscented kinds grow wild in great profusion. These are now bought up in large quantities, scented artificially and put into the market in advantageous competition with the perfumed violets grown by the horticulturists. Cut flowers, which have wilted from time to time in transport, are revived by being plunged into a weak solution of sal ammoniac. Flowers which have little or no scent are also perfumed for sale by being put into a box with ice and then saturated with a current of carbonic acid charged with perfume.

THE SWORD SWALLOWER.

By Gradual Practice He Forces the Blade Beyond the Stomach.

The main thing, of course, is to know how, and then get your internal arrangements into the right condition. An army officer's sharp fighting sword would cut the ordinary esophagus, and that's the sort of sword I swallow. I know it is commonly believed my swords have round, dull edges, but that is not true. I once had a test at a military station in Texas and United States officers furnished the swords. I swallow anything but razors—I draw the line at razors.

But you want to know how to begin. Well, you would better start by swallowing a silver wire about six inches long. That will keep you busy for some time learning not to gag. A silver wire is what I began with about twenty years ago. You should get a doctor, too, and pay him by the week. He will cure up your throat as fast as you make it raw and irritated and he may give you a preparation to harden it.

After you have perfected yourself in running the wire down your throat you can get a small sword with smooth edges, but don't let it be made of soft iron. I was laid up for two months swallowing a cheap iron affair. It ought to be of steel or silver-plated, and about ten inches long. That's enough to begin on, although I swallow twenty inches. Where does it go? Well, that is the question: There are some things I don't understand about myself. The doctors at Rush Medical college were puzzled when I exhibited before them awhile ago. They said the canal wasn't long enough or big enough around to take in the twenty-four sword blades, but they had to admit what they saw. There is one thing certain—the blade goes beyond the stomach. Some think it enters the pyloric valve; but it is my opinion that it presses the stomach down so that it lies against the rear wall in the lower part of the abdominal cavity.

Of course I have to be careful, or I might hurt myself. Once I met with an accident and was laid up for a long time. I was exhibiting before some doctors, and swallowed one sword too many. The physicians saw I was in trouble, and one of them—contrary to my specific instructions—seized the whole bundle of swords and pulled them out at once. I was badly lacerated internally, but got over it.

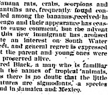
One of the difficulties in swallowing watches or swords is the breathing. The windpipe is compressed and I have to hold my breath almost completely for a minute and a half. Sometimes I can get a little air, but not much.—Chicago News.

IN A BUNCH OF BANANAS.

Family of Strange Tropical Animals Comes to Chicago.

Somewhere down in the tropics a few months ago a family of sigmodonts took up its abode in a bunch of bananas. In the course of time the bunch of fruit was picked and shipped to Chicago before the little creatures had an opportunity to give up their lease. A Mr. Kaufman, a Wrightwood avenue grocer, bought the cluster of fruit, and when he went to cut a dozen bananas for a customer, he found the nest. Besides the mother, there were six sigmodonts.

When they were disturbed the little ones jumped on the back of the parent, and clung for protection to her fur with their little hand-like feet, and further secured themselves by turning their own tails around that of the mother. Unfortunately, in the excitement of the discovery, the mother and five of the little ones were killed. The other one was rescued by Mrs. Dr. Tomagin, who was in the store at the time, and it is now at her home, 1634 Wrightwood avenue, thriving on a fare of bananas.



Banana rats, crabs, scorpions and tarantulas are frequently found concealed among the bananas received in Chicago and their appearance has ceased to cause comment, but the advent of this new immigrant has aroused quite an interest on South Water street, and general regret is expressed that the parent and young ones were not preserved alive.

Fred Black, a man who is familiar with the names of tropical animals, says there is no doubt that the little creatures are sigmodonts, a species found in Jamaica and Mexico.

The Usual Result.

"Papa, can I go to the store and get me a new dress?"

"Why, child, you have got plenty of good dresses."

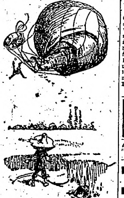
"Yes, papa, but they are out of style."

"Nonsense, girl! The trees always come out in the same style every spring, don't they?"

"Yes, papa; and they always look green, too."

"All right, go to the store and get a dress."

A Drop in Wheat.



—Life.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.
DR.
PRICE'S
CREAM
BAKING
POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Macready at Stockbridge.

In 1844 Macready paid Stockbridge a visit of two or three days. His famous stage stride was relaxed when off the boards, but otherwise his deportment was almost as classically dignified as in the tranquil intervals of his acting on the stage, where I had often watched his lightest movements and gestures with the intense interest inspired by youth and love of the drama. Two things about him specially impressed me. One was his daily appearance in a different colored dress coat, black one day, blue another, claret-colored the third, the last two garments being garnished with gold or gilt buttons. This, to a small country boy, quite unused to the sight of any dress coat, was a very impressive circumstance. The other thing was his saying that the reading of the Church of England service by the village rector of that day was quite faultless. A great compliment we villagers thought it to a New England rector from the leading tragedian of the English stage.—"Reminiscences of Literary Berkshire," by Henry Dwight Sedgwick, in the Century.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."
Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

Mercenary.

The cowbells tinkled drowsily.

In the shadow of the shelving shore, with the waves breaking at their feet, they lingered.

"Would you marry for money?" she demanded.

He started and turned pale.

"This is so sudden!" he faltered.

To make a bad matter worse he subsequently asked her how much she was offering.—Detroit Tribune.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

LAND
—IN—
MINNESOTA
Along the line of the Saint Paul and Duluth Railroad. Fertile Soil; Pure Water; Plenty of Timber; Good Markets.
Over 2,000 New Farms
Opened up last year.
The Best Place in America
for a Poor Man.
LAND ONLY $5.00 per Acre,
and from five to ten years' time in which to pay for it.
FREE Maps and descriptive circulars will be mailed to anyone applying for same to
HOPEWELL CLARKE,
Land Commissioner, St. P. & D. R. R.
St. Paul, Minn.

PROFITABLE DAIRY WORK
Can only be accomplished with the very best of tools and appliances. With a Davis Cream Separator on the farm you are sure of more and better butter, while the skimmed milk is a valuable feed. Farmers will make no mistake to get a Davis. Neat, illustrated catalogue mailed FREE. Agents wanted.
DAVIS & RANKIN BLDG. & MFG. CO.
Cor. Randolph & Dearborn Sts., Chicago.

PARKER'S
HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c, and $1.00 at Druggists

ARTIFICIAL LIMBS
Free Catalogue. Geo. R. Fuller, Box 2146, Rochester, N. Y.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR 25 CTS.
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

Minn Hist Society

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 21, 1895. NUMBER 3.

AROUND THE GLOBE.

DIGEST OF THE NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

All Important Occurrences of the Past Week, Boiled Down and Arranged for Rapid Reading, From Home and Abroad.

Washington.

The story that Ambassador Eustis has dropped the Waller case is denied.

At the war department the Bannock Indian scare is considered an episode of the past.

Mr. Debney, assistant secretary of agriculture, has gone to Atlanta, Ga., to assume his duties as chairman of the government board of management of the exposition.

The light business now carried on by pork packing establishments in various cities has resulted in the furlough of about 150 assistant microscopists of the agricultural department.

People in Print.

Frederick R. Coudert, it is reported, has been offered an appointment to the national supreme bench.

It is stated that Loie Fuller, the well known American dancer, who is now in England, is about to embrace Catholicism.

Mrs. Emeline Roach, widow of John Roach, the shipbuilder, died at her summer home, Larchmont Manor, Westchester county, N. Y.

Archbishop Corrigan of New York celebrated his fifty-fourth birthday. He was born in Newark, N. J., and became a bishop in 1873.

It has just been discovered that M. Kirk, elected special judge in Martin county, Kentucky, and who has tried a number of lawbreakers, is ineligible because he is too young.

John R. Barrett, a stockman of Sedalia, Mo., died of Bright's disease, aged sixty-one years. Mr. Barrett was a native of New York, and came to Missouri in 1851.

Miss Archibald, eldest daughter of the late Sir Edwin Archibald, for a quarter of a century British consul at New York, and late a resident of Halifax, N. S., died in England.

Frank H. Pixley, a veteran editor and politician, died in San Francisco, after a lingering illness. He came to California forty years ago, and was one of the most prominent men in the state.

John C. Wetmore, one of the oldest residents of Elizabeth, N. J., is dead. He was born in Whitesboro, N. Y., in 1813, being descended directly from Elder Brewster, who came over on the Mayflower.

The Casualty Record.

The business part of Lockport, Ill., was burned.

At Mt. Sterling, Ky., a sawmill boiler exploded, killing three men.

A boat capsized in Highland lake, near Eldred, N. Y., and three men were drowned.

Henry C. Bowen of Darien, Conn., a wealthy New York broker, accidentally shot himself in the leg and died from the shock and loss of blood.

During a storm in Kansas some cattle were crowded against a wire fence. Lightning struck the fence and twenty-five head were killed.

Henry Redd, his wife and daughter, and James Lee were killed by lightning in Prince Edward county, Virginia.

The body of Pietro Morino, a laborer, the fourteenth victim of the collapsed building accident in New York, was taken from the ruins.

A furious storm swept over the eastern portion of Pennsylvania. In Conshocken, Montgomery county, twenty houses were unroofed, fences were blown down and trees uprooted.

Edna King and her sister died at Jeffersonville, Ind., from drinking water impregnated with natural gas, and the father of the family is seriously ill from the same cause.

While picking apples at Winsted, Conn., Kate Danahy fell into a barrel of pitch. It took half an hour to cut and melt the stuff sufficient for her to walk.

A two-year-old child that had crept on the railway track at Woodstock, Va., was wedged between two ties and was uninjured by a train that passed over it.

While cooking, the clothes of Mary Myers, the seventeen-year-old daughter of John Myers of Mattoon, Ill., caught fire, and before help could reach her she was so badly burned that she will probably die.

Nelson Van Meddleworth of Athens, Mich., the two-year-old grandson of Rodney Beckwith of Constantine, found a box of strychnine pills at his grandfather's, and ate some with fatal results. The child was on a visit.

Annie Goery, the eight-year-old daughter of City Policeman Goery of Decatur, Ind., was burned to death. Her father, in trying to extinguish the flames, had both arms burned so badly that they will have to be amputated.

At Utica, N. Y., a temporary elevator, used in hoisting building material on the Martin block, with 1,200 pounds of stone, was raised seventy-five feet from the ground, when the rope broke, causing it to drop to the bottom of the cellar. Jeremiah Hess was killed and five others were injured, two fatally.

Sins and Sinners.

C. E. Walts, alias F. E. Wilson, the famous forger of Pueblo, Colo., gets only five years in the penitentiary

An attorney, a bailiff and a judge were the principals in a fight in an Omaha court room.

George Glass shot and killed an unknown colored burglar at his home in Grafton, Pa.

S. H. Sullivan, late assignee of the Columbian Fire Insurance company, shot and killed himself on his farm near Elkton, Ky.

J. S. Judge, a freight agent for the Union Pacific Railroad company at Sacramento, Cal., committed suicide by hanging himself to a bed post with a shawl strap

Robert Hudson, a young and highly-educated man, who had run through his own and his wife's fortunes, was executed by hanging at York, Eng., for the murder of his wife and child.

Wiley Williams, William Williams and Sant Konkle were arrested at Paris, Tex., charged with being the leaders of a "Whitecap" gang organized to drive out the negroes.

C. M. McNorton, a young mulatto, shot his prospective bride, Sadie Lourine Johnson, an octoroon, at the alter at Dallas, Tex. At the last moment she had refused to marry him.

In a fight between three stone cutters and tramps on a freight train near Erie, Pa., Henry Eastlake and Barney Smith were shot and seriously wounded by the tramps.

George Sanford Price, a well-known ex-temperance lecturer, who fled from Goshen, N. Y., ten years ago, to escape arrest for forgery, returned and gave himself up.

Mrs. Hayden Rubelmann, prominent in society, while out cycling at St. Louis, was knocked from her wheel by highwaymen, pounded into unconsciousness and her diamond earrings torn from her ears.

Zeke Bryant, who deliberately killed a guard at the Kingston, Tenn., convict camp, has been recaptured. The case raises a nice question and it is not known whether he will be tried for murder as he is already a convict.

S. P. Brown, manager of the Gordon mine in Colorado, was held up by masked men in his own home and relieved of a sack of gold ore valued at many thousands of dollars. At the same time the robbers took $500 worth of Mrs. Brown's diamonds.

The American Bankers' association has run down a clever and dangerous check forger and secured his conviction. He has been sent to the penitentiary at Lincoln, Neb., to serve a five-years' sentence. The man's real name is Louis Seiffert, but in his swindling operations he has used many aliases, among them, Max G. Mendle, Nathan A Meyers, George B. Hyman, Herman Bergman, Oscar Silverman and David S. Berman.

From Foreign Shores.

The Brazilian insurrection has finally ended.

Gladstone attaches great importance to American public sentiment on Armenian affairs.

An American vessel has successfully landed arms, ammunition and recruits in Cuba for the insurgents.

Mr. Gladstone writes to a correspondent, saying: "I am not conscious of ever having given an opinion in favor of the abolition of the second chamber."

While President Barrios of Guatemala was witnessing an exhibition of target practice, a shot passed close to him. He believes it an attempt to assassinate him.

According to the new regulations of the ministry of education, women will be admitted to the Berlin university in order to study medicine, dentistry and pharmacy.

Postmaster General Ward of New Zealand has instructed his government that the expected additional subsidy from Great Britain to the Canadian-Australian line would not be forthcoming.

Herrera Obes, ex-president of Uruguay, dropped a revolver from his pocket as he was taking a seat at a theater, and the ball entered his leg. He was not badly hurt, but the city of Montevideo became much excited over the report that he had been assassinated.

Otherwise.

Corbett and Fitzsimmons had a sensational encounter in a Philadelphia barroom, but no blood was shed.

John M. Butler, a prominent lawyer of Indiana, is critically ill at Newport, R. I.

The Bank of Shelby, at Memphis, Tenn., suspended. It was a small institution.

Louisville saloonkeepers have decided not to serve any free lunch during the Grand Army encampment.

Dick Croker is still master of Tammany. The reorganization at New York was according to the plans of the old leaders.

Two powerful searchlights are to be placed over Niagara Falls by the Michigan Central road, with the view of enabling the patrons of that road to see their beauties after sunset.

The outbreak of splenic, or Texas cattle fever, in Warren county, Tenn., which has caused large losses, is now believed to be under control and is rapidly abating.

The body of a man found on the beach, near Grand Haven, Mich., is supposed to be that of H. M. Tilsworth, one of the victims of the yacht Arctic disaster.

A change in mail routes has shortened the time of letters from New York to St. Paul and effects the saving of a day's time in business matters.

Eugene Grossman lost a valuable diamond while bicycling at St. Louis. When a friend, who had been riding behind Grossman, reached the end of his journey he found the diamond imbedded in the rubber tire of his wheel.

A medal of honor has been presented to Alexander A. Forman, corporal of Company C, Seventh regiment of Michigan infantry, for distinguished gallantry at the battle of Fair Oaks, May 31, 1862.

The intense heat was severe on the West Virginia state militia. During the review by Gov. McCorkle, at Parkersburg, the thermometer reached 103 deg. There were twenty-eight prostrations in the First regiment and eight in the Second, and all serious enough to be sent to the hospital.

Carl Theodore Seibert, aged seventy, of Belleville, Ill., took unto himself a bride one day. The next day he had the bride and also a $5,000 breach of promise suit. He married Mrs. Catherine Rieder of O'Fallon. Mrs. Barbara Kaster of Belleville alleges that the aged benedict promised to marry her.

Cherokee claimant inhabitants are gathering at Vinita, Ind. T., for a meeting to take action to secure full legal rights in the nation, which they claim the Cherokee nation has long refused to give, and they propose to appeal to congress and the courts for redress.

MANY ARE KILLED.

MANY GUESTS IN A DENVER HOTEL PERISH WHILE ASLEEP.

The Gumry Hotel Is Partially Wrecked by an Explosion and Many of the Guests Have No Doubt Perished—The Ruins Catch Fire and the Unfortunates Are Left to Their Fate.

Denver, Aug. 20.—The Gumry hotel, Nos. 1725 to 1733 Lawrence street, was wrecked by a terrific explosion at 12:10 this morning. The rear half of the building, a five story brick and stone structure, went down with a crash. The hotel was crowded with guests, and many of them must have been killed, as well as the entire force of hotel help, who were sleeping in the portion of the hotel which fell. On both sides of Lawrence street from 17th to 18 th streets, and on Laramie street, directly back of the hotel, the plate glass windows of he business houses were blown in and a number of pedestrians were injured by falling glass. The fronts of many buildings in the neighborhood were badly demolished.

The hotel structure for 100 feet along and extending 75 feet toward the front is a mass of debris. Brick and plaster are piled in heaps 20 feet high, and from this mass of wreckage can be heard the moans of the injured and dying.

At 12:35 five injured persons have been taken out. They were all inmates of the upper story, and sank down with the floors, escaping more fortunately than those below, who are still buried in the ruins. By some estimates forty people were in the portion of the hotel destroyed, nearly all of whom must be dead. The cause of the explosion is uncertain is uncertain, but it is supposed that the battery of boilers in the hotel basement must have exploded. The sound was heard throughout the city, awakening people a mile from the scene.

At 12:50 a. m. the ruins are burning fiercely, and the firemen have been obliged to retreat from the work of rescue. Every engine in the city is pouring streams of water into the mass, but the flames cannot be possibly gotten under control before many of the injured have been cremated. As their chances of escape lessen, the cries of the imprisoned people are increasing, heartrending shrieks arising from every portion of the great mass of wreckage.

During the height of the excitement a horse and team ran away on 18th street, stampeding the great crowd of spectators. A number of people were more or less injured by being trampled on and falling in the broken glass which covers the streets and sidewalks in every direction.

Electric light wires dangling from broken poles in the alley add fresh peril to the firemen. One horse was killed by coming in contact with a live wire. Two injured women had been almost extricated from the ruins when the flames approached so close that the rescuers had to abandon them for their own safety. Both voices have now been silenced, fire completing the work commenced by the explosion. The bodies of three women are also to be seen in the back part of the building, but cannot be rescued.

Of those pinioned beneath under the debris, only two are thought to be yet alive, both men from the fifth story, who are still lying on their beds. Both are covered with several feet of debris about their heads, and can hardly survive another half hour. Almost no progress is being made at releasing them, as the smoke is blinding. The flames are only kept back from their bodies by half a dozen streams of water.

Thus far six of the persons in the house have been taken from the ruins, all badly injured. In addition, four were severely cut by plate glass falling into the street. In the wrecked building there was a tier of five or six rooms extending across the rear of the building, facing the alley, on each of the three upper floors. All of these rooms are believed to have been occupied, as people residing in rooms across the alley observed the lights burning in every window during the evening.

Among the dead are Peter Gumry and R. C. Greniek, the proprietors of the hotel, the day clerk and the night clerk, none of whom have been found. Immediately after the explosion occurred a boy was heard wailing in the corner of a room which had nearly all fallen away. Its parents had gone down with the first crash. Afterward the little one's cries became weaker and weaker, and when the flames shot up into the skeleton of the building it became silenced. The firemen made a brave effort to save a woman caught in the debris of the north corner of the hotel, but were forced to abandon the attempt. The spot where she lay is now the hottest part of the fire. None of the six persons thus far taken out are conscious and identification is impossible.

Thus far only 15 people who are known to have been in the building at the time of the explosion are accounted for. This leaves sixty supposed to be dead. Henry Sloan and wife of Huron, Kan., and W. C. McClain, the cashier of the Huron State bank, arrived at the hotel last night from Manitou, and occupied front and south rooms. They are among those taken down by ladders, and are all more or less injured. McClain states that he thinks there are sixty guests in the hotel, which, with the employes, would bring the number of people in the building at the time of the disaster up to 75.

It does not appear that any baking powder, when presented in competition with the Royal, either at the Government tests or before World's Fair juries, has ever received favor or award over the Royal or made an equal showing in purity, strength or wholesomeness.

Caused by Despondency.

St. Paul, Aug. 20.—Mrs. Genovia Denniker, an old German woman employed as a domestic at 1878 Carroll street, committed suicide early yesterday morning by hanging herself. The woman was supposed to be demented, and was suffering from extreme despondency.

LABOR DAY PROCLAMATION.

The Governor Calls Attention to Sept. 2—Wants It Kept.

St. Paul, Aug. 20.—Gov. Clough has issued his proclamation calling attention to Monday, Sept. 2, as Labor day. After recomending that all factories, offices, stores and other places where labor is employed be closed, as far as practicable, on that day, the proclamation says:

"In a government such as ours, a government of the people, by the people, and for the people, the greatest problem of the state must ever be how to secure the welfare and improve the condition of the nation's toilers. Recognizing this fact, Labor day has been, by law, made a holiday, to emphasize the dignity and worth of human toil, and by its peaceful and happy associations to foster among all men that spirit of mutual confidence and regard between employers and employed, which alone can be relied upon to do away with industrial strife and turmoil and give prosperity and happiness to all. It is proper, therefore, that all men, employers and employes, laying aside for the day their usual avocations, should, by public assemblies or by other fitting ways, seek to promote co-operation and good will among all, and thus aid in opening the door for wider opportunities of good for the millions."

TO KILL FERDINAND.

Friends of Stambouloff Would Avenge His Murder.

Sofia, Aug. 20.—Rumors of plots to kill Prince Ferdinand continue. The murder of Stambouloff, the Bulgarian premier, and bitterness of feeling towards Prince Ferdinand causes all eyes to be directed to the Bulgarian throne. Prince Ferdinand's fate is uncertain, but he is said to have gone to Sofia, where he will personally take a hand in the following up and punishment of the culprits who so foully murdered the ex-premier. Prince Ferdinand is the youngest son of the late Prince Augustus, Duke of Saxe-Coburg, and Princess Clementine of Bourbon Orleans, daughter of King Louis Phillippe. He was born Feb. 26, 1861, was elected Prince of Bulgaria by the unanimous vote of the national assembly July 1, 1887, and assumed the government Aug. 14, 1887, in succession to Prince Alexander, who abdicated Sept. 7, 1886.

Prince Ferdinand.

The official food analyses by the United States Government show the Royal to be a pure cream-of-tartar baking powder, the highest in strength, evolving 160.6 cubic inches of leavening gas per single ounce of powder. There were eight other brands of cream-of-tartar powders tested, and their average strength was less than 111 cubic inches of gas per ounce of powder.

GRATIFYING INCREASES.

More Official Census Results Are Bulletined.

St. Paul, Aug. 20.—Secretary of State Berg has issued two census bulletins announcing the population of fifteen Minnesota cities of the second class. In each city, with the exception of Anoka, which shows a decrease of 440, a gratifying increase in the population is shown over 1890. The official returns from the various cities, showing increase or decrease, as compared with the census figures of 1890, are as follows:

	1895.	Inc.
St. Cloud	9,050	1,364
Little Falls	5,116	2,762
Village of Litchfield	2,044	145
Hastings	3,848	143
Owatonna	5,151	1,302
Fergus Falls	4,497	705
New Ulm	4,790	1,049
Brainerd	7,031	1,328
Faribault	7,608	1,088
Austin	5,087	1,186
Northfield	3,456	797
Wabasha	2,535	48
Lake City	2,616	488
St. Peter	4,250	580
Anoka	3,812	*440

*Decrease.

The Powers Must Speak.

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 20.—The Ledger received to-day by mail from Shanghai the first copy to reach this country of the report of Rev. Dr. J. Endicott, D. D., who was delegated by the Canadian and American missionaries to investigate and report upon the Cheng Tu riots in the Szechuen province. The report states that a crisis has been reached in mission operations; that foreign nations should change their policy and give the Mandarins to understand that they must treat American, British and other nations with respect and afford them protection; that unless this is done in the future, the outlook before the missionaries who labor in the interior of China will be dark, indeed.

A Horrible Death.

Minneapolis, Aug. 20.—Magnus Ryberg, who resides at 12 Sixth street northeast, and is one of the machinists at the Phoenix mill, Third avenue southeast and Main street, was strangled to death this morning while adjusting some machinery. His body was found a few moments after the accident occurred, but life was then extinct.

Half the corn crop in the southern part of South Dakota has been destroyed by hot weather.

SEVEN LIVES LOST.

RESULT OF THE OVERLOADING OF A SMALL PLEASURE BOAT.

Nine Persons, Four of Them Being Members of One Family, Are Thrown Into the Water by the Boat Capsizing, and All but Two Are Drowned.

Ocean City, Md., Aug. 20.—By the overloading of a small pleasure boat an entire family was drowned and two other families are in mourning. A party of farmers from the neighborhood of Frankford and Selbyville, Del., had a fish fry on Grey's Creek, a small branch of the Isle of Wight Bay, with bathing, fishing and other amusements. William Hudson carried a party of nine out sailing, and as the boat was about to come back, the women of the party jumped, screaming, on the high side, capsizing the little craft, which was hardly large enough to carry five persons.

The following seven were drowned: William Storr, aged 45 years, Philadelphia; Laura Storr, his wife, aged 35, and his daughters Ida, aged 16, and May, aged 14; Myrtle Stevens, aged 16, a daughter of Joshua Stevens of Selbyville; Lina Hall, aged 19, and her sister Lulu, aged 14, daughters of Elisha Hall of near Frankford.

The capsizing occurred within 200 yards of the shore and in water seven feet deep. Mr. Storr had only one hand and was blind in one eye, but he was an expert swimmer. He succeeded in getting his two daughters on the bottom of the boat, and was getting his wife, when the girls became scared and slipped off of the boat and went to their parents, and together the four perished. Hudson, who was sailing the boat, got the two Hall girls on the boat, and was trying to save Miss Stevens, when they slipped off and were drowned before he could get to them. Two other young ladies who were in the boat were rescued by a fisherman who put off from the shore when the boat capsized.

The Storrs family lived in Philadelphia. Mr. Storrs was married in this neighborhood, and yearly brought his family down for a two weeks' outing. They were very fond of aquatic sports and spent most of their time boating and fishing.

Hudson, the skipper, protested to Mr. Storrs against the party crowding into his small boat, which could only carry comfortably four persons. Mr. Storrs answered, "Oh, there is no danger. The water is shallow; we are close to shore, and the wind is light."

The bodies, when recovered by the searching parties, presented a horrible sight, particularly that of Mrs. Storrs. Crabs had eaten the flesh from her face, exposing her teeth and even the roots of her tongue. The ends of the fingers of all had been eaten away, and their eyes had disappeared. Before entering the boat, Mrs. Storrs took her husband's gold watch, over $100 in money, and their rings and other valuables and tied them in her apron. She was tightly clutching the bundle in death.

BASE BALL.

Standing of the Western and National Leagues.

Clubs—	Indianapolis	St. Paul	Kansas City	Minneapolis	Milwaukee	Detroit	Terre Haute	Grand Rapids	Won	Lost	Percentage
Indianapolis		5	6	5	8	11	13	11	59	34	.634
St. Paul	6		8	10	10	6	9	9	58	39	.598
Kansas City	5	10		6	11	8	9	6	55	39	.585
Minneapolis	5	8	8		10	5	6	7	49	45	.521
Milwaukee	3	6	6	7		[illegible]	8	9	46	49	.484
Detroit	7	5	3	7	5		8	11	44	51	.463
Terre Haute	4	2	3	5	4	7		12	37	59	.385
Grand Rapids	4	3	5	5	3	7	6		33	65	.337
Games lost	34	39	39	45	49	51	59	65

National League.

Clubs—	Played.	Won.	Lost.	P. Ct.
Cleveland	101	63	38	.623
Baltimore	91	56	35	.615
Pittsburg	96	57	39	.593
Chicago	99	55	44	.555
Philadelphia	92	51	41	.554
Cincinnati	94	52	42	.553
Boston	91	50	41	.549
Brooklyn	94	49	45	.521
New York	94	47	47	.500
Washington	86	30	56	.348
St. Louis	97	32	65	.330
Louisville	91	22	69	.241

Tried to Save His Child.

Elgin, Ill., Aug. 20.—Frank Kasear and his 4-year-old daughter Silvia were burned to death in a fire which destroyed their residence and several other buildings at Algonquin, a small village near here early this morning. The fire started in Kasear's house. When aroused, Kasear managed to get his wife and two of his children out safely, but before he could reach little Silvia a portion of the floor fell in, carrying the child down. Kasear was crazed with grief, and resisted the efforts of neighbors to drag him from the burning house, clinging to the door frame until the roof fell in, burying him in the blazing mass.

He Insulted a Lady.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 20.—John Stafferson died early this morning as the result of a blow on the head which fractured his skull. Stafferson, who was drunk, made some insulting remark to an unknown man who was passing with a lady. The stranger knocked Stafferson down, and it is believed his head struck the curbstone, inflicting the fatal wound.

Church and State.

Plattsburg, N. Y., Aug. 20.—The 4th annual session of the Catholic summer school closed last evening, when Rev. John S. Belford of Brooklyn delivered the sermon, his subject being "The Church and the Republic."

In baking powders it is safer to use the Royal only, an article that many years' experience has proved most efficient, and which has been officially demonstrated pure and wholesome.

Now Unconscious.

Lake Minnewaska, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Ex-Justice Strong has had a stroke of paralysis, which affects the left side of his body. He has also had a relapse of the catarrhal fever, is very weak and at present unconscious.

Shot Her Husband.

Dayton, Ohio, Aug. 20.—Furious with jealousy, Mrs. Thomas Holman shot her husband through the heart this afternoon. He fell dead without saying a word. The woman was arrested and is now in jail.

A SHORT CAMPAIGN.

It is Favored by National Committee Men of Both Parties

Chicago, Aug. 20.—Thirty-eight national committeemen—20 Democratic and 18 Republicans—have responded to questions asked by the Times-Herald concerning the policy of holding a short presidential campaign. The vote is now full enough to clearly indicate the probable results of the meetings which will shortly be held by the two national committees of the dominant parties.

The Republican national committee will declare in favor of a short presidential campaign. The Democratic national committee will decide in favor of a short presidential campaign unless the free-silver element predominates in the councils of the committee. The vote, so far as it has been received and recorded by the Times-Herald, is as follows:

Republican National Committee—For a short campaign, 14; against a short campaign, 3; non-committal, 1; total vote, 18.

Democratic National Committee—For a short campaign, 10; against a short campaign, 4; non-committal, 4; total vote, 20.

An examination of the vote by states clearly indicates the considerations which influence the opinions of the committeemen. The vote by states is as follows: Republican committeemen for a short campaign, New York, Illinois, Montana, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming, Maine, Indian Territory, South Carolina, Washington, Nebraska, Missouri, New Hampshire, Minnesota; against a short campaign, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Florida. Gen. Mahone of Virginia declines to cast a vote at present. Democratic committeemen, for a short campaign, Massachusetts, Ohio, Connecticut, Missouri, Georgia, Kentucky, South Carolina, Louisiana, Kansas, Utah; against a short campaign, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Tennessee, Florida, New Hampshire. The Democratic national committeemen from New York, Indiana, and Vermont decline at the present time to give any expression of their views on this subject.

It is perhaps too early yet to forecast the result of the coming meeting of the Democratic national committee, but it is an encouraging sign to note that not all the states favorable to free coinage are in favor of a prolonged fight, though the trend is clearly that way. Missouri, Kansas and Utah Democratic committeemen are in favor of a quick fight, in spite of the fact that the rank and file of their party in these states seemed favorable to free coinage. On the Republican side, Washington, Montana and Wyoming do not fear a short campaign. On the whole, the vote seems to forecast a decision in favor of a discontinuance of the prolonged campaigns which have long since outlived their usefulness.

THE MARKETS.

Latest Quotations From Grain and Live Stock Centers.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 20.—Flour—Winter straights, $3.25a3.50; do patents, $3.25a3.75; spring patents, $3.40a4; spring straights, $2.90a3.25; bakers', $1.90a2.50. Wheat—No. 2 spring, 65 5-8a66 1-4c; No. 3 spring, 63a65c; No. 2 red, 65 5-8a66 1-4c. Corn—No. 2, 39a40 1-8c; No. 3 yellow, 39 7-8a40 1-8c. Oats—No. 2, 21 1-8c; No. 2 white, 24a24 1-2c; No. 3 white, 22a23 1-2c. Rye—No. 2, 43 1-2c. Barley—No. 2, nominal; No. 3, 35a38 1-2c; No. 4, nominal. Field seeds—No. 1 flax, $1.08a1.09; timothy, $4.35. Pork—Mess, per bbl, $9.87 1-2a10. Lard—Per 100 lbs, $6.15. Short ribs sides (loose), $5.90a5.95. Dry-salted shoulders (boxed), 5 5-8a5 3-4c. Short clear sides (boxed), 6 1-2a6 3-4c.

Minneapolis, Aug. 20.—August closed at 62 3-8c; September, opening, 62 1-8c; highest, 62 3-8a62 1-2c; lowest, 62c; close, 62 3-8c; December, opening, 63 3-8c; highest, 63 3-4c; lowest, 63 3-8c; close, 63 5-8a63 3-4c. On track—No. 1 hard, old, 65 3-4c; No. 1 Northern, 64 3-4c; No. 2 Northern, 63 3-4c.

Milwaukee, Aug. 20.—Flour is nominally steady. Wheat lower; No. 2 spring, 65 7-8c; No. 1 Northern, 69 1-2c; September, 66 3-8c. Corn dull and nominal; No. 3, 39c. Oats firmer; No. 2 white, 24 1-2c; No. 3 white, 23a24c. Barley dull and unchanged; No. 2, 43c. Rye firmer; No. 1, 46 1-2c. Provisions firm.

St. Paul, Aug. 20.—Receipts, 550 hogs, 360 cattle, 10 calves. Hogs—Are barely steady on heavy packing hogs; good light butcher hogs firm. Sales, 74, averaging 229 lbs, at $4.40; 53, averaging 271 lbs, at $4.35; 33, averaging 216 lbs, at $4.30; 58, averaging 277 lbs, at 4.31 1-2. Cattle—Quiet; the bulk of receipts Westerns; good demand for stockers and feeders; fat steers about steady; thin cows a drug on the market. Sales, 1 steer, 940 lbs, at $2.50; 2 cows, averaging 880 lbs, at $2.25; 4 bulls, averaging 1,000 lbs, at $3.25; 2 steers, averaging 625 lbs, at $2.60.

The United States Government Chemist, after an examination for the Indian Department, made the emphatic statement that "The Royal Baking Powder is the purest in quality and highest in strength of any baking powder of which I have knowledge."

South Dakota Hustlers.

Managua, Aug. 20.—A South Dakota company, represented by W. J. Lasher, completed on July 10 a contract with the government of Nicaragua to run under Nicaragua's flag a suitable steamship, bi-monthly, along the Caribbean seacoast of Nicaragua, entering all the navigable rivers and carrying the mails free, also carrying free and feeding at least 25 Nicaraguan soldiers each trip, or that equivalent, when requested to do so by the Nicaraguan government. The contract is to run for twenty years, and the South Dakota company is to receive 62,500 acres of land.

Sank During a Storm.

Newburyport, Mass., Aug. 20.—The sloop Jumbo, of Rockport, while in port here to-day, filled with water and sank during a storm, and Capt. Stephen Orr and George Welch were both drowned. They lived at Rockport.

Storm at Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Aug. 20.—This city was swept by a heavy rain storm to-day that did considerable damage. Several buildings were blown down and telegraph and telephone wires seriously interfered with.

A COURT ROOM RIOT.

SHOOTING AFFAIR DURING A TRIAL IN A MISSOURI TOWN.

Two Prominent Farmers Are Principals in the Trial, and one Shoots the Other—Friends of Both Are Present and a Wild Scene Ensues.

Platte City, Mo., Aug. 18.—During the progress of a petty trial in the circuit court here Watt Reed shot and fatally wounded Newton Winn. Reed is under arrest. The court room was crowded at the time and a wild scene ensued. Winn and Reed are prominent farmers. One had charged the other with stealing a large number of hogs, and in a fight that grew out of the occurrence the people of Clinton county took sides. Bad blood that resulted was almost precipitated into an attack by one side or the other. Representatives of the two factions crowded the court room and made no pretense of covering up their show of feeling. After the proceedings had gone on for some time, John Cross, lawyer for Reed, made an insulting remark about Winn's son. Immediately the principals and spectators were in an uproar. Winn arose as if to strike at Cross, when Reed drew his revolver. Before his arm could be arrested Reed sent two bullets into Winn's body, one going through his bowels. In the excitement that followed Reed made his way to the door and was just escaping when arrested. Winn in a dying condition was carried to a neighboring house and cared for. It was some time before the confusion subsided, many of the spectators taking sides and threatening one another. Winn cannot recover. Reed is in jail, and many of his enemies are making bad threats against his life.

Portland, Or., Aug. 18.—At noon today the report of several shots in rapid succession were heard to come from the office of Dr. H. R. Holmes in the Dekum building, Third and Washington streets. The tenants of the building rushed in and found the prostrate bodies of Dr. Holmes and Dr. Robert K. Aushlund, each of whom was holding a smoking pistol in his hand. There were no other persons in the room. Aushlund had a hole in his body and one in his head, another in his breast, and another in his right wrist. Holmes was wounded in two places, one ball having entered an arm and the other the body just below the left nipple. Aushlund was taken to the hospital and Holmes to his residence. Aushlund's wounds will undoubtedly result fatally, while the doctors think Holmes will recover. It is not known what was the cause of the shooting, but it is thought it was due to a criticism of Holmes of Aushlund's methods of treating a patient in the Portland hospital, when Aushlund called at Holmes' office to make him retract.

SERVED ON HAYWARD.

Catherine Ging's Sister Begins Suit Relative to Insurance.

Minneapolis, Aug. 18.—Miss Julia Ging, sister of the murdered Catherine Ging, for whose sudden demise Harry Hayward is now under sentence of death, has brought suit through her attorney, W. H. Eustis, against Hayward to have the assignment of the insurance policies issued on Miss Ging's life declared void and the notes now held by Hayward declared invalid, as having been obtained through fraud and deceit. The insurance policies are those issued by the New York Life Insurance company for $5,000, and the Travelers' Insurance company for a like amount. These policies were issued on the 20th and 24th of November, 1894, respectively. The papers in the case were served on Hayward yesterday afternoon and were a great surprise, in spite of the fact that he knew it was coming. The case will come to trial during the September term of the district court.

EIGHT MEN KILLED.

By the Premature Explosion of a Blast in a Pennsylvania Town.

Dubois, Pa., Aug. 18.—A dispatch from Clearfield says that eight men were killed and ten seriously hurt by the premature explosion of a blast near Mehaffy, on the Pittsburg & Eastern railway. The telegraph offices in the vicinity are all closed and no further details can be had to-day.

ON MRS. KENT'S LIFE.

Insurance of $15,000 Placed on Her by Her Husband.

Mandan, N. D., Aug. 18.—Attorney Campbell, one of Kent's lawyers, says Mr. Allison of Steele has in his possession a life insurance policy for $15,000 on Mrs. Kent's life, which Kent turned over to him just prior to Mrs. Kent's death. Allison is reported to have said that now Kent has had two trials, there is no reason for keeping his secret any longer.

May Be Murder.

Albert Lea, Minn., Aug. 18.—Late last night a row occurred in or near Stauch's saloon, the result being that a stranger got a fractured skull and other bruises. Despite all efforts to restore him consciousness, he is yet in a stupor, and will probably die. Two men, named Carberry and Johnson, have been arrested and are awaiting the result of the injuries before being arraigned.

Justice Strong's Condition.

Washington, Aug. 18.—Information was received here by the family of Justice Strong, of the supreme court, retired, now at his summer home at Lake Minnewaska, N. Y., that his condition is again very unfavorable.

Presidential Appointments.

Washington, Aug. 18.—The president has made the following appointments: Luke C. Hayes of South Dakota, Indian agent at Fort Belknap Agency, Mont.; Frank Reed, postmaster at Bismarck, N. D.; William W. Shanks, postmaster at Odebolt, Iowa.

Schofield at Bar Harbor.

Bar Harbor, Me., Aug. 18.—Lieut. Gen. John M. Schofield, U. S. A., is the guest of Secretary Lamont at Sorrento.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND
PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE.

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arriv Crookston Daily
St. Paul Minneapolis parlor Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.40 a. m.	7:05 am
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	7.25 a m.	7:10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston daily has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, time Tables or full information, apply to Agent northern Pacific R. R. at Crookston Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marsha
North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for in or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON
R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE
W. A. Sorsoleil

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS
COPYRIGHTS.

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free.

Building Edition, monthly, $2.50 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address
MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY.

Go to Johnson & Marshall's for lime cement, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Ware visited in the village last Sunday.

Sash and doors cheap for cash at Johnson & Marshall's.

W. F. Arnold of Crookston was in town on business last Monday.

Mr. Heard and wife of St. Paul is visiting in the village this week.

Judge Ives, of Crookston, looked over our improvments here last Friday

---

Philip Zeh of Thief River Falls was in town on business last Friday.

Dan Patterson made a short business trip to Red Lake Falls last Thursday.

J. C. Dahl was at Crookston several days the first of the week on business

---

There was a slight frost last Monday night, but no particular damage was done.

Mr. Wright of Thief River Falls was doing business in town last Tuesday.

John Nelson of Thief River Falls was in town a short time last Friday on business.

L. Ellington, of the Scandia Bank of Crookston, was in town on business last Friday.

S. Harris has been busy the past week digging ditches and graveling up the streets,

---

Frank Gravel, the popular Crookston traveling man was teking orders in town last Monday,

---

F H Kratka the Thief River Falls real estate man was in town between trains last Friday.

George Crocker, of Minneapolis, was shaking hands with old friends in the village last Thursday.

Mrs. Parcell of Fond du Lac wis. came up on to-days train to visit her sister Mrs. J. H. Freeman.

Dr. Wattson, of Red Lake Falls was in town a short time last Monday on his way home from Crookston.

P Meehan, of Thief River Falls was in town a short time last Monday on his way home from Milwaukee.

Mr. Askew, representing Berrisford and Co; of St. Paul was doing business with our merchants last Monday.

Stone Wanted

$4.00 per cord paid for stone delivered at the St. Hilaire dam,

---

The social at the M. E Church was well attended and a neat sum taken in. All report a very pleasnts time.

Miss Alice Meehan and Miss. Florence Wallin of Thief River Falls attended services at the M. E, Church last Wednesday evening.

R. R Jones, of Crookston arrived here last Wednesday and will take charge of the St. Anthony and Dekota Elevator for the coming season.

While digging gravel out of the river bed below the dam a workman found several specimens of a goob variety of of soft coal. This is an indication that there is a deposit of it somewhere up the river.

The mica mine discovered here has turned out to be a deposit christalized sulphate of lime. With a slight application of heat it turns to pure plaster paris with out waste and if enough of it can be found a plant will be put in for the manufacture of that article

---

Twenty years ago a lad at fox Lake wis; was sent by his step mother to the corner grocer store to buy clothes line He returned a day or two ago bringing the clothes line, and a wife and five children beside, His deliberation is due to the fact that he has been employed as a telegraph messenger boy all these years.—Ex

---

G W Mason of EuClaire, Wis, was in town last Thurday. Mr. Mason has a large saw mill at EuClaire which he intends to move to some point in this vicinity. He looked over the ground here last Thurday and was very favorably impressed with the location He is at present at Red Lake looking over the pine country.

Ask some men for an advertisement or a few locals and they will say they don't believe in advertising—a paper is never read. Let one of them be caught kissing his neighbors wife, or struggling along with a jag, and if the printing office is in the garret of a seventeen story building he will climb up to the top and beg the editor to keep quiet—not to publish it in the paper—Ex.

The passenger Steamer Alice Meehan leaves Thief River Falls every Monday and Friday for points on Red Lake Special rates given to excursion parties For further information apply to Jas. Meehan Jr. Thief River Falls.

The secretary of state has given out the census result of some of the principal cities of the state outside of the Twins, and the result is a gratifying increase. Following are the places mentioned in the first bulletin; winona' 20,659, increase 2,441; Red Wing; 7,675, increase; 1,381; Rochester 6,429 increase; 1,108; Mankato 9,298, increase; 469; Stillwater, 10,012, increase; 752.

One farmer out northwest of the city made the mistake of cutting his field of 160 acres in a square piece and when he finished found himself unable to get his team and binder out of the field owing to the fact that the shocks stood so thick in the way He was compelled to summon all his force and make a path through the field, before he could get back to the house, Luckily it was a machine which only cut six feet wide, —Crookston Times.

An exchange makes this seasonable suggestion: Think of your faithful horse these hot days and give him a drink often' He requires it every hour when worked in the field or driven on the roads. How refreshing is a draught of cool water to your famishing lips when tired and weary. It is none the less so to the animal that serve you. A horse can do much better a whole day of work or even a long journey without food than without water was more carefully attended to there would be better and more enduring services from our animals,

---

Attorney general Childs has construed an important section in the game law and given it as his opinion that it was not the intention of the legislature to say in the 1895 law that dogs should not be used in hunting birds. This ruling will be important owing to the approach of the open season for ducks, prairie chicken and other wild game. The law as it reads does not allow dogs to be used for bird hunting, the attorney general gets around the difficulty by calling attention to what the legislature undoubtly meant in the new law.—Ex

---

Chauncy M. Depew,s recipe for old happiness and old age is one which would encourage happiness in youth and make earth a near approach to heaven he says;' Keep in touch with the young. Join in their games, be a partner in the dance romp the fastests, and turn the quickest in the Virginia reel or the country dance; go up to the old college and sit down and light your pipe and sing college songs! take the children to the theater and howl with them at the roaring farce and laugh with them at the comedy and cry with them at the tragedy: be their confidence in their love affairs, and if they are not equal to it, write their love letters; and never stop writing some for yourself.'—Ex

---

It takes as much skill to market a crop as it does to raise it says a practical farmer in the Minnesota Weather and Crop Review. Right here is where many farmers are lame, After working early and late to prepare a crop for market they don,t know how to sell,

In order to sell to advantage one must know the article, How many farmers know the cost of a bushel of grain when it is on the wagon for market. Not many. So they do not know whether they are selling at a gain or loss, How long would a mercantile business prosper if it were carried on by guess? Of all the business people that ought to keep books farmers are the ones. Will you, as a farmer know at the end of this year whether you have gained or lost? You ought to; it's a simple matter. Then you would be prepared to start your work more intelligently another year. Another reason why farmers don't know how to mark it is because they don,t make themselves acquainted with the state of the market. In other words they don't take the papers or read it's books. No farmer should do without his farm papers and a few books on agriculture. Brains must be cultivated as well as grains. It ought to be the ambition of every cultivator to raise as near as it is possible to do so, all that his family consumes grains, vegetables, fruit, berries and meats, so that he can live like a king and have but little to buy.

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred and eighty seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary Richard and Charles Richard her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 29th day of November 1889, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds, in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 9th day of December 188?, at 1 o'clock p. m., in book 43 of mortgages on page 1??, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz:

The North west quarter of Section thirty two in Township one hundred and fifty one of range forty three in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 17th day of August 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of fore losure and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law

Dated June 17th A. D 1895.

Security Trust Co., of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.
R. J. Montague, Crookston Minn attorney

WANTED—Salesmen.

LOCAL AND TRAVELING. A good chance! Don't miss it! You need no capital to represent a reliable firm that warrants nursery stock first-class and true to name WORK ALL THE YEAR. and good pay weekly. Our famous Minnetonka Apple is warranted until it produces a bushel of fruit Our seed potatoes sell everywhere. State age

L. L. MAY & Co.

NURSERYMEN FLORISTS AND SEEDSMEN. St. Paul Minn

MINNESOTA

STATE NORMAL SCHOOLS.

AT

WINONA, MANKATO, St. CLOUD AND MOORHEAD.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:

(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural district, and elementary grades.

(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.

(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.

(d) A kindergarden training course (at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.)

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers, holding county superintendent's first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination. All others are required to pass an entrance examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota Text books are furnished at a rental of $1 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week The new dormitory, at Moorhead, and the ladies' Home at Winona furnish similar accommodation at a slightly higher rate. Winona accommodation $3.50 per week

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

The next school-year opens at Winona September 2nd; at Mankato, September 2nd; at St Cloud September 3rd; at Moorhead September 3rd.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information address the presidents as follows

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R. KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead

Are You Going East?

If so and you wish to avoid heat dust, and worriment of an all rail route and at the same time secure those genuine pleasures of traveling, a most pleasant companionship, exhilerating rest, pleasant sleep and good food, relishing appetite and every luxury one can ask for try the lake route from Duluth to Buffalo on one of those floating palaces of the Northern Steamship Company „North West" or "North Land?

They are the largest, fastest and best equipped steamers on fresh water anywhere and the equal of the finest ocean grey—hounds. — Leader Montevideo, Minn.

For Sale

Hay Stumpage on NW ¼ Sec 2 Tp, 152—44 Address.

P. S. Ware Thief River Falls

U. S. Land Office

Crookston Minn. Aug. 7 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his inention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on Sept. 19 1895. viz:

Engelia Englund HD 1 735 for the NE ¼ SE ¼ Sec. 1 Tp 152 R 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land viz:

Carl Sundahl, Erick Anderson, Simon E. Ahlberg. Daniel Johnson all of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlavy, Register.

Dr H. GRUNDY
Physician
& Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis
DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS AND CIGARS.
Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.
Broadway St. Hilaire

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY.

The NEW and the RIGHT WAY

EAST and WEST

TO ALL PACIFIC COAST POINTS AND ATLANTIC STATES.

TIME CARD.

Daily. NO. 3 North and West			Daily NO 2 South and East
45 p m Depart	St. Paul	Arrives	7 15 am
15 p m "	Minneapolis		6 15 am
15 a m	Barnesville		11 20 am
5 35 am Ar	Crookston	De	8 35 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH

MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

00 am	De	Crookston	Ar 6 00 pm
11 00 am	Ar	St. Hilaire	De 4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.0 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.0 pm Close connections made at Minneapolis and St. Paul for all points East and South.

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

Tickets to all points and baggage checked through

F. I. WHITNEY G. P. & T. A. St. Paul
B. J. FREEMAN, Agt. St. Hilaire

NORTHERN STEAMSHIP COMPANY,

The magnificent steamships "North Wes." and "North Land" leave Duluth Mondays and Fridays for the "Soo" Mackinac island, Detroit Cleveland and Buffalo. running in connection with Great Northern trains (Eastern Railway of Minnesota) St. Paul and Minneapolis. Round trip tickets include the lake route either going or returning on sale by Great Northern Agents

No one should go East and back without using the delightful lake route one way at least For printed matter and information about the steamship tour apply to any agent of the Great Northern.

LANDS

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from

$2.00 to $6.00 PER ACRE.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 23	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 7.50
4 " " 2	4.50 to 5. 0
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
2 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
13 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.00
NE SE of 28	4.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE OE of 31	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	3.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 4.70
	3.00
NE of SE 13	2.00 to 4.50
7 forties in 20	3.00 to 6.00
10 " 21	3.00 to 3.01
5 " 29	4.00 to 6.00
4 " 33	3.00 to 4.50
5 " 31	4.50 to 5.00
13 " 35
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 5.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6. 0
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	8.00 to 6.00

I will sell the hay on the above described lands for the season of 1895 at reasonable prices. All persons are hereby warned not to cut hay on any of these lands without first making contract for same. For further information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

Impetuous People

are sometimes figuratively spoken of as, not above setting things on fire just for the fun of

Seeing Them Burn

Close competition breeds impetuosity, and in our earnest pushing for trade it often happens that we mark goods away down just for the fun of

Seeing Them Sell

Somebody has exclaimed: "Oh, the impetuosity of the idiocy of the tumultuous idiot!" This remark will never apply to you if in your rush for bargains you get into the right store, which of course is ours.

E. M. HOFF
DEALER IN
General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!

Great Bargain Sale of
FARM MACHINERY
AT
J. E. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mowers at $10 each and a full line of walking and breaking plows which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise.

PTERODACTYL

We print a likeness of the skeleton of this remarkable paleontological reptile because some of its physical characteristics are synonymous with our business methods. Perhaps the most striking similarity may be found in its

Little Finger and our Big Bargains

Its little finger is very large and so are our bargains. The paradox of a little finger being big may be likened to the paradoxical inducements we offer you.

Profits and Hind Feet Small

Its hind feet are out of all proportion to its fore feet, just as our profit is overshadowed by the buyer's. Its large head represents the size of our stock. The many years that have elapsed since the time when this creature flourished will hint at the wearing quality of our goods.

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING

H. E. IVES, Propr.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

Advance $1.00

Not in Advance, $1.50 Per Year

[illegible] as Second Class Mail Matter

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 21 1895

CHANGES IN MAN.

The Primitive Man Had More Teeth and Was Otherwise Different.

It is a fact we are assured of by paleontologists and anthropologists that primeval man not only had four more teeth than men now have, but had fewer bones in the skull and fewer foldings or convolutions of the brain. The skull, too, has changed according to environments and use from an oval to a globular shape or to a compromise of the two.

The jaw has retreated as the front brain has protruded. The tearing tusk teeth have shortened up and are neatly and gently inclosed in the mouth.

Ears, from being pointed and movable like horses' ears, have become rounded and firmly fastened to the head. They are no longer the most important organ, as they were to the river driftmen to enable them to hear the approach of danger from all sides.

The nostrils, from being open and alert, have closed up to outside affairs to a great extent and serve mainly as conduits and as indicators of mental emotion. The eyes are shortening in their range of vision and adapting themselves to a studious race. All the senses were once intensely more acute, and the tendency now is steadily to lose more and more of their capability to gather in the world of sounds and sights except as these are correlated into logic—that is, we can no longer tell poisons by taste and track our enemies by scent or distinguish dangers by the rustles in the air.

Occasionally a child is born with peculiar gifts of an organic sort and can move his ears freely or shake his scalp. He does not use this faculty, as it was originally designed, to shake off flies or dust. Indeed it seems to be a useless reversion to a generally disused type.

Such changes in our general physical frame are startling and suggestive, but no more important than the mental and moral changes that are as demonstrable. Our ancestors were indubitably carnivorous to the degree of cannibalism. The instinct for savage beasts and revelry, involving bloodthirsty disregard of human suffering, may lurk in us yet.

The history of the Stanley expedition suggests that possibly savagery is latent in us in such degree that the absence of restraints of civilization may cause it suddenly to blaze with ferocity. Yet we certainly are transformed to a deep abhorrence for customs that our forefathers lived up to without a qualm.

Changes in customs are simpler than changes in organic structure, but both are easily possible. The rudimentary tail is still in our possession, and I have no doubt that if advantage could be found in its development we could get back to this appendage in its fullness. It would not be impossible to develop a race of men with tails if tails could be used. Certainly highly civilized races have lapsed in morality and intelligence to savage and animal conceptions of life. Such changes grow together and are interlinked.

As the eye and the ear are less occupied in detecting the approach of dangerous foes they are more occupied in listening to the sorrows of our fellows. The pathos and sympathy of a noble eye, the keen intellectuality of the student's nose, are part of the evolution. The organ changes and at the same time exchanges purpose and power.

Darwin says man may be excused for feeling some pride at having risen, though not by his own exertions, to the very summit of the organic scale, and the fact that he has thus risen instead of having been aboriginally placed there may give him hope of a still higher destiny in the future.—Boston Traveller.

The Nuns and the Pope's Mouth.

A funny story is appearing in some of the continental papers concerning some nuns and the pope. The nuns presented the latter with a piece of beautiful embroidery on which a portrait of the pope was worked. An eminent dignitary was engaged to present the gift, but the pope complained that the mouth had been made too large. The witty priest excused the error by remarking: "I hope your holiness will pardon the nuns. Women are such chatterers that they don't understand how a mouth should be small." The pope burst into a hearty laugh and accepted the gift with much graciousness.—Westminster Gazette.

Liberty.

Is life so dear or peace so sweet as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery? Forbid it, Almighty God! I know not what course others may take, but as for me, give me liberty or give me death.—Patrick Henry, March, 1775.

A scent, a note of music, a voice long unheard, the stirring of the summer breeze, may startle us with the sudden revival of long forgotten feelings and thoughts.—Talfourd.

Nearly nine-tenths of the property of this country is held in sums ranging from $1,000 to $1,000,000.

U. S. Land Office

Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn on June [illegible] 1895 viz:

Simon E. Ahlberg of St. Hilaire Minn. Hd no. 1263 for the S½ NE¼ and Lots 1 and 2 Sec. 1 Twp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land, viz:

Carl Sundal, Anton Sundal, Gilbert Aufinson, Tollef Erickson, all of St. Hilaire Polk county Minn.

T. A. Dunlava. Register

PROTECTION FROM LIGHTNING.

The Utility of Safety Rods—Some Interesting Statistics.

Lodge, one of the highest authorities, has said that any conductor (lightning rod) is better than none, although but few or none of them are absolute and complete safeguards. Some form of lightning rod is essential to anything like security. Putting aside the question of comparative cheapness of insurance against lightning and the cost of lightning rods, we can go at once to the matter as to how much lightning rods protect. In order to do this, it is necessary to get an idea of the nature of the action of lightning.

There exist all grades of lightning discharges, from the "steady strain," or gentle flow, of the electric current, comparable to the flow of water in a river with slow current, to the "impulsive rush," or intense disruptive electrical discharges of high momentum, which are comparable to an avalanche on a steep mountain side or a great flood. Where the discharge is of the former character, lightning rods do protect, but in the latter case even the best constructed conductors lose their efficiency just as a safety gate in a waterway would prove useless in the rush of waters of a great flood. It was such a disruptive discharge of lightning which caused the damage to the Washington monument on June 5, 1885. There are many flashes that are of an intensity which the human body can readily withstand.

Lightning rods should be either of copper tape weighing six ounces to the foot or of iron rod or tape weighing 35 ounces to the foot. The top of the rod should consist of clusters of points which have been plated to prevent corrosion or rust. The grounding of the rod should be in damp earth or running water, and independent grounds are preferable to water or gas main pipes. There is no definite area of protection depending on the height of the rod. The risk of a lightning stroke is about five times greater in the country than in the city. In fact, it is hardly necessary to place rods on the ordinary block dwelling houses of the city.

The region of greatest frequency of thunderstorms in the United States is in the southeastern portion, extending from Georgia to Mississippi, where 40 storms occur each year at the average. In the northern part of the United States not more than 20 occur, and on the New England coast but 10. The summer time is the time of greatest frequency. This occurs in May or June to the west and southwest of the great lakes, but the time is retarded to July and August, with progress toward the west, south and east of this region. The general direction of approach in the United States is from the west, but in southern Florida they approach from the east, thus following the direction of the general movement of the atmosphere.

About 200 people are killed annually by lightning in the United States. Of these casualties usually only one death occurs in each of January, February, November and December; in March, 3; April, 13; May, 28; June, 77; July, 63; August, 46; September, 15; October, 12. The annual loss by fire due to lightning strokes is estimated at $2,500,000. Of the annual number of 575 buildings set on fire, 370 were barns, stables and granaries, 24 churches and 131 dwellings.—New York Times.

A Millionaire's Watchdogs.

James Dobson, the millionaire carpet manufacturer, is a lover of fine dogs, and has probably a dozen prowling about his mansion overlooking the great plant operated by the Dobsons at the falls of Schuylkill. Among them are a fine bloodhound and a handsome St. Bernard. The latter has taken possession of the coachhouse and surroundings, while the bloodhound prowls as master around the house.

Each watches his respective district during the daytime, and when one dog trespasses upon the territory of the other a bitter struggle, sometimes accompanied by bloodshed, is sure to occur. But as soon as darkness sets in the two dogs hobnob together in the most friendly manner, traveling over the premises at will. The cause of the daytime enmity and the after dark friendship cannot be accounted for by the owner.—Philadelphia Record.

Time's Whirligig.

Mrs. Nowera—Henry!

Her Husband—Yes, my dear.

Mrs. Nowera—Here's another bill of $1.50 for neckties. That's the third in six months. And last week I settled a bill of $1.75 for your straw hat. Do you think I'm made of money?—Chicago Tribune.

First Text of First Sermon In Chicago.

The service was in the carpenter shop of Fort Dearborn; the preacher, the Rev. Jeremiah Porter; the text, "Herein is my Father glorified that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples," John xv, 8; the date, May 19, 1833.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of nine hundred and thirty-two dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Ole P. Stokke, and Tobne Stokke his wife mortgagors, to Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 3rd day of August 1889, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 7th day of August 1889, at 2:30 o'clock p. m., in Book 6 of mortgages on page [illegible] and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty in Township one hundred and forty-nine of Range forty-seven in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 8th day of June 1895 at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated April 5th A. D. 1895.

Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee

J. Montague, attorney. Crookston Minn

U. S. LAND OFFICE

Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the register or receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on July 2 1895, viz:

Carl Wik of St. Hilaire Minn. H D no [illegible] for the SE ¼ Sec 35 Twp. 153 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

Hakon Johnson, Frank Satterberg, Jonas [illegible], Peter Anderson all of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of five hundred and eighty-seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary A. Holovik and Hans M. Holovik her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company, of Nashua N. H. mortgagee, bearing date the 17th day of December 1890 and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 19th day of December, 1890, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in book 5 of mortgages on page 112 Which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned by said Security Trust Co. of Nashua N. H. mortgagee to Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper by written assignment dated on the 7th day of January 1891 and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds on the 21th day of January 1891, at 8:40 o'clock a. m., in Book 56 of mortgages, on page 81 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The [illegible] quarter of Section 18 in Township One hundred and Forty-seven in Range Forty-five in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston in said County and State, on the 8th day of June 1895 at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 1st A. D. 1895.

Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper

Assignee of mortgagee.

R. J. Montague, attorney, Crookston Minn.

ORDINANCE NO. XIV.

Relating to the impounding of domestic animals in the Village of St. Hilaire.

The village council of the village of St Hilaire do ordain as follows:

Sec. I. There shall be a public pound in the village of St. Hilaire to be located by the village council.

Said council shall appoint one pound master who shall hold his office until the next general election thereafter and until his successor is duly appointed and he shall be entitled to such compensation as the village council shall designate.

Sec 2. No horse, mule, or cattle of any kind, sheep, hogs, goats, hens or chickens, turkeys or any other domestic animal shall be permitted to run at large in said village at any time and if found running at large therein each and every one of the animals aforesaid may be impounded in the public pound of said village from which they shall not be released until the owner or owners shall pay the pound keeper such fees as he shall be allowed by law together with a reasonable sum not exceeding fifty cents for each animal taken up and the costs and expenses of keeping such animal in the pound. The owner of of such animal above specified or any person in whose charge the same may be who shall permit the same to run at large within the limits of said village contrary to the provisions of this ordinance shall on conviction thereof before a justice of the peace of said village be punished by a fine not exceeding ten dollars and the costs of prosecution and in default of payment may be committed to the village or county jail for a period not exceeding ten days.

Sec. III. It shall be the duty of, the poundmaster to provide suitable and necessary sustenance for animals so impounded and a reasonable cost for such sustenance shall be paid to such pound master before such animal shall be released from custody.

It shall be lawful for such pound master to sell at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash any animal so impounded as aforesaid, at any time after the expiration of four days from the time that they were impounded the said pound keeper to give not less than three days notice of the time and place of sale with a description of the animal or animals to be sold by posting three written or printed notices in three conspicuous public places in said village, for posting said notices the pound master shall receive 25 cents apiece for each notice so posted.

Sec. IV. Any pound master of said village who shall refuse to take up restrain or impound any animal mentioned in this ordinance liable to be impounded by him known to be running at large contrary to the provisions thereof or who shall neglect to make deligent search for such animals shall, on conviction thereof before a justice of the peace of said village shall be punished by a fine not exceeding ten dollars and costs of prosecution and may be imprisoned until such fine and costs are paid not exceeding ten days.

Sec. V. Any animal sold under the provisions of this ordinance for the sum of ten dollars or more may be redeemed from the purchaser at any time within thirty days from the sale thereof upon payment of the purchase price and 5 per cent additional and all reasonable costs for keeping the same after the sale over and above the value of the use of the same.

Sec. 5. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force on and after the first day of Sept. A. D. 1895

Dated and passed at St. Hilaire Minnesota this 6th day of August A. D. 1895.

All ordinances prior to this in regard to the impounding of animals are hereby repealed.

S. M. Dainard
Pres. of Vill. Council

Attest
J. L. Johnson
Village Recorder.

SPAFFORD S. M. DAINARD

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

DEALERS IN

LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.

A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath. Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always on hand at the lowest market prices.

S. M. Dainard, Manager.

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN

E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.

WILL ALWAYS PAY THE HIGHEST MARKET PRICES FOR

All kinds of

CATTLE.

Cord wood, Hay, Oats, Barley and flax.

Ground Feed for Sale

S. M. DAINARD.

Manager.

THE

ST. HILAIRE

TOWNSITE

COMPANY

Will sell for the next

60 days

DESIRABLE RESIDENCE

LOTS

From $25 to $100.

ALSO FIRST CLASS BUSINESS PROPERTY AT HARD PAN PRICES.

Apply to

H. E. IVES Agt.

ST. HILAIRE MINN.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON

DEALER IN

pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumery, and stationery, paints oils and dye stuffs.

Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.

Barbershop in connection

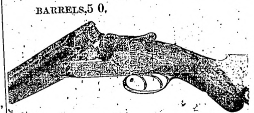
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New

Ithaca Hammerless Gun

BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200

BARRELS, 50.



This cut represents Quality No. 1 — List $50.

SELF-COMPENSATING. MATTED RIBS.

Taking up Wear at Every Point.

An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsman that we have not only improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have [illegible] and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the [illegible] but THE BEST [illegible]

EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.

ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers, ITHACA, N.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

Heavy and Shelf

HARDWARE

HEADQUARTERS FOR

HUNTER' SUPPLIES

MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS

BINDING TWINE

P[illegible] 9 cents a pound.

NEW GOODS PRICES

BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

AMERICAN HOTEL

W. A. ARTHUR Proprietor.

NEWLY FURNISHED

STRICTLY FIRST CLASS

Special attention given to traveling men, Hunting, Fishing and Excursion parties.

FARMERS STORE

NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.

If you want to save money do your trading with

HALL BROS.

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Groceries Notions.

"Peace Hath Her Victories."

STORY OF A MAN WHO FOUGHT IN A DOZEN BLOODY BATTLES.

From the Post-News, Alexandria, Minn.

When anything good comes to an old soldier the world is always glad to hear of it. It is therefore with especial pleasure that we listened to the story of Mr. William Miller, of Alexandria, Minn. The year 1861 found him prosperous and happy in a comfortable home in St. Lawrence County, New York. He realized that his country needed him and went as a private with Company K, of the 60th New York. Assigned to the Army of the Potomac, his life was not the "picnic" described by one of our Minnesota Congressmen. He went through the campaigns until after Gettysburg and then went to Tennessee with General Hooker to relieve the tension at Chickamauga and ended with Sherman on his march to the sea.

Four years of such work had its effect. He was a young man possessed of fine physique and must have had great strength; but soon after enlisting he suffered with most of his regiment from an epidemic of the measles and from that time had touches of sciatic rheumatism. He began doctoring for it, but in the army, in such campaigns as our boys saw who followed Hooker and Sherman, is a poor place to cure rheumatism and especially sciatic, the most difficult form of rheumatism to reach. After the war he was mustered out with honor, and his trouble increased, also his kidneys bothered him greatly. In a year he decided to come west to Minnesota and settled in Blue Earth County, where he lived until nine years ago. He was terribly crippled and suffered agonies of pain. He tried doctors of all kinds and medicines of every description.

Finally he decided to go still farther west, and selling his farm, he went to the coast. But the damp air had a still more harmful effect and he, suffering what only fellow victims of sciatica can realize, took almost the next train back, and came here to Alexandria where he had relatives. Buying a small farm near town, he again took up his fight with sciatica. He tried every known remedy, for such was his suffering that his right leg has been shortened fully two inches. His kidney trouble also increased so that he could only rest a couple of hours at a time. Finally last winter the sarcasm of destiny added the grip to his ills, and when he was recovering from it, but unable to leave his room, "when it was just as hard to sit up as to lie down, or to lie down as sit up," as he expressed it, he got hold of a pamphlet telling about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. He decided to try them, as he said, "they might help, and fifty cents would not ruin me."

He bought one box and before he had taken half of this box he felt wonderful effects, and he soon, as he himself put it, "felt light and active, full of spring and vigor." He had no more trouble whatever with his kidneys, but could sleep all night without getting up once, and, though he took but two boxes of the Pink Pills, he says he has never since had a twinge of the rheumatic pain. When seen on last Saturday he was at a neighbor's giving a kindly hand at repairing a pump, and this old soldier, 63 years of age, a veteran of a dozen bloody battlefields, showed greater strength than the young fellows he was helping and worked with all the vigor of youth.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 15th day of April, A. D. 1895.

(Seal.) LEWIS EVANS,
Notary Public.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain in a condensed form all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price (50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50—by addressing Dr. Williams' Med. Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

A Cause for Thought.

Caught—I've been pondering over a very singular thing.

Bache—What is it?

Caught—How putting a ring on a woman's third finger should place you under that woman's thumb.—Exchange.

Mothers who have used Parker's Ginger tonic for years insist that it benefits more than other medicines; every form of distress and weakness yield to it.

Two years are required for the gulf water to travel from Florida to the coast of Norway.

Hindercorns is a simple remedy, but it takes out the corns, and what a consolation it is! Makes walking a pleasure. 15c at druggists.

Helpless.

Householder—Here, drop my coat and get out.

Burglar—You shut up, or I'll wake your wife and give her this letter you forgot to post.—Detroit Tribune.

Do You Wish to Adopt a Child?

Address the International Children's Home Society, 234 La Salle street, Chicago, Illinois, Rev. Dr. Frank M. Gregg, General Manager. Such a child as you may desire, of any age, will be sent you on ninety days' trial. Enclose stamp.

Childish Reasoning.

Little Bess (to visitor)—You ain't black, are you, Mr. L.?

"Black, child? No. I should hope not. What made you think I was?"

"Oh, nothin'; 'cept pa said you was awful niggardly."—Philadelphia Record.

FITS—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after the first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch st., Phila., Pa.

The Japanese method of lacquering is said to be at least 2,000 years old. Pieces made ten centuries ago are still exhibited.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

The peach blossom has been selected by vote of the school children of Delaware as the floral emblem of the state.

Silk is so cheap in Madagascar that the poorest people wear clothing made of it.

Weak and Weary

Because of a depleted condition of the blood. The remedy is to be found in purified, enriched and vitalized blood, which will be given by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier. It will tone the stomach, create an appetite and give renewed strength. Remember

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the only true blood purifier prominently in the public eye today. $1; six for $5.

Hood's Pills cure habitual constipation. Price 25 cents.

SEMPER FIDELIS.

I laid my heart beneath your feet,
my sweet;
These lightsome feet that trod Youth's
flowery ways;
I only asked that it might give you praise—
E'en as a blossom, sprinkling from the sod,
Flings its pure odors to the morning's
god,
Nor reckons of its giving—as was meet.

You passed and left me, and the noon sun beat
Full fierce and fervent from a brassy sky;
Yet still I waited where you passed me by,
While all the verdure withered and the land
Stretched as a desert waste on every hand,
Pallid and parched, burned with a fever heat.

But in the silent dark I rushed to greet
Far footfalls falt'ring on the lonely road,
Wounded, and fainting 'neath their heavy load.
So by the rising moon I found you
there,
And washed with tears and wiped
with streaming hair,
And poured my hoarded spikenard
o'er your feet.

THE ROMANCE OF P'TITE LOUISON.

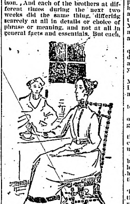
The five brothers lived with Louison, three miles from Pontiac, and Medallion came to know them first through having sold them at an auction a slice of an adjoining farm. He had been invited to their home, intimacy had grown; and afterward, having a severe illness, he had been taken into the household and kept there till he was well again. The night of his arrival Louison, the sister, stood with a brother on either hand—Octave and Florian—and received him with a courtesy more stately than usual, an expression of the reserve and modesty of her single state. This maidenly dignity was at all times shielded by the five brothers, who treated her with a constant and reverential courtesy. There was something signally suggestive in their homage, and Medallion concluded at last that it was paid not only to the sister, but to something that gave her great importance in their eyes.

He puzzled long, and finally decided that Louison had a romance. There was something in the way they said "P'tite Louison," in the way they avoided all gossip regarding marriages and marriage feasting, in the way they deferred to her on a question of etiquette in married life (as for instance, should the eldest child be given the family name of the wife or a Christian name from her husband's family) which suggested it. And P'tite Louison's opinion was accepted instantly as final, with triumphant and satisfied nods on the part of all the brothers, and with whispers of "How clever! how adorable! such beauty!"

P'tite Louison affected never to hear these remarks, but looked complacently straight before her, stirring the spoon in her cup, or benignly passed the bread and butter. She was quite aware of the adoration in which she was held, and she gracefully accepted the fact that she was an object of interest.

Medallion had not the heart to laugh at the homage of the brothers, nor at the outlandish sister, for though she was angular and sallow and thin, and her hands were large and red, there was a something deep in her eyes, a curious quality in her carriage which commanded respect. She had ruled these brothers, had been worshiped by them for nearly half a century, and the romance they had kept alive had produced a grotesque sort of truth and beauty in the admiring "P'tite Louison, an affectionate name for her greatness, like "the Little Corporal" for Napoleon. She was not little, either, but about the middle height, and her hair was well streaked with gray.

Her manner toward Medallion was not marked by any affectation. She was friendly in a kind, impersonal way, much as a nurse cares for a patient, and she never relaxed a sort of old-fashioned courtesy, which might have been trying in such close quarters were it not for the real simplicity of the life and the spirit and lightness of their race. One night Florian—there were Florian, and Octave, and Felix, and Isidore, and Emile—the eldest, drew him aside from the others, and they walked together by the river. Florian's air suggested confidence and mystery, and soon, with a voice of hushed suggestion, he told Medallion the romance of P'tite Louison. And each of the brothers at different times during the next two weeks did the same thing, differing scarcely at all in details or choice of phrase or meaning, and not at all in general facts and essentials. But each, as he ended, made different exclamation.



"P'tite Louison."

"Viola! so sad, so wonderful! She keeps the ring—dear P'tite Louison!" said Florian, the eldest.

"Alors! she gives him a legacy in her will!—sweet P'tite Louison," said Octave.

"Mais! the governor and the cardinal admire her—P'tite Louison!" said Felix, nodding confidently at Medallion.

"Bien! you should see the linen and the petticoats!" said Isidore, the humorous one of the family. "He was great—she was an angel!—P'tite Louison joli!"

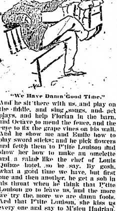
"Attends! what love! what history! what passion!—the perfect P'tite Louison!" cried Emile, the youngest, the most sentimental. "Ah, Moliere!" he added, as if calling on the master to rise and sing the glories of this daughter of romance. Isidore's tale was after this fashion:

"I ver' well remember the first of it, and the last of it—who can tell? He was an actor—ah, so droll, that. Tall, ver' smart, and he play in theater at Louison visit Montreal and while there she walk past the theater and as she go by she slip on the snow and fall. Out from a door with a jump came M'sieu Hadrian, and pick her up. And when he see the pretty face of P'tite Louison, his eyes go all fire and he clasp her hand to his breast.

"'Mademoiselle! Mademoiselle!' he say, 'we must meet again!'

"She thank him and hurry away quick. Next day the is skating, and she try to do the dance of the Blue Fox upon the ice. While she do it, some one come up swift and catch her hand and say, 'Mademoiselle, let's do it together'—like that. It take her breath away. It is M'sieu Hadrian. He not seem like the other men she know, but he have a sharp look, he is smooth in the face and he smile kind like a woman. P'tite Louison, she give him her hand and they run away, and every one stop to look. It is a grand sight. He laugh and his teeth shine and the ladies say things of him, and he tell P'tite Louison that she look ver' fine and walk like a queen. I am there that day and see all, and I think it damn good. I say, 'That P'tite Louison, she beat them all'—I am only twelve years old then. When he leave he give her two seats for the theater and we go. By gosh, that is grand thing—that play, and M'sieu Hadrian, he is a prince; and when he say to his minister, 'But no, my lord, I will marry out of my state and where my heart go, not as the state wills,' he look down at P'tite Louison and she go all red, and some of the women look at her, and there is a whisper all around.

"Next day he come to the house where we stay, but the cure come also pretty soon and tell her she must go home. And so we come out home. Well, what do you think! Next day M'sieu Hadrian come, too, and we have damn good time—Florian, Octave, Felix, Emile, they all sit and say: 'Parfaitement!' 'Ci!' 'Ci!' to him all the time. Holy, what fine storigs he tell! And he talk about P'tite Louison, and his eyes get wet, and Emile say his prayers to him—by gosh, yes, I think. Well, at last, what you guess? M'sieu he come and come, and last one day he say that he leave Montreal and go to New York, where he get a good place, in a big theater; his time in Montreal is finish. So he speak to Florian and he say he want to marry P'tite Louison, and he say, of course, that he is not marry and he have money. But he is a Protestan', and the cure at first ver' mad, by gosh! But at last, when he give a hunder dollars to the church, the cure say yes. All happy that way for while. P'tite Louison she got ready quick—holy, what fine things had she, and it is all to be done in a week, while the theater in New York wait for M'sieu.



"We Have Damn Good Time."

And he sit there with us, and play on the fiddle, and sing songs, and act plays, and help Florian in the barn, and Octave to mend the fence, and the cure to fix the grape vines on his wall. And he show me and Emile how to play sword sticks; and he pick flowers and fetch them to P'tite Louison and show her how to make an omelette and a salad like the chef of Louis Quinze hotel, so he say. By gosh, what a good time we have, but first one and then another, he get a sob in his throat when he think that P'tite Louison go to leave us, and the more we try the more we are damn fools. And that P'tite Louison, she kiss us every one and say to M'sieu Hadrian, 'Charles, I love you, but I cannot go.' He laugh at her and say: 'Viola, we will take them all with us.' That night a thing happen. The cure come and he look ver' mad, and he frown, and he say to M'sieu Hadrian before us all: 'M'sieu, you are married!'

"By gosh, that P'tite Louison get pale like snow, and we all stand round her close and say to her, quick: 'Courage, P'tite Louison.' M'sieu Hadrian then look at the priest and said: 'No, M'sieu, I was married ten years ago; my wife drink and go wrong and I get a divorce; I am free like the wind.'

"'You are not free,' the cure say, quick; 'once married, married till death. The church cannot marry you again, and I command Louison to give you up.'

"P'tite Louison stand like stone. M'sieu turn to her. 'What shall it be, Louison?' he say. 'You will come with me.'

"'Kiss me, Charles,' she say, 'and tell me good-by till—till you are free.'

"He look like a madman. 'Kiss me once, Charles,' she say, 'and let me go.'

"And he come to her and kiss her on the lips once, and he say, 'Louison, come with me. I will never give you up.'

"She draw back to Florian. 'Good-by, Charles,' she say. 'I will wait as long as you will. Mother of God! how hard it is to do right!' she say, and then she turn and leave the room.

"M'sieu Hadrian, he give a long sigh. 'It was my one chance,' he say. 'Now the devil take it all.' Then he nod and say to the cure, 'We'll thrash this out at Judgment Day. M'sieu, I'll meet you there—you and the woman that spoiled me.'

"He turn to Florian and the rest of us and shake hands, and say, 'Take care of Louison. Thank you. Good-by.' Then he start toward the door and stumble, for he look sick. 'Give me a drink,' he say, and begin to cough a little—a queer sort of rattle. Florian give him a big drink, and he toss it off. 'Thank you,' he say, and start again, and we see him walk over the hill ver' slow, and he never come back! But every year there comes from New York a box of flowers, and every year, P'tite Louison send him a 'Merci, Charles milles fois. Dieu to garde.' It is so every year for twenty-five year."

"Where is he now?" asked Medallion.

Isidore shook his head, then lifted his eyes religiously. "Waiting for Judgment Day and P'tite Louison," he answered.

"Dead!" cried Medallion. "How long?"

"Twenty years."

"But the flowers—the flowers!"

"He left word for them to be sent just the same. The daughter, the child of the other woman, send them."

Medallion took off his hat reverently as if a soul were passing from the world, but it was only P'tite Louison going out into the garden.

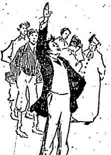
"She thinks him living?" he asked, gently.

"Yes, we have no heart to tell her. And then he wish it so. And the flowers kep' coming."

"Why did he wish it so?"

Isidore mused awhile. "Who can tell? Perhaps a whim. He was a great actor—ah, yes, sublime!" he said.

Medallion did not reply, but walked slowly down to where P'tite Louison was picking berries. His hat was still off.



"We'll Thrash This Out at Judgment Day."

"Let me help you, mademoiselle," he said softly. And henceforth he was as foolish as her brothers.

A REMARKABLE EXPERIMENT.

Boy Nearly Resuscitated Who Was Drowned the Preceding Day.

At Heffron's undertaking rooms an effort was made yesterday to bring back to life Louis Fisher, aged nine years, who was drowned in the lake on the previous afternoon.

Dr. Whitney, a physician living on Wilson avenue, claims that he himself was drowned at one period of his life, and after being dead more than an hour animation was, by a certain method, restored. Dr. Whitney has for some time desired to put this process to another test, but never availed himself of the opportunity until yesterday. His theory is that a corpse can be resuscitated, providing there are no internal injuries, by placing the entire body, except the eyes, nose and mouth, in a bath of water heated to a constant temperature of 110 degrees Fahrenheit, and leaving it there for at least five hours. An ordinary bath tub was used yesterday. When the water had reached the proper temperature, Dr. Whitney and his assistants carefully deposited the body in the tub. It was then about 11 o'clock in the morning and from that time until 4 o'clock, when the experiment was given up, the condition of the corpse was studiously watched by Dr. Whitney. Although the experiment was a failure at times, the blood was started to circulate and the face and lips assumed the natural color. It is said that the heart was felt to throb several times. When the test was over Dr. Whitney claimed it was not successful because the boy's body was rolled over a barrel after the drowning, thus causing internal injuries.—Cleveland Leader.

Outings on Pacific Islands.

The number of people who visit the islands of the San Juan Archipelago for sport and out-of-door recreation is annually increasing. In time these islands will be famed as summer resorts, and will rival in this respect any other quarter of the globe. The long stretch of delightful weather, extending, as it generally does, from May to October and November, affords opportunities for endless numbers of outing parties.

The beaches furnish clams and crabs galore, while the hills and woods are the home of the deer and grouse in abundance. Every silvery brook that wanders from its retreat in the fastness of mountain and forest to seek repose in the placid bosom of the sound, teems with speckled trout, seemingly impatient to flop into the skillful angler's basket. True, they seem to have a preference for certain baskets over others, their choice depending somewhat upon the character of fly or bait employed, and in the seductive powers of the fisherman.

One must needs be light of foot, keen of vision and skilled in the use of firearms if he succeeds in capturing any deer or birds in these island forests; for although they are plenty, they are likewise wary. The deer must be sought among the hills in high altitudes. They frequent rocky glens and not easily accessible places. No matter how difficult the hunter may find it to scale a cliff by clinging to bushes, vines or slight projections of rock, when he at last gains a spot where he can stand erect he will find "deer signs" in the earth or rock, such is the skill of these four-footed mountain climbers.

But one can find a great enjoyment on the islands, even though destitute of all skill as hunter or fisherman. Any one can capture a crab or "surround" a clam, provided he or she is able to lift a crab or wield a spade. Then, again, any one can hold on to the safe end of a trolling line, while a salmon is investigating the business end, and the "other fellow" is pulling the oars. The wild berries yield their delicious sweetness to both the skilled and unskilled picker, and nature bounteously displays her charms to the just and the unjust.—Seattle Intelligencer.

Importance of the Candlestick.

The candlestick is a more important adjunct of housekeeping in the summer home than in the city one, where gas and electricity do their work. Quaint candleholders of wrought iron and blue and white or green and white china are among the prettiest ones. The candle should match the color of the china and the shade carry out the general harmony of hue.

MONEY IN COKE REFUSE.

Forty Gallons of Crude Naptha From One Beehive Oven.

A new process has been discovered, after a year's hard work and experimenting at the Larimer Coke works, in Westmoreland county, by Foreman W. S. Cook, assisted by Engineer D. Harrity, to turn the by-product of the coal used in making coke into valuable material, instead of, as before, letting it go up in smoke, as it has been, and is now doing, and will thus save millions of dollars' worth of oil, gases, ammonia, tar and other useful articles, which are manufactured from coal. It will at the same time not affect the quantity or quality of the coke produced in the same oven.

The process is a very cheap and simple one, the secret of which is carefully guarded, but it is a success, from the fact that they have already obtained, in twelve hours, from one beehive oven, holding about five tons of coke, some forty gallons of crude naptha, which is a thick, black, opaque, viscous liquid, from which a various number of the constituents can be distilled. With the same machine they extract an ammoniac liquor capable of producing a large amount of ammoniac salts, which are now being used for fertilizing purposes. A large flow of gas is also collected by the same process, and from this one oven, when conducted away from the machinery and ignited, sends up a flame four or five feet high, and appears to be nearly as good as a natural gas well.

The collecting pipes are simply attached to the outlet of a common beehive oven, and the smoke is conducted into a condensing apparatus, consisting of a number of upright pipes, down which a stream of cold water is continually flowing, and at the bottom of the same is a receiving tank.

They claim that the machinery used by this process would not cost over $50 an oven, which is very small, when compared to the cost of that used in foreign countries. Taking the average amount of coal tar alone which can be extracted from one ton of coal, which is eight gallons, at 5 cents per gallon, it can be estimated what an enormous amount of money is lost daily. Taking the 365 ovens at Larimer, each burning five tons a day, gives 1,825 tons of coal burned in one day. From each ton eight gallons being extracted, would give the large amount of 14,600 gallons per day, and at 5 cents per gallon, would amount to $730 per day, which is now an entire loss.—Connellsville (Pa.) Courier.

New Use for Photography.

An interesting use for photography is noted in the last annual report of the city engineer of Rochester, N. Y. To meet the requirements of construction, his department had found it necessary to prepare 196 photographic negatives, 39 prints and 156 lantern slides. Photography was used for many purposes. In the first place, for a record of old structures which may have had an important place in the early local history. Secondly, as a record of construction for the purpose of study, and also for the purpose of spurring the inspectors and contractors to greater care. Flashlight pictures are taken of the inside of completed sewers, so that the details of the work can be examined at leisure. Many photographs are made for the law department, to be used in cases of suits for personal injury by reason of defects in walks and pavements. Copies are pasted into substantial albums and are of constant use in discussions with the aldermen and other officials, as well as taxpayers. On one occasion it was necessary to educate the public of the city to a better comprehension of the question of beauty in bridge designs. The engineer prepared a lecture on city bridges and illustrated it by 10 lantern slides made from photographs. The slides were selected to show existing structures, which are failures, in direct comparison with successful and beautiful specimens of bridge-building. The lecture had a good effect, and the engineer had the satisfaction of selecting a bridge which was artistic as well as useful.

The easy, safe and certain protection of our bread, biscuit and cake from all danger of unwholesomeness is in the use of the Royal Baking Powder only. This powder is mentioned because of the innumerable reports in its favor by high medical authorities, by the U. S. Government, and by the official chemists and Boards of Health, which leave no doubt as to its entire freedom from alum, lime, and ammonia, its absolute purity and wholesomeness. While its use is thus a safeguard against the poisonous alum powders, it is satisfactory at the same time to know that owing to its greater strength it is more economical.

Automatic Marine Fog Signal.

A new design of automatic marine fog signal has been fitted to an East India liner. The object of the apparatus is to meet the legal requirements of a whistle or bell that will sound signals automatically in case of fog. On the bridge of the vessel is mounted a switch, which is used by the officer in charge for turning the electric current to either the whistle or the ship's bell; the latter, of course, being sounded if the ship is at anchor, and the former if she is under way. The stated intervals between the sounds is made by clock-work adjustment, placed in the chart house, and the current is thus obtained for all the purposes of the device. As the whistle is blown, or the bell sounded, a record is made on a continuous band of paper by means of a pen. The paper is marked with divisions and as it is wound at a uniform speed by the clockwork, it gives an autographic indication of when the fog signals were sounded.

To Raise Drowned Bodies.

A St. Louis inventor has patented a device for the raising of drowned bodies from the beds of rivers and lakes, which has been applied with marked success in many places in the West during the present summer.

The old plan was to fire a cannon over the surface of the water near where the drowned body is supposed to lie, the concussion causing the body to rise. The apparatus of the St. Louis man utilizes from four to eight sticks of dynamite in a machine box, connected by fine wire to the electric battery on the shore, from which is communicated the spark that fires the heavy charge resting on the river bed.

The almond industry has assumed considerable proportions in California. The trees bear young, resembling the peach, of which there are a variation; indeed, the hard-shell varieties bear too close a resemblance to peach pits to insure their favor as yet. The soft-shell varieties have not proved satisfactory east of the Rockies, except in Texas and New Mexico. But, considering that one-half of the nut importations is of almonds, and that California nuts are pronounced superior to foreign, all available acreage should be planted.

No Distinction to Be "Presented."

There has been a prodigious hurly-burly about certain presentations at the "drawing rooms," some of which are understood to have been privately canceled. When there are upward of 900 presentations in a season it is no wonder that "mistakes" should occur; but in these days it is no sort of advantage to go to court, nor is a particle of distinction gained by doing so. The idea that anything is now achieved by attendance at either a levee or a "drawing room" can linger only in the minds of very credulous persons or among those who are entirely unsophisticated. No inquiries of any sort or kind are now made by the court officials respecting the horde of unknown slip-slop whose names are sent in before every "drawing room" or levee. The person who undertakes the presentation is held responsible if any "mistake" occurs, and, as a rule, such offenders are forbidden to appear at court for a year or two, while in flagrant cases they are permanently excluded.—London Truth.

Fatal Violets.

A well known botanist says the root of the fragrant violet is so often poisonous that a very little of it causes nausea, interrupted heart action, difficulty of breathing and other organic complications, which may result in serious illness.

In this connection it is significant that an intimate relation has been discovered between the strong perfume of the fragrant violet and the venomous qualities of its root, for the root of the scentless or dog violet is not venomous. More recently cases of heart failure and defective circulation have been traced to the influence of violet perfume.

Since the fragrant violet and its extracted perfumes are become all the vogue it might be well, in view of these sinister reports concerning them, to consider the propriety of their indiscriminate and lavish enjoyment, particularly as they seem liable to injuriously affect not only those who use them, but also susceptible persons who may be in their immediate neighborhood.

Tobacco-Twisted Nerves.

Millions of men keep asking for stimulants because the nervous system is constantly irritated by nicotine poison. Chewing or smoking destroys manhood and nerve power. It's not a habit, but a disease, and you will find a guaranteed cure in No-To-Bac. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Book free. Address the Sterling Remedy Co., New York City or Chicago.

A Man and His Wife.

Again, on the underground railway, a little while ago, a man and woman got into the carriage. He was snarling at every one—the guard, the porters, the newspaper boy and a passenger whose foot he kicked getting into the carriage. The woman was a little thin, pale, and I fancy all the passengers were sorry for her, and felt she must have a very bad time of it. Presently she spoke to the man. She said: "When shall we reach Richmond?" He said: "We shall be home inside forty minutes." That was all, but the voice, look, manner, were absolutely kind and tender; the whole man changed when he spoke to his wife; a brute to everyone else, he was a lover to her. Lucky woman! Every one would hate her husband but herself, and he hated every one but her. What more could she want? As for the other passengers, I think they went home singing because they had seen love.

We have not been without Piso's Cure for Consumption for 20 years.—Lizzie Ferrel, Camp street, Harrisburg, Pa., May 4, '94.

The Mantel Shelf.

Severe simplicity, the decorators say, should rule the mantel shelf, one or two good pieces of bric-a-brac being sufficient. What can one do, however, with the monstrosity of the towering cabinet mantel, with its places arranged like niches in a mausoleum, one above the other; if any is vacant it has the air of waiting for its coffin and if all are full it looks like a shop display. Another dictum from the professional decorator is that royal Worcester and other bowls and vases of china are no longer fashionable. A Bohemian bowl, a dozen photographs, exquisitely framed, and a pair of candelabra are in good taste for parlor ornaments.

The Vogue of the Ready-Made.

A woman can now walk into a store and find skirts of every description, from gingham to satin brocade, well cut, gracefully hung and tailor-made, and in the same establishment or elsewhere can easily find any style of waist she likes best, smart, neat or elaborate in effect, which, with little alteration—often without any—will fit her to perfection, since great skill is now brought to bear on high-class garments of this description. Black satin or lustrous silk skirts are first choice and one may wear half a dozen different waists with such a skirt, and the effect produced is that of as many distinct gowns. With large lace berthas, ribbon braces, fancy sailor collars and similar accessories one may still further vary the appearance of the waists severally.

DO YOU EXPECT
To Become a Mother?
If so, then permit us to say that Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription is indeed a true
"Mother's Friend,"
FOR IT MAKES
Childbirth Easy
by preparing the system for parturition, thus assisting Nature and shortening "Labor." The painful ordeal of childbirth is robbed of its terrors, and the dangers thereof greatly lessened, to both mother and child. The period of confinement is also shortened, the mother strengthened and an abundant secretion of nourishment for the child promoted.

Send twenty-one (21) cents for The People's Medical Adviser, 1000 pages, over 300 illustrations, giving all particulars. Several chapters of this great family doctor book are devoted to the consideration of diseases peculiar to women with suggestions as to successful home treatment of same. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

Any size you want, 20 to 56 inches high. Tires 1 to 8 inches wide—hubs to fit any axle. Saves Cost many times in a season to have set of low wheels to fit your wagon for hauling grain, fodder, manure, hogs, &c. No resetting of tires. Catl'g free. Address Empire Mfg. Co., P. O. Box 53, Quincy Ill.

Metal Wheels for your Wagons

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.
DR.
PRICE'S
CREAM
BAKING
POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Curing Himself by Degrees.

Whippleigh—I'm trying to cure myself of the cigarette habit by smoking a pipe.

Briefleigh—How are you getting along?

Whippleigh—Splendidly. Tapering off in great style. I only fill the bowl two-thirds paper to one-third tobacco now.

Willing to Accommodate Her.

She—This is sudden.

He—Well, I'll go back home and telephone it to you, if you had rather have it in that way.—The Smiler, in Town Topics.

The Sworn Tormentors

Of the Spanish Inquisition never inflicted tortures more dreadful than those endured by the victim of inflammatory rheumatism. The chronic form of this obstinate malady is sufficiently painful. Arrest it at the start with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters and avoid becoming a lifelong martyr. The Bitters will remove malaria and kidney complaints, dyspepsia, constipation, nervousness and neuralgia, remedy debility and hasten convalescence.

An Obstacle.

First Lady—Is it a fact that you are going to marry Herr Klevezlezakoffski?

Second Lady—Certainly; as soon as I have learned how to pronounce his name.—Wochenschrift.

Two Sides to the Question.

Harold, papa calls you a fortune-hunter. I'm sorry I'm rich.

"So am I. Everybody will say that you bought me."—Texas Siftings.

To Cleanse the System.

Effectually yet gently, when costive or bilious, or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently cure habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, to dispel headaches, colds or fevers use Syrup of Figs.

A Slight Difference.

Rural Magistrate—Conrad, you are charged with committing an assault on the night watchman.

Conrad—I only threw his jacket behind the stove.

Night Watchman—Yes, your worship, but I was inside the jacket.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Tender or Sore Feet, Chilblains, Piles, &c. C. G. Clark Co., New Haven, Ct.

An Eye for Style.

Tramp (interviewing Herr Gutherz at the front door)—Excuse me; yesterday you gave me this hat and the light top coat I am now wearing; couldn't you let me have a walking stick to match.—Fremdenblatt.

Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Is a constitutional cure. Price, 75c.

She Saw the Point.

Beggar (to dude with young lady)—Please, mister, gimme a cent?

Dude (angrily)—Aw, go away. I haven't any cents.

Young lady smiles and dude don't know why.—Texas Siftings.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve." Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

Not Quite Full.

Parker—I would join the church if it wasn't full of hypocrites.

Tucker—Oh, you're mistaken about that. There's always room for one more.

The tambourine is a combination of the drum and rattle. It is found represented on Egyptian monuments 2,000 B. C.

LEWIS' 98 % LYE
POWDERED AND PERFUMED
(PATENTED)
The strongest and purest Lye made. Unlike other Lye, it being a fine powder and packed in a can with removable lid, the contents are always ready for use. Will make the best perfumed Hard Soap in 20 minutes without boiling. It is the best for cleansing waste pipes, disinfecting sinks, closets, washing bottles, paints, trees, etc.
PENNA. SALT M'F'G CO.
Gen. Agents, Phila., Pa.

PROFITABLE DAIRY WORK
Can only be accomplished with the very best of tools and appliances. With a Davis Cream Separator on the farm you are sure of more and better butter, while the skimmed milk is a valuable feed. Farmers will make no mistake to get a Davis. Neat, illustrated catalogue mailed FREE. Agents wanted.
DAVIS & RANKIN BLDG. & MFG. CO.
Cor. Randolph & Dearborn Sts., Chicago.

DROPSY
TREATED FREE.
Positively Cured with Vegetable Remedies
Have cured thousands of cases. Cure cases pronounced hopeless by best physicians. From first dose symptoms disappear; in ten days at least two thirds all symptoms removed. Send for free book testimonials of miraculous cures. Ten days' treatment free by mail. If you order trial send 10c in stamps to pay postage. DR. H. H. GREEN & SONS, Atlanta, Ga. If you order trial return this advertisement to us.

ALLEN'S IRON TONIC BITTERS.
The most elegant Blood Purifier, Liver Invigorator, Tonic and Appetizer known. It builds up and fortifies the whole system, invigorates the liver, aids digestion and cures dyspepsia. The first Iron Tonic Bitters ever advertised in America. Get the genuine.
J. P. ALLEN, Druggist and Chemist,
ST. PAUL, MINN.

PARKER'S
HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c, and $1.00 at Druggists

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.
Successfully Prosecutes Claims.
Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

THE

St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 28, 1895. NUMBER 4.

PITH OF THE NEWS

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

The Latest and Most Important News of the World, Culled From the Telegraph Reports of the Press Associations.

Washington.

The bureau of labor is investigating the condition of American seamen, particularly the part middlemen take in the hiring of crews.

W. T. Lyon, presidential postmaster at Selma, Cal., was removed, because he published in his paper, the Irrigator, an article reflecting on President Cleveland. Lyon was a Democrat.

Commissioners Schultz, Kidd and Day, who have been designated by the secretary of the interior to allot lands in Southern Utah, have begun operations.

It is now said that the shortage of Ainsworth R. Spofford, librarian of congress, will be at least $35,000. The detailed report of Treasury Expert Myers has shown so serious a condition of affairs that Secretary Carlisle has laid it before the president for action.

Personal Mention.

Carl Brown, the ex-Coxeyite, it is said, is about to start a daily newspaper under the title of Carl's Cactus.

Ex-Gov. "Bob" Taylor of Tennessee is as fond of his fiddle as ever and entertains his friends with rollicking ditties as of old.

Among the many resemblances between Sir Richard Parkes, Australia's "grand old man," and Gladstone is that both write poetry.

Mr. Gladstone has written such a vast number of letters during his life that his autographs bring only sixpence in the English market.

Col. R. W. Thompson, ex-secretary of the navy, who is now over eighty years old, is a bicyclist, sometimes riding ten miles before breakfast.

Rev. Lucius R. Paige, LL. D., of Cambridge, Mass., thinks that he is the oldest living Free Mason in the United States. He is ninety-four years of age.

Ex-Justice Strong, it is said, gave up an income of $50,000 a year from his law practice to accept the place on the supreme bench offered him by President Grant.

Von Sybel, the German historian, comes to the defense of the ex-Empress Eugenie and disproves the long-credited story that she urged Napoleon into the Franco-German war.

Rev. William C. Winslow of Boston vice president of the Egypt exploration fund, has received the decoration of the Society of Science and Arts of Great Britain for honorary fellowship.

Friends of J. Albert Walker, the millionaire coal operator of Portsmouth and Boston, say that he will be a candidate for United States senator, to succeed Jacob H. Gallinger of Concord.

Ex-Senator William M. Evarts spends most of his time at his summer home in Windsor, Vt. It is difficult for him to either read or write, though he takes great interest in the news of the day.

Ex-Supreme Court Justice Strong has had a stroke of paralysis which affects the left side of the body. He has also had a relapse of the catarrhal fever, is very weak and at present unconscious. He is at Lake Minnewaska, N. Y.

James Kerr Hardie, member of parliament for the south division of West Hampshire, and president of the Independent Labor party, who classes himself as a Democrat and a Socialist, is on his way to this country to lecture.

The Casualty Record.

Orian Apade, eighteen years old, living near Akron, Ohio, was killed by the explosion of a gun.

Jacob Deubel, a German of Sterling, Ill., who served as a soldier in the Franco-Prussian war, was killed by the kick of a horse.

The business district of Conneben, Mich., has been almost wholly destroyed by fire. The loss is put at $50,000, with little or no insurance.

Fire consumed a block at Algonquin, Ill. After being carried from the burning building by neighbors F. D. Kazar perished in an attempt to rescue his little daughter.

Peter Howe, forty-seven years old, engineer of the Roman Catholic Protectory at Van Nest, N. ., was killed and his fireman, John Dermody, forty-five years old, fatally injured by the explosion of a fire extinguisher.

A disastrous fire, the second within eight months, swept the business portion of State Center, Iowa, wiping out the four leading concerns of the town. The loss is probably $10,000; insurance less than half.

The Ocean View hotel on Rockaway Beach, N. Y., between Hammel's station and Arverne, which was sheltering over 200 guests, was destroyed by fire and the guests had narrow escapes.

The steamer Empire State, with a party of Cleveland excursionists, while running in the Galops rapids, went aground and stove a hole in her bottom. The passengers were safely landed.

James Hensley, Jr., aged seventeen, was fatally burned at Anderson, Ind., by the bursting of a natural gas pipe on which he was working. This is the third accident of the kind that has happened at Anderson in the last ten days.

At The Willows, or Ferris place, on Spring Lake, Mich., the wife and little son of Arthur Frances of Englewood, Ill., were accidentaly drowned. The child was in bathing and got beyond his depth. The mother went to his rescue and both were drowned.

Criminal Doings.

The jury in the Duestrow murder case, at Union, Mo., failed to agree.

With the aid of carbolic acid, Mrs. Charles Ellebrecht of Quincy, Ill., aged thirty-seven, committed suicide.

Samuel Lewis was lynched at West Palm Beach, Fla., the mob also killing Jailer Gustave Kaiser.

Robert Ralston, bookkeeper for the Samuel Woodside company of Cincinnati, is short in his accounts $20,000.

John Stufferson, while drunk, was killed at Detroit by an unknown man whom he had insulted.

Martin Kuhler and Jacob Dorsey fought with hatchets at Peoria, Ill., and the latter will die as a result.

F. E. Parcell, a leading Populist politician of Leavenworth, Kan., was arrested on a charge of burglary and is now in the county jail.

Experts have reported that the accounts of ex-County treasurer M. W. Stewart of Wyandotte county, Kan., are short $33,885.

Government Detective Grier is in jail at Perry Sound, Ont., charged with shooting and dangerously wounding a whisky peddler whom he attempted to arrest.

An old negro, convicted in the United States court at Fort Smith, Ark., of stealing horses, said he had been a slave of President Andrew Jackson, and that he was born at the Hermitage eighty-six years ago.

Deputy Marshal Burke and posse arrested two notorious female outlaws near Pawnee, O. T., but had to fight to make the arrest. The names of the women are Jennie Medkiff, formerly Stephens, aged seventeen years, and Annie McDoulet, aged fifteen.

A. J. Lusk, cashier of the First National Bank of Wichita, Kan., was arrested at Long Geach, an ocean resort near Portland, Or. He is charged with embezzling $80,000 two years ago, for which he escaped on a technicality once and then fled.

Howard Lambert of Elkhart, Ind., recently married Miss Lena Russell, got $1,200 of her money for a business enterprise and disappeared. His friends fear he has been murdered. He was highly connected and bore an excellent reputation.

Jacob and Samuel Goldstein, aged, respectively six and eight years, were arrested at Des Moines, Iowa, for rifling the postoffice box of the Citizens' National bank. Checks and drafts amounting to $6,661 were recovered from the lads, but $1,400 is missing.

Foreign Gossip.

A returned Canadian missionary tells of rough usage at the hands of Chinese mobs.

Military guards, consisting of Colombian soldiers, are being stationed along the line of the Panama canal.

Cuban revolutionary agents are reported to be enlisting retired Mexican officers.

The Japanese only occupy the coasts of the island of Formosa, whence they dispatch punitive expeditions into the interior.

John Daly, ex-member of the house of commons for Cork, while alighting from a train at Sydney, fell between the platform and the carriage and had his left hand badly injured.

The bark Halthill has arrived at Queenstown. This is the vessel which it was feared was sunk with all on board in a collision in mid-ocean on July 13, by the steamship Prince Oscar, which also foundered.

Without waiting for a reply to a demand for an increase of 10 per cent in the wages, the mill workers at Dundee, Scotland, have begun to strike. The mills are closed and 7,000 hands are idle.

A severe engagement is reported to have been fought at Arillao, in the department of Santa Clara. The insurgents are said to have lost fifty killed and the government eight soldiers killed or wounded.

Serious disturbances have broken out at Mulheim, Germany, consequent upon the Cologne & Mulheim Steam Navigation company reducing fares between these places in order to ruin a rival company. The police are unable to prevent rioting.

Henry Cargill, a member of the Canadian parliament, says that if the Manitoba legislature will come to some agreement with the Dominion government on the school question there will probably be a general election this fall; if not, there will be another session before the dissolution of parliament.

Miscellaneous Items.

An earthquake shock was felt at Maysville, Ky.

"Gen." Coxey is touring Nebraska in the interest of free silver.

Alfred Paxton has been appointed receiver for the Davis Carriage company at Cincinnati.

Prof. J. L. Nichols, well known in Illinois educational circles, died at Battle Creek, Mich.

The New York state law closing barber shops is being generally enforced. Niagara is the only place where the law is a dead letter.

While at work on Lewis Potter's farm near Dimondale, Mich., Frank Lonsbury and Augustus Fox dug up a box full of gold nuggets and a little sack of pure gold flakes.

State Senator C. A. Porter, one of the men who is opposing Quay in Pennsylvania, has sued the Philadelphia Inquirer for libel, claiming $100,000 damages.

Joseph Layden of Malden, W. Va., is the father of twenty-eight children, his youngest being a ten-pound boy born a day or two ago. Mr. Layden is seventy-four years old and his wife fifty-five.

The Big Four ran its first passenger train into Louisville over the new Louisville and Jeffersonville bridge. This is the bridge on which so many lives were lost during its construction.

Alexander Ridenbaugh, aged sixty, died while about his duties in the flouring mill at Pierceton, Ind. The deceased ran the engine and it was discovered that the machinery was running slower than usual. Mr. Ridenbaugh as found near the boiler dead.

The Southern Pacific company has entered into a contract in London which makes it now possible for a passenger to buy a ticket around the world from any point on the lines which have become a party to the new agreement.

John White, colored, died in the county jail at Uniontown, Pa., after one of the most severe seiges of epileptic fits on record. He was seized with a paroxysm and they continued in rapid succession for ten hours. He had about ninety in all. White was a vagrant.

MINNESOTA IN BRIEF

INTERESTING EVENTS OF THE WEEK IN MINNESOTA.

Important Occurrences in the North Star State Day by Day—A General Resume of the Week's Doings Arranged for Rapid Reading.

Wednesday, Aug. 21.

It is reported that the demand for space for exhibits at the state fair will exceed the capacity of the buildings.

Joseph J. Kovars, proprietor of the Riverside mill at Owatonna, which burned some time ago, has made an assignment to Anton J. Kovars. Assets and liabilities, unknown.

George Ryno of Fenton, Mich., had been working in the harvest field for Patrick Lennon of Vermillion. Becoming ill, he was removed to the poor farm, where he died.

John Martinson, an old resident of Port Douglas, was kicked in the side by a horse and died almost instantly. His age was fifty-eight years and he leaves a wife.

Judge Charles L. Lewis, of the Eleventh judicial district of Minnesota, residing in Duluth, forwarded his resignation to Gov. Clough, to take effect on Sept. 1. Judge Lewis has been on the bench about two years, but prefers to practice law.

While Mrs. John Shaffer, servant girl and ten-months-old baby, of Renville county, were coming into Redwood Falls they overtook Jasper Stegner, riding a wheel, on a hill near North Redwood. The horse became frightened and overturned the buggy, throwing the occupants out and crushing the skull of the infant, causing its death in about twelve hours.

Thursday, Aug. 22.

Mrs. E. R. Steele died at Hastings, aged thirty-four years.

Page Morris has been appointed district judge at Duluth, vice Lewis, resigned.

Minnesota retail liquor dealers held a meeting in Minneapolis and resolved to form a state association.

The vault in the Catholic church at New Ulm was broken open, and about $200 worth of property stolen.

Mrs. Christianson of Madison was severely burned by the explosion of a kerosene oil stove. Physicians think she will not live.

Judge Buckham of Faribault refused the injunction served on the City of Northfield for making the proposed fill on the edge of the mill pond.

Frank L. Abbott, an escaped inmate of the Rochester insane asylum, was found at Bixby, and has been taken back to the asylum by the authorities.

Melrose has at last secured the first division of the Great Northern railroad system. Two working crews are busy levelling the ground donated by the city to the company.

The Rice County Union Agricultural society will hold their annual fair the 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th of September. The management is planning to make it the most eventful ever held.

Articles of incorporation for the Cathedral Parish School of St. Cloud were signed and sent to the secretary of state for record. The signers were Bishop Martin Marty, Vicar General Baun, Rev. Edward Jones, the pastor of the parish; C. F. Macdonald, editor of the Daily News, and Sebastian Reichert, a merchant.

Friday Aug. 23.

Anoka county is making extensive preparations for its exhibit at the state fair.

Dr. Dunham of Anoka has been appointed road physician for the Northern Pacific.

Sixteen acres of oats on the farm of John Talbot, in Anoka county, threshed 1,025 bushels, averaging sixty-five bushels per acre.

At Stewartville Hale Bros. lost the separator of their threshing outfit by fire, started by a spark from the engine.

Mrs. Ed Fanning and two children were thrown from a carriage at Stewartville, by a horse running away. All were more or less injured.

A gold and silver club with seventy-five members was organized at Grand Rapids by Hon. C. R. Towne. H. D. Powers was elected chairman and F. A. King secretary. There is much interest in bimetallism in Itasca county.

While the parents were away from the house, the eight-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Mathwick of Gaylord crept to a tub of water sitting on the floor, fell in and was drowned.

Saturday, Aug. 21.

Mrs. A. T. Conley, who has been sick with consumption at Cannon Falls for a long time, died this morning.

Receiver F. G. Barrows sold at private sale, at Moorhead, the Merchants Bank building to F. G. Asselstine and V. Fischer of Moorhead, for $20,250.

Farmers are busy threshing around Frazee, the lightest yield being from twenty-two to twenty-five bushels per acre of No. 1. The weather is beautiful.

An electric storm prevailed at Faribault. Lightning struck in several places about the city. The market place of J. Somer was struck and fired but no serious damage was done.

Patrolman Harrington of Anoka arrested a burglar attempting to force an entrance into M. V. Bean's hardware store. He gave his name as Ed Lyons and his home as Minneapolis.

Samples of rope are being made at the prison factory at Stillwater, and the state will soon manufacture rope for commercial purposes, thus establishing another industry at the prison.

The annual reunion of the Normal Alumni association was held at the state normal school at Mankato. A banquet was given the visitors in the evening.

The team stolen ten days since from James Hunter of Mallory was recovered from the thieves on the Red Lake reservation, twenty miles east of Foster. John Moore and Thomas Jones are under arrest for the theft.

Frank Friske, brother of Nick and Charles Friske of Omatonna, was instantly killed in the township of Somerset by the premature discharge of a blast which he was in the act of tamping.

A serious accident occurred to a section hand on the Great Northern railway line near Milaca. A hand car loaded with twelve men passed over the chest of Ole Bjerkseth, formerly of Cameron Junction, Wis., inflicting severe internal injuries. The physicians, however, expect him to recover.

Sunday, Aug. 23.

Henry C. Butler died at Rochester, of paralysis, aged sixty-seven. He was probate judge for fourteen years and county attorney four years.

Rev. George E. Smith of Minneapolis has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Congregational church of Sauk Center.

The Stillwater board of education elected Frank A. Weld of Fergus Falls superintendent of the schools of that city.

Jessie Simmons of Rochester, aged sixteen, eloped with Ralph Dean, aged nineteen. The youth was a laborer on the farm of the girl's father. They were married in Wisconsin.

Patrick Clarke, the largest hardware merchant in Ortonville, was quite seriously injured in a runaway accident, his ankle being broken and shoulder dislocated.

Arthur Gaskell, a wealthy farmer of Stewartsville, disappeared from his home and no trace of him can be found. He was in good circumstances, and no reason can be given for his strange action.

Thuet & Richter, dealers in general merchandise at West Concord, have put their entire stock of goods in the hands of a trust formed of the creditors, hoping to tide over matters until collections mature.

Mrs. Lora Perkins has been arrested in Minneapolis, charged with having murdered her sister, Mrs. Lola Hawkins, to obtain life insurance. This case promises to be as sensational as the Hayward case.

What threshing has been done in the neighborhood of Sauk Center indicates a much more satisfactory yield than was expected. Rye is exceptionally good and perfectly clean. There will be more winter rye sown this than any previous fall.

The contract was awarded by the Windom city council for its system of water works and electric lights. Fairbanks, Morse & Co. receiving the contract for the water works, on a bid of $25,000, and the Western Electric company the electric light contract, on a $6,700 bid.

The barn and hay shed of Nehemiah Martin, in Marshton, was struck by lightning and burned. His tenant, Nicholas Kirpach, lost about 400 bushels of oats, fifteen tons of hay, a cow, etc, valued at $400, with no insurance. Mr. Martin also lost fifteen tons of hay and 400 bushels of oats, valued at about $560. Insurance on building, $175.

Monday, Aug. 26.

Robert Ehleipp, charged with stealing from guests in the Grand Central Hotel, at St. Cloud was examined and held to the grand jury.

The Wisconsin Lumber Company in the United States circuit court at St. Cloud for $17,000 for rent and occupation of the Anderson mill plant.

Julius Anderson of Stillwater has been taken to the Rochester Insane Asylum. He was sent here from Winona to serve five years for forgery. His time had expired but the warden considered it unsafe to release him.

The Albert Lea city council revoked the liquor license of Theodore Stauch, for keeping a disorderly place. This is near where the row occurred in which Thomas Carbury killed John Gillan.

As an acknowledgement of the fact that this vicinity has been well blessed with an abundant crop this year the citizens of Mapleton are preparing for a grand carnival to be held about the middle of September. Their plan will be to have an original programme different from anything else in the land, in each and every feature.

Sufficient threshing has been done around Pillsbury to form a close estimate of the average yield of wheat. On the farm of Dr. J. F. Loche the yield was 34 bushels of No. 1 wheat per acre; on George Balmer's farm, old land in poor condition, 24 bushels, and taking the entire country the above figures are none too large. Frequent showers interfere with stacking and threshing. Corn matures slowly, but two weeks more without frost will insure a bumper crop. Pastures are in prime condition.

Tuesday, Aug. 27.

In a blaze in the barn of Ed Chamberlain at Anoka, a horse and cow perished.

Otto Block, of Maine Prairie, was severely crushed between a traction engine and a separator at St. Augusta. His condition is precarious.

The police raided the notorious dive of Mrs. Nichols at Anoka. Her husband is serving a sentence at Stillwater for burglary.

The city of Austin is putting in an underground reservoir, 28x80 feet, to hold 300,000 gallons surplus water as a reserve at the water works.

The unequalled strength of the Royal, as certified by the highest baking powder authorities, makes it the cheapest to use, even at a higher price than others.

Clothing Makers Strike.

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 27.—One of the greatest labor struggles ever waged between employer and employed in this city began to-day, when 1,000 members of the United Garment Workers' association went on strike. Unless the bosses concede their demands before to-morrow night, the finishers and buttonhole makers, numbering another thousand, are said to be ready to go out, and the difficulty will affect 3,000 laborers.

Massacre of Bannocks.

Burns, Or., Aug. 27.—A courier from Diamond Valley reports the killing of 15 Bannocks by cattlemen under the leadership of "Rye" Smith. Smith's reason was revenge for the murder of his father in 1878 in Diamond Valley. There is great excitement in the town and throughout the country. Troop A is in readiness to march on very short notice.

SIOUX CITY CRIME.

FATAL SHOOTING AFFRAY IN A HOUSE OF ILL FAME.

A Woman Is Shot by a Man Said to Be a Holy Brother or Husband, Who Afterwards Puts a Bullet Through His Brain.

Sioux City, Iowa, Aug. 27.—Early this morning in a house of ill fame occurred what was probably a murder and suicide. Max Noack of Marcus, Iowa, was found dead in a room, with a bullet wound in his brain. By his side lay Hazel Hammond, an inmate of the house, with a bullet hole in her head. The doors of the room in which the bodies were found were locked and had to be broken open. The lamp had been overturned, and the clothing of the dead man had commenced to burn when the tragedy was discovered.

Noack had only been in the city a few weeks, and was but little known. Hazel Hammond, or Oro Minton, as her right name is said to be, is said to have come from Central City, Neb., where her parents are reported to live. Noack, it is believed, was trying to induce the woman to leave the life she was leading and return to her home, and that when she refused he shot her and then killed himself. It is reported, by some that Noack was the woman's half brother and that by others that he was her husband. Noack formerly worked at Grand Island and Lincoln Neb. The woman may recover.

Malden, Mass., Aug. 27.—Daniel J. McLeod, a Melrose carpenter, attempted to kill his divorced wife, Mary McLeod, on Washington street, in Oak Grove, this afternoon, and afterwards shot himself through the head, dying instantly. Although the woman was badly injured, it was though that she would recover. Mrs. McLeod, who is employed as a domestic by J. Parker Sweet, obtained a divorce from her husband two years and a half ago. Since then McLeod has frequently asked her to live with him, once threatening to shoot her if she refused. To-day he met her and renewed his request. She refused him and then the shooting took place.

Food raised by the Royal Baking Powder may be eaten hot, even by dyspeptics, with impunity. Hot bread, biscuits, hot cakes, muffins, crusts, puddings, etc., are made by its use perfectly wholesome.

QUARTER OF A MILLION.

Lost by the Burning of Three Buildings in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Aug. 27.—A fire destroyed a quarter of a million dollars worth of property on Second street. The buildings destroyed were thre in number, and were recently bought by Bradford Shinkle to be torn down for new approaches to the suspension bridge. The loss on them will be $100,000. They were all five stories high. The fire started in Creasy & Son's commission and storage house on Second street and extended to James Heeken & Co.'s coffee warehouse, and from there to the spice mills of the same firm. James Heeken & Co. are the heaviest losers in stock and machinery, probably $100,000; Creasy & Son lose $2,000, but the loss on the storage of the Charles G. Jacobs Cordage company, Hinkel, Wilson & Kreys, molasses; L. Sealman & Co., leaf tobacco, with other smaller lots of stored goods, will swell the loss in the Creasy building to $50,000, making a round total of $250,000.

SUDDEN INUNDATION.

Caused by the Bursting of Cumberland's City Water Tank.

Cumberland, Wis., Aug. 27.—The new city water works tank, holding 2,200 barrels and mounted on a tower 100 feet high, burst with a crash that was heard several miles. It was 24 feet in diameter and 20 high, and full to overflowing with water, the great pressure of which burst the great iron bands almost simultaneously and the water shot out in every direction and came tearing down with the force of a Niagara. Three children were under the tank when the crash came, but for some reason they escaped serious injury. Had it been other than the dinner hour the loss of life would have been considerable, as it is a favorite play ground for children. The water swept two barns nearly into the lake, demolishing them, besides washing out an acre of garden truck. The tank is a complete wreck, entailing a loss of $1,500 to $2,000. The accident was caused by insufficient cast iron lugs connecting the bands with which the tank was hooped.

Bull Fight in Colorado.

Cripple Creek, Colo., Aug. 27.—Another bull was killed in the Arena today at Gillett in the presence of six thousand people, and the work was done in the style of Spain and Mexico. The first bull turned into the Arena was an exceedingly tame animal even after the darts were thrust into him. The next animal made a fight for his life, but the fight was quickly over. Chicta, the king of the Arena in not only Mexico, but Spain as well, made two stabs at the animal and then left him perfectly dead.

Christian Union.

Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 27.—The seventh annual institute of the Christian Union closed to-day with a series of mass meetings, at which addresses were made by Prof. W. G. Moorehead of Xenia and John G. Woolley of Chicago. This afternoon an immense open air meeting was held in the capitol grounds, 5,000 being in attendance. Rev. Ralph Atkinson, of Ravenswood, Chicago, addressed the meeting. The delegates go on an excursion to Put in Bay to-morrow.

Held for Trial.

Beatrice, Neb., Aug. 27.—City Clerk Phillips and Water Commissioner Hawkins had their preliminary hearing to-day, there being three informations against Phillips and two against Hawkins. They were bound over upon all the charges against them.

Hop Pickers Strike.

New York, Aug. 27.—The hop crop of this state is in danger of ruin because of the refusal of hop pickers to work for the prices which the growers are willing to pay.

BASE BALL.

Standing of the Clubs in the Western and National League.

Clubs—	Indianapolis	Kansas City	St. Paul	Milwaukee	Minneapolis	Detroit	Terre Haute	Grand Rapids	Won	Lost	Percentage
Indianapolis	..	6	5	8	7	11	13	14	64	34	.653
Kansas City	5	..	10	11	10	8	9	7	60	41	.594
St. Paul	6	8	..	11	10	6	9	7	59	42	.584
Milwaukee	3	7	7	..	7	10	8	9	51	51	.500
Minneapolis	5	8	8	10	..	5	6	7	49	51	.490
Detroit	7	3	5	4	7	..	8	11	45	57	.441
Terre Haute	4	3	4	4	5	10	..	12	42	59	.415
Grand Rapids	4	6	3	3	5	7	6	..	34	69	.330
Games Lost	34	41	42	51	51	57	59	69

National League.

Clubs—	Played.	Won.	Lost.	P. Ct.
Baltimore	97	62	35	.639
Cleveland	106	67	39	.632
Pittsburg	102	60	42	.588
Boston	97	55	42	.567
Philadelphia	99	55	44	.555
Brooklyn	100	55	45	.550
Chicago	103	56	47	.543
Cincinnati	98	53	45	.540
New York	100	51	49	.510
Washington	95	31	64	.326
St. Louis	102	32	70	.313
Louisville	98	23	75	.234

DEATH IN A SCHOONER'S JIB.

Collision in Strait Channel at Presque Isle.

Toledo, Ohio, Aug. 27.—While the passenger steamer Toledo was returning from her regular trip to Put-in-Bay, she encountered the schooner Magdalen Dowling, in the tow of the tug Butler, in the straight channel just off Presqu Isle. As the City of Toledo was coming in she signaled to the schooner to take the port side. The tug at once commenced to sheer off, but in doing so she gave the schooner a momentum which carried her on to a bank of mud just as the steamer was abreast of her, her jibboom striking the passenger steamer just forward of her gangway and tearing away about fifty feet of her upper works. It was found that seven persons had been seriously injured, while at least fifty received cuts and bad bruises. A great many of the people were sitting directly beneath the boom when it was pushed through the vessel, and those who received the most serious injuries are: Mrs. John Sanderson, Ada, Ohio, arms broken and injured internally; will die; Miss Annie Zimmerman, student, Ada, Ohio, cannot live; Miss Jessie Jackson, student, Ada, Ohio, fatally injured; Miss Grace Garwood, Ada, will die; Miss Nellie Garwood, cannot live; Mrs. John E. Miller, Bucyrus, Ohio, is in a critical condition; James Parley, Bucyrus, injured about the legs and arm broken.

WOULD MURDER A ROTHSCHILD

Infernal Machine in the Shape of a Letter.

Paris, Aug. 27.—A serious attempt has been made upon the life of Baron de Rothschild. A large and heavy envelope was received at the bank, addressed to the Baron, and was opened by M. Zadkovitz, the confidential clerk of the well known banker. Just as the clerk opened the envelope it exploded with great force, tearing his right eye out and blowing off some of his fingers. The police were hastily summoned and an investigation was immediately commenced. The remains of the strange envelope were picked up and examined, with the result that the police officers expressed the opinion that the envelope was an infernal machine. It consisted of pieces of card board tightly bound together and was quite bulky. But there was nothing strange in its appearance, as peculiarly constructed packages of similar appearance are frequently received at banks and are found to contain money or valuable papers of various descriptions. The card board envelope of this package, it is presumed, contained fulminate of mercury so arranged that when the outer covering was torn open an explosion occurred.

It will be gratifying to consumers to note that the quality of the baking powder most generally in use in their kitchens, the Royal, is confirmed by the highest official authorities as altogether the best of any in the market.

ROBBER AND MURDERER.

Man Supposed to Be Such Is Killed by a Posse.

McBain, Mich., Aug. 27.—George A. Smalley, supposed to be one of the Chicago & West Michigan train robbers and the man who shot Detective Powers near Grand Rapids Thursday night, was shot and instantly killed here last night. Smalley, who is said to answer perfectly the description of one of Powers' murderers sent out by the Grand Rapids officials, turned up here to-day, having dropped off a Toledo & Ann Arbor train. He acted rather suspiciously, and after some discussion the marshal formed a posse and started to the outskirts of the town, where, when he saw that he was pursued, Smalley broke into a run. They finally surrounded him in a small cabin. Here Smalley turned and made a move to pull a pistol from his pocket. Before he could do so, however, the marshal fired, hitting Smalley in the breast and killing him instantly. Smalley was found to be heavily armed, and had considerable money on his person.

CHINESE CONVICTED

Of the Murder of Missionaries and New Arrests Made Daily.

New York, Aug. 27.—The World will print to-morrow the following cable: Foo Chow, China, Aug. 26.—Firmness has brought the Chinese to terms. Foreigners are now present at the trials of natives implicated in the attacks upon missionaries. The Chinese officials afford every facility to the foreign commissioners of inquiry. Six of the Chinese who had a hand in the massacre at Hwasang have been convicted of murder. New arrests are made daily. What was reported as a new massacre was only a local riot.

Will Be Reappointed.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Matthew W. Ransom of North Carolina will be reappointed United States minister to Mexico, and the president will thus rectify the blunder made in the first appointment of Mr. Ransom while he was still a member of the senate.

Carved to Pieces.

Middlesboro, Ky., Aug. 27.—A bloody encounter occurred at the water works to-day, in which James Lyle literally carved Peter Sullivan to pieces. Lyle escaped.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

THEY PROCEED TO TAKE THE CITY OF BOSTON BY STORM.

Delegates to the Triennial Conclave Are Arriving From Every Direction—Grand Master McCurdy an Early Arrival.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 27.—Local commanderies of Knights Templar have been on the alert all day looking after the welfare and comfort of their fellow Knights who have been coming in at intervals, some of them after long and tedious journeys from the South and West. The trains, with one exception, were from one to thre hours late, but when the belated Knights arrived their welcome was such that any discomforts they had encountered were more than atoned for. The vast crowd of spectators who cheered each arriving delegation numbered far into the thousands, and the strains of music from the bands of the escorting commanderies enlivened the tedious waits. The chief arrival was that of Grand Master Hugh McCurdy, who, with 196 Knights and ladies from Detroit commandery of Detroit, Mich., reached here shortly after 10 o'clock.

This afternoon a train of 12 cars containing Iowa delegates to the number of 300 Knights and ladies were warmly welcomed. The delegation that has excited the most curiosity of the citizens here was the Golden Gate of San Francisco, which arrived this afternoon. They were received with open arms by an immense throng, and were escorted through the streets by the Boston commandery. At the head of this parade was a four-months-old Cinnamon bear, which caused much amusement among the spectators. His bearship, however, got tired before the end of the route, and had to drop out. He will be in condition for the parade, however.

This afternoon a special Knights Templar service was held in Trinity church, and that edifice was crowded by the Knights and their ladies. The sermon was by Grand Prelate Joseph M. McGrath. He chose for his text Matthew x, 42, "And whosoever shall give to drink unto one of these little ones a cup of cold water only in the name of a disciple, verily I say unto you, he shall in no wise lose his reward." After the service the Knights, headed by Grand Master McCurdy, Grand Commander Lawrence, and the other dignitaries of the grand encampment returned in parade form to the Vendome hotel. To-morrow will be the busy day for arrivals. Over 150 delegations are scheduled to reach this city.

REMARKABLE JOURNEY.

Four-Year-Old Child Travels 4,500 Miles as an Express Package.

Minneapolis, Aug. 27.—A 4-year-old lad named Julius Olson reached Minneapolis yesterday after a journey by himself of 4,500 miles. He has come alone all the way from Copenhagen, Denmark, express prepaid, and labeled like any package of merchandise. Julius is a bright appearing boy, whose fourth birthday passed only six days ago. Both his parents are dead, his mother having died the past spring. There being no property for the support of the boy, nor any near relatives in Denmark, friends of the family wrote to an only sister of the dead mother, asking her if it would not be possible for her to receive the child. She consented, and forwarded money for the passage, $19. The boy was then dressed, had address tags sewed upon his clothing, and given a lunch basket for food, and so was started on the long journey of which he had no idea. He was met at the train by his aunt and adopted mother, Mrs. Essen. The youngster was soon apparently at his ease in his new surroundings.

THE BOND SYNDICATE

Will Take Action to Render Gold Exports Unprofitable.

New York, Aug. 27.—Wall street today learned that the managers of the bond syndicate are ready to pay its members the remaining 30 per cent of the money advanced by them for the purchase in February of the new 4 per cent United States bonds. The money will be distributed Monday. It amounts to between $9,750,000 and $10,000,000. This payment of the entire original subscription indicates that exchange will surely go down to a point which will make it unprofitable to export gold.

Gen. Stout Dead.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Gen. Alexander M. Stout died of old age at the Presbyterian hospital this evening. He was a native of Shelby county, Ky., where he was born Jan. 8, 1820. After taking his degree in law at Harvard college he practice law until 1851 at Owensboro, when he removed to Louisville, where he was city attorney for several years. When the war of the Rebellion broke out he raised the first regiment of home guards. In January, 1865, when mustered out, he received the rank of brevet brigadier-general for distinguished and meritorious conduct.

It is a remarkable fact that the Ohio State Food Commissioner, in his official examination of baking powders, after excepting the Royal, found no other to contain less than ten per cent of impurities. The Royal was found practically pure.

Heir to a Fortune.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 27.—Matthew McGinnis, a laborer living on West Maryland street, has just discovered that he is the heir of his late brother Daniel, who died in Toledo in 1890, leaving an estate valued at $750,000. The discovery was made through a chance reading of an old Toledo paper.

New Jersey Forest Fires.

Cape May, N. J., Aug. 27.—The forest fires have broken out again near this place. Gangs of men from the West Jersey and South Jersey railroads have been fighting the fires all day in the neighborhood of Geshen. Fifty acres of land have been burned away.

Killed by Natives.

Brussels, Aug. 27.—Lieut. Pelzer, the Belgian officer commanding the Kassi district of the Congo State, has been killed while fighting the natives.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

THE
ONLY
LINE
RUNNING THROUGH CARS
TO

ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH and
CHICAGO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
—ON ALL—
THROUGH TRAINS

TIME SCEDULE,

	Leave Crookston Daily	Arriv Crookston Daily
St. Paul Minneapolis perior Duluth Chicago and points East and South west and Pacific Coast	7.40 a. m.	7:05 am
For Grand Forks Grafton Winnipeg Brandon and points North	7.25 a m.	7:10 p. m

Trains leaving Crookston daily has Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars and Dining Cars attached.

For Rates, maps, Time Tables or special information, apply to Agent Northern Pacific R. at Crookston Minn., or

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. Agent
St. Paul Minn.

Johnson & Marsha

North Side
Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity, 350 barrels of flour daily and 30 tons of feed.

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.

Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for in or for sale at lowest market prices.

WAREHOUSE ON R. R. TRACT
ST. HILAIRE
W. A. Sorsoleil

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers' price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS
COPYRIGHTS.

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free.

Building Edition, monthly, $2.50 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY.

BREVITIES.

A. R Gates left for Crookston, last Friday.

Go to Johnson & Marshall's for lime cement, etc.

Fred Eikhof went to Crookston last Friday on business,

E. M. Hoff went to Crookston on business last Friday.

Sash and doors cheap for cash at Johnson & Marshall's.

C. G. Rapp made a business trip to Crookston last Friday.

J H, Penno drove up to Thief River Falls last Sunday night.

A C Schomdsaug, of Wylie, drove through town last Thursday.

Collector Rice of Crookston is doing business in town this week,

Sheriff Steenerson, of Crookston was in town on business last Friday,

Judge Ives, of Crookston was in town last Friday visiting his son Harry

Attorney Grady of Thief River Falls is doing business in town to-day

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Peters drove up to thief River Falls last Saturday.

A E Kribbs and wife drove down from Thief River Fal's last Sunday

Miss Carrie Hoff visited friends in Thief River Falls the latter part of last week,

Dr. Grundy and wife of Thief River Falls gave our village a pleasant call to-day.

Ed, Davis of St. Paul was in town the first of the week selling goods to C G, Rapp.

Miss Corcoran of Crookston, came upon to-days to visit in the village for a few days,

Miss Florence Wallin, of Thief River Falls was visiting in the village the latter part of last week.

Messrs P, and J Meehan of Thief River Falls, spent several hours here last Friday looking over our improvement

Stone Wanted

$4.00 per cord paid for stone delivered at the St. Hilaire dam,

S. T. Johnson, State Agent for the Phoenix Ins; Co; of Minneapolis was in town last Monday in the interest of that company.

Miss Alice Greene, who has been visiting Rev. and Mrs. Moody the past week returned to her home in Crookston to-day.

Jas Meehan and daughter and Mrs J, Meehan Jr, of Thief River Falls was in town a short time last Monday on their way to Milwaukee Wis:

No less then six threshing rigs have started out from here the past week. Judging from the looks of the fields we have seen they will find plenty of work,

Good News to farmers.

W, A. Sorsoleil will give you 50 pounds of good flour for a bushel of wheat, at Johnson & Marshall's ware house,

Assistant Superintendent of schools Gouler of Crookston was in town a shor time last Saturday on his way home from Thief River Falls where he has been conducting the fall teachers examination,

See Agent G. N. Ry. for excursion rates to McIntosh account of Fair. Sept 11th 12th and 13th, and to the Thirteen towns Fair, Fosston Sept, 25t 26th, and 27th, One and one third fare for the round trip.

An exchange notes the fact that it costs an honest man $80 cold cash to ride from from New York to San Francisco while a hog is carried for $5 and a congressman goes free. Whereupon the Battle Lake Review congratulates the honest men upon being neither hogs nor congressmen.

Geo, W. Mason, of EuClaire Wis; was in town between trains last Friday. Mr. Mason has been looking up the amount and acessibility of the pine around Red Lake and was favorably impressed. He will send a man to thoroughly investigate it and if his report is favorable will move his saw mill from EuClaire to some point on this stream.

The only perpetual motion is interest on money—it never ceases work, never stops, never changes its pace; through heat and cold, through storm and drought it toils on, tirelessly, mercilessly refusing recreation and despising rest.—Farm Stock & Home.

The passenger Steamer Alice Meehan leaves Thief River Falls every Monday and Friday for points on Red Lake Special rates given to excursion parties For further information apply to Jas. Meehan Jr. Thief River Falls, Newspaper men always know more than they write — they always shield more than they expose, The man who trusts a newspaper may rely upon the fact that he will be treated fairly. It is the hypocrite that the newspaper are after. No manly man was ever hurt by a newspaper; and no man is quicker to see the manner of man one is than the newspayer man who studies men and their actions day unto day—Grand Forks Herald.

The fact that there is a good crop in this locality, and that therefore our farmers will have some money this fall will bring here all kinds of agents fakirs and peddlers, of which our friends should fight not a little shy. The lightening rod man, the insurance man the grocery and the whisky man, and many others will make a house-to-house canvass—if possible when the old man is not at home—and try to induce people to invest in their wares. It will be necessary to use great care don't buy goods till you have have seen and inspected them and don't put your name on a piece of paper for a stranger under any circumstances. Grand Forks Herald.

To The State Fair

One fare for the round trip on the Great Northern Ry, to Minnesota State Fair at St. Paul, plus 50 cents admission to grounds, Tickets sold Sept. 8th good to Sept. 15th, $9,96 from St, Hilaire.

A visit to the dam found the structure about finished, The bridge is also completed and is now in use and proved a great convenience to farmers living north east of here. It was deemed advisable to put a heavy coat of gravel on the fill and a crew of men and a crew of men and teams are now working at it. There is now a ten foot head on which can be raised to about sixteen feet. It is considered by competent judges to be the most substantial structure of its kind in northern Minnesota and the facilities it offers for milling purposes cannot be beat. The area of the mill pond will be 116 acres which will furnish boomage facilites for any number of mills which can be located.

Minnesota State Fair.

From Sept. 8th to 14th tickets will be sold by the Great Northern Ry. to the Minnesota State Fair at St. Paul at one fare for the round trip, plus 50 cents admission to grounds. Final return limit Sept. 16th. Rate $9,99 from St Hilaire,

A novel idea, suggested by the Kansas City Star, is the selection of postmasters by the people. "There is no reason," says the Star, "why post masters should not be elected by the people. It is folly to pay any man $50,000 a year to select men for postmasters of whom he knows nothing when the people who knows them can do a great deal more themselves, The same reasoning applies to district attorneys, marshalls and many other officers. It would not add to the expense or create added bitterness in the elections; because men who anticipate these offices are always active in the campaign. Indeed, it would lessen the pernicous activity of politicians very much, for there would not be so many to fights after it was known to whom would fall the fruits of victory.

In another column will be found the advertisement of L. L. May & Co, nurserymen and florists. This is a relinble firm who pay their agents good wages and handle none but the very best goods,

The large northwestern crop should not have the effect of depressing prices says the Minneapolis Tribune, because the winter wheat crop is very defcient and European crops are generally light There will not be more than enough wheat to go around. The yield of the Northwest will be sought after for mixits matchless qualities for the superior flour it produces, and for mixing with the inferior grains of other localities to fetch up the average. Every bushel of it that can be spared can be sold for cash and the sale will bring a flood of money into the Northwest which cannot fail to produce an enlivening effect upon all kinds of business. The great wheat crops of Minnesota and the Dakotas is attracting attention all over the country. Other states that have lost their crops through drought and the many causes which are at the bottom of crop failure cannot but express words of admiration for the country which can produce such elegant grain

City Dray Line

AUG. PETERSON Prop.

First Class Livery rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments' notice, at hard time rates.

LEAVE ORDERS AT E. M. Hoff's.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of seven hundred and eighty seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary Richard and Charles Rickard her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H., mortgagee, bearing date the 29th day of November 1880, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 9th day of December 1880 at 1 o'clock p. m., in book 43 of mortgages, on page 155, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage viz:

The North west quarter of Section thirty two in Township one hundred and fifty one of Range forty three in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 17th day of August 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sales provided by law

Dated June 17th A. D 1895.

Security Trust Co., of Nashua N. H.
mortgagee.
R. J. Montague, Crookston Minn attorney.

WANTED—Salesmen.

LOCAL AND TRAVELING. A good chance! Don't miss it! You need no capital to represent a reliable firm that warrants nursery stock first class and true to name. WORK ALL THE YEAR, and good pay weekly. Our famous Minnetonka Apple is warranted until it produses a bushel of fruit Our seed potatoes sell everywhere. State age L. L. MAY & Co.

NURSERYMEN FLORISTS AND SEEDSMEN. St. Paul Minn

MINNESOTA
STATE NORMAL SCHOOLS.
AT
WINONA, MANKATO, St. CLOUD AND MOORHEAD.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:

(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural district, and elementary grades.

(b) An advanced course of five years, for teachers of advanced grades.

(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.

(d) A kindergarden training course [at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.]

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents' first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination. All others are required to pass an entrance examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $3 per year Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week The new dormitory at Moorhead, and the ladies' Home at Winona furnish similar accommodation at a slightly higher rate. Winona accommodation $3,50 per week

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at Winona September 2nd; at Mankato, September 2nd; at St Cloud September 3rd; at Moorhead September 3rd.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R. KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead

Are You Going East?

If so and you wish to avoid heat dust, and worriment of an all rail route and at the same time secure those genuine pleasures of traveling, com crt rest pleasant companionship, exhilaration sleep and good food, relishing appetite and every luxury one can ask for try the lake route from Duluth to Buffalo on one of these floating palaces of the Northern Steamship Company „North West" or "North Land?

They are the largest, fastest and best equipped steamers on fresh water anywhere, and the equal of the finest ocean grey—hounds. — Leader Montevideo, Minn.

For Sale

Hay Stumpage on NW ¼ Sec 2 Tp, 152—44 Address.
P, S. Ware Thief River Falls

U. S. Land Office
Crookston Minn. Aug. 7 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his inention to make final proof in support of his claim and has said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn., on Sept. 19 1895, viz:

Emelia Englund HD 11735 for the NE ¼ SE ¼ Sec. 1 Tp 153 R 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land viz:

Carl Sundahl, Erick Anderson, Simon E. Ahlberg, Daniel Johnson all of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlavy, Register.

Dr H. GRUNDY

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding country attended to,

Office in Drug Store
THIEF RIVER FALLS,

P. Paradis

DEALER IN CHOICE
WINES, LIQUORS AND CIGARS.
Beer always on tap.
Pool Room in Connection.
Broadway St. Hilaire

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY.

The NEW and the RIGHT WAY
EAST and WEST
TO ALL PACIFIC COAST POINTS AND ATLANTIC STATES.

TIME CARD.

Daily.		Daily
NO. 3 North and West		NO 2 South and East
7 45 p m Depart	St. Paul	Arrives 7 35 am
8 15 p m "	Minneapolis	6 15 am
3 05 a m "	Barnesville	11 20 pm
5 35 am Ar	Crookston	De 8 35 pm

ST. HILAIRE BRANCH
MONDAY WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

9 00 am De	Crookston	Ar 6 00 pm
11 00 am Ar	St. Hilaire	De 4 00 pm

Leaves St. Hilaire for Thief River Falls 11.00 a m. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 1.15 pm. Leaves St. Hilaire for Red Lake Falls 1 20 pm. Returning arrives St. Hilaire 4.00 pm Close connections made at Minneapolis and St. Paul for all points East and South.

Trains No. 3 and 4 have Buffet Dining and Sleeping cars between St. Paul, Helena, Butte Spokane and Pacific coast points.

Tickets to all points and baggage checked through

F. I. WHITNEY, G. P. & T. A. St. Paul
H. J. FREEMAN, Agt. St. Hilaire

NORTHERN STEAMSHIP COMPANY,

The magnificent steamships "North West" and "North Land" leave Duluth Mondays and Fridays for the "Soo" Mackinac island, Detroit Cleveland and Buffalo, running in connection with Great Northern trains, (Eastern Railway of Minnesota) St. Paul and Minneapolis. Round trip tickets include the lake route either going or returning on sale by Great Northern Agents

No one should go East and back without using the delightful lake route one way at least For printed matter and information about the steamship tour apply to any agent of the Great Northern.

LANDS

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from

$2.00 to $6.00 PER ACRE.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP,
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 31	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 13	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.00
NE SE of 28	4.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
ROOKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE OF of 33	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 4.70
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	4.00 to 5.00
6 " 29	3.00 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.00 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
6 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 5.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP,
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
[illegible] " 15	6.00
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 23	3.00 to 5.00
2 " [illegible]	6.00
4 " 29	8.00 to 6.00

* I will sell the hay on the above described lands for the season of 1895 at reasonable prices. All persons are hereby warned not to cut hay on any of these lands without first making contract for same. For furthe information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

Impetuous People

are sometimes figuratively spoken of as not above setting things on fire just for the fun of

Seeing Them Burn

Close competition breeds impetuosity, and in our earnest pushing for trade it often happens that we mark goods away down just for the fun of

Seeing Them Sell

Somebody has exclaimed: "Oh, the impetuosity of the idiocy of the tumultuous idiot!" This remark will never apply to you if in your rush for bargains you get into the right store, which of course is ours.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN
General Merchandise

LOOK HERE!

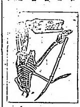
Great Bargain Sale of FARM MACHINERY
AT
J. E. HOLMES

2 new gang plows at $30 each, one new mower at $25, four second handed mowers at $10 each and a full line of walking and breaking plow which I will sell at unheard of prices.

RAPP & POST

A large and complete line of

General Merchandise.



PTERODACTYL

We print a likeness of the skeleton of this remarkable paleontological reptile because some of its physical characteristics are synonymous with our business methods. Perhaps the most striking similarity may be found in its

Little Finger and our Big Bargains

Its little finger is very large: and so are our bargains. The paradox of a little finger being big may be likened to the paradoxical inducements we offer you.

Profits and Hind Feet Small

Its hind feet are out of all proportion to its fore feet, just as our profit is overshadowed by the buyer's. Its large head represents the size of our stock. The many years that have elapsed since the time when this créature flourished will hint at the wearing quality of our goods.

THE ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.
EVERY WEDNESDAY EVENING
H. E. IVES, Propr.
SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:
Advance, $1.50.
Not In Advance. $2.00 Per Year
Entered at the Post Office at St. Hilaire, as Second Class Mail Matter.
WEDNESDAY August 28 1895

THE BLOODHOUND.

Too Ferocious For Domestic Purposes and It Is Not a Trace Dog.

Hon. R. H. Chinn, formerly of New Orleans, now of Vacaville, Cal., well known in St. Louis, had this to say to a reporter about bloodhounds and trail dogs when caught in a reminiscent mood a few days ago:

"I have yet to meet the first man who ever saw a bloodhound in our southern country. They are too ferocious for domestic purposes and are not trace dogs.

"I carried some a few years ago to the island of Cuba—a Siberian bloodhound and an English bloodhound pup. The government officials had the former caged with latticed iron bars before allowing him to land on account of his ferocious appearance. He was taken to my plantation and an iron muzzle placed on him, and even then the fear of his doing serious damage caused him to be killed. The English pup for the same reason was sent to the Lyons brewery for safe keeping.

"The foxhound, a lazy, worthless dog apparently, is the trail dog, trained to pursue fugitives from justice. I had such a dog. The mode of training was to put him in a room to be fed and handled by only one person until grown. Then, after being scantily fed for two or three days, a bone with a little meat was given him. While gnawing this bone his trainer fought him with his hat, took the bone from him, went some distance and climbed a tree. The dog upon being released took his trail and traced him. Being treated in the same way the next day, the trainer took the bone a mile off and was trailed. The dog was thus trained and ready for his work. When any one was missing, it was only necessary to give the dog a small piece of any portion of his wearing apparel and tell him, 'Hunt the man.' He was off running immediately. So eager would he be in his pursuit he would run over small children, between the legs of larger ones, his head close to the ground, perfectly oblivious to all impediments in his way when the trail was hot. This trailing was frequently done 12 hours after the missing man had disappeared, and never in a single instance was the dog known to deceive or fail in his hunt. He would chase the fugitive through bushes and briers, across creeks, over burned canefields and would invariably bring him to bay. During three years of service he was never known to bite or injure any one.

"All the blood curdling tales we have heard of hunting people on Cuban and southern plantations with bloodhounds are a farce. Trace hounds are not fierce. They were never known to injure a man and were easily repelled if they attempted it. When the trail was cold, he would follow it very quietly. Now and then he would run in a circle or to the right and suddenly to the left. Frequently we would lose him in the underbrush, but when the trail got hot and he howled a horn was blown to encourage him, and he was followed up by a horseman."—St. Louis Star Sayings.

Has the Cab Habit.

There is a man on the North Side who has the "cab habit." Never having been worried much about the "price," he can hardly go around a corner to get his lunch without feeling an oppressive sense of necessity creep over him that he must hail a cab and ride. The other night he was down town late, and having found a night car time table he started to the corner of Dearborn and Randolph streets to wait for the car. He walked along Randolph street and in so doing missed the car by half a minute. As he went back to the corner he saw it going toward the bridge. The cab idea struck him at once. He quickly hailed one and jumping in gave sharp orders.

"Catch that Clark street car," said he, "and there is a dollar in it for you."

The cabby whipped up, and before the car had struck the bridge he had handed his passenger aboard and received his dollar.

"That was a good idea of mine," he said to himself as he settled back in the seat, "but I came near being left."

Then he rode across the bridge over on the North Side, and got off at Chicago avenue. The ride all the way would have cost him 50 cents.—Chicago Tribune.

Organized Charities.

I should be sorry if anything I have said seemed to cast slight upon the organized efforts at relieving want, especially such as unite inquiry into the facts and the provision of work with the relief of want. All that I contend for is the right—or call it the privilege—of giving to him that asketh, even when you do not know that he needs or deserves to need. Both in New York and in Boston I have lent myself—sparingly and grudgingly, I'll own—to those organized efforts, and I know how sincere and generous they are, how effective they often are, how ineffective.—"Tribulations of a Cheerful Giver," by W. D. Howells, in Century.

U. S. Land Office
Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Register or receiver, U. S Land Office at Crookston Minn on June 6 1895 viz:

Simon E. Ahlberg of St. Hilaire Minn. Hd no. 1979 for the S. ½ NE ¼ and Lots 1 and 2 Sec. 1 Twp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land, viz:

Carl Sundal, Anton Sundal Gilbert Anfinson, Tollef Erickson, all of St. Hilaire Polk county Minn.

T. A. Dunlava, Register

AN OLD TIME MINSTREL.

Sam Sanford, Once a Stage Favorite, Now Living In Retirement.

Comfortably ensconced in an armchair on the porch of a hotel in Northampton, this state, with a cigar stuck between his teeth and reading a paper, sat a man with a generous paunch, gray mustache and chin whiskers, hale, hearty and vigorous, despite his 75 years—a personality at once striking and impressive, a character whose knowledge of minstrels and the minstrelsy business is probably greater than that of any other person living. Such in brief is the description of the individual who, in response to the question of a representative of The Chronicle who called upon him, said:

"Yes, sir, I am Samuel S. Sanford."

For over an hour he entertained the writer with stories of his career as a minstrel. He saw the rise and decline of the minstrel business.

In 1846, with a well lined pocketbook, Sanford with his company sailed from New Orleans for England. After playing in nearly all the principal cities in England he discovered that the English were rather slow in catching on to American humor, and he sailed for this country and landed in New York with $45 in cash. After varying fortunes he several years afterward leased a building and turned it into what is now Carncross' theater in Philadelphia, Carncross and Dixie being his successors. He also ran a theater in Pittsburg. While conducting his Philadelphia theater he got into a dispute with his landlord about the question of rent, and his theater was shut down for him. He sued the owner of the building for $50,000 damages.

Next day his landlord met him and said, "I see you intend to go to law about this affair of ours."

"Yes, sir," replied Sanford.

"Well, before you do I wish you would go to a certain saloon at such and such a street and read what is on a sign in front of that place."

Sanford did so, and on the oval shaped sign he saw a picture of a finely dressed, prosperous looking man mounted on a magnificent horse and riding at full gallop. Above the sign were the words, "Going to law." The reverse side presented a somewhat different view. It was a picture of the same man, but ragged as a tramp. His horse was a living skeleton, and the rider was not much better. The screed above the sign read, "Returning from the law."

Sanford looked at the two pictures, pondered and went home. Next day he went to his lawyer and requested him to withdraw the suit, and the case was compromised.

As Sanford remarked, "I have helped to make the fame and fortune of hundreds of minstrel performers, many of them no longer in that branch of the profession, but winning fame in other lines." He is encyclopedic in his knowledge of and acquaintance with actors and managers, and his fund of reminiscences concerning stars like Emmett and others contemporaneous with him proved intensely interesting. He has the minstrelsy business at his fingers' ends, but the decadence of minstrelsy forced him off the stage, till now in his old age, though still of a vigorous physique, he sells electric belts in country towns.—Allentown (Pa.) Chronicle.

The Autocrat.

In a hotel not over 1,000 miles from Indianapolis there is a clerk who is very strict with the employees who come under his orders and rules the bellboys and porters with an iron hand. The employees have come to understand his ways, and it is needless to remark that his orders are usually obeyed with alacrity. A large stove heats the office during the winter. The clerk had a habit of dispatching a boy after a bucket of coal and saying in a peremptory manner: "Jimmy, go out and get a bucket of coal. Bring it in and set it down." One cold day last winter he called one of the boys up to his desk and said, "Charley, go and get a bucket of coal." In a few minutes the boy came lugging it in. He walked up to the stove and stood there without placing the scuttle on the floor. The clerk looked at him fiercely and exclaimed:

"Well, what's the matter with you?"

The boy hesitated; then looking at the clerk appealingly said, "Please, sir, shall I—I set it down?"—Indianapolis Sentinel.

His Only Magic.

The old story of the Irishman who, when he was asked how he played upon the fiddle, answered, "Be main strength, be jabers," is outdone by the answer of a celebrated violinist to a lady who asked him the same question.

"Oh, signor!" exclaimed the fashionably dressed lady, with a gushing air, "by what magic do you evoke such divine strains from your violin?"

"I have no magic, madam," answered the musician bluntly. "I have nothing but the bow and my hand."

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of nine hundred and thirty-two dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Ole P. Stokke and Tehne Stokke his wife mortgagors, to Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 3rd day of August 1889, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 7th day of August 1889, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in Book 43 of mortgages on page 54 and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

The south west quarter of Section twenty in Township one hundred and forty-nine of Range forty-seven in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 8th day of June 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and taxes if any on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in, and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated April 5th A. D 1895.
Dakota Investment Company, mortgagee
J. Montague, attorney. Crookston Minn

U. S. LAND OFFICE
Crookston Minn. April 27 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the register or receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on July 2 1895, viz:

Carl Wik of St. Hilaire Minn. H D no 1344 for the SE ¼ Sec 35 Twp. 152 R. 43.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz:

Hakon Johnson, Frank Satterberg, Jonas Engstrom, Peter Anderson all of St. Hilaire Polk Co. Minn.

T. A. Dunlava Register.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of five hundred and eighty-seven dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary A. Holuvik and Hans M. Holuvik her husband mortgagors, to Security Trust Company of Nashua N. H. mortgagee, bearing date the 17th day of December 1890 and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 19th day of December 1890, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in book 50 of mortgages, on page 112 Which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned by said Security Trust Co. of Nashua N. H mortgagee to Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper by written assignment dated on the 7th day of January 1891 and recorded in the office of the Register of deeds on the 21th day of January 1891 at 8:40 o clock a. m. in Book 56 of mortgages on page 83 and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The west quarter of Section 16 in Township One hundred and Forty-seven in Range Forty-five in Polk County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston in said County and state, on the 8th day of June 1895 at 10 o clock A. M. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 1st A. D. 1895.
Mrs. Sarah D. Cooper
Assignee of mortgagee.
R. J. Montague, attorney, Crookston Minn.

ORDINANCE NO. XIV.

Relating to the impounding of domestic animals in the Village of St. Hilaire.

The village council of the village of St Hilaire do ordain as follows:

Sec 1. There shall be a public pound in the village of St. Hilaire to be located by the village council:

Said council shall appoint one pound master who shall hold his office until the next general election thereafter and until his successor is duly appointed and he shall be entitled to such compensation as the village council shall designate.

Sec 2. No horse, mule, or cattle of any kind, sheep, hogs, goats, hens or chickens, turkeys or any other domestic animal shall be permitted to run at large in said village at any time and if found running at large therein each and every one of the animals aforesaid may be impounded in the public pound of said village from which they shall not be released until the owner or owners shall pay the pound keeper such fees as he shall be allowed by law together with a reasonable sum not exceeding fifty cents for each animal taken up and the costs and expenses of keeping such animal in the pound. The owner of such animal above specified or any person in whose charge the same may be who shall permit the same to run at large within the limits of said village contrary to the provisions of this ordinance shall on conviction thereof before a justice of the peace of said village be punished by a fine not exceeding ten dollars and the costs of prosecution and in default of payment may be committed to the village or county jail for a period not exceeding ten days.

Sec. III. It shall be the duty of the poundmaster to provide suitable and necessary sustenance for animals so impounded and a reasonable cost for such sustenance shall be paid to such pound master before such animal shall be released from custody.

It shall be lawful for such pound master to sell at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash any animal so impounded as aforesaid, at any time after the expiration of four days from the time that they were impounded the said pound keeper to give not less than three days notice of the time and place of sale with a description of the animal or animals to be sold by posting three written or printed notices in three conspicuous public places in said village, for posting said notices the pound master shall receive 25 cents apiece for each notice so posted.

Sec. IV Any pound master of said village who shall refuse to take up restrain or impound any animal mentioned in this ordinance liable to be impounded by him known to be running at large contrary to the provisions thereof or who shall neglect to make deligent search for such animals shall, on conviction thereof before a justice of the peace of said village shall be punished by a fine not exceeding ten dollars and costs of prosecution and may be imprisoned until such fine and costs are paid not exceeding ten days.

Sec. V Any animal sold under the provisions of this ordinance for the sum of ten dollars or more may be redeemed from the purchaser at any time within thirty days from the sale thereof upon payment of the purchase price and 5 per cent additional and all reasonable costs for keeping the same after the sale over and above the value of the use of the same.

Sec. 5. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force on and after the first day of Sept. A. D. 1895.

Dated and passed at St. Hilaire Minnesota this 6th day of August A. D. 1895.

All ordinances prior to this in regard to the impounding of animals are hereby repealed.

S. M. Dainard
Pres. of Vill. Council
Attest
J. L. Johnson
Village Recorder.

SPAFFORD. S. M. DAINARD
E. T. SPAFFORD & CO.
—DEALERS IN—
LUMBER, LATH AND SHINGLES.
A complete stock of all kinds of Lumber Lath. Shingles, Mouldings, Building Paper Sash, Doors and Screens, Lime, Cement Stucco, Plastering Hair, Brick etc. always hand at the lowest market prices.
S. M. Dainard, Manager.
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE, MINN

E. T. SPAFFORd & CO.
WILL ALWAYS PAY THE
HIGHEST MARKET PRICES
FOR
All kinds of
CATTLE.
Cord wood, Hay, Oats,
Barley and flax.
Ground Feed for Sale
S. M. DAINARD.
Manager.

THE
ST. HILAIRE
TOWNSITE
COMPANY
Will sell for the next
60 days
DESIRABLE RESIDENCE
LOTS
From $25 to $100.
ALSO FIRST CLASS BUSINESS
PROPERTY AT HARD PAN
PRICES.
Apply to
H. E. IVES Agt.
ST. HILAIRE MINN.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON
DEALER IN
pure medicines Fancy articles, perfumer and stationery, paints, oils and dye stuffs.
Cigars, Candy, Fruit and Soft Drinks always on hand.
Barbershop in connection
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE

The New
Ithaca Hammerless Gun
BEST TWIST DAMASCUS STEEL - $60 TO $200
BARRELS, 5 0.

This cut represents Quality No. 1 — List $50.
SELF-COMPENSATING. MATTED RIBS.
"Taking up Wear at Every Point."
An examination of our Guns will convince the sportsmen that we have not only improvements and advantages of every other gun made, but many that they have and we guarantee them to be not only the best Guns for the money but THE BEST
G TING GUNS
EVERY GUN FULLY WARRANTED.
ITHACA GUN CO., Manufacturers — — ITHACA, N.

FRED EIKHOFF
DEALER IN
Heavy and Shelf
HARDWARE
HEADQUARTERS FOR
HUNTER' SUPPLIES
MACHINE OIL AND EXTRAS
BINDING TWINE
P a 9 cents a pound.
NEW GOODS PRICES
BROADWAY ST. HILAIRE.

AMERICAN HOTEL
W. A. ARTHUR Proprietor.
NEWLY FURNISHED
STRICTLY FIRST CLASS
Special attention given to traveling men, Hunting, Fishing and Excursion parties.

FARMERS STORE
NEW GOODS AT HARD PAN PRICES.
If you want to save money do your trading with
HALL BROS.
DEALER IN
Dry Goods, Groceries
Notions.

I Can't Sleep

Is the complaint of many at this season. The reason is found in the fact that the nerves are weak and the body in a feverish and unhealthy condition. The nerves may be restored by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which feeds them upon pure blood, and this medicine will also create an appetite, and tone up the system and thus give sweet and refreshing sleep and vigorous health.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the only true blood purifier prominently in the public eye today. $1; six for $5.

Hood's Pills act harmoniously with Hood's Sarsaparilla. 25c.

The Way to Draw Gold From Europe.

The accumulation of gold in the European banks is phenominally large, according to the treasury experts at Washington. On the first week of April the Bank of England had $183,681,273 in coin and bullion, and the Bank of France in the same week carried $406,347,884 in gold alone. The Imperial Bank of Germany carried $251,807,310 in coin and bullion, the Austro-Hungarian Bank $86,594,501 in gold, and the Bank of Russia $310,427,400 in gold. It is the opinion of the well known banker, Mr. Charles C. Jackson of Boston, that this excess of foreign capital will drift to the United States for profitable investment. Such a golden current would solve all doubts about our gold reserve, and would, in Mr. Jackson's opinion, have a striking effect upon prices in the United States. How important it is to business, then, that no foolish fanfaronade about silver should control the action of our government in any way and again produce European distrust as to its ability or disposition to pay all demands upon it in gold.—Boston Transcript.

Advancing Backward.

"They tell me that you do not favor the movement for the emancipation of woman," said Mrs. Beard to Mrs. Taddles.

"I don't," replied Mrs. Taddles.

"Don't you believe in the equality of the sexes?"

"Not for a moment."

"How on earth can you acknowledge that man is so far above you as that—how can you—"

"I don't. I simply know that woman is man's superior."

The Most Sensitive Thing on Earth is a human nerve. This in a state of health. Let it become overstrained or weakened, and the sensitiveness is increased tenfold. For weak or overwrought nerves Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the best tonic in existence, since it invigorates and quiets them at the same time. It also possesses superlative efficacy in dyspepsia, constipation, malarial and kidney complaints, rheumatism and neuralgia.

A Japanese Smile.

Jimley—The Japanese make it a habit to smile when suffering the most poignant anguish.

Bimley—Well, sufferings drive people to drink in this country, too.—Pottsville Standard.

Many influences combine to reduce health to the danger limit. The reviving properties of Parker's Ginger Tonic best overcome these ills.

Mme. de Montspan had beautiful eyes. Several of the poets of her time celebrated their praises.

Everyone knows how it is to suffer with corns, and they are not conducive to graceful walking. Remove them with Hindercorns.

Voice Sweeteners.

Ellis—Miss Ballad has a remarkably sweet voice.

Warburton—She ought to have; it has cost me about sixty pounds of chocolate in the last six months.—Boston Courier.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O., Proprs. of Hall's Catarrh Cure, offer $100 reward for any case of catarrh that can not be cured by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for testimonials, free. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Paying for His Education.

Wool—So you have been sued for breach of promise?

Van Pelt—Well, I expected my course in Belle's letters to cost me something.—Wheatland Eagle.

FITS—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after the first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Certainly.

"Now, sir, what do you mean by telling people that I had a reputation as a bar-room fighter? I have been a most persistent foe of the rum shops for years."

"Yes; that is what I said."—Indianapolis Journal.

"Hanson's Magic Corn Salve."
Warranted to cure or money refunded. Ask your druggist for it. Price 15 cents.

Comes High, but Must Have It.

"I suppose your son at Yale is getting a liberal education?"

"Liberal? I should just think so. His course this year has cost me so far $2,500, and he is just beginning to learn to row in an eight."

After six years' suffering, I was cured by Piso's Cure.—Mary Thompson, 29½ Ohio Ave., Allegheny, Pa., March 19, '94.

She Blushed.

"What kind of a reptile is that?" she asked, pointing to a silver coil with ruby eyes, in the jewelry store. "I think it's a garter snake," he replied. And she didn't ask any more questions for five minutes.—Philadelphia Record.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.
Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

Catalini, the famous soprano, was of medium height and had irregular, though very pleasing features.

Coe's Cough Balsam
Is the oldest and best. It will break up a Cold quicker than anything else. It is always reliable. Try it.

An average of three British seamen lose their lives every day by drowning, and 300 British steamers and sailing vessels are lost yearly at sea.

★ HIGHEST AWARD ★
WORLD'S FAIR.
IMPERIAL GRANUM
IS
★ THE BEST ★ PREPARED
FOOD
SOLD EVERYWHERE.
JOHN CARLE & SONS, New York.

STRICTURE Permanently Cured with medicine. No pain or detention from business. Medicine sent by express. Cure Guaranteed. Garfield Medical Institute, 834 State Street, CHICAGO.

THE PASSING OF THE SPIRIT.

The wind, the world-old rhapsodist, goes by,
And the great pines, in changeless
vesture gloomed,
And all the towering elm trees,
thatched and plumed
With green, take up, one after one,
the cry;
And as their choral voices swell and die,
Catching the infinite note from tree to tree,
Others far off, in long antistrophe,
With swaying arms and surging
tops reply.
So to men's souls, at sacred intervals,
Out of the dust of life takes wing
and calls
A spirit that we know not nor can trace;
And heart to heart makes answer
with strange thrill;
It passes, and a moment, face to face,
We dream ourselves immortal,
and are still.
—Century.

A WRESTLING LION.

An Interview With Bernhardt's New Property.

Mr. Cross is the "universal provider" of "wild beastesses," and his firm, represented successively by his father and himself during the last fifty years, has made the name of "Massa Cross" a household word on every hilltop and in every swamp by its liberal purchases of the fauna of every country.

"Well, Mr. Cross, I have come to see your wrestling lion not only as an observer, but as a critic."

